PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$5 per Year in Advance. E. W. Harrison, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 21 Somerset street. Printing of All Kinds. 10 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," MONDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1893. PRICE TWO CENTS.

TO FIGHT RACE TRACKS.

MEETING SATURDAY NIGHT OF THE PLAINFIELD BRANCH.

Of the State Citizen's League.—It was Unanimously Decided to Hold a Public Meeting Either in a Church or Music Hall.

OBNOXIOUS race track legislation in New Jersey is to be vigorously battled against this year.

The Plainfield Branch of the State Anti-Race Track League held a meeting in the Common Council Chamber Saturday night. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mason W. Tyler. Lawyer William M. Sullivan was elected secretary.

There were about thirty persons present, among them being: Col. Mason W. Tyler, Councilman Stephen A. Glenn, Mr. Charles Potter, Mr. Henry Bowen, the Rev. Dr. Yerkes, the Rev. Dr. Richards, the Rev. Mr. Goodrich, the Rev. E. M. Stadman, and the Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ex Judge John Ulrich, Justice Louis F. Wadsworth, Mr. Isaac L. Miller, Mr. John Leal, Prof. H. M. Maxson, Mr. H. O. Newman, Mr. Alonzo Aldrich, Lawyer William Stillman, Mr. Robinson, Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh, Freeholder Andrew Vanderbeck, Mr. W. J. Maudy, Councilman Frost, Mr. J. W. Jackson, Editor Frank W. Runyon, Ex-Judge William E. Codington, Mr. E. B. Titsworth, Mr. J. W. Murray, Mr. Roger Murray and Mr. Joseph D. Moon.

The president announced that the first business to come before the meeting was the report of the committee on Constitution. Mr. Craig A. Marsh was the only member of the committee present. He presented the following which was unanimously adopted as the constitution governing the Plainfield League:

OBJECTS.

The object of the Plainfield Branch of the Union County Citizens League shall be to suppress race track gambling, to aid in securing the repeal of all laws that protect and promote the same, and to prevent the passage of such laws hereafter.

MEMBERSHIP.

The membership of this branch shall consist of those who organized the same and all other citizens of this city who are legal voters and who are willing to co-operate in accomplishing the objects of this league, and who shall sign the roll of membership of this branch.

OFFICERS.

The officers shall be a president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, and an executive committee to consist of the president and four other members to be appointed annually by the president.

As all the officers except an Executive Committee had been elected at the meeting last March, the president appointed Councilman Glenn, Ex-Councilman Rowland Cox, Corporation Counsel Marsh and Ex Councilman Isaac L. Miller, as such committee.

Mr. Marsh stated that as the constitution provided that persons could become members by signing their names to the constitution, several papers had been prepared for that purpose and would be left with the secretary awaiting signatures.

As an increase in membership would be an important factor in the success of the League, the Rev. Dr. Richards suggested that a special committee be appointed to secure members. The matter was referred to the Executive Committee.

President Tyler, in explanation of why a meeting had not been called sooner, said that as he was not present at the first meeting of the League, he did not learn of his election as president until sometime after, as he was away from home at the time. He had delayed calling a meeting until last week, when he received an invitation to attend a meeting at Elizabeth of the Union County League, which was held at Mr. Lindabury's office. The persons he met there were so enthusiastic over the matter he immediately proceeded to call a meeting. I believe in using the churches as much as possible, he concluded, to present the aims of the league before the people and to let them know what our objects are. Moral sentiment needs stirring up. There should be one or two public meetings held either in a church or in Music Hall. The people must be aroused on this subject and this can be done only by holding public meetings and getting together. In conclusion Mr. Tyler said he would like to hear the opinions of the clergymen present on the subject.

The Rev. Dr. Richards said he heartily approved of the idea of holding public meetings. He moved that the executive committee be authorized to make arrangements for a public meeting, either in Music Hall or in one of the churches, some Sunday afternoon.

The motion was seconded and opened for remarks.

The Rev. Dr. Yerkes said he heartily concurred and was heartily in favor of such a motion. He offered as an amendment that the meeting be held either afternoon or evening as the committee thought best.

The motion as amended was unanimously adopted.

As many persons misunderstood the position of the League in reference to politics, Rev. Dr. Richards offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the present purpose and endeavor of the League is to call forth such expression of public sentiment against race track gambling and its legislation as shall secure from the chief existing political parties nominations of candidates who may be pledged and trusted to do their utmost to carry out the objects of this League.

On motion of Mr. Marsh, it was decided to raise funds for the League by voluntary subscriptions of 50 by the members.

The meeting then adjourned.

C. Y. M. DIOCESAN UNION.

MEETING OF THE DIOCESE OF NEWARK AT HOBOKEN YESTERDAY.

Forming a Bowling League—The Proposed Field Day Abandoned—The Next Meeting to be Held in Plainfield.

THE Catholic Young Men's Diocesan Union of Newark met in monthly session at the Young Men's Catholic Association Hall, at Hoboken, yesterday.

The members present from this city were Messrs. J. J. Lynch and D. Galbraith.

After a discussion it was decided to abandon the idea of holding a field day next Thursday.

The Union will hold a banquet at Newark at a date to be decided upon in the future.

A bowling league is being formed among the clubs of the Union. Entries have been received from the following clubs: Catholic Young Men's Lyceum, of Plainfield; Institute, of Newark; St. St. Josephs, of Jersey City; T. A. B's of Newark; and St. Peters of Jersey City. The clubs will bowl with five men teams. The Bowling Committee will meet at Newark on October 9th, to complete the arrangements.

The next meeting of the Diocesan Union will be held in this city.

BREVITIES.

—The Board of Education will hold its regular monthly meeting to-night.

—The City Common Council will hold its regular October meeting to-night.

—The case of Lizbie vs. Sullivan was adjourned to-day by Justice Mosher for one week.

—Wetumpka Lodge, Knights of Honor, will hold a regular meeting next Thursday night.

—Tuesday night the Christian Endeavor Society of the Third Street Mission will meet and elect officers.

—The Union County Medical Association will hold its annual dinner at the Hotel Grenada to-night.

—Justice Nash married a couple of young people Saturday night. Their names he refuses to divulge.

—The regular meeting of the McAll Auxiliary will be held at the Library, to-morrow morning at eleven o'clock.

—The fifteenth annual re union of the Fourteenth New Jersey Volunteers will be held on October 9th, at Vineland.

—The Grand Division of the Sons of Temperance of New Jersey will meet in New Brunswick on Wednesday, Oct. 4th.

—The regular rehearsal of the Melopoia will be held Tuesday evening, October 10th, in the Casino, at eight o'clock.

—Dennis O'Brien and Frank Hart, hackmen, were arrested this morning for a rumpus at the depot. They were each fined $5.

—Capt. Hand of Park avenue has the contract for grading a new trench at Garwood and has a large force of men and teams at work.

—The Somerset County Court holding its September term has completed the list of civil cases, and begins to-morrow the trial of the criminal cases.

—A regular meeting of the Plainfield Camera Club will be held in the club rooms on Tuesday evening, Oct. 3, at eight o'clock p. m. A full attendance is desired.

—At the meeting of Iona Council, Degree of Pocohontas, next Wednesday night, the committee on paraphernalia and the committee on entertainment will make their final reports.

—There was no football game last Saturday on the Crescent oval as the Pingry team of Elizabeth failed to put in an appearance. Next Saturday Lenz's team will play the Columbia College team of New York.

—Madame Iza Lezem, teacher of physical culture, etc., as will be seen in another column, will give a reception on Oct. 2, from three to five p. m. in Bolesta Hall, West Front street. Her pupils will be present to show her ability as a teacher. She has been engaged to teach a large class in St. Mary's School. Mrs. Martin, a lady highly recommended for her attainments in this line, will be present and take part in the programme.

As Old Man Taken with Spasms.

Mr. Adam S. Nicholson, an old man living at the corner of Second street and Grant avenue was taken with spasms yesterday morning, and was carried to Muhlenberg Hospital by members of Miantonomo Tribe, I. O. R. M., of which he is a member. The old man has no relatives in this country except a son, Dr. Jenkins attended him.

The spasms went to his heart and it was feared, at one time, they would prove fatal.

Thanking the Firemen.

To the Chief Engineer and Members of the Fire Department of the City of Plainfield:

We the undersigned, wish to thank the firemen for the efficient manner and promptness which they displayed in controlling the fire which occurred on Friday evening last.

E. R. Pope,
J. F. Hubbard.

SPILLED THE GIRL AND MILK.

A Runaway on West Sixth Street This Morning.

Early this morning a horse belonging to Milkman John Powers of South Plainfield became frightened at the corner of New street and West Sixth, at a sheet which had been placed over some flowers on Chief Grant's lawn, and ran away. Mr. Powers was in a customer's house delivering milk. His little girl was in the wagon.

The horse ran down New street at such a fast rate it was unable to turn the corner into Seventh street and collided with a big tree on the opposite side of the street. Here the little girl was thrown out and the milk spilled.

The horse ran off with the front wheels of the wagon leaving the body and remaining parts of the vehicle in the street.

The little girl was severely injured. She was taken to her cousin's house, on Third street.

Mr. Powers lost about 120 quarts of milk.

PERSONALS.

Mr. William Fisher and family of East Second street moved to Passaic to-day.

Miss Mamie Urquston of Union street, Rahway, is visiting friends in this city.

Mr. Harrison Codington of North Plainfield starts for the World's Fair to-morrow.

Mr. E. L. Howard and family of Mercer avenue returned home Saturday from New York State.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Harry Squires of Watchung avenue have returned from the World's Fair.

Frank and Albert Hollingsworth of Scotch Plains have gone to the Normal school at Trenton.

Mrs. A. S. Patterson and daughter of West Seventh street started yesterday for the World's Fair.

Miss May Thorn of East Second street has returned from Orange, where she has been visiting her aunt.

Mrs. W. J. Chamberlain and family of Jersey City are guests of her sister, Mrs. Bisyar of West Sixth street.

Sheriff Dills of Somerset county starts for the Columbian Exposition, at the close of the present term of court.

Mr. Firman A. Long of Summit avenue, one of Mr. A. M. Griffen's clerks, is able to resume his duties to-day, after a short illness.

Mrs. Worthington, Miss Worthington, and Miss Anna Murphy returned this morning from a ten days trip to the World's Fair.

Miss Susie Colthars of Bound Brook returned home to-day after a pleasant visit with Mr. and Mrs. Kitchen of Somerset street.

The New Jersey State building at the World's Fair will be taken apart and be removed to Sea Girt as the Governor's military headquarters.

This morning Mr. and Mrs. Foote of Putnam avenue returned from Chicago where they have been enjoying the sights at the World's Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. James Walsh of New York, who have been boarding at Mrs. Kirk's, on Park avenue, during the Summer, returned to Brooklyn Saturday.

Mr. William B. Northup, formerly foreman at Scott's Printing Machine Works died at half-past two o'clock this afternoon at his home on North avenue, of blood poisoning, following an attack of pneumonia with which he has been suffering about six weeks.

New Petitions for Sewerage.

A new petition for a sewerage system for Plainfield is being circulated for signatures. The old method of getting signatures does not seem to have been productive of good results, and it is believed that the new one will accomplish the object. There has been a great deal of money spent during the past six years to get something done in this line, and it is nearly time that there was something to show for the money. Still, in view of the times we hear so much about, it is perhaps better that nothing more has been done.

One of the Young Men Confesses.

Saturday night Justice Mosher was visited by one of the Westfield young men who not so long ago wrecked two wagons belonging to Westfield men during the night. He confessed to having a hand in the matter and also gave the names of eight other young men, who were implicated. The old method of punishing one of them that they may have until next Monday to settle up. If they do not pay the damages before that time, suit will be brought against them.

Tore the Little Dog to Pieces.

A large dog belonging to Eugene Hoester, jumped a neighbors fence, Saturday afternoon, and tackeled a little terrier. The little dog was torn to pieces. Mrs. Loogherty, who owned the terrier, gathered the remains up in a basket and buried them. She threatens to sue the owner of the big dog for $100 damages for the loss of her dog.

Children Christened Yesterday.

Two children were christened in St. Mary's church yesterday morning. One was the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Searing of Park avenue, and the other one was Mr. and Mrs. Michael McCarthy's child.

"THE IDEAL PARENT."

THE REV. J. W. RICHARDSON'S SERMON LAST NIGHT.

The Third Discourse of the Series—A Large Congregation Present at the Park Avenue Baptist Church to Hear Him.

THE Rev. J. W. Richardson preached the third sermon of his series in the Park Avenue Baptist Church last night. His text was Proverbs 22: 6—

"Train up a child in the way that he shall go, and when he is old he will not depart from it."

The speaker said in substance: "The training mentioned by my text is very comprehensive, and it teaches the parent to furnish his child with good principles, demonstrated by a good example, and thus bring the child to form a good habit. There is no scope in a parent talking about religion to his children if he shows no religion at home. No use for a parent to tell a child how he should act, if he himself acts in a hasty, contrary way. A child may not be able to talk very much, but he notes a discrepancy as quick as any one else. Therefore the Ideal Parent will make the home life cheerful. If the boy loves the streets more than his home, something is wanting in his training. If the girl prefers to spend her evenings at parties and other resorts, something in the home management is terribly askew. O, parents! too many of us are hanging black on the walls of the home, when we might have joy singing here. Let us sing beautiful songs all through the house. Better that your carpets be worn! Better that your novels and newspapers be unread! Better that your outside engagements be cancelled, than that your boys and girls get an idea that home does not have pleasure at home. Some parents take so much pains with the outside world, that all their sunshine is consumed for others, and they have nothing but shadows and emptiness for the home.

It is a critical question for parents to mortgage their home to fashionable customs, and barter the souls of their children to pay the bill! Stay at home with your children: leave them not to the tender mercies of the hired girl. Provide them with sensible, reading matter. If necessary buy fewer cigars; but get your boy useful toys and tools; interest your girl in some practical thing. Encourage your children to invite in good companions of an evening. Become acquainted with their ambitions. Go to the woods with your dignity; jump up and down with them; make yourself a companion, not the gruff autocrat of the home. Remember, that half an hour of merriment around the centre table binds to you the memory of many hours seen and heard during the day. The Ideal parent will be very careful of his influence. Many parents are careless of their speech and acts in the presence of their children. If parents thought more about the law of transmission of habits and traits from parents to children, the department would be more carefully watched. The father who comes home from business full of crossness and bitter words, is teaching his boy to be surly and disagreeable and, some 15 or 16 years hence that boy becomes a church member, he will be a cross-grained Christian. That mother who is constantly fretting, is engraving with a tool of steel on the girl's heart those lines which express sourness in the countenance—a thing which will make miserable any man unfortunate enough to marry her grown-up daughter. The parent's influence is more potential in making the character of the child elegant, or inelegant, than all the books on social etiquette ever learned by heart. If the parent is rude and curt in the home the child will go out into the world ill-bred and obnoxious to be hated by his fellows. If the parent is deceptive, and evades the promises made to them, his children will go out into the world, over ready to do the same. Believe me, you are always unreliable in their social and business relations. Being governed by all who admire stability and honesty in character. You may teach your children all the forms of etiquette, and your time is wasted, if you do not observe those rules yourself in the intercourse with your family.

Train your children by the influence of a magnificent example. The Ideal Parent will not neglect his children. What a fearful thing it is for a parent to lay before the child ways that are crooked. The father who winks at wrong before children will be the foundation upon which the successful rogue will be built. Out in the kitchen, the little girl must have her toy flat-iron and make believe iron clothes like mamma. Out on the sidewalk, the boy must get a short round stick, and place it between his lips and roll it from one corner to the other. The little urchin at play in the park, to emphasize his words before that group of playmates, gives an oath just as the foolish wicked father did that morning when things went wrong in the house. Let the child be taught the personality of the bad seed, or the good seed, placed in the brain of childhood is tremendous in its results. A child with good surroundings is liable to be in danger of having the life warped by the small seed of badness having been dropped in its little mind, what has a child to look forward to when parents are before him a bad example." The child has to imitate.

Over yonder in another home, two boys are playing. They say: "Come lets play drunk. He staggers about the room, he talks in a maudlin manner; he falls down by the floor, he gets chased his hands, laughs, and shouts, "Oh thats the way papa does when he is drunk." Great fun for the boys, but a small seed of badness having been dropped into the little mind, what has a child to look forward to when parents are before him a bad example. Train your children by the influence of a magnificent example. The Ideal Parent will not neglect his children. What a fearful thing it is for a parent to lay before the child ways that are crooked. The father who winks at wrong before children will be the foundation upon which the successful rogue will be built. Out in the kitchen, the little girl must have her toy flat-iron and make believe iron clothes like mamma. Out on the sidewalk, the boy must get a short round stick, and place it between his lips and roll it from one corner to the other. The little urchin at play in the park, to emphasize his words before that group of playmates, gives an oath just as the foolish wicked father did that morning when things went wrong in the house. Let the child be taught the personality of the bad seed, or the good seed, placed in the brain of childhood is tremendous in its results. A child with good surroundings is liable to be in danger of having the life warped by the small seed of badness having been dropped into the little mind, what has a child to look forward to when parents are before him a bad example." The child has to imitate.

Over yonder in another home, two boys are playing. They say: "Come lets play drunk. He staggers about the room, he talks in a maudlin manner; he falls down by the floor, he gets chased his hands, laughs, and shouts, "Oh thats the way papa does when he is drunk." Great fun for the boys, but a small seed of badness having been dropped into the little mind, what has a child to look forward to, when parents are before him a bad example. Which one of those boys has the best chance in life? Which has the training that leads to honesty, sobriety, and usefulness? Parents as you value your child's future happiness and eternal welfare, watch you habits in the home.

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE.

A $20,000 Forgery.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Oscar Adler, a clerk of 213 East Forty-ninth street, was arraigned in the Tombs Police Court this morning charged with forgeries to the sum of $20,000.

Faced the Steam and Saved the Train.

With his cab full of escaping steam, that burned him terribly, Engineer Joseph Lutz of Phillipsburg heroically stuck to his post on the engine of the New Jersey Central express train, leaving there for New York, Saturday morning, at six o'clock, and brought it to a stop above Somerville. Then he staggered from the cab and fainted.

A Bee bad burst and the steam scalded Lutz's face, neck, and the upper part of his body frightfully. It is thought he will recover. To stop the train he had to stand right before the escaping steam.

Meeting at Hope Chapel Tuesday.

At the meeting in Hope Chapel, Tuesday evening, Oct. 3, held in connection with the meeting of the Presbytery of Elizabeth, the Rev. Mr. Caldwell of Westfield, the Rev. Mr. Kerr of Elizabeth, and Mr. Woodward of Elizabeth will make short addresses. Mr. J. J. Petrie of this city will give a violin solo.

After the service an opportunity will be given to the visiting friends from out of town to inspect the bowling alley and reading room. Good service at 7.45. All are welcome.

Meeting of the Presbytery of Elizabeth

On Tuesday, Oct. 3d, the Presbytery of Elizabeth will meet at the Crescent Avenue church at eleven o'clock, opening with a sermon by Mr. Newell, the retiring Moderator. All are welcome at this service and all the sessions of the Presbytery. Popular meetings will be held in the evening at 8 o'clock, to be addressed by prominent members of the Presbytery, in the Bethel, Hope and Warren chapels.

Arrested for Shooting on Sunday.

Saturday night Policeman Corm arrested John Dennis, Fred. Engler and James Graney at "the tanks." The party had started on a hunting expedition and had two guns. The charge made against them was disorderly conduct for shooting on Sunday. They were sentenced to 15 days each in the county jail.

Bowling League Representatives to Meet.

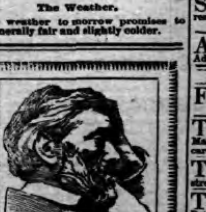
Representatives of the Journal Bowling League will hold a meeting at Elizabeth to-night to discuss the advisability of forming a league for the coming Winter. The Catholic Young Men's Lyceum of this city will be represented.

Their Last Summer Outing.

The German Singing Society of this city had their last Summer outing on Saturday and picnicked at Keller's Grove on the mountain. The day was passed singing, drinking lager and playing in a livelier way than usual.

The Weather.

The weather to morrow promises to be generally fair and slightly colder.



Carlyle

Who called himself an "oatmeal epicure," "cultivated literature on a little oatmeal," what would the result have been had he known

H-O Hornby's Oatmeal

the perfect grain?

Analysis proves H-O to possess a larger proportion of the nutritious elements than any breakfast food, or other cereal food ever made.

THE H-O COMPANY, NEW YORK.

DEATHS.

NORTHUP—At his home, 47 North avenue, Plainfield, in his 51st year, William B. Northup.

Funeral private. Interment at Wickford, R. I.

OPENING OF Fall and Winter DRESS GOODS.

We have placed on sale the Largest Assortment of DRESS GOODS ever offered in this city, and the prices lower than ever, short lengths to avoid too many dresses of a kind.

WE MENTION A FEW SPECIALS.

All Wool Bengaline at 55c. yd. Regular Price 75c.
" " Novelties at 50c yd. Regular Price 75c.
" " Henriettas at 75c. yd. Regular Price 1 00

Cashmeres, Serges, Flannels and Cloths in large variety of colors and prices. Priestley's silk warp Dress Goods.

DRESS TRIMMINGS

In plain and changeable Mohairs, Guimps, Braids, etc. We are still offering

Smith's Best Moquette Carpets at 99c. yd

It will be to your advantage to look at these goods if you are in need of carpets.

BLANKETS AND COMFORTABLES AT

EDSALL'S.

Timely Warning! Winter Approaching!

Keep your Scalp Clean and your Hair Growing.

RANDOLPH'S Quinine and Glycerine HAIR TONIC!

The Friend in the Hour of Need.

EACH BOTTLE GUARANTEED. Sold only by

L. W. RANDOLPH, Prescription Druggist,

143 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

Cent-a-Word Column.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—New house, Park place, near Rector avenue, (Washington Park.) Mulford, broker. 9 14 tf

FOR SALE—$6,000—Two dwellings and one building lot. All in North Plainfield. Title perfect. Terms easy. Dwellings now rented. Address "R. D. Jr.," care of EVENING NEWS. tf

HELP WANTED.

WANTED—Young lady to display shoes. J. F. Dunlhar & Son, 201 West Front street.

BOY WANTED as time-keeper, at A. M. Griffen's.

WANTED—A young colored man to be generally useful. Must understand care of horse and cow. Call with reference, 142 West Seventh street, between seven and eight o'clock. 9 27 tf

WANTED—Two competent girls, one cook to assist in laundry work, one as chambermaid and waitress. Apply, 1106 Park avenue. 29 4

SITUATIONS WANTED.

SITUATIONS wanted by two Swedish girls, one to do cooking, the other as waitress. Address "S," care of EVENING NEWS. 30 2

A YOUNG girl who has had some experience would like place as dressmaking. Address "C. M. W.," Scotch Plains. 29 5

FOR RENT.

FOUR pleasant, convenient rooms to let, 404 Third street, corner Central avenue. 30 6

TO LET—In North Plainfield, a nicely furnished bed room with use of bath. Call May. For further particulars, address "A.," care of EVENING NEWS. 29 7tf

TO LET—A furnished room with or without board to a lady. 320 East Fifth street. 9 13tf

TO LET—Seven room house near Pond's factory, with modern improvements, 210 West Front street. Both in good order. Inquire, City Mills. 9 6 tf

LOST AND FOUND.

LOST—On Sunday afternoon, between residence and First Baptist church, or at church, gold enameled Secret society pin with diamond. A suitable reward will be paid for its return to 122 Plainfield avenue. 30 2

Madame Iza Lezem's Conservatory

will open on

Friday, October 6,

from 2 to 6 p. m., in HULETT'S HALL, for instruction in Physical Culture, Delsarte, Elocution, Deportment, Singing, Violin, Piano, Society and Fancy Dancing.

Reception on October 2, from 3 to 5 p. m., to which all ladies are cordially invited.

For particulars, address to the Hall, or 320 West Front street. 29 2 tf

THE Vanderbilts and Astors!

Use the same make of imported Table Oil, Cheese and French Mustard as I now have in stock.

THEY ARE DELICIOUS.

And then I personally select the

FRESH FISH!

I have on sale to-day and to-morrow. Call and see my stock.

JULES BOVEY,

280 Somerset Street.

TAKE NOTICE.

Charles Arnold,

the butcher,

Is Still in the Race

for cut prices.

Fish Pork and Sausage 12c. lb.

My own Dressed Jersey Chickens, 18c. lb.

Legs Mutton, 10c. lb.

Lamb, 12c. lb.

My Smoked Meats and all other Meats will be the same old cut prices.

Arnold's : Market,

203 LIBERTY STREET.

GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE.

Strictly Cash. 6 23 3mo

1893 TAXES!

Notice is hereby given to the taxpayers of the

City of Plainfield,

that the taxes assessed in said city for the year 1893 are now due and payable, and that if the said taxes be not paid by the

20th Day of December

next, the names of the defaulters, with their respective sums, will be returned to the City Judge for the prosecution. The

COMMISSIONERS OF APPEAL

in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council Chamber, on the

Fourth Tuesday in November Next,

(the 28th,) and sit from two o'clock p. m. until five o'clock p. m., or longer, if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

JOHN JOHNSON,
Collector of Taxes.

Dated, Plainfield, N. J., October 2, 1893. 10 2 td

Do You?

Intend to invest in a

WHEEL?

If so, call on

Dickinson,

The Optician.

Agent for the Waterbury, the best wheel in the market, 6 weights, 26, 28, 30, 32 and 34 lbs. Wheels to hire at reasonable rates.

Townsend's Marble Works,

29 Somerset Street.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Where Cholera Breeds.

Dr. Gerhard Rohlfs, the German explorer, makes some revelations concerning cholera that are calculated to make civilization's hair stand on end. It is his conviction after careful investigation on the spot that cholera originates in Mecca itself and in the valley of Muna, and nowhere else. The testimony of Sir Richard Burton, likewise of the German traveler Von Maltzan, who visited Mecca 20 years ago during one of the pilgrimages, is corroborative in every respect of Rohlfs' opinion.

The cholera is caused partly by the observance of a custom that began, putting it exactly, March 9, 632. That day, coming into the vale of Muna at the head of his followers, the prophet Mohammed sacrificed with his own hands 66 camels—one for every year of his life. His followers numbered 100,000, and each of these killed a camel or some other animal, so the story goes that 100,000 dumb creatures were thus sacrificed in honor of Mohammed's sixty-third birthday. Whether this story is literally true or not, certain it is that every year a large number of sheep and camels are slain in sacrifice at the coming together of the pilgrims to Mecca. The earth becomes a sea of blood. Sir Richard Burton writes that once when in this vicinity he made all possible haste to get out of the pestilential valley, as the stench was something awful. Between 5,000 and 6,000 animals were thus sacrificed within Burton's knowledge.

This horrid rite has now been annually celebrated upon the same blood soaked earth for 1,260 years. To this must be added two almost equally disturbing facts. One is that the hundreds of thousands of pilgrims from the fringe of north Africa, from Arabia and elsewhere never change their underclothing from the time they set out 'till their return. The pilgrims from the north African coast journey to Mecca in steamers that are dangerously overcrowded. There is no one to interfere and prescribe to the captain the number of pilgrims he shall carry on their "holy" mission. Disease and death are consequently rampant upon even these ships. Your Mohammedan has a deadly horror of being buried at sea. Consequently the corpses of those who die on shipboard are concealed in the steamer below decks till the pilgrims return home, when they find a big funeral.

Von Maltzan saw an army of pilgrims perform the terrible sacrificial rite in the vale of Muna. The crowd numbered 10,000 people. At their head was the cadi of Mecca. The cadi held a live sheep, painted in gaudy colors. At a given signal the cadi turned the sheep's head toward the house of the prophet and cut its throat. About a third of the pilgrims were provided likewise with sheep, and they immediately slaughtered them in a similar manner. Von Maltzan writes, "The sight was so horrible that I fled from the place and returned to Mecca." Perhaps Mr. Webb, who is trying to convert the American people to the holy, peaceful and cleanly Moslem religion, will explain these facts to us.

At any rate, the Turk and his followers are unspeakable in more ways than one. Civilized nations must look for their own protection to rise and suppress these monstrous pilgrimages. Cholera always breaks out among the pilgrims. It would be a miracle were it otherwise. The conditions are aggravated by the fact that the visit to Mecca is made during the hot months. All the faithful cannot get into the vale of Muna at once. Tens of thousands camp upon the border and breed pestilence; then they go away and trail it over the world.

Of the 9,000 deluded wretches that left Tunis and neighboring ports in May last, only half returned. The rest died of cholera. At the so called Sacred Mount where the hosts assemble to hear a solemn address before visiting the birthplace and shrine of the prophet there were 100,000 persons June 24. Many of them were starving, and hundreds had died of cholera, while hundreds of others were dying. Worst of all, aid could not be secured to bury the corpses. Finally a battalion of 700 Turkish soldiers went to this charnel house to put the dead under ground. Five hundred of these soldiers themselves died of cholera.

These facts are not pleasant, but it is time civilized people were made acquainted with them. Imagination can picture nothing more awful or loathsome than these pilgrimages. Down with them, even if to stop them the Turk must be exterminated! Europe and America should unite and suppress them with an iron hand.

The people of the United States expect the members of the national guard in the 44 states composing the Union to be gentlemen, conducting themselves as such at home and away from home. They are the sons of the good citizens of the republic. It is a pleasure to know that their behavior is mostly up to the high standard that is expected of them.

Maine has reason to be proud of the Bath Iron works and their recent record in naval construction. First the ram Katahdin was finished; then the gunboats Machias and Castine quickly followed, both earning a premium for speed above the requirements. They are intended for river service in foreign waters and are 160 feet long.

The Philadelphia mint robbery was another case of the "trusted employee."

A New Fodder Plant.

If the latest agricultural reports from Europe are to be believed, the shipments of hay from this country thither will not increase to an overwhelming amount from year to year. The story is that a new fodder plant has been developed in Europe which will more than take the place of the lacking hay, and which can be grown in any quantity besides.

A variety of wild pea flourishes all over Europe which has hitherto been regarded as nothing but a noxious weed. It has roots that grow sometimes 20 feet long. It is impossible to kill the thing, and it thrives on soil that would starve a goat. Its long, matted roots prevent its being affected by drought or anything else. Like most weeds, it produces an immense crop and propagates itself like burdock on a hillside pasture. Whether on stony, sandy or swampy ground the plant will grow luxuriantly. Its botanical name is "lathyrus sylvestris."

In its native state the lathyrus, while nutritious to animals, contained certain alkaloids that injured cattle. Some years ago the experiment was begun of educating these alkaloids out of the plant and civilizing it down to the use of live stock. It is now announced that the experiment has been entirely successful, and that the scientific agriculturists of Germany offer to mankind a fodder plant that promises to mark for domestic animals an era as distinct as that following the introduction of the potato as food for man. The lathyrus is claimed to contain twice as much nutriment as either the alfalfa or red clover. The man who tamed it down to civilized uses received the grand gold medal at the Munich agricultural exposition in June.

Too Much Hard Work.

The effect of too much hard work is the same as that of too little—it is brutalizing and demoralizing. It is perhaps a shocking thing to say, but the morality of many of the sons of the nobility of Europe is fairly on a par with that of the sons of the slum population of the large cities.

Balzac wrote long ago, "When toil exhausts the body, it takes from the mind its purifying action, especially among the ignorant." Accordingly, among that part of the population of a country which lives in poverty and sustains its poor life by unremitting toil, brutality, uncleanliness and dishonesty are almost the rule. It is the hod carrier or the street laborer who goes on prolonged sprees and kicks his wife to death.

Grinding toil and squalid poverty bring man to the level of the brute. It is not from the ranks of those who spend their lives at hard physical labor that the inventors, the poets, the great preachers, usually come. It is from that happy middle rank where there is neither too much money nor too much hard work. As the race evolves a higher civilization it will develop out of the condition of slavery to mere physical tasks. The farmer especially should realize that the more back breaking toil he can save himself through the intelligent use of machinery and through other means the more brain and nerve power he will have left to use in thinking out ways to better himself pecuniarily and socially.

The Dutchmen in Holland have a way of teaching languages in school which makes linguists of the pupils in a short time. At the beginning of a given week the pupils are informed that during the next seven days only one particular language will be spoken. It may be English, French or German. Every pupil who makes a break in the specified time and lapses into Hollandese is fined so many cents each time. At the end of the week a considerable sum is realized, which goes into the school library fund. But it does not go there directly. It is auctioned off to the highest bidder, with the intention that he shall get back a sum in fines during the next week equal to it or even greater. Meantime for the coming week he is appointed a superintendent and critic of his school fellows. He watches their every step carefully and collects the fine without mercy. At the end of that week he turns in the sum he has won, minus his own gains. A different language is chosen each week in rotation, so that many times during the year the pupils leave one for a time and return to it in a few weeks. By the end of a year they have a fair working knowledge of all the languages. The following year they take up the study of the grammar and construction of each tongue. By the time they are ready to leave school they have a good knowledge of several foreign languages.

On the whole, it is not altogether to be regretted that there is no other great body of public land to be opened to "boomers" in this country. The repetition of the scenes of the violence, lawlessness, bloodshed and death that attended the last opening this country can very well afford do without, even at the cost of having no more public land to dispose of under the homestead laws.

It is rather humiliating, is it not, that in these exciting times in Brazil the only telegraphic news to be obtained from Rio Janiero by the coffee merchants of the United States must come to them by way of Paris and London? In some respects it is not such a very great country after all.

LOOKING AHEAD SIX DAYS

Prospective Action In Both Senate and House.

GOOD SALARIES FOR LITTLE WORK.

Men Paid Salaries and Empowered to Hire Deputies to Collect Insignificant Custom Duties—The Supreme Court Is Only Second Taken Behind With Its Docket.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The ninth week of the present session of congress begins today, and the result of the work so far accomplished cannot be said to be encouraging to persons who had hoped for a speedy settlement of the great financial question which caused the issue of the call for the special session. The present outlook is toward a continuation of the debate which has been in progress for the last five weeks in the senate. The renewed talk of compromise legislation, however, gives the impression in some quarters that the end may be near.

The list of speakers has not been completed for this week, and it may be assumed that when it is the names of few or no democratic senators will appear upon it, and the debate will be left almost altogether to the silver men. Three of these—Teller, George and Morgan—are entitled to the floor at any time to conclude speeches which they have begun but not finished. Mr. Call of Florida has signified a desire to address the senate today, but this is the only new speech formally announced.

The week's business in the house will be confined, so far as can be stated, to a continuance of the debate on the election bill under the order which will exhaust itself on the 10th inst.

Absence of Partisan Feeling.

The debate so far as it has progressed has failed to develope any of that intensity of partisan feeling so freely predicted of it. In fact, it has been rather tame and uninteresting, and on one or two days last week an early adjournment was necessitated because there was no one ready to proceed with the argument. An improvement in this respect is anticipated this week, as the speakers' list contains the names of some of the leaders who have asked for time—Burrows, Hoar, Lodge, Dolliver, Pugh, Chilters and others. The expectation is that the debate, like that on the bill of the repeal of the silver purchasing law, will increase in interest toward the close and go out in a blaze of glory, so to speak.

There are a number of measures on the calendar which committees may call up during the morning consideration hour, but it is not probable that any of them will be brought to the attention of the house, for the time for discussion is too brief to warrant expectation of definite action. Mr. Richardson does not intend to press the printing bill until after the election debate has been concluded.

Considerable work will be done in committee rooms. The committee on banking and currency will continue its hearings on the financial measures pending before it, Representative Davis of Kansas being first on the list for Tuesday morning.

Good Salaries For Little Work.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The book of treasury receipts and disbursements for the last fiscal year has just been issued. It shows some curious facts in the matter of custom receipts. At the points named the total receipts from customs for the last fiscal year were: Kennebunk, Me., 15 cents; Frenchman's Bay, Me., $54.80; Castine, Me., $143.56; Bridgeport, N. J., $87.66; Nantucket, Mass., $60; Alexandria, Va., $73.45; Pimpton, N. H., $11; Alexandria, D. C., $71.39; St. Mary's, Ga., $47.43; St. Mark's, Fla., $7.39; Michigan, Mich., $2.40. At each of these points a collector of customs is appointed, and frequently he has three or four assistants to help him collect the revenue. At Alexandria, Va., for instance, where the revenue was only $73.45, the collector received a salary of $214.82 for the year and his deputy $1,349. At Castine, Me., the collector received a salary of $150, besides fees and commissions, and had a special deputy at $2.50 a day and four regular deputies at salaries ranging from $2 to $1.50 a day. These fair samples of the force employed at the other custom points named.

Miss Ah Fong Will Soon Wed.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The matrimonial alliance between Commander W. H. Whiting, United States navy, and Miss Ah Fong, the Chinese maiden of Hawaii, will soon be consummated. The only obstacle in the way has been removed by an order issued from the navy department relieving Commander Whiting from the command of the Alliance and granting him a month's leave of absence, with permission to apply for an extension.

Only Seven Years Behind Hand.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—While the docket for the October term of the supreme court in 1892 at the opening contained 1,183 cases, there are but 1,035 awaiting the court's attention at this time. If this rate of progression is maintained, the court will be confronted with nothing but current cases seven years hence.

Mr. Caldwell May Be Chairman.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—A meeting of the Republican congressional campaign committee has been called for Wednesday night for the purpose of organization. There has not yet been much discussion of candidates for the chairmanship, and what talk there has been was in favor of Representative Caldwell of Ohio.

Shot at by Negro Miners.

PITTSBURG, Kan., Oct. 2.—Ever since the importation of negro labor from Alabama for the mines the negroes have been in the habit of hiring livery rigs and riding about the country. Yesterday afternoon several were pursuing the practice, and when riding through Chicopee, a mining camp, opened fire on 19-year-old James Harrison and shot him four times. Three of them were caught and lodged in jail. Large revolvers were taken from them by the marshal. Only coolness on the part of the officers prevented a lynching.

War Is Exquisite to Sarah.

PARIS, Oct. 2.—Sarah Bernhardt was in Rio Janiero during the bombardment. When interviewed upon her return here she exclaimed: "It was simply exquisite. I spent three days and nights in the roadstead on the Admiral's yacht. It was grand, overpowering, magnificent. I shall never forget it. I saw then the grandest scene of my life."

Big Fire Started by Tramps.

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 2.—Three tramps, playing cards in a box car set, fire to the bituminous oil shed of the Standard Oil company yesterday, causing a loss of $40,000, the shed and contents and seven freight cars being burned. A watchman fired on the tramps five times, but they managed to escape.

FEELING OF VAGUE UNREST.

Conditions In Europe Are Such That War May Be Easily Precipitated.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The feeling of vague unrest throughout Europe does not abate. No international quarrel of any nature exists, yet dark forebodings seem to spring up spontaneously.

The belief that the strange friendship between France and Russia is really an alliance as strong as that between the three powers in the center of the continent is now universal. The announcement that France is about to cede Russia an island in the Gulf of Siam for a coaling station is only less significant than the opening of a Mediterranean port to her. These points are regarded as in some sense a greater menace to England than to the Triple alliance. It is certainly true that both letters are regarded with profound disapproval by the British government.

The fact should be recognized that Italy is an extremely dangerous element in the present situation. The country is in a pitiable condition. Things are so bad that a catastrophe of a violent nature is inevitable unless relief comes speedily. Silver disappeared from ordinary circulation months ago. Even copper is now vanishing. The premium on gold is now 20 per cent and on copper coin 2 per cent. When buying stamps in an Italian postoffice, it is impossible to obtain change. Churchgoers have adopted the practice of putting pledges into the contribution box and redeeming them when they reach the amount of the smallest bank note. The money famine has not by tolerated much longer. It is openly asserted that war is the only desperate resource which can save the present government. That a war is more endurable or tolerable to the Italians as it already is to the French, the situation could hardly be more ominous.

ARTHUR MAY BE DEPOSED.

Indications of an Uprising Against the Chief of the Engineers.

NASHVILLE, Oct. 2.—There are indications all over the country, especially in the middle states and along the main and branch lines of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, that a general uprising against P. M. Arthur, chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, is about to take place. Dissatisfaction is swelling rapidly against him, and after 13 years in the executive chair his head may be chopped off at the annual meeting next winter. So far as the Louisville and Nashville railroad employees are concerned, some boldly claim that Arthur and the chief of the trainmen did not give them a fair deal in the recent conference with the Louisville and Nashville management.

They say that the chief of the trainmen declared that the vote against the cut was not taken according to the provisions of the constitution and that he would refuse to call out his men in case the officials insisted on the cut. It is claimed that Arthur joined him in this action. It is also alleged that Arthur has not acted for the best interest of the men on several occasions.

The Nashville American is authority for the foregoing.

Chief Arthur says of the report that "it is too silly to talk about."

Some New York Nominations.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Among the nominations sent to the senate Saturday were those of Peter C. Doyle, to be collector of customs at Buffalo; John J. Kennedy, to be appraiser of the port of Buffalo; Valentine Pfaff Kneeland, to be collector of internal revenue for the Twenty-eighth district of New York, and Messrs. Jacob Schoenhoff, William McKinney and J. Rockwell Fay, to be assistant appraisers at the port of New York.

An Unsuccessful Break For Liberty.

FORT SMITH, Ark., Oct. 2.—A mutiny of large proportions was quelled in the federal jail here by Jailer Hanna. Three desperate characters got out of their cells, but were driven back by the guards, who were assisted by five of the prisoners did not retreat. One was shot dead by the jailer's son.

Labor Cheap In Joliet.

JOLIET, Ills., Oct. 2.—The Joliet branch of the Illinois Steel company has given its ultimatum to the men to go to work on a 23½ per cent reduction or they will start up with nonunion men. Superintendent Pettigrew says he could get all the men he wanted at $1 a day.

Prince Bismarck's Removal Postponed.

BERLIN, Oct. 2.—Prince Bismarck's return to Friedrichsruh from Kissingen has been deferred until next week, as he still lacks the necessary energy for such a long journey. The hope is expressed that he be spared all public demonstrations during his journey home.

Want Governor Boggs to Accept Bounty.

AUSTIN, Oct. 2.—Two hundred of Austin's most prominent citizens are out in a petition to Governor Hogg requesting him to accept the sugar bounty which has accumulated at Washington to Texas' credit and which he emphatically refused last spring.

Murder and Suicide.

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—William Smith, while in a fit of jealousy, shot Henry Miller in the right thigh, and then went into his own room and cut his throat from ear to ear, causing almost instant death. Both loved the same girl.

Women Selling Elevated Road Tickets.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 2.—The competition of the surface trolley lines has become so strong that the elevated roads have been compelled to cut down expenses. This they have done in part by employing more women to sell tickets.

Gigantic Labor Union Proposed.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—There is now on foot in this country and in Europe a plan to form an international railway union, which will include in its membership all the railroad employees in the civilized world.

The Coal Famine a National Calamity.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The English coal famine has assumed the proportions of a national calamity, and the suffering among the strikers themselves is appalling. The retail price is now about $10 a ton.

Rockefeller's Latest Purchase.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—John D. Rockefeller has completed the purchase of 450 acres of ground at Tarrytown Heights at a cost of over $450,000. He will erect the handsomest country mansion in this country.

May Disrupt the Association.

OMAHA, Oct. 2.—The Union Pacific railway has served formal notice that it will withdraw from the Western Passenger association on Oct. 20. This defection may disrupt the association.

Muncie's Smallpox Epidemic.

MUNCIE, Ind., Oct. 2.—To date there have been 121 cases of smallpox here, with 11 deaths.

Hood's Cures

Mr. P. J. Fleming

For Impure Blood.

"About three years ago a slight pimple appeared on my face. I took a great many kinds of medicine, but still the sore gradually increased. Finally I took Hood's Sarsaparilla for two years. I bought six bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and began taking it to purify my blood. The blood was improved, and how the skin is entirely healed."

Hood's Sarsaparilla

has completely cured me." P. J. FLEMING, Fitchburville, Mass. Be sure to get Hood's.

HOOD'S PILLS are the best after-dinner Pills, aided digestion, cure headache. 25c a box. 6m.

Stoves For Winter, Hardware of all Kinds, Everything From Tacks to Furnaces.

A. M. GRIFFEN,

18 EAST FRONT STREET. Telephone 6.

JOSEPH SOHL,

PRACTICAL

Electrician

49 NORTH AVENUE.

Plainfield, N. J.

Estimates furnished on Electric Light Wiring, Burglar Alarm and Bell Work and repairing of same. Dealer in

Electric and Gas Fixtures.

The only place to buy

Sea Food!

is at

TERRY'S

North Avenue Sea Food Market,

where you will find the biggest Shad in Plainfield. Also, all other kinds in season, at the lowest prices.

OPENING

of Fall and Winter

Millinery and Jackets,

Wednesday, Thursday and Friday,

SEPTEMBER 13, 14 AND 15.

Having remodeled and greatly enlarged our Millinery Department, we are, this season, enabled to show our patrons a line of freshest Millinery second to none in the State, and at New York city prices. Our Trimming Department will be under the supervision of Miss Carrie Kuehn, whose superior style of trimming gave such entire satisfaction last season. We will also open on above dates, a line of Fall Jackets for Ladies, Misses and Children.

Boehm's.

Metropolitan Livery

and

Boarding Stables!

Coaches, Close Carriages, Park Phaetons, Surreys, Buggies, Pony Phaetons and Saddle horses.

Special care given boarding horses. Storage for Furniture and Carriages.

140 AND 157 NORTH AVENUE.

Opposite depot. Telephone Call, 44.

H. E. RIDER, Proprietor. FRANK DAY, Manager

Special Notices.

New York Law School

120 Broadway, New York City. Incorporated 1891. Number of students, 1891-92, 581; 1892-93, 506. Largest law school in United States. Course, two years. Night sessions of instruction. Degree of LL.B. given after two years' course. Graduate course of one year added. Tuition fee, $100. Next session opens October 2, 1893. Address GEORGE CHASE, Dean. 6 7 tue

Van Eps,

THE NEW JEWELER.

12 Park Avenue. Also a large variety of Musical Goods.

Educational.

HARNED - ACADEMY.

BOARDING AND DAY SCHOOL.

New School Buildings,
Competent Instructors,
Students Prepared for College, For Business and In Special Subjects.

For circulars, address "Harned Academy, Plainfield, N. J.

Plainfield Seminary,

re-opened

SEPTEMBER 14, 1893.

(26th year.)

MISS R. E. KENYON, Principal.

Plainfield Manual Training School,

now open.

309 EAST FRONT STREET.

For circular and particulars, address John Daniel, Principal, Plainfield, N. J.

FRENCH LESSONS.

Instruction and entertainment in French language, literature and conversation, given in Plainfield, Westfield and surrounding villages, by a graduate of the Sorbonne, Paris. Private lessons, classes, schools and others. For terms, and trial lesson free, write to Prof. L. Hugon, care of Mme. Hugon, Boarding and Day School for Young Ladies, La Grande avenue, Plainfield.

MISS FAWCETT'S

Boarding and Day Primary and Intermediate School, 25 Watchung avenue. French, Music, Drawing, Calisthenics. An opportunity to join Miss Fawcett's class in French. Pupils received with the school. Athens Wednesdays, from 2 to 4.

MRS. JEANNETTE MATTISON,

Teacher of Piano. Gives lessons at her home, Dudley or at pupils' residence. Pupils received for practice. Terms moderate. Organist. Director. Liberal terms to classes. Best references. No. 35 East Front street.

Are You Insured?

If you are 21 years old $56.40 paid annually for fifteen years would entitle you to $1,000.

If 22 years old, $57.

If 23 years old, $57.10.

If 24 years old, $57.20.

This sum of $1,000 is payable to the insured, if living, at the expiration of fifteen years, or at his death if prior.

FOR A LIFE POLICY, of $1,000 the annual payments to continue during life, the payments for young men between 21 and 24 are between $18.60 and $20.

For catalogues and further particulars address Henry D. Mottram, Jr., Manager, 11 Broadway, The New York Mutual Life Insurance Company.

F. M. HULETT,

MUSIC DEALER,

74 West Front Street,

handles the following makes:

Gildermaster & Kroger.
Kranich & Bach,
Starr,
Mulfeld,
Jacob Bros. Pianos,
and the world-renowned
Neuman Bros. and Bacon & Hamlin Organs.

A. W. Rand,

140 WEST FRONT STREET.

New and second hand

SCHOOL - BOOKS,

School supplies of all kinds.

Those wishing to exchange second hand books must bring them in immediately.

Boehm's.

Metropolitan Livery

and

Boarding Stables!

Coaches, Close Carriages, Park Phaetons, Surreys, Buggies, Pony Phaetons and Saddle horses.

Special care given boarding horses. Storage for Furniture and Carriages.

140 AND 157 NORTH AVENUE.

Opposite depot. Telephone Call, 44.

H. E. RIDER, Proprietor. FRANK DAY, Manager

Special Notices.

New York Law School

120 Broadway, New York City. Incorporated 1891. Number of students, 1891-92, 581; 1892-93, 506. Largest law school in United States. Course, two years. Night sessions of instruction. Degree of LL.B. given after two years' course. Graduate course of one year added. Tuition fee, $100. Next session opens October 2, 1893. Address GEORGE CHASE, Dean. 6 7 tue

Van Eps,

THE NEW JEWELER.

12 Park Avenue. Also a large variety of Musical Goods.

$55!

Six Days at the World's Fair.

A WEEK OF HOLIDAYS.

Railroad tickets, hotel accommodations, admission tickets, carriages, and all other necessary features provided, including two excursions, next to world's fair, by church, military, societies and other CLUBS, to parties of one or more friends, to engine and hose companies, police bodies and lodges, we offer special advantages.

Comfort and luxury at a minimum of cost.

We have exclusive arrangements with the great railways terminal in Chicago.

Send for circulars, or call and ask itinerary, and we will give you prices.

WORLD'S COLUMBIAN TOURIST COMPANY,

239 Broadway, New York.

GEORGE C. McEWEN,
Agent for New Jersey,
694 broad street, Newark.

THE BEE HIVE!

Infants' long Cashmere Cloaks, $1.50, $2.00, $3.25.

Children's Elder down Coats, $1.48, $2.00, $2.25.

Also a full line of Flannel Skirts, Infants' Shawls and Sacks.

Fall : Underwear.

Children's merino Vests and Pants, 16-inch, 12c., 18-inch, 16c., 20-inch, 18c., 22-inch, 24c., 24-inch, 30c.

Children's natural wool Vests and Pants, 16-inch, 20c., 18-inch, 25c., 20-inch, 30c., 22-inch, 35c., 24-inch, 40c.

SPECIAL!

Ladies' Ribbed Vests, long sleeves, 25c.
Ladies' Merino Vests, 35c., 39c. and 50c.
Ladies' Natural Wool Vests, $1.00.
Men's White Merino Shirts and Drawers, 50c., 75c. and $1.00.
Men's Natural Wool Shirts and Drawers 75c. and $1.00.
Men's Scarlet Shirts and Drawers, 75c., $1.00 and $1.24.

Louis Callman,

239 West Front Street.

The New Address

of Seguine's Livery Stable

is 18 West Second

Street,

in the Elkwood building.

Telephone Call, 36.

Fine horses, carriages, vehicles of all kinds. Horses boarded. Careful drivers.

Cleaner Coal!

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't,

9 BROADWAY, COR. FOURTH STREET, invites the public to inspect the operation of his new coal screen. The perfection of coal screens for coal sold, which he confidently believes entitles him to deliver cleaner coal than is possible by any other method of screening.

Upper Lehigh and Honeybrook Coal—a best quality and various sizes carried in stock.

Hocks and screened lumber.

He would also announce recently increased facilities for forwarding and receiving freight, and is ready to execute orders for the same in the best manner at short notice.

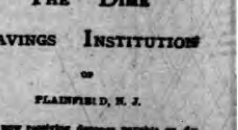
Miscellaneous Cards.

H. N. SPENCER,

Grocer and Tradesman, 76 and 78 Somerset street. Pure cider vinegar, 3 years old; ammunition, W. G. G. C. rock, yellow mustard seed, celery seed, whole spices, ground spices, cabbage, lettuce, tomato, pepper, cauliflower, sweet potato, and egg plants in season.

PLAINFIELD

CORDLESS EXCAVATING COMPANY



JONES & CO.

Work quickly and thoroughly done. Work under the supervision. Our references is approved of by the Board of Health. Terms of agreement. Office, 9 Broadway, Rooms 1 and 2. Telephone call 39.

WHEN MONEY IS SCARCE,

and CLOTHING is needed, go to SCHEPFLIN, 320 West Front Street.

THE DIME SAVINGS INSTITUTION

OF

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

MORE SLAUGHTER!

to close out our entire line of

Neglige SHIRTS!

We offer them at the ridiculously low price of

85 CENTS.

These goods are worth $1.25 and $1.50. If you don't need 'em now, buy and keep until next season. Saves—50c. from $1.35—for on each one.

Hallock & Davis,

New number, 109 West Front street, opposite Somerset street.

THE SILVER SITUATION

New York Bankers Confident of Ultimate Repeal.

INVENTOR EDISON'S NOVEL SCHEME

He Proposes to Make Money Out of Compressed Wheat—That, He Says, Would Represent Actual Value and Labor Performed, and the Money Could Be Based.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Bank officers here are almost unanimous in the opinion that the senate ultimately will repeal the purchasing clause of the silver act, and thereby restore to foreign investors faith in American securities.

George G. Williams, president of the Chemical National bank, who is probably the oldest bank officer in this city in point of service, in speaking to a reporter of the problems which are now puzzling not only the financial but also the business community, said:

"In the past few weeks there has been a very noticeable improvement in the financial situation, but the movement in that direction is now retarded by the action of the senate. I firmly believe that if the senate will promptly pass the bill stopping silver purchases by the government the recovery in the tone of business will be phenomenal, and the improvement in every quarter will be so great that we will surprise the nations of the earth by the exhibition of our recuperative powers.

"The situation is much better than was anticipated, for this is the season for heavy borrowing by interior banks, and as their wants as borrowers are greatly diminished, we know they cannot be nearly able to take care of themselves."

Inventor Edison's Plan.

A new solution of the silver question has been offered by Thomas A. Edison. In an interview he said:

"The hankering after gold and silver is largely traditional. People allow themselves to be governed by this old idea on the subject of coinage formulated at a time when national credit did not exist and currency would only be taken at an intrinsic value. That was the only standard of value. I think that the best dollar could be made out of compressed wheat. You take a bushel of wheat and squeeze the water out of it, and then compress it into a hard cake the size of a silver dollar and stamp the government mark upon it. That would represent actual value and labor performed. Both gold and silver could then be dispensed with and the present bimetallic problem solved.

Iron the Most Precious Metal.

"Our currency, however, would be as good as gold or silver in foreign exchange, for our wheat goes to all the countries of the world. In all this talk about metal for coinage I am surprised that no one has suggested iron. Iron is the most precious metal. Gold is of no use, or silver either. Mankind has no use for either gold or silver. Iron could not be dispensed with. If the people would only give up this foolish, traditional, hereditary hankering for gold and silver, those metals would be worth the price of old lead, and would be kicked aside by civilization. The human race, on the other hand, cannot dispense with iron. Iron must be had. It cannot be done with consumption or its price will steadily rise. The demand for iron is steady and will never cease. Therefore, why not issue treasury certificates on iron. This is the greatest iron producing country in the world, and our output amounts annually to more than the output of both gold and silver. Instead of loading up on treasury with these useless metals, and as people would want bills of large denomination to accompany the wheat dollar, why not buy iron or steel rails and issue treasury certificates upon that?"

Dangerous Forger Overhauled.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Oct. 2.—The police last night arrested Willis S. Rogers of Brooklyn on the charge of stealing a town at Norwalk. In Rogers' pockets were found 30 checks of the Norwich Silk company on the Tradesman's National bank of New York, made payable to W. S. Hayward and W. S. Rogers, and signed by L. F. Marshall, treasurer of the company. The amounts ranged from $15 to $35. He admitted that he had been passing checks for the same kind of paper before caught. He has worked all over the country.

Burned Out on the Eve of Starting.

TRENTON, Oct. 2.—Fire last night partially destroyed the Enterprise sanitary pottery. The offices and storerooms were burned, with a large stock of molds. The loss is estimated at between $50,000 and $100,000. The establishment had just received large orders and was to start in full operation this morning after a shutdown of several weeks.

Denied by General Exeris.

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—F. Baruch, consul general of San Salvador to the United States, says that he recently was to have signed by Vice President Antonio Ezeta of San Salvador, denying the report of his concurrent to Cuba Dent Wright. The marriage, according to report, was to take place in New York in October.

Western Associated Press Crumbling.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 2.—There are indications that the Western Associated Press is disintegrating. Tom Ellmois Stants Zeitung's withdrawal has been followed by that of the Memphis Scimitar, which sent a letter to that association saying its service was inadequate.

Tried Three Times and Failed.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 2.—A third unsuccessful attempt at wrecking the steamboat train bound south over the New London division of the Central Vermont railroad was made yesterday evening on a trestle about two miles south of Palmer.

Striking Against a Reduction.

MEMPHIS, Oct. 2.—All train hands employed by the Chesapeake and Ohio, the Illinois Central and the Yazoo and Mississippi Valley railroads at this point went on a strike yesterday against a 10 per cent reduction in wages.

Their Wages Cut 25 Per Cent.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Oct. 2.—The employees of the Traction company have been notified of a cut of 25 per cent in wages. The men threaten to strike.

Burned to the Water's Edge.

ST. GEORGE, S. I., Oct. 2.—The steam yacht Cygnet was burned to the water's edge here. The fire was caused by the explosion of a lamp.

PULPIT DENUNCIATION.

Hold Charges Made Against Brooklyn Officials by a Minister.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 2.—There seems to be a concerted movement among Brooklyn ministers to draw attention to what they consider the failings of the city and county officials. Concerning the proposed fight between Corbett and Mitchell, Rev. J. F. Carson of the Central Presbyterian church said:

"Within the past week our city has become a hissing and a byword to the country. In spite of the defiance of law and utter disrespect of public decency arrangements have been made within the borders of this state for a brutal fight for a purse of $40,000 to take place at Coney Island in December, and the men who consummated the arrangements and secured the signatures of the principals to the agreement is a justice of the peace in Kings county—Justice Richard B. Newton. What an insult to law! What a reproach to our county to see this man, sworn to execute the law and punish all violations, stepping down from the judicial bench and binding men to engage in an encounter which is a gross violation of the law and an exhibition of brutality and vice!

"But that is not all. Justice Tighe, who sits daily in a court of this city, is financially interested in the club under whose auspices this and similar fights are given and according to reports, has charge of the tickets for the fights."

HOPES RUNNING HIGH.

Chicago People Figuring on $60,000 At Attendance of Each Day.

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—Superintendent Tucker estimates that the paid admissions to the fair this week will reach 1,500,000, and he figures that 30,000,000 will be the grand total at the end of the present month. The record of paid admissions for September was 4,658,902, compared with 3,515,466 for August. Basing their estimates upon the the general movement among employers in Chicago to close their establishments on Chicago day and give an admission ticket to each employee, and also upon the expectation of a cent a mile rate being made by the railroads from points within a radius of 300 miles from Chicago, the citizens who are arranging for the monster celebration are figuring upon an attendance of 500,000 on Oct. 9, providing Irish day weather does not fall on that occasion. Twenty-eight foreign nations and peoples have contributed pieces of rope and other material with which to weave a rope of all nations to ring the Columbian Liberty bell on Chicago day. Fourteen other nations have promised to give something to be woven in this unique souvenir of the day. The people of Rhode Island will celebrate Oct. 5. This day was chosen because on that day the Rhode Islanders celebrated at the Centennial exposition. The governor, his staff and a party of distinguished officials and citizens will be here to participate in the exercises.

The Hazers Paid the Costs.

TOLEDO, Oct. 2.—The famous hazing cases at the Ohio Wesleyan university at Delaware, O., have been expunged from the docket. It will be remembered that several of the students were burned with nitrate of silver and their bodies spanked with hot shovels, as well as being subjected to other indignities. Heavy damage suits were begun, and criminal action was for some time on the tapis. The costs, which are enormous, have been paid by the hazers.

Where One Editor Excelled.

CITY OF MEXICO, Oct. 2.—Francisco Garcia and Rodriguez Pena, editors, fought a duel Sunday with swords. Pena was so obviously at the mercy of Garcia that the doctors present abruptly left the field after 13 assaults had taken place, saying that they did not wish to witness a murder. The duel was thereupon suspended.

New Parade at West Point.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 2.—Last evening, for the first time in the history of West Point, there was a regimental parade. The distinguishing feature of the parade from others is that the corps of cadets form in two batallions of four companies each, and the officers, seven in number, are mounted.

New York's Colored Masons.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Medina Temple of the Ancient Arabic Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine of Masonry of North and South America was installed Saturday night in this city. This is the first temple organized in the state of New York for colored Masons.

Army of Distinguished Guests.

TRENTON, Oct. 2.—Vice President Stevenson, Speaker Crisp, all of the members of the senate and many of the leading representatives in the house are expected to attend the celebration on the occasion of the unveiling of the Trenton battle monument on the 19th.

Fifty Cents Paid For a Horse.

HARTFORD, Oct. 2.—The town authorities offered for sale at auction a horse that had been kept in the pound until its board amounted to $16. Rev. E. E. Jackson, pastor of a colored Baptist church, bid 50 cents, and the horse was knocked down to him.

Central Labor Union to Take Part.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The Central Labor union has accepted an invitation to take part in the demonstration next Saturday evening to denounce Governor Flower for refusing to call a special session of the legislature for the relief of the unemployed.

Probably Killed by Indians.

TUSKAHOMA, I. T., Oct. 2.—Dr. Gray, the most prominent physician in town is believed to have been killed by Indians for the purpose of preventing his giving testimony in an important case which comes up in court today.

Diphtheria of the Worst Kind.

GRANTSBURG, Wis., Oct. 2.—The epidemic that has been raging among the children no longer lacks a name—it is diphtheria of the worst kind. One family has lost five children the past week, and four others are very ill.

Killed by an Armature.

NAUVOO, Ills., Oct. 2.—John M. Schaefer was accidentally shot and killed in an amateur theatrical last night by Howard Tagbee, both members of the club, in a duel occasion to use a revolver.

Locomotives to Race For $1,000.

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—The famous English locomotive, The Empress, now on exhibition at the World's fair, will race the New York Central flyer No. 999, 10 miles for a purse of $1,000.

Jackson Thinks Corbett Will Win.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Oct. 2.—Peter Jackson is certain that Mitchell will go down before Corbett, but that he (Jackson) will be victor when he meets the present champion.

NEW MOVE BY TAMMANY

Trying to Take the Mint Away From Philadelphia.

STORY FROM A QUAKER CITY PAPER

Has Furnished the New Yorkers With a Good Opportunity to Push Their City to the Front—A Site Already Offered.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2.—The Press says this morning that the statement was made upon reliable authority that unless Philadelphia disposes of a site for a new mint to the government within the time prescribed by the bill making the appropriation of $600,000 for a site in this city the mint will go to New York. As a matter of fact, it is stated that the leaders of Tammany Hall and the Tammany congressmen are now scheming to get the mint. It is asserted that they are using their influence at Washington to prevent the purchase of a site in Philadelphia within the two years from the date of the passage of the appropriation.

The argument they are using against Philadelphia is that there is hardly any bullion bought here. They claim that there is not $600,000 worth of bullion bought in Philadelphia in a day, while New York purchases thousands of dollars worth of bullion. They further claim that it cost the government $140,000 a year in express charges for the shipment of gold and silver from New York to the Philadelphia mint and back to New York again. Having put forth these claims, they say that, as all the bullion is handled in New York, that is the proper place for the mint.

Tammany Has Offered a Site.

These claims, it is said, have all been made to Secretary Carlisle. But the Tammany people have not stopped at this. It is asserted that they have appointed and offered for a new mint site to the government free. The location of the site is not definitely known, but it is on either Staten Island or Long Island. Upon this site is Tammany going to erect a mint building to cost $4,000,000.

The gentleman who is authority for these statements says that unless Philadelphia's representatives are alive to the city's interests and get the new mint site at Broad and Cherry streets into the possession of the government within six months, the mint will be as good as lost to Philadelphia.

Tammany's representatives are working for the city. It is their plan to prevent, if possible, the treasury department from entering into any contract for a site in Philadelphia.

While it is not charged that Secretary Carlisle is playing loose with Philadelphia, it is said that he is cognizant of Tammany's schemes. It is claimed largely upon the energy displayed by the Philadelphians who are interested in keeping the mint in this city, whether or not Tammany succeeds in capturing it.

Rebels Routed in Rosario.

BUENOS AYRES, Oct. 2.—Rosario, the stronghold of the insurgents, has been recaptured by the government troops. All the rebel leaders were taken prisoners. The steamship Ironclad Los Andes has been recaptured. It had been seized by the rebels and taken to Rosario. The rebels aboard the ironclad escaped in boats to the river bank.

Couldn't Save His Brother From Death.

LANCASTER, Pa., Oct. 2.—Charles, the 16-year-old son of J. M. Deichler, was killed by falling from a second story balcony, striking the bricks with his right temple. A 12-year-old brother, who was forcibly caught the child as he fell, but was unable to hold him.

The Tight Rope Walker May Recover.

TRENTON, Oct. 2.—Clifford Calverly, the tight rope walker who fell a distance of 80 feet from a platform while performing at the Philadelphia fair on Saturday, improved very much. He is at St. Francis' hospital, and the physicians hope for his recovery.

Kentucky Colored People Indignant.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Oct. 2.—The law providing separate coaches for negroes goes into effect today. Trouble is feared on the part of the colored people, who are said to be desperately opposed to the measure.

Miners' Wages Increased.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 2.—The committee of the Schuylkill Coal Exchange has fixed the rate of wages for the last half of September and first half of October at 5 per cent increase.

A Brakeman Crushed to Death.

TRENTON, Oct. 2.—Isaac Demaus, a brakeman on the Pennsylvania railroad, was instantly crushed while coupling cars here and died a few hours afterward.

Settlement of the Siamese Incident.

BANGKOK, Oct. 2.—The final settlement of the questions in dispute between France and Siam has been concluded. The convention will be signed tomorrow.

Death of Benjamin Jowett.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The Rev. Benjamin Jowett died Sunday and will be buried at Oxford. He was one of the foremost classical scholars of Great Britain.

Mother of Twenty-nine Children.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 2.—Mrs. Samuel Bennett of Gilmer county, 46 years old, is the mother of 29 children. The children are all alive and hearty.

A Residence For the Papal Delegate.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Negotiations are now pending for the purchase for the sum of $65,000 of a residence in this city for Mgr. Satolli, the papal delegate.

What Frank Hilton Fears.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Frank Hilton, on trial for assaulting Brooklyn Henriques, is afraid that he will lose his mind through confinement in prison.

Mrs. Susan Fisher Was Successful.

WOODBRIDGE, N. J., Oct. 2.—The appointment of James Young as postmaster for this place has been revoked and the office given to Mrs. Susan Fisher.

Many Deaths From Cholera.

GENOA, Oct. 2.—Sixty-four deaths from cholera occurred on the steamship Remo on her trip from Rio Janeiro to Santa Cruz de Teneriffe.

Denied by Mr. Van Alen.

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 2.—Mr. Van Alen denies that he has a letter in President Cleveland withdrawing as nominee to the Italian mission.

Cholera at San Claire.

EAU CLAIRE, Wis., Oct. 2.—Physicians here say that the death of a child of a Mr. and Mrs. Monson here was due to cholera.

CUT DOWN TO FACTS.

O. P. Caylor asserts positively that at 1894 the National Baseball league will be composed of eight clubs and the American association will be revived.

Anarchist Pallas, who threw a bomb at General Campos at Barcelona, was sentenced to be shot.

Two laborers fought desperately in Greenwood cemetery, Brooklyn, one using a sickle and the other a pair of shears. One of them may die.

The Chicago board of trade presented Thomas Barrett with a gold medal for capturing the crank who did the promiscuous shooting on the board last week.

The grand total of salaries paid in the government departments at the United States government during the past fiscal year was $13,364,196.

Daniel M. Ransdell of Indiana, marshal of the district, has become a part interest in the management of the Ebbitt House, Washington.

It has again been announced that the Brooklyn-Brooklyn series of ball games will be played.

Soutar, the notorious train robber, made a complete confession of his many crimes, and told where he had secured the money.

While attending a funeral at Kingston, Wis., the floor of the church gave way, precipitating more than 100 people into a cellar. Many were badly hurt, and one will die.

Oscar Hammerstein, who wagered that he could write a complete opera in 48 hours, handed in the manuscript one hour before his time was up. Judges will pass on its merits later.

Edwin R. Corney, a politician of Buffalo, committed suicide in his woodshed by hanging.

Four mysterious fires occurred within 24 hours in the home of Police Justice Edward Hogan in New York.

Another crank was arrested in the White House while trying to get an audience with the president. His name was Gottleb Sprengle, and he had been an inmate of a Hamburg asylum.

Billy Deutsch, ex-pugilist, previously reported to be dying, is now said to be recovering.

The Lutheran synod in Bellefonte, Pa., found W. H. Diver of Newport guilty of embezzlement, and he was deposed from the ministry.

The 60 days notice required by New York savings banks expired Saturday, and the withdrawals were very heavy.

The international congress of Free Thinkers is in session in Chicago.

Eight fresh cases of cholera and one death were reported at Leghorn.

Mr. Davis, guardian of Princess Kaiulani, is positive that she will eventually occupy the Hawaiian throne.

One death from yellow fever occurred in Jessup, Ga., and there were 12 new cases at Brunswick.

Administration delegates were elected at each of the nine Democratic caucuses held in Genesee county, N. Y.

Paid admissions to the World's fair Sunday were 67,293.

Flooded streams are playing havoc with railroad bridges in Indian Territory.

James F. Smith of Albany offers to run a one mile race with any man in America for $1,000 a side.

State Treasurer Bates of South Carolina, a Farmers' Alliance man, caused a sensation by openly favoring repeal of the Sherman law.

King Kelly may play with the St. Louis Browns next year.

It is alleged that Germany feels slighted because insufficient attention is paid her at the fair.

Philadelphia has 35,000 idle men.

Mrs. Deacon, whose husband killed M. Abeille in Cannes, has arrived in New York.

End of the Baseball Season.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 2.—The Reds and Clevelands played the last championship game of the year yesterday, pennsleton having given notice of doing so, although the season ended Saturday. The Cincinnatis won easily by a score of 11 to 5. This victory gives the New York team the fifth place. Following is the final standing of the clubs:

	W.	L.	P.C.		W.	L.	P.C.
Boston	86	44	.662	Brooklyn	71	59	.546
Pittsburg	81	49	.623	Baltimore	60	70	.462
Cleveland	72	57	.558	Chicago	56	75	.427
Philad'lp'a	72	57	.558	St. Louis	57	76	.429
New York	71	58	.550	Washington	43	87	.331
Cincinnati	69	61	.515	Washing'n	40	90	.308

Story of Brutal Assault.

ROCHESTER, Oct. 2.—Julius Atwater, just released from the Monroe county penitentiary, tells a story of cruel treatment and assault on the part of Keeper Benedict. His will bring suit for damages.

Became Insane and Chased a Priest.

HOBOKEN, N. J., Oct. 2.—Mary Cline, a servant in the residence of the Rev. Father Corrigan, became insane last night and chased the priest and servants with a knife.

Hundreds Have Been Out of Work.

HAZELTON, Pa., Oct. 2.—The Weatherly silk mill, in which 600 hands, mostly girls, are employed, has shut down for an indefinite period. No orders was the reason.

Death of James Alleyn.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 2.—Colonel James Alleyn, for the past 15 years manager of the Western Union Telegraph company here, died last evening, aged 55 years.

FASHIONS

A Growing Craze.

The growing craze throughout Europe for toilet articles of ebony, and ebony and silver in combination, has already produced a demand for these goods in our own country. Here the hardest and heaviest of woods is employed for two general purposes, articles of the toilet and for the library table. The toilet table nowadays is a comprehensive assortment of articles. In its briefest form it includes combs, brushes, and hand mirror. Then comes a long array of button hook, shoehorn, powder pomatum boxes, etc.

EBONY AND SILVER IN COMBINATION.

In the accompanying cut, borrowed from the Jewelers' Circular, is an example of this combination of ivory, lusterless wood, with graceful polished devices in silver. It meets one of the requirements of taste that belong peculiarly to our age, which delights in pleasant and unique contrasts.

Another one in the race, and

A. G. VOGELER

takes the lead.

LOOK AT THESE PRICES.

Porterhouse Steak	12c.
Sirloin	10c.
Roasts	12c.
Chuck	7c.
Roast Beef	10c.
Lamb Chops	14c.
Veal	14c.
Leg Mutton	12c.
Leg Spring Lamb	14c.
Oxford or Spring Lamb	12c.
Jersey Hams	12c.
Fresh Jersey Pork	14c.
Pork Sausage	14c.
Pickled Tripe	5c.
Pickled Pigs' Feet	5c.

Headquarters for Bologna. Bologna made fresh twice a day. Call and get your money's worth.

Union Meat Market,

131 WEST FRONT STREET.

9 14 1m A. G. Vogeler, Manager.

BEFORE BUYING LAMPS

See the new lamp—

The "Miller,"

(Patented 1890.

It has come to stay.

It is

The Lamp you Want

Every Lamp Warranted.

We make a full line of

Plain and Beautiful Lamps.

Send for circular, or call at

10 and 12 College Place, N. Y.

Office, 5 Read Station, 5th Ave. and Park Place; 5th Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

EDWARD MILLER & CO. (Est'd 1849.

Insist on having the "Miller" from your dealer.

Great Bargains

in all grades of

WALL PAPERS,

for the next 60 days.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.

29 EAST FRONT STREET.

U. B. CRANE,

has the largest stock of

Fine Fall HATS,

in Plainfield.

12 WEST FRONT STREET.

H. DE MOTT, Graduate of United States Embalming College.

UNDERTAKER : AND : EMBALMER,

Office at residence, 175 Somerset Street, Plainfield, N. J

Builders' Cards.

Daniel Hulick,

Carpenter

and

General Jobber.

SHOP,

35 Jackson Avenue.

Storm doors and weather strips a specialty.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

Window Screens made to order.

John P. Emmons,

MASON AND BUILDER.

Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place.

Jobbing promptly attended to.

P. O. Box 262.

DIBSON & GAYLE.

Carpenters

and Builders.

W. J. Dibson, No. 15 Vine street. H. B. Gayle, No. 19 Vine street.

All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM G. SMITH.

PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER.

All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.

Residence—Grandview avenue.

P. O. Box 313.

R. V. SAUME,

Carpenter & Builder.

Residence—Clinton avenue, near depot, Bruns.

P. O. Box 1268

Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.

JACOB M. HIGGINS,

PRACTICAL MASON and CONTRACTOR

P. O. Box 251. Residence Dun street, near Howard.

JOHN ABBOTT,

Dealer in Coal and Builders' Supplies. Yard on Front street, foot of Somerset. Office, Front street, Plainfield, N. J. Orders promptly attended to. P. O. Box 1041.

ALFRED R. NELSON,

Civil Engineer and Surveyor, Room 4, Front street, Plainfield, N. J. Maps of Plainfield, Dunellen, Fanwood, Scotch Plains and Watchung, Union county, for sale. Right lines with Transit. Also on the United States Coast Survey. All work guaranteed.

UMBRELLA - SALE.

GLORIA SILK,

26 inch, 89 cents each.

PARAGON FRAME.

GEO. L. VAN EMBURGH & SON.

FRONT STREET, OPPOSITE PARK AVENUE. UNDER THE BANK.

Rochester Beers!

The success already attained by this brand of Lager Beer is beyond expectation. No other Beer ever handled in this city has had such remarkable sales. Try it!

BOTTLED LIQUORS,

Imported Beers and Ales are having a very large sale at this season. My stock is first-class, and it will pay you to investigate.

FRANK LINKE'S

Wholesale Liquor Establishment, 42 WEST FRONT STREET. 'Phone Telephone Call, 137.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

Successors to

The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,

Dealers in

Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials

48 to 60 PARK AVENUE.

Are now prepared with their increased facilities, (having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs. A. D. Cook & Bro.,) to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

Do Your Corns Hurt?

They can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of

ELECTRIC

Corn Cure.

A remedy that never fails. A guarantee in each with each box, that if a complete cure is not made, the money is to be refunded at once. Price, 40c. per box. Send postpaid on receipt of price. Sold by druggists, or sent by postal note or silver, (at our risk.) A book of testimonials with each box.

ALLEN & CO.,

6 19 tf Lock Box 83, Richmond, Va.

New : Proprietor !

HENRY F. WINDHAM,

Arlington : Hotel !

Somerset street and Greenbrook road,

Regular and transient boarders.

First-class bar and stables attached.

Railroad Time Table.

CENTRAL RAILROAD OF NEW JERSEY

(Anthracite coal used exclusively insuring cleanliness and comfort.)

Stations in New York, foot of Liberty street, North River, and foot of Central Railroad.

Time Table in effect July 23, 1893.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield at 12 01 a. m., 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m. Sunday at 12 01 a. m., 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m. Express trains for New York, foot of Liberty street, at 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m. Sunday at 12 01 a. m., 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m. Passengers for Newark and Elizabeth only, 5 30 a. m.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield at 12 01, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m. Sunday at 12 01 a. m., 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m. Express trains for Newark at 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m. Sunday at 12 01 a. m., 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield at 12 01 a. m., 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m. Sunday at 12 01 a. m., 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield at 7 30 a. m., 12 30 p. m., 4 30 p. m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

5 30 a. m. For Phillipsburg, Allentown, Bowling, Harrisburg, Pottsville, Mauch Chunk and Wilkesbarre.

7 30 a. m. For Easton and Way Stations.

8 30 a. m. For Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

12 30 p. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

4 30 p. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

5 30 p. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

6 30 p. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

7 30 p. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

8 30 p. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

9 30 p. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

10 30 p. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

11 30 p. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

12 01 a. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

1 30 a. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

2 30 a. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

3 30 a. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

4 30 a. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

5 30 a. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

6 30 a. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

7 30 a. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

8 30 a. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

9 30 a. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

10 30 a. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

11 30 a. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

12 30 p. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

1 30 p. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

2 30 p. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

3 30 p. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

4 30 p. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

5 30 p. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

6 30 p. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

7 30 p. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

8 30 p. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

9 30 p. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

10 30 p. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

11 30 p. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

12 01 a. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

1 30 a. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

2 30 a. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

3 30 a. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

4 30 a. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

5 30 a. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and Way Stations.

6 30 a. m. For Phillipsburg, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Reading, Phillipsburg, Easton and

GOOD HEALTH

THE HANDS AND FINGERS.

Their Comparative Value In an Individual's Whole Ability to Earn a Living.

Surgeons have often to estimate the chances of saving injured hands and the comparative value of hands and fingers. The Medical News tells that in a scale of value furnished by the miners' unions and miners' accident insurance companies of Germany the loss of both hands is valued at 100 per cent, or the whole ability to earn a living. Losing the right hand depreciates the value of an individual as a worker 70 to 80 per cent, while the loss of the left hand represents from 60 to 75 per cent of the earnings of both hands. The thumb is reckoned to be worth from 20 to 30 per cent of the earnings.

The first finger of the right hand is valued at from 14 to 18 per cent, that of the left hand at from 8 to 13.5 per cent. The third finger stands next of all in value, although the other useless members of the community, it is surrounded by riches, its value is only from 7 to 9 per cent. The little finger is worth from 9 to 12 per cent. The difference in the percentages is occasioned by the difference in the trade, the first finger being, for instance, more valuable to a writer than to a digger.

Two Kinds of Physical Death.

There are two forms of physical death constantly going on in the world—molecular death and somatic death. The first is expressed in other words by saying that the whole of the body is constantly being worn out and being renewed. Every action that we perform, every breath we draw and every thought we think is each accompanied by the death of a certain amount of muscular or nervous tissue, so that molecular death is a necessary part of daily life.

Somatic death is the death of the entire individual and is generally considered to take place at the moment of cessation of circulation and respiration. This is not an absolute test, however, as several well known cases prove. A peculiar case was that of a man who would by the effort of his will voluntarily suspend these functions for a considerable time. The continuation of the circulation is sometimes so difficult to determine that even the eminent anatomist Vesalius once opened an apparently dead body and found the heart still beating. A French author, Brubier, in 1749 collected records of 54 persons who had been wrongly supposed to have been dead.

Nutritive Matter In Various Foods.

A pound of rice contains 86.09 per cent of nutritive matter, against 82.54 per cent for wheat, 82.79 per cent for rye, 74.09 per cent for oats, 82.97 per cent for corn, 23.24 per cent for potatoes, 46.66 per cent for fat beef, and 20.83 per cent for lean beef. But its nutritive qualities differ widely from most of the other foods in the comparison. It is deficient in the less producing, fattening food. Lean beef contains about 21 per cent of albuminoids, which produce bone, muscle and blood, and less than one-half of 1 per cent of the heat producing carbohydrates. Of the former rice contains only 6.23 per cent, but 78.48 per cent of the latter. It is thus seen that these two food products admirably supplement each other.

Hotels.

CENTRAL HOTEL,

No. 11 E. Front St.,

PLAINFIELD.

Windham & Crowley,

PROPRIETORS.

First-class bar attached.

Fourth Ward Hotel.

JOHN GOFF, Proprietor.

Boarders accommodated, both transient and permanent.

LARGE ROOMS

and

ALL MODERN IMPROVEMENTS.

Fine Wines, Liquors

and CIGARS.

Corner Third and Liberty Streets.

Hotel Grenada,

NORTH AVENUE,

now open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and refurnished throughout and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the travelling public.

City Hotel,

Corner

PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.

Transient guests accommodated.

Eugene Hoerster,

206 Grove Street,

North Plainfield.

Wholesale Dealer

in

FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.

Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

FOR FALL TRADE.

THE LEADER

has received a large variety of Infants' Cloaks, Coats, Hats, Robes, Flannel and Worsted Sacks, Hoods, Flannel Shirts, all of the latest styles. Also new styles of Ladies' Wrappers, Underwear and a large variety of Comfortables, at very low prices. Make no mistake, this is the new store.

THE LEADER! M. GOLDMANN, Prop.

210 WEST FRONT STREET. (Old No. 24.)

World's Fair Exhibit on Flower Pots!

OVER FOUR TONS—8,400 pounds—18 large crates—5 truck loads.

The patterns and decorations are numerous and exquisite in design. Prices range from 1½ cents for the Slip Pot to $1.25 for the double Calla Lily, the popular ones being the 5c., 6c., 9c. an 1 10c. sizes in the common, though we have the largest made, at 60c. Decorated Pots and Hanging Baskets range from 7c. to 25c. We are prepared to suit all, and our prices are guarantee l the lowest and quality without a fault. The wide rim and the oak leaf on the common Pots a id strength and beauty, and are neatly decorated. Order early, as some will have to wait.

J. C. Allen, 28 West Front St., Plainfield, N. J

Wet Feet and Colds.

Dr. Brown-Sequard is said to recommend the following as the best way to overcome the susceptibility to taking cold from getting the feet wet: "Dip the feet in cold water and let them remain there a few seconds. The next morning dip them in again, letting them remain in a few seconds longer; the next morning keep them in a little longer yet and continue this till you can leave them in half an hour without taking cold. In this way a person can become accustomed to the cold water, and he will not take cold from its use. But be it thoroughly understood that the 'hardening' must be done carefully."

ART AMATEURS

SKETCHING FROM NATURE.

A List of Water Colors and How to Lay Them In After Making a Pencil Sketch.

The color box should be of japanned tin, having leaves forming palettes, and should contain the following colors: Yellow ochre, gamboge, Roman ocher, Indian red, vermilion, light red, rose madder, crimson lake, Hooker's green No. 1 and 2, burnt sienna, raw sienna, vandyke brown, brown madder, sepia, indigo, cobalt, neutral tint and lamplback. These are all useful colors and will also answer for figure painting. A large camel or sable hair brush in a quill about the size of a thick pencil and a small sable one all the brushes required. The surface of the paper should be slightly grained, that technically known as "Not" is best, and should be fairly stout, so as not to cockle when dampened.

This is The Art Amateur's list of colors, brushes, etc., for the sketcher's outfit, and the same authority advises that having found a suitable subject it should be carefully sketched in with a rather hard pencil—an H is the best. Care should be taken not to incorrect the drawing too much with the india rubber, as it destroys the surface of the paper and causes the color to flow in blots and spots. But having made the drawing the next thing is to lay in the color. If the sketch is intended to be worked up to any finish, it is best to pass a wash of yellow ocher over the paper so as to destroy its opacity, but if the sketch is to be merely a memorandum this is unnecessary, for often a very dainty effect may be gained on the plain white paper.

The sky should first be washed in with a large brush fully charged with liquid color. Cobalt is generally used for the sky. Assuming it to be found already mentioned, this blue possesses the quality of expressing distance and should form part of all washes in the far background. Mixed with light red in different proportions, it will form warm or cool grays and with yellow, greens. For the sky, in the bright blues, pure cobalt is used, but as it nears the horizon or in the shadows of white clouds a little light red is introduced.

The deep greens of trees can be made with Hooker No. 2, lamplback, yellow ocher and a little crimson lake. These must be used in various proportions, introducing plenty of cobalt in the distant trees and fields and gamboge and indigo in the foreground. For grass in the immediate foreground a little brown pink mixed with Hooker No. 1 is very useful. All of the warm browns and often a little Indian red can be worked into these colors on the paper itself, not mixed on the palette with them.

CAREY'S

Storage Warerooms,

Corner

Front and Grove Streets,

Plainfield, N. J.

The Fall and Winter Styles in Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing are now in Stock. Overcoats of all Weights. Trousers Made to Order from $4 to $8. Suits from $15 to $30. Hats and General Furnishings. WERNER'S MAMMOTH CLOTHING HOUSE, 206 West Front Street.

OUR YOUNG FOLKS

THE SANDMAN.

A Welcome Guest Who Travels From North to South, From East to West.

The elm trees sway and the night winds sigh
As the sandman comes from the ocean high.
His dream bag over his shoulder swings,
And he rides on the fairy goose's wings.
Down, down through the conflicts white
The sandman speeds across the night.

A PINCH OF SALT AND A SICK LITTLE DREAM.

As elfin troop, with merry din,
A sprite and fay and hobgoblin
Whirl ever round in many rings
The fairy queen's outspread wings.
But on, on, the darkness through
The fairy goose flies straight and true.

From north to south and east to west,
The sandman is ever a welcome guest.
And wherever he goes in what far lands
The children smiling throw out their hands—
"Sandman come, we are ready for bed,"
They murmur as lover he bends his head.

"A pinch of sand for little one's eyes
And a nice little dream," he gayly cries
"A pinch of sand and a sweet little dream
To woo them gently o'er fancy's stream.
Sleep! sleep! 'twill soon be day,
When dream and fairy must vanish away."

THEY'LL WAKE IN THEIR OWN LITTLE BEDS.

Then the children go trooping hand in hand
To the magic realms of sunset land,
Where the camel has stepped across the feet
Past whispering fountains and fairy rills;
But high he'll soar when the journey's o'er,
They'll wake in their own little beds once more.

The Wild Monkeys of Europe.

The monkeys of Gibraltar rock are said to enjoy the rare distinction of being the only monkeys in Europe not kept in captivity. How did they come there? This question set to practical scientific men. It was once thought they were the descendants of some monkeys that had been brought over from Africa hundreds of years ago, but now it is agreed that they found a footing in Europe long, long before Spain as Spain was ever heard of. Before the sea were away the land and made what is called the strait of Gibraltar, Europe and Africa were joined together, and animals roamed from one spot to another as they pleased.

When the time came, however, that the strip of land was at last swallowed up by the greedy ocean, the strong current prevented creatures that were not at home in the water from crossing to and fro as they were wont to do. Among the unfortunates whose wanderings were thus unexpectedly cut short were many African monkeys, and the rock monkeys of the present day —whose numbers it may be added are growing less and less—are the protected descendants of those prehistoric fellows. Of course it follows that the Barbary apes—the monkeys living on the African side of the straits—are the first cousins of the occupants of "Gib."

"Stop, Look and Listen."

Not long ago the widow of a western sheriff brought suit against a railroad company for damages resulting from the death of her husband. It appeared in evidence that he was standing on the station platform waiting for the "up train" to pass, and as soon as the rear car had passed he attempted to cross, but was run over by the down train, which could not seen up proaching. The case was decided in favor of the railroad company, because the judge ruled that the accident was the result of the deceased's own negligence.

"It is a maxim of law," said the judge, "that when a man approaches a railroad he must stop, look and listen. The deceased stopped, but he did not look nor listen." Golden Days points the moral of this little story by saying that it is a pity such an eminently reliable rule is not more generally followed. It might be called a rule for universal application—not only when approaching a railroad, a ferry or any dangerous locality, but on nearing any point in life where an oversight may be fatal to future success it is wise to stop, look and listen.

They Left Their Tails Behind Them.

Some lizards have a convenient tail. Grasp it like a man of mettle, and it will remain in your hand. Does the lizard spend the rest of its life in a tailless condition and go about like the fox in the proverb, preaching the uselessness of tails? By no means. Like goods sold in a shop, the lizard is retailed, for a new appendage grows again in due course. In fact, it is stated that if a lizard only crack its tail a fresh one will sprout out of the crack, and the animal will then wear two tails as a time. There is a species in Andalusia wherethe lizards once went to and fro without tails. On inquiry it turned out that "middies" ashore for the day from ships of war that touched at the island used to frequent this place and amuse themselves by knocking the tails from off the lizards.

The Trial of the Scarecrows.

"The prisoner, your honor,
As the court well knows,
Is accused of the crime
Of alarming the crows!"

Then the jury retired
Till they all could agree
To punish the fiend
Or let him go free.

They found a true bill,
With a great many caws,
That the scarecrow was guilty of malice
Had broken the laws."

Then up rose the judge,
And he solemnly said,
"I sentence the prisoner
To swing till he's dead!"

Now Is the Time.

Time sent is past. Time unsent is not it recall.
Time to thou hast. Employ the portion small.
Time future is not and may never be.
Time present is the only time for thee.

Tired from Head to Foot

FROM HEAD TO FOOT.

That's what's the matter with the most of us. What's the reason? Poor circulation of the blood. The blood is clogged with impurities. We have known severe cases of so called rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, weak joints to disappear, as if by magic, after a dose or two in a short time by the use of Anti-Tire. Get up good circulation, healthy action, and pain disappears. Sold by druggists. Send 15 cents in stamps for trial package.

LYONS & ZIEGLER,

404 Bergen Avenue,

Jersey City, N. J.

A GOOD WIFE

is a great blessing, and a good husband will look after her comforts. He can almost assure her future comfort by buying a lot which is pretty nearly, the prices are so low. The lot is situated in a beautiful and healthy neighborhood,

GIVEN AWAY

WITH EVERY

convenience for reaching stores, schools and churches quickly. Now is the grand opportunity to invest in a splendid

BUILDING LOT.

For particulars, address

"OWNER,"

care of EVENING NEWS.

Horses and Carriages,

of all kinds, for hire, at

O'BRIEN'S,

116 WEST FOURTH STREET,

or at the depot.

Joseph T. Vail,

REAL ESTATE

and

INSURANCE.

TILES IN BLUE STONE FLAGGIN

20 North Avenue

LOOKING BACKWARD!

Last April we bought at the Brown, Durrell sale an immense quantity of Underwear, both Summer and Winter. You know how good and cheap the Summer Underwear was, and now for the Winter Underwear, 'tis just as good and cheap.

LOOKING FORWARD!

On Saturday we place on sale the Brown, Durrell stock of Winter Underwear.

Lot No 1—Ladies' heavy ribbed Pants and Vests, our price 37c., value, 50c.

Lot No 2—Ladies' heavy wool rib Vests, our price 45c; value, 75c.

Lot No. 3—Ladies' plain heavy Vests and Pants, our price 39c., value, 65c

Lot No. 4.—Ladies' heavy wool Vests and Pants, our price 67c., value, $1.00

Lot No 5.—Children's natural wool Vests and Pants, our price 15c., advance 5c. on each size

Lot No 6—Children's white Vests and Pants, our price 13c., advance 5c. on every size.

Lot No. 7.—Men's colored Shirts and Drawers, our price 37c., value, 60c.

Lot No. 8.—Men's natural wool Shirts and Drawers, our price 65c., value, $1.00.

Lot No. 9.—Men's white wool Shirts and Drawers, our price 65c., value, $1.00

Lot No. 10.—Men's white Shirts and Drawers, our price 38c., value, 50c.

A Thousand Pairs

—OF LADIES' OXFORD TIES.—

Only 85 Cents a Pair.

Manufacturers' samples worth $3.00, all kinds, patent leather, dongola and kid, regular Oxfords, Blucher Oxfords and Huntington Oxfords. HALF WHAT THEY ARE WORTH.

WHITE, of Plainfield.

ONLY A LOCK OF HAIR.

He Found Out It Did Not Mean So Much After All.

It is by the seaside.

"I love you and I do not love you. It is hard to forgive!" he says moodily.

She rises and they saunter on together, yet apart.

"If you cannot be faithful to me now, how can you then?" and the man's roved eye studied the sensitive face half hidden beneath its scarlet gauze hat and blazing poppies.

"There need be no 'then,' if you like!" the scarlet pouted lips made answer.

"You would break our engagement?"

"Perhaps. It was a small crime for you to make so great a fuss about. You leave me for a week. I meet a companionable man in the interval, we grow a trifle chummy"—

"A trifle chummy!" he groans.

"Well, very chummy, if you like. We walk, we drive together. He vows he loves me madly. I allow him to vow. We have a beautiful scene, worthy of Shakespeare. He begs a lock of hair. He wishes to enshrine my memory. I have not the slightest objection. Snip. It is his. He disappears mumbling and kissing it. You return. I tell you all. You rage and spoil a beautiful morning."

"You have destroyed my confidence in you," he mutters.

"I will not tell him next time," she whispered in reply.

"I loved your subtle nature, I loved your very perverseness, I loved your very name," he resumed. "I shall probably continue to love you, but—not again as before. A lock of your hair to that end! The very thought is madness. He possesses a part of you—the woman I am to call my wife!"

"Why, no, he doesn't!"

"You yourself said it!"

"You mistook me. I said a lock of hair."

"Why may not be enough?"

"Bah, love, look to my eyes. It was only a lock of my switch."

"Angel! So you are not false?"

"Of course not—only a lock of hair."

"Angel! So you are not false?"

And the great sea loses its color, the sky waxes dim, while it takes the whole expanse of shore to hold his rapture.—Boston Globe.

They Disliked Titles.

The opinion that a man is degraded by addressing another as "Sire" or "Your Royal Highness" or "Your Lordship" or "Sir Something" is deeply rooted in the ordinary American heart. Two illustrations of this are furnished by a Canadian contributor. Of course, in telling the stories the names of the chief actors are changed, for there is no such person as Sir James Homlake. But the incidents as narrated show the nature of the changes made in speaking the names.

Some years ago, when Sir Charles Smith, so we will call him, was traveling by special train in Dakota, he told his private secretary to instruct the conductor that he should not say "Mr. Smith," but "Sir Charles" in speaking to or great a man. Next time the conductor came around he said, "Well, sir—Charles—the next station is Gyndon." And always thereafter he continued to use the same form, "Well, sir, Charles"—as though the sir were purely exclamatory, and the knight's name Charles.

Last year when Sir James Homlake and a number of other prominent Englishmen were traveling in this country as guests of the American Iron and Steel Institute, the company had a special train. The porter of the car in which Sir James traveled for two days was a singularly polite but slightly deaf negro. He always addressed Sir James as "Mister Omelette." After this had occurred several times Sir James, whose sense of personal importance is well developed, said in an appalling and loud tone, "My good fellow, you must not speak to me in that manner. When you address me you are to say Sir James Homlake—Sir James Homlake, remember that!"

"Porter, have you remembered to say Sir James Homlake?" asked one of the Americans next day, when he happened to meet the lady where the knight was not.

"Oh, no, sah! I don't say no such thing. Dis yer's a free country."

"What do you call him then?"

"Jus' Mister Omelette, yeash. Jus' Mister Omelette, sah."

"Aren't you afraid?"

"Yeash—scared mos' to def, but I'se a 'Merican citizen, sah."—Texas Siftings.

Rewarded to Kind.

A wife who knew the aversion of her husband to letter writing said to him, as he was about leaving home for an extended trip to the Dakotas: "Now, John, as neither I nor the children can accompany you, you must be eyes and ears for us, and drop us a consolatory postal card, telling us anything of interest you may see or hear. Don't forget, will you?"

The husband promised and took his departure. A few days after his wife received a postal card containing the following message: "Dear Wife—I am in New York all right. Yours at?"

Though somewhat disappointed, she excused the brevity of the communication on the ground that her husband was doubtless pressed for time. Two days later, however, another card arrived, bearing the startling announcement: "Here I am in Chicago. Yours ever." Still later came another: "I am indeed in Dakota at last. Yours."

The wife swallowed her disappointment and, being good at restatement, penned her pen and wrote: "Dear Husband—The children and I are in Old Town. Yours, ——."

A few days later she wrote again. "We are still in Old Town."

In her next communication she grew a little more enthusiastic. She wrote: "Dear Husband—Here we are in Old Town. I repeat it, sir. We are in Old Town, Me. P. S.—We are, indeed."

In due time the husband reached home, and fearing, perhaps, that his poor wife was afflicted with some sort of dementia listened to ask the meaning of her strange messages. For answer she slipped into his hand his own three postal cards. "What is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander," she said.

It is to be hoped that John profited by the lesson.—Youth's Companion.

Vienna Coffee In Rhyme.

Into an ordinary coffeepot
Pour on your coffee water bubbling hot.
Cover it closely. Boil it for one minute.
Simmer it five. Take your milk boiler, in it
Put one pint of sweet cream and don't omit
To keep the water boiling under it.
The white of one egg beat add beat, and when
A stiff froth forms like crusted snowdrifts then Add of rich cream milk three spoonfuls. See
If cream is scalding. When it proves to be,
Remove from fire, add white of egg and milk,
Stir briskly till the mixture's smooth and fine as silk,
Then serve to use with coffee. 'Tis the way
The Viennese folk serve cafe au lait.

Molasses Lemon Pie.

One cupful sugar, 1 cupful molasses, 1 cupful water, 1½ tablespoonfuls flour, 2 lemons and 1 egg. This makes one pie.

Pret-T-GOODS

For wise people, peculiarly appropriate for the season, can always be found in our repository.

We will not say that we have the best in the world, but we do say and know that the same money cannot purchase better Harness and Carriages than our patrons are rapidly making their own. It is sometimes expedient to forget what you know, but it is never the course of wisdom to forget our select consignment of fancy traps and trappings. Save time, temper and money by purchasing of us. ?

L. M. FRENCH,

Carriage Manufacturer,

34, 36, 38, 40 SOMERSET STREET.

R. W. Rice & Co.,

THE PARK GROCERS.

Corner Duer and Emily Streets.

NORTH PLAINFIELD.

This Date In History—Oct. 2.

332 B. C.—Aristotle, Greek philosopher and tutor of Alexander the Great, died at Chalcis.

1452—Richard III of England born at Fotheringay castle; killed at Bosworth.

1792—Charles II of Spain signed his farewell, bequeathing his dominions to a French prince, which caused the dreadful war of the Spanish succession.

1793—Chevalier d'Eon, whose sex was disputed during his career as a diplomat, and who dressed as a woman for the last 33 years of his life, was born in Burgundy; died 1810, and was then proved to have been a man.

1792—Charles Augustus Ludlow Lee, English, but a soldier in the American army, died in Philadelphia; born in Cheshire 1731.

1822—Francois Arago, whose luck selected a man in certant discoveries in electro-magnetism, died.

1825—Ernest Renan died in Paris; born 1823.

At the time of the eclipse of the sun April 16 Professor Schaeberle of the Lick observatory studied the phenomenon at Mina-Bronces, in the mountains of Chili, 6,660 feet above sea level. He made nearly 50 photographs of the eclipse. In six of these the corona is displayed in a space covering 10 by 20 inches. These are the first corona photographs that have been obtained in so large a size.

When you write a letter to anybody asking information which will be of interest or benefit only to yourself, inclose a stamp. Always inclose a stamp. It is enough of a bore to the other person to write the letter and furnish the paper and envelope.

Science has now succeeded in producing quartz, feldspar, the ruby, and, last of all, the diamond, artificially. This chemical production of the diamond will be one of the crowning achievements of science at the close of the nineteenth century.

The people are always anxious to enjoy good government, but they are often unwilling to try to earn it.

You may pronounce the infante's name A-yu-lah-lee-ah for short.

1893 OCTOBER. 1893

Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fr.	Sa.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
15	16	17	18	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26	27	28
29	30	31

MOON'S PHASES.

Third Quarter	2	10:19 a.m.	First Quarter	17	6:32 p.m.
New Moon	9	3:27 p.m.	Full Moon	25	1:56 a.m.
			Third Quarter	31	5:42 p.m.

Tickets

For, or from Europe,

On

All Lines,

And all Steamers.

Drafts

Sold also.

H. D. MORRISON,

Agent,

Somerset Street.

PEACHES!

PEACHES!

PEACHES!

Following varieties: Yellow Globe, Crawford's Morris Whites, Keyport and old mixtures. Prices to suit everybody.

NEUMANN BROS.

WATCHUNG AVENUE

and FIFTH STREET.

THE TIME TO EAT!

MEAT!

is at most time, of course, and the place to get good meat, all varieties, lowest prices ing greens, etc., is at

E. J. CONNOLLY,

No. 221 Broadway.

SMOKED MEATS AND VEGETABLE always on hand.

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$5 per Year in Advance. T. W. Harrison, Editor and Proprietor, Office, No. 21 Somerset street. Printing of All Kinds. 10 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," TUESDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1893. PRICE TWO CENTS.

CITY COMMON COUNCIL.

THE REGULAR OCTOBER MEETING HELD LAST NIGHT.

Many Petitions Presented.—The City Treasurer Authorized to Borrow $10,000.—Reported that the New Y. M. C. A. Building is Being Connected with the Peace Street Sewer Without Permission.—Ballot Boxes Ordered.—Other Matters.

THE City Common Council met in regular session last night. President Ginna and Councilmen Bird, Frost, Frazee, Fisk, Marsh, Millington, See and Weber were present. Absent Councilmen Erickson and Johnson.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

PETITIONS.

From Mr. E. H. Brewster, for permission to place a large sign in front of his store on North avenue. Referred to Street Committee.

From Mr. L. M. French and others for a cross walk on Somerset street between Front street and the bridge.

From Mr. George S. Hill and others asking Council to change the name of Orange street to Irving place.

From Mr. MacDonald, as agent for the property No. 40 East Front street, asking that Council return to the owner $188.50, which had been collected for the Watchung avenue extension, as the extension had not been made. The matter was referred to the Finance Committee and later to the Corporation Counsel.

From Plainfield Water Supply Company stating that five hydrants had been placed on Park avenue and one on West Third street, making a total in the city of 216 hydrants.

From J. M. William of Newark stating that three years ago he had made a bid to repair the city clock. He had received no answer to his communication. Referred to Committee on Finance.

From Peter L. Collins to deduct from Michael Walsh's money due him from the city, real owed the said Collins. Referred to Committee on Streets.

From T. Dunison for permission to erect a corrogated iron awning in front of his store in Watchung avenue. Referred to Committee on Streets.

From C. H. Baker, representing Meyerstein & Co., New York, who had sold property to Mr. Lounsberry, assuring him there were no taxes against said property. Recently Mr. Lounsberry had received a bill from the city for $130 taxes. Mr. Baker asked that the matter be investigated to see if there was that amount due the city.

From property owners of West Fifth street, asking that crosswalks be laid on the northwesterly side of that street. Referred to Street Committee.

From Mr. F. Behring and others for permission to set the curb back on the Southerly side of West Front street, between Madison and Central avenues referred to Street Committee. The following claims were presented:

B. J. Shaw	$ 78
W. J. Tunison	70 25
T. O. Dosse	50 00
G. E. Hall	50 00
W. J. Towsley	15 00
W. S. Mattox	15 00
M. J. Meeker	15 00
H. J. Wolfe	15 00
Plainfield Water Supply Company	197 50
D. S. Roberts	32 75
Plainfield Gas & Electric Light Company	1,000 00
W. C. Smith	90 00
Pearson & Gayle	73 00
Chamberlain & Bowland	73 00
A. D. Phillips	1,000 00
A. Thierolf	75 00
B. Meeker	146 00
W. A. Simpson	30 00
A. S. Patterson	30 00
T. W. Runyon	30 00
M. C. Hall	30 00
Gamewell Fire Alarm Co	5 00
D. A. Woodhull	25 00
H. Chamberlain	25 00
Potter Printing Co	8 50
Jas. Bailey	6 25
C. E. Mattox	3 75
A. M. Griffen	3 75
C. Shelley	3 75
J. McFadden	3 75
David Bell	3 75
M. Dunn	3 75
C. M. Meeker	3 75
M. Carney	105 00
V. W. Nash	3 75
W. F. Mundy	3 75
G. G. Packer	3 75
J. Cassidy	3 75
J. B. Coward	10 00
J. H. Frazee	3 75
J. A. Hubbard	1,000 00
John A. Thickens	90 00
T. W. Morrison	127 50
A. L. Frazee	18 75
C. E. Doane	18 75
E. Gamble	3 75
D. Marsh	3 75
F. A. Dunham	705 00
O. B. Hall	3 75
C. B. Hand	71 25
A. S. Campbell	3 75
John Smith	22 50
M. Welsh	3 75
F. Randolph	3 75
F. Ward	3 75
John Flynn	3 75
H. Tiedman	3 75
M. Conway	3 75
B. White	3 75
C. McCarthy	3 75
Mary Geghan	3 00
A. B. Simpson & Son	6 00
B. Fleming	3 00
Mary A. Day	4 00
E. Guttmann	3 00
Sarah Hunt	3 00
F. Lincoln	3 00
Smalley Bros	263 14
Fire Department	3 00
R. A. Mercer	3 00
G. F. Wilson	3 00
A. M. Griffen	3 00
W. S. Mattox	3 00
J. H. Frazee	3 00
D. S. Roberts	3 00
Jones & Co	6 00
N. Never	18 00
Plainfield Gas Electric Light Co	250 00
Colyer & Co	220 00
Ladies Relief Association	75 00
J. A. Conant	3 00
G. B. Moore	3 00
D. Carney	3 00
G. W. Grant	3 00
J. Cooper	3 00
P. J. Flanigan	3 00
J. Cassidy	3 00
W. J. Mattox	3 00
Patrick Kelly	3 00

Patrick Lynch, in a communication, offered his resignation as a policeman, as he had secured a better paying position in New York, stating that "he regretted to sever his connection with the force." The communication was referred to the Police Committee.

Mr. Fisk, of the Finance Committee, presented a resolution, which was adopted, authorizing the city to borrow $7,000 from the First National Bank and $3,000 from the City National Bank. He also moved that the two notes falling due October 6th for $2,000, and October 30th for $10,000, be renewed.

The City Treasurer was authorized to deposit the tax money as it was collected equally between the two banks—City National and First National.

Mr. Marsh, of the Police Committee, recommended that the resignation of Policeman Lynch be accepted, as said that Mr. Lynch had always been a faithful police officer and that it was with regret that the resignation was accepted.

Mr. Frost, of the Sewerage Committee, reported progress. He said the committee had sent out 2,000 cards and that signatures were coming secured quite rapidly, to the petitions.

On motion of Mr. Marsh the City Clerk was authorized to purchase two more ballot boxes for the two new election districts.

The official map as drawn by Mr. F. A. Dunham was made the official grade map.

Mr. Weber offered a resolution authorizing the Street Committee to lay crosswalks on Liberty street at the corner of Second street.

As it was said that the new Y. M. C. A. building was being connected with the Peace street sewer, Mr. Fisk moved that the matter be investigated by the Street Committee and a report made at the next meeting. It was so ordered.

As the old wooden bridge at the foot of Sandford avenue needed repairing, the City Clerk was authorized to notify the Union county and Somerset county Boards of Freeholders of the dangerous condition of the said bridge.

Council adjourned to meet October 9th.

DOCTORS DINE.

Annual Dinner of the Union County Medical Association.

THE annual dinner of the Union County Medical Association was held at the Hotel Grenada last night. Nearly all the doctors of the city, with the exception of one or two, were present. The doctors were unanimous in saying the dinner was the best they ever sat down to. The following was the menu:

MENU.

Blue Point Oysters.
Consomme.
Boiled Chicken Halibut.
Sauce Hollandaise. Potatoes Duchesse.
Westphalia Ham.
Spinach. Champagne Sauce.
Frogs Legs. Maitre D'Hotel.
Asparagus.
Roast Turkey. Cranberry sauce.
Mashed potatoes.
Cauliflower.
Petit Pois.
Biscuit Grenada.
Fancy cake. Fruit.
Water crackers. Roquefort Cheese.
Cafe Demi Tasse.

A LADY INJURED.

Mrs. Healy of Ninth Street in a Runaway Accident.

This morning Mrs. Healy of Ninth street hired one of Richard Day's carriages to do some shopping, etc. On change place, along the railroad, she sent the driver into a house on an errand. Before he could get back to the wagon the horse took fright at a passing train and ran away.

At the corner of Washington street the wagon overturned, throwing Mrs. Healy out, badly injuring her. She was carried to a nearby house and a doctor summoned.

GOT OFF BEFORE THE CAR STOPPED.

Gustav Sutterlin Severely Injured Last Night.

Gustav Sutterlin, Jr., of Greenbrook road attempted to get off an electric car at the corner of Front street and Grant avenue before it stopped last night and was thrown headlong into the middle of the street. His legs and arms were injured and several ribs bruised. He was taken to a drug store and later to his home.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Abbey and daughter of New York are guests of Miss Frey of West Fifth street.

Mrs. Bret Harte and family of Putnam avenue returned to day from Springfield Centre, N. Y.

Mrs. McFadden and Miss McFadden of New Brunswick are guests of Mrs. Gilligan of West Fifth street.

Mrs. A. M. Ross and daughter of New York are guests at the home of Mr. Alexander Ross, on Grand street.

Mr. Fred Westphal, Jr., who has been for three months at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., to benefit his health, is expected home to day.

Mr. Addison Laing, wife and family, who have been visiting in this city for several days, left for their home, in Brooklyn to-day.

Miss Laura Laing, who was at one time a contributor of verse to the columns of The Central Times is visiting among her old associates in this vicinity.

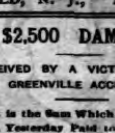
In the City Court.

Charles Cashin was arrested last night for drunkenness by Special Constable Flynn. He was arraigned before City Judge Coddington this morning, and fined $3.

$2,500 DAMAGE.

RECEIVED BY A VICTIM OF THE GREENVILLE ACCIDENT.

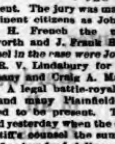
That is the Sum Which the C. R. R. Co. Yesterday Paid to Mrs Frank Vait to Settle.—The Case was to be the First One on the Calendar To-day.



IN a recent issue THE NEWS gave the names of the jury who were to compose the struck jury in the suit brought by Hodge E. Vait against the Central Railroad Company because of injuries received by her at the Greenville accident. The jury was made up of such prominent citizens as John W. Murray, John H. French the miller, Daryl Titsworth and J. Frank Hubbard. The counsel in the case were John L. Coward and S. V. Lindabury for the Railroad Company and Craig A. Marsh for Mrs. Vait. A legal battle-royal was looked for, and many Plainfielders had arranged to be present. The case was ended yesterday when the company paid plaintiff's counsel the sum of two thousand five hundred dollars.

TO TAKE UP MANUAL TRAINING.

The Boys' Club to Form Classes for This Work.



ENCOURAGING of success, the Boys' Club has decided to enter upon its course in manual training next Monday evening and is now fitting up two rooms in Central building with benches and tools for this purpose.

Mr. Olaf Sangstae who has been secured as the teacher is the instructor in manual training in the public schools of Union Hill, and has had the benefit of a long course of special training for this work.

The classes will be held each Monday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, one in Sloyd or knife work for the younger boys, from 6.45 to 7.45, and one at carpenter work for the older boys, from 7.45 to 9.15.

The boat work will alternate with mechanical drawing and clay modeling. The instruction will be free and the members of the Boys's Club have a grand opportunity opened before them.

Mr. Boyd is now enrolling names for the classes. Applications to a desire expressed by many friends of the club a private class for boys will be opened from four to five, two afternoons of each week, and a class in Sloyd and clay modeling for girls are two other afternoons, should there be a demand for one. Any boy or girl may join these classes on payment of a 25 cents per lesson. The membership will be limited to thirteen, and application should be made to the assistant superintendent of the club, Mr. Bond, or to any member of the Executive Committee of the Ladies Auxiliary Committee.

MADAM LEZEM'S RECEPTION.

At Hulett's Hall this Afternoon.

ADAM Iza Lezem's, (teacher of physical culture, etc.,) reception took place this afternoon in Hulett's Hall. The children acquitted themselves creditably and did honor to their teacher by their graceful evolutions and dancing, which is so much more to be wondered at as they were arranged at such short notice. The Misses Quinn rendered the music in fine style. The ladies were greatly interested in Miss Brush, who was present to show Delsarte waists. Madam Lezem herself gave some examples of her suppleness and grace that was astonishing for one of her large physique and gave ample proof for what use her studies can be recommended. Her efforts were duly appreciated.

Plainfield Lawyers go to Elizabeth.

The October term of the Union County Court opened at Elizabeth this morning. Many Plainfield lawyers attended, among them being Judge William A. Codington, ex-Judge William R. Codington, Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh, Charles A. Reed, Walter L. Hetfield, and James P. Powers.

A Narrow Escape.

Yesterday afternoon while a little son of Mr. Kelley of Emily street was playing in the yard, a ball from a Flobert rifle, in the hands of a neighboring boy, grazed the head. The matter has been reported to Marshal Pangborn, who will investigate it.

Crescents Won at Elizabeth.

In the game of ball at Elizabeth Saturday between the Crescents and R. A C's, the former won by the following score:

SCORE BY INNINGS.

R. A. C.	0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—0
Crescents	2 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 5x—8

THE AUTUMN MEETING

OF THE ELIZABETH PRESBYTERY IN THIS CITY.

Sermon by the Retiring Moderator, Mr. Newell.—The Rev. Mr. Payson of Rahway, Elected Moderator for the Ensuing Year.

SUCCEEDING the Rev. Mr. Newell, the Rev. Mr. Payson of Rahway was elected moderator of the Elizabeth Presbytery, at the Autumn meeting in the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church to-day. The Rev. M. Newell, made an appropriate address and then business of a routine nature was transacted.

Among those present were: Rev. Dr. McNulty, Rev. Dr. Kempson, Rev. Mr. Wells, Rev. Dr. Hummer, Rev. Dr. Blauvelt, Rev. Dr. Leggett, Rev. Dr. Mason, Rev. Dr. Monroe, Rev. Mr. Torr, Rev. Mr. Haywood, Rev. Mr. Perry, Rev. Mr. Martine, Rev. Dr. Richards, Rev. Mr. Herring, Rev. Dr. Payson, Rev. Mr. Owens, Rev. Mr. Hull, Rev. Dr. Kline, and Rev. Mr. Bogart.

Elders were in attendance from a number of the churches.

The Rev. Mr. McKelvey, pastor of the Warren chapel, was received by certificate from the Jersey City Presbyterian.

The Rev. Dr. Richards, of the committee on arrangements, reported that arrangements had been made for meetings to-night in Bethel, Warren and Hope chapels.

The districts represented by elders were as follows: Basking Ridge, C. B. Dean; Bethel, Kenney and Williams; Hanover; Clarkville, Charles Coil; Clinton, C. Dunn; Elizabeth, J. C. Goodwin, and A. O. McGee, Lasuington, Mr. Sutphen; Liberty Corner, J. F. Boyle; Lower Valley, D. M. Kelly; Peeta Amboy, D. W. Barnes; Rahway, George A. Bonby Roselle, Chas. J. White; Springfield, A. M. Parkhurst; Westfield, H. L. Fisk.

JOURNAL BOWLING LEAGUE.

Mr. J. J. Kenny of This City Elected Treasurer.

The Journal Bowling League was organized at Elizabeth last night. Mr. Michael Winn was the only representative from Plainfield present.

The league for 1893-94 was formed with six clubs. Last year there were nine clubs.

The clubs in the league are: C. Y. M. L., of Plainfield; Y. M. C. I. A., of Elizabeth; Elizabeth Field Club, Alycones, Pioneers and Arthur Kulla. The games will probably be commenced next month.

The following officers were elected: President—E. M. Davis, E. F. C. Vice President—W. Gillies, Alycones. Secretary—G. W. Cooley, Arthur Kulla. Treasurer—John J. Kenny, C. Y. M. L., Plainfield.

BREVITIES.

—The completion of the institution of Columbia Lodge, No. 88, A. O. U. W., will take place October 20th.

—The Board of Health did not meet last night as intended, but will meet Wednesday afternoon, at four p. m.

—The first regular meeting of the "Y's" will be held in their rooms in the Crescent Flats on Monday evening, at four o'clock. Officers will be elected.

—A horse belong to Mr. E. Day ran away from in front of the depot this morning. It was attached to an unoccupied carriage. The carriage was wrecked.

—The members of Central Lodge, No. 88, A. O. U. W., are requested to meet at their lodge rooms at 7.30 o'clock this evening to attend the funeral of their late brother, William R. Northup.

—The regular monthly meeting of the New York Association of Amateur Photographers will be held Wednesday, October 4th, at eight o'clock sharp, at the rooms of the Hoboken Camera Club, 1026 Park avenue, Hoboken.

Will Rest and be "Done Raven."

We "volunteered" some years ago
To help "Columbia" born to muscle,
And now our Yankee Vigilant
Is eager for the "REVOLT."

Oh! speed the day, oh! speed the hour,
Adieu to "Britain's Rule!"
We know, true, unstained Vigilant,
You'll battle for that day!

From hovel, home and White House,
From factory, schools, each heart
Shall bid you "God speed!"
To speed you at the start.

Our notes thrill in unison,
One cheers ring o'er the land,
Spread out in the "Stars and Stripes"
And take the Victor's stand!

Come, show these "cute" old Britons
How you can "whip creation,"
And then, perhaps, all Englishmen
Will rest and be "done raven!"

New York Herald.

The Championship Games.

On Saturday, Oct. 7, the divisional field and track championships of the Amateur Athletic Union will be held at Bergen Point. They will close the active outdoor season of the A. A. U., and it is expected that over 200 athletes will be present. The meeting athletically should be an exceedingly fine one. More work has been expended on these games than on any championship in the athletic movement. The committee of the New Jersey A. C. will be put in order for the athletes, who are showing unusual interest in the event. The bicycle races will be the great feature of the day, as it will be the final appearance of Arthur A. Zimmerman this season.

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE.

Judge Van Syckel Causes a Sensation.

HACKENSACK, N. J., Oct. 3.—Judge Van Syckel charged the Jury to-day to do their duty when considering the complaint of bribery against certain high officials.

The officials, Judge Van Syckel said, to whom he referred, were the members of the Linden Township Committee, who recently granted a license to the Linden Park Blood-Horse Association for a consideration of $5,000, to be paid over to upprivate corporation.

One of the Committee who voted to grant that license was a stockholder in the Association to be benefited, yet he was none the more guilty of bribery and corruption than the others who voted with him. They were alike guilty of bribery.

If the charges against these men were true, then it was the duty of the Grand Jury to present true bills against them.

The Linden Track Loses Its License.

The Linden Township Committee resolved last night to reconsider the granting of the license to the Linden Blood Horse Association by a vote of 4 to 3. The meeting was one of the liveliest ever experienced, and broke up in confusion.

May Have Another Cyclone.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The Gulf cyclone which caused destruction and loss of life in Louisiana may strike New York to-morrow night.

"1492" at Palmer's.

Rice's "1492" at Palmer's Theater has not only continued, but increased its popularity. The immense house is crowded at every performance and the "standing room" sign is displayed nightly. John Pendery, the English tenor, who is now Columbus, has a voice as luscious as his name and sets with delight and grace. Richard Barlow's extraordinary impersonation of Queen Isabella delights the ladies as much as it amuses the men. The many whispered remarks as, "He is the handsomest woman I ever saw!" and "I can't believe that she is really a man!" Theresa Vaughn is repeatedly encored for her street songs. All the specialities are clever. The ballet of Valter Jones is the strongly contrasted parts of Kine Berdicand and Charles Tatlow and Edna Bay and specialties. The extravaganza is so varied in its attractions that everybody is getting pleasure from something. It passes rapidly from grave to gay, from spectacle to burlesque, from poetry to fun, from Moorish palaces to pretty pictures, from ballads to ballets, from Spain to New York, from Columbus' discovery of the style of extravaganza, Mr. Rice has surpassed himself, as he had previously surpassed all others in the organization of his "Surprise Party," which is full of enjoyable surprises.

Thanks from Mr. Patterson.

To the Editor of the Evening News:—Kindly allow me space in the columns of your paper to thank the members of the Fire Department, of this city, for their prompt and successful efforts in protecting my building from fire on the night of Sept 29, 1893.

Respectfully,
JOSEPH A. PATTERSON.

Policeman Saunders Goes South.

Policeman J. A. Saunders left for Virginia this morning, where he goes to settle up the estate of his brother, who died recently at Richmond, Va. The deceased brother was a resident of this city for some time. He was treated at Muhlenberg Hospital without success and he finally returned to the South.

James Heath taken to Elizabeth.

James Heath, who was arrested Friday night for non-support of his wife, and who was held in $500 bonds to pay his wife $5 per week, was taken to the county jail at Elizabeth to-day by Chief Grant. He was unable to procure bonds and had to be committed, until such time as he can get them.

Gone After His Money.

John S. Huff of Central avenue, Rahway, who recently fell heir to a large fortune, left by a Californian whom he had befriended, started for San Francisco, Saturday, accompanied by his lawyer, to secure the legacy.

The food richest in phosphates and bone-forming material is

H-O Hornby's Oatmeal

To the growing child it means formative growth — force — energy.

Timely Warning! Winter Approaching!

Keep your Scalp Clean and your Hair Growing.

RANDOLPH'S Quinine and Glycerine

HAIR TONIC!

The Friend in the Hour of Need.

EACH BOTTLE GUARANTEED. Sold only by

L. W. RANDOLPH, Prescription Druggist,

143 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

FOR FALL TRADE.

THE LEADER

has received a large variety of Infants' Cloaks, Coats, Slips, Robes, Flannel and Worsted Sacks, Hoods, Flannel Skirts, all of the latest styles. Also new styles of Ladies' Wrappers, Underwear and a large variety of Comfortables, at very low prices. Make no mistake, this is the new store.

THE LEADER! M. GOLDMANN, Prop.

210 WEST FRONT STREET. (Old No. 25.)

World's Fair Exhibit on Flower Pots!

OVER FOUR TONS—9,400 pounds—18 large crates—5 truck loads.

The patterns and decorations are numerous and exquisite in design. Prices range from 1½ cents for the 2½p Pot to 11.25 for the double Calla Lily, the popular ones being the 3c., 5c., 9c and 15c. sizes in the common, though we have the largest made, at 69c. Decorated Pots and Hanging Baskets range from 7c. to 25c. We are prepared to suit all, and our prices are guaranteed the lowest and quality without a fault. The wide rim and the oak leaf on the common Pots add strength and beauty, and are easily decorated. Order early, as some will have to wait.

J. C. Allen, 28 West Front St., Plainfield, N. J.

Cent-a-Word Column.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—New house, Park place, near Mercer avenue, (Washington Park.) Modern, bruker. 9 14 tf

FOR SALE—$6,000—Two dwellings and one building, 44 x 40 in North Plainfield. Titles perfect. Terms easy. Dwellings both rented. Address "H. D. Jr.," care of EVENING NEWS. tf

HELP WANTED.

WANTED—A baker, experienced man as foreman and salesman. Good references required. Apply Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, after seven o'clock, corner Hillside avenue and Prospect avenue. 9 23

SITUATIONS WANTED.

A YOUNG girl who has had some experience in housework wants a position. Address "C. M. W.," Stoke's Place. 29 5

FOR RENT.

FOR RENT—Dwelling, No. 249 Somerset street. Six rooms. Large garden. $13 per month. Call at News office. 10 2 tf

FOUR pleasant, convenient rooms to let, 401 Third street, corner Central avenue. 30 6

TO LET—In North Plainfield, a nicely furnished house from October until May. For further particulars, address "J. J." care of EVENING NEWS. 29 5*

TO LET—A furnished room with or without board to a lady. 333 Plain Fifth street. 9 19tf

TO LET—Seven room house near Pond's. Also twelve room house on Front street, both in good order. Enquire, City Mills. 9 6 tf

LOST AND FOUND.

FOUND—On Crest avenue, a handkerchief. Owner may have same by proving property and paying cost of advertising. 30 2 tf Watchung avenue, North Plainfield. Address "I. Brown," care of EVENING NEWS.

LOST—On Sunday afternoon, between residence and First Baptist church, or at church, gold Masonic pin, set with diamond. A suitable reward will be paid for its return to 129 Plainfield avenue. 3 2

Madame Iza Lezem's Conservatory

will open on

Friday, October 6,

from 2 to 6 p. m., in HULETT'S HALL, for instruction in Physical Culture, Delsarte, Elocution, Deportment, Singing, Violin, Piano, Society and Fancy Dancing.

Reception on October 5, from 3 to 5 p. m., to which all ladies are cordially invited.

For particulars, address to the Hall, or 329 West Front street. 10 2 tf

DEATHS.

NORTHUP—In this city, October 2, 1893, William R. Northup, aged 50 years.

Relatives and friends, also members of O. A. R. Post, No. 75, and Junction Order of United Workmen are respectfully invited to attend the funeral services from his late residence, No. 42 North avenue, on to-night, at eight o'clock. Interment at Wickford, R. I. 10*

MANY—In this city, Monday, October 2, 1893, Emily A., wife of the late Edward F. Many.

Funeral services at her late residence, 625 West Seventh street, Wednesday, October 4th, at 2 p. m. Interment private. 2*

1893 TAXES!

Notice is hereby given to the taxpayers of the

City of Plainfield,

that the taxes assessed in said city for the year 1893 are now due and payable, and that if the said taxes be not paid by the

20th Day of December

next, the names of the delinquents, with their respective taxes, will be returned to the City Judge for the prosecution. The

COMMISSIONERS OF APPEAL,

in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council Chamber, on the

Fourth Tuesday in November Next,

(the 28th,) and sit from two o'clock p. m., until five o'clock p. m., or longer, if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

JOHN JOHNSON,
Collector of Taxes.

Dated, Plainfield, N. J., October 2, 1893. 10 2 td

Another one in the race, and

A. G. VOGELER

takes the lead.

LOOK AT THESE PRICES.

Porterhouse Steak	15c.
Sirloin	12c.
Round	10c.
Chuck	7c.
Roast Beef	10c.
Corned Beef	5c.
Veal	14c.
Leg of Lamb	12c.
Fore Quarter Lamb	8c.
Shoulder Spring Lamb	12c.
Legs Spring Lamb	15c.
Fresh Jersey Pork	12c.
Sausage	14c.
Pickled Pigs' Feet	5c.
Pickled Pigs' Feet	8c.

Headquarters for Bologna. Bologna made fresh twice a day. Call and get your Bologna.

Union Meat Market,

131 WEST FRONT STREET.

9 14 1m A. G. Vogeler, Manager.

MORE SLAUGHTER!

to close out our entire line of

Neglige SHIRTS!

We offer them at the ridiculously low price of

85 CENTS.

These goods are worth $1.25 and $1.50. If you don't need one now, buy and keep until next season. Saves—50c. from $1.25—40c. on each one.

Hallock & Davis,

New number, 109 West Front street, opposite Somerset street.

NOTICE!

Members of Central Lodge, No. 88, A. O. U. W.

are requested to meet at Lodge rooms, at 7.30 this evening, to attend in a body the funeral of our late brother, Wm. R. Northup.

THADDEUS C. SMITH, M. W.
LEWIS R. BLACKFORD, Recorder.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Case of New England Farms.

"You can find any number of farmers in Massachusetts who are ready, to curse God and die because they cannot get rich by farming, but the fault is in themselves, and there is no occupation in which they could succeed any better unless they proceeded by different methods." This is the remark of a writer in the Boston Herald, who has been investigating the New England abandoned farms. As a result of his work he is ready to stake his judgment on the assertion that if farmers of New England would put as much brains and hustling into their work as the banker does into his business the result would be equally good.

One cause of the abandonment of the farms has not been greatly dwelt upon till the Boston Herald writers mentioned it. Prosperous immemorial the most energetic and brainy young men and young women, too, have left rural life in New England and all over the country to try their fortunes in the city. The cities today constantly draw their supply of brains and energy from the farms. Only for this the cities would actually run out in course of time. They are an artificial product anyhow and must constantly be replenished from the strong, red blood of the country. In New England this tapping of rural life for the benefit of the city has gone on longer than elsewhere in America. The result is that the farms are today stripped of their brightest and most ambitious sons and daughters. The Herald writer is bold enough to say that the stupid and antifituling ones are those who are left behind on the farms.

These will not keep up with the changed requirements of modern agriculture. One who succeeds in any field of human endeavor at present must adapt himself to the circumstances as they occur, for never since history began did change follow change in every walk so rapidly as it does at the close of the nineteenth century. The farmer who cannot keep up bids fair to end his days in a poorhouse or else as the tenant of some rich city man who bought his old farm and turned it into a show place.

But The Herald man found a farmer so besotted in his clinging to ancient ways that he even put his haystacks year after year upon the same spot his father did.

There is a brighter prospect ahead, however. In Vermont butter making and sheep farming are bringing even more than the old time prosperity to certain parts, while dairying and vegetable farming are doing the same in Massachusetts.

Should They Be Pensioned?

A sweeping pension bill in behalf of government clerks and employees has been introduced into the United States senate possibly to keep still resurrection mom. This bill asks that a disability pension be granted to government employees injured in the line of duty; also that they be compensated for their injuries. Of course no reasonable person will object to giving a pension to government clerks and employees disabled in the line of duty, but the bill goes further and provides for pensions for all persons retired with an honorable record through sickness or old age after they have been in the service not less than 20 years.

But really is there any reason why a government clerk should have a pension any more than anybody else who grows old in a clerical situation? He does not work for the government for its good, but his own. The government does not ask him to work for it. On the contrary, it would rather so many excellent and intelligent individuals did not apply to it for clerkships. If the pay is not sufficient for the clerk, he is at liberty to go somewhere else and get more. He is a very poor stick who, outside of the military or naval service, wants the government to take care of him when he gets old.

It is scarcely to be wondered at that the attempt of the British government to colonize the Scotch crofters in the Canadian northwest failed. State colonization is apt to fail. The stuff of which successful pioneers are made must be the individual of a land, and the pioneer must make up his own individual mind to go and stick to it till he betters himself, depending meantime on himself alone. Perhaps, however, if the British government had assisted the crofters to come to the United States instead of to the Canadian northwest, the experiment would have been successful.

Help is needed for the sufferers by the hurricane among the Sea islands and along the south Atlantic coast. Governor Tillman of South Carolina finds that not less than $75,000 between now and March will be needed to care for those whose crops were destroyed and their food and clothing supplies thus cut off. The loss of life reached fully 1,000 persons, and the destitute number 20,000.

It is a fact that several of the newer steamships can cross the Atlantic at an average rate of travel of 23 miles an hour. One, the Cunarder Campania, averaged on one trip from the United States to Europe 24½ miles an hour. This speed is quite equal to that of the average railway train for long distances.

Clear Away the Old Trash.

Whatever else may or may not be true with regard to present social tendencies, it is certain that weak eyesight, nervous diseases, insanity and crimes of dishonesty are increasing in excess of the population everywhere in civilization. There are more criminals who can read and write in our penitentiaries than there used to be; there are perhaps nearly two insane persons where there used to be one; there are three school children and young people wearing glasses where there used to be one.

The reason is to be found in the modern system of education. The public schools have been modeled on the colleges of a century ago, where the student learned Latin and Greek, a little ancient history, with some mathematics and physics, all out of books. Burning the midnight oil while conning books was the road to wealth and happiness. The book cramming system has now reached the point where it must break down. It has proved utterly inadequate to the needs of mankind at the threshold of the Twentieth century. We must have a new system of training for school children. The kindergarten plan throughout is the true one.

The new system must educate the child harmoniously, developing his physical, moral, mental and affectional natures. It must introduce him to life with trained eye, hand, heart and reasoning powers. He must learn to think instead of to memorize.

The beginning of the new education will be to burn the dead pile of books which is heaped about the youth. Printed rules of rhetoric, grammar, punctuation and composition must be the first to go. What does it profit any human creature to know the definition of synechdoche, anapest, or even the difference between a metaphor and a simile? What good is served by torturing a poor little wretch till he learns to repeat the rule for long division?

A school superintendent of many years experience says that the boys who recited the best lessons and memorized rules best sank in after life to inferior positions, while the ones who had to take time to think were those who climbed into prominence. Physical perfection, moral culture, the sentiment of brotherhood, the power to reason, politeness, manual training and the three R's are what we want in common school education now. Specific training for a particular trade or profession can be superimposed on it.

Clear away the old trash. Make room for the new education which takes in the whole human being. The teacher who sees this and applies it first will be the one whose pupils will never tire of school, the one whose pupils will enter the world noble, accomplished men and women.

Dreaming Out a Novel.

In his book, "Across the Plains," Robert Louis Stevenson gives some curious facts about how his stories are written. In a whimsical, pleasant vein he writes of "Brownies, who do one half my work for me while I am fast asleep." He speaks especially of that weird creation, "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." He had long had in mind a story which should express the idea of double being that at times must come over the consciousness of every thinking person:

For two days I went about racking my brains for a plot of any sort and on the second night I dreamed the scene at the window, and a scene afterward split in two, in which Hyde, pursued for some crime, took powder and underwent the change in the presence of his pursuers. All the rest was made awake and consciously, although I think I can trace in much of it the manner of my Brownies. All that was given me was the matter of three scenes, and the central idea of a voluntary change becoming involuntary. In the story of Olalla, the mother, the mother's niche, Olalla, Olalla's chamber, the mestizo on the stair, the broken window, the ugly scene of the bite, were all given me in bulk and detail as I have tried to write them.

By that account the whole of my published fiction was the result of the unaided product of some Brownie, some familiar, some unseen collaborator, whom I keep locked in a back garret, while I get all the praise and he but a share (which I cannot prevent him getting) of the pudding. I froze the whole to the last words and sentences that I can find and make.

Eleanor Kirk's idea denies with scorn the allegation that woman hates woman. That paper says, "Of all the unwarrantable, malicious and cruel statements which pass current in society there is not one which is a greater falsehood than the assumption that women dislike women."

After the public lands in the west have all been taken up by the boomers it will be time to develop and occupy some of the neglected land in the older states. There is enough of it to sustain many millions more people than inhabit these localities at present.

This was the epitaph sorrowing Fred Gosswreyler pronounced on his wife when he cut her down after she had hanged herself in the bedroom. "She cost me thousands of dollars and I shall never get another woman like her."

A flourishing Egyptian industry is the manufacture of paint from mummies. The mummies are ground to a powder, which is mixed with oil. So we may paint our fences with all that is mortal of the Pharaohs and Ptolemies.

It was a ghastly ornament—that anniversary and commemorative floral gallows which the faithful placed upon the top of the monument to the anarchists who were executed at Chicago five years ago.

Trolley wires convey a car rapidly and beautifully along a street, but when one breaks and gets down a man's luck be finds there is [illegible]

SWEPT BY A FIERCE GALE

A Score of People Reported to Be Killed in Louisiana.

MUCH DAMAGE DONE AT MOBILE

Its Point a la Hache Not a Building Escaped Injury—The Orange Crop Ruined Story of Devastation Caused by Wind and Water in the South.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 3.—A terrific storm struck New Orleans, coming from the northeast, and raged here all night and part of the day, sweeping to the south from here along the line of the Mississippi river through the parish of Plaquemine to the gulf.

The storm was one of the worst which ever visited this part of the country, and as far as can be learned 24 or more persons were killed and probably three times as many wounded, some of them fatally.

Three deaths and one person wounded severely, if not fatally, is the mortality record in New Orleans. Below the city it was far worse, especially in Plaquemine. Here the wind reached a velocity of 100 to 125 miles an hour, sweeping everything before it. The parish seat of justice, Point a la Hache, a town of 12,000 people, was the worst sufferer. In that town not a single house escaped injury. Four grown people are known to be killed in Point a la Hache and several children.

Among the killed are Mrs. Leon la Fontaine, wife of one of the leading merchants of the town, and Mrs. E. Levanders, wife of a well known lawyer. It is probable that the mortality will be greatly increased as reports here is received from farther regions on the gulf coast below Point a la Hache, in the orange country of Louisiana. It is said that there is not an orange left on the trees, and it is the same all the way down the coast. Algiers ferry landing was blown away. The coal fleet was scattered, and the tugs were engaged all night rescuing the barges.

Great Damage at Mobile.

MOBILE, Oct. 3.—A southeast gale broke here yesterday morning, and the wind increased in velocity for several hours. It blew at least 150 miles an hour. The water has blown the water in from the gulf until the river has reached Royal street, which is four blocks from the river-and at an elevation of about 15 feet from the mean river height.

There is no possible chance of estimating the money damage. All the wholesale and a great portion of the retail district of the city is some four feet under water, and thousands of dollars' worth of goods have been damaged.

The pilothoat Ida Low has been driven on the wharf at the foot of St. Francis street. The bay boat Heroina was driven on the Mobile & Ohio wharf and almost totally wrecked. The Crescent City, another bay boat, left Point Clear at the same time as the Heroine, and has not since been heard from.

It is reported that three dredges working on the channel have been lost. It is also reported here that some 30 miles of the Louisville and Nashville railroad along the coast are under water and that the Biloxi bridge has been swept away by the gale. Nothing has been heard from the gardeners in the marsh east of the city and the worst is feared.

The City in Darkness.

Telegraphic communication is broken in almost every direction, and from the present outlook Mobile will be entirely cut off for a time from the outside world. In this city houses have been unroofed, trees blown down and one cotton warehouse has succumbed to the fury of the gale. The smokestacks of all the manufacturing industries have been blown to the ground. Street car traffic has been totally suspended because of the damage to electric wires, and the city was in darkness last night, as the wires encroached on the electric works.

The busiest thoroughfare of the city is being navigated in boats, and parties are wading up to their armpits in an effort to save goods. It is given up by all to be the worst storm that has ever visited Mobile. The southern part of the city presents a scene of wreckage as if it had been bombarded. The towers of the courthouse and Christ church are tottering.

Dreadful Fire in Darkness.

The storm reached its height about 1 p. m., at which time it attained a velocity of 75 miles an hour. From that time the fury of the gale began to decrease, and the wind gradually changed from southeast to west.

The bay steamer Mississippi City chased her anchor seven miles and went ashore on the beach about three miles below the city. Captain Frank Lumsden and his crew and a passenger, a colored cook named Ella A. Lewis, deemed life preservers and swam safely ashore.

Nearly every bathhouse along the western shore was blown down, and at Morgan's an attendant named Graham was swept away, with five bathhouses, and drowned.

The Magnolia and Cooley's warehouses were blown down and two unknown negroes drowned in the cotton yard. Magnificent oaks all over the city are laid low, and the earth is covered with green leaves whipped from the trees by the winds. Houses all over the city have been unroofed and fences blown down.

The storm abated at 10 p. m., and the waters receded. There is not a wire in the Western Union office affording intercourse with the outside world. It will be several days before the loss can be known.

Great Damage Done In Italy.

ROME, Oct. 3.—Heavy rains have raised the water in all the streams near Naples, Florence, Lucca, Genoa and Bologna. All the districts around these cities are partly flooded. Several railways are under water for miles, and no regular train service is in operation from the cities mentioned. In the country, bridges and houses have been swept away in the floods, and many persons have been drowned. Much stock has been killed, and thousands of acres of the Chelsea clubhouse last August, when several people were killed and injured.

Preached a Sermon In Rhyme.

TROY, N. Y., Oct. 3.—Rev. P. M. Hitchcock of Glens Falls, 87 years old, preached a sermon yesterday in rhyme. He has preached 50 years in the Troy Conference of the Methodist church and is still active.

Lynchings Still Continue.

KINGSTREE, S. C., Oct. 3.—George McFarden, accused of criminal assault, was taken by a mob of 200 men. The telegraph says "he seemed to die peacefully and quickly."

Stole $10,000 Worth of Fur.

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—Thieves have carried away furs valued at $10,000 from the Russian section of the fair.

WHEELS TURNING AGAIN.

A Number of Manufacturing Concerns Start Up Their Idle Mills.

FITCHBURG, Mass., Oct. 3.—The Parkhill Manufacturing company, which employs more than 2,000 hands, resumed work in accordance with the following announcement: "Reductions in the schedules of wages will be made, varying from 5 to 12 per cent. In future all wages will be figured per hour instead of per day or per week." The Fitchburg Worsted company and the Rollstone Machine company, which employ 1,000 hands, will also start up, and will try to run 10 hours a day for five days a week, with a 10 per cent reduction in wages and wages figured by the hour. The Grant yarn mills is running on full time again, while the great Orswell mills expect to start at once. Mill No. 4 of the Fitchburg Paper company at West Fitchburg has orders ahead for three months and is on full time. The Putnam Machine company has started up.

A Brighter Outlook.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 3.—There is a pronounced brightening of the industrial situation here. There were two resumptions—one at the mill of the Lackawanna Iron and Steel company, employing 300 hands, and the other at the works of the Scranton Axle manufacturing company, giving work to 400 more. The announcement is also made that the South Side mills, all of which have been idle for several months, will all resume operations on Nov. 1, employing over 1,000 hands of both sexes. The Scranton Lace company has resumed work in all departments after five months' idleness, giving employment to 400 operatives.

Steady Work Ahead.

AMESBURY, Mass., Oct. 3.—The Hamilton Woolen company started up on full time for the first time in months, resumed full time yesterday, with an average reduction of wages of 14 per cent. The reduction in wages will last but a short time only, the officers say.

Started Up In Full.

LAWRENCE, Mass., Oct. 3.—The Everett and Pemberton mills have started up in full. They have been shut down for more than a month. A portion of the Arlington cotton mills was also started.

Carpet Mills at Work.

LOWELL, Mass., Oct. 3.—The Tremont and Suffolk and the Lowell carpet mills have started up.

Resumption at Haverhill.

HAVERHILL, Mass., Oct. 3.—The Stevens mills started up on full time yesterday morning.

FIVE YEARS FOR ELLISON.

Broker Henriques' Assailant Found Guilty In the Second Degree.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The trial of Frank Ellison for assaulting Broker Henriques was given to the jury at 9:45 last night. At 11:40 o'clock they came in for instructions, and the foreman asked if premeditation or intent to kill could be found while the assailant was in the act of committing the assault.

Recorder Smyth read opinions in which it was decided that the intent to kill could be conceived at the moment of assault. The jury at 11:30 returned with a verdict of guilty of assault in the second degree, second offense. The court has no option in this matter and is obliged to give the maximum sentence.

After the verdict was announced, Mr. Brooke moved for a stay of judgment and for a new trial. Recorder Smyth granted the stay of sentence, but in the case on which counsel for defense will move for a new trial.

Ellison paled as the jury came in, and as the verdict was announced he curled a newspaper which he held in his hand. In a second, however, he turned to Mr. Brooke, and with a smile shook hands with him and said:

"I'll see you again on Monday. Good night."

Prince Ferdinand Short of Cash.

VIENNA, Oct. 3.—Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria is in great financial straits, despite the advances, amounting to 8,000,000 francs, made to him by the Coburgers. He spent vast sums in this city last winter when he was attached to the embassy here, and for the display of royal state in Sofia after his return with his bride. The Duke of Parma, his brother-in-law, and Baron Hirsch have helped him in his immediate necessities by lending him 1,000,000 francs each.

Dancer of the Olden Days.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 3.—A woman who gave her name as Mrs. Sarah Hand was fined $1 for intoxication in a police court here. She was a dancer who 30 years ago was a star, and used to keep her audience spellbound for hours at a time. Years ago the stage, when she was an actress, she was known as Jetta Hadsen, a prominent danseuse in the ballet of the "Black Crook." The woman in court looked to be about 50 years of age.

An Omaha Theater Burned.

OMAHA, Oct. 3.—The Parsons Street theater was completely destroyed by fire late last evening. The building was of brick, and was four stories high in front and five in the rear. On the first floor were a number of stores, the stocks in which were ruined. The total loss is estimated at $250,000. Six persons, five of them firemen, are missing. The opera house was insured for $60,000 and was worth $200,000.

One Thousand Miners on Strike.

MACON, Mo., Oct. 3.—One thousand men, comprising all the coal miners in this county, stopped work yesterday and demanded the usual winter increase per ton for digging coal. The summer price is 50 cents per ton and the winter rate 60 cents.

Mussey Brothers Found Responsible.

BOSTON, Oct. 3.—Judge Hart has found Mussey brothers, builders of Malden, Mass., responsible for the balcony accident at the Chelsea clubhouse last August, when several people were killed and injured.

Preached a Sermon In Rhyme.

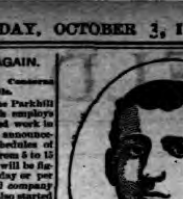
TROY, N. Y., Oct. 3.—Rev. P. M. Hitchcock of Glens Falls, 87 years old, preached a sermon yesterday in rhyme. He has preached 50 years in the Troy Conference of the Methodist church and is still active.

Lynchings Still Continue.

KINGSTREE, S. C., Oct. 3.—George McFarden, accused of criminal assault, was taken by a mob of 200 men. The telegraph says "he seemed to die peacefully and quickly."

Stole $10,000 Worth of Fur.

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—Thieves have carried away furs valued at $10,000 from the Russian section of the fair.



Mr. Thomas Barrenburg

Swellings in the Neck

Have troubled me for 13 years. Medical attendance and operations on my neck at Mount Sinai Hospital did not give me permanent improvement. But by taking three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, the swelling has entirely disappeared.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

THOS. FARRINGDON, 80 Willett St., N. Y. City.

HOOD'S PILLS cure Constipation. 25c.

Stoves For Winter,

Hardware of all Kinds,

Everything From Tacks to Furnaces.

A. M. GRIFFEN,

12 EAST FRONT STREET. Telephone 6.

JOSEPH SOHL,

PRACTICAL

Electrician

40 NORTH AVENUE.

Plainfield, N. J.

Estimates furnished on Electric Light Wiring, Burglar Alarm and Bell Work and repairing of same. Dealer in

Electric and Gas Fixtures.

The only place to buy

Sea Food!

is at

TERRY'S

North Avenue Sea Food Market,

where you will find the biggest Shad in Plainfield. Also, all other kinds in season, at the lowest prices.

OPENING

of Fall and Winter

Millinery and Jackets,

Wednesday, Thursday and Friday,

SEPTEMBER 13, 14 AND 15.

Having re-modeled and greatly enlarged our Millinery Department, we are, this season, prepared to cater to patrons a line of first-class Millinery second to none in the State, and at New York City prices. Our Trimming Department will be under the supervision of Miss Carrie Kusbe, whose superior style of trimming gave such entire satisfaction last season. We will also open an above desire, a line of Fall Jackets for Ladies, Misses and Children.

Boehm's.

Metropolitan Livery

and

Boarding Stables!

Coaches, Close Carriages, Park Phaetons, Surreys, Buggies, Pony Phaetons and Saddle horses.

Especial care given boarding horses. Storage for furniture and carriages.

140 AND 157 NORTH AVENUE,

Opposite depot. Telephone Call, 44.

H. E. RIDER, Proprietor. FRANK DAY, Manager

Special Notices.

New York Law School

120 Broadway, New York City. Incorporated 1891. Number of students, 1891-92, 2011; 1892-93, 2500. Degree LL.B. issued in United States, except one. Twenty months' of instruction. Degree of LL.B. given after two years' course. Graduate course of two years, leading to degree of LL.M. Tuition fee, $100. Re-opens October 2, 1893. Address GEORGE CHASE, Dean 37 tfw

Van Eps,

THE NEW JEWELER.

12 Park Avenue. Also a large variety of Musical Goods.

Educational.

HARNED ACADEMY.

BOARDING AND DAY SCHOOL.

New School Buildings,
Competent Instructors,
Students Prepared for College,
For Business, and
In Special Subjects.

For circulars, address "Harned Academy, Plainfield, N. J.

Plainfield Seminary,

re-opened

SEPTEMBER 14, 1893.

(26th year.)

MISS H. E. KENYON, Principal.

Plainfield Manual Training School,

now open.

300 EAST FRONT STREET.

For circular and particulars, address John Dalziel, Principal, Plainfield, N. J.

FRENCH LESSONS.

Instruction given in pronunciation in Present Language Class, or private lessons at residence in Plainfield, or pupils received in family. Lessons given to Plainfield Parochial High School, and others. For terms, and time, address, Miss Fannie Vinnie, Care of Miss Mary Bonnell, Secretary, 16 La Grande avenue, Plainfield.

MISS FAWCETT'S

Thorough English, Primary and Intermediate School will reopen September 18th, at 10 Dearing, Cheltenham. A few opportunity to join the class will be afforded to those not connected with the school. At home Wednesdays, from 2 to 5 p. m.

MISS JEANNETTE MATTHEWS,

Teacher of French. Given lessons at her residence or pupils. Terms moderate. Those may have regular practice hour at music parlor. Address, Plainfield. Best references. No. 32 East Front street.

Are You Insured?

If you are 21 years old $66.00 paid annually for fifteen years would entitle you to $1,000.

If 22 years old, $67.

If 25 years old, $67.10.

If 34 years old, $67.20.

This sum of $1,000 is payable to the insured, if living, at the expiration of fifteen years, or at his death if prior.

FOR A LIFE POLICY, of $1,000 the annual payments to continue during life, the payments for young men between 21 and 34 are between $18.00 and $20.

For catalogues and further particulars address Henry D. Morrison, 11 Somerset street, Agent, THE NEW YORK MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

F. M. HULETT,

MUSIC DEALER,

74 West Front Street,

handles the following makes:

Gildemeester & Kroeger,
Kranich & Bach,
Starr,
Mulfield,
Jacob Bros. Pianos,
and the world-renowned
Newman Bros., and Mason & Hamlin Organs.

A. W. Rand,

140 WEST FRONT STREET.

New and second hand

SCHOOL - BOOKS.

School supplies of all kinds.

Those wishing to exchange second hand books must bring them in immediately.

Boehm's.

Metropolitan Livery

and

Boarding Stables!

Coaches, Close Carriages, Park Phaetons, Surreys, Buggies, Pony Phaetons and Saddle horses.

Especial care given boarding horses. Storage for furniture and carriages.

140 AND 157 NORTH AVENUE,

Opposite depot. Telephone Call, 44.

H. E. RIDER, Proprietor. FRANK DAY, Manager

Do You?

Intend to invest in a

WHEEL?

If so, call on

Dickinson,

The Optician.

Agent for the Rambler, the best wheel in the market. 4 weights, 24, 30, 36 and 41 lbs. Wheels to hire at reasonable rates.

$55!

Six Days at the World's Fair.

A WEEK OF HOLIDAYS.

Railroad tickets, hotel accommodations, admission tickets, and eleven attractive features provided, including two excursions, sold by the Plainfield Library, museum and other CLUBS, to parties of congenial friendship, to enjoy and keep company, pulse bodies and brighten other spirits, during the visit. Comfort and luxury at a minimum of cost. We have exclusive arrangements with the great railways terminal in Chicago.

Send for circulars, or submit an itinerary, and we will give you prices.

WORLD'S COLUMBIAN TOURIST COMPANY,

239 Broadway, New York.

GEORGE C. McEWEN,

Agent for New Jersey,

404 broad street, Newark.

THE BEE HIVE!

Infants' long Cashmere Cloaks, $1.50, $2.00, $2.25.

Children's Elder down Coats, $1.49, $2.00, $2.25.

Also a full line of Flannel Skirts, Infants' Shawls and Socks.

Fall : Underwear.

Children's merino Vests and Pants, 16-inch, 18c.; 18-inch, 19c., 20-inch, 22c., 22-inch, 23c., 24-inch, 25c.

Children's natural wool Vests and Pants, 16-inch, 20c., 18-inch, 23c., 20-inch, 25c., 22-inch, 28c., 24-inch, 30c.

SPECIAL!

Ladies' Ribbed Vests, long sleeves, 25c.

Ladies' Merino Vests, long sleeves, 50c.

Ladies' Wool Vests, 75c. and $1.00.

Ladies' Natural Wool Vests, 50c.

Men's Merino Shirts and Drawers, 25c., 50c. and 75c.

Men's Natural Wool Shirts and Drawers 75c. and $1.00.

Men's Scarlet Shirts and Drawers, 75c., $1.00 and $1.24.

Louis Callman,

322 West Front Street.

The New Address

of Seguine's Livery Stable

is 18 West Second

Street,

in the Elkwood building.

Telephone Call, 26.

Fine horses, carriages, vehicles of all kinds. Horses boarded. Careful drivers.

Cleaner Coal!

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't,

6 BROADWAY, COR. FOURTH STREET,

Believing that the public appreciate the opening of his newly added steam vibrating mechanical screen for sort coal, which he confidently believes will give a cleaner coal and more of it than is possible by any other method of screening.

UPPER LEHIGH AND SCHUYLKILL COAL in best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.

SOUND AND SEASONED LUMBER.

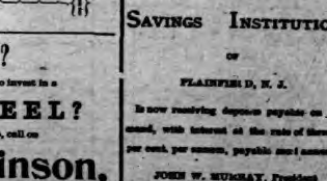
He would also announce recently increased facilities for the prompt delivery of coal. Yard covering, and is prepared to execute orders for the same in the best manner at short notice.

Miscellaneous Cards.

H. H. SPENCER,

Grocer and Tea-dealer, 76 and 78 Somerset street. Pure cider vinegar, 2 years old, guaranteed, 20c. per gallon. Fresh vegetables, such as cabbage, lettuce, tomato, pepper, cauliflower, sweet potato, and egg plants in season.

PLAINFIELD ODORLESS EXCAVATING COMPANY



JONES & CO.

Work quickly and thoroughly done. Yard wants to be opened. Our operations in every part of the Board of Trade. Prompt attention paid to disinfecting. Manufacturers of Sand Lawn, Garden and Field Fertilizer.

P. O. box 626 Telephone call 92.

WHEN MONEY IS SCARCE,

and CLOTHING is needed, go to

SCHEFFLIN'S, 320 West Front Street.

THE DIME SAVINGS INSTITUTION

OF

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually.

JOHN W. MUNDAY, President
WILLIAM SMITH, Vice-President
NATHAN HARPER,
ELIAS R. POPE, Treasurer

DOINGS AT THE CAPITAL

Senator Kyle Had a Small Audience In the Senate.

WASHBURN SURPRISED WOLCOTT.

Statistics of Various Kinds From the Different Departments—The Many Letters That Never Came—Mr. Warner's Resolution—To Investigate the Sugar Trust.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The resolution proposing a postponement of action on the repeal bill and other measures until the three vacant seats from Montana, Washington and Wyoming are filled was brought up incidentally by Mr. Dubois of Idaho. He disclaimed any purpose of obstruction in offering it. This revival of the subject gave Mr. Washburn of Minnesota an opportunity of declaring the proposition to be absolutely just, particularly in view of the fact that two of the states concerned were not silver producing and had no more interest in the silver question than other states, and were, furthermore, now represented in the senate by a man who would vote for unconditional repeal of the Sherman act. This last statement was instantly challenged both by Mr. Dubois and Mr. Wolcott, who asked for the authority on which it was made.

There was no hesitation on Mr. Washburn's part in gratifying their curiosity. His authority, he said, came from the two senators themselves—Messrs. Squire and Carey—and he stated afterward in precise terms that the senator from Washington (Mr. Squire) had told him that he would vote for the unconditional repeal of the Sherman law. The statement seemed to surprise the senators from Colorado and Idaho.

Mr. Kyle's Audience Was Small.

Mr. Dubois appeared altogether incredulous and asserted that the two senators (Messrs. Squire and Carey) would vote against the pending bill. He did not say what authority he had for the assertion.

The debate on the silver purchase repeal bill was continued by Mr. Kyle of South Dakota against the repeal, the last of Mr. Millan of Michigan for it. Mr. Dolph of Oregon also made an argument against the free coinage of silver.

Mr. Kyle made the argument against the bill. By actual count there were three Democratic senators and eight Republican senators in their seats part of the time, and the galleries were almost empty. At last the deserted condition of the senate chamber appealed to the sympathies of Mr. Kyle's colleague, Mr. Pettigrew, and the result was that, through the instrumentality of a call, the temporary presence of 46 senators was secured, and the speech was proceeded with.

Outside of a humorous speech by Mr. Clark of Missouri against the federal election laws the proceedings in the house were lacking in interest. It kept the attendance of the house for more than an hour, and his sallies were enjoyed alike by pro and friend and foe. The other speakers were Mr. Johnson of Arkansas, Mr. Deuson of Alabama and Mr. Cooper of Florida, all of whom were in favor of repeal. No Republican could be prevailed upon to speak to a large array of empty seats, and the house adjourned.

Some Treasury Statistics.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The treasury department's statement of the receipts and expenditures for the first month of the month of September and for the fiscal year to date shows that the receipts for September, 1893, are $6,500,000 less than for September, 1892, and for the first quarter of the present fiscal year they are $20,000,000 less than for the same quarter of the fiscal year 1893. The expenditures for September, 1893, are $2,750,000 more than for September, 1892, and for the first quarter of the present fiscal year they are $6,503,000 more than for the same quarter of the fiscal year 1892.

New York and New Jersey Remembered.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Patrick J. Rodger of New York has been appointed a member of the board of pension appeals, interior department. Arthur F. English of New Jersey has been appointed law clerk in the office of the assistant attorney general for the interior department. Attorney General Olney has appointed S. W. Dewitt of New Jersey, as an assistant attorney in the department of justice.

Letters That Never Came.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Superintendent Bernard Goode of the dead letter office, in his annual report, states that the whole number of pieces treated was 7,320,038. Of the letters and parcels opened and recorded 39,017 contained money amounting to $46,064; 30,426 contained drafts, notes, money orders, etc., of a face value of $2,268,686, and 3,804 contained postal notes to the value of $5,415.

Mr. Warner's Resolution.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Mr. Warner of New York introduced in the house a resolution directing the house committee on public buildings and grounds to inquire into and report the extent, nature, condition and use of public buildings and grounds in New York city owned or used by the United States.

Public Debt Statement.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The debt statement issued yesterday shows a net increase in the public debt, less cash in the treasury, during September of $634,788.28. The interest bearing debt increased $181,130, the noninterest bearing debt increased $26,150, and the cash in the treasury decreased $465,377.28.

To Oppose Mr. Preston.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—It is understood that the silver senators will still oppose the confirmation of Mr. Preston, nominated to be director of the mint. One of them said that they would use every means in their power to defeat the man whom they charge with nullifying the Sherman act.

Interior Department Appropriations.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The appropriations asked for by Secretary Hoke Smith aggregate $176,779,134.28, as against $180,087,600.44 for the current fiscal year, a decrease of $3,308,466.16.

General Milliken's Opinion.

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—General James Milliken, the Republican politician of Pennsylvania, said to a reporter: "I believe that if a canvass was taken today of the people of Pennsylvania a majority of them would be in favor of the position taken by Mr. Cameron—that is, against the repeal of the Sherman purchasing act."

Bismarck's Memoirs Sold.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—The Vienna correspondent of The Daily Chronicle says Prince Bismarck has sold his memoirs to a South German publisher for 500,000 marks on the condition that they shall be published immediately after his death.

THE SHERIFF CALLED IN.

Animated Time at a Political Convention In Malone, N. Y.

MALONE, N. Y., Oct. 3.—The Democratic county convention was an animated affair, resulting in a riot and pitched battle. The fight was over the delegates to the state convention between the administration and Hill men. Both attempted to secure control of the temporary organization, and as a result there was a row of the liveliest sort, in which the ire was roused and the belligerents came to blows. The sheriff was called in to quell the riot and prevent the destruction of the hall. Neither side would yield, and two conventions were held.

The administration people named as delegates to the state convention A. H. Fay, O. M. Everett and John Harding. The Hill men named J. M. Pond, R. A. Dean and W. A. Dineen.

Two candidates for the assembly were also nominated—A. R. Cooney by the Cleveland forces and E. A. Rush by the opposition. Fay is postmaster at Malone and Pond the chief game protector of the state.

Raines Withdrew From the Club.

ROCHESTER, Oct. 3.—The Flower City Democracy had undigested notions concerning the county committee for adopting new party regulations when a campaign was in progress and calling on the old ward and city committees to continue to act. George Raines, chairman of the committee, was present and defended its action, but was overruled by the club by 80 to 85. He and his followers withdrew from the club.

Two Rival Conventions.

CORNING, N. Y., Oct. 3.—The Hill and Cleveland factions split in the convention to nominate delegates to the state convention, each side held a separate session and selected men of their own minds.

CONNECTICUT ELECTIONS.

Many Women Took Part In Choosing the School Officers.

HARTFORD, Oct. 3.—There was a light vote at the town election, with gains for the Republicans. John E. Higgins, Democrat, was re-elected town clerk by 46 plurality. The Democrats elected a majority of the board of selectmen, the board standing three Democrats and two Republicans. Seven hundred and one women voted for school officers. The largest number cast for one of the candidates was 627. The town voted license and for 12 o'clock as the hour for closing saloons.

The election was a memorable one in New Britain, East Hartford and Manchester, all these towns going no license. The citizens' and Republican parties united in New Britain and carried the town, which is usually Democratic.

Results in other towns in Hartford county: Southington, Republican: no license. Bristol, Republican; no license. Farmington, tie vote; no election. Windsor, Republican; no license. Plainville, Republican; license. West Hartford, Republican; no license. Canton, Republican; no license. Avon, divided; no license. East Windsor, Republican.

In some of the larger places, like Rockville and New Britain, the women vote was large, but in many of the small towns apparently little interest was taken.

Twenty-five Suits For $20,000 Each.

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 3.—Twenty-five suits in behalf of workmen brought here from the east to take the place of the strikers on the Louisville & Nashville road have been filed. Ten thousand dollars is asked for in each case. The grounds of the suits are that the plaintiffs were brought here under misrepresentation; that they were locked up and restrained of their liberty, and that they were refused transportation back to their homes.

Hammerstein Lost After All.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The committee to pass judgment on Oscar Hammerstein's 48 hour opera, "Kohi-noor," decided that Hammerstein had lost his bet. Nevertheless, they say, his work was a wonderful piece of brain production. Charles Hoyt of the Madison Square theater and Charles Lederer of the Casino say they are willing to produce the opera, and are sure it will be a success.

Dinner to Lord Dunraven.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Ex-Commodore James D. Smith of the New York Yacht club and chairman of the America's cup committee gave a dinner to Lord Dunraven, owner of the Valkyrie, at Delmonico's. It was a very exclusive affair, only 24 people being present. Both guest and host made happy speeches. The former expressed a belief that the Valkyrie would win.

State Care of the Insane.

ALBANY, Oct. 3.—The beginning of the end of the local care for the insane has been made in Albany. The state commission in lunacy has provided two special trains—one to provide for the transfer of 150 patients from the Erie county almshouse to the Willard state hospital and one for the transfer of 150 patients from the Willard to the Hudson River state hospital.

Shot Down by His Son.

ADRIAN, N. Y., Oct. 3.—Andrew Eveland, a hotel proprietor, was shot and fatally wounded by his son. The fight was the result of a dispute. It is reported that the injured man cannot survive. The bullet entered under Eveland's right eye.

Too Religious to Work.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 3.—James Williams, Birkin Johnson and Christopher Sargent, sailors on the schooner Valentine, were arrested, charged with mutiny. The only excuse they gave was that they did not want to work on Sunday.

A North Pole Campbell's Nephew.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Ignatius J. Campbell, a nephew of Congressman Tim Campbell, took charge of the mailing, inspecting and rating bureau in the postoffice yesterday. His salary is $1,200 a year.

Want the Tariff to Remain as It Is.

GLOVERSVILLE, N. Y., Oct. 3.—The workingmen of the country are circulating a petition to congress not to change the tariff on gloves. Sixteen hundred signers were procured in Johnstown.

Milwaukee's New Daily Paper.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 3.—Formal announcement has been made that the first issue of the Milwaukee Times will be issued on Oct. 30. The paper will have the United Press dispatches.

Russell Sage Lost the Suit.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 3.—Russell Sage of New York has lost his suit against the Winona and St. Peter railway. It involved 47,000 acres of land valued at $240,000.

Augusta Makes a New Record.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Oct. 3.—Augusta yesterday recorded the largest cotton receipts in the history of the city, the number of bales received being 4,326.

WOMAN SLAIN BY WOMAN

Mrs. Fitzgerald Shot and Killed Mrs. Pearsall.

SHE LAY IN WAIT FOR HER VICTIM.

The Dead Woman Was a Policeman's Wife, and Her Slayer Is a Sister of Inspector McLaughlin—Insanity Jealous of Her Husband—Gave Herself Up to the Police.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Mrs. John Fitzgerald, the wife of a lawyer and a sister of Inspector of Police McLaughlin, the wreck of with jealousy, shot and killed Mrs. Carrie Pearsall, the wife of a policeman, yesterday afternoon.

The killing was carefully premeditated, because Mrs. Fitzgerald lurked in a hall for an hour or more waiting for Mrs. Pearsall to come home. Mrs. Fitzgerald is the wife of Lawyer J. J. Fitzgerald, an examiner in the office of Corporation Counsel Clark.

The Fitzgeralds live in nicely furnished apartments at 2510 Eighth avenue and have four children. They have lived there three years.

The Pearsalls lived at 515 East Eighty-sixth street, and their quarters are furnished in better style than persons with much larger incomes than Pearsall enjoys. They have been married 10 years and have one child. Mrs. Pearsall was a handsome, showy woman, with an unusually fine figure.

At 1230 o'clock yesterday Mrs. Fitzgerald put on her hat and coat and told her eldest son that she was going down town and would return about 6 o'clock. Her manner was cool, and she kissed her children before departing.

After buying a revolver and a small handbag to carry it in, she went to 515 East Eighty-sixth street, and learning that Mrs. Pearsall was not at home, left Mrs. Kalkhoff, who had given her the information, and pretended to leave the house. Instead, after coming down stairs, Mrs. Fitzgerald stopped to wait for the return of her supposed rival.

Lay In Ambush For Her Victim.

It was about 3 o'clock when she left Mrs. Kalkhoff. She lay ambushed in the hall, near the foot of the stairs, for about 1½ hours. At 4:30 o'clock Mrs. Pearsall entered the front door and advanced up the hall. Mrs. Fitzpatrick faced her and quickly fired four shots, three of which missed. The fourth struck Mrs. Pearsall in the left side of the neck, severed the jugular vein and pitched down into the body. Mrs. Pearsall seemed to have been shrinking when the downward shot hit her.

Mrs. Kalkahoff, hearing the shots, looked down from the third floor and shouted, "Stop that shooting, down there!" She supposed the shots had been fired by boys. Mrs. Pearsall sank on the floor, while her life blood spurted against the wall.

Mrs. Fitzgerald coolly replaced the revolver under her coat, and leaving the house went directly to the Eighty-eighth street station. Sergeant Hall was at the desk. She poked the revolver almost into his face. He said, "For heaven's sake, put that pistol down!" She laid it on the desk, exclaiming, "I did it, I did it, but I did it in self defense!"

Mrs. Fitzgerald Wildly Excited.

Dean then called two policemen, who sought and held her. She was wildly excited. They took her into Captain Pickett's room. She was too excited to talk, but Pickett learned from her rambling statements that when seated in one of 515 East Eighty-eighth street. Pickett sent Detectives Farley and Bunner to the place. They found Mrs. Pearsall still lying in the hall, surrounded by a dozen persons.

At that moment Pearsall entered, and Farley asked him, "Do you know this woman?" It was dark and Pearsall could not see distinctly, so he said, "No, I do not know her." Then he stopped, and recognizing her face dress exclaimed, "My God! It is my wife!" She was still alive. He clasped her in his arms, and she died a minute later.

Deputy Coroner O'Hare gave a permit to bury the body. Fitzgerald, hearing about dusk and was worried to find that his wife was not there, for she scarcely ever remained out after nightfall. Presently Dr. Haviland, who is his family physician, came and told him his wife had killed Mrs. Pearsall.

Haviland and Fitzgerald went to the police station, where the husband had a short interview with his wretched wife. She remained in Captain Pickett's room all night.

Cause of the Tragedy.

Mrs. Pearsall and her daughter spent the summer at the Glen House, Shohola Glen. Fitzgerald and his family summered at Lackawaxen, a resort a few miles from the Glen. On July 27 Fitzgerald drove over to the Glen House and was introduced to Mrs. Pearsall. The two walked about and were eating ice cream on the piazza when Mrs. Fitzgerald, who had followed her husband, came up.

The instant she clapped eyes on Mrs. Pearsall and Fitzgerald she flew into a passion, railing at the woman until her husband, the lawyer, led her into a carriage and took her back to Lackawaxen.

Mrs. Fitzgerald kept her wrath warm by nursing it in secret, though she frequently to time vexed her husband by accusing him of being fonder of Mrs. Pearsall than he was of her. Fitzgerald tried to convince her of her error, but she refused to believe him.

Ho Again Bombarded.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Admiral Mello, commander in chief of the insurgent forces in the Brazilian navy, is bombarding the forts still defending the bay of Rio de Janeiro, a dispatch received by the Exchange Telegraph company reports. The firing, it is said, commenced yesterday all day. The inhabitants of the city were thrown into a state of panic. Provisions in the capital are selling at famine prices.

Rev. Hills Created a Sensation.

WEST CHESTER, Pa., Oct. 3.—Rev. G. Heathcote Hills, rector of the Protestant Episcopal Church of Holy Trinity, created a sensation by the announcement that it was right to establish confessionals and right for Episcopalians to confess to their rector.

Hundreds of Slaves Liberated.

ZANZIBAR, Oct. 3.—Major Von Wissmann, with his expedition, arrived at Tanganyika after numerous hard fights with the natives. He was successful in every fight and liberated hundreds of slaves.

Princeton's Big Receipts.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 3.—Figures obtained from the university treasurer show that the receipts of the Princeton Baseball association last season exceeded $11,000.

Miss Burr Nominated by Democrats.

ROME, N. Y., Oct. 3.—Miss Jessie A. Burr of Rome has been nominated by the Democrats for school commissioner of the Fourth Oneida county district.

CUT DOWN TO FACTS.

The Populists have nominated two wags on for school commissioners in Oneida county, N. Y.

William Decker was sentenced to one year's imprisonment at Corning, N. Y., for drawing two pensions.

Holly, '94, is Princeton's latest acquisition for her football team.

The general consensus of opinion seems to be that Reading can be reorganized without foreclosure.

The consumption of sugar has been enormous on account of the large fruit crops. Refiners say this is the cause of its scarcity.

Heavy gales have prevailed in New Brunswick, and farms were flooded, crops destroyed and trees blown down.

It is suspected that Mrs. Edwin Parker Deacon, who had arrived in this country, will hereafter live quietly in California.

Rival factions have each nominated delegates to the Democratic state convention from Steuben county, N. Y.

Judge Pratt has denied the motion for a permanent receiver for the defunct Brooklyn Commercial bank.

Three explosions of naphtha in the trunk factory of R. C. Jenkinson & Co. at Newark, N. J., caused a loss of $15,000.

The New York Tribune and Times have each been offered for $10,000 by the Monmouth Park association for libel.

Three Chinamen were murdered near Butte, Mon., by unknown parties. All were shot in the back of the head.

Paid admissions to the World's fair yesterday were 127,921.

Prince Bismarck is reported to be gradually losing the use of his legs in spasms, and his right hand is said to be partly paralyzed.

An early settlement of the Chesapeake and Ohio strike is now thought to be absolutely certain through the intervention of Chief Arthur.

YELLOW FEVER SPREADING.

Cases Reported Nearly Fifty Miles Away From Brunswick.

SAVANNAH, Oct. 3.—The yellow fever is spreading. It is far from safe to say that in the year, otherwise the entire southwestern section of Georgia might have to fight this epidemic as close quarters. It is now at Brunswick, on St. Simon's Island, at Fancy Bluff, on Colonel's Island and at Jesup. Suspicious cases are reported at Gould, at Woodcraugh and at Bellville.

The disease seems to be confined within a territory of 50 miles radius. At Jesup, where the first case was officially announced yesterday after a post mortem, five suspicious cases have been reported. The little town was greatly excited. Rigid instructions had been issued by the two railroads running through the town for neither passenger nor freight trains to stop in the town or near it.

Two Deaths at Brunswick.

BRUNSWICK, Ga., Oct. 3.—Two deaths occurred from yellow fever yesterday—the infant of Minnie Bowers, and Miss Rose Nisi, who was suffering from a relapse. There were 12 new cases.

Ex-Mayor Gleason Will Not Down.

LONG ISLAND CITY, N. Y., Oct. 3.—The county convention of the Gleason Democracy of Queens county, known as the regular Democrats, was held here, and ex-Mayor Gleason was chairman. Mr. Gleason says they will nominate a straight ticket in opposition to the other Democratic factions. The convention indorsed the ex-mayor for senator on an antimonopoly platform.

TAKE NOTICE.

Charles Arnold,

the butcher,

Is Still in the Race

for cut prices.

Fresh Pork and Sausage 10c. lb.

My own Dressed Jersey Chickens, 18c. lb.

Legs Mutton, 10c. lb.

Lamb, 10c. lb.

My Smoked Meats and all other Meats will be the same old cut prices.

Arnold's : Market,

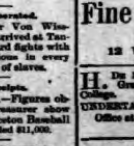
208 LIBERTY STREET.

GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE.

☞ Strictly Cash. 8 22 1mo

VIGOR OF MEN

Easily, Quickly, Permanently Restored.



Weakness, Nervousness, Debility, and all the train of evils brought on by overwork, errors or excesses, the result of neglect, exposure, indiscretion, etc. Full strength, development and tone given in all cases. Simple, natural methods. Immediate improvement seen. Failure impossible. 1,000 references. Book, explanation and proofs mailed free.

ERIE MEDICAL CO., Buffalo, N.Y.

U. B. CRANE,

has the largest stock of

Fine Fall HATS,

in Plainfield.

12 WEST FRONT STREET.

H. DE MOTT,

Graduate of United States Embalming College.

UNDERTAKER : AND : EMBALMER,

Office at residence, 175 Somerset Street.

Plainfield, N. J.

Townsend's Marble Works,

39 Somerset Street.

Good Cooking

is essential to

Good Digestion—

in pastry you cannot have wholesomeness if a good shortening. Lard has always had very objectionable features, causing indigestion and many other disteric troubles. Science has come to the assistance of the cook, and of weak stomachs, with the new shortening,

Cottolene

It is composed of the choicest beef suet and highly refined cottonseed oil, many respects as good as the finest imported olive oil. Physicians endorse it, cooking experts recommend it, and thousands are now using it in preference to any other shortening. Refuse all substitutes.

Send stamp for "Cottolene Cook Book," containing 150 choice recipes. Sold in 3 lb. and 5 lb. pails only, by all grocers. Cottolene is sold by all grocers.

Made only by

N. K. FAIRBANK & CO.,

CHICAGO.

Wholesale Agents, Plainfield.

Prudence Kenworthy, 128 N. Dalaware Ave., Phila.

Great Bargains

in all grades of

WALL PAPERS,

for the next 60 days.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.

20 EAST FRONT STREET.

The Vanderbilt and Astor

Use the same make of imported Table Oil, Cheese and French Sardines that I now have on stock.

THEY ARE DELICIOUS.

And then I personally select the

FRESH FISH!

I have on sale to-day and to-morrow. Call and see my stock.

JULES BOVEY,

60 Somerset Street.

Builders Cards.

Daniel Hulick,

Carpenter

and

General Jobber.

[SHOP]

35 Jackson Avenue.

Storm doors and weather strips a specialty.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

Window Screens made to order.

John P. Emmons,

MASON AND BUILDER,

Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place.

Jobbing promptly attended to.

P. O. Box 803.

PIERSON & GAYLE,

Carpenters and Builders.

W. J. Pierson, No. 15 Vine street. H. R. Gayle, No. 19 Vine street.

All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM G. SMITH.

PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER.

All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.

Residence—Grandview avenue.

P. O. Box 322.

R. V. SAUNS,

Carpenter & Builder.

Residence—Clinton avenue, near depot, Bound Brook.

P. O. Box 122

Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.

JACOB M. HIGGINS,

PRACTICAL MASON and CONTRACTOR

P. O. Box 321. Residence Dr. street, near Howard.

JOHN ABBOTT,

Carpenter, Builder and Jobber. Satisfaction guaranteed in all work entrusted to me. Jobbing promptly attended to. Corner new and Front streets. Residence, Somerset street, near Front. P. O. Box 284.

ALFRED E. NELSON,

Civil Engineer and Surveyor, No. 5 Park Row, Plainfield, N. J. Office hours: 9 to 12 A. M. and 2 to 4 P. M. Will also be found at Nelson's Real Estate Office, 5 Park Row. Residence, 1 Arlington avenue.

All work guaranteed. 9 17

UMBRELLA - SALE.

GLORIA SILK,

26 inch. 89 cents each

PARAGON FRAME.

GEO. L. VAN EMBURGH & SON.

FRONT STREET, OPPOSITE PARK AVENUE. UNDER THE BANK.

Rochester Beers!

The success already attained by this brand of Lager Beer is beyond expectation. No other Beer ever handled in this city has had such remarkable sales. Try it!

BOTTLED LIQUORS,

Imported Beers and Ales are having a very large sale at this season. My stock is first-class, and it will pay you to investigate.

FRANK LINKE'S

Wholesale Liquor Establishment, 43 WEST FRONT STREET.

Telephone Call, 197.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

Successors to

The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,

Dealers in

Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials

42 to 60 PARK AVENUE,

Are now prepared with their increased facilities, having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs. A. D. Cook & Bro.,) to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

Do Your Corns Hurt?

They can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of

ELECTRIC

Corn Cure.

A remedy that never fails. A guarantee is sent with each box, that if a perfect cure is not made, the money is to be refunded at once. Price, 40c. per box. Sent postpaid to any address on receipt of price (in stamps or silver, at our risk.) A book of testimonials sent with each box.

ALLEN & CO.,

6 29 tf Lock Box 35, Richmond, Va.

Railroad Time Table.

CENTRAL RAILROAD OF NEW JERSEY

(Authentic and uncontradicted information concerning connections and comfort.)

Stations in NEW YORK, foot of Liberty street.

Stations in PLAINFIELD, Somerville and Bound Brook.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield for N. Y. at 5 30, 6 45, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 a. m., 12 00 m., 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Leave New York for Plainfield at 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 a. m., 12 00 m., 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

PLAINFIELD AND BOUND BROOK.

Leave Plainfield for B. B. at 6 45, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 a. m., 12 00 m., 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Leave Bound Brook for Plainfield at 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 a. m., 12 00 m., 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield at 6 15, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 a. m., 12 00 m., 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Leave Somerville at 5 45, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 a. m., 12 00 m., 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

PLAINFIELD AND BOUND BROOK.

Leave Plainfield at 6 45, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 a. m., 12 00 m., 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Leave Bound Brook for Plainfield at 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 a. m., 12 00 m., 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

5 30 a. m. for Pennsylvania Express, Allentown, Easton, Harrisburg, Pittsburg, Chicago and the West. Through coach Plainfield to Pittsburg.

6 45 a. m. for Bound Brook, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, Pottsville, Williamsport, Lewisburg, Sunbury, Shamokin, Mt. Carmel, Shenandoah, Ashland, Mahanoy City, Tamaqua, Lehighton, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, Pittston, Scranton, Binghamton, Elmira, Corning, Watkins, Geneva, Rochester, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Canandaigua, Syracuse, Oswego, Utica, Rome, Ithaca, Auburn, Cortland, Owego, Waverly, Sayre, Towanda, Wyalusing, Athens, Canton, Troy, Albany, Saratoga, Lake George, Montreal, Quebec, Boston, Portland, Me., Northern New York, Vermont, Canada, Northern New Hampshire, Maine

WHERE SHE REIGNS SUPREME.

The Husband Has Few Rights and He Has to Pay High for Them.

In the valley of the Saras in Abyssinia there is, according to a recently returned traveler, a community where the women, without holding meetings or agitation of any kind, have emancipated themselves. All the work is done by the men, who are idle, but by way of compensation the house and all that it contains belongs to the wife. At the least unkind word any time the husband can get a night in storm or rain, and he can't come back until he makes amends by the gift of a cow. The wife considers it a duty to show the husband, and if she were rich enough to show any love for him in life or grief at his death she would be scorned by her tribe. The wife, without any reason, may strike her lord, and go, taking with her one-third of the joint possessions. The husband, unless he be travelling, may not live out of his tent, but the wife may go to her parents for a year and annul for the time her own marriage.—N. Y. Sun.

Colors That Harmonize.

A woman with blue gray eyes and a thin, neutral tinted complexion, is never more becomingly dressed than in the blue shades in which gray is mixed, for in these complexions there is a certain delicate blueness. A brunette is never so exquisite as in cream color, for she has reproduced the tinting of her skin in her dress. Put the same dress on a colorless blonde and she will be far from charming, while in gray she would be quite the reverse. The reason is plain. In the blonde's sallowness there are tints of gray, and in the dark woman's pallor there are always yellowish tones, the same as predominate in the cream colored dress. Women who have rather florid complexions do well in various shades of plum and bellotrope, also in certain shades of dove gray, for to a trained eye this color has a tinge of pink which harmonizes with the flesh of the rose. Blondes look fairer and younger in dead black, like that of wool goods or velvet, while brunettes require the sheen of satin or gloss of silk in order to wear black to advantage.

Hook Your Petticoat.

When the petticoat is worn over the corset it is liable to slip provokingly above the natural position, unless the corset is provided with a strong hook in front, and this arrangement meets the adjustment of the entire front of the costume. The difficulty is effectually remedied in a new yoke petticoat that is secured to the corset at the hip-line with buttons and button-holes. This garment is a special boon to stout women.

To Make Your Hair Curl.

Finely powdered Peruvian bark is recommended to keep ringlets in curl in moist weather. It is applied with a powder puff. Unfortunately this suggestion is valuable only to persons with blonde or light brown hair. On black hair the powder shows a fine dust and cannot be used.

An Epigram on Women.

You say, sir, coarse will allowed
A woman to be like a cloud,
And in a similar mood
Between a woman and the moon.
For let mankind say what they will Women are heavenly bodies still.
—James Whyte

Hotels.

CENTRAL HOTEL,

No. 11 E. Front St.,

PLAINFIELD.

Windham & Crowley,

PROPRIETORS.

☞ First-class bar attached.

Fourth Ward Hotel.

JOHN GOFF, Proprietor.

Boarders accommodated, both transient and permanent.

LARGE ROOMS
and
ALL MODERN IMPROVEMENTS.

Fine Wines, Liquors
and CIGARS.

Corner Third and Liberty Streets.

Hotel Grenada,

SOUTH AVENUE,

ow open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout and contains all improvements. Tasteful accommodations for families and the travelling public.

City Hotel,

Corner
PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.

Transient guests accommodated.

Eugene Hoerster,

206 Grove Street,

North Plainfield.

Wholesale Dealer

in
FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.

Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

OPENING
OF
Fall and Winter DRESS GOODS.

We have placed on sale the Largest Assortment of DRESS GOODS ever offered in this city, and the prices lower than ever, short lengths to avoid too many dresses of a kind

WE MENTION A FEW SPECIALS.

All Wool Bengaline at 55c. yd. Regular Price 75c.
" " Novelties at 50c. yd. Regular Price 75c.
" " Henriettas at 75c. yd. Regular Price 1.00

Cashmeres, Serges, Flannels and Cloths in large variety of colors and prices.
Priestley's silk warp Dress Goods.

DRESS TRIMMINGS

In plain and changeable Braids, Galloons, Braids, etc. We are still offering

Smith's Best Moquette Carpets at 99c. yd

It will be to your advantage to look at these goods if you are in need of carpets.

BLANKETS AND COMFORTABLES AT

EDSALL'S.

Nerve Trouble and Strength.

A great deal of trouble and annoyance is saved in shopping by planning out the work beforehand. Begin by making a note of all the articles needed, and affix an approximate price to each article. If in the course of shopping you have to pay more or less for any article than you had intended to pay, make a note of it, so that if necessary they may be added to bringing the expenditure to the original limit.

Shopping in tiresome work, and no woman should understake a day of it without these aids, for they may economize. Women are very apt to become physically exhausted and faint with weariness during an arduous day of shopping. A glass of hot milk or of hot bouillon are the best stimulants in such a case. It is a mistake for a woman while shopping to take an unsubstantial luncheon in the middle of the day. She should have a hearty meal of beef or some other strengthening meat.

Rinse for the Bonedge.

A lump of beeswax dissolved in a small quantity of sweet oil over a candle and cooled is an excellent remedy for chapped lips.

The following recipe is for pearl water, a complexion aid: Take one pound of castile soap and one gallon of water. Dissolve and then add a pint of alcohol, with two drams of oil of rosemary and oil of lavender.

Violet powder may be made by taking six parts, by weight, of wheat starch and two parts of orris root powder. Having reduced the starch to an impalpable powder, mix thoroughly with the orris root and then perfume with otter of lemon, ottar of cloves and otter of bergamot, using twice as much of the lemon as either of the other otters.

The Boston Transcript thus gracefully defines maiden ladies: "The undelivered packages at the express offices. They were originally intended for somebody, but the parties to whom they were addressed have never appeared, or else they had the wrong address or the address memory got obliterated. Often very valuable parcels, which would have given great joy if they had been delivered to the proper consignee."

The Latest Feather for Hats.

If you want to have the rarest and most expensive adornment for your hat—and, of course, being a woman, you do—you must get some white peacock's feathers. They are almost as much of an attainment in their line as the dish of nightingales' tongues is in epicurean circles. They can be artistically combined with ecrue chiffon and a tuft of cream osprey.

A Child's History of the Broken Doll.

Once upon a time
There was a doll
Which I called mine.

Her name was Virginia
She was very pretty,
She had an Aunt Belinda.

One day a dog broke her;
I was very sorry;
Shed many a tear.
—Boz Dunne, in the Churchman

The Hour.

I hate a man
Who thinks he can
Be heroic all the day,
Ignoring love—
And all because,
As he says, 'tis his way.
—Harper's Bazar.

THE DOINGS OF DELSARTE.

In former times my numerous rhymes
Have caused some pain and sorrow;
And I was then of all good men
The meriest man on earth is
And my curse
From year to year
Was full of close
And things.

Despite the few regrets (perdieu!) which grim dyspepsy brings
But now I'm stranger and harsh a change has come upon the scene,
And lengthy is the life where all sad formerly is serene—
Yes, wasting care hath cast its snare about my honest heart,
Because, alas! it hath come to pass my daughter's learnt Delsarte.

In Bosh and Joist and every point the counter-parts I see,
She grew so fast she became at last a marvellous thing to see!
Long, gaunt and slim, each gangling limb played stumbling block to t'other—
The which excuse of awkwardness quite merit-orious.

Now, as for me, I like to see the carriages uptown
Which certify unto all the shy, unconscious age of youth;
It maidenhood be pure of mind, industrious, tidy, smart,
What need (that they should fool away their youth upon Delsarte?

In good old times my numerous rhymes commissioned general mirth,
But now you see
Revealed in me
The gloomiest bard on earth!
I sing no more of the joys of yore that marked my happy life,
But rather those depressing woes with which the present rife!
Unconverted to that gaunt child (who's now a fashion plate)
One song I raise in Art's dispraise, and so be I fight with Fate.
This gangling bard has found it hard to see his counterpart,
Long, loose and slim, divorced from him by that hectic dude, Delsarte!

Whenever she goes
She loves to pose
In classic attitudes,
And droop her eyes in languid wise and feign ebullitions of gratitude;
And she—my child—
(Who all so wild,
So helpless and so sweet
That once she knew not what to do with those great big hands and feet)
Now comes and goes with such repose, so calmly sits or stands,
Is in discreet with both her feet, so daft with both her hands—
Why, when I see that satire on me, I give an angry start
And I utter one word (it is commonly heard) derogatory to Delsarte!

In years gone by 'twas said that I was quite a dandy,
Oscott gaiters had I before this Delsarte craze began,
But now these wins
Folks criticize
And I opine they even incline to sneer at my musical bent;
Why, sometimes they presume to say this wart upon my cheek
Is not refined, and remarks unkind they pass on that subject,
With lusty bass and charms of face and figure will I part Ere they extort this grand old wart to placate their Delsarte!

O wretched day on all shall say who've known my muse before!
When by this rhyme you see that I'm not in it any more!
Goodby the mirth that ever earth diffused such keen delight—
The old time bard
Of pack and lard
Is plainly out of sight!
All withered now about his brow the laurel

SHIPPER CHESTNUTS.

A correspondent vouches for the accuracy of the following: "My brethren," said a preacher, "such a man is like the captain of a crewless vessel on a storeless sea. Happy would such a man be could he be bring his men safe to land."—The Lilts.

"Why on earth do you have a melodeon instead of a piano, Sawyer?" "Because my daughter was so fond of music I couldn't get her to take any exercise. Now she gets the walk and the music at once."—Brandon Beacon.

After he falls off one a man never compares anything to being as "easy as falling off a log."—Atchison Globe.

A Russian physician uses soothing music in the treatment of insanity in nervous diseases. It is safe to say that Wagner is never entered in his prescription book.—St. Paul Globe.

A waitress may not know how to deal a pack of cards, but she can easily raise the deuce by dropping a tray.—Glens Falls Republican.

What a woman calls a perfect dream of a dress is generally a stern reality to the husband who has to pay for it.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

In the race of life it isn't the fast men who come out ahead.—Texas Siftings.

Girls were formerly so modest that they would blush if a small star winked at them, but when the man in the moon casts a sheep's eye at one of them now she asks him what he is giving her.—Galveston News.

"Tom, was that a variety show you took me to last night?" "Yes, dear; why?" "I thought I detected spice on your breath, was all."—Exchange.

The flounder is a fish that requires plenty of seasoning, and even then is flat.—Philadelphia Record.

A fifty cent piece, my son, with a hole in it will not pass current, which shows that the half is better than the hole.—Boston Transcript.

Earnest—Why is the Suicide club going to move its quarters? Percy—The members are haunted by a horrid fear that their present meeting place is unhealthy. Clubs.

It is when a young fellow in love has lost his head that the girl in the case is likely to mercifully lay her own on his shoulders. —Philadelphia Times.

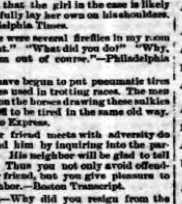
"There were several fireflies in my room last night." "What did you do?" "Why, put them out of course."—Philadelphia Record.

They have begun to put pneumatic tires on sulkies used in trotting races. The men who bet on the horses drawing these sulkies continued to be tired in the same old way. —Boston Express.

If your friend meets with adversity do not offend him by inquiring into the particulars. His neighbor will be glad to tell you all. Then you not only avoid offending your friend, but you give pleasure to his neighbor.—Boston Transcript.

Stuart—Why did you resign from the club? Soulsuss—Well, I don't do enough business with the members to pay my club dues.—Club.

Tired from Head to Foot



FROM HEAD TO FOOT.

That's what's the matter with the most of us. What's the reason? Poor circulation of the blood. The cause! The neglect of the first We have a remedy called Anti-Tire. Get up good circulation, healthy action, and how quick your pains subside! It will do it. You first look at Anti-Tire will do it. Take one, two. Finally one, six. All druggists Send 10 cents for trial package.

LYONS & ZIEGLER,
464 Bergen avenue,
Jersey City, N. J.

A GOOD WIFE

is a great blessing, and a good husband will look after her comfort. He can almost assure her future comfort by buying a lot which is pretty nearly, the prices are so low. The lot is situated in a beautiful and healthy neighborhood,

GIVEN AWAY

WITH EVERY

convenience for reaching stores, schools and churches quickly. Now is the grand opportunity to invest in a splendid

BUILDING LOT.

For particulars, address
"OWNER,"
care of Evening News.

Horses and Carriages,

of all kinds, for hire, at

O'BRIEN'S,

116 WEST FOURTH STREET,

or at the depot.

Joseph T. Vail,

REAL ESTATE

and
INSURANCE.

UTILIS IN BLUE STONE FLAGS

69 North Avenue.

LOOKING BACKWARD!

Last April we bought at the Brown, Durrell sale an immense quantity of Underwear, both Summer and Winter. You know how good and cheap the Summer Underwear was, and now for the Winter Underwear, 'tis just as good and cheap.

LOOKING FORWARD!

On Saturday we place on sale the Brown, Durrell stock of Winter Underwear.

Lot No. 1.—Ladies' heavy ribbed Pants and Vests, our price 37c., value, 50c.
Lot No. 2.—Ladies' heavy wool rib Vests, our price 98c., value, 75c.
Lot No. 3.—Ladies' plain heavy Vests and Pants, our price 75c., value, 00c
Lot No. 4.—Ladies' heavy wool Vests and Pants, our price 69c., value, $1.00
Lot No. 5.—Children's natural wool Vests and Pants, our price 15c., advance 5c. on every size.
Lot No. 7.—Men's colored Shirts and Drawers, our price 39c., value, 50c.
Lot No. 8.—Men's natural wool Shirts and Drawers, our price 69c., value, $1.00.
Lot No 9.—Men's white wool Shirts and Drawers, our price 89c., value, $1.00
Lot No. 10.—Men's white Shirts and Drawers, our price 39c., value, 50c.

A Thousand Pairs

—OF LADIES' OXFORD TIES,—

Only 85 Cents a Pair.

Manufacturers' samples worth $2.00, all kinds, patent leather, dongola and kid, regular Oxfords, Blucher Oxfords and Huntington Oxfords. HALF WHAT THEY ARE WORTH.

WHITE, of Plainfield.

A good many bathing costumes resemble summer vacations in that they begin too late and end too soon.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

It was probably the plug hat that suggested the saying, "There is always room at the top."—Boston Courier.

"This," said the man who came down with the parachute, "is one of the most advantageous forms of artificial light."—Exchange.

The hello girl at the telephone exchange has much to answer for.—Piosyune.

CINTHY ANN'S NEW HOUSE.

I built a house for Cinthy Ann—an made it swell an rich,
An rigged it up with superlows an lightnin rods an such,
An built a wide pleaser roofs ware she could sit out and survey,
An take her knittin work an gab with ole Kentuvah Enow.

An Cinthy Ann was happy for about a week and then she seen the chimbley draft was workin rather slow;
For the smoke would roll in her kitchen an she couldn't bake her pies,
An her puddin's only strained, an her johnny cake was hides.

As soon she foun her buttery was too small to hol her stuff,
For apple sass and blackb'rry jell it wasn't large enough,
An all her things were scrouched right in a tight an also small crew,
Her pickles, an her ketchup, an her elderberry Jam.

An then a dog day storm came on an drinded for a week,
An she seen the chimney had to go an spring a leak,
An mildewed four or my white shirts that she had made an hilled,
An her winter mull was roolned and her wedin dress was spoiled.

An then me I to Cinthy, when she sot down to cry,
"Cher ain't no house upon this side the mansion in the sky
But what has leak in the roof, some trouble in the flue,
Some sub'tle cluttered buttery"—an how Cinthy said "Boo hoo!"

We build our pesty houses that are tarnal fine to see,
An we stile 'em up with superlows and sich like filigree,
An in our dreams they're fair as heaven, but let us wait a week
Till the pesty palace of our dreams to sure to spring a leak.

—S. W. Foss in Yankee Blade.

How Patsy Became a Corporal.

When the Old Soldiers' club had gath ered the veteran exercised that Patsy O'Flynn would tell how he was made a corporal.

It was after the manner, said Patsy, with a grin: We was in Georgia, an the atin we had been after having for a long seime was that had there was no livin on it. Was avenin when we had camped on a big crunn, wid plenty surrondin the house an the stables, pertictin the intiny, as the boys was sayin, the general sint for me, for the general an meself was from the same town an Oi had worked in his garden many an many the day.

"That is it, gineral!" sez Oi, comin to a salute in his tent.

"Patsy," sat he, "how air you fellin this avenin?"

"Foine, gineral," sez Oi; "but bad luck to the boardin we're gettin."

"That same here, Patsy," sez he shmilin ashke, for the gineral was boardin in the same place wid his min.

"Tishn't fortenin at ahl, at ahl, is it, gineral?" sez Oi, shmilin loike meself.

"It's a ruinin me constshitution intoirely, Patsy," sez he.

"Had luck to us, sir, we be afther runn the loikes av yez, gineral," sez Oi. "Mebbe we could be afther gettin a changes at the farruinhouse, gineral," sez Oi, hintin.

The general looked harrud at Patsy and shtud I saw a schoort on his face.

"Patsy," sez he; "phwat is the finest dhuty of a sojer?"

"Gineral," says Oi, comin to a salute, "it is to be afther gettin a foine pig and a bag av cornmale for the commandin officer while he has been livin on harrud tack an salt pork for four weiks."

"That will do, Patsy," sez he, lookin harruder than iver, an Oi saluted ag'in an went out, an the gineral had fat pig for breakfoisht an Oi was a corporal bundle av stinky dust.—Detroit Free Press.

Former Temples and the Cyclopedia.

A fellar came out here today 'n showed a book
One 'at I'd surely oughter have—twelve parts, he said was free.
He said so how 'n was sure to tell me all I'd wanter know,
'N called the thing a Cyclopee—or suthin kinder so.
It seemed a purty fine old book—a reg'lar sort
Until I sat him questions, when I seen he'd told me lies.
"Tells everything!" says I. "That's good—to him", sez he, "What's the joke?" he looked almighty flat.
"It don't preconstecate," says he. "That ain't the p'int" says I.
"What I'm wantin you to tell me blame thing purpose is"
"If this here turned the pages quick 'n showed me lots o' stuff
About Egyptians, and a spell about an earl
But when I sat him if it told a cure for tater bugs,
He said it didn't, but it had a history of rugs!
"If I'll be darned if that there book he said would tell so much Had anything on any page I'd ever care to touch."
"If them—how! howl—I shocked that port young swindler from the place
So quick he hadn't time to take his smile down off his face,
'Fore after him I threw his bag 'n twelve part book.
My great-grandfather's almanac's still good for me.
—John Kendrick Bangs in Harper's Magazine

The nickel steel armor plate made by the Harvey process is nearly as hard as a diamond, so hard that tools can scarcely be made that will cut and fit it. Here is an opening for an inventor—to find a way of cutting the new plate so that the curved plates can be fitted closely around turrets.

"There were very few respectable people present," wrote a gentlemen who stood and looked on at Independence square, Philadelphia, while the Declaration of Independence was read for the first time. A comment on repeotability!

Everybody is glad the World's fair is getting out of debt.

CAREY'S
Storage Warerooms,

Corner
Front and Grove Streets,
Plainfield, N. J.

The Fall and Winter Styles in Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing are now in Stock. Overcoats of all Weights. Trousers Made to Order from $4 to $8. Suits from $15 to $30. Hats and General Furnishings. WERNER'S MAMMOTH CLOTHING HOUSE, 206 West Front Street.

Pret
GOODS

For wise people, peculiarly appropriate for the season, can always be found in our repository.

We will not say that we have the best in the world, but we do say and know that the same money cannot purchase better Harness and Carriages than our patrons are rapidly making their own. It is sometimes expedient to forget what you know, but it is never the course of wisdom to forget our select consignment of fancy traps and trappings. Save time, temper and money by purchasing of us.

L. M. FRENCH,
Carriage Manufacturer,
24, 26, 28, 40 SOMERSET STREET.

R. W. Rice & Co.,

THE PARK GROCERS.

Corner Duer and Emily Streets.

NORTH PLAINFIELD.

This Date In History—Oct. 3.

1208—Richard Boyle, the famous earl of Cork, was born at Canterbury.
1574—The siege of Leyden was raised by the Dutch, who cut the dikes and brought in their ships.
1658—Miles Standish, Puritan soldier and hero of romance, died in Duxbury, Mass., born 1584.
1683—Herbert Haydock, Scotch PRIATE. a healer and gentleman of prosperity, Quaker writer, died at Ury, Kincardineshire, aged 61; his descendants are numerous in America.
1821—The famous treaty of Limerick was signed, and the Irish war ended.
1855—George Bancroft, historian, born at Worcester, Mass.; died 1891.
1880—Irrabassi Peale, painter, died in Philadelphia, born 1776.
1885—Bicester Evening Star, bound from New York to New Orleans, sunk at sea, and 200 persons were drowned.
1890—Germany obtained the coasting trade on east coast of Africa by paying 4,000,000 marks to the sultan of Zanzibar.
1892—Governor Buchtel was voted while speaking for the People's Party at Steubenville, Texas.

A more terrible object lesson than that from the typhoid infected mining town of Ironwood, Mich., was never held before the American people. Four hundred cases at once in a small village, with 20 to 60 deaths a week and the cause of it all merely unfiltered and impure drinking water!

The mayor of Aiken, S. C., who is opposed to the state traffic liquor law, says, however, "There has been a marked decrease of drunkenness since it went into operation." He opposes the law because he declares it to be a violation of the property rights of liquor dealers.

Miss. Sarah Grand, author of "The Heavenly Twins," makes a suggestion. She says, "If good women combine in demanding good husbands, a supply will eventually arise to meet the demand."

Well, it's a grand fruit year anyhow, thank Providence!

1893			OCTOBER.			1893
Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fr.	Sa.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
15	16	17	18	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26	27	28
29	30	31

MOON'S PHASES.

Third Quarter	2	10:19 a. m.	First Quarter	17	6:32 p. m.
New Moon	9	2:37 p. m.	Full Moon	25	4:36 a. m.
			Third Quarter	31	6:42 p. m.

Tickets

For, or from Europe,

On

All Lines,

And all Steamers.

Drafts

Sold also.

H. D. MORRISON,

Agent,

Somerset Street.

PEACHES!

PEACHES!

PEACHES!

Following varieties: Yellow Globe, Crawford's Morris Whites, Keyport and old mixtures. Prices to suit everybody.

NEUMANN BROS.

WATCHUNG AVENUE
and FIFTH STREET

THE TIME TO EAT!

MEAT!

is at most times, of course, and the place to get good meat, all varieties, beyond peradventure, etc., is at

E. J. CONNOLLY,

No. 231 Broadway.

SMOKED MEATS AND VEGETABLES always on hand.

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$5 per Year in Advance. T. W. Morrison, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 21 Somerset street. Printing of All Kinds. 10 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1893. PRICE TWO CENTS.

BRIGGS' CASE CAME UP.

AMONG THE BUSINESS TRANSACTED BY THE PRESBYTERY.

But the Members Did Not Want to Commit Themselves, so They Asked the Rev. Dr. Richards to Withdraw his Resolution.

THE fifty-first session of the Elizabeth Presbytery concluded its sessions to-day. The afternoon meeting yesterday opened at two o'clock, when general business was resumed.

The Rev. Samuel W. Ferry, of Pluckamin, is the stated clerk of the Presbytery, and the Rev. John T. Kerr of Elizabeth is permanent clerk. The Rev. Dr. I. H. Brainerd is treasurer. All of these officers were present yesterday and to-day and filled their respective positions.

During yesterday afternoon's meeting the Rev. Dr. Barnes, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, was elected a corresponding member. Rev. Mr. Hall, of the three chapels—Bethel, Hope and Warren—large and enthusiastic meetings were held, addressed by the following: Bethel, the Rev. Dr. John W. Teal, of Elizabeth, and the Rev. E. F. Greene, of Cranford; Hope, the Rev. John T. Kerr, of Elizabeth, the Rev. E. W. Cadwell, of Westfield, and the Rev. G. W. Woodward; Warren, the Rev. J. Garland Hamlen, of Lamington, the Rev. James M. Nourse, of Elizabeth, and the Rev. S. J. Rowland of Clinton.

The report of the delegates from the Elizabeth Presbytery to the General Presbytery, which had considered the Briggs case, formed a topic for a lively discussion among the members, as soon as agreed with the delegates and wanted the report accepted and approved, while others took an opposite view of the matter and thought that the report should be merely accepted. To approve it, would commit all those present as favoring the stand taken by the delegates.

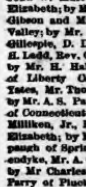
One divine said that while he had formed an opinion in regard to the Briggs case he didn't care to be forced to make it known at present as the General Assembly was not through with it yet.

The Rev. Dr. Richards had offered a resolution accepting and approving the report of the General Assembly delegates. He was asked to withdraw his resolution, after a lengthy debate, which he did.

The members of the Presbytery who did not return to their homes for the night were entertained by families of the Crescent avenue church, as follows: By Mr. L. S. Lovell, Rev. John W. Teal, D. D., of Elizabeth and Rev. J. Garland Hamner, D. D., of Lamington; by Mr. John W. Murray, Rev. John T. Kerr of Elizabeth; by Mr. H. B. Newell, Rev. J. R. Gibson and Mr. George Apgar of Lower Valley; by Mr. James Clark, Rev. John Gillespie, D. D., of Elizabeth; by Mr. E. H. Ladd, Rev. G. F. Greene of Cranford, by Mr. H. Halloway; Rev. J. A. Wells of Liberty Corner; by Mr. J. W. Yates, Mr. Thomas R. White of Roselle; by Mr. A. S. Paterson, Mr. G. L. Headley of Connecticut Farms; by Mr. Samuel Milliken, Jr., Rev. James M. Nourse of Elizabeth; by Mrs. Stiles, Rev. Wm. Hoppaugh of Springfield; by Mr. E. N. Grosvenor, Mr. A. C. Sutphen of Lamington; by Mr Charles T. Kinsan, Rev. Samuel Farry of Pluckamin; Rev. J. H. Owen and Mr. E. W. Barnes of Perth Amboy; by Mr. Israel C. Pierson, Rev. S. J. Rowland of Clinton.

WANTED GOAT MEAT.

"Billy" Lee's Dog Kills Patrick Powers's Goat.



DURING Monday afternoon a bull dog belonging to ex-ball player "Billy" Lee of West Fourth street and Somerset park had a scrap for a piece of fresh meat. Patrick Powers' goat was the only thing in the shape of meat within seeing distance, so he jumped in the fence and tackled the innocent looking pet of the Powers. Mrs. Powers, unable to make the dog let go its hold on the goat, summoned Policeman Stewart.

The dog did not mind the blue coat any more than he did Mrs. Powers. In endeavoring to make the brute let go its death-like grip on the poor goat's under jaw, Stewart was bitten. It took three men to finally persuade "Billy's" canine to leave its victim alone and go home. The goat died shortly afterward.

Mrs. Powers threatens to sue the owner of the dog for damages.

Arrested for Trespassing.

Yesterday Steven Howard, colored, was arrested for trespassing on the cars of the Central Railroad. The arrest was made by Policeman Corse. Howard was adjudged guilty and fined $5.

Bowling at the C. Y. M. I.

The members of the Catholic Young Men's Lyceum are bowling nightly on their alleys on West Sixth street. Last night Mr. Thomas McCarthy made the high score of 217.

TO RACE SATURDAY.

COFFIN AND WILLIS AT LAST ARRANGE A DATE.

They Will Settle Who is Entitled to the Time Prize offered by the Plainfield Lyceum Cyclers, in This City Saturday.

WHEN the Plainfield Lyceum Cyclers 25 mile road race was run on Saturday, August 19, Messrs. Coffin of the Orange Wheelmen and Willis of Westfield tied for the time prize. Their time was 1.17.

As Coffin crossed the line he ran into a little girl. He was thrown head first upon the hard road-bed, receiving injuries that debarred him from again contesting with Willis for the time prize. It was agreed between the racers and the Cyclers, that when Coffin was able to race he should notify the Club.

Last week Coffin sent word to the Club that he was ready to race. Willis has since been seen and Saturday at three p. m. was arranged as the time, and the Gentlemen's Driving Park, on Park avenue, as the place, for the race to take place.

The track of the Gentlemen's Driving Park is a half-mile one, and is in fine condition.

Since the race on August 19th, Coffin and Willis have both won additional honors at several race meets. They both have carried off several prizes, also.

Both are confident of victory. There has been much rivalry between these men and the race Saturday promises to be hotly contested. There will be no admission fee.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. H. E. Depew of this city starts today for the World's Fair.

Mr. Justin of East Ninth street started this morning for the World's Fair.

Dr. Murray of Watchung avenue returned Monday from the World's Fair.

Mr. William L. Smalley is confined to his home on Craig place with a severe cold.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gorion of West Fifth street started last night for Chicago, to visit the World's Fair.

Mr. C. H. Bagg of East Second street, who has been ill for some time with rheumatism, is able to be out.

Mr. Frank Cokefair returned to New York Monday, after a pleasant visit with his parents on Crescent avenue.

On Friday, Messrs. John L. Darby and Daniel S. Terry will leave for a ten days' trip to Chicago and the World's Fair.

Mr. Lorenzo D. Townley of Grandview avenue, who is employed by mason W. C. Smith, while at work on the Cole building, on West Second street, was taken ill this morning and had to be sent home.

Last night a party consisting of Mrs. S. C. Mulford and son, of West Fifth street, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mulford and Mrs. Mary A. Mulford of Sandford avenue, left Plainfield for the World's Fair at Chicago.

Mr. Wm. R. Stahl of Grove street returned to the "Artist and Artisan Institute," 140 West Twenty-third street, New York City, Monday morning. He had been spending his Summer vacation at his home on Grove street.

Mr. Joseph G. Smith, who was for years a compositor in THE NEWS office, and who has been recently employed on the Philadelphia Times, is visiting the family of Mr. David Mills of Summit avenue. He is just recovering from a severe illness.

Mrs. Clarissa Clarke, widow of the late Thomas B. Clarke, and mother of Mr. Walter Irving Clarke, managing editor of the Daily Press, died at her home in New Brunswick at four o'clock this morning of heart failure. Besides the two daughters survives her—Mrs. Van Epps, and an unmarried daughter. Both live in New Brunswick.

Members of Central Lodge, No. 56, A. O. U. W., and Winfield Scott Post, No. 72, G. A. R., attended the funeral of their late brother, Mr. Wm. S. Northup, on North Avenue, last evening. There was no sermon. The Rev. Dr. Richardson made a prayer and read several passages from the Bible. The remains were taken on the 7.32 train this morning to Wickford, R. I., where they will be interred in the family plot. Mr. Northup belonged to the New Providence Post of the Grand Army to send a detail to escort the body to the grave.

The following gentlemen will participate in the mock trial to be held under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. in Music Hall on Monday, Oct. 9th, at eight p. m.: Rowland Cox, Charles J. Fisk, S. A. Gioua, Alexander Gilbert, E. W. Hedges, S. E. Joseph, John Leal, John W. Murray, W. D. Murray, Charles W. McClutchen, S. St. John McClutchen, Henry A. McGee, Craig A. Marsh, H. R. Mulford, Francis E. Marsh, Capt. A. V. Newton of Wooster, Mass., H. O. Newman, E. R. Pope, L. V. F. Randolph, S. P. Reynolds, J. E. Tracy and John M. Whiton.

Plainfield Relief Association Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Plainfield Relief Association will be held Friday morning, Oct. 6, at ten o'clock, in the rooms of the Y. M. C. A. All interested in the work are cordially invited.

FIFTH ANNIVERSARY.

Of the C. E. of the Park Avenue Baptist Church.

The fifth anniversary of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor of the Park avenue Baptist church was suitably observed last night.

The exercises were held in the church, and a reception followed in the Sunday-school room.

The Reception Committee consisted of Miss Lewris, chairman; Miss Wyckoff, Miss Bennett, Miss Thompson, Mr. Ettell, Mr. Johnston and Mr. Hawkins.

The affair was very successful and those who had the affair in charge deserve much credit for their untiring efforts.

The order of exercises was as follows:

Organ voluntary.
Singing—"Forward, Forward Marching."
Invocation of Blessing.....Rev. A. H. Van Horne
Scripture reading and prayer.....Rev. T. W. Morrison
Anthem—"Oh, Lamb of God".....
History of the Society.....Miss Fannie Bennett
Hymn.....Miss F. G. Thompson
Address.....Rev. Palmer Hutchins
Hymn—"Praise Ye."
Benediction.

UNION COUNTY FREEHOLDERS.

A Special Meeting Held Monday Afternoon.

The Union County Board of Freeholders met at Elizabeth Monday, for the purpose of hearing the application of the Consolidated Traction Company for a franchise on Newark avenue.

Mr. Woodruff offered a resolution instructing the Road Committee to devise some means for the drainage of North avenue, between Lorraine and Roselle.

Mr. Trahon presented a resolution fixing the rental fee for places for election at $60, to include registry and election days. The motion was carried, and the Clerk instructed to notify the township clerks.

On motion of Mr. Donahue, the Clerk of the Board was authorized to purchase three new ballot boxes.

Mr. Boll moved that a committee on construction of Springfield avenue be appointed. The motion was adopted, and the Director appointed Messrs. Boll, Woodruff, Kyle, Hunt, Vanderbeek and Halliday.

COUNTY REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

To be Held in Elizabeth on October 23d.

SOON the political pot will be boiling. The members of the Union County Republican Executive Committee met at Library Hall, Elizabeth, Saturday afternoon at half-past three o'clock. There was a full attendance of members and a free discussion of the political outlook in the county.

Mr. C. Addison Swift was elected Chairman; Charles E. Reed of Rahway, secretary, and Samuel S. Moore, treasurer.

It was resolved to call the county convention to be held in Library Hall on October 23d, and the primaries will be held on the evening of October 19th.

THEIR TWENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY.

Celebrated by Mr. and Mrs. Wenzel at Evona Monday Night.

Mr. and Mrs. Wenzel of Evona celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage at their home Monday evening. There were about thirty guests present. The house was prettily decorated with golden rod and dahlias. The presents were useful as well as beautiful.

Refreshments were served during the evening. The guests departed at an early hour in the morning, having thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

TEACHERS IN SESSION.

Meeting of the Union County Teachers' Association.

The Union Teachers' Association met in Elizabeth on Saturday. There was a good attendance. The meeting was one of great interest. Prof. Bissell of Newark presided in the absence of the president. The programme consisted of an address on "World's Fair Impressions" by Principal L. A. Goodenough, of Scotch Plains, a vocal solo by Miss H. K. Kerr, and a lecture on "The Essential to Success in Teaching" by Prof. William E. Bissell, of Newark.

BREVITIES.

—The Camera Club held its regular monthly meeting last night. Only routine business was transacted.

—At there was not a quorum at the meeting of the Free Public Library trustees held last evening, all bills and other business must wait until Nov. 7.

—The suit of Mr. D. S. Roberts against the Postal Telegraph Company for $25, was adjourned by the same trustee. The attorney for Mr. Roberts has received a letter from the company promising to settle.

Farewell Reception to be Given Dr. Marthus.

A farewell reception will be given Dr. Marthus on Friday evening by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church.

A CORRUPT BARGAIN.

THAT'S WHAT JUDGE VAN SYCKEL SAYS OF LINDEN'S LICENSE.

Mr. James Martine Foreman of the Grand Jury.—The Term Promises to be an Important One.—The List of Causes Large.

HERE the October term of the Union County Court opened as Judge Van Syckel there was a large assembly of lawyers and litigants. Nearly all the Union County Bar was present, and there were several prominent lawyer from different sections of the State.

The term promises to be an important one. The list of causes is large and comprises a number of important cases. In the Supreme Court list there are twelve causes, and the Circuit Court list numbers forty nine. In all, the appeal cases number thirty, and in addition there are five District Court appeals.

The criminal causes are not important. The jail list is not unusually long, but there are something like seventy complaints for the grand jury to investigate.

The court opened at 10, 30 o'clock, and the grand jurors, entered, headed by Sheriff Hicks, and were sworn by County Clerk Gerber.

The following is a list of the Grand Jurors:

Plainfield—James L. Martine, foreman; Daniel S. Roberts.

Elizabeth—Owen Sullivan, Richard Prokwein, Lester Davis, John P. Weber, William J. Whelan, James J. Brosnan, William M. Oliver, William A. Morrell, William H. Lester, Albert R. Carlson, William S. Beers, Henry Leahy.

Rahway—Samuel Halliday, Anton Lohmiller.

Linden—Col. George H. Sweet.

Cranford—Benjamin L. S. Miller.

Fanwood—Benjamin Urner.

Union—Spencer Winnie.

Westfield—Martin R. Alpers.

Summit—John K. Pressant and George J. Geary.

New Providence—Simon P. Debbie.

After the jurors were sworn, Judge Van Syckel began his charge, and there was profound silence in the room while his solemn address to the jurors was made. The following is the part of his charge referring to the Linden Race Track:

At the last session of our legislature an act was passed concerning the management of race courses within this State. Under that law township committees were given power to license race courses. In framing such laws township committees exercise a public, official function. The information which this Court has in that during the summer last past the township committee of the township of Linden granted a license to the race track in that township in consideration that the owners of the track or some one for them should pay to a private corporation, known as the Linden Fair, five thousand dollars, or some other large sum of money.

This was a corrupt bargain; the public was entitled to the honest judgment of these officials whether a license should be granted; but interest or giving the people, whose interests they were charge, their honest, unbiased, conscientious judgment, they permitted themselves to be corrupted by a money consideration. One of the members of the committee, who is alleged to have voted for the license, was a stockholder in the association, he said to be a stockholder to the amount of $10,000, and he got $2,500, but he is to my mind guilty than the others who voted with him, for he was receiving a benefit from the corrupt bargain. The guilty of both parties are to be condemned, and both that into their hands to go into their own pockets, for their own individual gain.

Plainfield Cases in Court and the Counsel on Each Side.

SUPREME COURT.

Chris Strobel vs. John W. Hanson, ex'ol, administrator; Chas. A. Reed, Craig A. Marsh.

Eugene A. Tingley vs. Theodore Runyon. Craig A. Marsh, Edmund Runyon.

John C. Bentley, Jr., vs. Clifford C. Dunham. The case of Craig A. Marsh and Edmund Runyon.

Lavera D. Thompson vs. James N. Pidcock, Charles A. Reed, Vercheck & Dickinson.

John A. Gaywood vs. John K. Van Nest, Charles E. Van Winkle, W. A. Chadbourne.

North Bangor Slate Co. vs. John T. Odell. Wm. M. Silliman, W. R. Wilson.

CIRCUIT COURT.

Wm. Addis vs. Syed H. Martin. Charles A. Reed, Craig A. Marsh.

Hans Andersen vs. Pond Pool Co. Craig A. Marsh, Reed & Edwards & Reed & Reed.

Lydia P. Ackerman vs. Andrew J. Coltman. Frank Bergen, Jackson & Codington.

C. H. Priehle vs. Patrick Kelley. Robert G. Hall, Charles A. Reed.

Charles A. Reed vs. Chestrel E. R. Co. Craig A. Marsh, John L. Conover.

James S. Bagley vs. Amos Mollatt. Wm. M. Silliman, Craig A. Marsh.

Andrew Banks vs. Joseph W. Reinhardt. Charles A. Reed, R. V. Lindabury.

Caroline Reinhardt vs. Reinhardt, Chas. A. Reed, R. V. Lindabury.

George W. Eddy vs. The C. P. Co. of N. J. Craig A. Marsh, John L. Conover.

Adam Gayweet vs. Susan Runyon. A. M. Codington, W. K. Codington.

Catherine Stenglein vs. Walter Scott Stenglein. Craig A. Marsh, Chas. A. Reed.

Harold Bergen vs. Jacob Bergen, R. Carlson. Craig A. Marsh, Jackson & Codington.

Alexander H. Runyon vs. G. E. R. of N. J. Craig A. Marsh, John L. Conover.

Adam Gayweet vs. John M. G. Marsh. W. K. Codington, A. M. Codington.

Albert L. Tiplin vs. Michael A. Steglen. F. Stenglein.

Charles vs. Wm. L. Moore, Wm. M. Silliman, Oscar Keasbey.

Hudson Guttapercha Co. vs. Sylvester Sharkey. Craig A. Marsh, Frank C. Wilcox.

Settled by payment of $3,000 to plaintiff.

The Weather.

The weather to-morrow promises to be cloudy, cooler and rainy.

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE.

Big Iron Works Sold.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 4—The once great Vulcan Iron Works, built at a cost of $1,000,000, and covering six acres of ground, is being sold piecemeal as junk. It employed 3,500 men. The eight-ton steam hammer was sold to Pittsburg parties yesterday for $6,000.

That Freshman Was Not Drowned.

PRINCETON, N. J. Oct. 4.—The freshman who was reported drowned while getting heaved, is not dead.

He hid himself in a farm house to create the impression that he had been drowned in order to get the sophomores into trouble.

Good Racing Weather To-morrow.

New York, Oct. 4—Good weather for the yacht race to-morrow but bad weather for the spectators.

RANDOLPH PLEADS GUILTY.

To the Charge of Abducting Annie Kliner.

In the Somerset County Court yesterday a number of prisoners were arraigned.

John McGuire was tried for breaking and entering a farmer's house, near Somerville. He was found guilty.

Miles Fury pleaded guilty to resisting arrest and assaulting an officer at Raritan. There were two other indictments against him, for which he will be tried later.

Robert Wallace of North Plainfield, who was arrested for assaulting W. H. Francis, pleaded guilty.

"Gus" Van Angien, who was arrested in New Brunswick for assaulting Marshal Pangborn in North Plainfield, pleaded not guilty and trial was set down for to-morrow.

Arthur Randolph pleaded guilty to the charge of abducting Annie Kliner of Washingtonville. Adam Stutzle, who was arrested for aiding Randolph, pleaded not guilty. He will be tried Friday.

Friday, October 20th, will be sentence day.

SONS OF TEMPERANCE.

Installation of Howell Division's New Officers.

At the regular meeting of Howell Division, Sons of Temperance, held in their rooms, corner of Park avenue and Front street, last night, D. G. W. P., A. P. Sutphen, assisted by P. W. P., W. B. Ayers, installed the following officers:

W. P.—Mary Schultz.
W. A.—Jennie Matsox.
A. R. S.—Lloyd Pangborn.
R. S.—S. S. Scribner.
F. S.—Sarah A. Matsox.
Treasurer—Eliza Rudin.
Chaplain—Mrs. Corwin.
Conductor—Mary Cox.
Assistant Conductor—Bertha Clum.
I. S.—James Johnson.
O. S.—W. E. Coyer.

After the installation refreshments were served. Then there was a recitation by W. B. Matsox, remarks by A. P. Sutphen, recitation by Mrs. Cox, remarks by Mrs. Williamson of Division No. 287, music by Emma Angleman, remarks by R. Frankerry, song by Mr. Tracey, and remarks by J. R. Perine.

The Schooner Yacht Priscilla Launched.

An anonymous letter received at THE NEWS office states that the schooner yacht Priscilla, owned by Mr. Albert A. Wright, has been launched and is on her way to City Island for repairs.

It will be remembered that during the heavy storm of a month ago, when many vessels were lost along the Atlantic coast, the Priscilla, with Mr. Corlies and several other Plainfielders aboard, was driven ashore. The passengers and crew were saved.

Only the cabin of the yacht was damaged.

A Picture Frame of Cigar Boxes.

Last night Warren Engine Company held its regular monthly meeting in their parlors in the engine house.

Yesterday Captain Weber and Tillerman Vesey of Hook and Ladder Co. No. 2 of Plainfield, engaged in the same, presented Warren Company with a picture frame made of cigar boxes.

The frame is a handsome one. It contains 276 pieces and 105 cigar boxes.

Ticket Agent Culver Discharged.

O. S. Culver, night ticket agent at the Central Railroad depot in Plainfield, was discharged. He was found at his post in a dazed condition, and says he had been drugged. The matter is being investigated.

EAT H-O
HONEY'S OATMEAL
EAT H-O
FOR BREAKFAST.
EAT H-O

LOOKING BACKWARD!

Last April we bought at the Brown, Darrell sale an immense quantity of Underwear, both Summer and Winter. You know how good and cheap the Summer Underwear was, and now for the Winter Underwear, we just as good and cheap.

LOOKING FORWARD!

On Saturday we place on sale the Brown, Darrell stock of Winter Underwear.

Lot No. 1.—Ladies' heavy ribbed Pants and Vests, our price 37c., value, 50c.

Lot No. 2.—Ladies' heavy wool rib Vests, our price 43c., value, 75c.

Lot No. 3.—Ladies' plain heavy Vests and Pants, our price 59c., value, 85c.

Lot No. 4.—Ladies' heavy wool Vests and Pants, our price 64c., value, $1.00

Lot No. 5.—Children's natural wool Vests and Pants, our price 15c., value, 25c. each.

Lot No. 6.—Children's white Vests and Pants, our price 25c., advancing to 50 every one.

Lot No. 7.—Men's colored Shirts and Drawers, our price 37c., value, 50c.

Lot No. 8.—Men's natural wool Shirts and Drawers, our price 64c., value, $1.00.

Lot No. 9.—Men's white wool Shirts and Drawers, our price 69c., value, $1.00

Lot No. 10.—Men's white Shirts and Drawers, our price 38c., value, 50c.

SHOES!

In Ladies, our straight Goat and Walkingfast styles at $2.50 and $3.00 are the proper weights for the season.

The "FARGO TIP" for Children,

In the best looking and best wearing shoe for school wear. Sizes 8½ to 10½, $1.25. Sizes 11 to 2, $1.50. A few of these $1.50 Outlands, at 69c., still remain.

WHITE, of Plainfield.

Pret-T GOODS

For wise people, peculiarly appropriate for the season, can always be found in our repository.

We will not say that we have the best in the world, but we do say and know that the same money cannot purchase better Harness and Carriages than our patrons are rapidly making their own. It is sometimes expedient to forget what you know, but it is never the course of wisdom to forget our select consignment of fancy traps and buggies. Save time, temper and money by purchasing of us.

L. M. FRENCH,
Carriage Manufacturer,
24, 26, 28, 40 SOMERSET STREET.

Cent-a-Word Column.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—New house, Park place, near Morse avenue. (Washington Park.) Mulford, broker. 9 14 tf

FOR SALE—$4,000—Two dwellings and lot on Somerset street, Plainfield. All in good repair. Title perfect. Terms easy. Dwellings both rented. Address "R. D. Jr.," care of Evening News. tf

LOTS OF HOLES IN A SIEVE.

Lots of ways of throwing away money. One of the best methods of economizing is to get your printing done at THE NEWS JOB DEPARTMENT. Let us figure on your next order for printing, no matter how small or large. Address or call, 21 Somerset street. 9 22 tf

HELP WANTED.

WANTED—Competent woman for general housework. No washing. Apply 718 Central avenue. 9 14 tf

WANTED—A girl for general housework. Call at 143 Grove street. 4 4

WANTED—A sober, experienced man as coachman and gardener. Good references required. Call on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, after seven o'clock, corner Hillside avenue and Prospect avenue. 3 28

SITUATIONS WANTED.

WANTED—Work by assistant dressmaker and canvasser. Address "H," care EVENING NEWS. 4 4

A YOUNG girl who has had some experience would like place to do housework. Address "C. M. W.," Scotch Plains. 29 5

FOR RENT.

IN NORTH Plainfield, an eight room house to let. Furnished or unfurnished. All modern conveniences. Address "R. P. O. Box 722. 10 4 one w 10c

FOR RENT—Dwelling, No. 329 Somerset street. Six rooms. Large garden. $12 per month. Call at Room 6, 21 Somerset. 10 2 tf

FOUR pleasant unfurnished rooms to let. 501 Third street, corner Central avenue. 30 6

TO LET—In North Plainfield, a newly furnished house to let from October 1st to May. For further particulars, address "A," care of EVENING NEWS. 29 5

TO LET—A furnished room with or without board to a lady. 320 East Front street. 9 12tf

TO LET—Seven room house near Park's. Also twelve room house on Front street. Both in good order. Enquire, City Hall. 9 6 tf

Madame Ida Lezem's Conservatory

will open on

Friday, October 6,

from 3 to 6 p. m., in HULBERT'S HALL, for instruction in Physical Culture, Delsarte, Elocution, Deportment, Singing, Violin, Piano, Society and Fancy Dancing.

Reception on October 5, from 2 to 5 p. m., to which all ladies are cordially invited.

For particulars, address to the Hall, or 329 West Front street. 10 2 tf

U. B. CRANE,

has the largest stock of

Fine Fall HATS,

in Plainfield.

12 WEST FRONT STREET.

1893 TAXES!

Notice is hereby given to the taxpayers of the

City of Plainfield,

that the taxes assessed in said city for the year 1893 are now due and payable, and that if the said taxes be not paid by the

20th Day of December

next, the names of the defaulters, with their respective amount, will be returned to the City Judge for the prosecution. The

COMMISSIONERS OF APPEAL,

in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council Chamber, on the

Fourth Tuesday in November Next,

(the 28th,) and sit from two o'clock p. m. until five o'clock p. m., or longer, if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

JOHN JOHNSON,
Collector of Taxes.
Dated, Plainfield, N. J., October 2, 1893.
10 2 5d

Another one in the race, and

A. G. VOGELER

takes the lead.

LOOK AT THESE PRICES.

Porterhouse Steak.....15c
Sirloin.....15c
Round.....12c
Rump.....12c
Roast Beef.....10c
Shoulder Chops.....10c
Stew.....6c
Leg Mutton.....12c
Leg Spring Lamb.....12c
Loin Spring Lamb.....12c
Fore Quarter Lamb.....6c
Sausage.....10c
Fresh Pork.....12c
Pickled Pork.....12c
Pickled Tripe.....5c

Headquarters for Poultry. Deliveries made from 7 to 8 a. m. and 2 to 3 p. m. Call and get your money's worth.

Union Meat Market,

121 WEST FRONT STREET.
9 14 tf A. G. Vogeler, Manager.

MORE SLAUGHTER!

to close out our entire line of

Neglige SHIRTS!

We offer them at the ridiculously low price of

85 CENTS.

These goods are worth $1.25 and $1.50. If you don't need them now you will by next season. Sizes—32c. from 14½—20c. on each one.

Hallock & Davis,

New number, 109 West Front street, opposite Somerset street.

To World Fair For Only $42.

Next and last trip (Honeymoon's Private Tours) to World's Fair, October 9th. One of the finest, best furnished and most select parties ever arranged for the season. Prices all in. Send postal for particulars, to W. D. Honeyman, 121 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Novel Without a Lover.

Does it mean anything as a sign of the time that the absorbing novel of today is the one with either no lovers at all in it, or the one in which love between a man and a woman plays a wholly subordinate part? The passions that now fascinate and chain the attention of the reader do not begin and end with love between the sexes.

The most successful and widely read works of fiction are perhaps those that deal with the occult, the psychic, like the tales of Marie Corelli, or "Zanoni" or Margaret B. Peeke's "Zenia, the Vestal." Corelli's books are among the volumes that have the largest sales and circulation today. Next to the fascination which the occult and psychic story have for the reader comes perhaps the novel ecclesiastic, that in which the writer follows the wavering, struggling religious faith of a soul caught in the nineteenth century whirlpool of doubt. Then again comes the novel dealing with social development, like Bellamy's "Looking Backward." Something that lifts him out of his weary old self, something that will help him socially or spiritually and at least give him entirely new material for discussion—these are what the novel reader of today demands.

It may be mentioned that the greatest story ever written, the one translated into all printed languages and having a perennial sale, has little dealing with love or lovers, and that little lessens its dignity and power. This novel is "Uncle Tom's Cabin." "Ben-Hur" will have also an everlasting charm for each generation as it comes on the stage, yet that charm is quite unconnected with sexual love.

"Robert Elsmere" is still another story whose interest is apart from the mishaps of two cruelly separated lovers. "The Downfall," by Zola, has in it no prominent woman character. Conan Doyle's strong, splendid stories have heroes, but no heroines. The same is true of the work of Robert Louis Stevenson and J. M. Barrie. In truth the more enlightened novel reader evinces a decided disrelish, amounting to contempt, for the simple old fashioned love story that ends with a happy marriage and the punishment of all the villains—male and female. Is the world growing weary of love between the sexes as the one ruling passion of society in life and in literature?

Sleeping Life Away.

If one could have choice of the manner of his own taking off, undoubtedly it would be with most of the human race that of the poor lad who slept himself to death. He grew nearly to manhood like other healthy boys, when suddenly one day he was overtaken by an overwhelming desire to sleep. While walking along the street he would grow drowsy and pass into sleep, and it became more and more difficult to wake him. Wherever the drowsy fit overtook him he would be compelled to lie down, perhaps in a hallway or upon a doorstep, and yield himself to slumber. He would fall asleep at the silk loom at which he worked. He went to a doctor's for treatment of his case one day and fell asleep while the doctor was questioning him. Three days afterward he passed on a Sunday afternoon into a sleep as sweet as an infant's, and when the attempt was made to rouse him he was dead.

If one must quit this life, with its strife and turmoil, what can be more agreeable than just to take leave in that way? No suffering, no unpleasant scenes, no painful farewells or fuss, only a gentle, unconscious drifting of the tired soul into eternal rest.

A philosopher has been studying the question a long time, and finally concluded that there are two kinds of criminality—atavic and evolutional. If your physiological and psychological constitution is morbid, so that you involuntarily return to the robbery, murder and violence whereby mankind got a living in the ape stage of its existence and thought nothing of it, and you consequently steal a watch, then you fetch it in the atavic way. If, however, you steal a railroad, or a vast manufacturing establishment, or a farm, by reason of greater power of rascality than your fellow men possess, then you do your stealing in the evolutional way. You are an evolutional criminal. Meantime it makes little difference to you whether you steal by the atavic or the evolutionary method, and while the philosopher has been figuring all this out of his head thieves have gone on increasing, and both watches and railroads have been stolen, and the philosopher has made no effort at all to stop it.

It is far more honorable for even a man high in office to confess publicly that he is a bribetaker and beg pardon of his country than for a government to try to shield official bribetakers. It is the crime that is concealed which is dangerous, not that which is confessed and punished.

The African mines have the glory of producing the Excelsior, the largest diamond ever found. It is valued at $1,250,000.

Is there not power in the United States or in the respective states thereof to stop these disgraceful train robberies?

SWEPT TO DEATH

Only Thirty Souls Escaped Out of Three Hundred.

AWFUL WORK OF THE STORM

Portions of the South Laid Low by the Wind and Water.

As Bayou Cook, the Great Oyster Field, the Settlements of the Fishermen Have Been Completely Demolished, and There the Loss of Life Was Appalling—Damage Reported Complete Gained All Along the Line of the Storm—From Mobile and Pensacola, Fla., Also Come Stories of the Ruin Wrought by the Raging Elements.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 4.—The great storm of Monday has passed, and although the wires are still down a little intelligence continues to come in from various parts, which impart the information that the loss of life, to say nothing of the destruction of property, is tremendous. From Bayou Cook, the great oyster field, which leads to the gulf, it is reported that the settlements of the fishermen have been completely demolished and that the loss of life has reached the appalling figure of 300.

Grand Isle, a summer resort, lying in the gulf directly in the path of the storm, is said to have been utterly destroyed, and it is known that the loss of life is large.

Many people who were spending the delightful early autumn season, and numbers of those who had spent the late summer month in their cottages had not yet returned for the season. A hotel and two long rows of cottages which constituted the resort, are said to be no more, and it is feared that the loss of life at this point will be very great. In the parish of Plaquemine, the villages of Bohemia and Shell Beach were wiped out and at least four lives were lost there. On both sides of the river the sugar, rice and orange crops suffered a great deal of damage, and on the west side the loss of life is reported to be a heavy one. It will be some days before the full extent of the damage wrought will be known, but it is feared here that the grand total will pale into insignificance the list of loss of deaths reported from the storm which recently devastated the Atlantic coast.

Only 30 Left Out of 300 Souls.

Yesterday a lone and ragged fisherman, who had been a member of the fishing colony at Bayou Cook, where all the oysters bearing that name are fished and which is located about seven miles back of the Bayou settlement, came to the Socola canal, which is located on the west bank of the Mississippi, opposite Point a la Hache, and reported to the keeper of the locks of the canal, Orene Martin, that of the 300 people who composed the colony but 30 had succeeded in escaping the fury of the elements. The fishermen had all retired Sunday night as usual, and though the wind was blowing pretty hard there was no forerunner of the terrible catastrophe that followed. As the night grew apace the wind increased in velocity until the timbers in their houses began to creak in an alarming manner, and the roar of the waves grew louder and louder.

The water arose with startling rapidity, and before the unfortunates who had no possible means of escape had time to grasp some floating object they were overwhelmed with the awful night and found their fate in watery graves. He had clung to a tree throughout the night, and when morning dawned the scene of wreckage that opened before him was simply appalling. Of the many little cabins which had sheltered the prosperous colony the night before barely one was standing.

A Night Filled With Horror.

Of the 300 or more human beings who inhabited them but a tenth of the number lived to tell the tale of the night of horror filled with horror, which they will never forget. He describes the visitation as in the nature of a tidal wave, which swept everything before it.

While nothing definite was received from Grand Isle, there was a general impression at Pointe a la Hache that dire disaster had occurred there, and it was even reported that the water had swept over the island, carrying everything before it in its awful fury, and that the country was built for the safety of the 200 or 300 inhabitants who were known to have been there. The report also said that the big hotel had been blown away. While this has not been confirmed, such a calamity was possible in view of the terrible storm at Bayou Cook as reported by the lone fisherman.

Reports also had it that the settlements at Chenier Amanalla, which is directly across the bay from Grand Isle, had been the scene of a terrible disaster, but this also lacked confirmation. No communication was possible with those points, and it will doubtless be several days before the extent of the calamity there is made known.

It was also reported that several casualties had occurred in the neighborhood of Fort Jackson, but there was no way of getting at the particulars.

Where the Greatest Damage Was Done.

The greatest damage by the storm on the back bank of the river from New Orleans to the gulf is to the crops, and especially rice, which suffered severely. Of oysters were many houses blown down, but their loss in the aggregate, conservatively speaking, does not amount to much. Most of the buildings which succumbed to the fury of the elements were the property of fishermen, who had everything in the terrific gusts of wind and rain. The loss of life in the territory just named, so far as a diligent search could ascertain, foots up as follows:

Between Pointe a la Hache and Bohemia, four—Mrs. Leonce La France and two babies and Charlotte Hebert. All colored women. At Grande Prairie, four—Willey Anderson, the son of a man named Perot, the daughter of a man named Henri J. Johnson, an unknown white old quarter, nine station, two—the children of a Mr. Hingle. At the jetties, one—James Carey. Total, 11.

Mobile's Story of Destruction.

MOBILE, Oct. 4.—The details of the storm which broke over the gulf coast Monday morning and raged with increasing fury for five or six hours are just beginning to come in, and, as was feared, indications are that the loss of life in the low lands east of the city has been very great.

The business portion of the city presented an animated appearance, and the work of cleaning out the muddy sediment from the stores deposited by the receding water and the debris from the streets was pushed with energy.

Among the casualties to shipping the following are all that are known up to the present time: Eastern shore steamer Centennial, bound from New Orleans to Mobile, was driven ashore on Dauphin island and is a total wreck. The steamer Mary Taylor was driven on the mainland high and dry, about two miles above the city, and will probably have to be cut in two to get her out. The steamer Colonel Wilson was also driven in the marsh, but may be floated; the steam yacht Annie L. almost turned up near the mouth of Chickasabogue creek. In addition to these vessels quite a number of barges were blown in the marshes that line both banks of the river.

A Tangled Network of Foliage.

The beautiful shell road which wound along the western shore of the Mobile bay for a distance of nine miles is almost a total wreck. Across the roadbed are masses of logs and driftwood piled in a most interlocked confusion, while across that portion of the road which the storm has left intact trees have been blown in a tangled network of foliage.

Communication direct between Mobile and New Orleans by rail and wire has been totally cut off and will probably not be restored for weeks to come.

Between Venetia and Scranton 30 or 40 houses were blown down, but no lives have been reported lost. At various towns along the line of the storm cars were wrecked, five of them being located at Grand Bay.

In Scranton pond at East Pascagoula, for miles distant, was driven by the storm. Houses were blown down, stores flooded and stocks damaged, while at East Pascagoula, which is the port of entry, the entire beach is said to have been washed away. At the latter two points are said to reach $100,000. The damage to the Louisville and Nashville railway is beyond computation at this time. Hundreds of telegraph poles were wrecked, five of them being located at Grand Bay.

In Scranton pond at East Pascagoula, for miles distant, was driven by the storm. Houses were blown down, stores flooded and stocks damaged, while at East Pascagoula, which is the port of entry, the entire beach is said to have been washed away. At the latter two points are said to reach $100,000. The damage to the Louisville and Nashville railway is beyond computation at this time. Hundreds of telegraph poles were wrecked, five of them being located at Grand Bay.

Communication direct between Mobile and New Orleans by rail and wire has been totally cut off and will probably not be restored for weeks to come.

Between Venetia and Scranton 30 or 40 houses were blown down, but no lives have been reported lost. At various towns along the line of the storm cars were wrecked, five of them being located at Grand Bay.

Tangled Network of Foliage.

The beautiful shell road which wound along the western shore of the Mobile bay for a distance of nine miles is almost a total wreck. Across the roadbed are masses of logs and driftwood piled in a most interlocked confusion, while across that portion of the road which the storm has left intact trees have been blown in a tangled network of foliage.

Communication direct between Mobile and New Orleans by rail and wire has been totally cut off and will probably not be restored for weeks to come.

Between Venetia and Scranton 30 or 40 houses were blown down, but no lives have been reported lost. At various towns along the line of the storm cars were wrecked, five of them being located at Grand Bay.

In Scranton pond at East Pascagoula, for miles distant, was driven by the storm. Houses were blown down, stores flooded and stocks damaged, while at East Pascagoula, which is the port of entry, the entire beach is said to have been washed away. At the latter two points are said to reach $100,000. The damage to the Louisville and Nashville railway is beyond computation at this time. Hundreds of telegraph poles were wrecked, five of them being located at Grand Bay.

A

SUICIDE OF A COUNT.

He Had Been Cut Short In His Allowance Because of His Marriage.

MARWAN, N. J., Oct. 4.—Count Rudolph Palffy, who had insulted on the Hermesprey estate, near here, committed suicide by shooting himself in the head. Count Palffy is said to be a cousin of Prince Palffy of Austria-Hungary. He had been in the United States on a sightseeing tour for nearly two years. The count has been cut short in his allowance of money because he married outside of the royal family.

Count Palffy was 31 years old, and of late has been worrying over some trouble which he would not reveal. He took up his residence in one of T. A. Havemeyer's houses. He received only from $60 to $75 every three months from his parents. Mr. Havemeyer is Austrian consul general, and after forming the acquaintance of the noted became deeply interested in him and gave him about $80 a month for taking charge of his dear park.

Last evening Count Palffy had been out in the yard arranging things in general. His wife was filling a lamp when he rushed in, and, without a word or other hinting her said, "I love you." He then drew a revolver from his pocket and fired at his head, the bullet crashing through his brain. Death was instantaneous.

BLOWN UP WHILE ASLEEP.

A Spanish Cartridge Placed Between Two Negroes In Kentucky.

PARIS, Ky., Oct. 4.—Some unknown fiend placed a dynamite cartridge between Ellis Dent and Houston Kelly, colored, while they were asleep at the former's home. The cartridge exploded and killed them both. The dynamite was evidently placed directly between them, with a fuse attached so that the right arm of one and the left arm of the other were blown off at the shoulder. They were lying on a feather bed in the room, and the terrible force of the explosion blew a hole two feet square through the floor and shattered all the glass in the windows. The bodies were also as well as breaking ornaments and scattering remnants of bedclothes all over the floor.

It is alleged that the Dent woman had quarreled with two white men, with a few days previous to the awful murder, and the neighborhood of the cottage in which the tragedy occurred, which may lead to their arrest on suspicion.

DEMOCRATS AT SARATOGA.

Mayor Gilroy Thinks McClellan Will Be Nominated For Secretary of State.

SARATOGA, Oct. 4.—The advance guard of Democrats from all parts of the state arrived here last night for the Democratic state convention, which meets at noon today in the new Convention hall. Mayor Thomas F. Gilroy, Corporation Counsel Clark, County Clerk Purroy and Fire Commissioner Scannell came in on the evening train. They put up at the Adelphi hotel, which will be the headquarters of the state committee.

Mayor Gilroy said today that in his opinion Governor R. McClellan would be nominated for secretary of state. Saratoga hotel keepers figure that about 2,000 delegates and camp followers are here.

BATTLE WITH MOORS.

Eighteen Men Were Killed and Thirty-five Wounded.

MADRID, Oct. 4.—Trouble broke out again between Moors of the Riff tribes and the Spanish garrison at Melilla, a town on the northern coast of Morocco. The engagement took place in which 18 Spaniards were killed and 35 wounded, including three officers. Late advices from Melilla are that the Moors requested a truce. The request was granted, and both sides buried their dead. The Moors have sued forpeace. The Moorish government has been overcome completely by Spain's preparations for war. It has promised to make any reparation and has assured Spain of its most earnest efforts to repress the savagery of the hostile tribes.

A Once Famous Acrobat Dead.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 4.—Charles J. Melville, who for many years was the champion bareback rider of the world and was famous throughout Europe and America, died at the West Penn hospital. Melville was committed to the hospital June 24, totally blind and almost exhausted for want of proper attention.

Senator O'Connor Renominated.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Oct. 4.—The Republican senatorial convention for the Twenty-fifth district renominated Edmund F. O'Connor on the second ballot. On the first ballot Mr. O'Connor made a speech, in which he defended himself for taking the stand he did in the senate last winter.

Retirement of Judge Robertson.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Oct. 4.—Judge Richard Robertson has announced for publication that he will not accept a renomination for the senate. He has served eight years in the senate than any other man and says that he is not an aspirant for any political honors.

Buda-Pesth.

BUDA-PESTH, Oct. 4.—Alexius Bokros, vice president of the Hungarian lower house, suppose, at first to be suffering from accidental injuries, is now reported to have committed suicide on account of business troubles and embezzlement.

Rosemary Goes to Oxford.

BELVIDERE, N. J., Oct. 4.—The Oxford Iron and Nail company have received specifications in their nail mill at Oxford and are preparing to start up their extensive rolling mill. Both will be run with a reduced scale of wages.

The Levee Court Sustained.

ALBANY, Oct. 4.—The court of appeals has affirmed the judgment of the lower court in the case of the People versus John Johnson, a colored convict, who is under sentence of death for murder.

Has Something Important to Reveal.

BARCELONA, Oct. 4.—Pallas, the condemnedanarchist, declares he has important information that he intends to reveal at the last moment.

Went a Mile In 1:58 1-5.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 4.—W. W. Windle broke the world's bicycle record for a mile, flying start, at Hampden park, making it in 1:58 1-5.

Many Deaths From Cholera.

ROME, Oct. 4.—Forty-nine new cases of cholera and 26 deaths were reported in Palermo and six new cases and two deaths in Leghorn.

Was Town Clerk Twenty-five Years.

EAST GREENWICH, R. I., Oct. 4.—Edward Stanhope, town clerk of this place for over 25 years, died yesterday aged 81 years.

Four Women Candidates.

ROME, N. Y., Oct. 4.—Each of the four Democratic candidates for county school commissioner in Oneida county, N. Y., is a woman.

RESCUED FROM A TIGER

A Lion Tamer's Narrow Escape at Walton, N. Y.

GREAT EXCITEMENT AT A CIRCUS.

Tamer Reed Was Feeding the Beast Raw Meat When It Made a Spring For Human Blood.—Driven Back by Attendants Armed With Iron Spikes.

DELHI, N. Y., Oct. 4.—While feeding a tiger in its cage at Walton, Delaware county, Lion Tamer Harry Reed was attacked by the animal and narrowly escaped being torn to pieces. The tiger belonged to Walter L. Main's circus, which exhibited at Walton.

At the closing performance Reed went into the Bengal tiger's cage and began to feed the beast raw meat from his own mouth. There was a lion in the same cage which had been fed in this way a few minutes before. When the trainer put the meat into his mouth and held it out for the tiger, the giant cat sprang at him, knocking him over.

The animal swallowed the meat and made a second spring, this time for human blood. With a powerful paw the animal struck Reed on the right arm, and breast, tearing his tights and terribly lacerating his flesh. The claws on the tiger's other paw

WITH THE HOUSEKEEPERS.

PRACTICAL INFORMATION AND SOME USEFUL HINTS.

Suggestions to Aid the Weary Housewife—Some Excellent Recipes Well Worth Trying—Little Points on Making the Home More Home-like.

The woman who can find any way of making dishwashing, if not a pleasant task, at least a less disagreeable one than it is now, should be canonized by her grateful sisters. Many ingenious ways have spent much time in experiment in this branch of household labor, makes the following suggestions:

"Nothing is better for cleaning greasy dishes, especially cooking pans and bottles, than an old whisk broom. It removes the tenacious particles that have insinuated in the bottles and splinters much better than a knife or an iron dish cloth. It is invaluable for cleaning grasters. To keep the hands from getting hard and chapped after dish-washing rub them with cider vinegar. Clear lemon juice is also excellent."

NEW FANCY TABLES.

Fancy tables covered entirely, legs and all, with some sort of material are going in favor of late, the square and the round shaper being well known in the decorative art vocabulary, where they are also in full blast dealing with the Kensington and New York Tribune. This year they are made in all sorts of original shapes and designs, stars, shields, etc. One of the prettiest in this style is the four-to-ten.

The top and the shelf of the table are cut from a board pine board and covered with either silk or chintz. In the example given the material is yellow silk with a narrow brocaded stripe. This is put on very prettily, the edges being finished with brass-headed nails.

The legs are covered with plush in a rather faded shade of blue, which is fastened with a little gilt tack to a four-dollar lyre for a head. After all the parts are covered they are fitted together and held in place with strong furniture glue. The head of the plush in the lower shelf trimmed with gold galloon and a couple of bands of the latter around the top finish off this very gay and pretty little table.

HOW DUST GETS IN.

A Fot-astic Explanation of a Familiar Fenate.

When the air around us becomes condensed—shrinks into a smaller volume—it becomes heavier, puts greater pressure on the surface of the water and makes it ascend in the tube; then the mercury is raised to rise. When the air expands—swells into a larger volume—it becomes lighter, the pressure is not so great as before, the mercury sinks in the tube and the barometer is said to fall. Therefore every change of the air or quicksilver which we observe is a sign and forecast of a change in the weather of air around us.

Further, this change in volume tells no less upon the air inside our cases and cupboards. When the barometer falls, the air around expands into a larger volume, and the air inside the cupboard also expands and forces itself out at every minute crevice. When the barometer rises again, the air inside, the cupboard as well as outside, condenses and shrinks and the air is forced back into the cupboard to equalize the pressure, and along with the air it gets the dust. The smaller the crevice the stronger the jet of air, the farther goes the dirt. Witness the dirt tracks so often seen in imperfectly framed engravings or photographs. Remember, ladies and gentlemen, whenever you see the barometer rising, that an additional charge of dust is entering your cupboards and drawers.—Detroit Free Press.

About Cake Making.

In making cakes it is of very great importance that the materials be of good quality. It is better to use a cheap cake of good materials than a richer one of those of an inferior quality.

Eggs should be beaten to a broad puff until they are thick; the yolks when whisked alone will be as thick as butter. The whites, when beaten by themselves, should be dry and frothy, and expand to a full of small white grains. For most cakes the fine white pulverized sugar is best.

The flour should always be sifted, as it renders the cake lighter.

Never warm butter in the pan it is to be beaten in, as it will be likely to make your cake heavy. If the weather is cold put the butter and in the warm kitchen some time and it will be soft enough; the action of beating the butter and sugar and of the frothing produced softens the butter sufficiently.

Never beat cakes with your hand; the warmth of the hand will make them greasy and heavy. Always use a wooden ladle for butter and sugar or butter and rods or whisker for eggs.

Tomatoes With Mint.

Scald and peel three large, smooth tomatoes. Cut them in halves, scoop out the seeds and pulp, leaving the shells whole. Scald the juice enough to strain out the seeds. To the juice add sugar to taste, and mix with as much very finely chopped mint as will cover a cold salt and a little butter. Fill the tomatoes with the mixture. Place each half tomato on a round of bread cut from a slice of stale bread. Put in a pan and bake ten minutes, or until the bread is browned.

Mother Pickle.

Elder-pickle is made of the tender young shoots of the elder tree. These may be used, soaked for twelve hours in a strong brine, then finished and bottled. For a spiced vinegar made in the proportions of two quarts of vinegar to two ounces of root ginger, two tablespoonfuls of whole pepper, three ounces of allspice, and one of cloves. Put the vinegar boiling hot over the elder shoots and leave them for a week, when they will be ready for use.

OPENING
OF
Fall and Winter DRESS GOODS.

We have placed on sale the Largest Assortment of DRESS GOODS ever offered in this city, and the prices lower than ever, about lengths to avoid too many dresses of a kind.

WE MENTION A FEW SPECIALS.

All Wool Bengaline at 55c. yd. Regular Price 75c.
" " Novelties at 50c. yd. Regular Price 75c.
" " Henriettas at 75c. yd. Regular Price 1.00

Cashmeres, Serges, Flannels and Cloths in large variety of colors and prices. Priestley's silk warp Dress Goods.

DRESS TRIMMINGS

In plain and changeable Soraks, Galloons, Braids, etc. We are still offering

Smith's Best Moquette Carpets at 90c. yd

It will be to your advantage to look at these goods if you are in need of carpets.

BLANKETS AND COMFORTABLES AT

EDSALL'S.

WOMAN, KNOW THYSELF,

And What You Want Know What to Do—Dosage—A Few Minutes.

Here are a few harmless remedies to keep your skin in good condition:—

Almond meal, for softening and whitening it.

A good soap, to be selected with the greatest care.

Friction with a rough towel for freshening. Lemon-juice (used in moderation) for tan.

Plenty of water, both hot and cold.

Bran, for the bath, if worrying about your complexion, suppose you give some time to studying what is most becoming to you, and what will best display your good points.

A girl should never wear a fawn-colored dress because it was the fashionable shade, if she thought it would make her appear sallow.

She should know whether olive were becoming to her being of the color of her eyes than brown, or vice versa.

She should not, if her hair is inclined to the red shade, wear a pink dress.

Were she blessed with a fine physique, she should not hide it by too much trimming, she should know that severity best suits a tall figure, and she should not wear a coat reaching to her knees.

She should not, could she get only one winter hat, select one that would match one of each dress, and be antagonistic to all her others.

The girl of good taste should learn that few can wear a hat which does not project from the face, while one that shades the eyes is going to make them more bewitching. Even were this not true, and without many curves, she should not consider that sufficient reason to have a poorly fitted waist; it should rather be a greater incentive to have it smart and neat; and to hide the thinness she should adopt the fluffy laces and chiffons, which give that appearance of silken which a woman is never wholly adorable.—Marie in Philadelphia Misfit and Drama.

Where Bridegrooms Take Risks.

The Kurds, have a very curious and somewhat dangerous marriage custom, which one would think would be more honored in the breach than in the observance. The husband, surrounded by a body guard of twenty or thirty young men, carries his wife home on his back in a perfect sloth, and is desperately assaulted the whole way by a number of girls.

Sticks and stones are meted to the bridegroom, who, in the midst of fending with his bride, can hardly be considered a very happy man, for the brute Amazons are said to inflict on him severe injuries to the groom. It may be that among the lady pursuers are some of the bridegroom's former "flames" who turn the whole affair into a downright earnest to avenge slighted love.

The modern "shooting of the slipper" for luck is a survival of this custom, a survival of some of the very old, very widely diffused, and very health marriage customs.

To Get Rid of Rats.

A "sure bait" is the latest necessity of busy men and women. It is an invisible bait, arranged on the floor, near the visible bait of the ordinary article. When the glass has balked enough the bait or poison quickly puts a foot on the scene, upset in the floor and the servant appears in the morning a beautiful corpse. Nothing is done with rats, it must be attended to at once. The caller solemnly bows himself out and the victim is saved.

WHAT THE WORLD IS DOING.

Cork is being used as a covering for steam pipes, and with good results.

The first output of California farmers' daily dairy fair during the past ten years.

Our copper output this year fell short of the usual amount by more than 100,000 tons.

The waters of Lake Erie are to be piped to Cincinnati, taking in many other cities en route.

The longest long distance bicycle ride has been 52 miles in fifty-four and one-half hours.

The near future promises to witness an unprecedented amount of railroad building in the heart of Africa.

English capitalists recently purchased $20,000 worth of railroad securities in Philadelphia for Brazilian railroads.

The supply of grain results in being quickly exhausted, the demand for which must be undertaken to produce it in Algeria.

The value of the farm products of the United States this year will exceed the billions of dollars more than was ever before reached.

Paris has been making wonderful progress during the last three years, owing to the wonderful amount of English capital that has gone into that country.

A recent importation of oranges from late California has been the cause of the ice to be imitated by a new insect, and the authorities will not allow them to be landed.

The recent heavy sowps of wheat and corn are already showing their effect upon the stocks and markets. Wall street is more active than it has been for years and the visible supply of grain in Europe has already reached over $1,000,000.

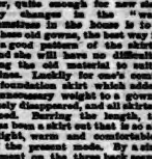
THE BELL SKINT REMAINS.

Local Dentists Overrun Can be Made Over Without Much Difficulty.

Despite the declared positively in favor of the ball skirt, there is a strong feeling in best women's power with a view to the alterations by which they may be adapted to the present styles will find it necessary to do when the fall season is more than the bodices of their old dresses. The ruffled skirts of last season are very much fuller and more voluminous than the tightly fitting gored skirt with the slight train. So after the necessary alterations are made there is generally a good deal of new material left over, quite enough for new sleeves or any changes in the "waist." It is a mistake in the home to "do" the skirt and get the dress the way to be got her a good pattern of the skirt desired, and she will have no difficulty in getting the old materials to suit the newer lines. Lastly for one's comfort, the old foundation skirt which added so much unnecessary weight to a gown has been discarded, and only the silken one now lined. During the length, there never has been a skirt out that is so absolutely light, warm and comfortable as that of the present season, and the simple arrangement on the three back seams of hooks and eyes, the extra length may be easily disposed of while walking.—N. Y. Tribune.

A hundred pounds of flour will make an average of 136 pounds of bread, a barrel making 280 one-pound loaves.

Tired from Head to Foot



FROM HEAD TO FOOT.

That's what's the matter with the most of us. What's the matter? Poor circulation of the blood. The cause? The neglect of the liver. We have known severe cases of nervous prostration to be relieved by a few doses of Anti-Tire. Do not be deceived by a short trial. Try it for a month. You will need thereafter, healthy action, or you will be sick. Anti-Tire will do it. Price One Dollar. Send for pamphlet. All druggists should keep it. If yours does not, send to

LYONS & ENGLER,
Manufacturing Chemists,
Jersey City, N. J.

A GOOD WIFE

is a great blessing, and a good husband will look after her comforts. No one should neglect the Fatima merchant by buying a bit which is

GIVEN AWAY

Really nearly, the prices are so low. The lot is situated in a beautiful and healthy neighborhood.

WITH EVERY

carpet we buy we give stoves, utensils and chromos gratis. Here is the grand opportunity to invest in a splendid

BUILDING LOT.

For particulars, address
"OWNER,"
care of EVENING NEWS.

Horses and Carriages,

at private, for hire, at

O'BRIEN'S,

116 WEST FOURTH STREET, near 2nd Street.

Joseph T. Vail,
REAL ESTATE
and
INSURANCE.

OFFICE IN BLUE STONE PLACE,
(2 North Avenue.)

Timely Warning! Winter Approaching!

Keep your Scalp Clean and your Hair Growing.

RANDOLPH'S Quinine and Glycerine

HAIR TONIC!

The Friend to the Hour of Need.

RACE BOTTLE GUARANTEED. Sold only by

L. W. RANDOLPH, Prescription Druggist,

148 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

FOR FALL TRADE.

THE LEADER

has received a large variety of Infants' Cloaks, Coats, Hats, Robes, Flannel and Worsted Sacks, Hoods, Flannel Skirts, all of the latest styles. Also new styles of Ladies' Wrappers, Underwear and a large variety of Combinations, at very low prices. Make no mistake, this is the new store.

THE LEADER! H. GOLDMANN, Prop.

210 WEST FRONT STREET. (Old No. 24.)

WISE SAYINGS ABOUT WOMEN.

A chameleon woman is the worst of men.—Young.

A woman's lot is made by her by the love she engages.—George Eliot.

All the reasonings of men are not worth one sentiment of women.—Voltaire.

There never yet lived fair women but she made mouths in the glass.—Shakespeare.

Woman's tongue is her weapon, or sword, which she never permits to rust or rust.—Mme. Necker.

A woman is the most inconsistent compound of obstinacy and self-sacrifice that I am acquainted with.—Richter.

A French writer says: "I used to believe that women prefer those whom they think handsome. Error! They prefer those who think them handsome."

Return of Long Gloves.

There seems to be some more a tendency towards long gloves for outdoor wear. The white kidding undertakers are the handsomest gloves easy to wear, and they always look graceful and effective; but with coat-sleeves, either small wrinkled gauntlets or the long-wristed gloves are worn. Black, cream and fleshe are the favorite shades, the latter being by far the most popular, while tan gloves are not nearly so much in favor as they were a season or two ago. Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Childs would not part with it for any consideration, as it was on the floor of the room in which they were married in Philadelphia. The color of the furnishing is smart enough, and the cottage itself altogether beautiful.

Realism or Roguery.

A set of rather realistic breakfast napkins is made of coarse white linen, lavishly stitched and covered with vegetable designs instead of the usual flowers. A bunch of asparagus adorns one end, a group of carrots with the leaves still waving forms another. One end has a common mushrooms of various sizes on one corner, and another has a bunch of wheat, with a few ears of corn and potatoes. The embroidery is done in weak silks of as natural colors as possible, and the effect is at any rate different from the monotonous conventional designs which have been obtaining table linen for a year or so.

Restitution Again.

Restitution are most likely another fad to fashion exists, and a very pretty old fashion it is, too. All is wedding invitations issued from the house of Randolph have a little silver horseshoe, the noticeable being of white satin. Everybody voted the innovation charming.

Figures and Forms.

The smaller kinds of Figures and Dorcas are easily kept if regularly fed and supplied with clean water and the occasional or course of charcoal.

Large orchid plants and Turtle Doves do very well in large cages.

Figures require more room and should have a small wired enclosure. The best are Antwerps, Pantalls, Bald headed, Turbits and several other smaller kinds.

Food may be obtained at the millers or bird shops. Hemp seed is the favorite and canary seed as well as small peas and wheat.

Little Johnny on Style.

I like to see folks put on style. If it won't for them and the clothes it would be pretty dull sometimes. Mother always gets mad when she sees Mrs. Stocking out riding, but I can't see anything to get mad at, 'cept I wouldn't like to be her little girl. I peeked into the window yesterday when they was having their lunch and they didn't have anything but bread and cold liver. I hate liver. I am glad our folks don't be stylish.—N. Y. Herald.

The Latest Rage.

The swell girl buys a new belt as often as she buys new gloves. Just now there is a fancy for very narrow belts to be worn with the tight and odd waists. By a belt of colored metal here a bow knot of silver for a clasp, and belts of velvet ribbon have beautifully etched buckles of gold and silver. Thicker elastic belts are also studded with silver, and occasionally one of kind fortune's favorites has a three-inch buckle of diamonds fastening a belt of velvet or moire ribbon.

Spirit and Flesh Were Willing.

A person who had led a cell from a little country parish to a large and wealthy one in a big city. He asked time for prayer and consultation. He did not feel sure of his light. A month passed. Finally some one met his youngest son on the street. "How is it, Josiah," said the neighbor; "is your father going to B——?" "Well, we moved the parsonage, Josiah, really, "Paw is still prayin' for light, but most of the things is packed."—N. Y. Evening Sun.

Pockets Versus the Skirt Weapon.

The muff habit is an elegant addition to the wallet of the other women, but when it endures a circumference of twenty-five inches it becomes a nuisance. Mrs. Pinkham has a most considerable habit of pulling her dresses exclusively to shadow figures, but never can she been more delightly repugnant of the impertinents of the street women than when in the season's designs.

Do Without the Muff.

A pound of white moslin easy mulled up with a little water, pressed delicately, and a little starch, and a pound of bits of oatmeal, over the fire, is said to be wonderfully softening and whitening the the hands. It is to be used instead of soap.

Whipping Money.

She saw three men with the baby,
And nothing than would do,
But she must loot a basketball
And weigh her kitty two.

"O mamma, come and look!" she cried,
"If two cents will buy a pound
My darling little kitty weighs
A dollar and a half!"
—Youth's Companion.

Flowers Before the Skin.

The new cloth is so elegant exhibition to the wallet of the other women, but when it endures a circumference of twenty-five inches it becomes a nuisance. Mrs. Pinkham has a most considerable habit of pulling her dresses exclusively to shadow figures, but never can she been more delightly repugnant of the impertinents of the street women than when in the season's designs.

Do Without the Muff.

A pound of white moslin easy mulled up with a little water, pressed delicately, and a little starch, and a pound of bits of oatmeal, over the fire, is said to be wonderfully softening and whitening the the hands. It is to be used instead of soap.

Whipping Money.

She saw three men with the baby,
And nothing than would do,
But she must loot a basketball
And weigh her kitty two.

"O mamma, come and look!" she cried,
"If two cents will buy a pound
My darling little kitty weighs
A dollar and a half!"
—Youth's Companion.

World's Fair Exhibit on Flower Pots!

OVER FOUR TONS—8,000 pounds—18 large crates—6 truck loads.

The patterns are described as new and exquisite in design. Prices range from 15c cents for the Sip Pot to $1.75 for the double Calla Lily, the popular ones being the 8c., 6c., 9c. and 15c. ones in the common, though we have the largest made, at 60c. Decorated Pots and Hanging Baskets range from 7c. to 25c. We are prepared to sell all, and our prices are guaranteed the lowest and quality without a fault. The widths and the oak leaf on the common Pots add strength and beauty, and are easily decorated. Order early, as some will have to wait.

J. C. Allen, 28 West Front St., Plainfield, N. J

R. W. Rice & Co.,

THE PARK GROCERS.

Corner Duer and Emily Streets.

NORTH PLAINFIELD.

Tickets

For, or from Europe,

On

All Lines,

And all Steamers.

Drafts

Sold also.

H. D. MORRISON,

Agent,

Somerset Street.

PEACHES!
PEACHES!
PEACHES!

Following varieties: Yellow Globe, Crawford's Morris Whites, Keyport and old mixtures. Prices to suit everybody.

NEUMANN BROS.

WATCHUNG AVENUE and FIFTH STREET.

THE TIME TO EAT!

MEAT!

is at most times, of course, and the place to get good meat, at reasonable, lowest prices, is at the store of

E. J. CONNOLLY,

No. 224 Broadway.

SMOKED MEATS AND VEGETABLES always on hand.

Hotels.

CENTRAL HOTEL,

No. 11 E. Front St.,

PLAINFIELD.

Windham & Crowley,

PROPRIETORS.

First-class bar attached.

Fourth Ward Hotel.

JOHN GOFF, Proprietor.

Boarders accommodated, both transient and permanent.

LARGE ROOMS and ALL MODERN IMPROVEMENTS.

Fine Wines, Liquors and SEGARS.

Corner Third and Liberty Streets.

Hotel Grenada,

NORTH AVENUE,

or open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the travelling public.

City Hotel,

Corner

PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.

Transient guests accommodated.

Eugene Hoerster,

206 Grove Street,

North Plainfield.

Wholesale Dealer

in

FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.

Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

CAREY'S Storage Warerooms,

Corner
Front and Grove Streets,
Plainfield, N. J.

The Fall and Winter Styles in Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing are now in Stock. Overcoats of all Weights. Trousers Made to Order from $4 to $8. Suits from $15 to $30. Hats and General Furnishings. WERNER'S MAMMOTH CLOTHING HOUSE, 206 West Front Street.

This Date In History—Oct. 4.

1535—Edwin the Great, king of Northumbria and founder of Edinburgh, died.
1536—Miles Coverdale, translator of the Pentateuch or Grey Friars, died at Ainlet.
1582—Richard Crashaw, poet and successor of Oliver, born at Hunsingdon.
1745—Henry Carey, musician, author of "God Save the King," died in London.
1777—Battle of Germantown and defeat of General Washington.
1813—General Jacob Brown defeated the British at Ogdensburg.
1825—Rutherford Birchard Hayes, nineteenth president, born in Delaware, O., died January 17, 1893.
1826—Permanent Bureau of the Sentinel Trustees' Bank of Chicago died.
1866—The Austrians were in the vile between the 3 Austrian army corps and the Austrians who came to attend having been 2 days 1 hour and 45 minutes in traversing the distance.

"Flexo fiber" promises to be a very good thing. It is a substitute for leather made of flax. It is fully as flexible as leather, and therefore makes excellent, durable shoes, bookbinding, belting of all kinds, and in fact all purposes where flexible texture, it admits air to the foot. What is more, it is capable of taking a real enamel of patina.

It must not be forgotten that one of the rapidly growing cities of this country is Boston. Its population in 1890, half a million, had increased to over one-fortunately the old town gains inhabitants at the expense of "outlands." The persons who make it grow are of European and Canadian descent.

Electricity has lent its aid to protecting homicide as well as useful effects demanded. Wonderfully realistic displays of the northern lights, of cloud and of flashes of lightning are now shown upon the dramatic stage through its agency.

Chrysler Johnson's mile in 1m. 36 3-5s. at Independence on the kite shaped track, puts a man and two wheels tandem ahead of the trotter, with wheels the other way. No trotter, even on the kite track, will equal this time during the present century.

1893			OCTOBER.			1893
Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fr.	Sa.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
15	16	17	18	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26	27	28
29	30	31

MOON'S PHASES.

Third Quarter	2	10:19 p.m.	First Quarter	17	8:37 a.m.
New Moon	9	2:27 p.m.	Full Moon	25	2:42 a.m.
			Third Quarter	31	6:42 p.m.

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$5 per Year in Advance. T. W. Morrison, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 21 Somerset street. Printing of all Kinds. 10 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," THURSDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1893. PRICE TWO CENTS.

TO BEGIN THE CRUSADE.

A MEETING TO BE HELD SUNDAY IN MUSIC HALL.

By the Plainfield Branch of the State Citizens' League to Give Expression to the People's Protest—The Speakers.

At the meeting of the Plainfield Branch of the State Citizens' League last Saturday night it was unanimously decided to hold a public meeting in either Music Hall or a church as soon as the executive committee could complete arrangements for such a meeting and speakers could be secured.

The Executive Committee, consisting of Col. Mason W. Tyler, ex Councilman Howland Cox, Councilman Stephen A. Ginna, Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh and ex-Councilman Isaac L. Miller have decided to call a mass meeting to be held at Music Hall on Sunday next, at 4.15 p. m., to give expression to the people's protest against the iniquitous race-track legislation.

Mr. Lindabury, the Rev. Dr. Richards, the Rev. Dr. Lewis and others have been invited by this committee to speak.

The official call will be published to-morrow.

BREVITIES.

—There was an oyster supper at Illery's Hotel, Scotch Plains, last night.

—Van Anglen, who was indicted for assaulting Marshal Pangborn, recently, was to-day convicted.

—Justice Nash this morning issued summons in the case of Mulford vs. Hilberz, demand for premises, returnable Oct. 10th.

—A meeting of the Young Ladies' Missionary Society, of the First Baptist church, will be held on Friday afternoon, at two o'clock, in the church parlors.

—Loyal Temperance Legion will meet to-morrow at four o'clock in the W. C. T. U. rooms, Fourth street and Broadway. Boys and girls are cordially invited to be present.

—It is reported that the men employed in the shops at Elizabethport commenced working on short time Monday. The shops have only been running five days in the week, but the men have been working ten hours on these days. About 400 men are employed there.

—The Central's crack engine, No. 460, received the highest award at the World's Fair last week, over all competitors. The company is now anxious to enter her in the ten-mile race that has been arranged between the New York Central's Syer, No. 999, and the English engine, The Empress.

—Mr. I. Frank, whose advertisement appears in this paper, is one of the most popular of men in his line with travelers. It is a rare thing not to find his place full of customers. He always makes it an object for people to deal with him, and his dealings inspire fullest confidence. He can always help his customers save money.

The Mock Court Trial.

The following is the make up of the Mock Court Trial to be given under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. in the Stillman Music Hall, Monday evening, Oct. 16:

Judge.—Rowland Cox.

Complainant.—Hon. Alexander Gilbert.

Defendant.—Hon. W. L. Saunders.

Prosecuting Attorney.—Craig A. Marsh.

Defendant's Attorney.—Capt. A. V. Newton, of Worcester, Mass.

Clerk.—S. S. Joseph.

Officer.—Roger F. Murray.

Crier.—H. Otis Newman.

Witnesses.—Chas. W. McCutcheon, S. St. J. McCutcheon, Henry A. McGee, Wm. D. Murray, E. W. Hodges, M. D.

Jury.—Frank E. Marsh, L. V. F. Randolph, Chas. J. Hoe, G. D. Watling, S. A. Ginna, John Leal, J. R. Tracy, E. R. Pope, John M. Whiton, H. B. Manger, H. P. Reynolds, John W. Murray.

Capt. Newton, who will appear as counsel for the defendant, is known all over New England as an able public speaker, whose wit and humor will contribute much to the evening's enjoyment. The others are well-known citizens whose names are a guarantee of the success and character of the entertainment.

Lectures This Fall.

A proposed course of 10 lectures will be given in All Soul's church this autumn. Rev. Edward Hale, Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, Hon. Chas. H. Ham, Rev. James M. Whiton, Prof. Wm. H. Goodyear, Mr. Chas. T. Cahill, Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, and Miss Helen W. Clarkson, are some of the distinguished people who give their services to the Woman's Branch Alliance of this church. Five lectures will be given in the afternoon and five in the evening.

Kicked While at Play.

A little boy named Robert Scott was seriously injured by being kicked by a playmate on his way to school yesterday noon. He was carried to his home, where he received medical attendance.

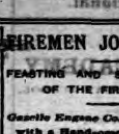
The Weather.

The weather to-morrow promises to be fair and warmer.

FIREMEN JOIN HANDS.

FEASTING AND SPEECH MAKING OF THE FIRE LADDIES.

Gazelle Engine Co., No. 1, Presented with a Handsome Clock by Plainfield Engine Co., No. 2.



FOR the first time in the history of the Plainfield Fire Department the two companies — Gazelle Engine Company, No. 1, and Plainfield Engine Company No. 2—sat down to a dinner together.

Since the selling of No. two's engine house by the Common Council that company has been holding its monthly meetings in Gazelle Engine Company's parlors, having been invited to do so by the latter company.

To show their appreciation of the kind favor, Engine Company No. two, last night, presented, as a token of their gratitude, a handsome clock to the members of Gazelle Engine Company No. one.

The presentation was made by Mr. Willett Marsh in a few well-chosen remarks. The clock was accepted by Foreman Newman of the Gazelle Company.

On the clock in gilt letters is the following: "Presented to Gazelle Engine Co., No. 1, by Plainfield Engine Co. No. 2. Oct. 4, 1893."

When the meeting adjourned the visiting firemen were invited to a nearby restaurant, where they feasted, made speeches and sang songs.

Speeches were made by Chief Deane, Assistant Chief Martin, Second Assistant Chief Murray, ex-Chief Jenkins and others.

Chief Deane, in his remarks, said it was like working with one company now, as the firemen all pull together.

Songs were sung by Messrs. J. E. Flannery, William Addis, Willet Marsh and Frank Schnack.

The firemen all expressed themselves as delighted with the good feeling expressed. Formerly the two companies would do all in each other's power to get the best of one another at fires, the strong rivalry at one time that hose was cut to disable the opposite company.

PERSONAL.

Miss Mary Van Eps of East Fifth street has returned from a visit with friends in Somerville.

This morning Mr. and Mrs. R. Henry Depew of East Ninth started for the World's Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Andrews of Central avenue returned last night from the World's Fair.

Mrs. Joseph Hedden and son Harry of Somerset street, have gone to Newark, for a week's visit.

The Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis of Central avenue has arrived home from his trip through the West.

Guests from Maine are enjoying the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. James of First place.

Mr. John M. Clark and family of Park avenue have returned from a Summer spent in New York State.

Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Groendyke of Rockview avenue started to-day for a month's visit to the World's Fair at Chicago.

The wedding of Mr. James Keenan and Miss Josie Edwards will take place Wednesday, October 11th, at St. Mary's church.

The family of Mr. Charles W. McCutchen of Rockview avenue have returned from Algonquin, Franklin county, New York.

Mr. Walter Dobbins, of the reportorial staff of the Press, started this morning for Chicago, for a two weeks' visit to the World's Fair.

Mrs. Harry Brokaw and son of Duer street, who have been visiting relatives in Somerville for several weeks, have returned home.

Mr. Dayton and family of New York have moved into the Hoadly residence, corner of West Seventh street and Arlington avenue.

Mr. A. W. Haviland and family of Rockview avenue have returned from Garrison on the Hudson, where they have been all Summer.

Mr. W. E. McClure, who has been for several days past enjoying a fishing trip in Pennsylvania with a party of friends, is expected home to-day.

Mail Carrier William Demarest will be given his vacation to-morrow. His route will be delivered by Mr. James Mellon. Mr. Demarest will leave for Stony Hill Saturday.

A great many Plainfielders went to New York this morning to witness the first of the series of international yacht races of the present year for the America cup.

A party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Leander Lowell of Crescent avenue and Miss Mary Ambler, also of Crescent avenue, left Plainfield this morning for the "White City" to see the sights at the Exposition.

Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Randolph of West Seventh street celebrated their fifteenth wedding anniversary by receiving many calls during the afternoon and evening. Out of one hundred guests that attended the wedding originally only eight are living. Among the performances of the evening was the old Virginia reel, in which the Deacon's partner was his great grand-daughter. Professor Rogers conducted at the piano.

THE Y'S ELECT OFFICERS.

THE ANNUAL MEETING HELD YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

Ministering Angels, Arranging their Work for the Good of Others during the Coming Year—The New Officers.

THE first regular meeting of the Y's for the year 1893-'94 was held in their rooms on Watchung avenue yesterday afternoon. There was a good attendance in spite of the inclement weather and much enthusiasm was created for the work of the coming year. It was decided to hold the usual Thanksgiving day reception and the usual Christmas Mite Mary French was appointed to take charge of the affair.

The following officers were elected:

President—Miss Amey Greene.

Vice-President—Miss Eleanor T. Morrison.

Corresponding Secretary—Miss Bessie Titsworth.

Recording Secretary—Miss S. Lona Bass.

Treasurer—Miss Mary Brown.

Chairman Hospital Committee—Miss Mabel Dougherty.

Superintendent of Loyal Legion—Miss Adelaide Wisner.

Chairman Literature Committee—Miss Josie Van Arsdale.

Chairman of Social Mission—Miss Ida Ross and Miss Kittie Ross.

Chairman Devotional Committee—Miss Lulu Lewis.

From Reporter—Miss Lewis.

S. LONA BASS,
Recording Sec'y of Y's.

HOME AND FOREIGN MISSIONS.

Anniversary of the Synodical Society to be Held at Rahway.

The Presbyterian women of our city will be glad to know that an interesting programme has been prepared for the 16th Anniversary of their Synodical Society of Home and Foreign Missions to be held in the Second Presbyterian church of Rahway on Thursday, Oct. 12th at 9.30 a. m. The general exercises will be preceded by a union pray-meeting at 9 o'clock.

Miss Florence Stephenson, Principal of the Industrial School at Asheville, N. C., and Dr. John Hall, D. D. of New York city, will address the Home Mission Society.

The Foreign Society will convene at 1.30 p. m. and addresses will be made by Miss Charlotte Brown of Sidon, Syria, and Rev. Wm. Knox of Japan.

A special invitation is extended to young people. The 5.15 train from Plainfield will enable delegates to participate in the devotional meeting.

Mrs. W. E. Honeyman of Somerset street and Mrs. J. H. Manning of Park avenue, are president and secretary, respectively, of the Synodical Committee of Home Missions of the Presbyterian church of New Jersey.

Advertised Letters.

Remaining in the Plainfield post office for the week ending Oct. 7:

Allerton, Agnes
Brown, Mrs A G
Brown, Sarah F
Burke, Annie
Bowers, Eling
Bocket, Mrs F
Bolen, Mrs
Brady, Rosie
Carter, Sarah F
Cassidy, Jennie
Cluff, Richard
Dalley, Mrs Ann
Dyer, Rev John G
Drake, Mrs K
Dunn, Mrs Mary
Dunn, Miss Mary
Gautier, Yost
Healy, Johnson Hand, E H
Hollenbeck, Adelaide
Johnson, W B
Lewis, Mrs Wm
Lee, P H
Murphy, D S
Marland, Ginna
Miller, G
Mills, James
Mills, Mrs Jas
Perry, Mrs Ann
Probst, J D
Pierson, Mrs I M.
Powell, Mrs
Townsend, Mrs M E
Volland, Frank

Persons calling for the above please say "advertised." E. R. POPE, P. M.

In Justice Mosher's Court.

Yesterday afternoon the case of Barnett vs. Terrell, on contempt, was to have been tried before Justice Mosher and a jury. Both men are Westfielders. When the Justice called up the case, Mr. Terrell's lawyer filed a suit against the plaintiff. In order to look into the matter the counsel for the plaintiff asked for an adjournment of one week, which was granted.

Bitten by the Cat He Aided.

A young son of Detective John Keenan of Somerville, was severely bitten through the left hand by a cat. He was trying to release the animal from a steel trap. The cat had been caught by the foreleg, which it was chewing off to release itself. The boy's injury is very painful, but as far his physician fears no serious result.

Firemen Invited to Attend Church.

The Rev. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, has extended to the members of the Fire Department an invitation to attend divine service, on Sunday, Oct. 22, when he will preach a special sermon to them.

Lorraine Water Company.

The Lorraine Water Company is being organized to put in water. The supply will come from the basins of the Union Water Company which gets its supply from this city. The capital stock is $15,000.

OUR SCHOOL TRUSTEES.

MEETING OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

Bills Ordered Paid—Two Teachers Resign, and Two Appointed—All the old Janitors Appointed at the Same Salaries—Other Matters.

The regular October meeting of the Board of Education was held in the Stillman High School yesterday afternoon.

President Babcock was absent, owing to illness. All the other members were present. Dr. Probasco was elected vice-president pro tem.

The following bills were presented and ordered paid:

James R. Wilson	$272 34
Miller Brothers Co	7 20
Babcock & Wilcox Co	297 00
Babcock Boss Co	22 50
J. H. Cheeseman	10 00
Gunn & Co	24 00
Oliver Ditson Co	2 00
George E. Perry & Co	10 80
E. E. Smith & Co	1,397 61
Johnston Harvester & Co	24 00
N. Y. & N. J. Telephone Co	49 00
J. B. Dickerson	9 75
Van Cleft & Co	3 00
Plainfield Water Supply Co	21 00
G. Q. Packard	21 00
Plainfield Press	21 00
Joseph Sohl	5 75
Wm. Hall & Co	17 00
George B. Sohlbrecht	19 00
F. O. Smith	169 75
S. H. Gilbert	145 00
Spencer Conway	1 20
Thomas Peterson	8 00
A. Bergen	8 00
Fernando Brown	11 25
I. H. Borden	7 00
G. W. Hubbard	7 00
Plainfield Evening News	3 00
A. L. Force	3 00
Gunn & Co	24 00
C. P. Hoick	5 15

THE Collector Johnson's report was read, stating that he had collected and deposited in the bank to the credit of the schools, $20,436 and $117.36. His report was received and adopted.

Dr. Probasco, of the Committee on Teachers, reported that Mr. Fred C. Harman and Miss Scatter had sent in their resignations as teachers. He moved that the resignations be accepted and that Mrs. H. Bleuvelt and Miss Louise Billings be appointed in their places. The report was received, and the recommendation adopted. He also recommended that Miss Manson, who played the piano at the music recitals, and who had been receiving $6 per month, be given $10 per month, as she now plays Wednesdays and Thursdays, instead of only Wednesdays as heretofore. The Board adopted the recommendation.

Prof. Manson made the following report concerning the attendance at the schools:

"The fall term opened with every school in session, and there has been hardly any absence from sickness during the month.

"The attendance has increased considerably in all the schools, but particularly in the Bryant school. They have been crowded from the start, and in all the schools, 1,720 pupils, which is an increase of 113 over the number enrolled at this time last year.

"This increased attendance has necessitated much changing of pupils in order to relieve the crowded rooms, and several rooms are still crowded.

"In the Bryant school, where one room had over seventy pupils, it was necessary to take the children from two other rooms to make them smaller, and also in order to give room to divide this large school. In school rooms that are the size of ours, 65 pupils are as many as can be properly accommodated, but in the Bryant school there are now six rooms that have more than this number, and in other buildings there are four more, having numbers in some cases being nearly sixty.

"The entering class in the high school numbers 87. Its session, which began at 2.30 p. m. to one p. m. has been continued this term and seems to give general satisfaction.

"In accordance with the plan suggested last term, I have arranged for the science teacher, Mr. Hoick, to give instructions in chemistry science in the grammar grade. He is now giving two lessons each week to the pupils in the rooms of the 8th and 9th grades. The pupils enjoy the experiments, the class led by the teacher to draw their own deductions, and the next day give in writing the results. I also draw illustrations of the apparatus used.

"The work thus serves not only to give information, but also to train them in observing closely, in making careful deductions, in drawing from memory, and in expressing what they see and think concisely in good English. It also affords a pleasant variety to the monotony of school duties, and I would suggest to introduce work of a similar nature into all the lower grades."

PROF. MANSON,
Superintendent of Schools.

Prof. Manson also reported that the music teacher had called his attention to the bad condition of the singing books in the grammar grades. He suggested that the Board purchase 60 new books for the High School, giving the old books in part payment. This would reduce the cost of the books considerably. On motion it was decided to purchase 60 new books in accordance with the suggestion of Prof. Manson.

It was reported that 6439 had been received for tuition for the present term, from 68 out-of-town pupils.

Dr. Probasco stated that it was the custom to re-elect janitors for the different schools at this meeting. As no complaints had been received against the old janitors, Mr. Lounsbury moved that they be re-appointed. They are as follows:

Mr. Clarkson, janitor of the Stillman and Franklin buildings, salary $100 per month.

Mr. Hope, janitor of the Bryant, salary $70 per month.

Mr. Moody, janitor of the Washington, salary $60 per month.

Mr. Walker, janitor of the Irving, salary $60.

Dr. Probasco said he had noticed as the scholars marched into the Stillman building yesterday, that the front door took through the building. He suggested that the children break step as they enter the door. Prof. Manson said that he would see to it that the children break step hereafter as they enter the building.

Dr. Probasco appointed Messrs. Finch and Lounsbury as an Auditing Committee for the ensuing year.

Dr. Probasco said that the chimneys on the Franklin Building had been reported by Smith & Co., who had made an examination of the furnaces and chimneys, as needing to be built six or eight feet higher to insure a perfect draught. As the present fire was also high owing to the poor draught of the chimneys, the tops of which were below the peaks of the building.

He said he had instructed Mr. John P. Blanchard, the master mechanic, to have the chimneys built three feet higher.

As there was no other business to come before the meeting the Board adjourned.

BY WHAT THEY NOW DO.

They Shower Honors on "The News."

Carrier pigeons will be used to-day by the New York Herald, and other New York papers for the first time, to give a quick record of the races. This is the first time they have been thus used by metropolitan papers. In this they are behind two years behind THE NEWS, which claims that it was first to use the birds in this way, and was in consequence the only paper in existence to give the result of the last international race the same day it occurred.

THE NEWS' reporter, Mr. George W. Morrison, was one of the first to arrive at the races, and the only other paper so closely represented was the New York Sun. Its reporter, depending on the telegraph, was unable to equal THE NEWS. He was taken by surprise, and in administration of the enterprise of a paper in so small a town, proposed three cheers, in which all hands aboard heartily joined.

They all use pigeons now. We led the way.

Six months ago the New York papers began using illustrations, giving a peculiar, but exceedingly artistic effect. These did not show harsh lines, but soft crayon stipple effects.

That was another new idea in which THE NEWS was several years ahead, as that superior class of illustrations was first produced several years ago. One of the talented gentlemen in charge of the art work on a leading New York paper saw these crayon effects in THE NEWS a year ago, recognized their superiority from an artistic point of view and the result has been their adoption in New York papers where particularly nice work is desired.

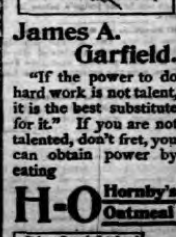
There is one thing still in which THE NEWS never, as yet, has been equaled. We have photographed a fire by night, and had a half tone illustration of it in THE NEWS of the following day. To photograph a fire as all, with its troublesome yellow light, was generally considered impossible, and to have a half tone engraved of it in so short a time was never known before, and no one, so far as we know, has equaled it since.

The Linden Race-Track Case.

There were no new developments yesterday in the Linden race-track license matter. The Union County Grand Jury is in session, but so far no evidence has been submitted relative to the bribery allegations. The anti-race-track leaders held secret conferences yesterday. The race-track men think their talk of indictment is only a bluff to scare them, and they are going ahead with their preparations for racing on Oct. 14.

A Fire Alarm for Rahway.

At the meeting of the Common Council last night it was resolved to accept the Gamewell Fire-Alarm Telegraph as erected by Mr. Nathaniel Jaques. The system will have a public test some day next week.



James A. Garfield.

"If the power to do hard work is not talent, it is the best substitute for it." If you are not talented, don't fret, you can obtain power by eating

H-O Hornby's Oatmeal

It is easily assimilated and delicious in flavor. I regularly use your Oatmeal.
GEO. GOULD.
New York, [illegible]

The H-O Company, New York.

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE.

The Yacht Race.

The Valkyrie Leading at 2.00 This Afternoon.—At Four o'Clock 22 Minutes Ahead.

New York, Oct. 5—2.30 p. m.—The yachts Valkyrie and Vigilant started at 11.30 o'clock this morning. There was a heavy fog, which lifted at about two o'clock and showed the Valkyrie in the lead, which she increased until at 2.00 she was a quarter of a mile ahead.

LATER.

4 p. m.—The Valkyrie is 22 minutes ahead. The race is not finished and it is doubtful if it will be, there being no wind.

Killed by an Electric Car.

Orange, N. J., Oct. 5.—Ann Bethun, the 8 year-old daughter of Charles Bellum of West Orange, while on her way to school this morning, was struck by an electric car and knocked down. The child's skull was fractured and her right leg horribly mangled. She was taken to the Memorial Hospital, where she died at 10 o'clock. The conductor and motorman were arrested.

The State Endeavor Convention.

The preparations are progressing finely for the two-day meeting that will be held October 21 and 22. At a meeting of the Trenton Local Union last week the following were appointed a committee of forty of the 1200 endeavorers are spoken to the responsibilities upon them in the entertainment of so large a body of delegates as invitations promise will be at the seventh State convention. The transportation committee has perfected arrangements with the railways whereby reduced rates have been secured for all who attend. The badges have been chosen. The large choir from all the societies is now in course of rehearsals. The three Paul's choirs are well and favorably known, have been secured to add in the music for the two days.

Madame Iza Lezem's Conservatory

will open on

Friday, October 6,

in HULETT'S HALL, for instruction in Physical Culture, Delsarte, Elocution, Deportment, Singing, Violin, Piano, Society and Fancy Dancing.

Reception on October 5, from 3 to 5 p. m., to which all ladies are cordially invited. For particulars address to the Hall, or 159 West Front street. 10 2 tf

To World's Fair For Only $43.

Next and last tours (Honeymoon's Private Tours) to World's Fair, October 9th, Nine and ten days, board included and hotel rooms, only $43. Another of twelve days. Prices still lower. Send stamp for booklet. Mr. and A. V. D. Honeyman, 191 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J. 10 4 tf

World's Fair Excursion Tickets!

Going and returning via all the different lines, with or without hotel accommodations at

FRANK'S

Lowest Rate Railroad and Steamship Agency.

345 AND 347 BROADWAY, Corner Leonard Street, NEW YORK.

Lowest rates to all parts of the World. Tickets purchased and exchanged. Sleeping berths reserved. Baggage transferred.

MEMBER AMERICAN TICKET BROKERS' ASSOCIATION. 10 5 3m

DON'T FORGET!

the

AUCTION - SALE

at

CAREY'S, Friday Afternoon, at 2 p. m.,

Corner Front and Grove streets, Plainfield, New Jersey.

T. J. CAREY, - Auctioneer.

UMBRELLA - SALE.

GLORIA SILK, 26-inch, 89 cents each. PARAGON FRAME.

GEO. L. VAN EMBURGH & SON, FRONT STREET, OPPOSITE PARK AVENUE UNDER THE BANK.

Cent-a-Word Column.

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Five boxes, Plant place, near Watson's Farms, (Washington Park.) Mulford broker.

HELP WANTED.

WANTED—Competent woman for general housework. No washing. Apply 718 Central avenue. 4 4

WANTED—Competent girl for general housework. Must have references. Apply at 320 Watchung avenue. 3 3

WANTED—A girl for general housework. Call at 142 Grove street. 4 4

WANTED—A man, experienced canvasser once required. Apply Traveler and Wide Awake rooms, after seven o'clock, second floor, Hillside avenue and Prospect avenue. 3 3

SITUATIONS WANTED.

ELDERLY woman wishes employment of any kind. Address "Mrs. H. H.," care of Warner House. 4 4

A YOUNG girl wishes situation as chamber-maid and waitress, or as light housework and waitress. Call at 24 Race street. Good references 4 4

WANTED—Work by assistant dressmaker and seamstress. Address "S," Evening News office. 4 4

FOR RENT.

NICELY furnished rooms to let. 218 Second street. 9 10

FOR RENT—Dwelling, No. 226 Somerset street. Six rooms. Water garden. $12 per month. Call at News office. 10 3 tf

FOUR pleasant connected rooms to let, 224 Third street, corner Central avenue. 30 6

TO LET—A furnished room with or without board to a lady. 320 East Fifth street. 9 17tf

TO LET—Seven room house near Pond's. Also twelve room house on Front street, both in good order. Enquire, City Mills. 8 6 tf

LOST AND FOUND.

LOST—A lady's gold watch and chain, in the vicinity of Park and Prospect avenues. A liberal reward paid for its return to this office for owner. 5 5

BOARDERS WANTED.

BOARDERS—Large rooms, good table, home comforts. 69 Sandford avenue. 5 5

Prof. F. C. Armstrong

begs to inform the public that he is prepared to teach on the Banjo and Guitar, and has made his headquarters at the Hulett studio. Commencing to-morrow afternoon, Friday, would be pleased to see all those who desire to receive instructions on these instruments. Prof. Armstrong comes to Plainfield highly recommended.

Plainfield Manual Training School,

300 EAST FRONT STREET.

The course of study includes fifteen lessons each week, in the various branches taught, for which the charge is two dollars per week. Lessons in any of the branches will be given singly, at correspondingly low prices. Visitors will be welcome on Monday, Tuesday and Friday. JOHN DALZELL, Principal.

GERMAN SCHOOL.

The German school and Nursery avenue, opens on Saturday, October 14, 1893, at 9 o'clock a. m. Rev. A. Klonka. 10 5 2t

EDITORIAL NOTES

Mr. Schurz Is Scared.

Apparently Carl Schurz fears the United States is on the point of annexing Mexico and all the Central and South American republics and the outlying islands, revolutions and all. One judges this to be the case from his paper on "Manifest Destiny" in Harper's Magazine. He begins by supposing that we annex Cuba, since it is near the Florida coast, very fertile and a menace to our manifest destiny. Cuba being taken possession of, what is to hinder annexing the Haytian islands for the same reason, and that being done, why should we not take in Mexico and all the rest of the Spanish Americans and incorporate them in our republic?

Then, having already annexed all these in his mind, Mr. Schurz goes on to predict the dire train of evils that would follow. No republic ever prospered and endured long in a tropical climate, says he. The reason is that in a warm climate people are too lazy to work steadily, being able so supply their bodily needs without it. The permanency of republicanism depends on the being compelled to work steadily for a living, according to the Schurzian logic. Perhaps it is true.

If we annex all South America to us, we shall have to admit on an equal footing with ourselves in government and in law various states all the amongred population south of us—part negro, part Spanish, part Indian—and, in Mr. Schurz's estimation, wholly heathen. What will then become of us? he asks triumphantly. The Lord knows. We ourselves wouldn't like to live to see it. But who wants the Spanish American republics to become part of this Union? Did Mr. Schurz ever hear any "manifest destiny" American hint that he had barred to take to his bosom as a man and brother any of the citizens named? It is bad enough to be forced thus to take some that we have among us already, and the average American will not do it except at election time.

At the close of Carl's paper we find the real motive. Its sting is in the tail, so to speak. He has fired off all these heavy guns against the proposed annexation of poor little Hawaii. He will indeed permit Canada to come in and be one of us if she wants to, because her people are similar to our own, but there he draws the line. Hawaii, never! But we would like to ease Mr. Schurz's mind. Therefore we will recall to him the fact that the heathen native population of Hawaii is dying off at a rate that will soon leave some white nation to take peaceable possession. And if not, the Americans who shall it be?

The Great Yacht Race.

It was in December, 1892, that the challenge was received from Lord Dunraven to race for the famous cup which had been won 41 years before from England by the yacht America and has never been got back again by any English boat. The challenge was accepted, and now the best racing yacht in England, the Valkyrie, meets the Vigilant, the best racing yacht in the United States. These boats are, like race horses, absolutely of no value except to bet on and show how fast they can be made to go. Their quarters are too cramped for anybody to stow himself away comfortably, even for a few days outing. But they each carry sail enough, if it were all spread out, to cover several city lots, and we shall find out when the race is done what sails the American or British way of building racing yachts makes them go the faster. The Vigilant is of the favorite Yankee centerboard pattern.

The dimensions of the two boats are as follows:

Valkyrie, length over all, 126; length water line, 85.30; beam, 25.6; draft, 18.4.

Vigilant, length over all, 126; length water line, 84.12; beam, 26; draft, 14.

It will be seen the Englich cutter has more length over all and more draft. Her bow is an improvement on the bow of the Queen Mab. She has the good points of a cutter and centerboarder. Her counter measures 30 feet. The body of the hull runs aft. The lines are fine. All in all she is a very powerful boat.

Gladstone becomes more and more of a terror in his sarcasm and eloquence the older he grows. His language becomes less scholastic and more Anglo-Saxon. An American stump orator could not be more plain and direct than he was in the speech in which he chastised the house of lords for its claim that it had the right to force a dissolution of parliament by obstinately holding out against home rule. The ministry had the right to recommend a dissolution of parliament, said Gladstone, and the house of commons had the right by its vote to force a dissolution. "But," continued he, "no such thing has been recorded at any period of our history as a dissolution brought about by a vote of the house of lords. Such a contention is a gross, a monstrous innovation, an odious new fangled doctrine, and no one are fonder of these doctrines than the modern Tories, except it be the modern Unionists. But in addition to being a new fangled doctrine I hold that it is nothing less than high treason if this is to continue to be a self governing country."

One-fourth of British investments abroad are in the United States. When it is all counted up it is found that Great Britain owns over $1,080,000,000 of the wealth of the United States. Talk of war between England and America!

1,200 ARE DEAD.

Later Reports of the Storm Add Still More Horrors.

A STORY OF DEATH AND RUIN

The Path of the Hurricane Marked by Desolation and Destruction.

Detailed Statement of Matthew Schurz, an Eye Witness of the Havoc Wrought at Chenieres, Where the Loss of Life Is Placed at 800—The Wind Picked the Roofs Off as Though They Had Been Shaved From the Rafters With a Knife. Many a Pile of Rubbish Was the Temporary Grave of a Family—The Number of Dead Will Never Be Known Accurately.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 5.—The latest advices from the section of the state devastated by Sunday night's storm indicate that the death list will reach the appalling total of 1,200.

Train crews arriving on the Grand Island road report the track covered with debris, in which dead bodies are profusely interlarded, and one of the passengers reported that he counted no less than 87 bodies on his journey to this city from that part of the destroyed district. The country throughout is a scene of wreck and devastation. The trains which reached New Orleans last evening brought a number of the Bayou Cook survivors to the city, many of them wretchedly attired and their faces bearing the marks of fearful suffering. Tony Negrotich, one of the survivors, reports that 87 bodies had been found thrown up to the levee he left, and from information volunteered by other arrivals it is estimated that 300 people perished on Bayou Cook and in that section of the country.

The deaths at other points all the way from Bayou Cook to Grand Isle and Cheniere will swell the total to more than 1,200, according to the best information now obtainable. At Grand Bayou not less than 30 perished.

Fury of the Wind and Waves.

It is learned that the loss of life in Rosario and Linion islands has been great. No definite information has yet been received from Grand Island. The tracks are completely washed away, and as there is no communication by telegraph, it is impossible to verify the report that there has been great loss of life at that point. The houses on Grand Isle are built on a ridge that runs through the middle of the island, and many of them are sheltered by the trees, it is difficult to calculate what the result of the storm has been. There are only about 200 residents on the island, and no one has arrived from there.

From the meager details at hand it is highly probable that the greatest destruction of life occurred at Chenels, a settlement of 3,000 people, mostly fishermen, on the mainland west of Grand island. Here the wind and waves dealt out death in an appalling manner. Wrecks and wreckage are strewn everywhere, and the pictures, from descriptions by one or two refugees, are heart rending. The loss of life there is variously estimated at from 500 to 800.

A SURVIVOR'S STORY.

Graphic Story of the Storm's Fury at the Cheniere Settlement.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 5.—Mr. Matthew Schurz of Goubilliere, just opposite the city, was one of the survivors of the Cheniere calamity and arrived here on the steamer Good Mother. He brought with him a harrowing story of the storm's fury and of the loss of life at Cheniere. Mr. Schurb went to the island about four weeks ago with Mr. George Thompson and a negro bricklayer named Louis Roberts for the purpose of constructing a schoolhouse. He engaged a house in which there was a very large family, not less than 25 in all. The house was a rude establishment of boards, but it had withstood many gales, and the occupants of it felt reasonably safe from the storm. It turned out to be the tomb of probably a score of persons. Mr. Schurb on Sunday night had an intuition, never enough to cause a man's hair grow, and when he reached the city he showed the results of the peril he had been through.

He was a sad sight. What clothes he had were torn into shreds, his face was bruised, and he had not yet recovered from the stupefying effect of exhaustion and the frightful scenes of death he had witnessed. Mr. Schurb estimates that the loss of life on Grand Isle and Cheniere, Caminada and the Grand Lake, Adams, Cook, Calcasieu and Trister Bayou settlements will reach 600. When he left Cheniere island, he counted but five houses standing out of a total of about 300, while the land was covered with corpses.

Story of One Who Survived.

Mr. Schurb said that the wind began to blow hard early on Sunday evening, and at 9 o'clock it had reached the proportions of a hurricane. From that time on it continued to increase in fury, and as it heightened, the waters of the gulf began to sweep over the head of the island in huge waves, covering the land and joining into the bosoms of the hundreds of residents of the island.

By 9 o'clock there was an average depth of 3 feet of water, and at midnight a depth of 8 feet of water, while the current was as swift as the Mississippi river when that mighty torrent is back full. No person could stand up against it. As the wind increased in severity the houses began to go to pieces. The wind picked the roofs off as though they had been shaved from the rafters with a great carving knife. Then the buildings began to rock violently, and one by one they were torn to pieces, crushing down upon and killing their occupants and then quickly drifting away with the powerful current that was sweeping irresistibly across the land.

Mr. Schurb, Mr. Thompson and a negro bricklayer were in a house in which there were fully 25 people, all huddled together and terror stricken at the mighty rage of the elements. Suddenly there was a fearful creaking of timbers, and the roof caved in, burying nearly every one of the party, only Mr. Schurb and the bricklayer escaping.

Saved a Woman and Child.

Mr. Schurb clung to some floating debris until he saw a bright light in a house. He broke away from the timber and swam to the house and was admitted. There were several people in the house. Mr. Schurb had hardly entered, however, when the structure went to pieces, and out of the 10 who were in it only Mr. Schurb, a lady and a child got out.

Mr. Schurb succeeded in getting the lady and baby to a tree, and there the party stood until 4 o'clock in the morning, when the wind began to abate. The negro bricklayer managed to reach the pole to which fishing smacks are usually tied, and clung to it during the whole terrible night, finally being saved.

Mr. Schurb estimates that there were 20 people killed in the house from which he first escaped.

Mr. Schurb says his night's experience was horrible. The wind howled, the cabins crashed, and the shrieks and groans of the wounded and dying made his blood almost curdle. While he remained in the trees, waves washed over him that were mountain high, but he and the lady and her baby clung tenaciously to the limbs for support and saved themselves from being washed away into the howling gulf around them.

A Picture of Desolation.

When daylight broke, the picture of desolation was awful, to behold. Only here and there stood a house. Everywhere there were only brick foundations to mark where homes stood. Trees lay prostrate upon the ground. Timber was lodged in piles in indiscriminate confusion, where it had been thrust by the mighty rush of the waters.

Ruined chimneys suggested stories of stricken hearths. Furniture, bedding, clothes, stoves, kitchen utensils and other household goods were scattered in promiscuous confusion wherever the vision was able to reach, and here and there among where were the ghastly faces of corpses turned upward to the skies, now bright and beautiful with the mild autumn sun, and bearing no traces of the fury of the night. Upon many of them there were still evidences of the terrible agony that they had suffered before death came to relieve them of their troubles. Many of the men, women and children had lived through the night, but mortally wounded, and with nothing to quench their burning thirst or lend assistance at hand had given up the struggle. There were broken arms and broken ribs, bruised and battered bodies, faces slashed out of all human resemblance. Many a pile of debris was the temporary grave of a family.

The Sun Says 8,000 Were Killed.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The Sun says: "Exactly 8,000 killed and $5,000,000 of property destroyed is the result of the great gulf storm of two days ago in Louisiana. More than half the population in the region over which the hurricane swept is dead."

Today's Great Yacht Race.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The yacht race for the America's cup began this morning at 11:25, and at this time thousands of eager and excited spectators are pushing each other on the decks of every kind of craft in their endeavors to see the great race. Last night the Valkyrie received 1 minute and 48 seconds time allowance over the Vigilant.

Iron Phenomenal Playing.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Ives smashed all records in his match with the English champion Roberts. He made runs of 651, 315 and 200 last night and averaged over 92 to an inning. By doing so he overcame a lead of 945 gained by Roberts, and is now ahead in the international match. The total score to date is: Ives, 4,022; Roberts, 4,487.

Church Trouble Over Women Bicyclists.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Oct. 5.—The High Street M. E. church is reported to be in turmoil on the propriety of women riding bicycles. It originated from the fact that Mrs. Burrows, a widow, bought a wheel and has since enjoyed herself on it. Her friends threaten to carry the matter before the next conference.

A Deficit of Half a Million Alleged.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Lawyer Eugene Frazer has at the instance of certain stockholders been investigating the accounts of the American Steam Boiler Insurance company, and he said yesterday that he had discovered a deficit of $511,257.44.

Punishment Not Fitted to the Crime.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 5.—A prominent merchant of Moscow has been found guilty of wholesale murder and sentenced to hard labor for life. He killed his parents, three sisters, his wife and his wife's parents in order to secure their property.

The Latest About Bismarck.

BERLIN, Oct. 5.—Dr. Chrysander, the physician attending Prince Bismarck, telegraphs from Kissingen that the alarming statements regarding Prince Bismarck are quite unfounded and that the prince's condition is appreciably better.

Football Scores.

BOSTON, Oct. 5.—Football results yesterday: Amherst, 26; Agricultural college, 0. Andover, 16; Bowdoin, 0. Harvard, 54; Holders, 0. Harvard, 6; Harvard's, 0. Yale, and eleven, 6. Waltham high school, 18; Allen school, 0.

Attacked by a Bondsman.

NORWALK, Conn., Oct. 5.—Ellen Jane, an infant, was severely bitten by a large dog, and last night while asleep. The dog, the child's fingers were literally chewed off, and the rodent's teeth penetrated the palm.

Probably Fell Over a Ledge.

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 5.—James H. Clarke, a noted insect and fern collector, has disappeared under circumstances which indicate that he fell off an island part of a ledge and was drowned to death.

Fifth Attempt to Burn a Horse.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Another mysterious fire broke out in Police Justice Hogan's house last night, making the fifth fire that has broken out in the judge's house in as many days.

Still Numbers Ing Rio de Janeiro.

BUENOS AYRES, Oct. 5.—The warships of the insurgent fleet in the bay of Rio de Janeiro are still firing shot into Fort Santa Cruz, near the entrance to the harbor.

Highway Robbery at Providence.

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 5.—J. B. Winnette, a quarry foreman, was robbed and beaten seriously by highwaymen. Two Italians have been arrested for the crime.

David Dudgeon Died Dead.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—The reported death of David Dudgeon, the author of "May Blossom" and other novels, is false. He is alive and hard at work on another play.

To Condemn Van Alen.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—The senate foreign committee, it is reported, decided to report favorably the nomination of J. J. Van Alen to be ambassador to Italy.

Yale's First Victory.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 5.—Yale opened the football season here by defeating the strong Brown team in a well played game by the score of 18 to 0.

Lehigh Valley Shops on Full Time.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Oct. 5.—Orders have been received putting the Lehigh Valley railroad shops on full time for the rest of the year.

MUCH TALK FOR SILVER

Three Speeches In the Senate For the White Metal.

STRONG PLEAS FOR A COMPROMISE.

Messrs. Butler, Blackburn and Call Strong by Advocate Bimetallism—Mr. Compton Argued For Repeal of the Federal Election Law—Carlisle's Policy Explained.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Two of the most eloquent and exciting speeches that have been made in the senate chamber since the debate on the silver purchase repeal bill began were delivered by Democratic Southern senators, Messrs. Butler of South Carolina and Blackburn of Kentucky. Each speech lasted about two hours, and each was listened to by a large and appreciative audiences, both on the floor and in the galleries. They were both against the repeal bill and in favor of such a compromise as would result in a permanent establishment of bimetallism. Mr. Butler referred to the rumors concerning President Cleveland which encouraged to influence legislation and proclaimed his belief that there was no truth in them. As to the suggestion that the minority was trying to coerce the majority, he asserted that it was neither coercing nor would it be coerced.

Mr. Butler said in part: "It may strike down business corpse, you may destroy the bill of rights, you may destroy trial by jury and other monuments of American liberty, and a people accustomed to freedom will get along somehow and after awhile they will get used to it. Speculation of this or any other country at the mercy of a privileged money class, you had better look out for what winds the desert, and let them sweep over that country. The destruction will follow as surely as the day follows the night. England has destroyed the people of Ireland in that way. England has destroyed the people of Poland. Turkey has destroyed the people of the Danubian provinces, and the same power will destroy the people of this country if that power is not sought out, dethroned and destroyed.

Approaching Napoleonic Conditions.

"I have no sympathies with domestic views or with foreign views that are in derogation of person and property. But, Mr. President, when you give control—such as has been asserted to bring on this panic—to any set of men, you are giving to the conditions brought about in France by Napoleon III, who established under the rule of universal suffrage the direst despotism of modern times.'

Mr. Blackburn made an appeal for speedy action on a compromise measure and said that he would offer one himself today. He declared emphatically that he would have no part in deferring or delaying a settlement of the question. He appealed to Democratic senators to disprove the insinuation that the Democracy was unable to govern the country.

A quotation by Mr. Blackburn from the platform of the Republican party adopted at Minneapolis led Mr. Washburn to state it as his judgment that the adoption of free coinage of silver would lead to monometallism.

"Does the senator from Minnesota," Mr. Blackburn asked, "feel that he is making good the pledge which his party gave to the American people by voting for a bill which demonetises silver and strikes it from the list of money metals of the country?"

Mr. Washburn's reply was:

"I believe," was Mr. Washburn's reply, "that the repeal of the Sherman act will be the taking of the first step toward genuine bimetallism. I hope that taking is done I do not believe that there can be genuine bimetallism."

"I senator from Minnesota will permit me," said Mr. Blackburn, "to suggest that the propositon, as he states it, would be the employment of the most heroic meth. ods ever known. It is to dispose of the impotent before you begin to build up his system. It is to cut off the head of silver altogether. Does the senator mean that after we have slain the dead we will have courage enough not to bury it, and trust to the interposition of the Almighty to bring about a resurrection?"

The third speech of the day, also made by a southern Democratic senator—Mr. Call of Florida—was in opposition to repeal.

In the house in Congress at Maryland made a strong constitutional argument against the federal election laws, but he was followed by a score handful of representatives. Mr. Lane of Illinois received little more attention when he spoke in the same line. Mr. Sweet of Idaho editorial ly lectured Chairman Mutchler of South Carolina, the colored member of the house, did not touch the memtory of the proposed repeal, but he opposed the passage of the repeal bill.

Mr. Carlisle Explains His Policy.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Secretary Carlisle sent to the speaker of the house a letter explaining of his silver purchase policy. The letter gives the reasons for the greatly the price of silver had fluctuated, he says:

"In view of these facts it seems eminently proper that, as the government of the United States is the largest purchaser of silver in the world, the secretary of the treasury, after an examination of the offers and estimates of sales, should determine what in his judgment is a fair market price. It is evident that there are but two courses open to the secretary. He must purchase 4,500,000 ounces of silver each month at whatever price may be asked by the dealers, no matter how unreasonable or extortionate that may be, or he must employ such means as are at his command to ascertain what the actual market price is, and make an offer to make the purchase of that amount, and it is simply because the dealers were not willing to accept what was considered a fair market price that 4,500,000 ounces were not purchased during the months of July and August."

Amendment to the Chinese Act.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Mr. McCreary, from the committee on foreign affairs, submitted to the house, with the recommendation that it pass, a bill amending the Chinese exclusion act so as to extend the time six months in which Chinese persons may register and obtain certificates of residence.

Fourth Class Postmasters.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—The following fourth class postmasters were appointed:

New York—R. W. Haines, Ashford; M. W. Fancher, Potter.

Pennsylvania—John Lamont, New Texas; D. W. Doyle, Thorn Springs.

Lively Scenes at Tredyffrin.

PHOENIXVILLE, N. Y., Oct. 5.—The case of a livery team out on the Central turnpike Joseph Jumped from the track and struck a freight car on the side track, throwing it in front of the south bound express, the engine of which struck it, and the engineer was thrown into the river, carrying the engineer, William McQuinn, with it, but he got ashore with hardly a scratch on him. The fireman was only slightly injured.

Hood's Cures

Master Gussie Powell.

"As the result of a fall, severe inflammation settled in my boy's eyes. We had to keep them in a darkened room, and it seemed he would lose his sight entirely. Hood's Sarsaparilla effected a cure. While taking Hood's Sarsaparilla he was also troubled with a cough. He says Hood's Sarsaparilla cured his cough and made him feel well." MRS. F. POWELL, 205 Sixth St., Troy, N. Y.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One Medicine you hear more of. Hood's Pills Cure all Liver Ills. 25c.

Stoves For Winter,

Hardware of all Kinds,

Everything From Tacks to Furnaces.

A. M. GRIFFEN,

13 EAST FRONT STREET. Telephone 6.

JOSEPH SOHL,

PRACTICAL

Electrician

49 NORTH AVENUE.

Plainfield, N. J.

Estimates furnished on Electric Light Wiring, Burglar Alarm and Bell Work and repairing of same. Dealer in

Electric and Gas Fixtures.

The only place to buy

Sea Food!

is at

TERRY'S

North Avenue Sea Food Market,

where you will find the biggest Stock in Plainfield. Also, all other kinds in season, at the lowest prices.

OPENING

of Fall and Winter

Millinery and Jackets,

Wednesday, Thursday and Friday,

SEPTEMBER 13, 14 AND 15.

Having re-modeled and greatly enlarged our Millinery Department, we are this season enabled to show our customers a line of Parisian Millinery second to none in the State, and at New York City prices. Our Trimming Department is under the management of Miss Carrie Kinney, whose superior style of trimming gave perfect satisfaction last season. We will also open an elegant desk of Fall Jackets for Ladies, Misses and Children.

Boehm's.

Metropolitan Livery and Boarding Stables!

Coaches, Close Carriages, Park Phaetons, Surreys, Buggies, Pony Phaetons and Saddle horses.

Special care given boarding horses. Storage for furniture and carriages.

149 AND 151 NORTH AVENUE.

Opposite depot. Telephone Call, 44.

H. R. RIDER, Proprietor. FRANK DAY, Manager

Special Notices.

New York Law School

120 Broadway, New York City. Incorporated 1891. Faculty of students, 1891-92, 2081; 1892-93, 2608. Graduates, about 2000. United States, except one. Evening sessions. Degree of LL.B. given after two years' course. Next term begins Oct. 2nd. Tuition fee, $100. Re-opens October 1, 1893. Address GEORGE CHASE, Dean. 5 t Sep.

Van Eps,

THE NEW JEWELER.

12 Park Avenue. Also a large variety of Musical Goods.

Educational.

HARNED - - ACADEMY.

BOARDING AND DAY SCHOOL.

New School Buildings,
Competent Instructors,
Students Prepared for College,
For Business, and
In Special Subjects.

For circulars, address "Harned Academy, Plainfield, N. J."

Plainfield Seminary,

re-opened

SEPTEMBER 14, 1893.

(26th year.)

MISS R. R. KENYON, Principal.

FRENCH LESSONS.

MME. DE LAMARRE, Instructress in French Language. Class or private lessons at residence or at Plainfield Seminary. Highest references. Pupils prepared for Vassar, Wellesley and Smith College. Terms moderate. Address, 18 Grove Street, Plainfield, N. J.

MISS JEANNETTE MATTHEW,

Graduate, Primary and Intermediate Methods, Kindergarten, Physical Culture. Private lessons in Calisthenics. An opportunity to join a class for practice in Physical Culture will be given to those who desire it. Address at Woodbridge, from 2 to 5 p. m.

MISS JEANNETTE MATTHEW,

Graduate, Primary and Intermediate Methods, Kindergarten, Physical Culture. Private lessons in Calisthenics. An opportunity to join a class for practice in Physical Culture will be given to those who desire it. Address at Woodbridge, from 2 to 5 p. m.

Are You Insured?

If you are 21 years old $62.50 paid annually for fifteen years would entitle you to $1,000.

If 25 years old, $67.

If 30 years old, $67.10.

If 35 years old, $67.50.

If 36 years old, $67.70.

This sum of $1,000 is payable to the insured, if living, at the expiration of fifteen years, or at his death if prior.

FOR A LIFE POLICY, of $1,000 the annual payments to continue during life, the payments for young men between 21 and 24 are between $18.60 and $20.

For catalogues and further particulars address Henry D. Morgan, 11 Somerset street, agent, THE NEW YORK MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

F. M. HULETT,

MUSIC DEALER,

74 West Front Street,

handles the following makes:

Gildermeister & Kroeger,
Kranich & Bach,
Starr,
Mulfield,
Jacob Bros. Pianos,
and the world-renowned
Newman Bros., and Mason & Hamlin Organs.

A. W. Rand,

140 WEST FRONT STREET.

Now and second hand

SCHOOL - BOOKS,

School supplies of all kinds.

Those wishing to exchange second hand books must bring them in immediately.

$55!

Six Days at the World's Fair.

A WEEK OF HOLIDAYS.

Railroad tickets, hotel accommodations, admission to Fair, and eleven attractive features provided, including transportation, meals, carriages to and from Midway, carriages, grand entertainments, music, and many other CLUBS, to pay visits to, from Plainfield to engine and hose companies, police bodies and lodges, we can name no more, as space is limited. Special hotel privileges at reduction of cost. We have exclusive arrangements with the great railways terminal in Chicago.

Send for circular, or call at Itinerary, and we will give you points.

WORLD'S COLUMBIAN TOURIST COMPANY,

220 Broadway, New York.

GEORGE C. MCEWEN,
Agent for New Jersey,
624 broad street, Newark.

THE BEE HIVE!

Infants' long Cashmere Cloaks, $1.50, $2.00, $3.25.

Children's Rider down Coats, $1.45, $2.00, $2.25.

Also a full line of Flannel Shirts, Infants' Shawls and Socks.

Fall : Underwear.

Children's merino Vests and Pants, 16-inch, 12c., 18-inch, 16c., 20-inch, 19c., 22-inch, 22c., 24-inch, 25c.

Children's natural wool Vests and Pants, 16-inch, 20c., 18-inch, 25c., 20-inch, 30c., 22-inch, 35c., 24-inch, 40c.

Men's Natural Wool Shirts and Drawers 75c. and $1.00.

Men's Scarlet Shirts and Drawers, 75c., $1.00 and $1.24.

Louis Callman,

223 West Front Street.

The New Address

of Seguine's Livery Stable

is 129 West Second

Street,

in the Elkwood building.

Telephone Call, 25,

Fine horses, carriages, vehicles of all kinds. Horses boarded. Careful drivers.

Cleaner Coal!

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't,

BROADWAY, COR. FOURTH STREET,

Invites the public to inspect the operation of his newly erected coal screens, by which coal cannot be sold unless it is screened, consumers also to deliver cleaner coal than can be had by any other method of screening.

UPPER LEHIGH AND HONEYBROOK COAL, in best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.

ROOMS AND BOARD WANTED.

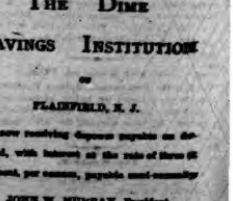
He would also announce to the public that he has opened a restaurant, formerly occupied by Wm. Young, and is prepared to furnish meals at the shortest notice and in the best manner at short prices.

Miscellaneous Cards.

H. E. SPENCER,

Grocer and Confectioner, 78 and 78 Front street, Plainfield. Pure cider, vinegar, 2 years old, 15c. per gallon. Fine teas, coffees, spices, nuts, fruits, wholesale and retail, cooked meats, oysters, clams, lobsters, crabs, prawns, and fresh flowers, sweet potato, and egg plants a specialty.

PLAINFIELD BOULDER EXCAVATING COMPANY



WHEN MONEY IS SCARCE,

and CLOTHING is needed, go to SCHEIFFLING, 329 West Front Street.

Do You?

Intend to invest in a

WHEEL?

If so, call on

Dickinson,

The Optician.

Agent for the Rambler, the best wheel in the market. 4 weights, 26, 28, 30 and 41 lbs. We make to fit or refund the money.

U. B. CRANE,

has the largest stock of

Fine Fall HATS,

in Plainfield.

12 WEST FRONT STREET.

THE DIME SAVINGS INSTITUTION

OF

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three (3) per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually

JOHN W. MURRAY, President.
WILLIAM WHITE, Vice-President.
NATHAN HARPER.
ELIAS S. POPE, Treasurer.

ENGLAND'S COAL FAMINE.

A Vessel Chartered to Bring Fuel From Philadelphia at High Figures.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—The shortage of coal, owing to the colliers' strike and the difficulty of transportation, is becoming worse and worse in nearly every coal center in the kingdom. In Dublin, for instance, the stocks will be exhausted in a month if importations cease. On the London Coal Exchange only trifling supplies are offered, and the demand is strong. The fact that the Durham miners have asked for an advance in wages complicates the present situation. A meeting of the miners and mineowners will be held on Monday to discuss the matter. A remarkable sign of the times is the fact that the firm of Simpson, Spence & Co. of London has chartered a steamer to bring a cargo of coal from Philadelphia, paying 18 shillings and 6 pence per ton freightage. This is declared to be an unprecedented occurrence.

TRYING TO OUST CORBIN.

Report of Attempt to Substitute J. Rogers Maxwell as President.

LONG ISLAND CITY, N. Y., Oct. 5.—It is reported here that a combination has been formed between J. Rogers Maxwell, president of the New Jersey Central and formerly vice president of the Long Island railroad, and Director Pratt of the latter road, for the purpose of deposing President Austin Corbin of the Long Island railroad and placing Maxwell in his stead.

None of the officers of the company could be found to verify or deny the story. It is also said that the Berlin disaster, in which 16 persons were killed and more than 50 injured, will result in a change in the management of the road, and that General Manager E. R. Reynolds and W. H. Blood are mentioned among the officials who may be displaced. Frank M. Kelly, superintendent of ferries, and Assistant Superintendent Gault have resigned.

Why the Count Killed Himself.

MARWAH, N. J., Oct. 5.—It has been learned that Count Rudolph Palffy, who committed suicide, had a quarrel with his wife a few minutes before he shot himself. The quarrel was the result of his wife's refusal to catch some chickens which he had sold. The couple made up, however, and kissed each other. The count left as though to go out of the room, but shot himself before he reached the door.

Scenes After the Battle.

MADRID, Oct. 5.—The field after the battle with the Moors presented a terrible spectacle. The bodies of 100 Moors, terribly mutilated by the Spanish shells, lay in heaps. The village of Prejana was almost wrecked by the fire of the guns of the Spanish fort. The bodies of dozens of human beings and domestic animals were buried under the ruins of the houses.

Senator Quay's Position.

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Oct. 5.—Senator Quay said in an interview: "I am not in favor of free coinage of silver. I will vote for the unconditional repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman act; will vote against any amendment, and will vote against the repeal bill if amended so as to include other financial legislation."

Nuptial Mass In a Protestant Church.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—A nuptial mass was celebrated yesterday at the Church of the Redeemer (Protestant Episcopal) which would have done credit to St. Patrick's cathedral in point of splendor and strict adherence to ritualistic forms. The rector says it is the first time such a celebration has taken place in his church.

Transferring Many Insane People.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Oct. 5.—A novel train came in from the north yesterday. It was a special train of locomotive, baggage car and four ordinary cars, the latter being filled with 150 insane people being transferred from Willard asylum to the Hudson River State hospital.

Administration Men Won.

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 5.—There was a hot fight at the Democratic state convention over the election of a chairman between supporters of Cleveland and the silver men, led by Congressman Bryan, who made a strong speech. The Cleveland men were victorious.

One of the Czar's Birthdays.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 5.—On account of the severity of the press ordinances on the loss of the ironclad Roosalka the Russian press censors have forbidden newspapers to refer to the disasters in any way or to open relief funds without permission.

Suits Against Many Papers.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 5.—Judge Palmer of Philadelphia has instituted suit for libel against four newspapers here and several hundred other papers throughout the country, alleging that he has been libeled through the Associated Press.

Thrown From a Train by a Negro.

HARTFORD, Oct. 5.—A burly negro tried to grab Edward Verville's watch on a train passing through Windsor Locks, and failing placed Verville up and threw him from the train. The latter was badly injured, and the negro escaped.

Run Down by a Train.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 5.—Thomas and John Ackleson, farmers, while driving across the railroad tracks near Bolger station, were run down by an express train. John was instantly killed and Thomas seriously injured.

To Take Action on Lynching.

ATLANTA, Oct. 5.—Bishop Henry Turner has issued a call, couched in emphatic language, for a meeting of colored men to meet at Cincinnati on Nov. 28 to review and pass upon the recent lynchings in the south.

Arrested After Two Years.

NORWALK, Conn., Oct. 5.—William S. Rogers, who mysteriously disappeared from Brooklyn two years ago, after committing forgeries amounting to upward of $5,000, has been arrested here.

The Church In Politics.

JERSEY CITY, Oct. 5.—The clergymen of this city will organize a voters' league at the Second Presbyterian church tonight to assist in electing a sheriff who will enforce the Sunday saloon law.

The Cruiser New York at Brooklyn.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 5.—The new cruiser New York is moored at the Brooklyn navy yard. According to opinions expressed by officials she may not leave for a month or more.

Didn't Want the Place.

HARTFORD, Oct. 5.—Addison Van Name, recently appointed a member of the state library board, has declined the appointment.

Democrats Endorse a Populist.

CORNING, N. Y., Oct. 5.—The Democrats of the Thirty-second district have indorsed the Populist nominee for senator.

NEW YORK'S DEMOCRACY

Their State Convention Now In Session at Saratoga.

MAYNARD WILL BE RENOMINATED

The Citizens Received Many Compliments For the Fine Display Made In the Convention Hall—Meeting of the State Committee—Senator Hill Not In Attendance.

SARATOGA, Oct. 5.—The delegates to the Democratic state convention which convened here today at noon had nearly all arrived before midnight.

The convention hall, which seats 4,200 people and accommodates in all 7,000 people, was in shipshape, and many were the complimentary allusions heard on the public spiritedness of Saratoga citizens in producing such a substantial and commodious hall. The gallery of the hall is draped with American flags. To the right of the stage hangs a large engraving of President Cleveland and to the left one of Vice President Stevenson. On the stage to the right stands a framed campaign lithograph of Governor Flower and on the left one of Lieutenant Governor Sheehan.

The Hentzenaar governor arrived here yesterday afternoon. On the way he had been joined by Senator Edward Murphy, Jr. The two were in close conversation during the journey, but one method has said that nothing could be stated definitely regarding the nominations for secretary of state and state treasurer.

The nomination of Judge Maynard as associate justice of the court of appeals and the reconsiderations of Attorney General Rosendale, Comptroller Campbell and State Engineer Kunder as so certain as any political events can be.

Meeting of the State Committee.

The last three candidates opened hostilities in the Arlington hotel, the headquarters of the state committee being next door, in the Adelphi hotel. There the leaders were domiciled last night. Clerk Charles R. De Freest was busy from the time of his arrival making out the preliminary list of delegates, which he presented at the meeting of the state committee last night for adoption. The committee adjourned at 10 o'clock. All of the members were present or represented except Samuel J. Tilden of the Sixteenth district and Dr. Tallmadge of the Twenty-first.

When the question of adopting the preliminary roll came up, Mayor Manning asked that the antistate machine delegates —David B. Hill, John Larkin and John Reilly—be placed upon the roll from the Fourth Albany district. *Instead, the Gar*side or Hill delegation, also headed by Senator Hill, were placed there, Chairman Murphy remarking that the last state convention had decided that the Garvide Democrats in that district were the regular ones. John H. Gleason was then substituted for Senator Hill in that district as a Garside delegate.

District Attorney James W. Ridgway of Brooklyn said that he would second the nomination of Judge Maynard in behalf of the Kings county delegation.

Tammany Came In Two Sections.

The Tammany special train arrived in two sections. Richard Croker came up on the second section and immediately proceeded to the Adelphi, where he joined Senator Murphy in his headquarters, in company with Lieutenant Governor Sheehan, who had come over from his headquarters at the other end of the hall, and Mayor Gilroy and Corporation Counsel Clarke of New York city. A lengthy conference resulted previous to the meeting of the state committee.

Secretary De Freest said he did not think there would be more than 40 delegates in the convention who would not be in sympathy with the state organization. He thought that contests from not more than 12 assembly districts would be presented to the committee on credentials. It appears as though the convention, after appointing the committees, will adjourn until some time Friday morning in order to give the committees, especially that on credentials, ample time to consider their work. It was gossiped that the convention will adopt a resolution looking to a single plan for holding primaries and conventions throughout the state, the living up to the rules of which will determine the standing of delegates seeking admission to a state convention in the future.

Who the Nominees May Be.

Senator Hill left New York yesterday for Washington and is not attending the convention.

After a conference between Messrs. Croker, Gilroy, Sheehan, Candidates Duffy and Kirk and Carl Meyer of Queens county, it was decided that Mr. Meyer should be the candidate for secretary of state and Hugh Duffy for state treasurer.

The New York World correspondent telegraphed his paper that this ticket would be nominated:

Judge of Court of Appeals—Isaac H. Maynard.

Secretary of State—Carol Meyer, Jr.

State Treasurer—Hugh Duffy.

Comptroller—Frank Campbell.

Attorney General—H. W. Rosendale.

State Engineer and Surveyor—Martin Schenck.

All This Was Caused by Jealousy.

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., Oct. 5.—Mrs. Mary Fallon of Hudson Park entered the store of Mrs. Trygsen, to whom she claims her husband has been too attentive, threw from under her wrap a syringe filled with vitriol and forced the fluid into Mrs. Trygsen's face. Mrs. Trygsen's cries quickly brought assistance. Fortunately none of the vitriol entered her eyes, but her face is badly scarred. A warrant has been issued for Mrs. Fallen's arrest.

An Editor Behind the Bars.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—James C. Merritt, publisher of the Highland Falls Journal in Orange county, was arrested on a capias issued in a suit brought by Frederick H. Sander of Highland Falls for $20,000, alleging the affections of complainant's wife. Merritt was committed to the Hudson county jail in default of $5,000 bail.

Trying to Run a Rumor Down.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 5.—A yellow paper recently sent out to try and locate the source of the rumor that the sophomores, while hazing, had drowned a freshman. The latter simply jumped into the canal and swam to the other side.

One Fainting on the Ball Field.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 5.—John J. Burdock, once a great second baseman, was sent to jail to give him a chance to sober up. Drink has made a complete wreck of him. His wife is left penniless with nine children.

The Brakeman Was Killed.

MONTPELIER, Vt., Oct. 5.—A train on the Montpelier and Wells River railroad was wrecked at Lanesboro last night. Archie Sawyer of Montpelier, a brakeman, was killed.

GUT DOWN TO FACTS.

Commander and Mrs. Bellington Booth were given a three hours' reception at the army citadel in Philadelphia.

It is probable that Harvard and Princeton will not play each other on the football field this year.

Judge Brickwalter, in charging the grand jury at Cincinnati, practically declared that lotteries were legal.

Five Chinese were arrested at Jackson, Mich., on the charge of illegally entering the United States.

Senator Stockbridge of Michigan, injured by a street car in Chicago, is not seriously hurt.

Washington hotels are reported to be doing more business than at any time since 1876.

The National bank of Kansas City, which recently reorganized, has been permitted to reopen for business.

The switchmen on the Illinois Central and Yazoo and Mississippi have returned to work.

Ex-President Harrison attended a meeting of the Loyal legion at Cincinnati last night.

An unsuccessful attempt was made by a roustabout to burn the steamer C. R. Bryan at Memphis.

A jury has been secured to try Emma Johnson, the New York anarchist, and the trial is now going on.

The directors of the Episcopal Theological school at Cambridge, Mass., have elected Rev. George Hodges of Pittsburg as dean.

Walter H. Rett, a well known Atlanta sawyer, killed himself with a pistol.

Joseph Chamberlain, M. P., arrived in New York and declined to be interviewed on Gladstone's recent speech.

Efforts are making to secure an appropriation of $200,000 for the yellow fever sufferers at Brunswick, Ga. One death and 15 new cases were reported there yesterday.

Dr. Mary Walker's Allegations.

SYRACUSE, Oct. 5.—Dr. Mary Walker caused the arrest of Arthur D. Snead of this city, whom she says, is the murderer of Christie W. Wardell, of Haverhill, N. H., in July, 1891. She alleges that the wrong man was hanged for that crime. She further alleges that Snead is also Henry L. Norcross, whom it was thought threw the bomb at Russell Sage. Snead has been held to await investigation.

After the Saloon Keepers.

BRIDGETON, N. J., Oct. 5.—The emphatic charge of Judge Reed to the grand jury in regard to the charges of bribery made against the excise commission was followed by the grand jury sending for all the dealers who have had licenses granted by the commissioners to appear before them.

The Montgomery's Accident.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Oct. 5.—The trim of the cruiser Montgomery is indefinitely postponed. She went on the rocks at Black ledge, approaching the harbor at midnight Tuesday, and the injuries then sustained will compel her to be hauled out and recaulked.

Pushed From a Bridge.

TROY, N. Y., Oct. 5.—John Murtagh, a track walker, alleges that some one pushed him from the bridge between Colonie and North Side, by which he sustained severe injuries. No one has been arrested.

Many Illegal Marriages.

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 5.—Judge Shepard of Bowie county has decided that for 10 years the marriages in that county have been illegal because of some technicality. Over 1,000 couples are affected.

Lord Rosebery's Instructions.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—Lord Rosebery has instructed British embassadors and ministers abroad to protest against the frivolous imposition of quarantine on vessels from British ports.

British Bark Burned at Sea.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—A report comes from Chili that the British bark Beatrix has been burned at sea. Eleven of the crew were picked up, but eight are missing.

Slowly Starving to Death.

LYME, Conn., Oct. 5.—Mrs. Charles Peck is slowly starving to death. She has been unable to take nourishment for 32 days, and her death is daily expected.

To Be Discontinued Nov. 1.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Oct. 5.—The steamer Roscoles, running between Bridgeport and New York, will be discontinued Nov. 1 on account of light business.

1893 TAXES!

Notice is hereby given to the taxpayers of the

City of Plainfield,

that the taxes assessed in said city for the year 1893 are now due and payable, and that if the said taxes be not paid by the

20th Day of December

next, the names of the defaulters, with their respective taxes, will be returned to the City Judge for their prosecution. By

COMMISSIONERS OF APPEAL

in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council Chamber, on the

Fourth Tuesday in November Next,

(the 28th,) and sit from two o'clock p. m. Sunday of the 28th, at $20,000, and adjourning the affections of complainant's wife. Merritt was committed to the Hudson county jail in default of $5,000 bail.

Trying to Run a Rumor Down.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 5.—A yellow paper recently sent out to try and locate the source of the rumor that the sophomores, while hazing, had drowned a freshman. The latter simply jumped into the canal and swam to the other side.

One Fainting on the Ball Field.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 5.—John J. Burdock, once a great second baseman, was sent to jail to give him a chance to sober up. Drink has made a complete wreck of him. His wife is left penniless with nine children.

The Brakeman Was Killed.

MONTPELIER, Vt., Oct. 5.—A train on the Montpelier and Wells River railroad was wrecked at Lanesboro last night. Archie Sawyer of Montpelier, a brakeman, was killed.

VIGOR OF MEN

Easily, Quickly, Permanently Restored.

Weakness, Nervousness, Debility, and all the train of evils from early errors or later excesses, this invigorator restores lost power, Impotency, Nightly Emissions, Lost Power, Failing Memory, Wasting Diseases, Varicocele, and all effects of self-abuse or excesses and indiscretion. Wards off insanity and consumption. Don't be deceived by cheap imitations, but have the genuine. It can be carried in vest pocket. By mail, $1 per package, or six for $5; with written guarantee to cure or refund the money. Pamphlet free. Sold by druggists.

ERIE MEDICAL CO., Buffalo, N.Y.

I do not Eat Pastry.

How often you hear this expression, and the explanation that usually follows: "I am troubled with dyspepsia." The explanation is not far to seek. In the past Lard has been used as the principal shortening in all pastry, the result—dyspepsia. The dyspeptic need no longer be troubled, providing is substituted for lard in the preparation of all food. It is composed strictly of highly refined vegetable oil and beef suet. When used as a shortening, it produces wholesome and healthful pastry. Physicians and expert cooks indorse it. Refuse substitutes.

COTTOLENE

Made only by

N. K. FAIRBANK & CO.,

CHICAGO.

Another one in the race, and

A. G. VOGELER

takes the lead.

LOOK AT THESE PRICES.

Porterhouse Steak	15c.
Sirloin	15c.
Round	12c.
Chuck	7c.
Roast Beef	10c.
Lamb Chops	14c.
Veal	14c.
Leg Mutton	12c.
Leg Spring Lamb	15c.
Fleshier Spring Lamb	12c.
Jersey Hams	12c.
Fresh Jersey Pork	14c.
Fresh Sausage	14c.
Pickled Pigs' Feet	5c.
Pickled Pigs' Feet	5c.

Headquarters for Bologna. Bologna made fresh twice a day. Call and get your money's worth.

Union Meat Market,

131 WEST FRONT STREET.

9 14 1m A. G. Vogeler, Manager.

New : Proprietor!

HENRY P. WINDHAM,

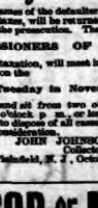
Arlington : Hotel!

Somerset street and Greenbrook road.

Regular and transient boarders.

First-class bar and stables attached.

BEFORE BUYING LAMPS



See the new lamp—

The "Miller,"

(Patented 1892).

It has no equal. It is

The Lamp you Want

Every Lamp Warranted.

We make a full line of

Fish and Bundled Lamps.

Send for circular, or call at

19 and 15 College Place, N. Y.

(Over A. Lund Store—No. 2 El.)

EDWARD MILLER & CO. (Est'd 1849.)

Insist on having the "Miller" from your dealer.

Do Your Corns Hurt?

They can be quickly and painlessly removed by the use of

ELECTRIC

Corn Cure.

A remedy that never fails. A guarantee is sent with each box, that if a complete cure is not made in 48 hours, the money will be refunded at once. Price, 25c. per box. Sent postpaid to any address on receipt of price. Be sure and get genuine or address, (or risk.) A book of testimonials sent with each box.

ALLEN & CO.,

9 29 1f Lock Box 1323, Richmond, Va.

MORE SLAUGHTER!

to close out our entire line of

Neglige SHIRTS!

We offer them at the ridiculously low price of

85 CENTS.

These goods are worth $1.25 and $1.50. If you have never worn them, buy and have them made to measure. Saves you from $1.50 to $2.00 on each shirt.

Hallock & Davis,

New number, 109 West Front street, opposite Somerset street.

TAKE NOTICE.

Charles Arnold,

the butcher,

Is Still in the Race

for cut prices.

Fresh Pork and Sausage 12c. lb.

My own Dressed Jersey Chickens, 18c. lb.

Legs Mutton, 10c. lb.

Lamb, 12c. lb.

My Smoked Meats and all other Meats will be the same old cut prices.

Arnold's : Market,

208 LIBERTY STREET.

GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE.

Strictly Cash. 8 23 2m

Great Bargains

in all grades of

WALL PAPERS,

for the next 60 days.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

39 EAST FRONT STREET.

T. Vanderbilt and Astor!

Use the same make of imported Table Oil, Cheese and French Sardines that I now have in stock.

THEY ARE DELICIOUS.

And then I personally select the

FRESH FISH!

I have on sale to-day and to-morrow. Call and see my stock.

JULES BOVEY,

60 Somerset Street.

H. DE MOTT,

Graduate of United States Embalming College,

UNDERTAKER : AND : EMBALMER.

Office at residence, 173 Somerset Street, Plainfield, N. J.

Townsend's Marble Works,

30 Somerset Street.

Builders' Cards.

Daniel Hulick,

Carpenter

and

General Jobber.

SHOP,

35 Jackson Avenue.

Storm doors and weather strips a specialty.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

Window Screens made to order.

John P. Emmons,

MASON AND BUILDER.

Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place.

Jobbing promptly attended to.

P. O. Box 93.

PIERSON & GAYLE,

Carpenters and Builders.

W. J. Pierson, No. 18 Vine street. H. B. Gayle, No. 19 Vine street.

All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM G. SMITH,

PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER.

All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.

Residence—Grandview avenue.

P. O. Box 93.

R. V. SAUER,

Carpenter & Builder.

Residence—Clinton avenue, near depot, Bound Brook.

P. O. Box 1099

Jobbing promptly attended to. Moving given close attention. Satisfaction guaranteed. Terms reasonable.

JACOB M. HIGGINS,

PRACTICAL MASON and CONTRACTOR

P. O. Box 261. Residence Dr. street, near Broad.

JOHN ARNOTT,

PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER.

All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to. Residence, Somerset street, between Dr. and Spring. P. O. Box 91.

LYLES D. HELSON,

Civil Engineer and Surveyor, No. 2 Park Place, Plainfield, N. J. Maps of Union and Middlesex counties, Real Estate Maps, Maps of Cities, Towns, Villages, Farms, Subdivisions, Etc., Etc. Office in the Union County Savings Bank Building. All work guaranteed.

J. H. OLMSTEAD, Civil Engr. H. D. BALDWIN, Asst.

Pret T GOODS

For nine people, peculiarly appropriate for the season, can always be had at our grocery.

We will not say that we have the best in the world, but we do say and know that the same money cannot purchase better Havanas and Carriage Ons our patrons are rapidly making their own. It is sometimes expedient to forget what you know, but it is never the course of wisdom to forget our select assortment of fancy teas and teapings. Save time, temper and money by purchasing of us.

L. M. FRENCH,

Cor. Front and Somerset streets.

24, 26, 28, 30 SOMERSET STREET.

Timely Warning! Winter Approaching!

Keep your Scalp Clean and your Hair Growing.

RANDOLPH'S Quinine and Glycerine

HAIR TONIC!

The Friend in the Hour of Need.

EACH BOTTLE GUARANTEED. Sold only by

L. W. RANDOLPH, Prescription Druggist,

142 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

Rochester Beers!

The success already attained by this brand of Lager Beer is beyond expectation. No other Beer ever launched in this city has had such remarkable sale. Try it!

BOTTLED LIQUORS,

Imported Brandies and Ales are having a very large sale at this season. My stock is Brabdies, and it will pay you to investigate.

FRANK LINKE'S

Wholesale Liquor Establishment, 42 WEST FRONT STREET. 6f

Telephone Call, 137.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

Successors to

The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,

Dealers in

Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials

42 to 60 PARK AVENUE.

Are now prepared with their increased facilities, (having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs. A. D. Cook & Bro.,) to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

Railroad Time Table.

CENTRAL RAILROAD OF NEW JERSEY

(Anthracite coal used exclusively insuring cleanliness and comfort.)

Station in New York, foot of Liberty street. Stations in Plainfield, Dec. 4, 1892.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

[Table of train times]

PLAINFIELD AND EDISON.

[Table of train times]

PLAINFIELD AND SOUTH AMBOY.

[Table of train times]

PLAINFIELD AND RARITAN.

[Table of train times]

PLAINFIELD AND BOUND BROOK.

[Table of train times]

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

[Table of train times]

PLAINFIELD AND ALTANTIC.

[Table of train times]

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

[Table of train times]

EASTWARD CONNECTIONS.

[Table of train times]

SUNDAY TRAINS.

[Table of train times]

Real Estate & Insurance.

Edw. C. Mulford,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE

45 North Avenue.

M. M. Dunham,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

No. 7 East Front street.

Wm. A. Woodruff,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN on Approved Security

Corner Front street and Park avenue.

Spicer & Hubbard,

Manufacturers of

Mouldings, Sash, Blinds, Doors, etc.

Corner Madison avenue and Third street.

SCROLL SAWING, TURNING,

Also plain and ornamental glass painted to order. 10 7y

Professional Cards.

WILLIAM E. CODDINGTON,

Of Law Offices, corner Park avenue and Front street, Plainfield, N. J. Notary Public. Prompt attention to all business.

JACKSON & ASHLEIGH,

Counsellors at Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Notaries Public, Etc. Office in Court House, Plainfield, N. J.

E. A. DURHAM, C. E.,

Surveyor of the Various Union County Road Boards, and Attorney-at-Law. Special attention given to street paving and sewerage. Office, 7 Park place.

WILLIAM A. COCKEFAIR,

Counsellor at Law, Supreme Court Commissioner of Deeds, Notary Public and Conveyancer. Office, No. 19 West Front street.

CHARLES E. HOAGLAND,

Counsellor at Law, Supreme Court Commissioner of Deeds, Notary Public and Solicitor in Chancery. Money to loan. Office, 2 Park place, Plainfield, N. J.

CHARLES J. STILLMAN,

Counsellor at Law, Supreme Court Commissioner of Deeds, Notary Public and Solicitor in Chancery. Money Public. Over corner Front and Park streets.

A HANDY RECEPTACLE.

We Make One of Those Little Trunks Useful and Ornamental.

With but little trouble and no great expense one of the convenient little trunks generally included in the possessions of most women, may be transformed into an ornament of daily use, either attractive at the foot of one's bed or in a window, says the New York Sun. It is most convenient as a receptacle for the thousand-and-one things in a woman's wardrobe which do not seem to belong anywhere and are always in the way. Of course, a small trunk, pale rose, and a bold conventional design is wrought with heavy silk and metallic threads upon the cover would be the most appropriate for the place; and a metal knot fishes the cover, which will closely resemble the handsome velvet-covered marriage coffers one so often sees in Madrid and Seville. The trunk, when finished, may do duty even in the family sitting room as a receptacle for books and papers, work basket, and the countless miscellany but necessary articles of the moment.

BEAUTY HINTS.

Glycerinated water renders the skin soft, white and supple.

Use rain water for washing the face whenever possible, it is excellent for the complexion.

Rough, grater-like fingers may be made smooth and white by rubbing daily with a lemon.

When using a towel do not always rub the face in the same direction. You will then avoid wrinkles.

Above all things, a bath of daily, several hours' at absolute repose, in which the features may have a much-needed freedom from expression.

A funny story is told of Dean Swift, who was a witty man, and fond of a joke at the expense of other people, as most witty people are. One very cold night, when he was travelling, he stopped at a little inn. There was a new ostler in the house, and the guests of the inn, according about it, left no place for the new-comer.

With a curse on how Dean Swift called to the hostler, and told him to get a peck of oysters and take them out to his horse.

"Will your horse eat oysters, sir?" asked the astonished man.

"Just take them out and see," said the horse's master.

The people around the fire stared at the man who owned this curious horse, and nearly every one of them left his seat and went out to see the remarkable horse eating oysters.

Then the cunning Dean made himself comfortable in the warmest corner, and ordered his supper.

Presently back came the hostler, with the disappointed crowd after him.

"He won't touch them, sir!" cried the hostler.

"Then take the foolish animal all the oats he can eat," replied Dean Swift. "You can bring the oysters here. I'll eat them for supper myself."—Harper's Young People.

Hotels.

CENTRAL HOTEL,

No. 11 E. Front St.,

PLAINFIELD.

Windham & Crowley,

PROPRIETORS.

☞ First-class bar attached.

Fourth Ward Hotel.

JOHN GOFF, Proprietor.

Borders accommodated, both transient and permanent.

LARGE ROOMS and ALL MODERN IMPROVEMENTS.

Fine Wines, Liquors and SEGARS.

Corner Third and Liberty Streets.

Hotel Grenada,

NORTH AVENUE.

Now open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and refurnished throughout and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the travelling public.

City Hotel,

Corner

PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.

Transient guests accommodated.

Eugene Hoerster,

206 Grove Street,

North Plainfield.

Wholesale Dealer

IN

WINE, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.

Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

OPENING

OF

Fall and Winter DRESS GOODS.

We have placed on sale the Largest New Line of DRESS GOODS ever offered in this city, and the prices lower than ever, short lengths to avoid too many dramas of a kind.

WE MENTION A FEW SPECIALS.

All Wool Bengaline at 55c yd. Regular Price 75c.

" " Novelties at 50c. yd. Regular Price 75c.

" " Henriettas at 75c. yd. Regular Price 1.00

Cashmeres for cut, Flannels and Cloths in large variety of colors and prices. Priestley's celebrated Crape Dress Goods.

DRESS TRIMMINGS

In plain and changeable Surahs, Guipure, Braids, etc. We are still offering

Smith's Best Moquette Carpets at 90c. yd.

It will be to your advantage to look at these goods if you are in need of carpets.

BLANKETS AND COMFORTABLES AT

EDSALL'S.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Don't Worry—Do Things Systematically. Most Frequently.

Do not, while sitting or lying allow your mind to run from what you will do next, or what you have left undone. If you are suddenly rested to get up, but simply rest and grow heavy. Let your imagination help, and like Topsy, the things you are a mentals or something else which before you know it, will be done.

The greatest rest comes from forgetting self. To accomplish, put your minds free if we will but learn how. Let them take up one thing at a time, and be content.

Nothing is more sure to slow poison to the system of American women, with their consciousness and their nerves, than the habit of "lags and clogs." When you set to make, do nothing else; when you take it, rest it you need it. Do not stand around wasting good muscle and nerve "waiting."

Cultivated women do not work with the same good results physically as peasant women; for the latter work solid their minds free from all thoughts but their work, while the former work wishing often they were anywhere but where they are; or if not that, still the mind is working in many different lines of thought.

When you find you are not taking things one at a time and simply, and therefore there is confusion and fatigue, stop short! Take ten minutes' rest, lie down with thought of your weight only and you will be astonished at the results. Everything will clear and you will start fresh as if after a good sleep. The fact that is the most full of pressing care is the day when you cannot afford not to take at least one such rest.

To give rest is confusion, put off such duty from its successor; begin anew with each task and get it a deep, slow breath before each change of work.

These are the simplest directions, but if followed they will surely prolong the lives of all our faithful housekeepers, and to set of brother faced old ladies will grandmother the next generation.—Philadelphia Times.

Sister Theresa, who has lately died in Montreal, was one of the most noted women in Canada. She came to Canada in 1859 in the endeavor to relieve the spiritual and temporal wants of the Indians in the far West, went in 1863 on horseback nearly 700 miles to Pembina, and on arriving there found that a number of the white women had ever been before. In 1867 she founded an orphan at St. Boniface for abandoned children, and in 1871 the same brought back to Montreal and made superintendent of her order. She laid the foundation of the great house of refuge that bears her name, and remained there until she was until her death, Mother Superior of this establishment. She possessed a remarkable power over violent patients.—Harper's Bazar.

Enough to Make Him Groan.

Gentle (to his groom)—You seem angry, Mr. Peck.

Peck—I feel like it. The inspector of weights and measures has just been in.

Gentle—Indeed! Has he been giving them equal to the pound, did he?

"Worse than that. He said I'd been giving seven tears."—N. Y. Sun.

At Sumner's Dancing.

A murderess cannot then there with Great harmony seem
When Lizzie Borden takes
And the lessons played the best.

A LACE SEASON.

The Enthusiasm that is Supported by the Dainty Fabric.

There is something about lace that immediately suggests refinement. There is a delightful refinement in the sort of way women who spend but money in lace rather than in jewelry or even in dress. Lace is the most delicate of fabrics, delicacy that becomes and belongs there not even in a white and delicate of them for the more love of it. Women who do that will be found to be fond of it with an interrogation point in one's breast.

Lace is like love. There is a variety of it to suit every taste and every purse, and every mood. There are laces that suggest babies, some that look like young girls, some that are too weird for a human individual of position, and one but a stately woman of the world, and then there are others that carry one's thoughts instantly to some dear, gentle, loving mother. Lace is a delightful fabric, but it may have too few women like Jenny and Imelda of Ida are ever ready to wear any the great things.

This season lace is the favorite. The lovely sheer stuff and fine meshes are greatest worn of all, but the heavy guipure and point are also in high favor. Lace is used in all sorts of ways, from the most delicate and refined to the most extravagant and fantastic. Whatever may be what they wear, it will be a means of daintiness and femininity.

What We Have Outlived.

Modern clothes are in contrast with those of past generations chiefly by the greater variety and simplicity of the former. The wide acceptance of modern garments has shown public appreciation of comfort in apparel, and there is no doubt a steady tendency in the direction of making all clothing more comfortable and better suited to special requirements. Every year more dress is rejected, of course, and only necessary, but things which torture one or restrain unduly the natural powers are not desired, and should not be worn.

Shoes, with heels so high as to check the foot forward, raise the toes and hurt the ankles, are already falling into disuse, and the blood corsets, in the making of which bones for low-necked men, such absurd of dress are no longer necessary or tolerable. Women are also every day more willing to deprive themselves more and more heavily of themselves more and more heavily to the study or rational dress. In spite of the strong prejudice against radical changes and the conviction that have been offered at times under the name of dress reform, it seems certain that some substantial and beneficial modifications of women's dress will be adopted. — The Men's Outfitter.

A Fan of the Women of the Present Day.

To pull a dress skirt tightly over the thighs and abdomen is an act of coarseness and vulgarity which could not be excelled by the commonest ballet dancer.—Eleanor Kirke's Idea.

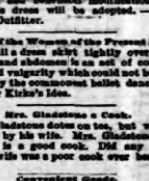
Mrs. Gladstone a Cook.

Mr. Gladstone dotes on tea, but wants it made by his wife. Mrs. Gladstone, of course, is a good cook. Did any man whose wife was a poor cook ever become great?

Convenient Goods.

Skirts made all in one piece have the width of the goods used for the length of the skirt. Patterns can be gotten that have the back and allow either for pieces in the back or not.

Tired from Head to Foot.



FROM HEAD TO FOOT.

That's what's the matter with the most of us. We are tired, and the trouble is in the blood. The cause? The neglect of the first few symptoms of impure blood. Ayer's Sarsaparilla has been known for many years as the best blood purifier, so familiar to nothing about it is a short list by its use of Ayer's Pills. Get Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and Ayer's Pills, and be well. Family size, $1. All druggists. Send 2 cents in stamps for 100 page book.

J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass.

Jersey City, N. J.

A GOOD WIFE

is a great blessing, and a good husband is also. Either for comfort, or for economy. Future comfort by buying of us which is

GIVEN AWAY

Every month, the prizes are on hire. The hire is situated in a beautiful and healthy neighborhood.

WITH EVERY

Cash purchase (excepting sugar, starch and laundry soap) of $1 or more, a ticket given away to secure a chance.

BUILDING LOT.

For particulars, address

"PRIZE,"

Care of Evening News.

Horses and Carriages,

of all kinds, for hire, at

O'BRIEN'S,

118 WEST FOURTH STREET.

Joseph T. Vail,

REAL ESTATE

and

INSURANCE.

DEALER IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING

Of Every Account.

World's Fair Exhibit on Flower Pots!

OVER FOUR TONS—5,000 pounds—18 large crates—3 truck loads.

The patterns and decorations are numerous and exquisite in design. Prices range from 1½ cents for the Sky Pot to $1.25 for the double Calla Lily, the popular ones being the 5c., 6c., 9c. and 15c. sizes in the common, though we have the largest trade, at 25c. Decorated Pots and Hanging Baskets range from 5c. to 35c. We are prepared to sell all, and our prices are guaranteed the lowest and quality without a fault. The wide rim and the oak leaf on the comes to Pots add strength and beauty, and are easily decorated. Order early, as some will have to wait.

J. C. Allen, 28 West Front St., Plainfield, N. J.

The Fall and Winter Styles in Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing are now in Stock. Overcoats of all Weights. Trousers Made to Order from $4 to $8. Suits from $15 to $30. Hats and General Furnishings. WERNER'S MAMMOTH CLOTHING HOUSE, 206 West Front Street.

LOOKING BACKWARD!

Last April we bought at the Brown, Darrell sale an immense quantity of Underwear, Hosiery and Gloves. You know how good and cheap they were. Right now we are selling the same Underwear, we just as good and cheap.

LOOKING FORWARD!

On Saturday we place on sale the Brown, Darrell stock of Winter Underwear.

Lot No. 1.—Ladies' heavy ribbed Pants and Vests, our price 39c., value, 50c.

Lot No. 2.—Ladies' heavy ribbed vest silk Vests, our price 69c., value, 75c.

Lot No. 3.—Ladies' plain heavy Vests and Pants, our price 39c., value, 50c.

Lot No. 4.—Ladies' heavy wool Vests and Pants, our price 69c., value, $1.00

Lot No. 5.—Children's natural wool Vests and Pants, our price 15c., extra size, 20c. and 25c.

Lot No. 6.—Children's white Vests and Pants, our price 25c., advance size, 30c. and 35c.

Lot No. 7.—Men's natural colored Shirts and Drawers, our price 39c., value, 50c.

Lot No. 8.—Men's white wool Shirts and Drawers, our price 69c., value, 75c.

Lot No. 9.—Men's white wool Shirts and Drawers, our price 69c., value, $1.00

Lot No. 10.—Men's white Shirts and Drawers, our price 39c., value, 50c.

SHOES!

In Ladies, our straight Goat and Waldingfoot styles at $2.50 and $3.00 are the proper wear for the season

The "FARGO TIP" for Children,

In the best looking and best wearing shoe for school wear. Sizes 5½ to 10½, $1.25. Sizes 11 to 2, $1.50. A line of these, No Outlands, at 98c., still remain.

WHITE, of Plainfield.

SARAH BERNHARDT'S ADVICE.

How to Have the Accomplishes so Much Work.

"Those one has said that I do not take much exercise in open air, said Bernhardt recently. Please contradict that statement. I take exercise continually. I live in the open air." From early morning in travelling motion to my evening drive I spend nearly every day in hunting or driving to get glimpses of new country, and walking.

"Plenty of fresh air! That gives vigor. Exercise! Walking out of doors in the sunshine invariably. There is no such thing as fatigue in the open air. But in travel everywhere, even at home look out for draughts.

"With me these everywhere a rule—during my entertain, in driving, in sitting still when the limbs are inactive, they have to be covered. Women are not careful enough about their ankles. Cover stockings, slippers, low shoes, and the dress falling this way and that, they are sure to get cold. They cannot be too careful about draught in and covering the ankles.

"And your countryman—say it is 'Twenty' to do with as little soap and water as possible. Bah! The very first thing I do after returning at night from the theatre is to take my bath.

"Before rising, after eating, before anything at the hour, I bathe. The cold has it in preparation, all. First goes on a coverlet over the bath, large as a sheet; into that blood warm water is poured. Small sachets, containing finely grated soap in small quantities of bran, or of fine oatmeal, or even a little grated root, are used in place of a sponge. They are covered with fine stockinette, and they their contents filter into the water. In the morning and night, the first thing in the morning and late at night. When ready to step out the maid has a pegnoir ready which, in reality, is a bath sheet made of crash toweling. This is heated, and the body enveloped in it, then gently rubbed, to get up a friction of skin.

"Rheumatism? I have a moist rub down with the following prescription, which is very refreshing: Tepid water, 1 litre; a small quantity of eau de cologne, a dash of bay rum, and the whole sweetened with good sugar, sometimes violet, sometimes orange flower. Several bottles are sent to me to try. It is a simple bath but restful.

"Orange is what constitutes rest, you see, my rest. Work is simply to me rest. If signs of ennui, fatigue appear, at once occupation, turn to some other. It is not necessary to be idle in order to get rest, to rest, but very what you can do. Change the subject of your thoughts, there is the secret.

"I never sleep in the day time. One is sure to take cold in going out again. Will yourself to very your thoughts, and by and by you will be able to sleep. Sleep when the time comes. Napoleon could sleep at will always. It is simply will and habit, if it takes when needed, is always refreshing.

"You see, then, the secret of endurance to carefulness and regularity and the observance of self; study what is best for your self most you can do, and through study you will be astonished to find how much you are able to do. Not remembering, you are able to do. Not remembering, you are able to do. Not remembering,

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$5 per Year in Advance. T. W. Morrison, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 21 Somerset street. Printing of All Kinds. 10 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," FRIDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1893. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Republican County Convention.

The Somerset County Republican Convention will meet at the Court House, in Somerville, on TUESDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1893,

At 11 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for offices of Senator, Member of Assembly and Coroners and the transaction of such other business as may properly come before it.

Each township will be entitled to five delegates, who will be selected by the Republican voters of the respective townships, on Friday, the 13th day of October instant, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon (excepting North Plainfield and Bernards, where the primaries will be held at 8 o'clock in the evening), in the following places:

Bedminster—Bedminster Hotel, Bedminster.
Bernards—Doty's Hotel, Bernardsville.
Branchburgh—Codlington's Hotel, North Branch.
Bridgewater—Hotel Somerset, Somerville.
Franklin—Hulsizer's Hotel, East Millstone.
Hillsborough—Devender's store, Frankfort.
Montgomery—Harlingen Hotel, Harlingen.
North Plainfield—Basement of New School House.
Warren—Mt. Bethel Hotel, Mt. Bethel.

L. A. THOMPSON,
Chairman County Committee.

Dated October 4, 1893.

MASS MEETING AT MUSIC HALL

Sunday Afternoon Under the Auspices of the Citizens' League.

Pursuant to instructions of the Plainfield Branch of the Citizens' League of Union county, the undersigned Executive Committee have arranged for a mass meeting to be held under the auspices of the League at Music Hall, Plainfield, on Sunday, October 8th instant, at a quarter after four o'clock, p. m., the meeting is called to consider the legislation of last Winter which attempted to legalize race-track gambling, and to point out the present duty of our citizens in the premises. R. V. Lindabury, Esq., and the Honorable Robert Moore of Elizabeth, the Rev. Dr. William R. Richards, and the Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, will deliver addresses. The League extends an invitation to all, irrespective of party, to be present.

MASON W. TYLER,
ROWLAND COX,
ISAAC L. MILLER,
STEPHEN A. GUNNA,
CRAIG A. MARSH,
Executive Committee.

BREVITIES.

—French's mill has been given a new coat of paint.

—Leal's foot ball team play the Pigry team at Elizabeth to-day.

—The Borough Council will hold its regular monthly meeting to-night.

—A new truck has been placed under car No. 9, at the street railway. No. 4 was up for repairs to-day.

—Van Emburgh & Son have put on sale a line of kid gloves at 59 cents. Read their advertisement.

—The case of Foggats vs. Nightengale, on contract, was adjourned this morning by Justice Mosher to Friday, October 13th.

—Another one in the race is A. G. Vogeller, who advertises meat at reduced prices in THE NEWS. Read his advertisement.

—The North Plainfield Electric Light Co. has wired the Dunellen M. E. church, and will furnish light for that edifice when the repairing is finished.

—Mr. J. E. Townsend has in his yard a handsome headstone to be placed in Hillside cemetery over the grave of the late Helen Alice Nitsch, (Catherine Owen).

—Reserved seats for the mock court trial will be on sale at Leggett's Pharmacy on Monday morning at seven o'clock. Particulars will be found in our advertising columns.

—John Henry of West Second street this morning made a complaint before Judge Coddington against John McCann, for assaulting him. A warrant was issued for the latter's arrest.

—The Central Railroad Company will sell special excursion tickets from Plainfield to the dedication of the battle monument which takes place at Trenton, on Thursday, October 12. The fare from Plainfield for the round trip will be $1.11

—If the trolley cars could only carry a sprinkler up Somerset street, everything would be all right. As it is now at the upper end of the street clouds of dust follows them. Passengers and conductors get more dust than they care for, from the brush.

Wanted to be Locked up.

While Police Sergeant Kiely was at dinner Wednesday, a man named Caspar called at "Castle Kiely" and asked the sergeant what he wanted him for. The sergeant replied that he didn't want him. The man insisted that he was wanted there and no amount of persuasion could make him go away. At last Mr. Kiely told Caspar if he didn't go away he would lock him up. As he still refused to go, the sergeant locked him up. He was intoxicated. Judge Coddington gave the sergeant an order releasing Caspar this morning.

Arrested on Complaint of his Wife.

Patrick Dunavan was arrested last night by Policeman Giese, on complaint of his wife, who charged Patrick with using profane language to her and otherwise abusing her. Dunavan was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail.

BODY OF A MAN FOUND.

LYING ALONGSIDE THE RAILROAD TRACK.

His Left Arm and Leg were Broken and it is Supposed he was Killed by the Cars—The Body Unidentified.

OR several days previous to Wednesday four strangers were having what is called a good time at High Bridge. One of the number was found dead about one mile west of High Bridge at 7.30 o'clock Wednesday night. He is described as follows:

Height, five feet five inches; weight, about 150 lbs.; gray eyes, large nose, wart on chin, hair light and short, arms both tattooed; one arm and left leg broken; between 35 and 45 years old; wore a No. 6 shoe; nearly new black cheviot suit with sack coat; blue cap; red flannel undershirt; brown flannel overshirt; body clean and hands do not have appearance of hard work. He was last seen about five p. m. at High Bridge in company with three hard looking men, one a cripple with only one leg, using a crutch. He was a heavy-set man with a sandy complexion, who said the dead man was from Trenton and went by the name of Ike Green. There was nothing in the pockets but a small comb and about two ounces of tea. It is supposed he had some money, but none was found on his person. The body is at an undertaker's and if not identified by Saturday, Oct. 7th, it will be buried.

THE COFFIN-WILLIS RACE.

A Close and Exciting Contest is Looked for.

The race of Coffin and Willis, to-morrow, to decide who is entitled to the Plainfield Lyceum Cyclers' gold medal, offered as a time prize in the 25-mile road race held August 19, promises to be very exciting. The start will be made at three o'clock. The course will be the Gentleman's Driving Park, on Park avenue. A stage will run from the corner of Front street and Park avenue.

PERSONAL.

The Rev. Mr. Lomsch has moved from West Fourth street to West Third street.

Dr. Frank Wells is expected home from his trip to Chicago and the West this week.

The Westfield Leader says: "W. E. Woodruff of Plainfield is talking electric roads in town."

Mr Hugh McDonnell has broken ground on Park avenue for two new Queen Anne cottages.

Mrs. Miller, of this city, has returned from a visit with her sister, Mrs. Quilty on First avenue, Raritan.

Miss Ida Campbell of Metuchen is a guest at the home of Dr. and Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson of La Grande avenue.

Mr. John H. Van Winkle and son of Dover street, North Plainfield, have arrived home from the World's Fair.

Mrs. Wm. Haworth has returned to her home in this city after a month's visit with her mother and sister at Westfield.

Messrs. Harry and Bert Johnson, sons of Mr. J. Wesley Johnson, of La Grande avenue, started to-day for the World's Fair.

Mr. J. E. Townsend has in his yard a handsome headstone to be placed in Hillside cemetery over the grave of the late Helen Alice Nitsch, (Catherine Owen).

Mr. Seely Edsall of Sandford avenue returned last night from Redwood, N. Y., where he has been for the past two weeks.

Mr. Egbert H. Bogardus and family of Putnam avenue returned Wednesday night from Asbury Park, where they spent the Summer.

Mr. Phillips and family moved from Brooklyn to North Plainfield this morning into the house at the corner of Sycamore and Mercer avenues.

Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Male and Mr. and Mrs. Job Male of Canada are in Plainfield looking after their property, recently appointed to them by the commissioners of the estate of the late Job Male.

There are 65 students in this year's Freshmen class of Rutgers College. Those from Plainfield and North Plainfield are: Robert Beals Fitz Randolph, George Randolph Wooden, Raymond Van Arsdale Carpenter.

Last Summer Miss Smith, a milliner, brought suit against Mr. Lederer for money she claimed to be due her for wages. The case was to have been tried during July. It was adjourned at least three times and trial was finally set down for to-day before Justice Mosher. To-day the counsel for both sides asked for another adjournment. It was adjourned indefinitely.

Sometime ago THE NEWS published a list of real estate improvements and new buildings being erected in this city and vicinity. Among the improvements mentioned was a stone porch that was being added to the handsome home of Mr. O. T. Waring, on Park avenue. The porch is now completed and not only enhances the architectural beauty of the residence, but has the added attraction of originality. Mr. John P. Simons of Prospect place, North Plainfield, was the builder.

The Weather.

The weather to-morrow promises to be generally from fair to partly cloudy, with slight changes of temperature, followed possibly by rain.

MESSENGER BOYS AT ODDS.

One of Them Arrested Charged with Assaulting the Other.

ORIMMAGES between messenger boys employed by the Western Union Telegraph Company and Postal Telegraph Company, have been frequent of late, but will probably cease now, as one of them was arrested this morning, charged with assault.

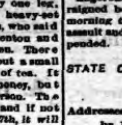
Henry Angerbauer who is employed by the Postal Company, was bothering Michael Muldowney, last night, as the latter was cleaning up his office. Muldowney complained to Policeman Corey who told Angerbauer to leave Muldowney alone.

After the policeman left Muldowney says that Angerbauer came back and told him "he would mash him in the nose if he would come outside." Muldowney replied "all right," and went out doors, where Angerbauer kept his promise and proceeded to punch his opponent's in Corbett.

Angerbauer was arrested and arraigned before Judge Coddington this morning to answer to the charge of assault and battery. Sentence was suspended.

STATE CONVENTION OF THE W. C. T. U.

Addresses of Welcome Responded to by Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson.



EDNESDAY afternoon the annual convention of the New Jersey Women's Christian Temperance Union met at Camden. The preliminary meeting was held the evening previous, at which addresses of welcome were made by Rev. E. Hewitt, pastor of the church; Mayor J. Leighton Westcott and Mrs. I. C. Wynn, President of the Camden Union. To these Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, of this city responded.

Mrs. J. T. Ellis presented her report as corresponding secretary, showing a total membership of 4,128, of which 378 are members of the Y. W. C. T. U. There are 151 unions in the State. These have held 4,681 regular and 3,395 public meetings during the year. The value of property owned by the various unions was placed at $117,950. During the year 48 workers other than local workers have spoken at public meetings in the State.

Mrs. E. A. Mickle made her report as State Treasurer. She reported receipts of $2,283.17 with a balance of $408. Seven counties were reported as being entitled to one delegate at the National Convention, having raised the $100 or over necessary. These counties are Camden, Burlington, Cumberland, Essex, Mercer, Monmouth and Union.

CITIZENS LEAGUE MEETING.

A Large Demonstration at Rahway Last Night.

In response to the call of the Anti-Race-Tracks Citizen's League fully eight hundred voters and many women crowded the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association of Rahway, last night. The speaker of the evening was R. V. Lindabury, President of the State's Citizens' League of Elizabeth. He reviewed the question at length. He reviewed the election of anti-race-track committeeman Camden Township. He spoke of the way the primaries were packed in the township and how the anti-race-track people thought they had redeemed themselves by electing honest, respectable citizens to fill the offices of the Township Committee.

FIREMEN OWNED THE TOWN.

They Paraded through the Thronged Streets of Elizabeth.

The firemen owned Elizabeth yesterday. It was the annual parade of the Elizabeth Fire Department, and the city presented a gala appearance. The bells, ringing the line of march, were decorated with flags and the streets were packed. Fire Chief Brown covered himself with glory. The prize for the best equipped company was won by Protection Hose of Rahway. Protection Engine Company's steamer, of Bayonne, won the prize for throwing water. The parade was reviewed by the Mayors of Elizabeth and Rahway and the city, county and State officials. The celebration ended with a ball in the Veteran Zouaves Armory.

The Presbytery on Race Tracks.

At the meeting of the Elizabeth Presbytery which was held in the Crescent avenue church, this city, among the resolutions which were unanimously adopted, was the following in reference to race-track gambling:

Resolved, That it is the view of this Presbytery that a vote to license a race-track for gambling purposes, under any circumstances, or under any plea whatsoever, should be regarded as an act unworthy of a member of a Christian community.

DEMOCRATS WILL WAIT

WON'T STRIKE THE KEYES TO THE SITUATION YET.

The New Club was not Organized in North Plainfield Last Night as Formerly Announced.—Met Wednesday Night Instead.

Last night at eight o'clock was the time set to form a new Democratic club in the borough, as the following from the Press of Monday will show:

KEYES CAN'T BE BEATEN.

A new Democratic club is about to be organized in North Plainfield, and all those in favor of it are requested to meet at 49 Grandview avenue, Thursday evening at 8, or send their names to that address. One object of the meeting is to test the pulse of the sentiment regarding a renomination of ex-Senator Keyes from Somerset county.

The club was not organized. One of the reasons given was that the projectors had since met and decided that if they organized under the name of William J. Keyes, and he failed to receive a re nomination, at the caucus, they would not be "in it."

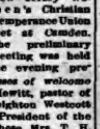
A preliminary meeting was held at the above mentioned place on Wednesday night, at which about eight Democrats were present. They talked the matter over and came to the conclusion that it would be advisable to wait until after the re-nomination of ex Senator Keyes, and then form their club.

This explains why the house, No. 49 Grandview avenue, was in darkness at the appointed hour last night, instead of being in a blaze of light as anticipated.

Democrats afraid to enter the house and inquire the cause of the change, walked up and down the street in front of it for awhile and then went home.

"THE DOOR OF HOPE."

What the Founder, Mrs. Whittemore, Says of It.



RS. Sidney Whittemore, founder of the "Door of Hope," of New York, will speak at the First Presbyterian church next Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock p. m., and at the Park Avenue Baptist church at eight p. m. Mr. Peter Scott, a returned missionary from Africa, will address the young people at 7.30.

"The Door of Hope" is, the circular says," a home started principally for the educated class of young girls who have turned aside from that which is right—although others less favored in this respect are not altogether excluded.

"Large numbers of these girls come from most respectable families. Mrs. Whittemore says," and enter into these reckless dissipations, sometimes through stubborn willfulness or through an insane desire to have "an exciting time (as once) at first to see life—while others being duped through false promises and deserted, plunge madly into anything, no matter how wicked, to drown their bitter grief or remorse."

"Many of the above class are educated and to a certain extent refined, therefore shrink from mingling constantly with those in the lower walks of life as the world terms it, although fully alive to the fact that they may be equally as sinful.

"No inducement (excepting in most isolated cases) offered is sufficiently powerful to obtain their consent to either enter a Mission or some of the Homes for girls so graciously open to receive them at any hour. The universal objection raised is as partially stated above, not caring to associate with the inmates who as a rule fill such Homes.

"One of the most difficult things in conversing with these is to make them realize that God whose love they so faithfully serve, is no respecter of persons, and, that sooner or later he will hurl them down lower or lower until they too may be glad to seek refuge among those sometimes despised ones on other doors or in the dreadful dives of their city, as many a mother's daughter equally beautiful to behold formerly, has had to do rather than to freeze in the streets or commit suicide.

"One such rescued notions since could illustrate the truth of this as having actually experienced the process of a downward rapid downward career from the lap of luxury to starvation quarters, and the hard side of a board for a bed."

Mrs. Herlich Dead.

Mrs. Herlich, formerly of Dunellen, widow of the late Peter Herlich, died at the late residence in Elizabeth last Friday.

Peter Herlich, it will be remembered, committed suicide at Dunellen last Winter.

Suits Decided Against Collins.

Yesterday afternoon the cases of Rogers vs. Collins and French vs. Collins, were tried before Justice Nash. Judgment was rendered in favor of the plaintiffs in both suits, the former for $66.28 and costs, and the latter for $145.80 and costs.

Amusements.

The next attraction at Miner's Theatre, Newark, is "The Nominee," which will commence on Monday, October 9, with Messrs. Robert Hilliard and Paul Arthur as joint stars. The following week Freeman's comedians in "The Other Man" will appear.

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE.

WRECK ON THE CENTRAL.

A Passenger Train Runs Into a Freight Train.

ELIZABETH, Oct. 6.—The 8.35 a. m. train from Newark on the C. R. R. of N. J. crashed into the rear end of a freight train to-day because of defective signals. Passengers were hurled from their seats, but none was injured. The front of the locomotive was considerably damaged. Travel was delayed about an hour.

Twenty-five Years Between Blazes.

NEW BRUNSWICK, Oct. 6.—The hide and tanning factory of Samuel Lederer, on the outskirts of this city was burned to the ground early this morning. The loss is $6,000. Insurance $2,300. As no fire had been lighted by the engineer for two days, it is supposed to have been the work of incendiaries. The place was burned in a like manner twenty-five years ago.

Ought to Be a Good Race To-morrow.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—A strong and steady southeasterly wind is prophesied for to-morrow.

Want to Express Their Gratitude Through "The News."

A poor family who have been helped in times of great trouble by one of Plainfield's ministering angels, want to express their gratitude in the columns of THE NEWS and have sent us the following letter:

TO THE EDITOR OF THE EVENING NEWS:—Will you please be so kind as to put these few lines in your paper?

TO MRS. F. H. WILLS.

I want to let the people in Plainfield know what a good, kind lady, she is, and what she has done for me and my family. Last February my husband was taken very sick and in March my oldest boy was taken down to his bed, never to get up again. In the last week of March, I too was taken sick. Then I felt as if I should lose my mind. When I saw our last few dollars gone I did not know what we would do. Then Mrs. Wills came to our humble home, and paid our rent for six months and sent us food and coal and medicines, and her good self brought our dear boy flowers and would talk to him. She told him to put his trust in God and he would help him. The day he died he told me to say "Good by to Mrs. Wills and tell her I did put my trust in God, and I am so happy now."

I want to thank her and hope she will get her reward in heaven. That will always be the prayer of

JOHN AND MARY WADE.

Resolutions Adopted by the W. C. T. U.

The following resolutions were adopted by the Union County Women's Christian Temperance Union meeting, at Elizabeth, Tuesday:

WHEREAS, The social evil in our land is apparently on the increase; and

Resolved, That we, of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Union county, redouble our efforts in the year to come in the work of social purity.

Resolved, The iniquity of intemperance is still fostered by our government and

Whereas, The Women of Union county, banded together in the W. C. T. U., in its direct opposition to all schemes for the sale of intoxicants, be it

Resolved, That we in convention assembled request our representatives to vote at the next session for passing the legislative investigation bill, and for the submission of the question of the total prohibition of the manufacture and the total annihilation of the liquor traffic.

MRS. J. B. F. CARPENTER,
MRS. E. A. MICKLE,
MRS. M. J. WILSON,
Committee.

A Horse Attacked With Colic.

A horse belonging to Mr. Ulrich of Sherman avenue, and stabled at the Metropolitan stables, was taken with a severe attack of colic at about eight o'clock last night. It was thought at one time the animal would die. About one o'clock this morning it began to show signs of relief.

The Bowling League Schedule Being Made up.

Messrs. Connell and Kippel of Elizabeth of the schedule committee of the Journal Bowling League, visited the Catholic Young Men's Lyceum members last night to arrange the bowling game for the coming season.

Super-Abundant and Exciting Foods

Produce a morbid bodily condition.

H-O Hornby's Oatmeal

Restores vitality, brightens the eyes, and sweetens the temper.

World's Fair Excursion Tickets!

Going and returning via all the different lines, with or without local accommodations at

FRANK'S

Lowest Rate Railroad and Steamship Agency,

$45 AND 347 BROADWAY, Corner Leonard Street, NEW YORK.

Lowest rates to all parts of the World. Tickets purchased and exchanged. Sleeping berths reserved. Baggage transferred.

MEMBER AMERICAN TICKET BROKERS' ASSOCIATION. 10 5 8m

59c. 59c. 59c. 59c.

SALE! of KID GLOVES!

4-button length, tan, modes, brown and black, all sizes, 5½ to 7¾

59c. 59c. 59c. 59c.

GEO. L. VAN EMBURGH & SON.

FRONT STREET, OPPOSITE PARK AVENUE UNDER THE BANK.

World's Fair Exhibit on Flower Pots!

OVER FOUR TONS—8,400 pounds—16 large crates—3 truck loads.

The patterns and decorations are numerous and exquisite in design. Prices range from 1½ cents for the Slip Pot to $1.25 for the double Calla Lily, the popular ones being the 5c., 6c., 9c. and 13c. sizes in the common, though we have the largest made, at 60c. Decorated Pots and Hanging Baskets range from 7c. to 25c. We are prepared to sell all, and our prices are guaranteed the lowest and quality without a fault. The wide rim and the oak leaf on the common Pots add strength and beauty, and are easily decorated. Order early, as some will have to wait.

J. C. Allen, 28 West Front St., Plainfield, N. J.

Cent-a-Word Column.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—$6,000—Two dwellings and one building lot. All in North Plainfield. Titles perfect. Terms easy. Dwellings both rented. Address "R. D. jr.," care of EVENING NEWS. tf

FOR SALE—New house, Park place, next to Park avenue, (Washington Part.) Mulford, builder. 9 14 tf

THE way to let the people know you have something for sale is to put that fact right under this head.

HELP WANTED.

WANTED—Competent woman for general housework. No washing. Apply 718 Central avenue. 6 4

WANTED—Competent girl for general housework. Apply at 225 Watchung avenue. 5 5

WANTED—A girl for general housework. Call at 142 Grove street. 4 4

SITUATIONS WANTED.

A COMPETENT woman would like situation to care for elderly lady, or "Golden Helper" in front of children. Address "E.," care EVENING NEWS. 6 4

A GIRL wishes a situation at general housework. Call at 515 West Third street. 6 3

A PROTESTANT woman wants situation as general housework. Address "H. P." 6 3

WANTED—Work by assistant dressmaker and seamstress. Address "H. J." care EVENING NEWS. 6 3

FOR RENT.

NICELY furnished rooms, connecting or separate. 126 East Front street. 5 4

FOR RENT, large rooms. Terms moderate. 119 Park avenue. 5 4

NICELY furnished rooms to let. 213 Richmond street. 5 14

FOR RENT—Dwelling, No. 249 Somerset street. Six rooms. Large garden. $12 per month. Call at NEWS office. 10 5 tf

FOUR pleasant, convenient rooms to let. 404 Third street, corner Central avenue. 30 6

TO LET—A furnished room with or without board to a baby. 228 East Fifth street. 9 13tf

TO LET—Seven room house near Front's. Also twelve room house on Front street. Both in good order. Enquire, City Mills. 9 6 tf

LOST AND FOUND.

LOST—A lady's gold watch and chain, in the vicinity of Park and Arlington avenues. A liberal reward paid for its return to this office for owner. 5 3

BOARDERS WANTED.

BOARDERS—Large rooms, good table, home comforts. 97 Sandford avenue. 5 6

To World's Fair For Only $43.

Next and last tours (Honeymoon's Private Tours to World's Fair, October 9th. One of two days, leaving Saturday and Sunday. Only $43. Another of twelve days. Prices all reduced. Send postal for particulars, to A. V. D. Honeyman, 181 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J. 10 6 tf

GERMAN SCHOOL.

Classes for boys, corner Second and Somerset avenues, will be formed on Saturday, October 14, 1893, at 10 o'clock a. m. Rev. R. Kienle. 10 5 3m

Fun! FUN! Fun!

"Let no LYNCHEST Man Escape" the

MOCK COURT TRIAL,

of the Newton Entertainment Bureau, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A.,

MUSIC HALL!

Monday Ev'g, Oct. 16,

Court called at 8 p. m.

The fun-provoking entertainment will be according to the rules of a regular

Court of Justice!

Charge—Larceny of a "Plymouth Rock" Rooster.

Complainant—Mayor Gilbert.
Defendant—Mayor Saunders.
Craig A. Marsh and Capt. A. V. Newkumet counsel for and defense.
Judge—Rowland Cox.

Hear the

OPENING OF THE COURT.
LUDICROUS EMPANELLING OF THE JURY.
TESTIMONY OF THE WITNESSES.
ARGUMENTS OF THE LAWYERS.
CHARGE OF THE JUDGE, ETC.

Reserved seats for sale at Leggett's Pharmacy on Monday morning, October 9th, at seven o'clock.

Prices, 50c., 75c. and $1.

Plainfield Manual Training School,

309 EAST FRONT STREET.

The course of study includes manual training each week, in the various branches taught, for which the charge is two dollars per month. Lessons in any of the branches may be taken singly, at correspondingly low prices. Visitors will be welcome on MONDAY, THURSDAY and Fridays. JOHN DALZIEL, Principal.

Special Notices.

CHORAL SOCIETY. SINGERS DESIRING membership in the Choral Society are requested to send their names at once to Mr. Beardsley, 112 Park avenue, or any singer. NELSON BURTON, Secretary.

New York Law School

120 Broadway, New York City. Incorporated 1891. Session of 36 weeks, 1893-94, begins Oct. 2. Lectures 5 to 7 p. m. Largest law school in the United States, enjoys equal rank with the oldest in instruction. Degree of LL.B. given after two years' study. Graduates admitted to practice without examination. Tuition for $105. Examination (October 3, 1893. Address GEORGE CHASE, Dean. 9 11 3m

EDITORIAL NOTES

Future American Literature.

Mr. Hamlin Garland drops into prophecy in The Forum. He writes of the future of American literature, and a current of enthusiasm like the sweep of a prairie wind runs through his thoughts. The east is to hold no longer its supremacy in literary authority and criticism, he says. It cannot, for the Atlantic coast model of literature and criticism is English, not American. Already the commercial supremacy has been wrested from New York by the northwest. Artistic supremacy will shortly be, for following the Columbian exposition the rise of Chicago as a literary and art center is only a question of time. "Magazines and publishing houses are to come. The writers have already risen."

"Henceforth when men of the old world speak of America they will not think of Boston and New York and Philadelphia, they will mean Chicago and the Mississippi valley." Mr. Garland quotes this as the estimate already put on his part of the country by the man of the middle section of the Union, and it is plain Mr. Garland more than half agrees with the valuation. He shocks the Atlantic coast as with an earthquake when he patronizingly tells it that the New England literary group wears "genteel and polite poems on books and events." But the real American literature, that which is springing up in the west and south, is a literature not of books, but of life. "It draws its inspiration from contact with men and nature. It has the rough hewn quality of first hand work. It has few limitations. It is free."

It is enough to make the very stones of Boston pavements cry out when Mr. Garland goes on and says, "Culture is our creative power." He believes, too, that today, in spite of its foreign population, Chicago is really the most representative American city. Not even Chicago, however, can permanently arrogate to itself the authority in artistic and literary criticism. "With cities of half a million inhabitants scattered from Pittsburg to Seattle, New York and Chicago will alike be made humble." Then Mr. Garland delivers the following exhortation:

> Stand up, O young man and woman of the west! Stand erect! Face the future with a song of courage in the light of a broader day in your eyes. Turn your back on the past, not in scorn, but in justice to the future. Reject the scholastician of the east. Cease trying to be correct and become creative. This is our day.

An Income Tax Bill.

Representative de Armond's scheme for raising government revenues has some features slightly unusual. Mr. de Armond wants to accumulate annual revenues large enough to meet the outlay for pensions, by the same great or small tariff duty purpose he would impose a graded tax on all incomes beyond $10,000. The secretary of the treasury shall fix the annual rate of the income tax and proportion it to the amount needed to pay the pensions. The $10,000 income is to be taken as a basis and is to be taxed a certain per cent. All incomes up to $50,000 shall be taxed at the same rate. Those between $50,000 and $100,000 the rates shall be doubled. Incomes between $100,000 and $200,000 shall be levied on at a rate three times as great as that of the $10,000 income. A man with $1,000,000 a year will pay a rate six times as great as the person worth $10,000 a year. This measure will probably be favored by all persons with an income of less than $10,000 a year and pronounced robbery by those who have that and more. If such a law should be passed, the poor millionaires will have as desperate a struggle to evade it as they now have to get out of paying real estate taxes.

A policeman in New York city lately captured two innocent looking Ohio farmers who were making for a Jersey City train and carrying a tin box as if they thought every one who passed them wanted to rob them of it. The policeman knew that out of tin box. It was familiar to his eyes as the stovepipe joke in the newspapers, and he arrested the two rustics. The report of the after proceedings says the farmers were far more surprised than the policeman to find that the tin box contained only allips of blank green paper. They had paid $800 in real money for it and for their experience.

There is no need now of anybody's carrying about with him filthy, ragged, disease breeding old bank bills or United States paper money. The treasury department is each week changing the rags for brand new bills at the rate of a million dollars' worth a day. If underobe spreading bills do of the United States be with bills far them within be receives them. We [illegible] uncleanness, but let what we [illegible] be new and clean.

If Mr. Wan[illegible]'s wishes were executed and every man who gave money to the campaign fund with the understanding that he was to office in return should lose his money and be barred not only out of office, but out of decent society as well, how many of us would there be left?

When a politician begins to declare that he is "out of politics," look out for him.

YACHTS MUST GO AGAIN

The Breeze Too Light and the Race Declared Off.

THE VALKYRIE LED AT THE CLOSE.

The English Skipper Outgeneraled the American, and to This May Be Attributed the Lead Gained by the Valkyrie—All New York on the Water.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Lack of wind made the first of the international yacht races a failure. Thousands of enthusiastic citizens had a delightful day's outing on the water and saw Lord Dunraven's Valkyrie, the pride of Great Britain, sail past our cup defender Vigilant, but it was when the Vigilant was becalmed, and even then the Vigilant crept up on the British boat whenever the wind held steady. They saw the Valkyrie gain a big advantage by being better handled, and they saw both boats, after sailing 20 miles out of the 30 in 5½ hours, give up the race, as it was impossible, within the limit of six hours, the time set by the cup committee. It was more or a drifting match than a race. The wind at no time reached the dignity of a sailing breeze. The Valkyrie led by a mile at the close.

It was fitful at that, and the race, which was intended by the cup committee to be 15 miles to leeward and best to windward home, was all before the wind except a few mile close reach for the turning buoy. The thousands of enthusiastic yachtsmen saw the Valkyrie at one time nearly two miles in the lead, and some of them were glad that the wind failed to carry the boats over. It began to blow in the hours, as had it freshened toward the last the English cutter would in all probability have won the race.

Our Sailors Were Outgeneraled.

More fair minded yachtsmen recognized the superior way in which John Bull's sailors outgeneraled Uncle Sam's tars, and regretted that the English boat won only an empty victory.

It was owing to bad judgment as well as poor seamanship on the part of the American yacht that the Valkyrie gained the slight advantage she did, and unless Skipper Hansen improves, the cup will ultimately go back to England.

The start was a pretty sight. Sandy Hook and vicinity seemed to be on the water. The skies were leaden, and a thick mist hung over the water, but that did not daunt the crowds. They started on big and little craft of every known build, from big ocean steamships to naphtha launches and steam racing machines. There were boats from hundreds of nearby points. Some of the boats from a distance made arrangements to board and lodge their passengers for a week. Tugs were out by the legion. There were little, puffing river tugs, all with private parties or clubs aboard. All of these boats, with bunting flying and decklands of gayly dressed men and women, made a sight never equaled at this port.

The crews of the two yachts were astir at dawn. All unnecessary truck was put off on the tenders, and the boats were made ready for the contest. The sky pilots looked dubiously at the sky and were disappointed, as both wanted a good strong wind.

Distinguished Men On Board.

A few minutes after 8 o'clock the Vigilant's anchor went up, and in tow of the tug Commander she passed out through the Narrows. On her were C. Oliver Iselin and Perry Belmont of the syndicate owners, Captain Hansen, her skipper; Nat Herreshoff, her builder; Duncan Kerr, the representative of Lord Dunraven; Captain Terry, Herbert Leeds and Newberry D. Thorne. The Valkyrie followed in tow of the tug Louis Pulver 10 minutes later. On board of her was a distinguished party, including the Earl of Dunraven, her owner; the Marquis of Ailesbury, Lord Herbert Longrishe, H. Maitland Kersay and Designer Watson.

The New York Yacht club was represented on the Valkyrie by Rear Commodore J. Archibald Rogers, head of the syndicate which built the Colonia. The yachts were utilized by tugs and incoming ocean steamers as they passed down the bay and proceeded out to the Sandy Hook lightships. They were followed by Commodore Morgan's steam yacht May, with the cup committee on board. With the committee on the May was Secretary Herbert.

The Vigilant arrived at the lightship ahead of the Valkyrie and ran up mainsail, club topsail and jib. The Valkyrie spent considerable time getting her mainsail up. Both boats were compelled to drift in a line of tugs and excursion boats around them while they maneuvered for position at the start.

Was Like a Floating City.

The boats which surrounded the crack racers presented a fine spectacle. It was like a floating city. The boats formed a circle around the starting line, and while they left a wide course for the racers, they were all near each other out of place, and occasionally bumped sides in their endeavor to get the best view.

The sun had broken through the clouds and the sky was clear when the start came. The sea was like glass. The start was a pretty one, as the spinnakers were broken out before the racers crossing the line, and the two tall single stickers presented a fine appearance as they stood down toward the Jersey coast.

There was a big fleet at the turn, and Lord Dunraven and his men got a cheer and a salute of steam whistles and sirens as they turned which they will not soon forget. The boats all waited for the Vigilant and gave her as good a blast as though she were leading instead of being a poor second. Then it became apparent that there would be no finish, many of the excursion boats started for the city. The most of them waited until the racers got a line to their tugs, and then all the craft raced for home. After the race was over the committee announced that the next race will be on Saturday. It will be over the same course and will be the first race, postponed from yesterday.

Lord Dunraven's Opinion.

In response to a question after the race Lord Dunraven said that he did not think yesterday's race was a fair test for either boat and that it was impossible to give an opinion which would be worth anything about a race sailed under such unfavorable conditions. He said that he had a very pleasant drift, and he seemed pleased that the Valkyrie had shown up so well in a light wind.

Designer Watson confirmed Lord Dunraven's remarks and said that was no test at all. When asked if the excursion steamers had bothered them much, he replied:

"Not as much as I expected. They shut the wind off from us at times, but I guess the luck was about equal in that respect."

"What can you say about the race sailed on such a pretty breeze?" he asked.

He admitted that the Vigilant was behind for awhile, and seemed to think that she had lost a little unlucky anchor that was not put on the sailing but poor luck that kept her back.

DEFIANT TO THE LAST.

Pallas, the Condemned Anarchist, Sings In the Face of Death.

BARCELONA, Oct. 6.—Pallas, the condemned anarchist, who threw the bomb at General de Campos, was taken before the military judge, escorted by a strong guard. He looked pale, yet had a firm bearing. By the judge's order the prisoner knelt while the death sentence was read. Pallas listened quietly, stroking his mustache. On rising, the judge asked him to sign the paper. To this Pallas replied:

"What! Sign my death sentence? I would rather sign the death sentence of the public prosecutor."

The judge remonstrated with Pallas, who answered that the law of retaliation was "An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth." The prisoner then signed the paper with a firm hand.

While crossing the castle court on his way to the chapel in which he is to remain 24 hours, the prisoner repeatedly shouted, "Long live anarchy!"

Pallas entered the chapel singing an anarchist hymn, and he continued singing it for a long time after the guard at the foyer of his cell closing words of each stanzas, "Kill, kill!"

Before going to the chapel Pallas affectionately kissed his wife and children. He kissed and wept over his infant son and exhorted the members of the family to continue in the path of anarchism.

He has asked that when he is taken out before the soldiers to be shot he shall have the privilege of giving the order to fire.

THE GROOM CAME BACK.

Mr. Croff Tells a Remarkable Story About His Mission to Kentucky.

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., Oct. 6.—Kitty Byrd McGalliard, the pretty 19-year-old daughter of George McGalliard, a wealthy contractor at Pelhamville, who was to have been married on Monday last to Mr. Croff, a widower, who lives in the city and who failed to appear, has been married at last. Croff returned to Pelhamville about 5:30 p. m., and at 7:30 the Rev. C. W. Bolton was called to the McGalliard residence, where he tied the nuptial knot. Croff left on the seven o'clock train.

On Monday, he says, he went to New York to make some purchases, having in his pocket. After making those purchases he started on a bee to take the Grand Central depot. Two strangers followed him into the cab, and on the way cladging to have been jagged and cloroformed. When he awoke at his sense was in Troy, N. Y., minus $567 and ring he had purchased for his bride.

Croff's statements have been corroborated before, and all his neighbors in Pelhamville believe his story. The couple start on a tour tonight.

Rioting In Indiana.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 6.—Trouble at the Big Four shops at Indianola over the reinstatement of a non-union boiler maker resulted in a running battle between the police and strikers. James Pitt was killed by Superintendent A. C. Riley of the Peoria and Eastern was seriously injured.

Twenty Couples Disappointed.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Every official attended the yacht race yesterday, and the result was that about 20 couples came to the city hall, bent on getting married, only to be disappointed. One prospective bride seemed to be terribly distressed by the delay.

No Cause of Action Against Elliott.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Oct. 6.—The jury in the case of Ann Hiney against John Elliott for $5,000 damages returned a verdict of no cause for action. Elliott shot and killed Hiney's husband on Nov. 1, 1892, in Elliott's saloon during a political discussion.

General Grant's Nephew Assaulted.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Ulysses Grant Dent, nephew of General Grant, lies in Bellevue hospital with a fractured skull, and Peter Tellier, a New York painter, is held to await the result of Dent's injuries. The men had quarreled, and an assault ensued.

A Steamer's Enormous Capacity.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—The British tank steamer Batoum will take away 70,000 barrels of oil in bulk. This is fully 800,000 gallons more than any other tank steamer in the world can carry. Her cargo will load eight large English ships.

Rhode Island's Day at the Fair.

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—Rhode Islanders came by hundreds yesterday to celebrate their day at the fair. Governor Davis delivered an interesting address, and the oration by Professor Williams was eloquent and scholarly.

Congressman Bryan Snubbed.

OMAHA, Oct. 6.—The Democratic state convention nominated Frank Irvine of this city for supreme judge and declined to indorse Congressman Bryan on the resolution committee or give him any recognition.

The Sight Unnerved Him.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 6.—After seeing Lovejoy of Yale and Hillhouse of Harvard in the Shore Line road, Richard Wolfe was so unnerved that he failed to get out of the way of the same train and was killed also.

A British Subject Killed.

BUENOS AYRES, Oct. 6.—The bombardment of Rio de Janeiro was resumed vigorously by the insurgent fleet, under command of Admiral Mello. A flying shell killed a subject of Great Britain.

Shot Dead by His Chum.

FLATBUSH, N. Y., Oct. 6.—Frank McClosky, aged 16, was fatally killed by Bryan Mangion, his chum, while struggling for the possession of a rifle, which was accidentally discharged.

Suicide by Slow Strangulation.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 6.—John Morris, a tailor, fastened a rope to the bedpost, put his head in the noose and the headboard of the bedstead. He then lay down and slowly strangled himself to death.

Governor Flower's Clemency.

ALBANY, Oct. 6.—Governor Flower has granted a commutation in the case of Samuel E. Wayman, convicted in Livingston county of the murder, in 1885, of Emory Thayer.

Counsel for the State.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—The chamber of commerce adopted resolutions censuring the United States senate for delaying repeal of the Sherman law.

Bishop Lawrence's First Act.

BOSTON, Oct. 6.—The first official act of Bishop Lawrence was the ordination of Rev. William Henry Brooks, D. D., as his private secretary.

Prom Liber Leader to Priest.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—Tom Mann, associate of John Burns and Keir Hardie in leading the London labor movement, is about to take holy orders.

POLITICIANS IN SESSION

John M. Palmer to Head the Republican Ticket.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE DEMOCRATS

What Their Platform Will Probably Declare—Gossip About the Syracuse and Saratoga Gatherings.—The Republicans of Nebraska Adjourn.

SYRACUSE, Oct. 6.—The Republican state convention was called to order at noon. Ex-Assemblyman P. W. Cullinan of Onondaga was chosen for temporary chairman and the secretaries are John S. Kenyon, H. L. Fox and C. A. Hill. Hon. Frank Brundage of Buffalo has been selected for permanent chairman of the convention.

The progressive Democratic headquarters took shape yesterday afternoon and evening. Previous to 12 o'clock yesterday but few of the delegates had put in an appearance, and the advance guard was apparently not well informed regarding the plans of the leaders. The arrival of ex-Senator Thomas C. Platt changed all that, and he at once took the helm and made his leadership matters soon took shape. Mr. Platt's first declaration was to the effect that the work of the convention need not occupy more than a day. He declared himself opposed to the waiting policy and dismissed the idea that the plans of the Republicans would in any event be affected by the proceedings of the Democrats. Having taken his position in favor of a short convention the Republican leader began the preliminary work necessary to the realization of his plan.

Assembling of the Leaders.

A conference was held in his rooms, continuing from the time of his arrival until midnight, with but few short interruptions. The leaders of delegations from all sections of the state hastened there as they arrived, reporting to generalissimo Platt and awaiting all to acquire knowledge of the situation.

The first candidate to open headquarters was Addison B. Colvin of Glens Falls, who aspires to the state treasurer's office. John Woodward of Jamestown opened headquarters as a candidate for attorney general late in the afternoon.

The Onondaga delegation is asking for nothing but the nomination for judge of the court of appeals. The candidate is Edward T. Bartlett, who will probably be named without opposition, despite the fact that Supreme Court Justice William Ross say of Bath has many friends. The fact that Mr. Bartlett will be united in his support of Mr. Bartlett and asks nothing else the convention appears to settle the matter.

There was for some time considerable doubt as to the head of the ticket. The doubt was practically settled early in the evening, when the Albany delegation met and decided to present the name of Gen. John L. Palmer, ex-commander in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic.

What Platform Will Be Adopted.

Assemblyman Meyer Nussbaum of Albany had been talked of for the nomination for attorney general, but withdrew in favor of Mr. Wood when General Palmer consented to be named as the head of the ticket.

It is understood that William A. Sutherland of Rochester will be chairman of the committee on resolutions. The platform, it is said, will deal largely with state issues, although the Minneapolis platform of last year will be heartily indorsed.

The only contesting delegation is from Onondaga county, and this will be submitted to the committee on credentials next. The regular delegation is headed by ex-Collector Francis Hendricks and is opposed by Congressman Belden.

There has been no change in the situation regarding the nomination for comptroller. The nomination may go to Buffalo if the delegates from that city can agree upon Tellier, the present incumbent, as the name of ex-Congressman John B. Weber and ex-Mayor Philip Becker have been mentioned in connection with the place.

But few of the well known Republicans of the state are absent. Who is missed is J. Sloat Fassett, now traveling in the south.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

Adjournment Taken Yesterday Until Today—The Platform.

SARATOGA, Oct. 6.—The Democratic state convention was called to order by Senator Murphy, who nominated Hon. D. N. Lockwood of Erie for temporary chairman.

Chairman Lockwood was introduced and addressed the convention at length. His references to the national administration were received by loud applause.

After the presentation of several petitions the convention at 1.34 p. m. adjourned until today.

The subcommittees for the committee on rules has prepared a platform which will be submitted for adoption to the committee on resolutions. It is understood that the platform will be devoted chiefly to state matters. It will recommend the repeals which have followed Democratic control in both branches of government, legislative and administrative, including the new legislative and congressional apportionments and provision for a constitutional convention, low taxes, legislation in the interest of labor and agriculture, etc. It will reaffirm the principles of the national Democratic state platforms and declare for frugal government, home rule, civil service reform, low taxes, the abolishment of unnecessary public works, the improvement of the canals, personal liberty, and will declare against sumptuary legislation.

The federal election plank will reaffirm the last state and national Democratic platforms, and will charge the present financial and industrial distress to unwise Republican legislation. It will advocate the speedy and unconditional repeal of the pernicious clauses of the Sherman silver law. It will endorse an independent of President Cleveland's and of Governor Flower's administrations.

Nebraska Republicans.

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 6.—Republicans of Nebraska met in state convention, and with nearly 1,000 delegates and an apparent split in the party ranks, surprised themselves by completing the work set before them with a fair degree of harmony, and finished before nightfall. Judge T. O. C. Harrison was nominated for justice of the supreme court.

This Year's Cotton Crop.

WILMINGTON, N. C., Oct. 6.—Leading experts here think that the yield of cotton will be 5 per cent larger in South Carolina and 10 to 15 per cent larger in North Carolina than last year.

Death of Ex-Senator Groome.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 6.—Ex-United States Senator Groome, who served from 1879 to 1885, is dead.

Mr. Henry S. Foster

I Know That Hood's Cures

And carefully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to all suffering with indigestion, biliousness, loss of appetite or run down. It will surely help you if there is any help for you. I have used it myself and it is my family for at least fifteen years, and of very many others I could name. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best blood purifier, creates a healthy appetite, and builds up the system. HENRY C. FOSTER, Bookkeeper, Foster, Stevens & Co., Printers, Binghamton, N. Y.

HOOD'S PILLS are hand made, and packed in properly and appearance. 25c. per box.

1893 TAXES!

Notice is hereby given to the taxpayers of the

City of Plainfield,

that the taxes assessed in said city for the year 1893 are now due and payable, and that if the said taxes be not paid by the

20th Day of December

next, the names of the defaulters, with their respective taxes, will be returned to the City Judge for the prosecution. The

COMMISSIONERS OF APPEAL

in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council Chamber, on the

Fourth Tuesday in November Next,

(the 28th,) and sit from two o'clock p. m. until five o'clock p. m., or longer, if found necessary, to discuss of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

JOHN JOHNSON,
Collector of Taxes.
Dated, Plainfield, N. J., October 2, 1893.
10 2 5d

Stoves For Winter,

Hardware of all Kinds,

Everything From Tacks to Furnaces.

A. M. GRIFFEN,

12 EAST FRONT STREET. Telephone 6.

The only place to buy

Sea Food!

is at

TERRY'S

North Avenue Sea Food Market,

where you will find the biggest fixed in Plainfield. Also, all other kinds in season, at the lowest prices.

OPENING

of Fall and Winter

Millinery and Jackets,

Wednesday, Thursday and Friday,

SEPTEMBER 13, 14 AND 15.

Having re-modeled and greatly enlarged our Millinery Department, we are, this season, enabled to show our patrons a line of fine effects Millinery second to none in the State, and at New York City prices. Our Trimming Department will be under the supervision of Miss Carrie Keeler, whose superior style of trimming gave such satisfaction last season. We will also open on above dates, a line of Fall Jackets for Ladies, Misses and Children.

Boehm's.

A. W. Rand,

140 WEST FRONT STREET.

New and second hand

SCHOOL - BOOKS.

School supplies of all kinds.

Those wishing to exchange second hand books must bring them in immediately.

U. B. CRANE,

has the largest stock of

Fine Fall HATS,

in Plainfield.

12 WEST FRONT STREET.

Educational.

HARNED ACADEMY.

BOARDING AND DAY SCHOOL.

New School Building.
Competent Instructors.
Students Prepared for College, For Business, and In Sports Subjects.

For circulars, address "Harned Academy, Plainfield, N. J.

Plainfield Seminary,

re-opened

SEPTEMBER 14, 1893.

(26th year.)

MISS R. E. KENYON, Principal.

FRENCH LESSONS.

MME. DE LA MOTTE, entertainment in French Lessons. Class or private lessons at residence in Plainfield. Orations and correspondence. Address, Grand Hotel, Asbury Park, N. J., Sundays and others. For terms, and trial lesson free, address, 1 to Prof. L. Pierre, care of Miss's Bookstore and Bowron, 21 La Grande avenue, Plainfield.

MISS FAWCETT'S

Day School for Primary and Intermediate Pupils, re-opens Tuesday, September 19th, at Brewing Institute. An opportunity to join these classes will be afforded to those not connected with the school at Miss Fawcett's residence, Wednesday, from 2 to 5 p. m.

MISS JEANNETTE MATTISON,

Teacher of Piano. Gives lessons at her residence or at pupils' residence. Those who may have regular practice hour at school can practice at my residence. Address, 1 Lenox avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Another one is to be opened

A. G. VOGELER

takes the lead.

LOOK AT THESE PRICES.

Porterhouse Steak	15c.
Sirloin	12c.
Round	12c.
Chuck	7c.
Roast Beef	10c.
Lamb Chops	14c.
Veal	14c.
Leg Mutton	12c.
Leg Spring Lamb	15c.
Shoulder Spring Lamb	12c.
Jersey Hams	12c.
Pickled Pork	10c.
Fresh Sausage	14c.
Pickled Tripe	5c.
Pickled Pig's Feet	5c.

Headquarters for Bologna. Bologna made fresh twice a day. Call and get your money's worth.

Union Meat Market,

131 WEST FRONT STREET.

9 14 1m A. G. Vogeler, Manager.

Are You Insured?

If you are 21 years old $66 00 paid annually for fifteen years would entitle you to $1,000.

If 22 years old, $67,
If 23 years old, $67.10.
If 24 years old, $67.20.

This sum of $1,000 is payable to the insured, if living, at the expiration of fifteen years, or at his death if prior.

FOR A LIFE POLICY, of $1,000 the annual payments to continue during life, the payments for young men betw een 21 and 24 are between $18.60 and $20.

For catalogues and further particulars address Henry D. Morrison, 11 Bonnell street, agent, The New York Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Metropolitan Livery and Boarding Stables!

Coaches, Close Carriages, Park Phaetons, Surreys, Buggies, Pony Phaetons and Saddle horses.

Special care given boarding horses. Storage for furniture and carriages.

149 AND 157 NORTH AVENUE,

Opposite depot. Telephone Call, 44.

H. R. RIDER, Proprietor. FRANK DAY, Manager

WHEN MONEY IS SCARCE,

and CLOTHING is needed, go to

SCHEFFLINS, 220 West Front Street.

THE DIME SAVINGS INSTITUTION

OF

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, which will interest at the rate of three per cent. per annum, payable semi annually.

JOHN W. MURRAY, President
WILLIAM WHITE, Vice-President
NATHAN HARPER,
ELIAS R. POPE, Treasurer

$55!

Six Days at the World's Fair.

A WEEK OF HOLIDAYS

Railroad tickets, hotel accommodations, admission tickets, and everything necessary to make you provided, including two excursions, one to and from Chicago, and one to and from Niagara Falls, and the Thousand Islands. Comfort and luxury at a minimum of cost. We have exclusive arrangements with the great railways terminal in Chicago.

Send for circulars, or call and ask questions, and we will give you prices.

WORLD'S COLUMBIAN TOURIST COMPANY,
239 Broadway, New York.
GEORGE C. McEWEN,
Agent for New Jersey,
491 broad street, Newark.

THE BEE HIVE!

Infants' long Cashmere Cloaks, $1.50, $2.00, $2.25.
Children's Elder down Cloaks, $1.48, $2.00, $2.25.
Also a full line of Flannel Skirts, Infants' Shawls and Socks.

Fall : Underwear.

Children's merino Vests and Pants, 16-inch, 12c., 18-inch, 16c., 20-inch, 19c., 22-inch, 22c., 24-inch, 25c.

Children's natural wool Vests and Pants, 16-inch, 20c., 18-inch, 25c., 20-inch, 30c., 22-inch, 35c., 24-inch, 40c.

SPECIAL!

Ladies' Ribbed Vests, long sleeves, 19c. Ladies' Merino Vests, 25c., 39c. and 50c. Ladies' Scarlet Vests, 39c. and 50c. Ladies' Natural Wool Vests, 50c
Men's White Merino Shirts and Drawers, 50c., fine, and 75c.
Men's Natural Wool Shirts and Drawers 75c. and $1.00.
Men's Scarlet Shirts and Drawers, 75c., $1.00 and $1.98.

Louis Callman,

222 West Front Street.

The New Address

of Seguine's Livery Stable is 18 West Second Street,

in the Elkwood building.

Telephone Call, 36;

Fine horses, carriages, vehicles of all kinds. Horses boarded. Careful drivers.

Cleaner Coal!

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't,

6 BROADWAY, COR. FOURTH STREET,

Invites the public to inspect the operation of his new coal screens, which are the finest coal screens for cut coal, which he confidently believes enables him to deliver cleaner coal than is possible by any other method of screening.

UTTER LEHIGH AND ROCKWOOD COAL in cut qualities and various sizes carried in stock.

ROUGH AND DRESSED LUMBER.

He would also announce recently increased facilities for turning and Scroll Sawing, and is confident that he can please for the same in a first class manner at short notice.

Miscellaneous Cards.

H. E. SPENCER,
Grocer and Confectioner, 26 and 28 Somerset street. Fine cider vinegar, 3 years old, 25c. per gallon. Fine Java and Mocha coffee, 30c. per lb. Fine teas, 50c. per lb. Spices, seeds, wholesale and retail. Cider boiled down, cabbage, lettuce, tomato, pepper, cauliflower, sweet potato, and egg plants in season.

PLAINFIELD
ODORLESS EXCAVATING COMPANY

JONES & CO.

Were quickly and thoroughly done. Orders left at Dr. Cook's office, 112 West Front street, will receive prompt attention. Property of the Board of Health. Paper for disinfecting. Water Closets and Sinks. Sand Lots, Garden and Field Loam.

P. O. Box 282. Telephone call 29

THE DIME SAVINGS INSTITUTION

OF

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, which will interest at the rate of three per cent. per annum, payable semi annually.

JOHN W. MURRAY, President
WILLIAM WHITE, Vice-President
NATHAN HARPER,
ELIAS R. POPE, Treasurer

NEW SWINDLING GAME.

Western Sharpers Trying to Dispose of a Worthless Farm.

GREENFIELD, Mass., Oct. 6.—A number of prominent farmers in the southern part of this county are complaining that they have been the victims of sharp practice during the past few days, with an elaborate pedigree book, came ostensibly from Kansas with a desire to improve the stock of farmers' horses in this section. The men claimed to own a Percheron stallion worth $2,500. They wanted 25 men to each give their notes for $100. All colts produced by the stallion were to be bought when 4 months old at $100 each. In Deerfield, Conway, Ashfield and other places the farmers took the stock. It is now claimed by the farmers that when they came to sign the notes they were for $2,500, holding them liable for that amount. They declined to sign and are now threatened with suits. The stallion is now stabled in Conway. Some experts place his value at $900.

STRICKEN BY PARALYSIS.

Bismarck's End Seems to Be Only a Short Time Away.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—The Telegram's Berlin correspondent says that Prince Bismarck has suffered a stroke of paralysis and that he is in an apathetic condition.

BERLIN, Oct. 6.—The Rudolstadt Landesanzeiger says that Prince Bismarck is slowly but steadily sinking, and that it is improbable that he will ever leave Kissingen alive.

The Vossische Zeitung of Berlin abstains from publishing the worst news about Prince Bismarck, simply expressing the hope that his keen constitution will enable him to recover from his renewed illness.

The Berlin Tageblatt demands that official bulletins be published regarding the prince's illness. It calls to task those responsible for playing with the nation's interest in Bismarck's condition.

BURNED IN A FURNACE.

A Death at Harvard That the Authorities Did Not Announce.

BOSTON, Oct. 6.—Joseph L. Cornelius, one of the brightest students of the Harvard divinity school, died at the Massachusetts General hospital Sept. 25. The fact was withheld by the authorities of the hospital and the university.

Cornelius became insane through typhoid fever and crawled into the furnace by which the hospital was heated. He was partially cremated before the attendants could rescue him and died in a few minutes.

Cornelius was 25 years of age and came from one of the most wealthy and aristocratic families of South Carolina. He was graduated last fall with honors, and was taking a special course when the fever seized him.

Swindled Out of $2,000.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Mr. Walbaum was swindled out of $2,000 by a bogus telegram on the day of the Tammany-Lamplighter match. The message was signed C. Fleischmann and commissioned Mr. Walbaum to back Lamplighter for that amount for the writer. The Guttenburg president did so, but Fleischmann did not send the telegram.

The Storm's Fatalities Confirmed.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 6.—With the latest information that has reached the city from Grand Isle, Chenerie, Camanada, Bayou Cook county and the country adjacent thereto it is now estimated that between 1,100 and 1,400 lives are lost, and damage to the extent of over $1,000,000 has been done to property by the late storm.

Eugene J. Cummiskey Indicted.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Oct. 6.—The grand jury found a true bill of indictment for burglary in the third degree against Eugene J. Cummiskey of New York, who is alleged to be the fence through whom the Pawling bank burglars tried to negotiate $25,000 of bonds stolen from the Pawling Savings bank.

Perry's First Born.

GUTHRIE, O. T., Oct 6.—The first baby born in Perry was a son to Mr. and Mrs. E. Healy. It arrived yesterday, and the whole town has been celebrating the event today. Hundreds of men have called upon the baby, with presents, and they are now raising a trust fund for the little fellow.

Father Murphy Must Go.

PATERSON, N. J., Oct. 6.—Father Murphy will be dispossessed on Monday next. The Rev. Dr. Smith has had a dispossess warrant issued against his former pastor, and if he does not vacate the church by Monday he will be ejected from the premises by a constable.

The Murderer Overlooked $1,000.

SANDY POINT LAKE, Minn., Oct. 6.—The body of an unknown man, with a bullethole through the head and a stone tied to one ankle, has been found here. His pockets had been rifled, but the murderer overlooked a money belt containing $1,000.

A Two Faced Ohio Girl.

TOLEDO, Oct. 6.—A two headed babe has been born to Mr. and Mrs. John Knapp. The youngster has a second head growing out from the back of the neck of the first and facing in an opposite direction. It is a girl and apparently healthy.

Unfurled a Flag at Great Height.

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Oct. 6.—The Pennsylvania Signal Corps unfurled a flag over General Meade's headquarters yesterday from a staff 150 feet high. George Gordon Meade, grandson of the Gettysburg commander, participated.

White Stone Killed in a Race.

BERWYN, Pa., Oct. 6.—White Rose, wife of White Bull, chief of the Iroquois tribe of Indians, while riding in a race on the fair grounds, was thrown against the railing inclosing the track. She died in a few minutes.

Suspension of a Whisky House.

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 6.—Bartley, Johnson & Co., one of the oldest whisky houses in the state, suspended business yesterday because of the closeness of the market.

Mrs. Blake Is a Candidate.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—The Woman's Suffrage league nominated Mrs. Lilly Devereaux Blake for delegate at large to the constitutional convention.

Still Another Record Smashed.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 6.—Harry C. Tyler lowered the world's record for a mile, standing start, at Hampden park, making 4 in 2:01 3-5.

Tramps Set Fire to a Bridge.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 6.—The county bridge across the creek near Zeedikers Station was destroyed by fire. Tramps are supposable.

Many Czechs Arrested.

PRAGUE, Oct. 6.—Many Czechs have been arrested on the charge of being concerned in a plot to assassinate government officials.

SIDED WITH OPPONENTS

Mr. Hill Voted Against Confirming Democratic Nominees.

DEBATING IN EXECUTIVE SESSION.

Bitter Fight Made Against the Nomination of Isaac F. Wootten of Delaware.

The President Championed by Senator Voorhees—Proceedings in Executive.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—With a six hours' continuous executive session the senate broke the record of the last congress, but in so doing managed to dispose of considerable business and get out of the way a number of nominations against which the Republicans had been making a determined resistance. The session was the result of an agreement and produced surprises.

The struggle was over certain nominations of citizens from one state selected to act as Indian agents at agencies located in other states, and the Republicans opposed their confirmation on the general ground that such nominations were a violation of the home rule plank of the Democratic party platform, but added to this was the further charge in some cases that the nominees were not qualified for the position. Senators Davis and Washburn of Minnesota, Stewart of Nevada and Dubois of Idaho made vigorous speeches denunciatory of the violation of the home rule principle, while Senator Voorhees eloquently defended the president from the shafts of his assailants. The surprise of the day, however, came in the reported action of Senator Hill, who is understood to have aided the Republicans not only by his vote, but by his voice.

Delaware's Senators at Odds.

The Indian agents under discussion were all confirmed but one, two or three Democrats voting with the Republicans. The man confirmed were William L. Hargrive of Indiana, to be Indian agent at Western Shoshone agency, Nevada; Joseph Holmson of Missouri, at Nez Perces agency, Idaho; Robert M. Allen of Illinois at White Earth agency, Minnesota, and James K. Smith of Mississippi, at Yankton. Perhaps the most bitter fight was made against Isaac J. Wootten of Delaware, nominated agent at the Nevada agency. Senator Higgins led the opposition against Wootten, while Senator Gray was equally a earnest in his behalf. There appeared to be a considerable element of antagonism to this nominee within the ranks of his own party, and his case was laid over without final action.

The same opposition manifested itself against the confirmation of Thomas Smith of Virginia, nominated to be chief justice of New Mexico, but after a discussion of half an hour or so the vote was taken, resulting in his confirmation. It is understood that an effort was made to have the favorable report on the nomination of H. E. Preston, to be director of the mint, taken up for action, but Mr. Stewart and other silver senators took such a determined stand against it that it went over and will be called up probably at the next executive session.

Mr. Hill's Amendment.

The senate spent but 15 minutes in open session. Mr. Hill gave notice that he would offer an amendment to the rules providing that a paired senator on a yea and nay vote should be entered on the journal and counted as present for the purpose of constituting a quorum.

The fact having become known that the Democratic caucus would assemble to discuss the propriety of passing the election law repeal bill before the senate had agreed to the Wilson-Voorhees bill may have had something to do with the listlessness manifested in the house. Not more than 20 members were in attendance when it adjourned.

Representative Tucker, author of the bill, says that the caucus was called for the purpose of determining whether or not the Democratic party was earnestly and entirely in favor of the repeal of the election laws as demanded by the platform. "We are either in favor of their repeal or we are not," said Mr. Tucker, "and we might as well find out just how we stand. If Mr. Fitch's bill is to be adopted as the party measure, it seems to me we might as well abandon the fight. If his bill incorporates all there is objectionable, then we've got no case. I am perfectly well satisfied, however, that the caucus will make a satisfactory declaration on the subject."

Hard Times Duty For the Yankton.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Orders have been sent by the navy department to Rear Admiral Belknap, at New London, Conn., directing him to send out the dynamite cruiser Vesuvius on the unique and hazardous duty of blowing up 14 derelict vessels that endanger navigation. All the derelicts were wrecked during the recent hurricane on the Atlantic coast, and nearly all are adjacent to the Jersey shore.

Fourth Class Postmasters.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6. — The following fourth class postmasters were appointed:

New Jersey—Nora Swayze, Glen Gardner.
New York—Wm. H. Hamilton, Lebanon Springs; Henry Crandall, West Lebanon.
Pennsylvania—Mrs. Hattie Wolmar, Marblehead; J. F. Williams, Strong.

Hard Times Duty For the Vesuvius.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Orders have been sent by the navy department to Rear Admiral Belknap, at New London, Conn., directing him to send out the dynamite cruiser Vesuvius on the unique and hazardous duty of blowing up 14 derelict vessels that endanger navigation. All the derelicts were wrecked during the recent hurricane on the Atlantic coast, and nearly all are adjacent to the Jersey shore.

Fourth Class Postmasters.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6. — The following fourth class postmasters were appointed:

New Jersey—Nora Swayze, Glen Gardner.
New York—Wm. H. Hamilton, Lebanon Springs; Henry Crandall, West Lebanon.
Pennsylvania—Mrs. Hattie Wolmar, Marblehead; J. F. Williams, Strong.

Hard Times Duty For the Vesuvius.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Orders have been sent by the navy department to Rear Admiral Belknap, at New London, Conn., directing him to send out the dynamite cruiser Vesuvius on the unique and hazardous duty of blowing up 14 derelict vessels that endanger navigation. All the derelicts were wrecked during the recent hurricane on the Atlantic coast, and nearly all are adjacent to the Jersey shore.

Fourth Class Postmasters.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6. — The following fourth class postmasters were appointed:

New Jersey—Nora Swayze, Glen Gardner.
New York—Wm. H. Hamilton, Lebanon Springs; Henry Crandall, West Lebanon.
Pennsylvania—Mrs. Hattie Wolmar, Marblehead; J. F. Williams, Strong.

CUT DOWN TO FACTS.

Superintendent Byrnes of New York fell on the stairway at his home and cut a severe gash over his eye.

The Bank of England has reduced its rate of discount from 3½ to 3 per cent. Its bullion decreased £202,000 during the last week.

Three billion cigarettes were smoked in this country in the fiscal year just ended.

The Yale medical school opened under favorable circumstances.

Colored Odd Fellows celebrated their semicentennial at Philadelphia.

The demand for dry goods seems to decline rather than improve.

Heinz Bros. & Co.'s pickle establishment at Pittsburg was burned. Loss, $80,000; insured. One of the firm, J. C. Heinz, Jr., was arrested for setting fire to the works.

There is a probability that the suspended Madison Square bank, New York, will resume.

At Brunswick, Ga., there were nine new cases of yellow fever and no deaths. The disease is not spreading at Jesup.

Robert J raced a mile in 2:09¾ at Evansville, Ind.

The total score in the great international billiard match at New York is: Roberts, 6,401; Ives, 5,788.

Judge Foster of Auburn, Me., declined to call out the militia unless the striking shoemakers became violent.

The brother Montgomery left New London, Conn., this morning for Baltimore.

Edward Hanlan offers to back Dunnan to row Gaudaur a 1¼ miles straightaway race for $1,000.

Isaac Green, whose body was found along the railroad track near Highbridge, is believed to have been murdered.

Benjamin F. Tennis who assaulted and murdered a 9-year-old girl, was sentenced to be hanged at Harrisburg.

Louis James will contest Marie Wainwright's suit for divorce.

A Farmer's Heroic Act.

LAFONTEIN, Ind., Oct. 6.—The Chicago and West Michigan Railroad bridge between this city and New Buffalo collapsed last night, and the crash of timbers aroused a farmer, who, mounting a horse and clad only in his night clothes, dashed madly down the track to display the danger signal for the passenger train about due. His timely warning came none too soon, for 12 minutes later a score or more lives would have been sacrificed in a wreck.

Suicide of a Horse.

HOBOKEN, Oct. 4.—The police were notified yesterday that a horse owned by Robert Stage had hanged himself. The horse was taken from Francis' stable, which was burned Wednesday afternoon. In some way he slipped his halter around his neck and slowly strangled to death. When Stage went to the stable, he found the animal hanging almost like a human suicide. He valued the horse at $400.

The "Angel Dancers" Convicted.

HACKENSACK, N. J., Oct. 6.—Evangelist Huntsman T. Mason; John D. McClintock, alias John the Baptist; Daniel Gaines, alias Silas the Pure; Garret G. Storms, alias Titus; Mrs. Jane Howell, Mrs. Eliza Berry, Mrs. Mary Stewart and Mrs. Mary Storms, the band of "angel dancers" of Park Ridge, were convicted of keeping a disorderly house.

The Ravages of Cholera.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—The death of five persons in one family within a week in Bradford, Yorkshire, has raised a suspicion that cholera has appeared in that town. In all the cases death was ascribed to cholerine.

ROME, Oct. 6.—Four hundred cases of cholera and 220 deaths were registered in Palermo during the week.

That Princeton Hazing Affair.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 6.—The college authorities have secured evidence enough in the hazing affair to implicate a half score or more of sophomores. At the close of the examination one of the accused packed his effects and left town in anticipation of a session of expulsion.

Valuable Papers Recovered.

PHILLIPS, Me., Oct. 6.—A representative of Wilbur & Co. today found papers representing over $20,000, which were taken from their store by safe blowers Sept. 17. They were found along the river bank about a mile below the town.

Killed His Wife and Mother-in-law.

WAVERLY, O., Oct. 6.—In a quarrel over the possession of a child W. K. Hill shot and killed his mother-in-law. He then turned and shot his wife, the bullet entering her ear, and she fell mortally wounded. Hill escaped.

Not to Hold This Warning Means Death.

SELMA, Ala., Oct. 6.—A number of gin-houses in Perry county have been placarded with notices warning to desist from ginning until cotton is worth 10 cents per pound. The penalty for a violation of this law is death.

Curry's Sweeping Challenge.

NASHVILLE, Oct. 6.—Jack Curry, driver of Alix, says he will trot him against Nancy Hanks, Belle Hamlin, Alcyone and Directum or will go against either of them singly. He bets nobody.

Small Sight Worsens With a Big Noose.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 6.—Abraham Allegangre, 7 years old, is held for highway robbery. He ran against a 11-year-old girl, knocked her down, snatched her pocketbook and ran off.

Brooklyn's Population Nearly 1,000,000.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 6.—Dr. John S. Young of the bureau of vital statistics has completed the work of the population of the city. It is within 1,000 of 1,000,000 inhabitants.

To Look Out Seven Thousand More.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—The Clyde Shipbuilders' association has given its employers notice of a general lockout, beginning Saturday. This will throw 7,000 hands out of work.

The Lords Will Resist.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Joseph Chamberlain expresses the belief that the house of lords will remain, and that the English people have no desire to abolish that body.

Probably Lost In the Gale.

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 6.—It is believed here that the schooner J. B. Wood was lost in the hurricane that swept the coast Aug. 29. Her crew consisted of six men.

Tried to Burn a Woman.

CAMDEN, N. J., Oct. 6.—While intoxicated, Oliver Server locked his housekeeper, Lydia Smith, in a closet and set fire to it. The woman was released by neighbors.

Killed by an Electric Car.

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 6.—Annie Hollum, 3 years old, was killed while going to school by an electric car.

To Keep the House Cool.

It is astonishing how much chill and damp may be so mitigate the discomforts of unusually warm weather. If the house be shut up during the middle of the day, so as to keep out the heat and then, open in the morning and evening to let in the cool air, the temperature may be kept uniformly comfortable. Where there are no awnings the blinds must be closed, and the shades drawn in middle.

Tomato Soup.

Take six grated tomatoes, strain through a coarse sieve, add to the half an quart water and let it come to a boil, then add butter, pepper and salt and a teaspoonful of flour. Let it come once more to a boil, then strained and serve. This is just as delicious as tomato soup made with meat.

Uses of Kerosene.

Kerosene will make a tin bottle as bright as new. Wet a flannel cloth and put with it. Kerosene will also remove stains and dirt from varnished furniture.

Castor Oil for Warts.

According to the Medical Record castor oil has been found to be a cure for warts to which it was applied once a day for two to six weeks.

JOSEPH SOHL,
PRACTICAL
Electrician
40 NORTH AVENUE.
Plainfield, N. J.
Estimates furnished on Electric Light Wiring, Burglar Alarm and Bell Work and repairing of same. Dealer in
Electric and Gas Fixtures.

Madame Iza Lezem's Conservatory
will open on
Friday, October 6,
from 2 to 6 p. m., in HULETT'S HALL, for instruction in Physical Culture, Elocution, Deportment, Singing, Violin, Piano, Society and Fancy Dancing.
Reception on October 8, from 3 to 5 p. m., to which all ladies are cordially invited.
For particulars, address to the Hall, or 339 West Front street. 10 2 tf

F. M. HULETT,
MUSIC DEALER,
74 West Front Street,
handles the following makes:
Gildemaster & Kroeger,
Kranich & Bach,
Star,
Mulhfeld,
Jacob Bros. Pianos,
and the world-renowned
Newman Bros. and Mason & Hamlin Organs.

New : Proprietor!
HENRY F. WINDHAM,
Arlington : Hotel!
Somerset street and Grasshrook road.
Regular and transient boarders.
First-class bar and stables attached.

Do Your Corns Hurt?
They can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of
ELECTRIC
Corn Cure.
A remedy that never fails. A guarantee is sent with each box, that if a complete cure is not made no money is to be paid for the same. Price, 50c. per box. Sent postpaid to any address on receipt of price. Sold by postmasters, druggists, and by (circulars free) A book of testimonials sent with each box.
ALLEN & CO.,
6 19 tf Lock Box 16, Richmond, Va.

MORE SLAUGHTER!
to close out our entire line of
Neglige SHIRTS!
We offer them at the ridiculously low price of
85 CENTS.
These goods are worth $1.25 and $1.50. If you don't need them now you will when cold weather sets in. Sizes—32c, from 14 to 18in. on each one.
Hallock & Davis,
New number, 109 West Front street, opposite Somerset street.

Van Eps,
THE NEW JEWELER.
13 Park Avenue. Also a large variety of Musical Goods.

TAKE NOTICE.
Charles Arnold,
the butcher,
Is Still in the Race
for cut prices.
Fresh Pork and Sausage 12c. lb.
My own Dressed Jersey Chickens, 18c. lb.
Legs Mutton, 10c. lb.
Lamb, 12c. lb.
My Smoked Meats and all other Meats will be the same old cut prices.
Arnold's : Market,
208 LIBERTY STREET.
GOODS DELIVERED
FREE OF CHARGE.
Strictly Cash. 8 28 tfm

Great Bargains
in all grades of
WALL PAPERS,
for the next 60 days.
Marsh, Ayers & Co.,
39 EAST FRONT STREET.

The Vanderbilts and Astors!
Use the same make of imported Table Oil, Cheese and French Sardines that I now have in stock.
THEY ARE DELICIOUS.
And then I personally select the
FRESH FISH!
I have on sale to-day and to-morrow. Call and see my stock.
JULES BOVEY,
60 Somerset Street.

H. DE MOTT, Graduate of United States Embalming College,
UNDERTAKER : AND : EMBALMER,
Office at residence, 178 Somerset Street.
Plainfield, N. J.

Townsend's
Marble Works,
20 Somerset Street.

Builders Cards.
Daniel Hulick,
Carpenter
and
General Jobber.
SHOP,
35 Jackson Avenue.
Storm doors and weather strips a specialty.
JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO
Window Screens made to order.

John P. Emmons,
MASON AND BUILDER.
Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect street.
Jobbing promptly attended to.
P. O. Box 963.

PIERSON & GAYLE,
Carpenters
and Builders.
W. J. Pierson, No. 15 Vine street. H. B. Gayle, No. 19 Vine street.
All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM G. SMITH,
PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER.
All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.
Residence—Grandview avenue.
P. O. Box 229.

R. V. SAUER,
Carpenter & Builder.
Residence—Clinton avenue, near depot, Scotch Plains.
P. O. Box 299
Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.

JACOB M. HIGGINS,
PRACTICAL MASON and CONTRACTOR
P. O. Box 261. Residence Dr. street, near Emery.
8 17

JOHN ARNOTT,
Civil Engineer and Builder, Estimates cheerfully furnished. Jobbing promptly attended to. Plans and Specifications furnished. Residence, Grandview avenue. Lumber kept dried on hand. P. O. Box 254.

ALFRED B. NELSON,
Civil Engineer and Surveyor,
Office, Front street, cor. Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Residence, Grandview avenue, White Rock. Right of way with Plans, Profiles, &c., for the Central Railroad of New Jersey, also on the Central Railroad of New Jersey. All work guaranteed. 10 7 tf

Piret
GOODS
For wise people, peculiarly appropriate for the season, can always be found in our repository.
We will not say that we have the best in the world, but we do say and know that the same money cannot purchase better Harness and Carriages than our prices are rapidly making their own. It is necessary to advertise to forget what you know, but it is never the course of wisdom to forget our select consignment of fancy traps and trappings. Save time, temper and money by purchasing of us:
L. M. FRENCH,
Carriage Manufacturer,
24, 26, 28, 40 SOMERSET STREET.

Timely Warning! Winter Approaching!
Keep your Scalp Clean and your Hair Growing.
RANDOLPH'S Quinine and Glycerine
HAIR TONIC!
The Friend in the Hour of Need.
EACH BOTTLE GUARANTEED. Sold only by
L. W. RANDOLPH, Prescription Druggist,
163 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

Rochester Beers!
The success already attained by this brand of Lager Beer is beyond expectation. No other Beer ever handled in this city has had such remarkable sales. Try it!
BOTTLED LIQUORS,
Imported Beers and Ales are having a very large sale at this season. My stock is fresh-class, and it will pay you to investigate.
FRANK LINKE'S
Wholesale Liquor Establishment, 42 WEST FRONT STREET.
Telephone Call, 157.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,
Successors to
The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,
Dealers in
Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials
42 to 60 PARK AVENUE.
Are now prepared with their increased facilities, (having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs. A. D. Cook & Bro.,) to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

Railroad Time Table.

CENTRAL RAILROAD OF NEW JERSEY
(Anthracite coal used exclusively insuring cleanliness and comfort.)
Station in New York, foot of Liberty street. Time table in effect June 25, 1893.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield at 2 34, 4 32, 6 08, 6 38, 8 28, 9 58, 11 28 a. m., 12 58, 2 28, 3 58, 5 28, 6 27, 8 02, 9 32, 11 02 p. m. Sundays, 2 34, 4 32, 6 08, 6 38, 8 28, 9 58, 11 28 a. m., 12 58, 2 28, 3 58, 5 28, 6 27, 8 02, 9 32, 11 02 p. m.

Leave New York, foot of Liberty street, at 7 45, 9 15, 10 45 a. m., 12 15, 1 45, 3 15, 4 45, 6 15, 7 45, 9 15, 10 45 p. m. Sundays, 7 45, 9 15, 10 45 a. m., 12 15, 1 45, 3 15, 4 45, 6 15, 7 45, 9 15, 10 45 p. m.

Leave Plainfield at 5 48, 6 38, 7 38, 8 38, 9 38, 10 38, 11 38 a. m., 12 38, 1 38, 2 38, 3 38, 4 38, 5 38, 6 38, 7 38, 8 38, 9 38, 10 38, 11 38 p. m. Sundays, 9 38 a. m., 5 38, 6 38, 7 38, 8 38, 9 38, 10 38, 11 38 p. m.

Leave New York, foot of Liberty street, at 7 45, 8 45, 9 45, 10 45, 11 45 a. m., 12 45, 1 45, 2 45, 3 45, 4 45, 5 45, 6 45, 7 45, 8 45, 9 45, 10 45, 11 45 p. m. Sundays, 9 45 a. m., 5 45, 6 45, 7 45, 8 45, 9 45, 10 45, 11 45 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield at 7 10, 8 10, 9 10, 11 00 a. m., 12 00, 1 10, 2 10, 3 10, 4 10, 5 10, 6 10, 7 10, 8 10, 9 10, 10 10, 11 10 p. m. Sundays, 9 10 a. m., 5 10, 6 10, 7 10, 8 10, 9 10, 10 10, 11 10 p. m.

Leave Somerville at 5 50, 6 50, 7 50, 8 50, 9 50, 10 50, 11 50 a. m., 12 50, 1 50, 2 50, 3 50, 4 50, 5 50, 6 50, 7 50, 8 50, 9 50, 10 50, 11 50 p. m. Sundays, 9 50 a. m., 5 50, 6 50, 7 50, 8 50, 9 50, 10 50, 11 50 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND BOUND BROOK.

Leave Plainfield at 6 38, 8 38, 9 38, 10 38, 11 38 a. m., 12 38, 1 38, 2 38, 3 38, 4 38, 5 38, 6 38, 7 38, 8 38, 9 38, 10 38, 11 38 p. m. Sundays, 9 38 a. m., 5 38, 6 38, 7 38, 8 38, 9 38, 10 38, 11 38 p. m.

Leave Bound Brook at 5 48, 6 48, 7 48, 8 48, 9 48, 10 48, 11 48 a. m., 12 48, 1 48, 2 48, 3 48, 4 48, 5 48, 6 48, 7 48, 8 48, 9 48, 10 48, 11 48 p. m. Sundays, 9 48 a. m., 5 48, 6 48, 7 48, 8 48, 9 48, 10 48, 11 48 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND STATEN ISLAND.

Leave Plainfield at 6 38, 8 38, 9 38, 10 38, 11 38 a. m., 12 38, 1 38, 2 38, 3 38, 4 38, 5 38, 6 38, 7 38, 8 38, 9 38, 10 38, 11 38 p. m. Sundays, 9 38 a. m., 5 38, 6 38, 7 38, 8 38, 9 38, 10 38, 11 38 p. m.

Leave Staten Island at 5 48, 6 48, 7 48, 8 48, 9 48, 10 48, 11 48 a. m., 12 48, 1 48, 2 48, 3 48, 4 48, 5 48, 6 48, 7 48, 8 48, 9 48, 10 48, 11 48 p. m. Sundays, 9 48 a. m., 5 48, 6 48, 7 48, 8 48, 9 48, 10 48, 11 48 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND DUNELLEN.

Leave Plainfield at 6 38, 8 38, 9 38, 10 38, 11 38 a. m., 12 38, 1 38, 2 38, 3 38, 4 38, 5 38, 6 38, 7 38, 8 38, 9 38, 10 38, 11 38 p. m. Sundays, 9 38 a. m., 5 38, 6 38, 7 38, 8 38, 9 38, 10 38, 11 38 p. m.

Leave Dunellen at 5 48, 6 48, 7 48, 8 48, 9 48, 10 48, 11 48 a. m., 12 48, 1 48, 2 48, 3 48, 4 48, 5 48, 6 48, 7 48, 8 48, 9 48, 10 48, 11 48 p. m. Sundays, 9 48 a. m., 5 48, 6 48, 7 48, 8 48, 9 48, 10 48, 11 48 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND BOUND BROOK.

Leave Plainfield at 6 38, 8 38, 9 38, 10 38, 11 38 a. m., 12 38, 1 38, 2 38, 3 38, 4 38, 5 38, 6 38, 7 38, 8 38, 9 38, 10 38, 11 38 p. m. Sundays, 9 38 a. m., 5 38, 6 38, 7 38, 8 38, 9 38, 10 38, 11 38 p. m.

Leave Bound Brook at 5 48, 6 48, 7 48, 8 48, 9 48, 10 48, 11 48 a. m., 12 48, 1 48, 2 48, 3 48, 4 48, 5 48, 6 48, 7 48, 8 48, 9 48, 10 48, 11 48 p. m. Sundays, 9 48 a. m., 5 48, 6 48, 7 48, 8 48, 9 48, 10 48, 11 48 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield at 8 38 a. m., 4 38 p. m.

Leave Lake Hopatcong at 8 38 a. m., 4 38 p. m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

8 38 a. m. for Passaic and Hoboken, connecting for Paterson, Jersey City and New York.

9 38 a. m. for Somerville and Bound Brook, connecting for Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia, Washington, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Portland, Oregon, Los Angeles and Mexico.

10 38 a. m. for Passaic and Hoboken, connecting for Paterson, Jersey City and New York.

11 38 a. m. for Somerville and Bound Brook, connecting for Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia, Washington, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Portland, Oregon, Los Angeles and Mexico.

12 38 p. m. for Somerville and Bound Brook, connecting for Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia, Washington, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Portland, Oregon, Los Angeles and Mexico.

1 38 p. m. for Passaic and Hoboken, connecting for Paterson, Jersey City and New York.

2 38 p. m. for Somerville and Bound Brook, connecting for Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia, Washington, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Portland, Oregon, Los Angeles and Mexico.

3 38 p. m. for Passaic and Hoboken, connecting for Paterson, Jersey City and New York.

4 38 p. m. for Somerville and Bound Brook, connecting for Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia, Washington, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Portland, Oregon, Los Angeles and Mexico.

5 38 p. m. for Passaic and Hoboken, connecting for Paterson, Jersey City and New York.

6 38 p. m. for Somerville and Bound Brook, connecting for Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia, Washington, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Portland, Oregon, Los Angeles and Mexico.

7 38 p. m. for Passaic and Hoboken, connecting for Paterson, Jersey City and New York.

8 38 p. m. for Somerville and Bound Brook, connecting for Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia, Washington, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Portland, Oregon, Los Angeles and Mexico.

9 38 p. m. for Passaic and Hoboken, connecting for Paterson, Jersey City and New York.

10 38 p. m. for Somerville and Bound Brook, connecting for Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia, Washington, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Portland, Oregon, Los Angeles and Mexico.

11 38 p. m. for Passaic and Hoboken, connecting for Paterson, Jersey City and New York.

12 38 p. m. for Somerville and Bound Brook, connecting for Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia, Washington, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Portland, Oregon, Los Angeles and Mexico.

1 38 p. m. for Passaic and Hoboken, connecting for Paterson, Jersey City and New York.

2 38 p. m. for Somerville and Bound Brook, connecting for Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia, Washington, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Portland, Oregon, Los Angeles and Mexico.

3 38 p. m. for Passaic and Hoboken, connecting for Paterson, Jersey City and New York.

4 38 p. m. for Somerville and Bound Brook, connecting for Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia, Washington, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Portland, Oregon, Los Angeles and Mexico.

5 38 p. m. for Passaic and Hoboken, connecting for Paterson, Jersey City and New York.

6 38 p. m. for Somerville and Bound Brook, connecting for Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia, Washington, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Portland, Oregon, Los Angeles and Mexico.

7 38 p. m. for Passaic and Hoboken, connecting for Paterson, Jersey City and New York.

8 38 p. m. for Somerville and Bound Brook, connecting for Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia, Washington, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Portland, Oregon, Los Angeles and Mexico.

9 38 p. m. for Passaic and Hoboken, connecting for Paterson, Jersey City and New York.

10 38 p. m. for Somerville and Bound Brook, connecting for Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia, Washington, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Portland, Oregon, Los Angeles and Mexico.

11 38 p. m. for Passaic and Hoboken, connecting for Paterson, Jersey City and New York.

12 38 p. m. for Somerville and Bound Brook, connecting for Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia, Washington, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Portland, Oregon, Los Angeles and Mexico.

1 38 p. m. for Passaic and Hoboken, connecting for Paterson, Jersey City and New York.

2 38 p. m. for Somerville and Bound Brook, connecting for Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia, Washington, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Portland, Oregon, Los Angeles and Mexico.

3 38 p. m. for Passaic and Hoboken, connecting for Paterson, Jersey City and New York.

4 38 p. m. for Somerville and Bound Brook, connecting for Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia, Washington, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Portland, Oregon, Los Angeles and Mexico.

5 38 p. m. for Passaic and Hoboken, connecting for Paterson, Jersey City and New York.

6 38 p. m. for Somerville and Bound Brook, connecting for Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia, Washington, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Portland, Oregon, Los Angeles and Mexico.

7 38 p. m. for Passaic and Hoboken, connecting for Paterson, Jersey City and New York.

8 38 p. m. for Somerville and Bound Brook, connecting for Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia, Washington, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Portland, Oregon, Los Angeles and Mexico.

9 38 p. m. for Passaic and Hoboken, connecting for Paterson, Jersey City and New York.

10 38 p. m. for Somerville and Bound Brook, connecting for Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia, Washington, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Portland, Oregon, Los Angeles and Mexico.

11 38 p. m. for Passaic and Hoboken, connecting for Paterson,

WOMAN AND HOME.

THE LEAVEN THAT HAS SPREAD THROUGH THE WHOLE LUMP.

Woman's Power — Children and Speech. Well Dressed For Five Minutes — The Guest Chamber—Woman's Noblest Career—To Clear Turbid Water.

The great necessity of the present hour is for women to prepare themselves for the various positions to which they are being admitted.

There is a law of demand and supply, and the demand for women in the various departments where they have hitherto been unknown is increasing. It was once thought that women had no souls, that they were created solely to minister to the wants and pastimes of men, and that in the great hereafter they would have no place, as man in his spiritual state would have no need of them, and their ministrations perfected only to his physical condition. After great deliberation and much discussion of so important a subject by the wisest men of the time it was settled that woman has a soul. Up degree the thought had been gaining ground that she is of some account in the world and can be of service to her fellow mortals as a spiritual and moral teacher.

Therefore woman's sphere has been widening from the kitchen and nursery until it has gained nearly all the avenues and departments of life. She fills the pulpit in many churches, though her entrance there was vigorously opposed by her brothers in the ministry, who wished women to be active in church work and never doubted that the Lord had called them to the work of preparing articles to be sold at church fairs and of selling cheese in order to raise money to carry on God's work. But they thought it preposterous that women should have an idea of Biblical truths, or to pretend to explain them, or to seek to enlighten the people and make the world better.

No matter how earnestly a woman might feel called to preach or how anxious she might be to do her Master's bidding, her brother—who had himself felt called, who had hopes and aspirations and a longing to do some good thing, with feelings in his heart similar in every respect to her own—said that the work of preaching God's truths did not belong to her; that she was seeking to get out of her sphere, and that she was mistaken about God's calling her. He forgot that woman was considered fit to be the mother of Christ, while no man could be his father. As though an all wise God had any respect for the sex of the souls willing and anxious to do his work!

The medical fraternity rebelled at woman's being fitted to treat the sick. She could be a nurse, and the recovery of a very sick patient often depended more upon the skill of the nurse than upon that of the physician, but a woman be an M. D. and prescribe for the sick! Never! She had not the ability or the nerve. Societies of learned doctors discussed the matter and passed resolutions that they would not counsel with a woman, no matter from what school she had graduated. But woman continued to study and persisted in knocking at the doors of the various schools until they gained an entrance. The education of woman, once begun, was like the little leaven that leavened the whole lump.—Rachel S. Tenney, M. D., in Woman's Journal.

Hotels.

CENTRAL HOTEL,

No. 11 E. Front St.,

PLAINFIELD.

Windham & Crowley,

PROPRIETORS.

☞ First-class bar attached.

Fourth Ward Hotel.

JOHN GOFF, Proprietor.

Boarders accommodated, both transient and permanent.

LARGE ROOMS and ALL MODERN IMPROVEMENTS.

Fine Wines, Liquors and CIGARS.

Corner Third and Liberty Streets.

Hotel Grenada,

NORTH AVENUE,

now open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the travelling public.

City Hotel,

Corner PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.

Transient guests accommodated.

Eugene Hoerster,

206 Grove Street,

North Plainfield.

Wholesale Dealer

in FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.

Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

OPENING

OF

Fall and Winter DRESS GOODS.

We have placed on sale the Largest Assortment of DRESS GOODS ever offered in this city, and the prices lower than ever, short lengths to avoid too many dresses of a kind.

WE MENTION A FEW SPECIALS.

All Wool Bengaline at 55c. yd. Regular Price 75c.

" " Novelties at 50c. yd. Regular Price 75c.

" " Henriettas at 75c. yd. Regular Price 1.00

Cashmeres, Serges, Flannels and Cloths in large variety of colors and prices. Priestley's silk warp Dress Goods.

DRESS TRIMMINGS

In plain and changeable Bursks, Guimps, Braids, etc. We are still offering

Smith's Best Moquette Carpets at 90c. yd

It will be to your advantage to look at these goods if you are in need of carpets.

BLANKETS AND COMFORTABLES AT

EDSALL'S.

Woman's Power.

Many of the more desirable social changes that have taken place have been brought about by women. They are naturally more sympathetic than men, more tactful, more interested in the welfare of others. These being at the bottom of all social advancement and reforms, it is quite clear that the women is due a large share of credit for the social advancement of any nation. Her exalted position in this country accounts for the improved social condition of which we are inclined to boast when talking with representatives of countries where she is still regarded as being greatly inferior to man.

Frances Willard, Davis, editor of The Housekeeper, in discussing the tendency in women to go it alone in the world, has this to say:

"There are two reasons why women are in open revolt against old conventional barriers—first, because in the enforced economic dependence of women in her relation with man a most dangerous possibility developed into a degrading fact. Woman became subservient through self-ish interest, and man became masterful through the tyranny of the money power. The second reason is in the selfish tendency involved in the temptation to luxury of modern civilization. Statistics show a very large number of men who no longer seek the manly privilege of sustaining a home and enriching life by domestic joys. There is nothing left to woman if she would sustain her self respect save the acquirement of economic independence.

"We need not fear in this revolt of womanhood any retrogression of human interests, for it is the courage of the pure soul that is leading woman forth to battle for right to her self respecting individuality. Woman is finding her strength, and man must rise to new heights to win anew the devotion of all her life energies. When this type of woman accepts the wifely relation, she will give us manly sons."

Children and Speech.

Parents amuse themselves with the phonetic disabilities of their offspring and often take no pains to seek for a remedy in cases where children come to years far beyond babyhood without mastering the mechanism of speech. This is probably especially usual when the parents, one or both, have been themselves neglected, because imperfect enunciation in them regarded as connected to the new god heredity and is treated with respect not unmingled with admiration.

It even happens that men and women who cannot speak their native tongue with ease believe themselves to be rather superior to those who can. It is almost a mark of taste to shirk the difficulties of the letter "r," and there is a charm in avoidance of the struggle with "th," which is absent when it is only "h," sojus, that a speaker fails to grapple with.

The matron who addresses her grownup son and daughter as "Arfur" and "Effie" and is responded to as "Movver" breathes an atmosphere altogether apart from the lady who owns "'Erbert" and "'Ilda," and the infantile pronunciation of the words seems to suggest her own juvenility, simplicity and sweetness.

A good exercise was that to which Mr. Alfrix Wilkinson inclined the az-queen of Hanover to submit herself:

"She came out quite victorious over the following sentence: 'I thrust three and thirty thousand thorny thickets through the thick of my thumb.'"—Notes and Queries.

Well Dressed For Five Minutes.

It was a queer young woman that the shopgirls are talking of in one of the Brooklyn shopping stores. She was neatly but not richly dressed, and she came with two or three other young women. She looked over the most elegant dresses that were to sale and insisted upon seeing "the most magnificent in the evening robe" of the lot. She particularly wanted it cut as low in the bodice as any that are worn. The only garment of the kind that was in stock was a gorgeous light purple silk, exquisitely trimmed with velvet ribbon. It was somewhat too large, and the saleswoman insisted that it was no use to try it on. But the young girl was equally determined to see how it looked on her.

At last she was taken to what is called the dressing room with its dozens of electric lights and its walls of plate mirror glass, and there she put on the splendid $200 robe and called in the saleswoman and the women who had come with her. The dress was too loose and too long, but the girl had a pretty neck and shapely arms and evidently admired them as much as she did the gown, while she turned around and around and scrutinized her appearance in the mirrors. Finally she regretted that the dress could not be altered within a few hours, though she had been so informed before she had put it on, and said she was sorry, but she would have to look elsewhere. As she was leaving the store one of the saleswomen heard her say:

"There, now I am satisfied to be married tomorrow and bury myself in the country. It was my last chance in this life to be really dressed up. Now I am satisfied, though I should have liked to wear a few diamonds."—New York Sun.

The Guest Chamber.

A pretty little trifle for the guest chamber may be made by the woman's exchange carried in with a hint that should not be overlooked.

It is a card about the size of a page of note paper, usually rough surfaced and ragged edged, with a border or headpiece of delicately painted flowers or leaves, and following a suitable illuminated quotation is written in graceful text down the card the three words "Breakfast," Luncheon" and "Dinner." Space is left after each to fill in the time of serving each meal, and the loitering or careless guest is thus prettily reminded that system must prevail even when veiled and adorned with hospitality. A father has useful information as to the number of meals to be served, and the card is conveyed from the bottom of the card, where the mail hours are duly recorded.

It is really the exceptional guest chamber that considers any but the toilet necessities of its occupants. To find one with books, bed candle and writing materials is a boon, and when, as was the case recently in a suburban residence, these comforts were added a suitably stocked workbasket for the taking of the "stitch in time," and some table conspicuously posted of the train service to and from town, the compliment seemed so complete that the hostess was specially congratulated upon her forethought.

Apparent awkwardness and thoughtlessness in guests often arise from ignorance of the family ways and customs. No one more than a newly married lady feels the lack of knowledge in this regard than he who is being entertained.—New York Times.

Woman's Noblest Career.

An American lady interviewer asked me the other day what I thought the noblest career for a woman. I said I thought it was marriage. She seemed astonished. That is, in fact, my deliberate opinion. More, I believe that if the question were put to any woman who has lived the man-ner's life and has sons and daughters grown up whether, looking back, she would still deliberately choose to be the mother of those sons and daughters or would become a journalist, novelist, teacher, writer, artist, typewriter, editor, publisher or any of the many occupations open to women she would without the least hesitation declare that she would prefer the mother's life as the noblest and highest lot open to women.

To enrich the world with noble children, to give the country more brave hearts and braver mothers—that is the compensation with this, is the independence of the single woman or her work—her average work? Do not talk about the isolated cases of genius. Talk about the average woman. That all women cannot marry is perfectly true; that women are making it every day more difficult to marry by taking men's work is also true.—London Queen.

To Clear Turbid Water.

Dr. Leffman recommends to housewives a simple means of precipitating turbid water by the use of a solution of alum. One hundred and thirty grains of powdered alum dissolved in one pint of water will produce a large quantity of the purifying liquid, as it is only used in the proportion of one to two grains of alum to a gallon of water. That would require three teaspoonfuls of the solution to every two gallons of water. After stirring it in let the water stand a few minutes when it will be perfectly clear and ready to be poured off from the thick deposit in the bottom. If it is then filtered, it will be in good condition for drinking.

Even without filtering it will be safe to drink the water if it has not stood very long, as it has been found that the addition of the alum greatly reduces the number of bacteria. The taste is not affected, as the alum decomposes in the water and sets free the carbonic acid which "drives" to the muddy elements in the water and causes them to settle. This remedy is not for contaminated, water which should always be boiled.—New York Post.

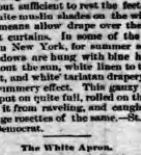
Brightening a Room.

If the dining room is small and dark and has no communication with direct air and sunlight, pull down the gloomy paper and substitute cream white, pearl, atmospheric blue, custard or some such cheerful and beautifying tint. Wall paper sells as low as 5 cents a roll, and although the quality may not be desirable it is preferable to the finest grade in dark and dreary tints. Don't carpet the floor. Have it stained or painted a light brown and put a rug under the table, not large enough to interfere with the chairs, but sufficient to rest the feet. Put thin, white muslin shades on the windows, and if means allow drape over them the thinnest curtains. In some of the finest houses in New York, for summer service, the windows are hung with blue holland to keep out the sun, white linen to temper the light, and white tarlatan drapery for a pretty summery effect. This gauzy cotton stuff is put on quite full, rolled on the edge to keep it from raveling, and caught back with huge rosettes of the same.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The White Apron.

There is something symbolic of neatness, purity and womanliness in a white apron, and paradoxical as it may seem it is also the most coquettish of all articles of attire which a woman can wear. The woman of fashion who has an eye for artistic effects dons a ruffle-lous little bit of ruffled swiss or chiffon and ties it about her waist with a satin ribbon. It is the piece de resistance of her toilet. The men for whom she pours tea may whisper compliments about her eyes, her hair her little hands, but they remind

Tired from Head to Foot



FROM HEAD TO FOOT.

That's what's the matter with the most of us. What's the cause? Poor circulation of the blood. The cause? The neglect of the liver. We have known severe cases of so called rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, weak joints, backache, no familiar to mention, disappear in a short time by the use of Anti-Tire. Get up good circulation, healthy action, so your blood runs pure and noble. Will you? Then use Anti-Tire will do it. Tribal size, 10c. Family size, 25c. All druggists. Send 15 cents in stamps for trial package.

LYONS MEDICINE CO.,

264 Summit Avenue,

Jersey City, N. J.

A GOOD WIFE

is a great blessing, and a good husband will look after her comfort. He can almost secure her future comfort by buying a lot which is pretty nearly, the prices are so low. The lot is situated in a beautiful and healthy neighborhood,

GIVEN AWAY

WITH EVERY

convenience for reaching stores, schools and churches quickly. Now is the grand opportunity to invest in a splendid

BUILDING LOT.

For particulars, address "OWNER," care of EVENING NEWS.

Horses and Carriages,

of all kinds, for hire, at

O'BRIEN'S,

138 WEST FOURTH STREET,

near the depot.

Joseph T. Vail,

REAL ESTATE

and

INSURANCE.

DEALER IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING

29 North Avenue.

CAREY'S

Storage Warerooms,

Corner Front and Grove Streets, Plainfield, N. J.

The Fall and Winter Styles in Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing are now in Stock. Overcoats of all Weights. Trousers Made to Order from $4 to $8. Suits from $15 to $30. Hats and General Furnishings. WERNER'S MAMMOTH CLOTHING HOUSE, 206 West Front Street.

LOOKING BACKWARD!

Last April we bought at the Brown, Durrell sale an immense quantity of Underwear, both Summer and Winter. You know how good and cheap our Underwear was, and now for the Winter Underwear, 'tis just as good and cheap.

LOOKING FORWARD!

On Saturday we place on sale the Brown, Durrell stock of Winter Underwear:

Lot No. 1.—Ladies' heavy ribbed Pants and Vests, our price 37c., value, 50c.

Lot No. 2.—Ladies' heavy wool ribbed Vests, our price 48c., value, 75c.

Lot No. 3.—Ladies' plain heavy Vests and Pants, our price 89c., value, $1.25.

Lot No. 4.—Ladies' heavy wool Vests and Pants, our price 69c., value, $1.00

Lot No. 5.—Children's natural wool Vests and Pants, our price 19c., advancing 5c. on each size.

Lot No. 6.—Ladies' white Vests and Pants, our price 19c., advancing 5c. on every size.

Lot No. 7.—Men's colored Shirts and Drawers, our price 38c., value, 50c.

Lot No. 8.—Men's natural wool Shirts and Drawers, our price 69c., value, $1.00.

Lot No. 9.—Men's white wool Shirts and Drawers, our price 98c., value, $1.25

Lot No. 10.—Men's white Shirts and Drawers, our price 89c., value, $1.25

SHOES!

In Ladies, our straight Goat and Waltingstat styles at $2.00 and $2.50 are the proper weights for the season.

The "FARGO TIP" for Children,

is the best looking and best wearing shoe for school wear. Sizes 8½ to 10½, $1.25. Sizes 11 to 2, $1.50. A few of these $1.50 Oxfords, at 98c., still remain.

WHITE, of Plainfield.

Woman Guards Herself Nowadays.

Some friend of womankind calls attention to the fact that the women of today is immeasurably greater and better than the old time type we are supposed to admire, for woman was surrounded and shielded and protected in every way, practically put under a glass case and worshiped. Perhaps ones in her life temptation came. She who triumphed was celebrated in poems and legends ever after. Nowadays women are pretty well left to look after themselves, and the failures are so few that they, not the triumphs, are recorded.

Too Businesslike.

"I tell you," he said disconsolately, "women are altogether too businesslike nowadays."

"What's the matter?"

"I proposed to the heiress yesterday."

"Did she accept you?"

"No, she took out her notebook, wrote my name and address in it and said she would consider my application."—Boston Woman's Journal.

Women Teachers In New York.

It takes a normal college graduate who gets his appointment to teach school in New York city just 14 years to draw the maximum salary, $62.50 a month, which is paid to assistants. The candidate begins in the primary departments and works her way up. Pupil teachers start with the same salary paid the men on the street sweeping force.—New York Letter.

Care of the Face.

When you are heated, don't bathe the face in cold water. Bathe in hot water, give the face a hot bath, which will remove the dirt and coal dust which has permeated the skin, then rinse in cool, not cold water. At night before retiring bathe the face in hot water, then in cool and wipe dry with a soft towel.—Housekeeper.

When Mrs. Schumann, the widow of the great composer, intends to play her husband's music in public, she prepares for it by reading over some of the love letters he wrote her during their courtship.

While the face should be washed for the sake of cleanliness morning and night, it is undoubtedly better for the skin not to wash it through the day, but it may be gently rubbed with a soft chamois skin.

If you have black or tinted cambrics or muslins which you hesitate to trust to the laundress, give them a first dip yourself in water in which you have stirred a teaspoonful of black pepper.

One of the nicest things in the world to be used as an accessory to the bath is a teaspoonful of tincture of benzine. It leaves the skin fragrant and clean and is preferable to cologne.

It is much better to do without things than to get into debt, for the loveliest dress, hat or wrap will not compensate for the heavy load of debt that presses on your heart.

A noted physician says that the most prolific cause of woman's nervous diseases, hysteri a, spinal diseases and sick headache is high heeled boots.

Girls are provoking creatures anyway. They never care to have a man buy roses for them in June, when roses are dirt cheap.

FOR FALL TRADE.

THE LEADER

has received a large variety of Infants' Cloaks, Coats, Slips, Robes, Flannel and Worsted Socks, Hoods, Flannel Skirts, all of the latest styles. Also new styles of Ladies' Wrappers, Underwear and a large variety of Comfortables, at very low prices. Make no mistake, this is the new store.

THE LEADER! M. GOLDMANN, Prop.

210 WEST FRONT STREET, (Old No. 32.)

R. W. Rice & Co.,

THE PARK GROCERS.

Corner Duer and Emily Streets.

NORTH PLAINFIELD.

This Date In History—Oct. 6.

877—Charles the Bald, King of France, died.
1450—Edward V. of England was born in the Tower with his brother.
1792—Joanna Louise Henriette Genet, better Mme. Edmond Campan, born at Paris; died there.
1772—Louis Philippe, king of the French in 1830-48, born at Paris; died 1850.
1821—Robert Lind, later Mme. Goldschmidt, great singer, born in Stockholm; died in London.
1850—Hamlet Zolimer, sculptor, born at Watertown, Mass.
1852—Albert Dennie Richardson, journalist and author, born in Franklin, Mass.; assassinated 1890.
1854—Charles X, deposed king of France, died at Goritz, Styria.
1865—King Karl of Wurtemberg died. Right Hon. William Henry Smith, first lord of the British treasury, died.
1892—Alfred, Lord Tennyson, poet laureate of England, died at Aldworth, Surrey. Commander of Pennsylvania convicted of embezzlement.

An agent of the Suez Canal company has invented an apparatus to split the electric lights that illuminate the canal into two divergent streams, one sending out rays one way, the other in the opposite direction. This enables ships to approach each other and meet with perfect safety. Formerly the lights blinded pilots so that they could not see vessels coming in the opposite direction.

Certain eastern money lending concerns decline to advance money on Kansas farm mortgages say longer, it is said. Perhaps that may not be an altogether unmixed evil. It is not well to be able to borrow money too easily.

In the new annotated code of Mississippi occurs the following clause, truly worthy of southern chivalry: "Words in the masculine gender shall embrace a female as well as a male, unless a contrary intention be manifest."

New York to Boston in five hours! What would the old Dutchmen and the Puritans have thought of that?

1893		OCTOBER.				1893
Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fr.	Sa.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
15	16	17	18	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26	27	28
29	30	31

MOON'S PHASES.

☾ Third Quarter	2	10.19 p. m.	☽ Quarter	17	2.32 p. m.
● New Moon	9	3.27 p. m.	○ Full	25	1.36 p. m.
		Third ☾ Quarter	31	5.42 p. m.

Tickets For, or from Europe, On All Lines, And all Steamers. Drafts Sold also.

H. D. MORRISON,

Agent,

Somerset Street.

PEACHES! PEACHES! PEACHES!

Following varieties: Yellow Globe, Crawford's Morris Whites, Keyport and old mixtures. Prices to suit everybody.

NEUMANN BROS.

WATCHUNG AVENUE and FIFTH STREET.

THE TIME TO EAT!

M E A T!

is at meal time, of course, and the place to get good meat, all varieties, lowest prices' the greatest, etc., is at

E. J. CONNOLLY,

No. 821 Broadway.

SMOKED MEATS AND VEGETABLES always on hand.

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$5 per Year in Advance. — E. W. Harrison, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 32 Somerset street. Printing of All Kinds. — 10 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. — PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," SATURDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1893. — PRICE TWO CENTS.

THE BOROUGH COUNCIL.

THE REGULAR OCTOBER MEETING HELD LAST EVENING.

Attention of the Council Called to the Dangerous Condition of Sidewalks—Edison Electric Light Company Complains of the Breaking of Lamps as Fast as Re-Placed—Other Business.

The regular monthly meeting of the Borough Council was held last night. All the Councilmen were present. In the absence of Mayor Saunders Councilman Needham was unanimously elected president pro tem.

The minutes of the two previous meetings were read and approved.

A communication was read from Mr. Stiles of Rock avenue calling the attention of the Council to the fact that over a year ago residents of that street had petitioned for electric lights. Since that time there have been no lights, neither had they heard from the Council regarding them. It was referred to the Committee on Fire, Water and Lamps.

Summit avenue property owners, Mr. D. A. Mills and others, in a communication, called the attention of Council to the bad condition of the roadbed of that street. Also to the fact that the sidewalks on the south side needed extending. Referred to the Committee on Streets.

The Plainfield Water Supply Company, through its secretary, Mr. E. R. Pope, notified the borough that a new fire hydrant had been placed on Girard avenue.

The Edison Electric Light Company complained to Council of the wholesale breaking of lamps on Greenbrook road, Summit and Mountain avenues. As it is now, it is impossible to keep lamps whole, as they are broken as fast as replaced. The secretary suggested that the Council offer a reward of $25 for the capture and conviction of any persons caught breaking the lamps. The matter was referred to the Committee on Fire, Water and Lamps.

Mr. A. D. Smith and others petitioned Council to lay a new sidewalk for 150 feet on the south side of Grandview avenue, beginning at Somerset street.

The following claims were presented:

D. B. Sutphen	$8 55
C. A. Reed	125 00
L. H. Bigelow & Co	6 00
Plainfield Water Supply Co	262 50
" " " "	262 50
" " " "	0 00
J. W. Van Horn	7 75
F. W. Mellersh	10 00
H. Kellogher	10 00
D. B. Roberts	3 00
Edison Electric Light Co	376 05
Plainfield Gas & Electric Light Co.,	2 80
" " " "	2 80
" " " "	1 80
Smalley Bros	764 25
J. J. Wood	5 71
Walter Scott & Co	45 75
P. Kiely	10 25
S. Mosier	9 55
G. B. Stewart	9 00
W. B. Emmons	50 00
J. Vetterlein	5 00
P. Reader	5 00
W. L. Sharkey	6 75
"	6 75
"	20 90
A. B. Nelson	62 25
W. N. Pangborn	62 25
T. McGann	2 00
Alex. Thorn	2 25
Est. Thomas Worth	2 10

Borough Magistrate Crossley reported that he had collected for fines during the months of July, August and September, $92.

Clerk Vetterlein reported that there was a deficiency of $66.88 in the general road account, and $240.61 in the Somerset street account.

Mr. Neal, of the Committee on Streets and Public Health, reported that he had hoped to have been able to report that Duer street had been macadamized, but owing to the inability to get stone fast enough the work was not yet completed. He said he had been called to Europe by Mayor Saunders stating that when he went away he intended to be back in time for the Council meeting, but he had been unable to do so. The Mayor in his letter to Mr. Neal suggested that some action be taken in regard to sidewalks. "An ordinance should be passed," Mr. Neal concluded, "compelling the laying of sidewalks of flagging or concrete."

Mr. Neal also reported that he had been complained to by Mr. Stevens about the cutting down, unnecessarily, of the Girard avenue road-bed. According to the present map the street would have to be cut down 12 inches to conform with the official grade. This, Mr. Neal explained, was caused by reason of the proposed cutting through of Sycamore avenue to the Plainfield line. That was the intention when the map was drawn. But since that project had been abandoned Mr. Neal moved that the Law and Ordinance Committee be instructed to have an ordinance drawn abolishing the cutting down of Girard avenue. The motion was adopted.

In the case of Summit avenue, Mr. Neal said he knew it was in a bad condition but the committee intended to use the gravel dirt from there on the Duer street road-bed.

Mr. Edwards reported that he had had printed 2,000 sidewalk notices by T. H. Bigelow & Co., at a cost of $6. The report was received and approved.

He also called the Council's attention to the dangerous condition of the sidewalk in front of Mr. P. M. French's property, corner of Duer street and Craig place. He said he had almost broken his neck there the other night. He moved that the Street Committee investigate the matter. The motion was carried.

Mr. Needham called the attention of Council to the fact that the Street Railway Company, in violation of its contract, had refused to allow a marshal to ride free on the street cars.

The marshal in question was Mr. Whitely. He being present at the meeting he was asked to make a statement of the facts, in order that the Council might know if the company had violated its agreement.

In explanation Mr. Whitely said: "The marshal put me on duty while he was out of the borough. I was up near the mountain and wanted to get down to the thickly settled part of the borough as soon as possible. I boarded a street car, and the conductor asked me for my fare. I replied 'I am a marshal on duty. Here's my badge.' The conductor said he was not allowed to recognize a badge, but that a marshal must be in uniform to ride free. I asked him to order me off, telling him he would have no trouble to get me off, as I wanted to make a test case of it. The conductor wouldn't order me off, so I got off." The Committee on Streets and Public Health was ordered to look into the matter.

Mr. Edwards called the Council's attention to the high rate of speed at which the cars run, remarking that they would almost as fast as a Central Railroad train. Whoms dark night some one may get killed and the borough will have heavy damages to pay," concluded Mr. Edwards.

Mr. Reed informed the Council that an ordinance could be drawn regulating the speed of the cars.

On resolution of Mr. Neal the Mayor and Clerk were authorized to negotiate a loan of $1,000 to be borrowed for and chargeable to the general road account.

Council adjourned.

STOLE HIS VEGETABLES.

Beets and Radishes Stolen from Mr. Hand's Garden.

Tuesday night the Rev. B. W. Hand's garden, on West Front street, was visited by some thief or thieves and a large *quantity of his Winter beets and rad*ishes stolen.

Last night some one's cows got into the garden and ate and destroyed almost all that remained of his vegetables.

Mr. Hand's garden adjoins the street and is easily accessible to thieves. He says there are no cows pastering along there in the day time, and that the owners must turn them out nights.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. Northrup of Crescent avenue have gone to the World's Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Ivins of Hillside avenue start for the World's Fair to-night.

Mr. J. L. Hatfield moved with his family from Grant avenue to Orchard place to-day.

Mr. Underwood of Crescent avenue accompanied by his father, started this morning for the World's Fair, at Chicago.

Mr. Warren Randolph and wife and and Dr. Zigio and wife expect to start Monday for Chicago to visit the World's Fair.

Mr. Clarence Watson of Crescent avenue sails for Europe to-day, where he will become a benedict and bring back a wife.

Among the Plainfielders who have recently returned from the World's Fair are Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Finch and family of Park avenue.

A party of four, consisting of Mr. F. A. Pope and wife of Park avenue and Fifth street, and Mr. H. W. Marshall and wife of East Front street, returned last evening from the World's Fair.

BREVITIES.

—To-night there will be a song service in the W. C. T. U. rooms.

—Constable Hatton to day served a summons on Mr. George Belcher in a suit brought by Mr. A. M. Gritten.

—Owing to the mass meeting in Music Hall Sunday afternoon the meeting at the Y. M. C. A. rooms will be omitted.

—"Through with the News Jack?" "Not quite." "Well, just let me have it for a minute I want to read White's new advertisement."

—Young men interested in mechanical drawing are invited to call at the Y. M. C. A. on Monday, and those interested in book-keeping on Thursday, whether enrolled or not.

—The mock court trial will be instructive, interesting, exciting and laughable. Reserved seats will be on sale at Leggett's pharmacy at seven o'clock, Monday morning. For particulars see advertisement.

Mr. Stevens's Pigeons will Bring the News.

Mr. Richad F. Stevens of corner of Fifth and Sycamore streets sent several of his carrier pigeons by Mr. Charles Ballman to New York this morning. The pigeons are to be taken aboard one of the yachts and liberated with news of the race.

Mass Meeting at Music Hall To-Mor*row.

All interested in saving New Jersey from the hands of the iniquitous race track gamblers should attend the Mass Meeting at Music Hall to-morrow afternoon at 4:15 o'clock. Good speakers will address the meeting.

Adam Stutts on Trial.

Adam Stutts, jointly indicted with Arthur Randolph of South Plainfield, for abducting Annie, the 13-year-old daughter of Jacob Kliner of Washington Valley, was placed on trial yesterday in the Somerset County Court.

The case will be finished Monday.

HOME-COMING SOCIABLE

AT THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH LAST NIGHT.

It was also Made the Occasion of a Farewell Reception to the Rev. Dr. J. L. Hurlbut.—Addresses by the Rev. Drs. Richardson and Yerkes.

THE BRIGHT lights of the Vincent chapel shone upon a large and happy company last evening. It was the occasion of the Home-coming Sociable of the church, provided for by the ladies of the Aid Society. Friends who had been more or less separated through the Summer greeted each other with gladness. Some who have cast in their lot with the new movements, seemed happy in visiting their fond mother again.

A prominent feature of the evening was a farewell reception extended by the church to Rev. J. L. Hurlbut and family.

The pastor, Rev. C. R. Barnes, acted as master of ceremonies, and announced the numbers of the programme, which was as follows:

1. Singing, "Blest be the tie that binds."
2. Prayer, Rev. J. W. Richardson.
3. A brief welcome to the friends by the pastor.
4. Address by Rev. W. R. Richards, D. D.
5. Solo, "The New Kingdom," by Miss Hooker of Elizabeth, N. J.
6. Address by Rev. D. J. Yerkes.
7. Response by Rev. J. L. Hurlbut, D. D.
8. Solo, "The Goodoller's Song," by Miss Hooker.

The Rev. Drs. Richards and Yerkes had for their themes, "the departure from Plainfield of Dr. Hurlbut."

Dr. Richards referred to the very delightful relations existing between the several churches of the city, and said that it was largely due to the spirit and activities of Dr. (now Bishop?) Vincent. But he had that one bad ailment of Methodists, the disposition to move, and went out from us. Dr. Hurlbut, however tarried for years, and aided in every good enterprise, much to the edification of the christianity of Plainfield. But he too, caught the removal fever, so characteristic of Methodists, and has gone from our midst. One comfort remained and that is is we looked forward to the better country, "the heavenly," we know that we shall have "a continuing city," and we shall cease to be moving Methodists and all become abiding Presbyterians.

Dr. Yerkes said, "I esteem it no light honor to be counted a friend of such a man as Dr. Hurlbut, one so loyal a life, so exalted in character, so loyal a Methodist and yet so much larger than any mere sectarian could be. He has endeared himself to all, preached in our pulpits and given great delight and conferred with us as to measures looking to the interest of the public. Our loss is a heavy one. Gold is scarce just now, but men are scarcer still. Plainfield has beautiful homes, delightful streets. But we look upon them to-day and repair them new again. Should our buildings be destroyed, we can rebuild, but it is hard to replace men of character and public spirits."

In response Dr. Hurlbut spoke of his very pleasant visit with Plainfield as a visitor, of his happy yesterdays here, and then of the delightful residence of nearly fifteen years. He said that his residence in this city had much to do with his occupying his present position, and so was in a measure responsible for his removal. He expressed his high appreciation of the uniform kindness he had received at the hands of all, and extended a hearty invitation to the friends to call upon himself and family at their new home.

The company, after the programme was finished, resolved itself into a committee of greetings, and enjoyed an hour of hand-shaking and chat. The ladies had provided a bountiful supply of sandwiches and coffee, of which the company partook heartily.

All present agreed in the ver Hot that the Home-coming sociable was a grand success. With such a hearty fraternity among the members of a church, it is easy to prophesy for it a marked prosperity.

SCAVENGER WILLIAMS LASSOED.

He Was Thrown into the Bottom of His Wagon.

Yesterday, as James Williams, a scavenger, was driving along North avenue with his ash wagon, he was lassoed by some one who stood in a North avenue livery stable, Williams was thrown into the bottom of his wagon. His horse stopped, or he would have been drawn out of his wagon. Williams had a warrant issued for a young man's arrest, who he thought threw the rope.

St. Mary's Church Fair.

The fair, now in progress in the hall of the Catholic Young Men's Lyceum club house, for the benefit of St. Mary's church, is meeting with well merited success. Last night's attendance was increased by the presence of St. Mary's church choir. The musical programme was as follows:

Double Quartette—Come Where the Lilies Bloom as Fair.
Solo—"The Daisy"..... Miss May Flanigan
Medley..... Choir

There will be a special musical programme each night. To-night there will be fancy dancing by the children under the direction of Madam Lozon.

A FIRST-CLASS CORPS.

THAT'S THE VERDICT OF THE DEPARTMENT INSPECTOR,

Who, Last Night, Inspected Women's Relief Corps, No. 10.—The Members of Winfield Scott Post Also Present.

WOMEN'S Relief Corps, No. 10, was inspected last night by Department Inspector Mrs. Worth of Bloomfield. Mrs. Worth complimented the ladies on the excellent condition of their corps and said she thought it ranked among the best in the State. She pronounced it first-class in every respect.

Mrs. W. C. Smith, the president, presided.

After the meeting of the Corps, the members of Winfield Scott Post, No. 72, G. A. R., were invited to take part in the meeting.

Remarks were made by several of the members of the Post and Corps. Quartettes Smith and Matteson and Mrs. Westphal entertained the guests with songs.

Seven new members were initiated and taken in by the Corps. Later a bountiful collation was served by the ladies, which was much enjoyed by all.

NEWS OF THE CHURCHES.

A meeting will be held as usual at Mt. Pleasant school house to-morrow evening.

Rev. M. E. Dwight will preach at the Mary E. Wilson memorial chapel at Weehawken this Sunday night.

Services at the church of the Heavenly Rest, Clinton avenue, at eleven o'clock a. m. Sunday school at 9.30 a. m. Seats free.

All Souls' Church, Park avenue, the pastor, Rev. Robert Clarke, will preach. Services at 10.45 a. m. Sunday-school at 11.45 a. m.

Masses in St. Joseph's church, to-morrow, at 6.30, 8 and 10 a. m. Sunday-school at three p. m., and vespers at eight p. m.

Services in Hope chapel. Preaching 10.30 a. m. Sunday-school three p. m. Rev. Gregory and preaching 7.45 p. m. G. Kennedy Bell, pastor.

The W. C. T. U. rooms will be open as usual for the 9.15 o'clock praise and consecration service and the gospel temperance meeting from four to six.

Sunday-school meetings at Reform Hall as usual at 9.15 a. m., and four p. m. Rev. Dr. Hurlbut, superintendent of Kansas will lead the afternoon meeting.

Crescent avenue church. Rev. Wm. R. Richards, D. D., pastor. Preaching at 10.30 a. m., and 7.30 p. m. Sunday-school at 2.30 p. m. All seats free at the evening service.

Services in St. Mary's church. First mass at 7.30 a. m. Second mass at 8.30. Third mass at 10.45. Vespers at 10.45. Sunday-school at 2.30 p. m., and evening service at eight p. m.

Services in the First Baptist church, Rev. H. Hoag, pastor. Prayer meeting at 9.30 a. m., morning service at 10.30 a. m., evening service at 7.45 p. m., Sunday-school at 2.30 p. m.

Warren Chapel. Sunday-school at 2.30 p. m. Song service at 7.45. Devotional meeting at 8.45. Bible reading by Mr. Gavett M. Conover of the Theological Seminary at New Brunswick.

First Church of Christ, Scientist. Preaching morning and evening by the pastor, H. W. Rand. The evening subject: "The Atonement." Sunday-school at 11.45 a. m. Sunday-school at three p. m.

Monroe avenue chapel. Preaching at 11 a. m. and eight p. m. by the pastor, Hubert B. Mannon. The evening subject: "Momentous Issues." Sunday-school at three and Epworth prayers service at 7.30.

The Church of the Holy Cross, the Rev. T. Dehon Barnwell, rector. Celebration of the Holy Communion at 8.30 a. m. Morning prayer and sermon at 11 a. m. Afternoon service at 4.30 p. m. Sunday-school at three p. m.

Church of Our Saviour, Netherwood, Rev. Frederick Burgess, rector. Morning prayer, litany and sermon 11 a. m. Evening prayer 4.30 p. m. Rand's excursion car will leave D. K. station for the church at 10.30 a. m.

Services in the First Presbyterian church, Rev. Dr. Dwight in charge. Morning service, 10.30. Evening service at 7.45. Subject, "A Sermon in Glass." Sunday-school at 2.30 p. m. Young People's society at seven p. m.

St. Peter's congregation, German Lutheran, will hold the last service in the present church at 10.30 a. m. Sunday-school at 2.30 a. m. After this Sunday in the Park Presbyterian on Grove street. Rev. E. Kienstra, pastor.

At the Park avenue Baptist church, the pastor, the Rev. J. W. Richardson, will preach at 10.30. Subject, "Scenes From the Streets of Heaven." Evening at 7.30, theme, "The Rich Man and Daughter." Sunday-school at 2.30 p. m.

Grace Methodist Episcopal church, Rev. Frederick Reynolds, pastor. Rev. Dr. Jacobs, pastor. Morning service at 10.30. Subject: "An Inventory of Our Professions." Sunday-school and Bible Questions, No. 1. Sunday school at 2.30. Epworth League at 7.15.

The German Reformed church, at Craig place, North Plainfield, will have service to-morrow at 10.30 a. m. and eight p. m. Rev. Dr. Apple will preach. Theme in the morning service will be, "The Model Believer." Sunday-school at 2.30 p. m.

Congregational church, West Seventh street. Rev. C. L. Goodrich, pastor. Morning service at 10.30. Sunday-school at 2.45 p. m. At the service in the evening at 7.30 (notice change of hour,) Mr. Goodrich will preach, just from Europe, will make an address.

The Methodist Episcopal church, Rev. G. H. Bridgman, D. D., pastor. Usual service at 10.30 a. m. and 7.30 p. m. Subject for morning, "The Church Consecrated to God by the Holy Ghost." Sunday-school at 2.30. Epworth devotional meeting at 6.45 p. m.

Trinity Reformed church. Services to-morrow at 10.30 and 7.30. Pastor's subject in the evening will be "The Origin, Nature and Design of the Heidelberg Catechism," and the service will be in commemoration of the translation and publication of the Heidelberg Catechism. Sabbath-school at 2.30 p. m.)

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE.

In Starting the Valkyrie Crossed the Line First.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7, 11.30 a. m.—The Vigilant and Valkyrie have started.

At 11 o'clock both yachts were near the Sandy Hook Lightship, beating for position.

The approximate time of the start was 11.26 a. m.

The wind had increased to 18 knots an hour.

Valkyrie crossed the line at 11.25.40.

The Vigilant crossed at 11.25.45.

The Vigilant One Mile Ahead.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7, 2 p. m.—The Vigilia rounded the Stakeboat at 1.39½.

The Valkyrie at 1.59.

The Vigilant is about one mile ahead.

The Vigilant Two Miles Ahead.

2.16.—The Vigilant is two miles ahead, and it looks as though she would finish on the present tack.

The Vigilant is a Calm.

2.28.—The Vigilant seems to have got caught in a calm and the Valkyrie is now only 1¾ miles behind.

The Vigilant Wins.

2.40—Vigilant crossed the line at 2.32. Valkyrie at 2.38.

AWFUL SUFFERING.

The Gulf Stream Cyclone's Aftermath.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 7—The results of the terrific cyclone in this section are just being learned fully.

The total death list is now estimated to be 2,275.

Many of those who escaped are starving. It is reported that men and women, driven to desperation by hunger, are feeding on dead animals.

The Lowest Rate of the Year to Chicago via Pennsylvania Railroad Company's Coach Excursions.

At a recent meeting the rate to Chicago via the Pennsylvania Railroad was definitely decided upon, and will hold good during the remaining excursions of this season's series. Tickets will be $15.00 from New York, $17.00 from Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington, and proportionally low rates from other points on the company's division and branches. These rates are the lowest that have been established, and their ultimate locality has been brought about mainly through the efforts of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

The remaining dates on which this remarkable low rate will apply are: October 11th, 17th, and 31st, from New York and Philadelphia, and 9th, 16th, and 23d, from Baltimore and Washington, when trains will leave the several Eastern terminals fully and comfortably equipped with Pennsylvania Railroad coaches, and all taking advantage of these exceptional opportunities will be assured of passing safely to and for in transit. The arriving time in Chicago, early the next afternoon, is in accordance with the "limited express" schedule, and affords sufficient time for a selection of accommodations for the stay in Chicago.

The immense volume of travel now directing itself towards the World's Fair, and the rapidly increasing terminal facilities of the Exposition influence the company to place every inducement possible before the public. The success of the past has no better way devised to encourage visits to the most marvelously gorgeous exhibition the people of this generation have ever seen.

Grand Rally for Bethel Mission.

On October 15th, Bethel A. M. E. Mission, Somerset street, will hold a rally at the Seventh Day Baptist church, Fifth street and Madison avenue, for the benefit of the mission. Rev. Mr. Bell, of Bethel, and others will preach. All are respectfully invited to come and help us. Preaching all day. Mrs. Lucy Bell, Pastor. Rev. Mr. Bell, of Bethel A. M. E. church will preach at 7.45 p. m.

REV. T. A. V. HENRY, Pastor.

Shooting Match at the Climax Gun Club Grounds.

At the Climax Gun Club grounds, on South avenue, this afternoon, Messrs. Knapp and Barnes, two crack shots from New York, will match at 100 birds each.

The Weather.

The weather to-morrow promises to be cooler and clear.

You hear a great deal about oatmeals as good as H-O. Do you ever hear that H-O is as good as some others?

DEATHS.

CURTIS—In this city, Saturday, October 7th, Elizabeth Curtis, widow of the late Stiles Curtis and daughter of the late John Robinson of New York city.

Notice of funeral hereafter. 2t*

Often That Way!

A lady took them to travel down our way to see if what she had heard was true. "What's the price of that jacket?" "$4.98." "And that dress pattern?" "25c a yard." "I'll take both." She told her friends afterwards, and they told us, that it was the biggest day's saving she had ever made.

Your Turn Now!

WINTER UNDERWEAR—Cold snaps Underwear the last two days then all last Winter. And why not? Prices cut in half. Our show windows tell the story. All kinds for Ladies, Gentlemen and Children.

LADIES' JACKETS—Warm Jacket was heard before last years where to buy and Jacket that cost from $10 to $20, sold for $5. We bought them and they are yours at half what they are worth.

DRESS GOODS—Another week never offered in Dress Goods than at the present time. See that 40 inch, all wool Suiting that we only ask 25c. for. Just the thing for school.

MILLINERY—Have you seen the latest? "Tis an ecru felt, straw velvet and that, with cuff to match. You want the best that is now can buy in friendship, work and style, and we know that no one can, or will, give as satisfactory work as we are giving this season. CYPRESSMONT FOOTE DYE.

HOUSE FURNISHINGS—The department is improving all the time. Larger assortment and lower prices than ever before. There are three large rooms devoted to useful articles that you want every day in the year.

SHOES!

In Ladies' our straight Goat and Walkingfast styles at $1.50 and $1.00 are the proper weights for the season.

The "FARGO TIP" for Children,

In the best looking and best wearing shoe for school wear. Sizes 8½ to 10½, $1.25. Sizes 11 to 2, $1.50. A few of these $1 2d Oxfords, at 69c., still remain.

WHITE, of Plainfield.

Now is Your Chance.

GRAND SPRING OPENING, at our retail store, 318 West Front street. Are you ready? We are prepared to offer the public a clean, fresh stock of Fall and Winter Clothing, for Men, Boys and Children. Remember, we sell at retail at the wholesale price.

C. SCHEPFLIN & CO,

318 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

Cents-a-Word Column.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—$5,000—Two dwellings and one building lot. All in North Plainfield. Title perfect. Terms easy. Dwellings both rented. Address "P. D. N.," care of Evening News. tf

FOR SALE—New house, Park place, near Manor avenue, (Washington Park.) Mulford, broker. 9 15 tf

HELP WANTED.

WANTED—Reliable team to open small office near here and handle any goods. Small salary and reference, A. T. Morris, care this paper.

WANTED—Competent woman for general housework. No washing. Apply 710 Central avenue. 7 3

WANTED—Competent girl for general housework. Apply at 325 Madison avenue. 5 3

WANTED—A girl for general housework. Call at 145 Grove street. 4 4

SITUATIONS WANTED.

SITUATION wanted by two Swedish girls. One as cook, the other as waitress. Address "S. S. care of Evening News. 7 3

YOUNG girl wants home as housework and washing. Apply, present employer, 718 Central avenue. 7 3

A YOUNG man, thoroughly understands the care of horses, wants a good situation. Address "B.," care of Evening News. 7 3

A COMPETENT woman would like situation to do housework in family of "Mothers Helper." Fond of children. Address "S.," care Evening News. 6 4

A GIRL wishes a situation at general housework. Call at 313 West Front street. 6 3

A PROTESTANT woman wants situation as general housework. Address "S. S." care of Evening News. 6 3

WANTED—Work by assistant dressmaker and seamstress. Address "H.," care Evening News. 4 3

FOR RENT.

AN OPPORTUNITY—$12 per month will rent a beautifully located house at Dunellen. Grounds enough for a large garden. Call at 1,000 Park avenue. 10 7 tf

NICELY furnished room, suitable for gentleman. 109 East Front street. 5 4

FOUR large rooms. Terms moderate. 113 Jackson avenue. 6 2

NICELY furnished rooms to let. 213 Watchung avenue. 6 2

TO LET—A furnished room with or without board to a lady. 321 East Fifth street. 9 29tf

TO LET—Seven room house near Pond's factory. Modern improvements. Rent $18. Both in good order. Enquire, City Mills. 9 6tf

BOARDERS WANTED.

BOARDERS—Large room, good table, home comforts. 61 Sandford avenue. 5 3

MISCELLANEOUS.

TEACHER wanted, of experience, for reproduction, grammar and arithmetic, by young man. Address "G.," 421 Kensington avenue. 7 2

To World's Fair For Only $43.

Next and last tour (Honeymoon's Private Party) to World's Fair, October 9th. One of ten days' duration, including hotel accommodations, only $43. Another party of twelve days. Prices $50 and $60. Special parties arranged to suit. A. V. D. Honeyman, 191 North Avenue, Plainfield, N. J. 10 4 tf

GERMAN SCHOOL.

Corner Grove street and Monroe avenue. Opens Monday, September 18, 1893, at 9 o'clock a. m. Rev. E. Kienstra. 9 15 1m

Fun! FUN! Fun!

"Let no INNOCENT Man Escape" the

MOCK COURT TRIAL,

of the Newton Entertaining Bureau, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A.,

MUSIC HALL!

Monday Ev'g, Oct. 16,

Court called at 8 p. m.

The fun-provoking entertainment will be according to the rules of a regular

Court of Justice!

Charge—Larceny of a "Plymouth Rock" Rooster.

Complainant—Mayor Gilbert.
Defendant—Mayor Saunders.
Craig A. Marsh and Capt. A. V. Bowen, Barristers and Counsel-at-Law.
Judge—Rowland Cox.

Hear the

OPENING OF THE COURT.
LUDICROUS EMPANELING OF THE JURY.
TESTIMONY OF THE WITNESSES.
ARGUMENTS OF THE LAWYERS.
CHARGE OF THE JUDGE,
ETC.

Reserved seats for sale at Leggett's Pharmacy, on and after Monday morning, Oct 9th, at seven o'clock.

Prices, 50c., 75c. and $1.

6 6

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

SPECIAL : EXCURSION : RATES to TRENTON,

for the dedication of the Battle

MONUMENT!

on

Thursday, Oct. 19th,

Special excursion tickets from all stations will be sold for all trains on the 19th and 20th, good to return until October 21st, inclusive. Fare from Plainfield for the round trip, $1.11. 7 2

Special Notices.

CHORAL SOCIETY. THE NOTICE for rehearsal on next Monday evening, which appeared in the Choral Society, was unauthorized. Official notice will be given in due time by NELSON RUNYON, Secretary.

New York Law School

156 Fifth Avenue, New York City. Incorporated 1891; 1892-93, 500. Largest law school in America. Graduates admitted to practice in 32 States. Department of Law of Corporations. Degree of LL.B. three years' course. Degree of LL.M. one year's course. Next entrance examination Monday, October 2, 1893. Address GEORGE CHASE, LL.D., Dean.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Labor Saving on the Farm.

One of the latest and neatest appliances for saving rural bone and muscle is a little two horsepower vapor engine. The vapor is generated by means of an electrical attachment not at all complicated in its arrangement. The engine is so simple in construction that the girls and women of a family can, say, separate the cream from the milk of 30 or 40 cows and churn the same number of pounds of butter in less than an hour. The engine can be used for many other purposes than as an assistant to the dairy. For that indeed it is invaluable, since in the vicinity of cities and large towns dairy farming and butter making are rapidly assuming in America the importance that they have already done in Denmark and Switzerland.

But the little gas engine will meet many other needs. It will saw wood, cut fodder and crush and husk ears. The agriculturist can build a water tank in his barret, and the small engine will in a few minutes pump it full of water. The water has only to be conducted in pipes over the house, and thus the farmer will have one of the main conveniences of city life, plenty of water. Not only that, but the obedient slave will pump the water tanks in the barn and stables full also, and thus economize their drink without any trouble or loss of time and little labor.

The Three Cent Emperor.

Two years ago the emperor of Germany evolved a scheme on which, when he wakes up in the night to think about it, he doubtless congratulates himself as additional evidence of the wisdom of time and the Almighty.

It is nothing less than a plan for the help of the working females, so that they may remember their emperor looks after them like a father. Every lady who keeps a domestic servant is obliged to buy of the government a blank book in which to paste certain stamps. The government thus turns its little honest penny. Further, every week the girl stays in her service the lady must paste into that book a stamp worth 3 cents. Thus she lays up 8 cents a week for her hired girl. Week after week, year after year, the sum accumulates. It is meant to take care of the domestic in sickness and old age.

In one year it amounts to $1.56—all of $1.56. If after 10 years' faithful service the girl falls ill and stays so for six months, say, she can go and take a vacation and be taken care of on $15.60. She will in it may have laid up that amount. If she has been in service 30 years and becomes superannuated, she will have $46.80 to maintain her the rest of her life. How good and great this idea is!

Why is it that when the skin game man wishes to victimize anybody by means of the ancient and fishy smelling device of palming off a tin box of green paper under the delusion that it contains $1,500 worth of good counterfeit bank bills, he always selects a farmer? A trio of rascals were recently captured with 18 boxes of green paper, cut in the shape of bank bills, and all their other effects. Among those effects were books emarked on the outside, "Select lists of farmers," from the neighborhood of Springfield, O. Ohio, too, of all states in the Union—Ohio, that next to Massachusetts prides herself on her general intelligence and wide awake condition! Is it any wonder that sharks and sharpers of all classes choose farmers for their prey, when the average ruralist can be ensnared on by the superannuated device of a box of green paper in lieu of counterfeit money? Of course it serves a man exactly right if he should lose all the money he has while he is engaged in anything so dishonest as traffic in counterfeit money, but the exasperating part of the way man is left in this Union who is such a fool.

Hon. Amos J. Cummings of New York has been the first man in any nation to offer a remedy for the large number of fearful wrecks and derelicts that are beginning to be a serious menace to the safety of ocean steamers between Europe and America. Representative Cummings has introduced into congress a joint resolution empowering the president to make an international agreement with other countries for the purpose of locating, marking and removing or destroying these dangerous estrays.

France has belonging to her navy 81 torpedo boats that are capable of making 21 knots an hour or over. Italy has 70 and Germany 58. Even Russia has 18 torpedo boats that can make 21 knots an hour, some of them more than that. This knowledge is calculated to take the conceit out of our pride in the achievements of our few little torpedo boats.

Thomas Alva Edison, George R. Cowls, is the inventor of a process for separating gas out of wood and of wood he gets gas and charcoal worth $46, so it is claimed. Mrs. Lucy Stone, then Washington state [illegible] long tree stumps in the ground for gas and get so much [illegible] of them.

Fifth cholera would apparently be a better name than Asiatic cholera for the terrible scourge that scooped out a very small portion of that decaying and slimy old city, Marseilles, in France.

A DAY OF CONVENTIONS

Both Parties in New York Now Ready For Vote Getting.

BAY STATE REPUBLICANS ODD VERSE.

John M. Palmer and Cord Meyer at the Head of the Opposing Hosts in the Empire State—Judge Isaac H. Maynard Renominated—Proceedings at Syracuse.

SYRACUSE, Oct. 7.—The Republican state convention was called to order by Chairman Brookfield of the state committee. The Rev. Dr. Beckman, with much fervor, invoked a blessing on the delegates and prayed for good government, law and order. On behalf of the state committee Mr. Brookfield nominated Patrick W. Cahill of Oswego for temporary presiding officer, who made a speech which was warmly received.

The customary committees were appointed to perfect the organization, prepare resolutions and hear contests, and a recess was called to give them a chance.

Upon reconvening Chauncey M. Depew was loudly cheered, and the speech which he made was of course the great event of the day. He fully maintained his reputation as an orator and upheld Republican principles and denounced his political opponents to the great delight of the convention. The committee on platform then presented the report.

The Platform.

The platform denounces the state Democratic machine, Isaac H. Maynard, the governor under it, and its legislative extravagance; says every pledge made by Democracy has been broken and civil service reform pretended; pledges faithful discharge of duty by Republican nominees if elected, economy in all state departments, reforms of election laws, an equitable distribution of taxation and apportionment boards of election; reaffirms the Minneapolis platform; commends Republicans in congress for adherence to sound money; demands a free ballot and recognition of the Union veterans, and lays the blame for prevailing hard times to the fact that the tariff is threatened.

A resolution on the death of Hamilton Fish was adopted.

When nominations were in order for judge of the court of appeals, the name of Judge William Rumsey of Bath was presented by ex-Assemblyman Milo M. Acker of Steuben. The New York delegates who had been selected to present Edward T. Bartlett's name was James S. Lehmaier. Henry S. Grasse of New York presented the name of John Sabine Smith.

A roll call was ordered, and the result of the ballot was as follows: Bartlett, 581; Rumsey, 96; Smith, 80.

The Following Resolutions Adopted.

The following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That the state committee to be selected at this convention be and they hereby are requested to organize in January, 1894, for the campaign of that year, and immediately after such January organization to commence the collection of funds and the circulation of Republican newspapers and other literature for the information of the people of the state.

Resolved, That the next Republican state convention be and it hereby is requested to continue such state committee in office until January, 1895, and to direct the state committee to be appointed in 1894 to take office January, 1895.

Resolved, That the Republican county committees throughout the state be and they hereby are requested to perfect their organizations in January in each year for the entire calendar year as rapidly as they may be authorized to do so by the respective county conventions.

Ex-Senator McArthur of Troy tried to introduce a resolution condemning the theory of deliberation in the United States senate by which the minority is enabled to prevent legislation desired by the majority. The resolution was declared out of order.

John M. Palmer Named.

Assemblyman Meyer Nussbaum placed General John M. Palmer in nomination for secretary of state. He eulogized the candidate and declared that General Palmer would receive strong support from the soldiers. The nomination of General Palmer was made unanimous.

William H. Hotchkiss of Erie placed James A. Roberts in nomination for comptroller, and he was nominated by acclamation.

District Attorney A. P. Hich of Cayuga presented the name of Thomas H. O'Neil of Auburn for state treasurer. The name of Addison B. Colvin of Glens Falls was presented by Colonel A. D. Cunningham of the same place. Montgomery county presented A. G. Richmond as its candidate for state treasurer. The result of the roll call was:

Colvin, 898; O'Neil, 173; Richmond, 107. While the count was proceeding many delegations attempted to change their votes, and there was much confusion. When the result was announced, the nomination of Mr. Colvin was made unanimous.

The Second Ballot a Tedious Affair.

Arthur C. Wade of Jamestown nominated John W. Woodward for attorney general. The Ulster county delegation presented the name of Gilbert D. W. Hasbrouck of Kingston. Ex-District Attorney Theodore C. Hancock of Syracuse was nominated by Colonel T. B. White. The nomination by the primary was: Woodward, 826; Hancock, 849; Hasbrouck, 124. The second ballot was a tedious affair, and the result will probably never be known. There were several changes from Woodward to Hancock, but not enough to make choice of the latter. As soon as the roll call was concluded, Senator Wells of Wells withdrew the name of Mr. Woodward and moved that the nomination of Mr. Hancock be made by acclamation. The motion was carried without a ripple.

City Engineer Campbell W. Adams of Utica was unanimously nominated for state engineer and surveyor, his name being presented by William M. Griffith of Oneida.

The committee to nominate constitutional delegates at large presented the following names, which were unanimously accepted:

Constitutional Delegates.

Joseph H. Choate, Elihu Root and Edward Lauterbach of New York, Jesse Johnson of Kings, Fred W. Hollis of Westchester, Michael Hornberger of Orange, J. Rider Cady of Columbia, John F. McDonough of Albany, John M. Francis of Rensselaer, John P. Peckham of Steuben, Commodore P. Vedder of Cattaraugus, John I. Gilbert of Onondaga and Daniel H. McMillan of Erie.

Mrs. Mary T. Burt of New York, president of the Women's Christian Temperance union of the state, obtained permission to address the convention, and for five minutes occupied the attention of the few delegates who had not left the hall. She wanted the convention to adopt resolutions against the liquor traffic, but no action was taken.

Jacob H. Sloman of New York moved that a colored representative be added to the state committee as a member at large, and a protest to be drawn up by the committee when organized. The motion prevailed.

The work of the delegates was so nearly in time for most of them to leave for home in evening trains, and two hours after the adjournment all the hotels were practically deserted. Ex-Senator Platt expressed his entire satisfaction with the work of the convention and with the ticket nominated. The sharp contests for several of the nominations he regarded as a hopeful sign, but beyond this he declined to give predictions regarding the result of the campaign.

The Democratic Nominees.

SARATOGA, Oct. 7.—The Democratic convention nominated the following ticket:

For Judge of the Court of Appeals—Isaac H. Maynard of Delaware.

For Secretary of State—Cord Meyer, Jr., of Queens.

For Comptroller—Frank Campbell of Steuben.

For State Treasurer—Hugh Duffy of Cortland.

For Attorney General—Simon W. Rosendale of Albany.

For State Engineer and Surveyor—Martin Schenck of Rensselaer.

Bay State Republicans.

BOSTON, Oct. 7.—The Republican state convention is in session, and Hon. William A. B. Bancroft of Cambridge is presiding. Hon. Frederick T. Greenhalge of Lowell will be nominated for governor by acclamation. Hon Roger Wolcott of Boston will also be nominated by acclamation for re-election to the lieutenant governorship. Hon. William M. Olin of Boston and Hon. John W., Kimball of Pittsburg will be renominated respectively for the offices of secretary of state and auditor of accounts. The contest for treasurer and receiver general is between Hon. Edward P. Shaw of Newburyport, Hon. Henry M. Phillips of Springfield and Hon. Warren E. Locke of Norwood. The aspirants for the attorney generalship are Hon. Moses M. Knowlton of New Bedford, Hon. Francis A. Gaskill of Worcester, Hon. Frank D. Allen of Lynn and Hon. Joseph Bennett of Boston.

STORMS IN ARKANSAS.

Several Persons Reported Killed and Much Damage Done to Property.

LITTLE ROCK, Oct. 7.—A terrific wind and rainstorm swept over Arkansas Thursday night, leaving death and destruction in its path. Thunder and lightning accompanied the storm, illuminating the skies almost incessantly and frightening the people. One death from nervous prostration is reported.

The greater damage was done in the southwestern part of the state. In Union county several houses were blown down, four women were killed outright and several persons were seriously injured. The full extent of the damage is not known yet, though it is known that the cotton in many fields have been laid waste.

The town of Eldorado was badly damaged, but no report of loss of life has been received.

In the vicinity of Preston, Faulkner county, the storm was quite severe and blew over a large number of houses. Numerous Cotton pens were blown down, cotton scattered, and much of it was lost.

Chosen by the President.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—The president sent to the senate these nominations:

To Be Consuls—At St. Thomas, W. I., J. H. Hall of New York; at Naples, F. A. Dean of Michigan; at Bermuda, Marshall Hanger of Virginia; at Nice, W. B. Hall of Maryland; at Quebec, Joseph Pope of Ontario; at Tetuan, F. B. Spence of Kentucky; at Nantes, Reavel Savage of Maryland; at Jerusalem, E. S. Wallace of South Dakota.

To Be Deputy First Comptroller of the Treasury, C. M. Force of Kentucky.

Assignee Mills Resuming.

AMSTERDAM, N. Y., Oct. 7.—Warner, De Forest & Co. will start their No. 3 knitting mill in Amsterdam to run eight hours a day four days a week. Shuttleworth Bros. have resumed operations in their factory for a limited time. The mill of J. D. Bloel & Co. and T. Peck & Co., broom manufacturers, will reopen their factories Monday.

Prisoners Free Winners.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 7.—The winners of the prizes in the freshman local examinations are: Alumni prize, in New York city, P. R. Colwells of Warwick, N. J.; George W. Childs prize, in Philadelphia, J. W. Wood of Philadelphia; Wilkesbarre and Scranton prize, N. Stahl of Scranton; Pittsburg prize, D. R. Nevin of Pittsburg.

The Contempt Case Dismissed.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 7.—Judge Tetzune has dismissed the charges of contempt against Judge Cox of the criminal court, who had declined to obey a mandate of Judge Brown of the circuit, who claimed that the court in question had jurisdiction. Judge Tetzune declares the criminal court to be of independent jurisdiction.

Emma Goldman's Bondsmen.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Anarchist Emma Goldman again denied she had advised the unemployed to attack the police in the unemployed in Union square on Aug. 21 to resort to violence against the capitalists. She said she would ask dynamite herself in the social revolution.

Receiver Appointed.

HARTFORD, Oct. 7.—Judge George W. Wheeler has appointed E. A. Freeman of Bristol temporary receiver of the E. N. Ingraham clock manufacturing co. of Forestville. The liabilities are something over $400,000, and the assets are estimated at $600,000.

Another Weeks' Run.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—The employes of Alexander Weeks has presented a statement of the latter's assets. It shows that the actual value of the assets are about $200,000; liabilities estimated at $1,200,000.

Colonel McClure's Illness.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7.—The condition of Colonel A. K. McClure, who has been ill for some time, is less favorable. The rheumatic attack from which he has been suffering has greatly enfeebled him.

Pipe Workers Meeting.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7.—The Union League club will meet next Tuesday night to take action that will effect Wharton Barker's move for an alliance between all workingmen and professionals.

Robbed in a Newspaper Building.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 7.—Secretary of Sinclair of the East St. Louis Jockey club was held up and robbed of $500 last night in the Globe-Democrat building. The thief was captured.

Disappearance of a Treasurer.

BOSTON, Oct. 7.—J. Walbaden, treasurer of the New York Building Loan company, has been missing for 10 days, for no apparent reason.

TO APPLY THE SCREWS

Definite Plan of the Silver Law Repealers Outlined.

PROGRAMME OF THE SILVER MEN.

Mr. Sherman Introduces His Amendment to the Silver Bill—Little Interest Taken in the House on the Election Law Repeal Measure.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—The plan of action for next week has been definitely determined upon, and the closure will be applied Wednesday at the opening of 6 o'clock. Several days ago Mr. Voorhees anticipated all the friends of repeal of the intended programme and warned them that they must positively be in Washington not a day later than Monday.

The senate will meet on that day as usual, and when 6 o'clock arrives Senator Voorhees will ask the senate to remain in session. The roll will then be called, and by the silver men, and the contest will begin. The repealers expect to have a quorum present, and it is said that they have agreed to remain all Tuesday night and all Wednesday until the bill is passed or the flag is lowered.

It is believed that the silver men will filibuster for a portion of the time, and when they grow tired of this they will put one of their men at the front to conduct the debate, but the agreed policy of repeal is that they will make no more speeches, but be ready at every moment when talk lags to insist upon the votes being taken.

Programme of the Silverites.

The repeal men also apprehend the fact that upon them rests the responsibility of maintaining a quorum, and they have therefore established a system of pairs by which the silver men will leave but two of their number in the senate—one to speak and the other to make the necessary calls for a quorum—in answer to the call of the senate when they believe there is no quorum present. In this way, by having a relay of men on duty, the silver men expect to throw on the anti-silver side the burden of maintaining a quorum. This issue of the obstacle in this struggle of endurance likely to prove of the repealers' greatest. A mooted question among them is whether they can keep a quorum present throughout the silver night.

The silver men appear to appreciate their advantage, and predict that they can tire out the older members in one night. Just what the attitude of the Republicans will be under the circumstances in view of this programme, some uneasiness. Fears are entertained that, though nearly all of them are willing and anxious to vote on the question, a number of them may not be willing to remain up all night under the call of a Democratic whip.

Among other reports of the day is the story that the president has been informed of what senators consider to be the true situation and that he has insisted that this final effort be made. In all events, it is known that the programme as here outlined will be inaugurated regardless of what the result of such a policy may be.

Another Statement of the Case.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—It was reported last night that the administration has come to the conclusion that the bill providing for the unconditional repeal of the Sherman law cannot be passed in the senate, and that everything looking to a compromise have been made.

No direct confirmation of this report is obtainable, so far as President Cleveland's attitude is concerned, but from a creditable source the information is received that Secretary Carlisle has proposed a plan which contemplates the extension of the Sherman law for one year with a reduction of the amount of silver to be purchased to 2,500,000 ounces monthly, instead of 4,500,000 ounces, as the law stands now.

In House and Senate.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—In his speech last Wednesday Mr. Sherman declared that he would prepare and offer an amendment to the silver purchase repeal bill which would embody his views of a fair compromise measure. He expected to offer an amendment yesterday, and it was ordered to be printed. It adopts the bill as it passed the house, strikes out the Voorhees declaration favoring bimetallism and adds to the house bill a provision for the free coinage of silver of American production—the difference between the bullion value of the silver and its money value, when coined, to be retained by the treasury as seigniorage, and this seigniorage to be sold for gold, either on bonds or at par for gold coin, which is to be kept in the treasury for the purpose of maintaining the parity between the two metals.

The debate on the silver purchase repeal bill was carried on by Mr. Call of Florida and Mr. Butler of South Carolina, both in support of the bill, and Mr. Teller in opposition, during the session of the house last Wednesday. Mr. Call drew an imaginary sketch of the people listening to the senate debates on the financial questions, with a description of the senator upon the stump advocating anything in American history. He argued in favor of an amendment heretofore offered by him. Mr. Butler favored his own amendment to repeal the 10 per cent tax on the notes of state banks.

Mr. Teller also made a little progress with the silver slogan by which he will work. Two resolutions came up in the morning hour. One, offered by Mr. Potter for a senate committee to be appointed to investigate the causes of the panic, was, after debate, referred to the finance committee. The other, offered by Mr. Morgan, instructing the judiciary committee to investigate the provisions of the free coinage act of 1837 are still in force, was, without debate, agreed to.

A communication from the treasury department was presented giving the estimate of the total cost of the deportation of Chinese laborers under the Geary act at $7,300,000, of which $2,000,000 would be required for the current fiscal year.

Not even the earnest manner of Mr. Cummings of New York could awaken the house to the interest in the bankruptcy bill that have fallen. There was no increase in the attendance, and the various speakers—Messrs. Holmes of Nebraska, Hicks of Pennsylvania, Broumhelm of Indiana, Bayne of New York, English of New Jersey, Baker of New Hampshire, Tawney of Minnesota, Talbert of South Carolina and Gunnell of New Jersey—received very little attention, though some of the arguments advanced were worthy of grave consideration.

Success of Gold in the Treasury.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—The treasury department yesterday lost nearly $2,700,000 in gold, its total balances on the close of business standing at $99,928,000. The currency balances, however, increased nearly $2,000,000, so that the currency balance of $45,940,000 and the gold reserve balance of $99,928,000 make the net treasury working balance in round figures $100,000,000, or about $8,000,000 less than it was on Oct. 1.

Mrs. Amelia Pennell

"My wife suffered with nervousness and neuralgia of the heart, which a physician said was caused by a tumor. She had an attack of the grip, and it was worse. She suffered so much pain in the region of the heart that she could not sleep. She was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, which she took faithfully, and it cured her entirely. She is now well and strong." Mrs. AMELIA PENNELL, Tannersville, N.Y.

Hood's Pills Cure all Headaches.

JOSEPH SOHL,

PRACTICAL

Electrician

49 NORTH AVENUE,

Plainfield, N. J.

Estimates furnished on Electric Light Wiring, Burglar Alarm and Bell Work and repairing of same. Dealer in

Electric and Gas Fixtures.

Madame Iza Lezem's Conservatory

will open on

Friday, October 6,

from 2 to 6 p. m., in HULETT'S HALL, for instruction in Physical Culture, Classic, Elocution, Deportment, Singing, Violin, Piano, Society and Fancy Dancing.

Reception on October 8, from 3 to 5 p. m., to which all ladies are cordially invited.

For particulars, address or call at the Hall, or 529 West Front street. 10 2 tf

The only place to buy

Sea Food!

is at

TERRY'S

North Avenue Sea Food Market,

where you will find the largest Stock in Plainfield. Also, all other kinds in season, at the lowest prices.

OPENING

of Fall and Winter

Millinery and Jackets,

Wednesday, Thursday and Friday,

SEPTEMBER 13, 14 AND 15.

Having re-modeled and greatly enlarged our Millinery Department, we are now prepared to show our patrons the finest effects Millinery record to note in the State, and at New York prices. Also a full line of Ladies' Jackets, Capes and Ulsters, in the new styles of the season. Give us a call. Respectfully, Miss Carrie Keeler, successor to Miss Lizzie Keeler, 129 West Front street.

Metropolitan Livery and Boarding Stables!

Coaches, Close Carriages, Park Phaetons, Surreys, Buggies, Four Pleasure and Saddle Horses.

Special care given boarding horses. Storage for furniture and carriage.

140 AND 137 NORTH AVENUE.

Opposite depot. Telephone Call, 44.

H. K. RIDER, Proprietor. FRANK DAY, Manager

Boehm's.

A. W. Rand,

140 WEST FRONT STREET.

New and second hand

SCHOOL - BOOKS.

School supplies of all kinds.

Those wishing to exchange second hand books must bring them in immediately.

U. B. CRANE,

has the largest stock of

Fine Fall HATS,

in Plainfield.

12 WEST FRONT STREET.

World's Fair Excursion Tickets!

Going and returning via all the different lines, with or without hotel accommodations at

FRANK'S

Lowest Rate Railroad and Steamship Agency,

345 AND 347 BROADWAY, Corner Leonard Street, NEW YORK.

Lowest rates to all parts of the World. Tickets purchased and exchanged. Sleeping berths reserved. Baggage transferred.

MEMBER AMERICAN TICKET BROKERS' ASSOCIATION. 10 5 3m

Educational.

HARNED ACADEMY.

BOARDING AND DAY SCHOOL.

New School Buildings,
Competent Instructors,
Students Prepared for College,
For Business, and
In Special Subjects.

For circulars, address "Harned Academy," Plainfield, N. J.

Plainfield Seminary,

re-opened

SEPTEMBER 14, 1893.

(20th year.)

MISS S. R. KENYON, Principal.

FRENCH LESSONS.

Conversation and entertainment in French given by Mlle. Bonnet, graduate of the Sorbonne in Paris; also teacher of French and German from Paris and Berlin. For terms, and trial lesson free, write to Prof. Wilcox, care of Messrs. Scribner and Scribner, 743 La Grande avenue, Dunellen.

MISS DAWSETT'S

Boarding and Day Preparatory and Intermediate School for Young Ladies, French, Music, Drawing, Calisthenics. Re-opens Sept. 14. Pupils will be admitted at any time during the year. Address Wilcox, Dunellen.

MISS JEANNETTE MATTISON,

Teacher of Piano, Organ and Harmony, begs to announce that she will receive pupils at her residence, 127 West Second street, Plainfield. Special attention given to beginners. Terms, $2 per month.

Miscellaneous Cards.

$55!

Six Days at the World's Fair.

A WEEK OF HOLIDAYS.

Railroad tickets, hotel accommodations, admission tickets, and every attraction that was provided, at lowest possible rates. Apply to nearest ticket agent, church, ministers, secretary, or address C. E. ALDEN, for pamphlet and full details, to explain and how consumers, public bodies and lodges, we offer special advantages.

Comfort and luxury guaranteed at cost.

We have exclusive arrangements with the great railways terminal in Chicago.

Send for circulars, or, if you will call at Secretary's and we will give you prices.

WORLD'S COLUMBIAN TOURIST COMPANY,

239 Broadway, New York.

GEORGE C. McEWEN,

Agent for New Jersey,

494 broad street, Newark.

THE BEE HIVE!

Infants' long Cashmere Cloaks, $1.50, $2.00, $2.50.

Children's Elder down Coats, $1.48, $2.00, $2.50.

A few a full line of Flannel Skirts, Infants' Shawls and Sacks.

Fall : Underwear.

Children's merino Vests and Pants, 18-inch, 12c., 19-inch, 16c., 20-inch, 18c., 22-inch, 22c., 24-inch, 25c.

Children's natural wool Vests and Pants, 16-inch, 20c., 18-inch, 22c., 20-inch, 25c., 22-inch, 30c., 24-inch, 35c., 26-inch, 40c.

SPECIAL!

Ladies' Ribbed Vests, long sleeves, 21c. Ladies' Merino Vests, 25c., 39c., and 50c. Ladies' Silk Vests, 49c., and 69c.

Ladies' Natural Wool Vests, 50c.

Men's White Merino Shirts and Drawers, 39c., and 50c.

Men's Natural Wool Shirts and Drawers 79c. and $1.00.

Men's Camels Hair Shirts and Drawers, 75c., $1.00 and $1.24.

Louis Callman,

222 West Front Street.

The New Address

of Seaman's Livery Stable is 118 West Second Street, in the Elkwood building.

Telephone Call, 39.

Fine horses, carriages, vehicles of all kinds. Horses boarded. Careful drivers.

Cleaner Coal!

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't,

BROADWAY, COR. FOURTH SUNSET, further the public to inspect the operations of his coal yard, and to the fact that the general interest for our coal, which he confidently believes enables him to deliver cleaner coal than is possible by any other mode of screening.

UPPER LEHIGH AND HONEYBROOK COAL to best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.

ROUGH AND SCREENED LUMBER.

He would also announce recently increased facilities for planing and kiln drying lumber, and solicits a continuance of patronage for the same in the best manner at short notice.

Miscellaneous Cards.

H. E. SPENCER,

Grocer and Dealer in Provisions, 76 and 78 Somerset street. Pure cider vinegar, 2 years old, 20c. per gallon. W. G. C. C. ready, cooked corned beef, cooked ham, cooked tongue, cooked lunch tongue, cooked chicken, cooked ham, cooked turkey, cooked lobster, cooked salmon, cooked shrimps, cooked oysters, cooked clams, cooked crabs, cabbage, lettuce, tomato, celery, cucumber, sweet potato, and sour pickles a specialty.

PLAINFIELD

BOULDERLESS EXCAVATING COMPANY

JONES & CO.

Want quickly and thoroughly done Your orders in operation. Our experience is appreciated by the best of citizens. Prices are reasonable. Prompt attention given to all orders. Best [illegible] Lawns, Gardens and Fields. [illegible]

P. O. box 622 Telephone call 39

THE DIME SAVINGS INSTITUTION OF PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three (3) per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually

JOHN W. HUBBARD, President.
WILLIAM WHITE, Vice-President.
NATHAN HARPER.
ELIAS S. POPE, Treasurer.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS.

The Outlook Does Not Reveal Any Signs of Improvement.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—It is difficult to detect any signs of improvement. While there has been some addition to the number of manufacturing establishments and the number of hands at work during the past week, it is becoming painfully clear that the orders obtained do not suffice to keep employed at full time even the limited force at present engaged. The business transacted is still far below that of last year in volume, in railroad earnings the decrease being 10.6 per cent in spite of large World's fair business, and in payments through the principal clearing houses outside New York the decrease is 20 per cent.

Failures continue to decrease in number and importance, though not as much as has been hoped. The number reported to the United States during the past week has been 220, against 186 for the same week last year, and in Canada there is not such encouragement as might be inferred in the industrial reports for the week. In almost every department orders are found too small to keep the respective mills more than fully employed. Many concerns are working short time, while the general reduction in wages also affects the purchasing power of the millions who still have work.

THREE ROBBERS KILLED.

Hunted Down in the Rockies In a Blinding Snowstorm.

KALISPELL, Mon., Oct. 7.—Three train robbers and one member of an Indian posse were killed in a pitched battle which took place in a blinding snowstorm near Two Medicine creek, on the east slope of the Rocky mountains, not far from Kalispell.

Their names were Charles Jones, alias Charles Kincaid, John Shipman and Ben Hall, alias Ben Mattocks, robbers, and Henry Schilter of the Indian police. Several other members of the posse were wounded. The robbers were members of the gang of four which held up the Northern Pacific passenger train near Livingstone, Mon., on Aug. 25.

They were traced from Livingstone by two Blackfoot scouts, who finally ran them to ground near Two Medicine creek.

WENT OVER A BRIDGE.

Two Engineers Killed In a Collision on the Louisville and Nashville.

NEW HAVEN, Ky., Oct. 7.—A collision occurred on Pottinger's creek bridge, five miles south of this place, on the Louisville and Nashville. The first section of a freight train broke in three places coming down a grade, the caboose of which stopped on the bridge. In this was sleeping Andrew Burke, an engineer. Along came the second section, striking the caboose right on the bridge. It went down, and with it went the engine, engineer, the caboose, Burke and 10 cars of coal, all in a space of 40 feet. Both engineers, Higgins and Burke, are buried under the debris and will probably not be found for some time.

Postmasters Appointed.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—The following fourth-class postmasters were appointed:

Connecticut—Mr. S. J. Harvey, Chaplin; G. H. Backus, Windham.

Delaware—Mrs. M. T. Tunnell, Ocean View.

New York—Charles Hartman, Northwestern; J. L. Ford, Speedville; Cornelius Collins, Taughannock Falls; Mrs. Barnabas Sears, Davisport.

Pennsylvania—Mrs. Mary Kilsullis, Aspinwall; A. J. Irwin, Atglen; J. W. Kennedy, Kunkleswille; William Burns, Pocopson.

The Vanderbilt's Big Deal.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—The Vanderbilts have entered into a contract for one of the greatest real estate purchases ever made on Manhattan island. The property covers four city blocks, between One Hundred and Fifty-fifth street and One Hundred and Fifty-ninth street. It is said that the contract price is $3,000,000 and that $100,000 has been deposited to bind the bargain. It is understood that the purchase was made for railroad purposes.

Four People Drowned at Sea.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., Oct. 7.—News was received here of the wreck of the Chilian bark Leanor in the open ocean. On the 4th inst., during a gale, the bark went ashore on a rocky coast. The vessel is a total loss. Captain Meyers, his wife and four seamen were drowned. When the vessel struck, Captain Meyers jumped overboard with his wife, and both were drowned.

The Safe Wouldn't Open.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 7.—When Teller F. W. Chatterton tried to open the safe in the Mechanics' bank at the regular hour, he found that the automatic time lock failed to operate, and access to the money was impossible. Experts were summoned from New York to examine the lock, and it is expected that it will be in working order by tomorrow.

Collision on the Central Vermont.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Oct. 7.—A head on collision occurred on the Central Vermont railroad at Norwood. F. J. Simpson, a fireman of St. Albans, Vt., had his leg cut off, and it is feared he will die. Eight cars were smashed to fragments.

Boston Short on Sugar.

BOSTON, Oct. 7.—While at present there appears to be no danger of a sugar famine in this city, there is a shortage, and it is practically impossible to get an order for a few hundred barrels filled inside of a week or 10 days.

Escape of a Murderer.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 7.—Seven county jail prisoners took a lady in the iron floor of the first tier of cells and escaped through the cellar door. A murderer was among the escapes.

Died In a Horse Car.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Walter H. Powers, a well known broker, and a member of the Stock Exchange, died suddenly in an Eighth avenue surface car last evening.

Fallas Met Death Bravely.

BARCELONA, Oct. 7.—Pallas, the anarchist, met death without a tremor. Cool and self possessed, he walked to the place of execution and was shot in the back.

Decrease in the Flour Output.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 7.—There was a decrease in the flour output last week of 58,000 barrels, and 64,000 barrels as compared with the run of two weeks ago.

Odds Offered on the Vigilant.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—The members of the Maritime Exchange favor the Vigilant against the Valkyrie, and many are willing to bet 2 to 1 on the American.

Heinie H-34 For Aeons.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 7.—An information has been made against J. C. Heintz of the First avenue pickle firm, burned out yesterday, for arson.

THE NEW OCEAN QUEEN

All Previous Records Smashed by the Lucania.

TIME, 5 DAYS 15 HOURS 36 MINUTES

The Big Cunarder Has Won the Scepter of the Seas on Her Second Trip and Fulfilled the Promise Made by Her Wonderful Maiden Voyage.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—The ocean steamship record has been lowered again. Last night, a few minutes after 10 o'clock, the giant Lucania sped swiftly through the rain and fog covered seas and dropped anchor outside the bar, with the proud consciousness that she had wrested from the Paris the palm so long held by her. To the wonderful triumph of her maiden record just a month ago she has now added the victory of more matured age, and stands today without a peer in the list of ocean fleets.

She has made the best maiden record ever made; she has made the biggest 24 hours' run ever made; she has made the best westward record, and she has probably made the best average speed ever made.

The present voyage took her just 5 days, 15 hours and 20 minutes. This is 20 minutes faster than the best westward trip of the Paris, made in October of last year. The fastest run for 24 hours ever before made was achieved by the Lucania on her maiden trip. It was 548 miles, and unless the herculean efforts of the fireman on this trip it remains the record. Her average speed on her maiden trip was 20.59 knots, while the best average of the Paris was 20.70.

Straight Across the Seas She Came.

Her average for this voyage is not yet computed, but will probably be higher than any yet made.

The ship sailed from Queenstown on the morning of Oct. 1, and passed Daunt's Rock at 1:15 p. m., precisely. Straight across the ocean she came, neither pausing nor turning aside from her course, and at 10:04 o'clock last night she passed the Sandy Hook lightship. A moment afterward the telegraph and telephone wires brought messages announcing that she had lowered the record by 39 minutes. The difference between the local times of her departure and arrival is only 5 days, 8 hours and 40 minutes, but to this 4 hours and 35 minutes must be added to allow for the difference of time between here and England.

The agents of the Lucania did not expect her to break the record on this trip. Perhaps they hoped that she might, but the head winds and fogs that have been reported off the coast made them afraid to advance any prophecies until the matter was beyond dispute.

The Power of Her Engines Enormous.

The Lucania is a sister ship to the Campania, and her builders profited by the experience gained in building the former vessel. The power of her engines is enormous. She is fitted with two sets of the most powerful triple expansion type, each capable of developing over 15,000 indicated horse power. In size she is not far below the Great Eastern, the monster ship of the days of our grandparents. She is 620 feet long, and has an extreme breadth of 65 feet 8 inches and a depth of 43 feet. Her gross tonnage is 12,950 tons and her displacement about 18,000 tons.

Following are the times of passage of the fastest ocean steamships from Queenstown to New York:

	D.	H.	M.
Umbria	5	22	47
New York	5	20	20
Majestic	5	16	09
Teutonic	5	16	21
Campania	5	15	09
Paris	5	15	24
Lucania	5	15	23

The Teutonic held the record up to July, 1892, when it was won by the Paris, the latter lowering her own record again in October of the same year. The Campania has never held the record.

General Black's Narrow Escape.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7. — Congressman Black of Illinois, ex-commissioner of pensions, had a narrow escape from death in his riding in a closed carriage. The horse ran away, and the driver lost his nerve and jumped from the box and left General Black inside the carriage helpless. The frightened animal dashed down the crowded street, colliding with vehicles right and left and taking off several wheels. Finally the harness broke, liberating the horse, and the carriage came to a dead stop, leaving General Black unhurt.

For an International Rifle Match.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 7.—The Thirteenth regiment, N. G. P., rifle team of this city, which recently at Creedmoor defeated the team of the Seventh and Twenty-third regiments of New York, has begun negotiations with Sir Henry Halford and the Duke of Cambridge relative to meeting the English rifle team at Bisley, near London, next June.

The Trolley's Last Victim.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 7.—The trolley added another victim to its long list yesterday. Johnnie Timony, 6 years old, lost his life after saving that of his brother Frank, two years his senior. The little fellow's father was one of the first to run to the place of the accident, and fainted on seeing the mangled form of his son.

Restaurant Over a Bank's Closure.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., Oct. 7.—Great excitement was caused here by the closing of the doors of the Merchants' bank, considered the most conservative and soundest in the city. Examiner S. W. B. Clark would make no statement, saying that none could be given out for a week or 10 days.

Rescued, but May Die.

LOUISBURG, C. B., Oct. 7.—Two American fishermen landed at the lighthouse here last night—Charles Hubbard and Rufus McCommesky. They got astray from the schooner Pastime Wednesday morning, and were completely exhausted and may die.

A Doctor Dies From Poison.

HICKSVILLE, N. Y., Oct. 7.—Dr. Joseph Lee, a druggist, died at Franklin's hotel, Oyster Bay, from the effects of poison self administered. It is believed Dr. Lee did not intend to commit suicide.

Want to Return to Work.

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 7.—The striking shopmen of the Louisville and Nashville at Decatur, Ala., have asked to be taken back, agreeing to work at the reduced scale of wages.

St. Petersburg's Cholera Record.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 7.—Between the 22 and 30th inst. 103 new cases of cholera and 39 deaths were registered in this city.

World's Fair Attendance.

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—Total admissions at the World's fair yesterday, 142,826.

CUT DOWN TO FACTS.

The entire freshman class in the State college, at Bellefonte, Pa., "shrunk" because two of their number had been suspended for having cribs in their vests.

Rev. F. R. Webster, pastor of the Universalist church in Bridgeport, has resigned to enter the Episcopal church.

Captain Brown of Pittsburg says he will sell only 15 or 16 of his horses, not the entire stable.

In a row among negroes at Williamson, W. Va., three were killed.

Hon. Hannis Taylor, minister to Spain, who has been quite sick, is reported better.

Ives is now 1,052 points behind in his billiard match with Roberts.

Executions amounting to $19,000 were issued against Henry Oppenheimer, a Pittsburg shirt manufacturer.

Mrs. Maria Brooks and daughter of Rochester have presented $9,000 to Auburn Theological seminary.

The Buffalo Courier, Democratic, has come out in a strong editorial against Judge Maynard.

Lady Somerset has subscribed £100 to the coal miners' strike fund.

Beers lost $150,000 in a corner on Lackawanna stock in Wall street.

Francis H. Weeks' lawyer obtained a postponement until Monday of the decision of the Costa Rican government relative to his extradition.

Three cable cars ran away in Broadway, New York, near Thirty-third street. One grip was lodged in a broken strand and many blocks behind record could be sent to the power house and the cable could be stopped. Traffic was delayed for two hours.

TOLD TO MAKE PEACE.

Peixoto Is Requested by the Diplomatic Corps of Rio Janeiro.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—The World's Montevideo correspondent telegraphs as follows:

The diplomatic corps at Rio de Janeiro has requested President Peixoto, as an ultimatum, to make a compromise with the revolutionists by Monday or leave Rio. If this advice is not accepted, the foreign ministers resident will recognize the rebels as belligerents. The foreign ministers have notified Admiral Mello to refrain from bombarding undefended points.

The government will open a credit of $5,000,000 for the organization of a squadron of warships to fight the revolutionary fleet. Passports are required to go from Rio Grande, Santa Catharina, Sao Paulo and Rio. Banks and business houses have suspended pending the receipt from consuls of government guarantee of freedom of commerce. The World correspondent has trustworthy information that Peixoto, in case of further bombardment, contemplates removing the capitol and himself from Rio.

Says the Pope Is In Danger.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—The Tablet, an influential Catholic paper, says: "Events now tran-piring in Italy render the pope's position one of extreme and imminent danger. The position of Italy is too insecure and unstable to make her a safe guardian of the venerable person of the pope or of the monuments which are the sacred heritage of the Catholic world."

Stoves For Winter,

Hardware of all Kinds,

Everything From Tacks to Furnaces.

A. M. GRIFFEN,

13 EAST FRONT STREET. Telephone 6.

Do You?

Intend to invest in a

WHEEL?

If so, call on

Dickinson,

The Optician.

Agent for the Excelsior, the best wheel in the market. 4 weights, 28, 30, 36 and 41 lbs. Wheels to hire at reasonable rates.

VIGOR OF MEN

Easily, Quickly, Permanently Restored.

Weakness, Nervousness, Debility, and all the train of evils from early errors or later excesses, this great remedy is sold on a positive guarantee to cure you. Don't waste time and money paying for worthless imitations. Write us for pamphlet (sealed) free. The specific medicine is sold by druggists at $1 per package, or six packages (enough usually to cure) for $5, or will be sent by mail on receipt of price. Pamphlet free. Sold only by agents.

ERIE MEDICAL CO., Buffalo, N.Y.

Plainfield Manual Training School,

300 EAST FRONT STREET.

The course of study includes fifteen branches, viz: 12 in the Grammar school course, for which the charge is two dollars per week, if pupils have to be taken back a class singly, at correspondingly low prices. The first will be Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. JOHN DALRIEL, Principal.

Van Eps,

THE NEW JEWELER.

12 Park Avenue. Also a large variety of Musical Goods.

Those who have a

Good Digestion

have little sympathy for the dyspeptic. They can eat everything that comes along. While they can eat rich food without fear of the dyspeptic's bad experiences, they nevertheless greatly appreciate a delicate flavor in their pastry.

Cottolene

when used as a shortening, always produces the finest flavored pastry, which is entirely free from the many objections which the use of lard always produces. Test its value by one trial. Refuse all substitutes.

Send three 2-cent stamps to N. K. Fairbank & Co., Chicago, for handsome Cottolene cook book, containing over 175 household receipts, prepared by skilled cooks. Cottolene is sold by all grocers.

Made only by

N. K. FAIRBANK & CO.,

CHICAGO,

and

128 N. Delaware Ave., Phila.

Previous Exchanges, N. Y.

1893 TAXES!

Notice is hereby given to the taxpayers of the

City of Plainfield,

that the taxes assessed in said city for the year 1893 are now due and payable, and that if the said taxes be not paid by the

20th Day of December

next, the names of the defaulters, with their respective taxes, will be returned to the City Judge for the prosecution. The

COMMISSIONERS OF APPEAL,

in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council Chamber, on the

Fourth Tuesday in November Next,

(the 28th,) and sit from two o'clock p. m. until five o'clock p. m., or longer if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

JOSEPH JOHNSON,
Collector of Taxes.

Dated, Plainfield, N. J., October 2, 1893.
10 2 6d

F. M. HULETT,

MUSIC DEALER,

74 West Front Street,

handles the following makes:

Gildemeister & Kroeger,
Kranich & Bach,
Star,
Mulhold,
Jacob Bros. Pianos,
and the world renowned
Newman Bros. and Mason & Hamlin Organs.

New : Proprietor!

HENRY F. WINDHAM,

Arlington : Hotel!

Somerset street and Drombrook road.

Regular and transient boarders.
First-class bar and stables attached.

Do Your Corns Hurt?

They can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of

ELECTRIC

Corn Cure.

A remedy that never fails. A guarantee is sent with each box, that if a complete cure is not made, the money is to be refunded at once. Price, 60c. per box. Sent postpaid to any address on receipt of price. (Can be sent by postal note or silver, but our risk.) A book of testimonials with each box.

ALLEN & CO.,
Lock Box 33, Richmond, Va.
6 13 tf

MORE SLAUGHTER!

to close out our entire line of

Neglige SHIRTS!

We offer them at the ridiculously low price of

85 CENTS.

These goods are worth $1.25 and $1.50. If you don't need 'em now, buy and keep until next summer. Sizes—So. from 61.2—Se on each one.

Hallock & Davis,

New number, 109 West Front street, opposite Musical Hall.

TAKE NOTICE.

Charles Arnold,

the butcher,

Is Still in the Race

for cut prices.

Fresh Pork and Sausage 12c. lb.
My own Dressed Jersey Chickens, 18c. lb.
Legs Mutton, 10c. lb.
Lamb, 12c. lb.
My Smoked Meats and all other Meats will be the same old cut prices.

Arnold's : Market,

208 LIBERTY STREET.

GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE.

Strictly Cash.

Great Bargains

in all grades of

WALL PAPERS,

for the next 60 days.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

29 EAST FRONT STREET.

The Vendrbilts and Astors!

Use the same make of imported Table Oil, Cheese and French Sardines that I now have in stock.

THEY ARE DELICIOUS.

And then I personally select the

FRESH FISH!

I have on sale to-day and to-morrow. Call and see my stock.

JULES BOVEY,

60 Somerset Street.

H. De MOTT,
Graduate of United States Embalming College.
UNDERTAKER : AND : EMBALMER,
Office at residence, 178 Somerset Street.
Plainfield, N. J.

Townsend's Marble Works,

30 Somerset Street.

Builders Cards.

Daniel Hulick,

Carpenter

and

General Jobber.

SHOP,

35 Jackson Avenue.

Storm doors and weather strips a specialty.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

Window Screens made to order.

John P. Emmons,

MASON AND BUILDER,

Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place.

Jobbing promptly attended to.
P. O. Box 368.

PIERSON & GAYLE,

Carpenters and Builders.

W. J. Pierson, No. 15 Vine street. H. B. Gayle, No. 19 Vine street.
All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM G. SMITH,

PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER,

All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.

Residence—Grandview avenue.
P. O. Box 253.

R. V. SAUNDERS,

Carpenter & Builder.

Residence—Clinton avenue, near depot, Dunellen.
P. O. Box 1259

Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.

JACOB M. HIGGINS,

PRACTICAL MASON and CONTRACTOR

P. O. Box 263. Residence Dr. street, 1887 near Howard.

JOHN ANDREW,

Practical Carpenter and Builder. Residence and shop corner new and Bonnell streets, Plainfield. Orders left at Somerset house will receive prompt attention. P. O. Box 1841.

ALFRED N. HELMUS,

Real Estate and Insurance Agent, No. 2 East Front street, Plainfield, N. J. Deals in Real Estate, Mortgages, Bonds, Stocks, &c., on the United States Coast Survey. All work guaranteed. 10 7

59c. 59c. 59c. 59c.

SALE!

of

KID GLOVES!

4-button length, tan, modes, brown and black, all sizes, 5½ to 7½.

59c. 59c. 59c 59c.

GEO. L. VAN EMBURGH & SON.

FRONT STREET, OPPOSITE PARK AVENUE. UNDER THE BANK.

Timely Warning! Winter Approaching!

Keep your Scalp Clean and your Hair Growing.

RANDOLPH'S Quinine and Glycerine

HAIR TONIC!

The Friend in the Hour of Need.

EACH BOTTLE GUARANTEED. Sold only by

L. W. RANDOLPH, Prescription Druggist,

142 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

Rochester Beers!

The success already attained by this brand of Lager Beer is beyond expectation. No other Beer ever handled in this city has had such remarkable sale. Try it!

BOTTLED LIQUORS,

Imported Beers and Ales are having a very large sale at this season. My stock is first-class, and it will pay you to investigate.

FRANK LINKE'S

Wholesale Liquor Establishment, 43 WEST FRONT STREET.

Telephone Call, 137.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

Successors to

The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,

Dealers in

Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials

62 to 66 PARK AVENUE.

Are now prepared with their increased facilities, (having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs. A. D. Cook & Bro.,) to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

Railroad Time Table.

CENTRAL RAILROAD OF NEW JERSEY

(Anthracite coal used exclusively insuring cleanliness and comfort.)

Station in New York, foot of Liberty street. Time table in effect July 30, 1893.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield at 2 34, 3 37, 4 35, 6 03, 6 38, 7 40, 8 20, 9 20, 10 20, 11 20 a. m., 12 05, 1 14, 2 05, 3 05, 4 05, 5 05, 6 05, 7 05, 8 05, 9 05, 10 05, 11 05 p. m., 12 01 a. m.

Leave New York at 12 01, 1 01, 2 01, 3 01, 4 01, 5 01, 6 01, 7 01, 8 01, 9 01, 10 01, 11 01 a. m., 12 01, 1 01, 2 01, 3 01, 4 01, 5 01, 6 01, 7 01, 8 01, 9 01, 10 01, 11 01 p. m., 12 01 a. m.

PLAINFIELD AND BOUND BROOK.

Leave Plainfield at 6 38, 8 20, 9 20, 10 20, 11 20 a. m., 12 05, 1 14, 2 05, 3 05, 4 05, 5 05, 6 05, 7 05, 8 05, 9 05, 10 05, 11 05 p. m., 12 01 a. m.

Leave Bound Brook at 12 01, 1 01, 2 01, 3 01, 4 01, 5 01, 6 01, 7 01, 8 01, 9 01, 10 01, 11 01 a. m., 12 01, 1 01, 2 01, 3 01, 4 01, 5 01, 6 01, 7 01, 8 01, 9 01, 10 01, 11 01 p. m., 12 01 a. m.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield at 6 38, 8 20, 9 20, 10 20, 11 20 a. m., 12 05, 1 14, 2 05, 3 05, 4 05, 5 05, 6 05, 7 05, 8 05, 9 05, 10 05, 11 05 p. m., 12 01 a. m.

Leave Newark at 12 01, 1 01, 2 01, 3 01, 4 01, 5 01, 6 01, 7 01, 8 01, 9 01, 10 01, 11 01 a. m., 12 01, 1 01, 2 01, 3 01, 4 01, 5 01, 6 01, 7 01, 8 01, 9 01, 10 01, 11 01 p. m., 12 01 a. m.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield at 6 38, 8 20, 9 20, 10 20, 11 20 a. m., 12 05, 1 14, 2 05, 3 05, 4 05, 5 05, 6 05, 7 05, 8 05, 9 05, 10 05, 11 05 p. m., 12 01 a. m.

Leave Somerville at 12 01, 1 01, 2 01, 3 01, 4 01, 5 01, 6 01, 7 01, 8 01, 9 01, 10 01, 11 01 a. m., 12 01, 1 01, 2 01, 3 01, 4 01, 5 01, 6 01, 7 01, 8 01, 9 01, 10 01, 11 01 p. m., 12 01 a. m.

PLAINFIELD AND RAHWAY.

Leave Plainfield at 6 38, 8 20, 9 20, 10 20, 11 20 a. m., 12 05, 1 14, 2 05, 3 05, 4 05, 5 05, 6 05, 7 05, 8 05, 9 05, 10 05, 11 05 p. m., 12 01 a. m.

Leave Rahway at 12 01, 1 01, 2 01, 3 01, 4 01, 5 01, 6 01, 7 01, 8 01, 9 01, 10 01, 11 01 a. m., 12 01, 1 01, 2 01, 3 01, 4 01, 5 01, 6 01, 7 01, 8 01, 9 01, 10 01, 11 01 p. m., 12 01 a. m.

PLAINFIELD AND RAHWAY.

Leave Plainfield at 6 38, 8 20, 9 20, 10 20, 11 20 a. m., 12 05, 1 14, 2 05, 3 05, 4 05, 5 05, 6 05, 7 05, 8 05, 9 05, 10 05, 11 05 p. m., 12 01 a. m.

Leave Rahway at 12 01, 1 01, 2 01, 3 01, 4 01, 5 01, 6 01, 7 01, 8 01, 9 01, 10 01, 11 01 a. m., 12 01, 1 01, 2 01, 3 01, 4 01, 5 01, 6 01, 7 01, 8 01, 9 01, 10 01, 11 01 p. m., 12 01 a. m.

PLAINFIELD AND SAMPSON.

Leave Plainfield at 6 38, 8 20, 9 20, 10 20, 11 20 a. m., 12 05, 1 14, 2 05, 3 05, 4 05, 5 05, 6 05, 7 05, 8 05, 9 05, 10 05, 11 05 p. m., 12 01 a. m.

Leave Sampson at 12 01, 1 01, 2 01, 3 01, 4 01, 5 01, 6 01, 7 01, 8 01, 9 01, 10 01, 11 01 a. m., 12 01, 1 01, 2 01, 3 01, 4 01, 5 01, 6 01, 7 01, 8 01, 9 01, 10 01, 11 01 p. m., 12 01 a. m.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield at 7 35, 8 20, 9 20, 10 20, 11 20 a. m., 12 05, 1 14, 2 05, 3 05, 4 05, 5 05, 6 05, 7 05, 8 05, 9 05, 10 05, 11 05 p. m., 12 01 a. m.

Leave Lake Hopatcong at 12 01, 1 01, 2 01, 3 01, 4 01, 5 01, 6 01, 7 01, 8 01, 9 01, 10 01, 11 01 a. m., 12 01, 1 01, 2 01, 3 01, 4 01, 5 01, 6 01, 7 01, 8 01, 9 01, 10 01, 11 01 p. m., 12 01 a. m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

5 34 a. m. for Bound Brook, Somerville, Flemington, Allentown, Bethlehem, Easton, Phillipsburg, Belvidere, Delaware Water Gap, Stroudsburg, Scranton, Binghamton, Great Bend, Owego, Elmira, Corning, Bath, Hornellsville, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Suspension Bridge, Rochester, Canandaigua, Geneva, Watkins, Ithaca, Auburn, Syracuse, Utica, Rome, Oneida, Richfield Springs, Cooperstown, Sharon Springs, Schenectady, Albany, Troy, Saratoga, Lake George, Lake Champlain, Montreal, Boston, Worcester, Springfield, Hartford, New Haven, Providence, Newport, Fall River, Cape Cod, Martha's Vineyard, Nantucket, Portland, Bangor, Mount Desert, Mackinac, Detroit, Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, St. Louis, Indianapolis, Cleveland, Toledo, Canada, Pullman Sleeping Cars for Bound Brook, Easton

Science Progress

AN INTERESTING PLANT.

A Remarkable Root Growth Containing as Much Nutriment as Potatoes.

This plant, which is to be seen among other rare horticultural specimens at the World's fair, is called by botanists Testudinaria elephantoides. The former word is from testudo, a tortoise, in allusion to the resemblance of its outside root stem to that of the tortoise shell. The latter means "elephant's foot," the English name of the plant in question. The plant is a native of the arid sands of the Cape of Good Hope. Its massive protuberance of root is one of nature's methods of storing up plant food for future growth. The plant may be said to be akin to the sweet potato. While the outside is made up of such a woody mass, the inside is said to contain an eatable substance called Hottentot's bread. In its native country it will very often be found with a base 4 feet in diameter.

ELEPHANT'S FOOT PLANT.

Precautions as to this rootstalk, the growing stem is a very modest affair, leafing out in a rainy season in its native place and becoming deciduous when the dry spell comes. The flowers are inconspicuous, but the leaves are bright green and shining. The plant is rather easily grown as a greenhouse plant, according to The Prairie Farmer, authority for these statements. In cultivation of course our summers represent the rainy season of its native country, when growth begins. Toward fall, or when the plant shows signs of its leaves maturing, water has to be partially withheld until they all fall off, when water may be totally withheld until growing time comes around again.

A New Notion in Setting Gems.

The study of precious stones has suggested to the wife of an expert and sometime collector an idea for reformation in the settings of diamonds. Whether it is practicable is a question for jewelers. The proposal is that ivory should take the place of gold or silver. All wearers of diamonds are aware how troublesome is the process of washing and drying silver set diamonds so as to avoid the dingy tarnish, and a gold setting has the disadvantage of causing so much reflection of its own color as to render the whiteness of a fine diamond difficult to gauge. Not even more important would be the gain of beauty. The brilliance of gold and silver mars their charm as a setting for transparent and sparkling stones. It makes them a good setting for opaque stones and for pearls. Ivory would give the gentle effect that is now sought for by setting diamonds together with merely semi-precious stones—a combination deplorable to the expert. Ivory would have even more than the quieting effect of cat's eye or chrysoprase, and its thick, warm whiteness by the lucid and darting diamond would make an effect of great refinement. Perhaps a difficulty would be found in its comparative fragility.

Facts About Dynamite.

Very few people have a correct idea of what dynamite is, of what it is made and the uses to which it is put. The Industrial World says of it: To the French belongs the honor of its discovery and its practical use. Nitroglycerin is the force of all high explosives. Dynamite is the name most usually given to these explosives, though other names are sometimes used.

Dynamite is simply nitroglycerin mixed with various ingredients. Nitroglycerin is made by mixing sulphuric and nitric acid with sweet glycerin, the same that is used by the ladies to prevent chapped hands. Mixing the acids and glycerin is where the great danger lies in the making of nitroglycerin.

The other ingredients for making dynamite are: Nitrate of soda, which is found only in Chili; carbonate of magnesia and wood pulp.

A Candle Motor.

The curious little device here illustrated is called by Popular Science News a true heat engine, although an expensive and impracticable one. An ordinary wax or paraffin candle is balanced on two glasses by means of two pins thrust into it at right angles. The ends of the candle are previously whittled down so that the wick is exposed.

If both ends of the candle are lighted, the wax at the lower end, being more exposed to the action of the flame, will melt faster and drop into the plate placed beneath to receive it. As it melts away that side becomes the lighter and is overbalanced by the upper one, which falls in its turn until sufficient wax is melted to allow it to rise again, and thus a reciprocating or seesaw motion is produced, which continues as long as the candle burns. A couple of cardboard figures may be attached to the candle to render the experiment more entertaining, or by connecting the candle with a light wire to a paper wheel the representing motion may be changed into a rotary one, the same as in an ordinary engine.

A TRUE HEAT ENGINE.

The Whole of Good Manners.

There are two essentials to good manners—character and what we call polish. In character we must be sincere, self respecting and most of all, kind; then having these inherent characteristics, we must, by association with others and by training, learn to express our sincere and kindly feelings in the most acceptable and agreeable way. To make their appearance actually on the face and neck—just where their presence is the most conspicuous. Now, any one troubled with these unsightly blemishes should avoid bathing in cold water. Take plenty of hot baths and give the pimples a chance to come out on the body if they must come out at all. Wash the face but once a day, and then in hot water, wiping it very gently."

OPENING OF

Fall and Winter DRESS GOODS.

We have placed on sale the Largest Assortment of DRESS GOODS ever offered in this city, and the prices lower than ever, short lengths to avoid too many dresses of a kind.

WE MENTION A FEW SPECIALS.

All Wool Bengaline at 55c. yd. Regular Price 75c.
" " Novelties at 50c. yd. Regular Price 75c.
" " Henriettas at 75c. yd. Regular Price 1.00

Cashmeres, Serges, Flannels and Cloths in large variety of colors and prices. Priestley's silk warp Dress Goods.

DRESS TRIMMINGS

In plain and changeable Braids, Guimps, Braids, etc. We are still offering

Smith's Best Moquette Carpets at 98c. yd

It will be to your advantage to look at these goods if you are in need of carpets.

BLANKETS AND COMFORTABLES AT

EDSALL'S.

GOOD HEALTH

FOR STUBBORN NEURALGIA.

A New and Successful Treatment Devised by Two Belgian Doctors.

Neuralgia usually yields to the ordinary means of treatment, and the administration of opium, if the sufferer has a malarial origin, has cured many cases. Electricity also gives good results. There are, nevertheless, special cases that cannot be relieved by any of these remedies, and such sufferers will be interested in a method of treatment reported in the New York Herald's European edition as having been remarkably efficacious in the hands of two Belgian physicians, more particularly in treating neuralgia of the face.

In a very stubborn case of facial neuralgia M. Glorieux of Brussels, after having tried in vain all the forms of treatment usually given under such circumstances, conceived the idea of trying hypodermic injections of phosphate of soda and obtained a most favorable result, as the patient, who had been tortured with neuralgia for two years, was radically cured.

M. Crocq, Jr., of Brussels, who is the first to have used hypodermic injections of phosphate of soda for neuralgia, has had also excellent results from this treatment in cases that had resisted every form of medication, including electricity. For these injections M. Crocq no longer uses the solution of phosphate of soda in cherry laurel water recommended by M. Glorieux, which occasions a burning pain that is not to be left out of consideration, but a solution of the salt in slightly alcoholized, sterilized water, of which the following is the formula: Phosphate of soda, 2 grams; alcohol, 5 grams; sterilized water, 100 grams. He injects each day one cubic centimeter and does not push on to three, at which point he remains until recovery.

MM. Crocq and Glorieux are the first to admit that this treatment is no more infallible than any other and may fail completely. Nevertheless the cases of recovery seem to show that it is a most valuable resource in stubborn cases of facial neuralgia.

An Unnecessary Disfigurement.

As women grow toward middle age they are apt to allow the stomach to assume undue prominence and thus destroy the grace of their appearance. This is quite unnecessary, according to a writer in The Farm Journal, and may be avoided by the daily practice of lifting the chest and holding it well upward, drawing in the abdomen so that it line dropped from the chin touches ground when standing exactly straight and not be pushed outward. This will be troublesome and awkward at first, but will soon give a feeling of strength to the chest and shoulders and improve the bodily appearance. A decided improvement in carriage and walk might be made by walking some each day with a weight poised on the head, so that only the correct carriage of the body keeps it from falling off.

A Preventive For Pimples.

From a well known writer comes the following, which will be hailed with gratitude by any woman who is the victim of that unsightly affliction, a pimple: "I can truthfully say that this is a preventive as well a remedy, and I speak from experience as to its efficacy. As we all know, pimples

ETIQUETTE

AMENITIES OF LIFE.

A Suggestive Remark and Some Reflection Thereon.

"I was off with Toby the other day paying a visit at a country house. It was a little house and there were other guests, so Toby and I had to share one room. I was making my toilet with the lavish use of towels, which I dearly enjoy, when Toby remarked: 'I say, old chap, you ought to be a bit economical in towels and such things in a little house like this. I happen to know there is only one servant, and saving work is an object.' Toby is a trifle brusque at times, but he certainly has a comprehensive mental grasp, and his remarks set me pondering. It would be a good thing if we men were more thoughtful and considerate when we are guests in a country house.

"Men get so in the habits of hotel life that perhaps it is difficult to remember the limitations of small and modest establishment. In a hotel we always have the feeling that we are paying so much a day, and it becomes a matter of conscience with us to get full value for our money. Towels are only one of the many things in which one may be reasonable. There are many services we are accustomed to having done for us by servants at home that we can easily do for ourselves. Another point—do get up to breakfast at a reasonable hour. Your hostess may say, genially, 'Come to breakfast as late as you like,' but be sure she does not expect you to "like" to come very much after the hour at which the maid is served." This discourses Brunemel in Harper's Bazar.

Notes For October Weddings.

A wedding present is always made to the bride and should be addressed to her.

The wedding cards are sent by the parents of the bride elect, and the church and the clergyman should be of the bride elect's own choosing.

It is a little more correct, according to good authority, to offer congratulations to the man and good wishes to the girl on the opposite. probably that man is a more uncertain quantity than woman, and one hesitates to offer congratulations on his acquirement more doubtful.

For evening weddings all men wear evening dress, even when brides are in traveling or visiting costume and bonneted.

When receiving congratulations, the maid of honor stands on the left of the bride, and the best man on the right side of the groom.

The usual gifts of a groom to the ushers are scarfpins or sleeve buttons.

Bridesmaids and the maid of honor should be in readiness at least half an hour before starting from the bride's home for the church, but it is to be feared that many a bride may be disappointed in this particular respect by her fair attendants.

Tired from Head to Foot.

FROM HEAD TO FOOT.

That's what's the matter with the most of us. What's the reason? Poor circulation of the blood. Clogged with impurities of the food we have known severe cases of so called rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, weak joints, backache, headache, to vanish, or disappear in a short time by the use of Anti-Tire. Get up a good appetite, digestion active, see how quick your pains and aches will vanish. One 25ct bottle of Anti-Tire will do it. Trial size 10 cents. Sold by druggists, or mailed on receipt of price. All orders filled 12 cents for trial package.

LYONS & ENGLISH,
494 Bergen avenue,
Jersey City, N. J.

A GOOD WIFE

is a great blessing, and a good husband will look after her comforts. He can almost assure her future comfort by buying a lot which is pretty nearly, the prices are so low. The lot is situated in a beautiful and healthy neighborhood,

GIVEN AWAY

WITH EVERY

convenience for reaching stores, schools and churches quickly. Now is the grand opportunity to invest in a splendid

BUILDING LOT.

For particulars, address
"OWNER,"
care of EVENING NEWS.

Horses and Carriages,

of all kinds, for hire, at

O'BRIEN'S,

115 WEST FOURTH STREET,

or at the Depot.

Joseph T. Vail,

REAL ESTATE

and

INSURANCE.

DEALER IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING

Corner Duer and Emily Streets,

NORTH PLAINFIELD.

Pret T GOODS

For wise people, peculiarly appropriate for the season, can always be found in our repository.

We will not say that we have the best in the world, but we do say and know that the same money cannot purchase better Harness and Carriages than our patrons are rapidly making their own. It is sometimes necessary to forget what you have, but it is never the cause of wisdom to forget our school consignment of fancy traps and trappings. Save time, temper and money by purchasing of us.

L. M. FRENCH,

Carriage Manufacturer,

34, 36, 38, 40 SOMERSET STREET.

World's Fair Exhibit on Flower Pots!

OVER FOUR TONS—6,462 pounds—18 large crates—5 truck loads.

The patterns and decorations are numerous and unquiable in design. Prices range from 1½ cents for the Sip Pot to $1.25 for the double Calla Lily, the popular ones being the 3c., 6c., 9c. an 13c. sizes in the common, though we have the largest made, at 60c. Decorated Pots and Hanging Baskets range from 7c. to 25c. We are prepared to suit all, and our prices are guaranteed the lowest and quality without a fault. The wide rim and the oak leaf on the common Pots add strength and beauty, and are easily decorated. Order early, as some will have to wait.

J. C. Allen, 28 West Front St., Plainfield, N. J.

THE CURIOSITY SHOP

THE BRIDAL WREATH.

From the Classic Myrtle and the Rose to the Orange Blossom and Carnation.

No wreath has ever been so sung by poets and rhymesters as that which graces the head of the bride on her wedding day, and in most countries the myrtle is closely associated with the bridal wreath. The latter has become a symbol of true womanliness, of purity of mind and soul, and even Solomon in among those who have sung its praises. Already, in the time of the Old Testament, the Jews saw in the myrtle a sign of what, for them, was most beautiful and precious—the promised land, for which they were always longing. Later on, among the Greeks, the myrtle and the rose were considered the favorite flowers of Venus, the goddess of love, and gardens of myrtle were planted in her honor, with beds of roses. The red rose and the green myrtle representing the union of love and virtue.

Nowadays the myrtle has, however, several rivals. In England, in France and in Poland the orange blossom reigns supreme. In Italy the white rose has taken the place of the evergreen and fragrant myrtle wreath. In Spain the red rose and in Portugal the carnation have supplanted it. In many parts of Germany there are several districts in each of which a special flower from which the wreath shall be twined must in some places be taken at a fixed hour of the night between certain holy days.

In some countries or districts the veil is used without the wreath. In the province of Dalarne, in Sweden, the bride wears a white cloth round her head, and in several countries the bridal wreath has in the course of time taken the shape of a more or less elaborate headgear or wedding crown. This is the case in Norway and in several places in Germany. In Alt-enburg it takes the shape of a red velvet cap, round which run 18 silver cups, from which are suspended a number of silver and gold plates and coins. A veil and a profusion of floating silk ribbons in gay colors complete the bridal crown.

In Denmark the myrtle is universally used for bridal wreaths, together with a long white veil. Many families possess myrtle trees which have for quite a generation or more furnished the myrtle wreaths for the brides of the family.

The Woman and the Mouse.

The woman of the present day is not the coward she was once reputed to be. She sits composedly in a cab and sees the fleas come down without screaming, and can look on blood without fainting, and as a rule can face pain better than a man. But there is one thing she cannot stand, and no amount of "casting ridicule on it"—to quote Mr. Howells—will cure her. It is impossible to account for the special enmity between the woman and the mouse, unless we substitute the word mouse for serpent in the primal curse.

Mr. Howells once wrote a clever little dramatic sketch to show how a noted "platform" lady of great beauty and brilliance was completely overthrown by the "mouse idea" of a mouse. Lately we had the confession of Mrs. Nelly Cody—"the little sure shot," who is willing to stand nightly in an iron frame fitting to her body, with little glass balls hung at a quarter of an inch from her, and submit to be shot at by a loving but still human husband—that a mouse, and only a mouse, had the power of terrifying her. When will this tyranny be overpast? asks an English contemporary.

Concerning the Owl.

Not among the least attractions of the mountains of North Carolina to the yearly increasing number of summer tourists is the number of owls which exist there and which amuse by their quaint ways. The bird was taken as their emblem by the ancient Athenians, and as Athens was the great seat of Grecian learning the owl has been taken as the symbol of learning and wisdom by athenæums and other scientific institutions. Just why such an unpoetical creature as this bird, which insists on shouting all night "to-whoo, to-whoo," instead of "to whom," should be regarded as a patron of intelligence in a city like Athens is not clear, and the textbooks of the day tell us nobody knows.

But Meehan's Monthly hazards the guess that it came about from the owl being the companion of the evening girl who "burns midnight oil." The chief article that gave ancient Athens any commercial greatness was the manufacture of olive oil. It would be natural that the burning of which Athens boasted should be represented by the great companion of the midnight oil burner.

Superstitions Concerning Marriage.

Married in white,
You have chosen all right.
Married in gray,
You will go far away.
Married in red,
You will wish yourself dead.
Married in green,
Ashamed to be seen.
Married in blue,
You will always be true.
Married in pearl,
You will live in a whirl.
Married in yellow,
Ashamed of the fellow.
Married in brown,
You will live out of town.
Married in pink,
Your spirits will sink.

The Composer of a Popular Song.

The composer of the popular song, "Rock-a-by Baby," which beautifully adapts and incorporates the old and familiar lullaby, is according to the New York Times, Miss Effie L. Canning, a young girl who was born and formerly lived in Rockland, Me. She is now a resident of Boston. Her success at either verse or music making had not been especially great until by a sort of sudden inspiration she one day produced the now celebrated lullaby, whose popularity, it is a pleasure to state in the face of so many unlike instances, has been a source of much profit to the composer. Miss Canning is a tall, slender girl, with light brown eyes, full of the sympathy that finds its best expression in art.

Women Live Longer Than Men.

The well known fact that women live longer than men is illustrated as follows by an English journal: The excess of females of all ages over males of all ages in England and Wales is only about 2½ per cent (in round figures, 15,005,000 minus 50,000 to 14,000,000 plus 50,000.) But when we begin to compare women over 60 with men over 60 the female majority becomes much greater, and when we once pass 80 the old women are nearly double the old bachelors. Centenarians nearly double the male; there are 854 women over 95 to only 454 men, and 104 gunmen to 42 quiffers who own to a century.

This Date In History—Oct. 7.

1826—Charles the Simple, king of France, died.
1849—Margaret, "Maid of Norway," died at Orkney while on her way to be crowned queen of Scotland, aged 7; the future of royal succession uncertain; grand calculation.
1857—Nicholas Heinsius, eminent scholar and critic, died in Holland.
1777—Battle of Bullwater, wounding and capture of Major Ackland, whose wife, the noted Lady Ackland, nursed the American lines to assist him.
1849—Edgar Allan Poe, eccentric poet and author, died in Baltimore, aged 38.
1864—General Sterling Price began at Jefferson City his last retreat from Missouri.
1871—Beginning of the great Chicago fire; loss over $200,000,000; 17,450 people rendered homeless.
1875—Colonel Thomas Jefferson Randolph died at Charlottesville, Va.
1882—Crespo, the revolutionary leader, overthrew the Venezuelan government.

The troops of the Congo Free State will eventually stamp out slavery entirely from the continent of Africa if that state prospers. Savages, Arabs and heathen of all degrees must in time go down before the disciplined soldiers of a civilized country.

Beautiful society ladies ought to be careful about allowing their portraits to go into newspapers. In case of a deal or anything like that the beautiful picture will be mercilessly slapped into the middle of a sensation, first thing.

One of the foundation principles of Dr. Edward McGlynn's antipoverty creed is a safe one for all mankind to adopt. It is this, "Always maintain cheerfulness, as that is the essence of true religion."

The arming of all the employees on express and mail trains running out of Chicago shows that just now, when the cold weather begins, the railroad men are preparing to give robbers a warm reception.

One of the worst features of a season of hard times or public excitement is the crop of murderous cranks it always produces.

1893			OCTOBER.			1893
Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fr.	Sa.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
15	16	17	18	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26	27	28
29	30	31

MOON'S PHASES.

Third Quarter 2 10:19 p. m.
New Moon 9 2:27 p. m.
First Quarter 17 8:32 a. m.
Full Moon 25 2:12 a. m.
Third Quarter 31 5:42 p. m.

Tickets

For, or from Europe,

On

All Lines,

And all Steamers.

Drafts

Sold also.

H. D. MORRISON,

Agent,

Somerset Street.

PEACHES!

PEACHES!

PEACHES!

Following varieties: Yellow Globe, Crawford's Morris Whites, Keyport and old mixtures. Prices to suit everybody.

NEUMANN BROS.

WATCHUNG AVENUE
and FIFTH STREET.

THE TIME TO EAT!

MEAT!

is at meal time, of course, and the place to get good meat, all varieties, lowest prices and fresh, etc., is at

E. J. CONNOLLY,

No. 321 Broadway.

SMOKED MEATS AND VEGETABLES always on hand.

Hotels.

CENTRAL HOTEL,

No. 11 E. Front St.,

PLAINFIELD.

Windham & Crowley,

PROPRIETORS.

First-class bar attached.

Fourth Ward Hotel.

JOHN GOFF, Proprietor.

Boarders accommodated, both transient and permanent.

LARGE ROOMS
and
ALL MODERN IMPROVEMENTS.

Fine Wines, Liquors and CIGARS.

Corner Third and Liberty Streets.

Hotel Grenada,

NORTH AVENUE.

now open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the travelling public.

City Hotel,

Corner
PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.

Transient guests accommodated.

Eugene Hoerster,

206 Grove Street,

North Plainfield.

Wholesale Dealer

in

FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.

Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

CAREY'S

Storage Warerooms,

Corner
Front and Grove Streets,
Plainfield, N. J.

The Fall and Winter Styles in Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing are now in Stock. Overcoats of all Weights. Trousers Made to Order from $4 to $8. Suits from $15 to $30. Hats and General Furnishings. WERNER'S MAMMOTH CLOTHING HOUSE, 206 West Front Street.

FOR FALL TRADE.

THE LEADER

has received a large variety of Infants' Cloaks, Caps, Slips, Robes, Flannel and Worsted Sacks, Hoods, Flannel Skirts, all of the latest styles. Also new styles of Ladies' Wrappers, Underwear and a large variety of Comfortables, at very low prices. Make no mistake, this is the new store.

THE LEADER! M. GOLDMANN, Prop.

210 WEST FRONT STREET. (Old No. 32.)

R. W. Rice & Co.,

THE PARK GROCERS.

Corner Duer and Emily Streets,

NORTH PLAINFIELD.

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

E. W. Mundeon, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 21 Somerset street. Printing of All Kinds

$6 per Year in Advance. 10 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST, MONDAY, OCTOBER 9 1893. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Third Assembly District Convention of Union County

Pursuant to resolutions adopted by the Union County Republican Executive Committee, at a meeting held at Elizabeth, N. J., on Saturday, September 30th, 1894, and the resolution adopted at the last convention, the Republican Assembly District Convention for the Third Assembly District of Union County, will be held at Asaer Hall, in Roselle, Linden Township, on

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1893,

at 8 oo p. m.

In accordance also with the above resolutions, the Republican voters are recommended to meet in their respective wards and townships, on Thursday evening, October 19, 1893, at 7 o'clock and elect delegates to the said convention.

The ratio of representation will be one delegate to every fifty, and one for every fraction above twenty-five Republican votes cast at the last election for Assemblyman.

The number of delegates to which each ward and township is entitled, is as follows:

Clark—One delegate.

Fanwood—Two delegates.

Linden—Six delegates.

Plainfield—First Ward, seven delegates. Second Ward, seven delegates. Third Ward, six delegates. Fourth Ward, eight delegates. Fifth Ward, three delegates.

Westfield—Six delegates.

By authority of the County Executive Committee.

CHARLES N. CODDING,
Chairman of last Convention.

Republican County Convention.

The Somerset County Republican Convention is will meet in the Court House, in Somerville, on

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1893,

At 11 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for offices of Senator, Member of Assembly and Coroners and the transaction of such other business as may properly come before it.

Each township will be entitled to five delegates, who will be selected by the Republican voters of the respective townships, on Friday, the 13th day of October instant, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, excepting North Plainfield and and Bernards, where the primaries will be held at 8 o'clock in the evening, in the following places:

Bedminster—Bedminster Hotel, Bedminster.

Bernards—Doty's Hotel, Bernardsville.

Branchburgh—Codington's Hotel, North Branch.

Bridgewater—Hotel Somerset, Somerville, Franklin—Hunister's Hotel, East Millstone.

Hillsborough—Devender's store, Frankfort.

Montgomery—Harlingen Hotel, Harlingen.

North Plainfield—Basement of New School House.

Warren—Mt. Bethel Hotel, Mt. Bethel.

L. A. THOMPSON,
Chairman County Committee

Dated October 4, 1893.

TWO LADIES INJURED.

In a Runaway Accident Saturday Afternoon.

Saturday afternoon as Mrs. Willis and daughter of Westfield were on their way home from the bicycle race at the Gentlemen's Driving Park their horse ranaway on Park avenue. Both ladies were thrown out in front of the Albion. Mrs. Willis received a wound on the forehead, and her daughter was injured in the breast. They were assisted into the Hotel were Dr. Fritts rendered medical aid. Neither of the ladies was seriously injured. The horse broke loose from the wagon and ran to Front street, where it was caught. The ladies took the 7.05 train to their homes.

BREVITIES.

—An important meeting of the Crescent Wheelmen will be held in their rooms, on North avenue, to-morrow night.

—The case of Linke vs. Sullivan, of contract, which was to have been tried before Justice Mosher to day, was settled out of court.

—About eleven o'clock this morning a grocery wagon collided with a light wagon in which a lady was seated, on Park avenue. The latter's wagon was turned clear around. No damage was done.

—All men interested in mechanical drawing are requested to meet Mr. F. B. Cockburn who was one of the instructors last year, at the Y. M. C. A. rooms this evening. Mr. A. B. Clemons will meet those interested in Geometry to-morrow evening.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. E. W. Cockliss of First place is visiting friends in New York.

Master Carroll of Westervelt avenue has gone to the World's Fair.

Mr. Charles F. Dembam of Arlington avenue returned Saturday from the World's Fair.

The Rev. Dr. Enwrie and wife of Madison avenue have returned from the World's Fair.

Mrs. John Weaver and Israel Hill of Raritan were guests yesterday of Mail Carrier Foster Weaver of Orchard place.

Mr. W. B. Sharp has been appointed substitute mail carrier, and will take Mail Carrier Neighbor's place while he takes a vacation.

Mrs. John P. Emmons of Prospect place and Mrs. Peter A. Emmons of Jackson avenue start Tuesday for the World's Fair, stopping a day or so at Niagara.

Mrs. Sidney Whittemore, founder of the Door of Hope of New York and Mr. Peter Scott, a returned missionary from Africa, will speak at the First Presbyterian church to-morrow afternoon at three o'clock and at the Park Avenue Baptist church in the evening.

Foot Ball Saturday.

Leal's team (Plainfield) defeated the Finery team (Elizabeth) Saturday, Score 4-0. Captains—Abbott and Sheldon. The playing of Briggs of Leal's was noticeably good.

AROUSING THE VOTERS.

PREPARING FOR FIERCE WAR ON RACE TRACK GAMBLING.

Mass Meeting in Music Hall Yesterday Afternoon.—Speeches Made by Col. Tyler, Mr. R. V. Lindabury, Mr. Robert Moore and the Rev. Dr. Lewis.

WITHIN Music Hall a large assemblage gathered yesterday afternoon in accordance with the call issued by the Plainfield Branch of the State Citizens' League, for a mass meeting. The speakers were: President of the Plainfield Branch, Col. Mason W. Tyler, President of the State League R. V. Lindabury, Mr. Robert Moore of Elizabeth, and the Rev. Dr. A. R. Lewis. On the stage besides these, were ex-Councilman Lewis L. Miller, Councilman Stephen Gilma, the Rev. Dr. William R. Richards, Father Smythe, Father Murphy, the Rev. Mr. Goodrich, the Rev. Hobart Clarke, the Rev. Charles E. Herring, the Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Mr. Orrin A. Marsh and Mr. William M. Shillman.

Col. Mason W. Tyler was the first speaker. He said in part:

"Great cities breed crime and are the hot beds of crime. As the growth increases so do the evils grow. Weeds and vice grow more rapidly than plants and virtue.

"Coney Island is soon to have a prize fight in defiance of the law. There they are willing to pay a price for a crime which will be committed and the law openly defied. Our case of the New Jersey gamblers is similar, only they did not openly defy the law, but planned and finally stole a march on the people by getting control of the Legislature, and then making laws that would protect them. They captured our State House and therein passed laws antagonistic to the people of the State. Laws that brought profits to a few unscrupulous, desperate characters. Into a lottery. Legislation of forefathers did things by lotteries, but they were of a different fashion and were allowed to raise money for public and private institutions. They were honestly worked. But the lottery of to-day is a devilish device to rob and degrade any community. Laws were passed in every State in the Union a long time ago making it a crime punishable by a fine and imprisonment to engage in a lottery. This law was first passed in New Jersey in 1844 and had since been in vogue, making it a crime to bet on horse races.

"These race track gamblers knew they couldn't change the moral sentiment in New Jersey. Neither did they want a State of New Jersey Index, for they had heard of that. They had no desire to openly defy our law, so they captured our Legislature and made their own laws. At the present rate 10 years from now New Jersey would be the paradise of the gamblers."

The president then introduced Mr. Lindabury, who said in part:

"We are brought face to face in New Jersey with a momentous question. The greatest its people have been called upon to battle against since the Civil War. The question is: 'Shall we, or shall we not submit to be ruled by a band of gamblers and blacklegs?' The first thing is how did we get in their tolls and the next is how shall we get out.

"'Morris of the Louisiana lottery,' 'Billy' Thompson, and McLaughlin have secured a hold of every Grand Jury in the counties where the races are permitted. They also secured control of our Legislature.

"We are not governed by ourselves but by a gang of black legs and gamblers. The finger of shame is turned to ward us from all over the world. It is known from Maine to California that New Jersey was ruled the past Winter by gamblers. For years gamblers were governed by law in our State which is now governed by gamblers. Disorderly houses were subject to indictment by the Grand Jury, until last Winter, when they were legalized. The first laws made in New Jersey were against gambling, as it was claimed it was a practice leading to vice, and broke up homes. In Elizabeth there were scores of men and boys going to ruin. At last the Grand Jury indicted everybody connected with the race track there and fined them. The Judge at the same time informing them if brought before him again they would go to State prison. Two years ago the gamblers tried to secure the passage of a law legalizing racing, but Dr. Kempsell and a large delegation went down to Trenton and the result was that Gov. Abbett vetoed the bill. The next time they tried the same game 3,700 people went to Trenton and the bill died in the committee's hands. Last year with 'Billy' Thompson's starter, Mr. Flynn, in the speaker's chair, we were ignored and the laws were passed. The Constitution states that citizens shall have a right to protest, but we were denied that right by Starter Flynn. They took effect giving power to Township Committees, Boards of Freeholders, and Common Councils to arrest race track licenses. Then they secured the election of their men to these governing bodies, who would then arrest their licenses. It is bad enough to live in the State with a gang of gamblers, but it is worse to be compelled to bow down to them as our lawmakers.

"The issue at the Fall election will be race tracks vs. anti-race tracks. It is not a question of politics. I would not give much for the Democrat or Republican who votes for the party candidate whether he is a race track or anti-track man, but votes for him simply because he is his party candidate.

"People have come to New Jersey because of its good laws, good roads and good schools, but they will not long remain in a State where laws are made by 'Billy' Thompson and his gang of gamblers. Thank God that the power to control New Jersey can be regained, and it may again be governed by the people. The supreme issue should be 'Shall we save the State.' That Democrat or Republican is a coward who votes for a race track man when there are good men to vote for on the other side, and the Republican or Democratic party that shall be good men in the field who will repudiate the gamblers tickets.

"I am glad that the churches are allied with us in this work. I pray every Christian will become a missionary and go forward doing battle for God. New Jersey will come back from decay to prosperity. All must join hands in this fight against sin and vice. If, on the 8th of November next, the sun shall shine upon a State recovered from the hands of the gamblers, a shout will be heard from the corner of the church flooding high over the land and pointing to it shout 'By this banner we conquered!'"

Mr. Lindabury was frequently interrupted by applause.

Mr. Robert Moore of Elizabeth was the next speaker. His address was short, as he had to catch the train. He said he had attended the World's Congress at Chicago. While there a friend remarked to him "I feel sorry for your State." He asked him why and he replied "Ruffianism rampant in New Jersey." Mr. Moore said this was an illustration of the name New Jersey was getting.

The last speaker was the Rev. Dr. A. R. Lewis. He said that the devil's money had not bought New Jersey in a day, but that the gamblers had waited until the commonwealth was rotten and then secured control of it.

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, The Legislature of New Jersey at its recent session passed certain bills designed to legalize pool selling, bookmaking and other crimes in this State; and did them without allowing opportunity for a public hearing, and in defiance of the unmistakable protest from a number of our people, and the same bills over the Governor's veto; and

WHEREAS, this gambling is deemed contrary to public policy and forbidden by the spirit of our Constitution, and the declared policy of our State for more than the highest degree injurious to the welfare of our people; and

Therefore, We, citizens of Plainfield, Gathered in Mass Meeting on this 9th day of October, 1893, and the 117th year of the Independence of this State, and

1. That the passage of such bills, and with the Governor's veto, is a flagrant violation of one of our sacred right of petition; that it has wronged us grievously by bringing reproach on our commonwealth and by subjecting it to the contempt of the civilized world; and we protest that the will of the sovereign people of this commonwealth shall not be thus defied and trampled upon. That some other instrument which shall convey their real will and pleasure be speedily put in force, making such legislation impossible and of without shame and indignation.

2. That the present political crisis confronted by a peril more momentous even than the abolitionists of the gambling hells and the pool sellers and bookmakers who dominate all the government, and by law control it till that which was the State of New Jersey shall cease to be and shall have become the means of our further enslavement and degradation.

3. That we do therefore urge all citizens everywhere who cherish the traditions and glories of our commonwealth, and we do solemnly consecrate with each other, to put forth the utmost energy and activity in the coming fall campaign, to have dishonored it by any complicity with the gamblers, and to place in the State offices only those who may be trusted to make and to execute such laws as the public good demands.

4. In furtherance of this aim, we recommend the State Committee entrusted by the President of the Legislature.

(1.)—That all voters, at whatever cost to their personal convenience, be urged to go to the polls for as may be, the conventions of their respective political parties, and to insist upon the nomination of candidates pledged to the enforcement and repeal of the laws passed by the present and immediate previous Legislature, to which end no personal considerations will be allowed to weigh with the voters of this State in selecting candidates.

(2.)—If in any district either political party shall nominate a man who is not worthy of confidence, that the members of that party vote for the best candidate presented by the worthy of confidence in that district.

(3.)—That in any district either party shall nominate a man who is worthy of confidence, that the members of the opposite party vote for the candidate nominated by the worthy of confidence in that district.

(4.)—That in any district either party shall nominate a man who is worthy of confidence, that the members of the opposite party vote for the candidate nominated by the worthy of confidence in that district.

5. Finally in this campaign we invite the cooperation of all who regard the maintenance of the honor and integrity of the State above party. All lovers of public righteousness, who are not willing that public property should be at the mercy of any band of gamblers, whether they be Democrats or Republicans, will be welcomed and they will be highly respected that this State "shall not be governed by gamblers." For years gamblers were governed by law in our State which is now governed by gamblers. Disorderly houses were subject to indictment by the Grand Jury, until last Winter, when they were legalized. The first laws made in New Jersey were against gambling, as it was claimed it was a practice leading to vice, and broke up homes. In Elizabeth there were scores of men and boys going to ruin. At last the Grand Jury indicted everybody connected with the race track there and fined them. The Judge at the same time informing them if brought before him again they would go to State prison. Two years ago the gamblers tried to secure the passage of a law legalizing racing, but Dr. Kempsell and a large delegation went down to Trenton and the result was that Gov. Abbett vetoed the bill. The next time they tried the same game 3,700 people went to Trenton and the bill died in the committee's hands. Last year with 'Billy' Thompson's starter, Mr. Flynn, in the speaker's chair, we were ignored and the laws were passed. The Constitution states that citizens shall have a right to protest, but we were denied that right by Starter Flynn. They took effect giving power to Township Committees, Boards of Freeholders, and Common Councils to arrest race track licenses. Then they secured the election of their men to these governing bodies, who would then arrest their licenses. It is bad enough to live in the State with a gang of gamblers, but it is worse to be compelled to bow down to them as our lawmakers.

"The issue at the Fall election will be

OFFICERS ELECTED.

Annual Meeting of the Relief Association.

At the annual meeting of the Relief Association held Oct. 6 in the Y. M. C. A. Friday morning, the officers elected for the coming year were as follows:

President—Mrs. Alexander Gilbert.
Vice President—Mrs. J. Kirtland Myers.
Treasurer—Mrs. S. P. Reynolds.
Secretary—Miss Edith Allen.
Assistant Secretary—Miss Mary E. Jobs.

Board of Managers—Mrs. Rowland Cox, Mrs. D. J. Yerkes, Mrs. J. E. Tracy, Mrs. C. E. Ryder, Mrs. Lawrence Myers, Mrs. C. B. Cokefair, Mrs. W. A. Woodruff, Mrs. C. W. McCutcheon, Miss Theophilus Boyd, Mrs. D. E. Titsworth, Mrs. J. L. Slevin, Mrs. H. W. Tyler, Miss Mary Tweedy, Miss Edith Lovejoy.

The secretary's report of the year's work, showing a most excellent record, was read. It will be published in full to-morrow.

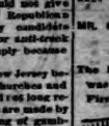
Mr. Honeyman's Last Tour.

Mr. Honeyman's last tour to the World's Fair left this morning. Those from Plainfield who went were: Mrs. John J. Gaston and the Sewanee Corps of East Ninth street; Mr. J. C. Manning of Albert street; Mrs. Eliza Parse, of Grove street. Mrs. S. C. Peck, of West Front street; Mr. and Mrs. George W. Bonnefellow, of Park avenue; Mr. J. D. Spicer of West Second street; Mrs. Emily R. Cory, of Emily street; Miss Gussie Emmons, Miss May E. Bolton, of Grove street, and Mr. Mahlon Veil.

AN INCENDIARY FIRE.

MR. GEORGE W. COLES'S HOUSE TOTALLY DESTROYED.

The Family was Away and There was no Fire in the House.—Are Fire-Bugs Around Again?



IT Set on incendiary fire destroyed the house of Mr. George W. Coles of 121 Jackson street early yesterday morning. The alarm was sent in from box 24 at about half past two o'clock by a neighbor who had been awakened by the bright reflection in his bedroom. The house was all ablaze when the firemen arrived.

The Coles family was in Brooklyn at the time. Mrs. Cole went away early last week and Mr. Cole went to Brooklyn Saturday afternoon to stay over Sunday. There was no fire in the house, and the only conclusion is that it was the work of a firebug.

There was no fire hydrant near the house, and the firemen had to pump water from the brook, back of Mr. Kinsman's property, about 1,000 feet of hose, but could be of no service as the building was too far gone when the alarm was sent in. Everything was entirely consumed.

THE RED MEN'S FOURTH ANNIVERSARY.

The Great Incohonotes of the United States Will be There.

The Minetonoma Tribe of Improved Order of Red Men of this city will celebrate their fourth anniversary with a big pow-wow and peace dance at their wigwam this evening. There will also be vocal and instrumental music, speeches and recitations.

The Great Incohonotes of the Great Council of the United States, Thomas J. Frances of Canada, and Thomas K. Fitzpatrick of Pennsylvania, Great Chief of Records Charles Cooley.

The Great Chiefs of New Jersey, Great Sachem A. A. Cunningham of Paterson, Great Senior Sagamore Charles Brown of Pualapoe, Great Junior Sagamore W. J. Forsyth of Jersey City, Great Chief of Records, Daniel M. Stevens of Camden, Great Prophet Frederick Wahl of Camden, and a host of the subordinate chiefs and representatives of several neighboring tribes.

A STATEMENT FROM THE CHILDREN'S HOME.

Exposing a Fraud and Stating a Need.

Several times during the Summer a young woman has been dishonestly making collections for the Children's Home. She represented that the money that she thus were to buy a standing desk for the matron, and later for our family nurse. Her statements were false. Early in the season, an appeal for money for the Yost family in their sickness and distress.

The people of this city should be on their guard. Any one who gives her address as "Miss Master of Raymond street" is a fraud. At a regularly called meeting of the officers on Oct. 5th it was voted to make an exact statement of our condition and needs public.

We closed our year ending May 1st with an overdraft balance of $1,088.82. Our September bill was much larger, $270.89, as it included the printing of our Annual Report, and the necessary repairs to our buildings. With the addition of the water, and sewer erecting in the rear. We began October with $400 in our treasury. Our family of children in the House, right having been received since May 1st. Our monthly expenses based upon this number will easily run over $300. We make this statement relying on the good will and generosity of our friends, whose faithfulness we have tested for sixteen years.

Donations in provisions do our officers need anyone to beg from door to door.

Any communication for the House may be sent to Miss Emma Cox, 1,000 West Front street, or to Mrs. Horace Kimball, 616 East Fifth street.

Per Order Home Association.

N. E. KINSALL.

In the City Court.

In the city court this morning the following cases were disposed of:

James Emmons, drunk and disorderly, fined $5.

Leslie Frazee, drunk and disorderly, fined $5.

James Garretson, drunk and disorderly, sentenced to twenty days in the county jail.

—The City Common Council will hold an adjourned meeting to-night.

DEATHS.

CHEEK—In this city, Saturday, October 7, 1893, Catherine M. Curtis, widow of the late Silas Curtis, and daughter of the late John Robertson of New York city.

Funeral services at her late residence 624 Central avenue, Plainfield N. J., Tuesday Oct. 10th at 2. p. m.

GADDIS—In North Plainfield, Oct. 7th, 1893. Wm. H. S. Gaddis aged 39 years, 10 months, 3 days.

Funeral services at his late residence No. 8 Somerset street, North Plainfield, Wednesday, Oct. 11th, 1893, at 2 p. m.

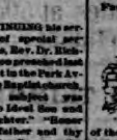
ADAMS—In this city, October 7th, 1893, John Adams, aged, 76 years, 11 years, 17 days.

Funeral from his late residence, Tuesday next eight o'clock at 2 hours and nine o'clock at St. Mary's church. Tuesday, October 10th, 1893. Friends and relatives are respectfully invited to attend.

IDEAL OFFSPRING.

REV. J. W. RICHARDSON'S IDEA OF IT, AS EXPLAINED LAST NIGHT.

In a Sermon in the Park Avenue Baptist Church, One of a Series on the Home and What Makes it.



CONTINUING his series of special sermons, Rev. Dr. Richardson preached last night in the Park Avenue Baptist church. His subject was "The Ideal Son and Daughter." "Honor thy father and thy mother," was the text found in Exodus 20:12. The speaker said in substance. "The father by a Divine right for many social reasons, is appointed the head and monarch of the home. Here in the home the first ideas of rule and order are implanted, and the child learns how to rule and rule all others. It is settled at an early period, whether they or a girl will be headmaster or duchess. Many of the unsociable habits we see in other people, found their birth in the home under parental rule. Many of the beautiful social virtues, acquired by the child under parental rule, is the seedplot, out of which comes many of the beautiful things in society. Many a grown up person who is always irritated into conversation by trivial things. That hateful disposition, which causes him to invent him to be difficult, boorish and unsociable, was learned at home. When his parents asked him to do a disagreeable thing, he would pout, or with under-lip would scowl. That woman who is constantly flying into a passion, if she cannot have her own way, or contradicted, learned it at the home. And now she is in the scourge of the neighborhood, and the plague of the church to which she belongs. By obedience to parents, young people are acquiring habits which will bless their own lives in after years. Do not get disturbed when asked to obey. If you foster such things in your heart; if you scowl and pout when asked to do anything, eventually these will become second nature, and people in the world and wife will hate your disposition. What a contemplation for high Heaven! A son attempting to decide in his father's place, or daughter to rule her mother! Everything of this kind results in depravity of the heart. Young friends if you will obey at home you will not go abroad. If you treat the commands of parents with disrespect, will be the same to others in the outside world. You may escape punishment at home; but the world will punish you. Disobedience, the world will bring the scourge upon your shoulders! We are told that "whoso pulleth down" of our best people begin their downward career by disobedience of home. Now, everybody growing up to be a man or woman, will have authority; and as soon as they are old enough to have animal courage, they think "I will be free." Disobedience there is no age wise enough to question the destiny of an individual. Every one disobedient child will be the joy of his parents; that we will go out into the world infinitely equipped for struggles of life. Therefore, obey your parents in everything which will not conflict with the laws of God. Remember, you are to govern, and bring your feelings into subjection to your parents' wishes. If you do what you know would grieve his heart.

Motorman McDowell Discharged.

Motorman McDowell has been discharged by Superintendent Adelmann of the Plainfield Street Railway Company. It seems that his car and the car driven by Motorman Leach had a race last week and neither would back out. Finally Superintendent Adelmann appeared on the scene and made McDowell back his car down. As McDowell was in the wrong he was "bounced."

—The Independent Shooting Club and their friends had a clam bake in Hyde's woods yesterday.

Sister Gertrude,

Sister Gertrude Poses for Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"We use H-O in this Hospital and are much pleased with it and its results." Give the children

H-O Hornby's Oatmeal

H-O cooks in 15 minutes. Requires no soaking. Is the most delicious and nutritious of all breakfast foods. Sold by grocers in packages only.

Trade H-O Cereal Co., New York.

WILLIS WON THE MEDAL.

BUT IT TOOK HIM TWO HOURS AND FIVE MINUTES TO DO IT.

Saturday's Race Between Cobbs and Willis—Many Bicyclists in Lovers of Good Bicycle Racing.—It was a Pace from Beginning to End.

WHEELMEN and lovers of bicycle races feel that cycling was given a set back by the race Saturday between Cobbs and Willis, which proved to be a fizzle. Three-fourths of the large audience present, left long before the race was over. The race was to decide who was entitled to the handsome gold time prize offered on August 12th by the Plainfield Lyceum Cyclers in their 25 mile race, when they tied for the medal. In that race on August 12th, the men rode the 25 miles in one hour and 17 minutes. In order to make the race of Saturday interesting, it was decided that it should be decided inside of an hour and twenty minutes. As the racers started they were told in order to get the medal they would have to ride the 25 miles in less than 1h. 20m. As neither racer objected it was thought they could.

The first and second miles were each made in a little over three minutes. Willis, in the interest of the sixth lap, got the pace, Cobbs keeping close behind. During the sixth lap, which is the fierce feature of the race began. Willis having got the pace for five laps tried hard to let Cobbs take his turn at leading. Cobbs wouldn't take the lead and neither would Willis. Then it was a race to see who could ride the slowest. Sometimes the wheels almost came to a standstill.

At intervals Willis would spurt and get a hot pace for a lap or two, but as soon as he waited for Cobbs to do his part and lead for awhile, the race seemed a trial to see which could ride the slowest.

For several laps Linen, Cummings, Sorrell, Brown and Kiely acted as pacemakers for the racers. They soon (wearied) of this and the "record breakers" (for slow riding) were left to themselves.

Instead of riding the race in 1.17, the original time made when they tied, Cobbs and Willis took over two hours to decide the contest. They kept even until the last quarter of the sixth lap, when they spurted. Willis crossed the line first, about the length of his wheel in advance of Cobbs.

The judges, Messrs. Craig A. Marsh, John McCrane and Richard Heven, awarded Willis the medal.

The fastest time made was a mile in 3.2, when Linen and Cummings paced them, the latter of whom rode the last mile in 3.12. The race began at 3.30 and finished at 5.41, making the exact time 2 hours and 5 minutes.

THE VIGILANT WINS THE SECOND RACE.

New York, Oct. 9.—The Valkyrie "got over the line first by five seconds on the second race. The start was made at 11.25. At 11.28 she was three boat lengths ahead.

A Strong Wind Blowing.

At 11.56—The wind has freshened to twenty-three miles an hour, and Keith yachts seemingly have plenty of it.

New York, Sept. 9.—2.07 p. m. The Vigilant is nine minutes ahead, fully a mile and a half, and on the last lap.

The Vigilant finished at 3.02 with the Valkyrie three miles behind. Vigilant's time 3.57.05.

Herreshoff for American's great yacht!

The Valkyrie finished at 3.03. Time, 3.53.

A Crowd and Reasonable Act.

As a steam load of Plainfielders were returning from the bicycle race Saturday afternoon, a crowd of boys were following them. The driver of the steam lumped off and ran back and cut a little boy about eight or nine years old unmercifully with his whip. The little fellow was knocked down, and as he lay writhing and crying in the street. The driver said the boy had been stealing a ride.

Fun! FUN! Fun!

"Let no INNOCENT Man Escape" the

MOCK COURT TRIAL,

of the Newton Entertainment Bureau, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A.,

MUSIC HALL!

Monday Ev'g, Oct. 16,

Court called at 8 p. m.

The fun-provoking entertainment will be according to the rules of a regular

Court of Justice!

Clerk—Larceny of a "Plymouth Rock" Rooster.

Complainant—Mayor Gilbert.

Defendant—Mayor Saunders.

Pleading A. Marsh and Capt. A. V. Newton, prosecute and defend.

Judge—Rowland Cox.

Hear the

OPENING OF THE COURT,

LUDICROUS EMPANELLING OF THE JURY,

TESTIMONY OF THE WITNESSES,

ARGUMENTS OF THE LAWYERS,

CHARGE OF THE JUDGE,

ETC.

Reserved seats for sale at Leggett's Flag store, on and after Monday morning, Oct 9th, at seven o'clock.

Prices, 50c., 75c. and $1.

Do You?

Intend to invest in a

WHEEL?

If so, call on

Dickinson,

The Opticlan.

Agent for the Excelsior, the best wheel for the market. 4 weights, 28, 30, 32 and 34 lbs. Wheels to hire at reasonable rates.

Now is Your Chance.

GRAND CLOTHING OPENING, at our retail store, 218 West Front street. Are you ready? We are prepared to offer the public a clean, fresh stock of Fall and Winter Clothing, for Men, Boys and Children. Remember, we sell at retail at the wholesale prices.

C. SCHEPFLIN & CO.,

218 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

59c. SALE! 59c.
59c. of 59c.
59c. KID GLOVES! 59c.
59c. 4-button length, tan, modes, brown and black, all sizes, 5½ to 7½. 59c.

GEO. L. VAN EMBURGH & SON.

FRONT STREET, OPPOSITE PARK AVENUE UNDER THE BANK.

EDITORIAL NOTES

A Correspondent's Death.

Slight impression does the newspaper correspondent make personally on mankind. The public reads his letters, criticises them or is pleased with them and beyond that cares little enough whether the writer be old or young, black or white, man or woman, beautiful or hideous. He is mostly as impersonal as the editorial page of his own newspaper. Even the journals themselves pay little attention when one of those who helps to build them up drops out of life. Unless it be a world famous editor in chief or a millionaire proprietor, the death of anybody connected with the making of a newspaper excites not a ripple upon the current of public interest.

A grim illustration of this is found in the case of the going out of Lucy Hamilton Hooper, for 18 years an American correspondent in Paris and one of the best known in the newspaper world. Like the soldier in battle, she died at her post. Her last newspaper letter to the Philadelphia Telegraph was dictated after her own hand had become too weak to hold the pen, just before the pause behind the curtain, and in the full knowledge that her eyes were about to close on this world forever. Pathetic beyond description are the following words:

And now, my kind and patient readers, I must stop and lay down the pen forever. By the time you receive this letter my author, who has dictated them to her amanuensis and dear daughter, will be beyond the stars. In January I would have celebrated my silver wedding with professional literature, but the fates have decided it otherwise, and I must say farewell. Other engagements have been contemplated, but The Evening Telegraph has been constant for 18 years, during which time I have written a weekly letter to my absent lover. It was always a vision of mine to return some day to my own dear native city, Philadelphia, to see old friends and old places, but like many other aspirations in this world that one was doomed not to be realized.

To my dear and loyal and firm friend, Mr. Warburton, whose kindness to me and mine has been unfailing and unlimited; to my many friends in Philadelphia and to the many people who have read my letters, and though not acquainted with me personally have written me kind letters and spoken of me kindly; to my dear old home I say farewell. Every one has been very kind to me, and mine has been a happy life. But it is ended now, and like Tiny Tim in the "Christmas Carol" I can only say, "God bless us every one."

Preventing Labor Riots.

In Philadelphia 121,000 families own their homes. In New York, with 700,000 more inhabitants, only 30,000 families live in their own houses. Philadelphia has 120,000 more buildings than New York. These figures tell their own story. Eighty-three per cent of the people of New York live in tenement houses and flats; in Philadelphia only 18 per cent. The buildings included in the high figures for Philadelphia are mostly homes, the majority of them the homes of working people.

Cincinnati is similar to Philadelphia in the large number of houses compared to the population, and in Cincinnati and Philadelphia there have been no labor riots. Cincinnati can boast of Cincinnati that during the present hard times not a bank there failed.

The Philadelphia Times draws the moral of the story, and it is one well worth heeding. The Times says:

The peaceful attitude of unemployed workmen in Philadelphia, Cincinnati and St. Louis as compared with the same class in New York, Chicago and Denver is sound and practical argument in favor of owning a home as a citizen. With no property rights or privileges to worry about, the great mass of humanity excelling in crowded quarters like the tenement system have nothing at stake when they enter the ranks of hundred dollar demonstrations. Speaking of these lately witnessed in New York and Chicago could not occur or would be small risk of their occurring in this city.

Building associations are largely responsible for this peaceful solution of the labor question. The unemployed in Philadelphia are capitalists likely to become just as much alarmed over their investment of hundreds and thousands as the greater capitalists are the millions. This brings about the even flow of temper so nothing else would do.

The government life insurance systems that have been adopted in England and Germany are not a shining success. In England the system covers only the postoffice employees and is voluntary, the employee becoming insured or not, as he likes. The report is that the number of those insuring declines year by year, and that the plan is a failure. One of the schemes for compulsory insurance in England was rejected by the committee appointed to investigate it for the following reason: "It might seriously impair that education in thrift and training in business which has been brought about by the building up and management of their own associations for self-help by the working classes, the value of which to the nation it is almost impossible to exaggerate." Under the compulsory life insurance law in Germany a wage earning person whose age is over 16, and whose income is not more than $300 a year, must become insured. He pays part of the insurance and his employer a part. A report prepared by an English insurance official who investigated it pronounces the German compulsory plan "a coercive interference with individual liberty and a serious restraint upon a free and original expansion of national life."

A bandmaster in Germany was sentenced three months for calling Emperor William a "flour sack," which we are told means the same in American slang as "cruff." But what would Billy have done to the bandmaster if he had called him a "stuffed prophet"?

According to the latest judgments of British physicians, the bacillus aspergillus fumigatus is the cause of the grip. No wonder it is so bad.

THE YACHTS WANT WIND

The Second Race in the International Yachting Contest.

HOW THE ENGLISH TOOK DEFEAT.

The Valkyrie People Not Disheartened, but Anxious For Another Trial.—A Triangular Course Laid Out For Today's Test. Another Postponement Possible.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—The second battle between the big single stickers, the Vigilant and the Valkyrie, for the America's cup and the honor of the yachtsmen of two nations is scheduled for today. The early morning prospects for a race were not very promising. The Englishmen were not up as early as down by their defeat on Saturday, nor are the Americans unduly elated at the result of the race. Yachts and crews are in good conditions. The course is a triangular one, and such a course is especially adapted to bring out the qualities of the yachts. It is to be 30 miles of running, 30 miles of reaching and 30 miles of windward work.

Fog Would Postpone It.

The start is from the Sandy Hook light ship, and all the sailing will be on the open sea. If it is decided that it is too foggy or that there is not wind enough, the regatta committee of the New York Yacht club has it in its discretion to postpone the race. Sunday the yachts and yachtsmen rested, and the Vigilant and Valkyrie lay at anchor side by side off the yacht club's house at Bay Ridge.

In looking over the race of Saturday and analyzing it, it seems that the gain of 20 seconds that the Valkyrie made in the close reach going home was more apparent than real, for the Vigilant, in standing so far toward the Jersey shore looking for wind, sailed a longer course than the Valkyrie, and by so doing probably lost fully 20 seconds, which the Valkyrie gained in the official time.

Admiral Belknap, admiral of the Corinthian Yacht club of New York, gave a dinner Sunday night on board his steam yacht Dauntless to C. L. Watson, the Valkyrie's designer.

Martin Lyons, the pilot of the Valkyrie, is not at all cast down by the results of Saturday's race. He says a hot he honestly believes the Valkyrie the faster boat and can win the cup. He also urges that the excursion steamers should keep farther away from the yachts.

Mr. Kerr, Lord Dunraven's brother-in-law, who sails on the Vigilant as representative of the Royal Yacht squadron, also spoke of the way in which the excursion boats hung about the racers and hoped they would not do so hereafter.

Mr. Watson, who is with the boat for the race of Saturday any test of the relative merits of the two vessels any more than Thursday's attempted race. Mr. Herreshoff thought that the Vigilant certainly shown herself superior to the Valkyrie in light winds.

English Comments on the Race.

One of the first things that was done when the Dunraven party reached New York Saturday night was to send the following brief but pointed telegram:

To the Royal Yacht Squadron, Ryde, Isle of Wight:

Lost. Fluky reaching.

That told the story to the British club as plainly as a hundred words would have done. Among those who will see the race today are Lieutenant Henn of the Galatea, Hon. James Asbury of London, General Paine and Malcom Forbes of Boston, the Duke of Alba and a large party of German and French visitors returning from the World's fair.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—The Times says editorially of the yacht race of New York Saturday: "Vigilant's victory was fairly earned and doubtless raises the presumption that she will win three out of the five races. Still Valkyrie is not beaten yet. She had little chance of displaying her best points of sailing. Had the wind held true the world have had a fine opportunity of showing her merits. Making excuses for the vanquished, however, is not a popular office, and doubtless there are many who will answer that fickle breezes are an essential condition of yacht racing. Moreover, we have no idea of disparaging the merits of Vigilant's triumph."

The Standard says: "The race proves little more than did Thursday's which yacht is the speedier."

The Daily News says: "It would be idle to deny that the result of the race is disappointing, but it will not bring a bitterness of feeling to anybody. The Valkyrie's behavior on the homeward course serves to diminish the extent of the disaster and warrants the best hopes for the result of the next race."

John McCray, J. Rogers Maxwell, Charles Moore, Colonel A. D. Beard and Commodore R. F. Sutton will give a dinner to Designer Watson at the Meadow club, Rockaway, tomorrow night. Among the guests will be Robert Wiley of the Royal Clyde Yacht club, who represented the Scottish Thistle in the unsuccessful attempt to lift the cup races in 1887. Lord Wolverton and Colonel Pagot, who are to sail on the Valkyrie in today's race, arrived last night at the Atlantic Yacht club, while Mr. Iselin and his friends remained on the Vigilant.

General Charles J. Paine of Boston, who is to be seen watching the yacht races, was at the New York Yacht club yesterday, but declined to enter into any discussion of the matter.

It is said that if the Lord Dunraven fails to win the cup with the Valkyrie another boat will be built and another challenge issued next year.

Tortured an Aged Prostitute.

OIL CITY, Oct. 9.—H. D. Matson, an old gas prospector, was visited by robbers. They masked men tied him in a chair and tortured him with burning brands to get him to say where his money was concealed.

Burglars Stole Guns and Revolvers.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Oct. 9.—Burglars entered the hardware store of C. E. Dunham at Bound Brook, and got off with about $50 worth of guns and revolvers.

Train Struck an Epileptic Cow.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 9.—A passenger train struck a Mount Auburn electric car near Elmwood, instantly killing Louis Case, the motorman.

A Cheatham Treasurer Stealing Again.

TUSKALOOSA, A. T., Oct. 9.—Treasurer McCurtin of the Choctaw nation is said to be short over $100,000 and has fled.

Connecticut People at the Fair.

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—Governor Morris of Connecticut, with his staff and 60 invited guests, has arrived.

Bridge Works Will Start Again.

PITTSTON, Pa., Oct. 9.—The Pulaski-ville bridge works start up today on double time.

A SUSPECTED CHOLERA SHIP.

Steamer From Hamburg Reaches New York With Fifty Deaths and 50 Cases of Illness.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—The steamship Normannia, from Hamburg, detained at Quarantine, reported 50 deaths during the voyage. Two of the deaths were of cholera. Suspected steerage passengers were also detained in the steerage. The deaths were all said to have been due to natural causes, but Dr. Jenkins decided to detain the vessel, disinfect the baggage and take every precaution to prevent disease.

The ship belongs to the Hamburg-American Packet company. She left Hamburg Sept. 24 with a clean bill of health, signed by the Mate of the United States Consular service, who is stationed at that port to see that steerage passengers are quarantined five days and their baggage disinfected before they embark for this country.

Captain G. Schmidt is in charge. She has 12 first cabin, 28 second cabin and 410 steerage passengers. When the Russia dropped anchor, Dr. Sanborn, the boarding officer, went on board and learned from Dr. Hoffman, the ship's surgeon, that there had been 50 deaths during the voyage. The other cases of illness, some of which had not yet recovered. There were two ship's surgeons on the vessel and a doctor among the passengers.

A boy named Charles Stubbs, who is convalescent, was taken to Swinburne island, and his father and mother were taken along as suspects. This particular family is regarded with suspicion, as of five members three have been sick and two died on the voyage. They were detained in quarantine in Hamburg and that all articles of food which they brought with them were taken away from them.

Dr. Jenkins said that he would not express any opinion as to the cause of death of the passengers who died on the Russia until a biological examination had been made.

No apprehension is felt here in regard to the danger of cholera getting in, even should such be the case, as the Valkyrie, and by so doing probably lost fully 20 seconds, which the Valkyrie gained in the official time.

Her passengers are a happy lot of people, mostly Germans, and there is panic among them. The ship is capable of accommodating 1,000 people and has only half that number on board.

Dr. Jenkins states that he will probably remove the passengers to Hoffman island in the lower bay early today, when they will be detained five days. Their baggage will be disinfected and every precaution taken.

A NOVEL FIGHT.

Railroad Employees Driven Off by a Stream From a Chemical Engine.

ALTOONA, Pa., Oct. 9.—Quite a lively fight is on between the Pennsylvania Railroad company and the little borough of Hollwood, seven miles east of this place. The borough has for some time past been engaged in laying a waterpipe line into the town and through the streets, and at present the work is about complete, with the exception of crossing the connecting link under the tracks of the railroad.

This the borough authorities attempted to do, but the railroad company set a gang of men to work to prevent the trenches being cut through the tracks and running a tunnel under the tracks, which they intended filling with water.

The borough authorities attempted to run their pipes through this tunnel, but the railroad men commenced filling their uncompleted trenches with cinders, when the borough fire company with a chemical engine arrived and commenced playing upon the railroad employees, driving them away from their work.

The latter flourished revolvers and stones flew as thick as hail, but no one was hurt with the exception of Borough Engineer Geiselman, who was struck on the head by a large stone and quite seriously injured. Near midnight Chief Burgess Sher notified the railroad people to quit work and also notified the railroad employees that any of them did a single stroke of work at that place during the hours of Sunday arrests would at once follow. This brought hostilities to a close, but they will probably be resumed today.

Supposed to Be Editor Kershaw.

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—What promises to develop into a sensational suicide occurred on the suburban tracks at the foot of Monroe street. From papers found on the suicide's body he is believed to be Henry Kershaw, editor of the New Orleans Commercial. The police saw a well dressed man standing near the railroad tracks. A long Michigan Central train was coming. In, and when the engine was within a few yards of where he stood he ran forward a few paces and throwing himself upon the cow catcher, placed his neck across one of the rails. In an instant his head was severed from his body.

Stonebraker's Offer to Bismarck.

BERLIN, Oct. 9.—Before leaving Kissingen Prince Bismarck received a dispatch from Hiring Stonebraker of Troy, offering him for a trifling residence the royal castle at Capodi Monte near Naples. Bismarck, although declining the offer, expressed himself as greatly touched by the kingly kindness.

A Royal Wedding Gift.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—At St. James' palace the lord mayor presented to the Duke and Duchess of York on their wedding a gift of a service of plate and a diamond and pearl collarette. The service consists of 1,200 pieces and contains nearly 5,000 ounces of silver.

Will Take the Viking Home.

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—It has been decided that the Viking is to leave Chicago by way of the canal into the Illinois river, passing Lockport and New Orleans and proceeding around the coast to Boston, where she will arrive next spring.

Mock Tobacco Burned.

STRATTON, Oct. 9.—The large tobacco warehouse in the adjacent town of Jordan, owned by Jacob Warner, containing about 300 cases of tobacco, was totally destroyed by fire.

A Cycling Priest.

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 9.—Father Higgins, provincial of the Dominican Order in America, left Louisville 12 hours on a cycle, breaking the state record.

Found Hanging in the Smokehouse.

MILFORD, Del., Oct. 9.—The wife of John Henry Dempsy, a prominent farmer, was found hanging in the smokehouse with a halter around her neck.

Mrs. Lispenard Stewart's Funeral.

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 9.—The funeral of Mrs. Lispenard Stewart will be held in New York Tuesday. No services were held here.

Marshal MacMahon Dangerously Ill.

PARIS, Oct. 9.—The condition of Marshal MacMahon, Duke of Magenta, is now believed to be dangerous.

NOT SURE OF A VOTE YET.

An Attempt Will be Made This Week, Though, In the Senate.

BOTH SIDES ARE WAITING TACTICS.

The Debate on the Election Repeal Bill in the House Closes Today, and Then the Voting Begins.—The Gorey Letter Causing Some Consternation.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—It is the common expectation that the first week—or part of the extra session of congress, will mark an important epoch in the history of the congress. In both houses legislation of the most vital character is under consideration—in the senate the silver repeal bill and in the house the bill to repeal the federal election laws—and it is believed that in both cases the week will make a notable advance toward a conclusion.

According to the present arrangement, Mr. McPherson of New Jersey is to close up the debate in the senate today. He has been an earnest listener to most of the speeches that have been delivered in the repealing bill, and his own speech will be in the nature of a reply to a number of the points made by the silver men. Probably Senator Martin of Kansas and Senator Cockrell of Missouri will follow Mr. McPherson.

The Struggle on Wednesday.

Wednesday the crucial test is to be made—that is, if a sufficient number of senators can be induced to stay in the city. Special summons to insure the attendance of a quorum. In that case the effort will be made to bring the silver repeal bill to a final vote by sitting continuously, the purpose being to tire out the opponents of the bill.

If the plans of the repealers are successful, the bill will probably come to a vote before the close of the week. But if the silver men succeed in the attempt to break a quorum, and there is no improvement at any stage of the proceedings they are confident that the senate will be obliged to pass a compromise measure or allow the entire repeal bill to go over.

After the bill to repeal the federal election laws has been disposed of in the house, as under the pending order, it will be on the 16th inst., Mr. Gorey will call the McCrary bill to amend and modify the Geary Chinese registration and restriction act will be given the right of way. When this bill was reported, the committee asked that two days be allotted to a discussion of the measure and that then a vote be taken on its passage. The committee on rules has not yet decided upon the terms of an order, inasmuch as Representative Geary has expressed a desire for more time for the consideration of the bill, and Representative Oates desires to bring up the bankruptcy bill reported to the house last week, but prefers postponing consideration until the 16th inst., rather than on either August 21 or the close of the week; so it is possible that Mr. Geary will get an additional day for the Chinese bill.

This would bring it to a vote on Friday, and the house may then adjourn over Saturday. But nothing definite has yet been determined upon any of these matters.

Election Bill Debate Closes Today.

The bill to authorize the New York and New Jersey Bridge company to build a bridge over the Hudson at New York is another measure likely to be called up at any time.

As to the election bill, the Democratic caucus called for tonight will decide whether the Tucker bill or the Hitt bill best represents the views of the Democratic party on the subject and shall be passed. The debate will close with today's session. For the Republicans, Messrs. Dolliver and Hitt will speak, and for the Democrats, Mr. Burrows. For the Democrats, Messrs. Fitch and Fellows of New York and Mr. Tucker, author of the pending measure, will speak, the latter having the close.

A fear has been expressed that there will not be enough Democratic representatives present to make a quorum, but Governor Boutwell says the bill, but the managers say that the absentees left the city intending to return on that day, and they confidently expect that the roll call will show a majority of the house for the passage of the bill. Even if the Republicans, as it has been reported is their intention, do not vote, the Republicans will support the bill, the repeal of the federal election laws being one of the demands of their platform.

Rich Jewish Exiles Coming to America.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9.—Father H. Grippho Honchenarz, a Russian exile, known as the "Apostle of Siberia," has received official authority for the statement that 22,000 Russian Jews, all men of wealth, have been exiled by the czar and are coming to America. They will be the opposite of the Chinese, the proportion of them intend to settle on the Pacific coast.

Dr. Bartsell Goes to Europe.

ROSBOOTT, N. Y., Oct. 9.—The Rev. Richard Lalor Bartsell, D. D., is about to leave for Rome. This announcement was made at the close of the services here on St. Mary's church, greatly to the surprise of the large congregation which was present. He added that he had not been summoned, but was going of his own volition.

A Death For the Manufacturer.

BERLIN, Oct. 9.—As the town council has refused to improve the Canstatt square so as to provide a playground for the company's sons, he has decided to limit his residence in Berlin to the period required by official necessity.

Eight Lake Fishermen Lost.

DEER PARK, Mich., Oct. 9.—A disaster on Lake Superior, by which not less than eight lives were lost, came to light when a lifeboat fashioned from a barrel was picked up by the crew of the Muskallong life saving station.

To Investigate Prisons.

JERSEY CITY, Oct. 9.—The ministers of the various churches of this city have decided to form a moral reform society, the object of which is to purify politics.

Yellow Jack Attacks a Policeman.

BRUNSWICK, Ga., Oct. 9.—Yellow Jack is striking the people right and left. Alex Pritchard, a policeman, was stricken while walking his beat.

Thirty-two New Cases of Fever.

SAVANNAH, Oct. 9.—Thirty-two new cases of yellow fever were reported by the board of health of Brunswick, only three of which are whites.

A Big Lumber Mill Burned.

HANOVER, N. H., Oct. 9.—The Norwich Shook and Lumber company's steam mill at Norwich, Vt., was burned.

Cornell's Anniversary Celebration.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 9.—The exercises celebrating Cornell university's anniversary were continued.

Hood's Cures

MR. C. H. HERROD

It Can't Be Beaten.

"We think that Hood's Sarsaparilla can not be beaten. It has done wonders for us. We have used it with excellent results, and speak from experience on the side of her head. We were told it would take months, perhaps a year to cure it, but one bottle did it."—C. H. HERROD, Gibbon, Carroll County, Iowa.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Hood's Pills cure all Liver Ills. Biliousness, Jaundice, Indigestion, Sick Headache. 25c.

JOSEPH SOHL,

PRACTICAL

Electrician

9 NORTH AVENUE.

Plainfield, N. J.

Estimates furnished on Electric Light Wiring, Burglar Alarm and Bell Work and repairing of same. Dealer in

Electric and Gas Fixtures.

Madame Iza Lezem's Conservatory

will open on

Friday, October 6,

from 2 to 6 p. m., in HULETT'S HALL, for instruction in Physical Culture, Libretto, Elocution, Department, Singing, Violin, Piano, Society and Fancy Dancing.

Reception on October 2, from 2 to 5 p. m., to which all ladies are cordially invited.

For particulars, address to the Hall, or 329 West Front street. 10 2 tf

The only place to buy

Sea Food!

is at

TERRY'S

North Avenue Sea Food Market,

where you will find the biggest Shad in Plainfield. Also, all other kinds in season, at the lowest prices.

OPENING

of Fall and Winter

Millinery and Jackets,

Wednesday, Thursday and Friday,

SEPTEMBER 13, 14 AND 15.

Having re-leased and greatly enlarged our Millinery Department, we are, this season, enabled to show our patrons the finest lines Millinery ever had to some in the State, and at New York (fifty prices. Our Trimming Department will be under the supervision of Miss Carrie Keeler, a thorough artist and trimmer, gives such entire satisfaction last season. We will also open an elegant line of Hats and Caps for Ladies, Misses and Children.

Boehm's.

A. W. Rand,

140 WEST FRONT STREET.

New and second hand

SCHOOL - BOOKS.

School supplies of all kinds.

Those wishing to exchange second hand books would bring them in immediately.

Educational.

HARNED ACADEMY.

BOARDING AND DAY SCHOOL.

New School Buildings,
Competent Instructors,
Students Prepared for College,
For Business, and
In Special Subjects.

For circulars, address "Harned Academy, Plainfield, N. J.

Plainfield Manual Training School,

300 EAST FRONT STREET.

The course of study includes fifteen lessons each week in the various branches taught. Children from the primary grades to our senior Classes in any of the branches can be taken readily, at convenient hours. For circulars call at the school building or address Principal, Miss K. R. KENYON, Plainfield.

Plainfield Seminary,

re-opened

SEPTEMBER 14, 1893.

(20th year.)

MISS K. R. KENYON, Principal.

FRENCH LESSONS.

Mlle. Jeanneret will receive a limited number of pupils for instruction in French Literature. Class for beginners will meet on Tuesday and Friday afternoons, at 4 o'clock. Private lessons by appointment. Address Mlle. Jeanneret, 329 West Front street, Plainfield, N. J. Mlle. Jeanneret will be at home from 2 to 4 p. m. Tuesdays and Fridays. Those wishing to join a class or have private lessons, will please call at that time.

MME. FAWCETT'S

School of Shorthand, Typewriting and Interpretation School, 27 Montague street, Brooklyn. French, Music, Drawing, Calisthenics. An opportunity to join a class in shorthand at 50 cents per week. Private lessons by the school. Address Montague street, Brooklyn.

MME. JEANNERET-MATTHEON,

Teacher of Piano. Given lessons at her residence, 329 West Front street. Will be at home every Tuesday and Friday afternoon, from 2 to 4 o'clock. Lessons begin to-day (Tuesday), Sept. 26. Rest of week by appointment.

GERMAN SCHOOL.

Corner Grove street and Mercer avenue, to open on Saturday, September 16, at 10 o'clock a. m. Rev. L. Klenke. 9 2 1m.

Are You Insured?

If you are 21 years old $66.40 paid annually for fifteen years would entitle you to $1,000.
If 22 years old, $67.
If 23 years old, $67.10.
If 24 years old, $67.20.

This sum of $1,000 is payable to the insured, if living, at the expiration of fifteen years, or at his death if prior.

FOR A LIFE POLICY, of $1,000 the annual payments to continue during life, the payments for young men between 21 and 24 are between $18.80 and $20.

For catalogues and further particulars address Henry D. Moore, 11 Stewart building, Newark, N. J., or THE NEW YORK MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

F. M. HULETT,

MUSIC DEALER,

74 West Front Street,

handles the following makes:

Gildemeister & Kroeger,
Kranich & Bach,
Sohmer,
Mathiot,
Jacob Bros. Pianos,
and the world-renowned
Newman Bros. and Mason & Hamlin Organs.

New : Proprietor!

HENRY F. WINDHAM,

Arlington : Hotel!

Somerset street and Greenbrook road.

Regular and transient boarders.
First-class bar and stables attached.

Van Eps,

THE NEW JEWELER.

18 Park Avenue. Also a large variety of Musical Goods.

$55!

Six Days at the World's Fair.

A WEEK OF HOLIDAYS.

Railroad tickets, hotel accommodations, admission tickets, and eleven attractive features provided, including carriage excursions.

To school, church, military, musical and other CLUBS, to parties of congenial friends, to couples and lovers, to families, ladies' bodies and ledges, we offer special advantages.

Comfort and luxury at a minimum of cost.

We have exclusive arrangements with the great railways terminal in Chicago.

Send for circulars, or submit an itinerary, and we will give you prices.

WORLD'S COLUMBIAN TOURIST COMPANY,

239 Broadway, New York.

GEORGE C. MCEWEN,
Agent for New Jersey,
491 broad street, Newark.

THE BEE HIVE!

Infants' long Cashmere Cloaks, $1.50, $2.00, $2.25.
Children's Elder Gown Coats, $1.45, $2.00, $2.25.
Also a full line of Flannel Skirts, Infants Shawls and Hosiery.

Fall : Underwear.

Children's merino Vests and Pants, 10-inch, 12c., 14-inch, 16c., 16-inch, 19c., 20-inch, 22c., 24-inch, 25c.

Children's natural wool Vests and Pants, 16-inch, 25c., 18-inch, 25c., 20-inch, 30c., 22-inch, 35c., 24-inch, 40c.

SPECIAL!

Ladies' Ribbed Vests, long sleeves, 21c.
Ladies' Merino Vests, 25c., 30c. and 50c.
Ladies' Merino Pants, 25c., 50c. and $1.00.
Ladies' Natural Wool Vests, 50c.
Men's White Merino Shirts and Drawers, 50c. and $1.00.
Men's Natural Wool Shirts and Drawers 75c. and $1.00.
Men's Camel's Hair Shirts and Drawers, 75c., $1.00 and $1.25.

Louis Callman,

329 West Front Street.

The New Address

of Seguine's Livery Stable

is 18 West Second

Street,

in the Elkwood building.

Telephone Call, 36?

Fine horses, carriages, vehicles of all kinds. Horses boarded. Careful drivers.

Cleaner Coal!

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't,

BROADWAY, COR. FOURTH STREET,

invites the public to inspect the operations of his newly added coal sheds, which are filled all seasons for our coal, which he confidently believes enables him to deliver cleaner coal than is possible by any other method of screening.

UPPER LEHIGH AND DORRANCE COAL in two qualities and various sizes carried in stock.

SLOSS AND DARBED LUMBER.

He would also announce recently increased facilities for STORING and SELLING of all sorts of hay, and is prepared to execute orders for the same in the best manner at short notice.

Miscellaneous Cards.

H. E. SPENCER,

General Agent for Insurance, 70 and 72 Broad street, Newark. Every other evening, 7 years old, 7 years old, 7 years old

STORM SURVIVORS STARVING

The Marshes, Full of Dead Bodies, Threaten to Bring a Plague.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 9.—The negro from every section stricken by the storm makes it safe to estimate the loss of life at fully 2,000, while millions of dollars' worth of property was destroyed. Besides that, thousands of the unfortunates are deprived of the means of making a livelihood. The situation is appalling; but New Orleans is doing all it can to succor the thousands in want. Dr. Stagg, coroner of Plaquemine parish, has made the following report:

"A good many carloads of provisions and clothing have been sent, but that enough. Men, women and children are without food and clothing. They have become so desperate that they have threatened to attack the stores and steal food. It is a frightful thing to see little sufferers crying and begging piteously for something to eat. Single graves for the dead were impossible. Great trenches were dug, and the bodies were piled in one on top of the other.

"The earth was thrown over them, and if their names were ascertained they were cut in the trunks above the graves. And I believe firmly that the marshes and other places are filled with human forms. It is impossible to get at these, however, as no one is adventurous enough to explore the swamps. There can be no doubt of the fact that this is conducive to an epidemic of fever or even cholera. If one case of the latter disease should develop, it would spread through the country like wildfire, but nothing can be done to prevent this."

The relief party which set out from this point tells an awful story of the destitution and loss of life in the Louisiana marshes. The marshes are filled with dead and putrefying bodies, in every few cases the corpses being recognizable. The number of lives lost on these marshes will never be known. The territory covered was a distance of 200 miles.

A PLAGUE OF WHITE CAPS.

The Regulators Again Break Out In Louisiana.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 9.—Louisiana is again terrorized by regulators, and in many parts of the state the people are calling for a special meeting of the legislature to cope with them unless Governor Foster takes immediate steps to suppress the outrages. The Jefferson investigation ended in a farce, and none of those implicated in the lynching of Dulsens has been indicted.

J. R. Ringgold of Catahoula parish, and editor of The Louisiana Democrat, reached the city, bringing news of the appearance of white capism in Catahoula parish, a part of Caldwell and the eastern part of Grant. Gunhouses throughout that section have been plastered with notices by regulators directing planters not to gin their cotton until the price has reached 10 cents, and threatening to burn the ginhouse of every planter who dares to disobey the midnight order of the regulators.

Insurance representatives who had gone into northern Louisiana for the purpose of writing policies on gins and other property, upon learning of the spread of the white cap movement to the parishes mentioned, concluded to make no effort to get business in that section.

DR. OLNEY'S DEATH.

Miss White's Story Does Not Explain the Mystery.

BUZZARDS BAY, Mass., Oct. 9.—Dr Charles Olney of Brooklyn left the cottage of Mrs. Bliss, the materialistic medium at Onset bay, late Saturday afternoon and went direct to the Point, followed by Miss Gussie White, a young woman of New York.

Miss White was subsequently found in the water clinging to an overturned boat. She said she had seen Dr. Olney struggling in the water and had gone to his assistance in the boat.

She tried to pull him into the boat, but the effort resulted only in capsizing the boat. Dr. Olney was drowned, and Miss White saved herself by clinging to its bottom.

Dr. Olney's body was found, and an ugly looking wound behind the ear indicates death through some other agency than drowning. The case is shrouded in mystery.

Dr. Olney was 39 years old and was connected with an electrical company in Brooklyn. Miss White is the daughter of a man of some prominence in New York society.

They Eloped on Bicycles.

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 9.—The result of an elopement on bicycles was the marriage of Albert D. Tompkins of 169 Washington avenue, this city, and Miss Anna M. Provost, a teacher in the Elliott public school and a daughter of the late Alderman Provost. Mr. Tompkins is a member of the Riverside Athletic club and has won several prizes in cycling contests. He is also an artist. He and the young lady have been devoted to each other, and no little part of their courtship has been carried on while wheeling over the Jersey roads.

Killed In a Coal Train Wreck.

READING, Pa., Oct. 9.—In a coal train wreck at Exeter Station, Edward F. Corcoran of Schuylkill Haven was instantly killed and Engineer Reynolds of Pinemary of Palo Alto severely scalded. The locomotive was thrown down a steep embankment.

Burned a Parochial School.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 9.—The parochial school connected with St. Francis Roman Catholic church in Fair Haven was nearly destroyed by fire. The school was unoccupied with many in the parish, and many threats have been made to abolish the school.

Burglars Burned the Postoffice.

WAPPINGER, N. Y., Oct. 9.—A desperate band of burglars entered the town of Lagerwood, shot after blowing open the safe of the postoffice and rubbing it of its contents, burned the building to the ground.

Bismarck In the Country.

HAMBURG, Oct. 9.—Prince Bismarck reached Friedrichsruh apparently in better spirits than at any previous time since the beginning of his illness.

American Honors to Parnell's Memory.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—The anniversary of the death of the great Irish leader, Charles Stewart Parnell, was commemorated by a memorial meeting.

Judge Rose of Bridgeport Dead.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Oct. 9.—Judge Joseph J. Rose of this city court of this city died here. He was 35 years of age and a graduate of Yale.

Aunt Sally, Aged 106, Is Dead.

RED HOOK, N. Y., Oct. 9.—Sarah Gilson, a colored woman, locally known as Aunt Sally, died here at the age of 106.

Spain Raises the Quarantine.

MADRID, Oct. 9.—The government has raised the quarantine declared against Jersey City.

ALL READY TO BURN HIM

Hard Work to Save an Innocent Negro From a Mob.

HUNTING FOR THE GUILTY FIEND.

A Mob In Savannah Took Possession of the Railroad Station and Waited For the Train on Which Was the Supposed Criminal—Arrested the Wrong Negro.

SAVANNAH, Oct. 9.—A crowd of determined men bent, on lynching or burning at the stake a negro, almost saved the police of this city and for a few minutes held possession of the streets.

The object of the mob's wrath was March Walker, a negro, who assaulted a deaf and dumb white girl, aged 19, named Young. The assault was committed at the girl's home, in the heart of the city and only a block from police headquarters. The girl was choked into insensibility.

After assaulting her Walker, who had been prowling down carpets, collected his money from her mother and left the house. The crime was discovered soon, but it was several hours before it was reported to the police. The whole detective force was put on a search for the negro, but without success.

Captured a Negro.

The police received word that a negro who, it is believed, was the guilty man was captured at Bloomingdale, 20 miles from here, and would be brought to the city on the evening train. The news got out in some way, and at once a plan was made to take him from the police, drag him out of the city and burn him alive. The leaders in the movements made their arrangements very secretly, and the authorities had no knowledge that a mob was gathering.

The men began to gather at the central station in crowds, and in a few minutes a mob of about 1,000 armed men were in possession of the city. Some had shotguns, but the majority simply carried pistols.

The chief of police knew nothing of this, but fearing that there might be violence, sent a squad of 14 men to the station to meet the two detectives who had gone after the negro.

The police were unable to force their way to the track. The sergeant held them together with their hands on their pistols, ready for a charge. When the train entered the station, the mob surrounded it. As the detectives stepped off a score of pistols were thrust into their faces. There was wild excitement. The squad of police threw their revolvers and pressed through the crowd to the assistance of the detectives. The detectives drew their pistols.

Had the Wrong Man.

"Where is he?" yelled the crowd, waving their weapons wildly.

"He was the wrong man, and we turned him loose," called out one of the detectives. There was a howl of derision. All that was needed was the discharge of a single pistol to have precipitated a riot. The mob was furious, but it was true that the detectives had put the negro off the train outside the city. He was the wrong man. The cars were searched, but no negro could be found.

The detectives made their way to the police, and the squad hurried back to headquarters to be ready there for any emergency. A large part of the crowd hurried to the county jail, thinking the negro might have been taken there. Here again they were disappointed. After being satisfied that the officers had told the truth the mob slowly dispersed.

Extra guards were provided at the jail in case of a repetition of the trouble. The negro who was arrested really was innocent. On the way to the city he was identified and let go. Had he reached the city he would have been lynched, despite any protestation of innocence. A quiet search is being made by members of the mob for the real culprit, who is now thought to be hiding in the city. The feeling against the negro is so strong that his death will be quick and horrible if he falls into other hands than the police.

Kittens on the Suicide's Clothes.

HACKENSACK, N. J., Oct. 9.—The decomposed body of John Erbur, a Bohemian silk weaver of Hackensack, who disappeared about two months ago, has been found in the woods near Benjamin's brickyard. His head was hanging at the end of a halter thrown over a limb. A litter of kittens was found nestled among the bones and clothes of the suicide, and birds had built a nest near by and lined it with hair taken from the head of the suicide.

Tied Bricks to the Child.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Richard Cooper, a negro, was held for brutality to 3-year-old William Mitchell. Three months ago the parents allowed Cooper to take their child, and since then Cooper has abused the boy shamefully. One of his modes of torture was to anchor the child with bricks tied to his legs, and another was to make him stand all night by his bedside with his hands above his head.

In Honor of Parnell.

DUBLIN, Oct. 9.—Memorial services in honor of Charles Stewart Parnell, who died two years ago last Friday, were held here. The procession started for Glasnevin cemetery, where Parnell was buried. The procession was so long that it required 70 minutes to pass a given point.

Intercollegiate Chess Tourney.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 9.—Yale, Harvard, Columbia and Princeton are to meet this year in the second intercollegiate chess tournament. It will take place in New York city during the Christmas holidays, lasting just a week.

Adjudged Insane.

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 9.—Miss Annie Ridge, who was convicted a year ago of arson in attempting to set fire to a hotel in Westbrook, known as the White House, has been adjudged insane and her sentence remitted.

College Football Scores.

TROY, N. Y., Oct. 9.—Football in this city—R. P. I., 40; Hamilton, 10; Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute of this city, 6. At Williamstown—Lafayette of Troy, 0; Williams college, 10.

Williams College Centennial.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Oct. 9.—The Williams College centennial, which there under most favorable auspices. Several speeches were made.

Bishop Wigger Lays a Cornerstone.

PASSAIC, N. J., Oct. 9.—The cornerstone of St. John's Slavonic Catholic church was laid by Bishop Wigger.

One New Yellow Fever Case.

BRUNSWICK, Ga., Oct. 9.—One case of yellow fever was reported at Jesup.

World's Fair Attendance.

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—Paid admissions at the World's fair Sunday were 88,955.

WALDO MESSAROS' END.

The Ex-Prosecutor Died After Taking the Quail Poison.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9.—Waldo Messaros, who was once a well known minister of this city and later of New York, died in the German hospital. Mr. Messaros recently lost his divorce suit in New York and later domestic discord added to his troubles, his wife instituting a suit for divorce. This is said to have driven him to drink, and he had been prostrated his condition critical. He was sent at once in an ambulance to the German hospital, where his death occurred.

Mr. Messaros, who was about 42 years old, will be chiefly remembered for his turbulent career as pastor of the Northwestern Independent church of this city, which culminated shortly after in his arrest, trial and acquittal on a charge of attempted assault on Mrs. Coulston, one of his parishioners. He was an eloquent speaker and was very popular as a platform lecturer. He claimed that he was born in Greece, but this was disputed by many, who held that his birthplace was in this country and that the name of Waldo Messaros was an assumed one.

Will Marry the Beauty Show Queen.

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—F. R. Howard of 263 Jackson boulevard will be married early in the coming month to Miss Antoinette J. Schickel, daughter of the late A. Schickel, a professor in the University of Vienna. Miss Schickel is the queen of the orient in the beauty show on the Midway plaisance.

Suspected Train Robbers Set Free.

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—John Graham, James King and John Wilson, who were arrested at Kensington for supposed implication in the Kendallville express robbery, were discharged. No evidence connecting them with the robbery had been obtained.

Not Blown From the Cannon's Mouth.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—The Simla correspondent of the Times denies the truth of the story from Calcutta to the effect that 11 mutinous sepoys belonging to a Herati regiment had been blown from the cannon's mouth at Cabul.

Cent-a-Word Column.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—A fresh, milch cow. John Brown. Plainfield avenue, between Plainfield and New Brooklyn. 9 6

FOR SALE—At a 10 per cent discount. 3 ots No. 1, corner Somerset street and Grandview avenue. No 2, at 190 Somerset street. No. 3, Grandview avenue, first lot from Somerset street. Inquire, Jacob Vochi, No. 65 Somerset street, North Plainfield. 9 6

FOR SALE—$6,000—Two dwellings and store, with one building lot. All in North Plainfield. Titles perfect. Terms easy. Dwellings both rented. Address "S. D. Jr.," care of EVENING NEWS. tf

FOR SALE—New house, Park place, near Mercer avenue, (Washington Park.) Mulford, broker. 9 14 tf

SELF WANTED.

WANTED—Work by assistant dressmaker and seamstress Address "H.," care EVENING NEWS. mi&s

SITUATIONS WANTED.

ELDERLY woman wishes engagement as housekeeper or nurse. Address "A. B. A.," care of EVENING NEWS. 9 2&s

SITUATION wanted by two Swedish girls One as cook, the other as waitress. Address "M.," care of EVENING NEWS. 7 9

YOUNG girl wants place as chambermaid and waitress Apply, present employer, 718 Central avenue 7 9

A YOUNG man, thoroughly understands the care of horses, and gardening, wishes situation. Address "Jr," care of EVENING NEWS. 7 9

A COMPETENT woman would like situation to care for elderly lady, or "Mothers Helper" Fond of children. Address "R.," care EVENING NEWS. 6 8

A GIRL wishes a situation at general housework. Call at 513 West Third street. 5 8

FOR RENT.

AN OPPORTUNITY—$12 per month will rent a pleasant 7-roomed house at 249 Somerset street. Ground enough for a large garden Call at NEWS office. 10 7 tf

NICELY furnished rooms, connecting or separate, to let. 215 Park street. 9 5

NICELY furnished rooms to let. 218 Richmond street. 5 14

TO LET—A furnished room with or without board to a lady. 322 East Fifth street. 9 12&f

TO LET—Seven room house near Fond's. Also twelve room house on Front street. Both in good order. Enquire, City Mills. 9 6 tf

BOARDERS WANTED.

BOARDERS—Large rooms, good table, home comforts. 62 Sandford avenue. 5 6

MISCELLANEOUS.

WILL "R." and "G." please call for answers.

TEACHER wanted, of commercial correspondence, grammar and arithmetic, by young man. Address "G.," 421 Kensington avenue. 7 2

BEFORE BUYING LAMPS

See the new lamp—

The "Miller,"

(Patented 1892.

It has no equal. It is

The Lamp you Want

Every Lamp Warranted. We make a full line of

Plain and Beautiful Lamps.

Send for circular, or call at 10 and 12 College Place, N. Y. Factory: 9th Ave., 28th and 29th Sts. Park Place, 9th Ave., 28th and 29th Sts.

EDWARD MILLER & CO. (Est'd 1849.

Insist on having the "Miller" from your dealer.

U. B. CRANE,

has the largest stock of

Fine Fall HATS,

in Plainfield.

12 WEST FRONT STREET.

1893 TAXES!

Notice is hereby given to the taxpayers of the

City of Plainfield,

that the taxes assessed in said city for the year 1893 are now due and payable, and that if the said taxes be not paid by the

30th Day of December

next, the names of the defaulters, with their respective sums, will be reported to the City Judge for the prosecution. The

COMMISSIONERS OF APPEAL

in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council Chamber, on the

Fourth Tuesday in November Next,

(the 28th,) and sit from two o'clock p. m., until five o'clock p. m., or longer, if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

JOHN JOHNSON,
Collector of Taxes.

Dated, Plainfield, N. J., October 2, 1893.
10 2 6d

Another one in the race, and

A. G. VOGELER

takes the lead.

LOOK AT THESE PRICES.

Porterhouse Steak	12c.
Sirloin	10c.
Round	10c.
Chuck	7c.
Roast Beef	10c.
Lamb Chops	16c.
Veal	10c.
Leg Mutton	12c.
Leg Spring Lamb	12c.
Shoulder Spring Lamb	12c.
Jersey Hams	15c.
Fresh Jersey Pork	14c.
Fresh Sausage	14c.
Pickled Tripe	8c.
Pickled Pigs Feet	8c.

Headquarters for Bologna. Bologna made fresh twice a day. Call and get your money's worth.

Union Meat Market,

131 WEST FRONT STREET.

9 14 1m A. G. Vogler, Manager.

Stoves For Winter,

Hardware of all Kinds,

Everything From Tacks to Furnaces.

A. M. GRIFFEN,

13 EAST FRONT STREET. Telephone 6.

Metropolitan Livery and Boarding Stables!

Coaches, Close Carriages, Park Phaetons, Surreys, Buggies, Pony Phaetons and Saddle horses.

Special care given boarding horses. Storage for furniture and carriages.

140 AND 157 NORTH AVENUE,

Opposite depot. Telephone Call, 44.

H. E. RIDER, Proprietor. FRANK DAY, Manager

Do Your Corns Hurt?

They can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of

ELECTRIC Corn Cure.

A remedy that never fails. A statement is most trite each box, that if a complete cure is not made, the money is to be refunded at once. Price, 50c. per box. Sent postpaid to any address on receipt of price. Remit by postal note or silver, (at our risk.) A book of testimonials with each box.

ALLEN & CO.,
6 19 tf Lock Box 38, Richmond, Va.

MORE SLAUGHTER!

to close out our entire line of

Neglige SHIRTS!

We offer them at the ridiculously low price of

85 CENTS.

These goods are worth $1.25 and $1.50. If you don't believe it, buy one and satisfy yourself. Seven-50c. ones for $4.25—50c on each one.

Hallock & Davis,

New number, 229 West Front street, opposite Somerset street.

Special Notices.

New York Law School

120 Broadway, New York City. Incorporated 1891. Session of 1893-94 opens Oct. 2nd. 1893. 1892-93, 1000. Largest law school in United States, except one. Degree conferred. Course of instruction, Degree of LL.B. given after two years' course. Graduates admitted to practice in Supreme Court without examination. Tuition fee, $100. Examination October 2, 1893. Address GEORGE CHASE, Dean. All year guaranteed. 9 7 1m

ALFRED B. NELSON,

Graduate Optician and Optometrist, No. 2 Park Place, Plainfield, N. J., Spectacles and Eyeglasses fitted to correct all defects of vision on the Scientific Science Coast Principles. All work guaranteed. 9 7

TAKE NOTICE.

Charles Arnold,

the butcher,

Is Still in the Race

for cash prizes.

Fresh Pork and Sausage 12c. lb.

My own Dressed Jersey Chickens, 18c. lb.

Legs Mutton, 10c. lb.

Lamb, 12c. lb.

My Smoked Meats and all other Meats will be the same old cut prices.

Arnold's : Market,

209 LIBERTY STREET.

GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE.

Strictly Cash.

Great Bargains

in all grades of

WALL PAPERS,

for the next 60 days.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

29 EAST FRONT STREET.

The Vendetta and Astoria

Use the same make of imported Table Oil, Cheese and French Sardines that I now have in stock.

THEY ARE DELICIOUS.

And then I personally select the

FRESH FISH!

I have on sale to-day and to-morrow. Call and see my stock.

JULES BOVEY,

60 Somerset Street.

DR. SCOTT,
Graduate of United States Embalming College.
UNDERTAKER : AND : EMBALMER,
Office at residence, 175 Somerset Street.
Plainfield, N. J.

Townsend's Marble Works,

20 Somerset Street.

Builders Cards.

Daniel Hulick,

Carpenter

and

General Jobber.

SHOP,

35 Jackson Avenue.

Storm doors and weather strips a specialty.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

Window Screens made to order.

John P. Emmons,

MASON AND BUILDER,

Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place.

Jobbing promptly attended to.

P. O. Box 925.

DUNSON & GAYLE,

Carpenters and Builders.

W. J. Dunson, No. 18 Vine street. H. B. Gayle, No. 12 Vine street.

All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM G. SMITH,

PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER.

All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.

Residence—Grandview Avenue.

P. O. Box 822.

R. V. SAUER,

Carpenter & Builder.

Residence—Clinton avenue, near depot, Fanwood.

P. O. Box 1288

Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.

JACOB M. HIGGINS,

PRACTICAL MASON and CONTRACTOR

P. O. Box 921. Residence Dr. street, Somerset. 10 7

Often That Way!

A lady took time to travel down our way to see if what she had heard was true. "What's the price of that jacket?" "$1.50." "And that down pattern?" "50c. a yard." "I'll take both." She told her friends afterwards, and they too, or, that it was the biggest day's saving she had ever made.

Your Turn Now!

WINTER UNDERWEAR—Sold more Underwear the last two days than all last Winter. And why not? Prices cut in half. Our show windows tell the story. All kinds for Ladies, Gents and Children.

LADIES' JACKETS—Manufacturer was heart-broken last week when he saw his Jackets that cost him $10 to make, sold for $5. We bought them and they are yours at half what they cost.

DRESS GOODS—Greater values never offered in Dress Goods than at the present time. Not that 49 inch, all wool Suiting that we only ask 25c. for. Just the thing for school wear.

MILLINERY—Have you seen the latest? The as sure fit, green velvet sailt Hat, with scarf to match. You want the best that money can buy in trimmings, work and style, and we believe that we have it on our counter, or will give an satisfactory work as we are giving this season. COMPARISON PROVES IT.

HOUSE FURNISHINGS—This department is improving all the time. Larger assortment and lower prices. Some new leaders. Those are three large rooms devoted to useful articles that you want every day in the year.

SHOES!

In Ladies' our straight Coat and Walkingfast styles at $2.50 and $3.00 are the proper we plate for the season.

The "FARGO TIP" for Children,

Is the best looking and best wearing shoe for school wear. Sizes 9½ to 10½, $1.75. Sizes 11 to 2, $1.85. A few of these $1.50 Oxfords, at 98c., still remain.

WHITE, of Plainfield.

Timely Warning! Winter Approaching!

Keep your Scalp Clean and your Hair Growing.

RANDOLPH'S Quinine and Glycerine

HAIR TONIC!

The Friend in the Hour of Need.

EACH BOTTLE GUARANTEED. Sold only by

L. W. RANDOLPH, Prescription Druggist,

148 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

Successors to

The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,

Dealers in

Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials

42 to 60 PARK AVENUE.

Are now prepared with their increased facilities, (having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs. A. D. Cook & Bro.,) to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

Railroad Time Table.

CENTRAL RAILROAD OF NEW JERSEY

(Anthracite coal used exclusively insuring cleanliness and comfort.)

Station in New York, foot of Liberty street. Time Table in effect July 30, 1893.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield at 2 14, 4 20, 6 05, 8 20, 8 55, 10 20, 11 20 a. m., 12 50, 1 35, 2 30, 3 30, 4 20, 5 20, 6 05, 7 10, 8 20, 9 15, 10 15, 11 20 p. m., 12 01 night. Leave New York at 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00 noon, 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 p. m., 12 00 night, 1 00, 2 00 a. m.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield at 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m. Leave Somerville at 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00 noon, 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 p. m., 12 00 night.

PLAINFIELD AND BOUND BROOK.

Leave Plainfield at 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m. Leave Bound Brook at 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00 noon, 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 p. m., 12 00 night.

PLAINFIELD AND DUNELLEN.

Leave Plainfield at 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m. Leave Dunellen at 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00 noon, 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 p. m., 12 00 night.

PLAINFIELD AND SAYREVILLE.

Leave Plainfield at 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m. Leave Sayreville at 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00 noon, 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 p. m., 12 00 night.

PLAINFIELD AND SOUTH AMBOY.

Leave Plainfield at 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m. Leave South Amboy at 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00 noon, 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 p. m., 12 00 night.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

6 30 a. m. for Easton, Phillipsburg, Allentown, Bethlehem, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Hazleton, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Williamsport, Elmira, Watkins, Geneva, Rochester, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Pittsburg, Bradford, Kane, Dubois, Du Bois, Renovo, Lock Haven, Tyrone, Altoona, Bellefonte, Lewistown Junction, Mifflin, Tuscarora Valley, Mahanoy City, Shamokin, Sunbury, Lewisburg, Watsontown, Danville, Northumberland, Milton

OUR YOUNG FOLKS

HOMER.

Traditions Concerning the Greatest of the Greek Poets.

Homer, the greatest of the Greek poets, lived at so early a period that we know very little about him, although he was the author of the grandest epic poems in the world—the "Iliad" and "Odyssey." Even the Greeks themselves had only traditions about Homer. These are preserved in a work attributed to the historian, Herodotus. As Herodotus lived in the fifth century before the Christian era and states that the poet flourished 400 years before his time, we must place Homer in the ninth century before Christ.

According to ancient tradition, Homer, who is regarded as the father of poetry, not only lost his sight, but blind and poor, lived a life of hardship and died among strangers. But after his death so great was his renown that seven cities contended for the honor of having been his birthplace.

HOMER, THE BLIND POET.

In Homer's time poets did not publish their poems, nor is it even certain that they wrote them. They were also musicians, and accompanied their recitations by playing on the lyre, the strings of which they struck with a little staff called a plectrum. The poet, most likely, played a bar of music as a prelude to his recitation and in the course of it struck a cord now and then. The poems of Homer continued to be recited long after his death, and it was not until the sixth century before the Christian era that the different versions of the "Iliad" and "Odyssey" were all collated and revised and the two poems appeared in the form in which we now possess them. The first treats of incidents in the Trojan war. The second narrates the adventures of Ulysses after the fall of Troy.

A Song of Five.

There were five little girls with golden hair
Who played by the deep blue sea;
Said they: "Wherever else you roam,
There's none so happy as we.
For the days are long, and the sea is blue,
And the sun shines bright and fair;
Oh! we're perfectly sure there are no such girls,
Though you search out every where."

There were five little crabs from out of the sea,
Five little crabs so fine,
And they looked around on the golden sand
And blew themselves up in line.
Then five little fingers were stretched out wide
To the place where those crabs did sit,
And five little tears came rolling down
For five little hands were bit.

OPENING
OF
Fall and Winter DRESS GOODS.

We have placed on sale the Largest Assortment of DRESS GOODS ever offered in this city, and the prices lower than ever, short lengths to avoid too many dresses of a kind.

WE MENTION A FEW SPECIALS.

All Wool Bengaline at 55c. yd. Regular Price 75c.
" " Novelties at 50c. yd. Regular Price 75c.
" " Henriettas at 75c. yd. Regular Price 1.00

Cashmeres, Serges, Flannels and Cloths in large variety of colors and prices. Priestley's silk warp Dress Goods.

DRESS TRIMMINGS

In plain and changeable Braids, Galloons, Braids, etc. We are still offering

Smith's Best Moquette Carpets at 99c. yd

It will be to your advantage to look at these goods if you are in need of carpets.

BLANKETS AND COMFORTABLES AT

EDSALL'S.

Then five dear mothers with loving care
Kissed each of those fingers sore,
And five little faces looked so glad,
For five little smiles they wore.
No more they thought of the cruel bite,
No more the tear drops fell,
For those five little wounds had each been kissed,
And the kiss had made them well.

Then ten little feet sped gladly on Back to the sea once more,
And five little noses were raised on high
As they passed the crabs on the shore.
Five crabs said, "Twas cruel, 'twas bad," they said,
"To bite little girls so fair."
But the crabs looked on and calmly smiled,
And didn't seem much to care.

Why the Bear Is Stumpy Tailed.

One day the Bear met the Fox, who came slinking along with a string of fish he had stolen.

"Where did you get those?" asked the Bear.

"Oh, my Lord Bruin, I've been out fishing and caught them," said the Fox.

So the Bear had a mind to learn to fish, too, and bade the Fox tell him how he was to set about it.

"Oh, it's an easy craft for you," answered the Fox, "and soon learned. You've only got to go upon the ice and cut a hole and stick your tail down into it, and so you must go on holding it there as long as you can. You're no to m ad if your tail smarts a little; that's when the fish bite. The longer you hold it there the more fish you'll get. Then all at once out with it with a cross pull sideways and a strong pull too."

Yes, the Bear did as the Fox had said and held his tail a long, long time down in the hole till it was fast frozen in. Then he pulled it out with a cross pull, and it snapped short off. And that's why Brutus goes about with a stumpy tail this day, so an old fashioned fairy story tells us.

The Little Dancers.

One, two, three Dance with me,
In perfect time,
As in a rhyme.
Heads erect and toes in line.
If you but see
You must agree
That perfect in our dance are we.

Trousers, Breeches and Pantaloons.

The words breeches, trousers and pantaloons are now used interchangeably, but originally the significations were quite different. Pantaloons are said to have been at first nothing but long stockings worn in Italy as a sort of religious habit by the devotees of St. Pantaleon. Breeches originally reached from the waist half way to the knee, and finally to the knee, where they were fastened with a buckle. Trousers are the present style of leg gear, a combination of the former two.

THE HOUSEHOLD

NOVELTIES IN TABLEWARE.

Latest Fashions and Fads That Tempt the Housekeeper In China, Silver, Etc.

Russian china is one of the latest things. It is very expensive and less beautiful than many wares which cost no more, but it is interesting for the pictures of Russian life which it exhibits. A handsome blue and white ware is receiving attention and much admiration in the Royal Copenhagen. Although its designs are artistic, it is not so dainty as the Sevres.

Gold plated china is the latest fad. While it is very brilliant and finds a ready market with a certain class of people, it is named only as a passing fancy.

Limoges dinner sets are very handsome. They have a white ground, with double bands of dead gold, and between these bands are decorations of gay flowers in Dresden patterns. The handsome of solid dead gold, and the covered dishes are box shaped. These costly goods will of course, to a certain extent, set the fashion in shape and decoration for more unpretentious wares. They are noted, together with the following, by The Decorator and Furnisher.

A new fish set has a ground work of pale rose color which fades at the center of the platter and plates and is almost a blue. The decorations are flower-de-luce, with grasses and among them are swimming fishes with gold scales.

An exquisite cracker jar is in crimson Cashpert china. Biscuit jars are in hamper form, with a strapand buckle. Other novel ones resemble a log, with a gold cord and tassels.

Silver cracker jars are broad and low. Many of these novel jars are of glass in oval shape, with a high silver top, and the gray on which they stand is silver.

A bread server is a new English novelty. In shape it resembles a short, very wide fork, and it may be of wood, steel or silver. It is intended to remove the slices of bread from the plate.

The latest things in knives and forks have spiral handles. The fingers are high at the blade and decrease in size until pointed at the end.

A new bonbon spoon has an open fish-t bowl with a butterfly in the center, or, if one chooses, a monogram instead.

Potato Salad Rightly Made and Served.

Slice boiled potatoes while hot, and pour over them enough sweet oil to moisten them, and stir it well through. Slice white onions very fine, 1 onion to 6 large potatoes, and mix in. Add a pinch (no more) of sugar and season with salt and vinegar to the taste, being stingy of the vinegar, which should it be very strong, it is well to dilute with soup stock, using half and half. Stir all together well, using care not to mash the potatoes. Make a potato salad while hot, but eat it when cold. Serve with garnish of green parsley or sliced tomatoes.

To Ascertain the Heat of the Oven.

A French authority on cooking gives these rules for testing the heat of an oven: Try it with a piece of white paper. If too hot, the paper will blacken or blaze up. If it becomes a light brown, it is fit for pastry. If it turns dark yellow, it is fit for bread and a heavier kinds of cake. If light yellow, the oven is ready for sponge cake and the lighter kinds of dessert.

CAREY'S
Storage Warerooms,
Corner Front and Grove Streets, Plainfield, N. J.

The Fall and Winter Styles in Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing are now in Stock. Overcoats of all Weights. Trousers Made to Order from $4 to $8. Suits from $15 to $30. Hats and General Furnishings. WERNER'S MAMMOTH CLOTHING HOUSE, 206 West Front Street.

Hotels.

CENTRAL HOTEL,
No. 11 E. Front St.,
PLAINFIELD.
Windham & Crowley,
PROPRIETORS.
First-class bar attached.

Fourth Ward Hotel.
JOHN GOFF, Proprietor.
Boarders accommodated, both transient and permanent.
LARGE ROOMS
and
ALL MODERN IMPROVEMENTS.
Fine Wines, Liquors and CIGARS.
Corner Third and Liberty Streets.

Hotel Grenada,
NORTH AVENUE,
now open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the travelling public.

City Hotel,
Corner
PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.
Transient guests accommodated.

Eugene Hoerster,
206 Grove Street,
North Plainfield.
Wholesale Dealer
in
FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.
Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

The Age of Monograms.

Monograms ornament our table linen, bricks from pillows and sheets and form a distinctive mark upon handkerchiefs and toilet ware. Dainty and graceful lettering designs are rare, however, and many of the cabalistic signs which are seen upon fashionable note paper and silver remind one of the signatures of Chinese potentates, so mysterious and unreadable are their interlacings.

MONOGRAMS FOR LINEN.

Plain monograms are the most desirable, and of late, according to the New York Herald, the simple joining of letters is preferred by many and advocated by the fashionable stationers. There can be nothing finer for the handkerchief or tea doily than a pretty monogram done in white, but excessive ornamentation or embroidery should never be used with it, as it mars the effect of artistic simplicity and grace.

A Point In Piano Practice.

The number of pupils who "can never play before others" is legion. The Musical World declares it is all because a little care was not taken with the fingering and particulars of certain small passages in their pieces, during practicing by themselves, they stumbled, and when playing for listeners they stumbled worse. The helm, while yet so small, turns the great ship, and the correct fingering of one note at a given place would have made the piece play accurately and easily. But for the want of the little bit of painstaking in their fingering of runs they go on and make a failure of everything they play. It was only a small kerosene lamp that burned Chicago.

Grapes for Their Wine Use.

Pick the grapes from the stems; slip off the skins, which can be quickly done; reserve them and scald the pulp. The seeds will soon loosen and can be removed by a very fine colander or by coarse sieve. Next weigh skins and pulp, and add an equal weight of sugar; put all on together and cook slowly until very rich and somewhat stiff, then bottle and seal. This is an excellent and easy mode of preparing grapes for winter use.

Fine Salt.

Make a batter of a cupful of milk and a half cupful of butter, thickened with flour enough to make a soft paste, and a teaspoonful of baking powder. Bake in three layers, between which spread plum sauce made from either fresh or canned plums, with stones and skins removed. Serve warm or cold.

Tired from Head to Foot.

FROM HEAD TO FOOT.

That's what's the matter with the most of us. What's the remedy? Pure circulation of the blood. The cause? The neglect of the feet. We have known cases of so called rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, weak joints, backache, (by reason of kidney disease) and in a short time by the use of Anti-Tire. Get up good circulation, healthy action, and all such ailments disappear. Anti-Tire will do it. One foot bath of Anti-Tire will do it. Try it, sir, to-day, sir, sir. All druggists Send 2 cents for sample trial package.

LYONS & SINGER,
454 Bergen avenue,
Jersey City, N. J.

A GOOD WIFE

is a great blessing, and a good husband will be a great comfort to her. Both please secure her future comfort by buying a lot which is pretty nearly, the prices are so low. The lot is situated in a beautiful and healthy neighborhood.

GIVEN AWAY

WITH EVERY

convenience for reaching stores, schools and churches quickly. Now is the grand opportunity to invest in a splendid

BUILDING LOT.

For particulars, address
"OWNER,"
care of EVENING NEWS.

Horses and Carriages,
of all kinds, for hire, at
O'BRIEN'S,
216 WEST FOURTH STREET,
or at the Depot.

Joseph T. Vail,
REAL ESTATE
and
INSURANCE.
SALES IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING
a Specialty.
19 North Avenue.

Piret
GOODS

World's Fair Exhibit on Flower Pots!

OVER FOUR TONS—5,400 pounds—18 large crates—6 truck loads.

The patterns and decorations are numerous and exquisite in design. Prices range from 1½ cents for the Slip Pot to $1.25 for the double Calla Lily, the popular one being the 2c., 5c., 9c. an 1 19c. sizes in the common, though we have the largest made, at 60c.

Decorated Pots and Hanging Baskets range from 7c. to 25c. We are prepared to fill all, and our prices are guaranteed the lowest and quality without a fault. The wide rim and the oak leaf on the common Pots add strength and beauty, and are easily decorated. Order early, as some will have to wait.

J. C. Allen, 28 West Front St., Plainfield, N. J.

Loves Imogen Guiney.

Louise Imogen Guiney, the young poet of Boston, leads a very charming and unique life at Auburndale, Mass. She is fond of books, dogs, solitude and outdoor exercise, and with such simple tastes as these in the line of pleasure it is not hard for her to enjoy herself.

She is still a young woman and rather an attractive one, with delicate features, soft brown hair brushed off the forehead, a genial manner, becomes a poet, and a slightly diffident manner.

She is the daughter of General Patrick Guiney, and she has a store of patriotism running in with her other qualities. This displays itself in odd little ways. Over her desk in her study the stars and stripes are draped. Her father's sword, cap and the faded scarf he wore when he was a young lieutenant in the army are all hung against the flag. The other spaces on the wall are filled in with photographs. Ruskin, Charles Lamb, Tennyson, Thackeray, Lang, Browning and a lot of other literary lights are given positions of honor, and so are Jessie, her Irish setter, Wendell Phillips, her St. Bernard, and other of her canine pets.

When Miss Guiney isn't studying or writing, she is tramping about the Boston suburbs, with one of her dogs at her heels, enjoying life. She is much given to "prowling" alone, and even when she was in London and Paris she kept up her American habit of solitary pedestrianism with nodlesagreeable consequences.—Boston Letter.

Some Uses of Ammonia.

Ammonia is very valuable, and no housekeeper should be without it. It should be kept in a glass bottle tightly corked, otherwise it will evaporate, and the strength will be lost.

Grease spots can be removed from almost any fabric by sponging them with ammonia in a little water. When dish towels have become soiled and discolored, boiling them in suds to which a little ammonia has been added will do much to restore them to their natural state. Ammonia in the water used for washing woodwork is better than soap, as it loosens all dirt and does not injure the hands. Lamp globes and windows are readily cleansed with its help, as well as hairbrushes and combs.

Ammonia is a pleasant remedy for bee stings or insect bites, to be applied as soon as bitten. Pure, soft soap and ammonia applied to a lame back and rubbed in vigorously is almost certain to give relief.

It is a great stimulant to house plants. Five or six drops added to each pint of water and applied once a week will cause them to flourish and give them a vigor obtained in no other way. A few drops in the water in which cut flowers are placed will restore them if beginning to wilt.—Exchange.

Women and Garters.

The woman who wears a round garter is a thorn to one who wears a suspender, and vice versa. Friendships have been wrecked thereby. Health is the wreckwood of the suspender faction; beauty is the beast of the garter tribe. One proud woman scarcely claims to have solved the difficulty by uniting the two. She wears suspenders—but such suspenders! This is the way she makes them. If they are to be of light blue, she takes the hooks and clasps (she has sold silver ones) and sews them with catch the stockings to blue ribbons, with coquettish bows just above the silver. These two ribbons (for there are two clasps to one stocking, of course) are fastened together with another bow at the buckle. The piece which extends from the buckle to the belt is of blue silk elastic. This is stretched to its full length, and while thus extended a strip of blue ribbon is sewed over it. When the elastic is released, it shortens, of course, fluting the ribbon in the process. This makes a suspender which will silence the most ardent advocates of the beauty of the round garter.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Oatmeal or No Oatmeal?

Periodically the perplexed home mother finds the question of oatmeal or no oatmeal struggling to the front. She used to plump her faith solidly to this cereal, with no manner doubting Thomases as to its virtue have arisen that her confidence is now and again severely shaken. A few physicians says bluntly "It is food fit only for horses;" another more conservatively admits "that it must be a strong digestion which can stand that daily porridge the first thing in the morning."

Yet one of her neighbors shows a family of thriving children "brought up on oatmeal," and of all the cereals offered this certainly is most acceptable, so far as taste goes, to her own brood of little folks. Probably the best way out of the dilemma is to vary the cereal menu, alternating the grains of farina, cracked wheat, grits, hominy and the rest with an occasional round in the form of a dish of this much vexed meal well cooked. If the oatmeal is the favorite dish, it can be oftenest served, the others used as variations.—Exchange.

Teach Children to Gargle.

A physician in a paper on diphtheria urges upon parents the importance of teaching children to gargle the throat, and mentions the fact that during an epidemic of the disease in his city he taught his baby girl, only a little more than 2 years old, to gargle as well as her 9-year-old brother and kept up the practice regularly three times a day throughout the prevalence of the disease. This is one of the small points in keeping with the tendency of the age, which is toward preparation and prevention rather than relief. None perhaps excepting physicians and nurses realizes the obstacles which obstinate and spoiled children make of themselves in cases of illness, and the helpless mother who stands by with her despairing "He won't take it, and I can't make him" adds to the hopelessness of the situation. A child who is old enough to understand what is said of him is not too young to learn that he must do his share in the fight for recovery when sickness assails him.

Make No Extra Work.

The golden rule in housework should be "make no extra work." Have a system of living and maintain it. Have a place for everything and keep everything in its place. Near the entrance doors have suitable holders for coats, hats, wraps, umbrellas, etc., and by consistent training see that they are kept there. In the sitting room have a place for writing and sewing materials and a receptacle for books, magazines and papers, and insist upon it that they shall be put there instead of being left where they drop from the reader's hands, only to be picked up by the tired mother, whose work in some households seems never ending.—Juliet Corson in Ladies' Home Journal.

She Will, She Will.

You wouldn't think that a woman who had ever seen the spectacle when another woman got out a slowly moving horse car with her back toward the horses, would ever do the same thing herself, but she will.—Somerville Journal.

FOR FALL TRADE.

THE LEADER

has received a large variety of Infants' Cloaks, Coats, Slips, Robes, Flannel and Worsted Socks, Hoods, Flannel Skirts, all of the latest styles. Also new styles of Ladies' Wrappers, Underwear and a large variety of Comfortables, at very low prices. Makes no mistake, this is the new store.

THE LEADER! M. GOLDMANN, Prop.
210 WEST FRONT STREET. (Old No. 88.)

R. W. Rice & Co.,
THE PARK GROCERS.
Corner Duer and Emily Streets.
NORTH PLAINFIELD.

This Date In History—Oct. 9.

1267—Pope Clement IV died.
1514—Louis XII of France and Princess Mary, sister of Henry VIII of England, were married at Abbeville, France; three months later he died, and two months later she married the Duke of Suffolk.
1567—Miguel Cervantes de Saavedra, author of "Don Quixote," born at Alcala de Henares; he died Shakespeare died on the same day, 1616.
1769—Barbara Villiers, duchess of Cleveland mistress of Charles II, died.
1781—Charles Comte d'Artois, afterward Charles X, born at Versailles; died 1836.
1785—Lewis Cass was born in Exeter, N. H. died 1866.
1800—John Todd was born in Rutland, Vt.; died 1873.
1820—William Smith O'Brien, Thomas Francis Meagher and others were sentenced to death for rebellion; O'Brien was finally pardoned, the others after being transported escaped to America.
1870—Union of Italy completed.

A book written by an American author may now be copyrighted in Germany and the author secure the profit on it, the same as at home. But it will always be well for the American author first to see whether he can get any profit on his book at home.

What cannot be accomplished in this rapid age? An Indianapolis man comes to the front with a process for "aging" violins, claiming that he can impart in a few weeks the richness of tone of a Stradivarius to an ordinary "fiddle."

The man who was put into jail at Cleveland for having married seven wives was at last accounts reported to be cheerful and resting quite easy in his mind. He was so glad to be in jail and safe from the seven women.

From Jan. 1 to Sept. 1, 143 national banks suspended. At the latter date one had voluntarily wound up its business, satisfying all claims against it, while 44 had resumed and 56 more expected to resume soon.

1893			OCTOBER.			1893
Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fr.	Sa.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
15	16	17	18	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26	27	28
29	30	31

MOON'S PHASES.

Third Quarter	2	10.12 a. m.	First Quarter	17	2.22 a. m.
New	9	2.27 p. m.	Full	25	1.42 a. m.
Third Quarter	31	5.03 p. m.

Tickets
For, or from Europe,
On
All Lines,
And all Steamers.
Drafts
Sold also.
H. D. MORRISON,
Agent,
Somerset Street.

PEACHES!
PEACHES!
PEACHES!
Following varieties: Yellow Globe, Crawford's Morris Whites, Elberta and old mixtures. Prices to suit everybody.
NEUMANN BROS.
WATCHUNG AVENUE and FIFTH STREET

THE TIME TO EAT!
MEAT!
is at most times, of course, and the place to get good meats, all varieties, lowest prices; also groceries, etc., is at
E. J. CONNOLLY,
No. 2021 Broadway.
SMOKED MEATS AND VEGETABLES always on hand.

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

50 per Year in Advance. | E. W. Harrison, Editor and Proprietor. | 1 Cent per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. | PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," TUESDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1893. | PRICE TWO CENTS.

LOCAL TRAIN ROBBERY.

A POLICEMAN'S LIVELY TUSSLE WITH THE THIEF AND HIS PALS.

An Obliging Westfielder on the Midnight Train "Makes Change" for a Well Dressed Stranger who Grasps all and Eventually Escapes.

WHEN the 12.15 train from New York was nearing Westfield last night, a well-to-do merchant of that town, who was a passenger, was accosted by a well dressed stranger to change a ten dollar bill. While doing so his money was snatched from him.

A telegram was sent to Policeman Giese of this city asking him to arrest the thief.

The officer stepped on the train when it reached this city, supposing he had only one man to contend with.

The culprit had locked himself in one of the car closets, and the policeman could not get at him. The victim then ordered Mr. Giese to break down the door. This the officer refused to do though the man declared he would pay for the damage. The officer told him to "do it himself," and he would then arrest the thief.

The door was burst open, and the thief caught as he was trying to get out of a window. A sharp tussle then ensued, in close quarters, between Policeman Giese and the prisoner. The latter's pals, gathering about half a dozen, joined in the fray and succeeded in getting the man away from the policeman, who, because he was on the cars, could not use his club, as he would otherwise. Mr. Giese says if the bystanders had given him any assistance he could have jailed the thief. He had not procured assistance before boarding the train because the dispatch had mentioned but "one man" and Policeman Giese is not afraid of "any one man even if he's ten feet high."

MRS. NASH AWOKE JUST IN TIME.

Narrow Escape from Asphyxiation of Justice Nash's Family.

Justice of the Peace Vincent W. Nash and family had a narrow escape from asphyxiation last night.

When the family retired Mrs. Nash turned out the gas in the hall. In doing so she unknowingly turned it on again.

During the night Mrs. Nash awoke and found that the room was filled with gas.

She at once awoke Mr. Nash. Mrs. Nash was almost overcome by the gas and fell in a faint. Mr. Nash made an investigation and found that the whole upper part of the house was filled with gas.

THE SCHOOL PROPERTY RENTED.

To Mr. Charles Rocap Until Next Spring.

The Wadsworth property, at the corner of Sixth street and Central avenue, which was purchased last Spring by the Board of Education, with the intention of erecting a new school building on the site, has been rented to Mr. Charles Rocap until next Spring.

BREVITIES.

—The Plainfield Bicycle Club held a meeting last night.

—The Somerville firemen are holding a parade to-day. The Plainfield Cornet Band is furnishing the music.

—The City Boards of Registry met this morning and started to canvass the voters in the different wards and districts.

—The Wide Awake Circle will hold a meeting Friday afternoon at four o'clock in the W. C. T. U. rooms, on Watchung avenue.

—All young men interested in short-hand and vocal music are requested to meet at the Y. M. C. A. rooms on Friday evening.

—The Crescent Wheelmen will hold a meeting to-night in their rooms on North avenue. Important business is to be transacted.

—As the attendance at the Day Nursery is very small through the Fall and Winter, it is deemed advisable to close until further notice.

—The telegraph pole at the corner of Washington avenue and Third street was moved further back to-day on account of the widening of Watchung avenue.

—At St. Mary's church fair, at the Young Men's Lyceum Hall, to-morrow night Messrs. John H. Carney and James T. Vegiard will take part in a special programme.

—A fine improvement is the grading and macadamizing of Hillside avenue from Putnam avenue to Denton's Nursery, recently completed. This is now one of the finest streets in the city.

Borough Boards of Registry.

The North Plainfield Boards of Registry met this morning. They started out this afternoon to canvass the borough. The members of the Boards are as follows: District No. 1—Republicans, Messrs. A. Vail and Lewis Bockalew; Democrats, Messrs. John T. Case and David Carney. District No. 2—Republicans, J. Woodruff Coddington and Edgar C. Schenck; Democrats, David D. Smalley and Harry Conkling.

The Weather.

The weather to-morrow promises to be clear, preceded by local frosts, with lower followed by rising temperature.

CITY COMMON COUNCIL.

AN ADJOURNED MEETING HELD LAST NIGHT.

The Water Company to be Compelled to Live Up to Its Contracts The Y. M. C. A. Building Found to be Connected With the South Avenue Sewer.—Other Business.

An adjourned meeting of the City Common Council was held last night. Besides President Ginus, Councilmen Erickson, Fisk, Frost, Frazee, Marsh, Mittingston, Seeland Weber, were present. Councilmen Bird and Johnson were absent.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved, and the following claims were presented:

W. C. Smith	$703.00
J. J. Hicks	4.00

Mr. Erickson stated that he had received a communication from Mr. H. A. Stroull, of Hillside avenue, complaining that the Plainfield Water Supply Company had been asked several times by property owners on Hillside avenue, to extend their pipes through that street. The residents had promised the company that they would receive 10 cents a foot income from them if they would lay the pipes. Mr. Stroull's letter concluded with the request that the city take some action in the matter. As it is now, they are without fire hydrants in case of fire.

Mr. Marsh also said that on April 4th, the Council had passed a resolution authorizing the Water Company to place hydrants on Park avenue, South Second street, near the Pond Tool Works, and Hillside avenue. The company notified the Council that they had placed a number of the hydrants, but gave no reason for not placing the remainder of them. "The company has paid no attention to our order," Mr. Erickson concluded, "and I move that the proper committee be authorized to confer with the Corporation Counsel and have him take necessary steps to enforce our contract with the Water Company." The motion was adopted.

The Committee on Lamps was empowered to take steps toward renewing the city's contract with the Electric Light Company.

Mr. W. J. Tunison was granted permission to erect an awning of corrugated iron in front of his store on Watchung avenue, provided, however, that Mr. Hand erect the awning in front of the hole rink building. Said awning to be strong enough to allow firemen to walk upon the top of it in case of fire.

In reference to the Y. M. C. A. building having been connected with the North avenue sewer without permission, letters were read from President Murray of the Association and the architect. The latter stated that the connection with the sewer and that would flush it and be a benefit to the building instead of a nuisance. It was further stated that the connection had been made by the plumbers according to their contract. The plumbers had obtained permission to connect with the sewer from the Board of Health. As the Council had passed an ordinance refusing to permit any more connections with said sewer, the matter was referred to the Corporation Counsel.

Messrs. Fred. C. Lounsbery and George Serrell petitioned Council for crosswalks on Second street, at Third street. The matter was referred to the Street Committee with power.

As the Union Hotel Company had not paid any attention to the order compelling the laying of curbing in front of its property on Second, Third street, Mr. See offered a resolution authorizing the city to do the work and add the expense to the owner's taxes. The resolution also provided for the laying of curbing under the same circumstances in front of Sarah Vermeuse's property on Watchung avenue. The resolution was adopted.

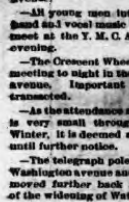
A resolution was adopted fixing October 20th, at eight o'clock, and the Council Chamber, as the time and place for the meeting of the Common Council to meet and hear the Madison avenue property owners in regard to the widening of that street.

Mr. Hick's bill for $6 was ordered paid, and the claim of Mr. C. C. Smith, for $703, was ordered paid when the new engine house is accepted by the Committee.

Council adjourned.

"THE COURSE OF TRUE LOVE, ETC."

The Brothers Play Tricks on Their Sisters' Admirers.



LAST Sunday night two Plainfield young men hired a rig from a local liveryman to drive to Sumptown, where they called on two young ladies. While they were in the house courting the daughters of a certain farmer, the sons were outside putting up a job on the unsuspecting youths. They cut the harness in such a manner that when the Plainfielders started for home their horse broke from the wagon and they were left quite a distance from home.

The only way out of the predicament was to go back to the home of the girls, get the father up and get him to bring them home.

Yesterday morning the farmer returned the wagon to Green, and the horse was later found and returned to the owner.

Litigation Over $25,000.

On September 13th last Mr. Joel Codington of Warren township died. He left a will, disposing of about $25,000 worth of property. Mr. McClure and Mr. Marsh each filed a caveat for the next of kin against the will going probate. Yesterday at Somerville, Mr. Charles A. Reed, succeeded in having Mr. William R. Codington appointed administrator pendente lite, that is, during the litigation.

RED MEN'S MERRY TIME

ANNIVERSARY OF MIANTONOMO TRIBE, NO. 118, I. O. R. M.

The Rooms Beautifully Decorated.—A Well Rendered Pantomime Arranged by Mr. John H. Carney.—Speeches and Feasting.

RED Men's Hall, on West Front street, was the scene last night, of a brilliant event, it being the first anniversary of Miantonomo Tribe, No. 118, Improved Order of Red Men, and well long be remembered by those who were present.

The wigwam had been beautifully decorated by Messrs. Houseman, Vroom and Sanger, and they deserve great credit. As one noticed, a large shield met his eye. It bore the following:

"My sun don't know me as the leaves begin to fall;
But I'll be welcome, welcome in the Red Men Hall."

On another card was:

"Welcome, guest, welcome,
And in in our wigwam;
For we are celebrating
Our first anniversary Day."

On entering the main hall a pleasing sight met the eye. Upon the platform was a large Indian tent or tee pee, over which was the following: "Welcome, Great Hassan." On the right was "Welcome Iona Council" and on the left "Welcome, Great Chiefs and visiting brothers.

Various mottoes of the order were displayed upon the sidewalls, and, drooping from the centre chandelier and ends of the dome, was bunting. The colors of the order, drooped to the four cardinal points.

At 8.15 the chairman of the committee, Richard Seaman, called the gathering to order, and bid the guests welcome. A pantomime, entitled "Pesca," arranged by Sachem John H. Carney was executed in full Indian costume by Messrs. Carney, Houseman, Vroom and Sanger. The costumes were loaned for the occasion by Brother Julius Scott. The pantomime was well executed and a decided success. Photographer Thorn took a flash light of the room. After Prof. Guttman played an overture, the chairman introduced Sachem Carney, who as of the Tribe, in a few words thanked the chairman and members of the Tribe for the hearty support they had given him. He then introduced Past Great Incohonee Thomas Francis of Camden, who gave a history of the order, after which Great Senior Sagamore Chas. Brown of Paterson delighted all with his humorous remarks, then Keeper of Wampum Sister Andrew J. Stiglitz, accompanied by the accomplished pianist, Mrs. Caulfield, favored with a solo that was very pleasing and well rendered.

The march was led by Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A. Westphal and dancing till midnight followed.

Mr. Garvey, Chief of Records, Newcorn recited, and the (craven) District Deputy Great Sachem Abiron J. Elliott reported his district in a flourishing condition. Sachem Carney in behalf of the committee presented Sachem Abiron J. Elliott with Regalia to Past Sachem W. A. Westphal, who could scarcely find words to express his thanks.

PERSONAL.

George Webster of West Second street is ill with scarlet fever.

Mr. Rockwell of East Front street returned last night from the World's Fair.

Mr. J. B. Mills of Watchung avenue has broken ground on East Sixth street for a new house.

Mr. T. Collis Pond, of Madison avenue, is responsible for this: "Well, I guess the Lord is Dun-raven over the Valkyrie."

Mr. W. B. Fisk of New York, who recently purchased the Van Sise house on Jas. Cedar avenue will take possession some time this Fall.

Mail Carrier John Leichliour takes his vacation to-morrow, which he will spend at Lambert's Mills, N. J. His route will be delivered by Mr. William E. Sharp.

Dr. P. J. Biglio, of Mt. Bethel, and James E. Coddington of Mount Horeb left for the World's Fair yesterday morning. Druggist Rudolph was also one of the party.

Messrs. Mitchell and Simmonds of Plainfield and White of North Plainfield are on college foot ball teams this year. Mitchell and Simmonds are at Yale, and White at Princeton.

Councilman Frank Marsh and family have returned from a visit to the city of the World's Fair. Mr. Marsh rented a house in Chicago during his stay instead of going to hotels, leaving his home on Madison avenue in charge of his sisters.

Mr. William D. Craig, formerly of North Plainfield, but now of Graham, Texas, where he recently married a beautiful and charming Texan belle for a bride, were last week the guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. M. French. The couple are this week visiting friends in New York.

That most remarkably talented Professor of the Board of Education, Mr. Oberon H. Dalrymple, was last week confined to his home on West Eight street for some weeks as the result of a cold contracted in California and Seattle, but was able to be out of bed yesterday.

Mrs. Craig A. Marsh, of Eighth street, who has already been to the World's Fair with her husband, was so desirous of seeing it again that she left for Chicago last night with the Rossman tour, which started yesterday. Mr. Marsh came on the last train, after the last of the tickets had been received. Mr. Marsh may go later.

STUTTS CONVICTED.

AS AN ACCESSORY IN THE ABDUCTION OF ANNIE KLINER.

Stutts was Indicted but Would Not Plead Guilty.—His Lawyers Made a Great Fight to Save Him.

HON. the Somerset County Court opened yesterday morning, at Somerville, the case of ADAM STUTTS, charged with being an accessory before the fact, in the abduction of Farmer Kliner's 15-year-old daughter by William Randolph. After the lawyers had been sworn in, and the jury been obtained by the Judge, the Jurors retired. They finally brought in a verdict of guilty.

Stutts was indicted but would not plead guilty. His counsel, James J. Breham and James T. Berger, made a great fight to save the life.

When the case opened on Friday counsel for the defense asked that the indictment be quashed as defective. This was refused, and the trial proceeded. Annie Kliner, was the first witness called for the State. She told how Randolph had called on the front porch waiting for her when she came down stairs to get a drink of water for her sister at 11 o'clock on the night of Aug. 31. He told her to get ready, and she did so and went with him. They found Stutts near the bend with a two-horse wagon. They drove to White House, N. J., and then to Lambertville, where Stutts left them, saying he would "put on a Sunday face and see nothing about their whereabouts." After that they spent one night in the Glen Gardner Hotel and the next in the West Portal Hotel, Jersey City, following that they were caught in Phillipsburg by Marshal Pangborn.

Marshal Pangborn testified to hunting the couple down with the help of Stutts after the latter had returned home. The girl's parents testified to her age and swore that she had left home without their knowledge. After the Kliner, the West Portal Hotel keeper, and the couple stayed at his hotel all night and left without paying their board bill. They did not register, but he asked the man if they were married and he said they were. The girl was crying.

For the defense Stutts was put upon the stand and swore that he was hired by Randolph to drive the couple to Glen Gardner, and did not know who was going until he saw the girl getting into the wagon. Cross-examination of Stutts by Mr. Carney, who as of the Tribe, in a few words thanked the chairman and members of the Tribe for the hearty support they had given him. He then introduced Past Great Incohonee Thomas Francis of Camden, who gave a history of the order, after which Great Senior Sagamore Chas. Brown of Paterson delighted all with his humorous remarks, then Keeper of Wampum Sister Andrew J. Stiglitz, accompanied by the accomplished pianist, Mrs. Caulfield, favored with a solo that was very pleasing and well rendered.

The march was led by Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A. Westphal and dancing till midnight followed.

Mr. Garvey, Chief of Records, Newcorn recited, and the (craven) District Deputy Great Sachem Abiron J. Elliott reported his district in a flourishing condition. Sachem Carney in behalf of the committee presented Sachem Abiron J. Elliott with Regalia to Past Sachem W. A. Westphal, who could scarcely find words to express his thanks.

PERSONAL.

George Webster of West Second street is ill with scarlet fever.

Mr. Rockwell of East Front street returned last night from the World's Fair.

Mr. J. B. Mills of Watchung avenue has broken ground on East Sixth street for a new house.

Mr. T. Collis Pond, of Madison avenue, is responsible for this: "Well, I guess the Lord is Dun-raven over the Valkyrie."

Mr. W. B. Fisk of New York, who recently purchased the Van Sise house on Jas. Cedar avenue will take possession some time this Fall.

Mail Carrier John Leichliour takes his vacation to-morrow, which he will spend at Lambert's Mills, N. J. His route will be delivered by Mr. William E. Sharp.

Dr. P. J. Biglio, of Mt. Bethel, and James E. Coddington of Mount Horeb left for the World's Fair yesterday morning. Druggist Rudolph was also one of the party.

Messrs. Mitchell and Simmonds of Plainfield and White of North Plainfield are on college foot ball teams this year. Mitchell and Simmonds are at Yale, and White at Princeton.

Councilman Frank Marsh and family have returned from a visit to the city of the World's Fair. Mr. Marsh rented a house in Chicago during his stay instead of going to hotels, leaving his home on Madison avenue in charge of his sisters.

Mr. William D. Craig, formerly of North Plainfield, but now of Graham, Texas, where he recently married a beautiful and charming Texan belle for a bride, were last week the guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. M. French. The couple are this week visiting friends in New York.

That most remarkably talented Professor of the Board of Education, Mr. Oberon H. Dalrymple, was last week confined to his home on West Eight street for some weeks as the result of a cold contracted in California and Seattle, but was able to be out of bed yesterday.

Mrs. Craig A. Marsh, of Eighth street, who has already been to the World's Fair with her husband, was so desirous of seeing it again that she left for Chicago last night with the Rossman tour, which started yesterday. Mr. Marsh came on the last train, after the last of the tickets had been received. Mr. Marsh may go later.

Report of the Condition OF THE City National Bank, NO. 2240,

At Plainfield, in the State of New Jersey, at the close of business

October 3, 1893,

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts	$207,212 21
Overdrafts secured and unsecured	2,000 00
U. S. bonds to secure circulation	50,000 00
Stocks, securities, etc	8,000 00
Due from approved reserve agents	20,000 00
Due from other National Banks	1,217 78
Due from State Banks and bankers	1,217 78
Real estate, furniture and fixtures	3,000 00
Other real estate and mortgages owned	4,000 00
Current expenses and taxes paid	1,000 00
Premiums paid	1,000 00
Cash items	1,000 00
Clearing-House exchanges	1,000 00
Bills of other Banks	1,000 00
Fractional paper currency, nickels and cents	1,000 00
Specie	1,000 00
Legal-Tender Notes	1,000 00
Redemption Fund with U. S. Treasurer (5 per cent. of circulation)	2,500 00
Due from U. S. Treasurer, other than five per cent. redemption fund	2,500 00
Total	$307,650 49

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock paid in	$100,000 00
Surplus fund	20,000 00
Undivided profits	8,000 00
National Bank notes outstanding	45,000 00
State Bank notes outstanding	1,000 00
Dividends unpaid	1,000 00
Individual deposits subject to check	130,650 49
Demand certificates of deposit	1,000 00
Certified checks	1,000 00
Cashier's checks outstanding	1,000 00
Due to other National Banks	17,000 00
Total	$307,650 49

STATE OF NEW JERSEY, } ss.
COUNTY OF SOMERSET, }

I, JOHN C. CORLISS, Cashier of the above-named Bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief. JOHN C. CORLISS, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 7th day of October, 1893.

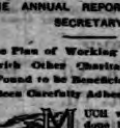
NELSON BURTON, Notary Public of N. J.

Correct—Attest:
D. F. RANDOLPH,
C. F. PERVIER,
J. W. JOHNSON, } Directors.

RELIEF ASSOCIATION.

THE ANNUAL REPORT OF THE SECRETARY.

The Plan of Working in Harmony with Other Charitable Societies Found to be Beneficial, and it has Been Carefully Adhered to.



MUCH work has been done by the Relief Association during the past year, according to the report of the secretary, which is as follows:

In presenting the work of the Relief Association for the past year with the duties devolving upon us, we do not find much that is different, either in methods or in needs. There has been the same necessity for careful investigation in all cases, and careful application of relief, not only because of kindly instinct, but also to encourage the idea of self-needs to the greatest possible extent.

The plan of working in harmony with all other charitable societies, which was adopted last year and adhered to, is found to be one of many wanted in carefully investigating those who could be otherwise provided for.

The various Kings' Daughters Societies have assisted the work of relief very materially, and have been ready and willing to work in much better advantage with them since one of their leading members has been appointed on the Executive Committee.

There has been a slight decrease in the number of cases treated by the Executive Committee during the past year over the preceding twelve months. The number of individuals included during about two hundred and seventy-two. Of this number fifty-seven cases have been entirely new applicants.

The importance of the visitors efforts is shown by the fact that many cases of ineligible applicants has perceptibly decreased since it has been fully understood that no relief will be officially granted before being investigated, except when the demand for immediate relief seems necessary. There have been a few such cases when it has been necessary to relieve by night, and in these instances it is found that the applicants could be cared for by relatives, who were quite able to provide for them.

As nearly as we can estimate the proportion of different nationalities is as follows:

Irish	89
American	37
English	6
German	5
Colored	5
Welsh	1
Scotch	1
Hungarian	1
Norwegian	1

About thirty-two of the recipients have been able to do a small amount of sewing for the Relief Association, which has been afforded them. Seven have received help throughout the year which has been in the employ of the Association, forty-one cases have needed only temporary relief.

The Employment Bureau, which forms the most important branch of our work makes the following report:

Number of persons who have received sewing	32
Number of garments made	1194
Amount earned from same	$238 80
Amount of sales from ben-Salary work	$173.75
Total amount of sales	$197.19
Parcels of second hand clothing given gratuitously	151
Value of new clothing given gratuitously	$9.40

The amount of sales has not been as large as last year, a fact very much to be regretted since the inconsiderate treatment is very conducive to keep the department in successful operation. This means of furnishing work to the women is the very best, and should be generously urged, seems more desirable than ever before, and the necessity of the time during which the hard times may bring upon us this coming Winter.

The Mother's Class which has been under Mrs. Horin's care, has held twenty meetings. The members have very much interested in the books read to them and very appreciative of the kindness. The collection taken at the last meeting, was given to Mrs. Horin, by the ladies of the Board of Managers.

The Second Dorcas has been the successful operation during the year and the treasurer reports that $1688 93 have been deposited to the credit of thirty-six individual bank accounts, while $1681 32 have been withdrawn. These accounts, $681.61 have been withdrawn by mayors who have no bank account. The number of persons paying in their dimes at the Chase Branch of his Society has been reorganized this Autumn and encouraging results are looked for in that quarter. In order to carry on this work satisfactorily, a larger number of collectors is necessary. The weekly payments of ten cents are of great value, not only in aiding the saver to become more provident, but also in the personal influence exerted. Volunteers in this work will be gladly received, and should give their names to either the secretary or the treasurer of the society. There were many articles for new garments which were donated during the Summer, but these were thoroughly appreciated by the fortunate ones who received them. Contributing Thanksgiving dinners was well sustained and about eighty-three families were provided for.

Since the Relief Association co-operates to a certain extent with the poor overseer, the following have been a special interest. In the condition of the town poor, and have been visited by the Board of Managers during the year to interest the community in securing a more satisfactory manner of caring for the poor. A committee was appointed to confer with Mayor Gilbert and to have the matter of providing a home for the poor discussed. There is fortunately it was thought to be an undertaking involving too much expense to receive any attention at present. Then the town poor are still maintained in a condition most detrimental to their own and the community's welfare. The Relief Association has done what it could to improve our system of caring for the poor.

Miss Leonard has been appointed by the World's Congress Auxiliary, for many exhibit from society for the Columbian Exposition. Miss Leonard has received a bound volume of the yearly reports of the Relief Association, with a photograph of the Home, and the Plainfield Courier, as Souvenirs. This was an satisfactory that a second copy was obtained for the Auxiliary, and will be forwarded to at any time by those who wish to get a comprehensive idea of the work of the society.

Miss Leonard also sent a historical report of the Relief Association to Prof. Otis Caldwell of Johns Hopkins University, which had been requested for use in preparing a history of Charity Organization in the United States.

We would in conclusion offer our sincere thanks to all our many friends for their generous assistance throughout the past year, and at the same time add a plea for their hearty co-operation during the coming Winter, when we shall no doubt more urgently than ever before, appreciate their sympathy and assistance.

Respectfully submitted,
MARY E. JONES,
Sec. pro tem.

The Wonderful's farm, near Mary Market, some boys found a skeleton Saturday. The Coroner said it re-buried.

Third Assembly District Convention

At Cakes County

Pursuant to resolutions adopted by the Union County Democratic Executive Committee, at a meeting held at Elizabeth, N. J., on Saturday, September 30th, 1893, for the purpose of nominating candidates for Members of the General Assembly, Coroner and Surveyor, a Convention for the Third Assembly District of the County of Union will be held at Liberty Hall, in the city of Elizabeth, on

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1893,

at 2:30 P. M.

The Convention also with the above resolutions, that the Republican voters are recommended to meet at the same time and place, and participate in the selection of delegates. Conventions will be held in the several districts on Saturday, October 28, 1893, to elect delegates to the Convention.

The number of delegates to which each ward and district is entitled, is as follows:

Ward—One delegate.
Ward—Two delegates.
Linden—Six delegates.
Rahway—Ward, one delegate. Ward, two delegates. Ward, three delegates. Third Ward, six delegates.
Elizabeth—First Ward, one delegate. Second Ward, five delegates. Third Ward, six delegates. Fourth Ward, four delegates. Fifth Ward, four delegates. Sixth Ward, four delegates. Seventh Ward, four delegates. Eighth Ward, four delegates. Ninth Ward, four delegates.
Plainfield—Six delegates.
Westfield—Six delegates.

By order of the Democratic County Executive Committee.
CHARLES N. GOODRO,
Chairman of said Convention.

Republican County Convention.

The Somerset County Republican Convention will meet at the Court House, in Somerville, on

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1893,

At 11 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of electing 10 members of the Republican County Committee, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before it.

Each township will be entitled to five delegates. The polls will be opened on the morning of the meeting between the hours of 9 and 10 o'clock A. M., and closed at 1 o'clock P. M. The following committee, consisting of one member from each township, was appointed to attend to the necessary preliminaries, and to designate places:

Somerville—Somerville Hotel, Somerville.
Bernards—Duffy's Hotel, Bernardsville.
Bridgewater—Commercial Hotel, North Branch.
Bound Brook—Hotel Somerset, Somerville.
Franklin—Baldwin's Hotel, East Millstone.
Hillsborough—Devendorf's Store, Franklinville.
Montgomery—Hotel Rocky Hill, Rocky Hill.
North Plainfield—Manse Hotel or New School House.
Warren—Mt. Bethel Hotel, Mt. Bethel.

THOMAS H. STEVENSON,
Chairman County Committee

Dated October 4, 1893.

REPORT OF THE CONDITION OF THE

First National Bank NO. 447,

At Plainfield, in the State of New Jersey, at the close of business

October 3, 1893.

RESOURCES.

Loans and Discounts	$647,193 93
Overdrafts, secured and unsecured	2,000 00
U. S. Bonds to secure circulation	50,000 00
Due from approved Reserve Agents	20,000 00
Due from other National Banks	3,646 78
Due from State Banks and Bankers	1,217 78
Real estate, furniture and fixtures	10,000 00
Other real estate and mortgages owned	4,000 00
Current expenses and taxes paid	1,000 00
Premiums paid	1,000 00
Bills of other banks	11,000 00
Fractional currency	1,000 00
Specie	1,000 00
Legal-Tender Notes	14,000 00
Redemption Fund with U. S. Treasurer (5 per cent. of circulation)	2,500 00
Total	$813,758 69

LIABILITIES.

Capital Stock paid in	$200,000 00
Surplus Fund	50,000 00
Undivided profits	23,514 70
National Bank notes outstanding	45,000 00
State Bank notes outstanding	1,000 00
Dividends unpaid	1,000 00
Individual deposits subject to check	290,243 99
Demand certificates of deposit	1,000 00
Certified checks	1,000 00
Cashier's checks outstanding	1,000 00
Due to other National Banks	16,219 00
Total	$813,758 69

State of New Jersey, } ss.
County of Somerset, }

I, D. F. Randolph, Cashier of the above-named Bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief. D. F. RANDOLPH, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 7th day of October, 1893.

NELSON BURTON, Notary Public of N. J.

Correct—Attest:
D. F. RANDOLPH,
C. F. PERVIER,
J. W. JOHNSON, } Directors.

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE.

The Vigilant Ready to Race Again.

New York, Oct. 10.—A new bowsprit is all ready for the Vigilant and there will be no postponement of the race to-morrow.

In Justice Nash's Court.

Justice Nash has issued summons in the contract case of Chamberlain & Co., vs. Ree and Hughes, assignee, vs. Clark. Both are returnable October 16, at 9:00 p. m.

Madam,

your child needs up-building food generally—

H-O Hornby's Oatmeal

contains all the elements that go to make perfect development.

Cents-Word Column.

FOR SALE.

A GOOD horse for sale. 920 West Third street. 10 10

FOR SALE—A fresh, milch cow. John Brown, Plainfield avenue, between Plainfield and New Brooklyn. 9 26

FOR SALE—At a liberal discount 7 gallon No. 1 horse or Sommer stove and Grand View steamer. No. 2, at 120 Somerset street. No. 2, Grandview avenue, first lot from Grove street. Apply at 120 Somerset street, North Plainfield. 9 6

FOR SALE—$2,500—Two dwelling and one building lot. All in West Plainfield. Titles perfect. Terms easy. Dwellings now rented. Address "S. D. Jr.," care of Evening News. 9 30

FOR SALE—New house, Park place, near Mercer avenue, (Washington Park.) Midford, broker. 9 14 tf

THE way to let the people know you have something for sale is to put that fact right under this head.

SITUATIONS WANTED.

SITUATION wanted as cook, or at general housework, in a small family. Best of references. Address "Mrs R.," care of Evening News. 10 10tf

FLUENTLY woman wishes engagement as waiter and nurse. Address "Miss E. M.," care of Evening News. 9 30

A COMPETENT woman would like to go and take care for elderly lady. Address "Mother Helper" Post Office. 9 6

A N OPPORTUNITY—$15 per month will rent a splendidly located house of 10 rooms and bath. Ground enough for a large garden. Call at Terrell street. 9 27 tf

NICELY furnished rooms to let, 215 Park avenue, opposite. 120 East Front street. 9 14

NICELY furnished rooms to let, 215 Park avenue, corner of third street. 9 14

TO LET—A furnished room with or without board to a lady. 332 East Front street. 9 1tf

TO LET—Seven room house near Fourth street, with bath and all modern conveniences. Rent in good order. Enquire, City Hall. 9 6 tf

BOARDERS WANTED.

BOARDERS—Large rooms, good table, home comforts. 21 Sanford avenue. 9 15

MISCELLANEOUS.

FREE dahlia show, at Denton's Hillside Avenue Nursery. 20 fine varieties in bloom. Take cars from Plainfield depot. 10 7

OPENING OF Fall and Winter DRESS GOODS.

We have placed on sale the Largest Assortment of DRESS GOODS ever offered in this city, and the prices lower than ever, short lengths to avoid too many dresses of a kind.

WE MENTION A FEW SPECIALS.

All Wool Bengaline at 55c. yd. Regular Price 75c.
" " Novelties at 50c. yd. Regular Price 75c.
" " Henriettas at 75c. yd. Regular Price 1.00

Cashmeres, Serges, Flannels and Cloths in large variety of colors and prices. Priestley's silk warp Dress Goods.

DRESS TRIMMINGS

In plain and changeable Ornate, Gimps, Braids, etc. We are still offering

Smith's Best Moquette Carpets at 90c. yd

It will be to your advantage to look at these goods if you are in need of carpets.

BLANKETS AND COMFORTABLES AT

EDSALL'S.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Breathing Cure.

There are two places on this globe where consumption never makes its haunt. They are respectively within the arctic and antarctic circles close around the north and south poles. These two spots, however, not being convenient or agreeable as a place of residence to the majority of mankind, it is necessary to find some other way of relieving those whose lungs are weak.

Persons who are threatened with consumption and those in whose families this disease is hereditary should try the breathing cure. It has really saved the lives of those who, so far as human intelligence could perceive, were doomed to an early grave. It consists simply in taking in all the pure air you can in long, slow breaths. Of course the seafarer should live outdoors as much as possible. Air and sunshine are rather consumption microbes. But whether outdoors or in it will help every one, consumptive or otherwise, to draw in wholly through the nostrils long, deep inhalations of the purest air he can get. Breathe slowly, but tremendously.

A brother and sister who came of a consumptive family began the breathing cure 20 years ago. The lady was so weak she could scarcely stand and had already a cough when she began taking in at every inspiration all her poor lungs would hold of the air which the Almighty has bestowed on us so lavishly. To all intents and purposes her doom was already sealed. But she persisted in the slow, deep breaths. She has today no sign of consumption about her. The brother, who began the habit of taking long, deep breaths, is noticeable anywhere for his strong lungs and well developed chest.

Even if as a matter of good looks you want to develop a fine, full chest, the way to do it is to hold your chest up, not allowing it for one moment to slump down upon your stomach, and persist in the practice of inhaling slowly all the air you can at every breath.

Fill the upper part of the lungs especially, for this is the part that gets starved of its share of air, and consequently the part on which the consumption microbes first fasten. Edwin Checkley, the athlete, says that 10 times a minute is often enough for any one to take breath. Rapid breathing exhausts the muscles concerned in the operation.

To Send a Newspaper Clipping.

We find the following editorial paragraph in reference to sending newspaper clippings in the United States. Of course it has no application to similar postoffice regulations on this side of the water. Oh, no!

> Let any one propose to send a small newspaper cutting, say an inch square, to a friend. A variety of methods of doing this are open to him. If he chooses, he can send the whole paper for a halfpenny by means of a stamp or wrapper. Or he can cut out the portion of the paper in which it is found and send that in a wrapper. Or he can inclose the paragraph in an open envelope, and a halfpenny stamp will frank it through the post. One method, however, he must not adopt—that of pasting the cutting, and that unfortunately is the easiest and simplest of them all. He must not by means of a little gum affix the little cutting to the back of a postcard, for this is contrary to "the regulations" and involves the payment of an extra penny or twopence.
>
> It would be fair to appreciate the reasonableness of this "regulation" and ask for an explanation, the postmaster will reply in courteous terms and send him a copy of the "regulations," showing that he or his correspondent has been rightly cast hanged with double penalty. No explanation is vouchsafed, possibly for the sufficient reason that none occurs to the minds of the rulers, and indeed it is difficult to imagine any justification for so absurd a rule. It seems to belong to the category of vexatious and restrictive red tapeism once so abundant in our postoffice, and apparently so dear to the hearts of some officials. Whatever there can be to a scrap of printed matter being affixed to the back of a postcard it passes the wit of a plain man to find out.

The airship, when it has come to stay, will have no balloon attachment, it is conceded. For half a century the invention of the soaring machine has delayed because men could not get away from the idea that a needle's eye had to be in its head instead of being able to be placed also in its point. Perhaps the notion that a balloon must necessarily be attached to an airship has kept back aerial navigation 100 years. The best opinion now is that the machine must be constructed so as to subdue itself to the air and then be propelled by some motive power, perhaps electricity. One writer suggests the trolley system, with the airship catching electricity from a wire hanging below it and running along the stretched wire.

A number of striking coal miners in Kansas will attempt to solve the problem before them in a practical way. They decided after deliberation not to maintain their rights by blowing up with dynamite the men who got their former places. Then they leased a coal mine and prepared to operate it themselves on the co-operative plan. If they are successful, they will prove that the business brain and the laboring brain can be combined.

Mr. Van Alen has knocked one eye out of the [illegible] and one "p" out of his name, according to the spelling of a naughty joker. The n. j. says the nine-ang letter is not an "i" but a "y," and that the right spelling of the name would be Van Allen.

An Arch-on Globe-ism: "The only time a man is willing to stay at home and take care of the house is when his wife wants him to go to prayer meeting with her."

IT WAS A FAIR VICTORY.

The Valkyrie's Designer Admits That She Was Outsailed.

SHE WAS LEFT TWO MILES ASTERN.

In a Spanking Breeze the White Yankee Sloop Showed the English Cutter a Clean Pair of Heels—An Accident to the Vigilant May Delay the Third Race.

New York, Oct. 10.—George L. Watson, designer of the Valkyrie, was asked after the race to say something on the second victory of the Yankee sloop over the English cutter, and he replied:

"They beat us. That's all there is about it, first and last. Everything was against. Vigilant outsailed us on every point."

"Was the Vigilant's success due to her model as a centerboard or to her quarter sail area?"

"I can't say. Of course she carries more sail. The Vigilant is a remarkable boat."

"Would the Valkyrie do better in a heavy, choppy sea?"

"I don't know. Vigilant outsailed us on every course and in every wind."

"Did the excursion boats bother you?"

"There was a large steamer with two funnels which came very near us several times, but that had no effect on the race, only we thought it was very bad taste. At the finish several steamers that were to leeward when the Vigilant passed the line crowded over to windward of her before we finished. But those saucy tugboats bothered us somewhat at the start."

"Have you heard whether or not Lord Dunraven intends to try for the cup again in case the Valkyrie is beaten on Wednesday?"

"I'm sure I don't know. I haven't heard."

What the Englishmen Said.

"How does Lord Dunraven take his defeat?"

"Lord Dunraven is a true sportsman. He feels all right."

Mr. Rainey, sailmaker of the Valkyrie, when asked what he thought of the race, said:

"It was perfectly fair and square. The breeze was a good deal like what we usually have in summer time in England."

"Do you think you could beat the Vigilant in a stronger breeze?"

"No, I don't think so. The wind, because she is very fast in reaching as well as on the wind."

Mr. C. Oliver Iselin, part owner of the Vigilant, said of the race:

"The result? Why, that tells the tale," and Mr. Iselin pointed to the official time card which he held in his hand. "It's a good result. Don't you think so?"

It was Great Britain's day so far as weather for a yacht race was concerned, and Lord Dunraven and all the crew of the rakish black cutter were happy when they went down the bay in the morning.

C. Oliver Iselin and the gallant crew of the plucky defender were the happy ones when the yachts came back in the afternoon. They led a triumphal procession of yachts and excursion craft up the harbor, for the Vigilant had added another victory to her score. She had walked away from the Valkyrie in a wind that topped the seas with foam and drove clouds of spray over her weather bow.

The day was an ideal one for an outside race. The air was clear as crystal. It had the vigorous freshness of October in it, and every old salt who sniffed it in the early morning predicted a blowing day.

Lord Dunraven's Daughter Aboard.

The Valkyrie arrived at the Sandy Hook lightship an hour before the time of starting. On board the Valkyrie were Lord Dunraven, Lord Wolverton and one of the latter's daughters, all of the blue yachting suit, trimmed with yellow at the neck. She seemed to be perfectly at home on the deck, and when there was any unusual activity she stood in the companion way. Others on the British yacht were Captain Cranfield, Designer Watson, Sailmaker Ratsey and a number of sailors.

On the Vigilant were C. Oliver Iselin, August Belmont, Nat Herrischoff, F. A. Willard, W. Butler Duncan, Jr., Herbert Lee, Newberry D. Lord, Augustus Hazard, who was at the tiller; Captain Terry, who looked out for the sails, and Charles Kerr, the representative of Lord Dunraven.

Before the start the excursion boats and tugs massed in two groups—one around the lightship and one around the buoy. At the request of the skipper of the Vigilant, one of the boats around the lightship moved over to the other side of the course, so that the yachts could work up the line close under the lee of the lightship without their wind being broken. The fleet made a great show on the water. The decks of the iron steamboats and river craft were black with people. All eyes were on the two yachts, which, bending gracefully in the wind and keeping well together, sailed in short reaches back and forth just to windward of the line. The Vigilant showed her Tobin bronze bottom as she heeled over and bowled along the seas occasionally dashing a cloud of spray over which flashed. The Valkyrie did not heel quite so much, but she showed some of her copper below the water line.

Yacht Lost Her Awning.

The wind was blowing 20 miles an hour when both boats went over the line within two seconds of each other. The Vigilant led by the length of her bowsprit. She made a pretty start as they started on a beat to windward of 10 miles to the first mark, which was off north Long Branch, and as a result of the start a fine view of the racing yachts was obtained from the bridge of the New York Central road over the Shrewsbury river. The Valkyrie did not heel quite so much, but she showed some of her copper below the water line.

The wind was blowing 20 miles an hour when both boats went over the line within two seconds of each other. The Vigilant led by the length of her bowsprit. She made a pretty start as they started on a beat to windward of 10 miles to the first mark, which was off north Long Branch, and as a result of the start a fine view of the racing yachts was obtained from the bridge of the New York Central road over the Shrewsbury river. The Valkyrie did not heel quite so much, but she showed some of her copper below the water line.

The damage to her bowsprit makes the American yacht's victory the more emphatic, as she was forced to take in her baby jib topsail to avoid further trouble from the tremendous tension.

MAYOR HARRISON'S ESCAPE.

A Chicago Policeman Threatens to Arrest the Mayor.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—Mayor Carter Harrison boasted that he is one of the people, and so he would not go down to the fair in a carriage on Chicago day. He started to go by train, but the crowd was so great he could not get on one. Then he tried to climb over a picket fence to go to the railroad train, but a policeman caught him and exclaimed: "All right, you old skate! What are you doing on that fence? Get off or I'll run you in."

"I'm the mayor," said the mayor suavely, "I must go to the fair. I am to ring the Liberty bell. Chicago day will not get on without me."

"It makes no difference," said the policeman, you in." Then the mayor drew himself proudly erect, showed his gold star and said, "I am mayor of Chicago."

"That's all right," said the policeman. "Put your hand on my shoulder, and I'll help you over the fence." And the mayor reached his train.

TRAIN BLOWN TO ATOMS.

Two Hundred Sheep of Peculiar Mysteriously Took Fire and Exploded.

Alliance, O., Oct. 10.—An east bound freight train on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago railroad passed through the village of North Lima a few miles east of this city. Five minutes later the inhabitants of the village were startled by a terrible explosion. The train had a car containing over 200 kegs of powder, which in some mysterious manner became ignited, causing the explosion and the complete wrecking of the train.

The track was torn to pieces for a distance of 150 yards, and an excavation 20 feet deep beneath the powder car was made. Engineer Colvin and his fireman, Thomas McCowan, were fatally burned. The damage will reach $25,000, and traffic was suspended for several hours.

Russia's Passengers Still Held.

Quarantine, N. Y., Oct. 10.—Health Officer Jenkins' statement concerning the suspected cholera steamship is as follows: "The passengers removed from the steamship Fulda and examined in camp up the harbor, for the Vigilant had added another victory to her score. She had walked away from the Valkyrie in a wind that topped the seas with foam and drove clouds of spray over her weather bow.

The day was an ideal one for an outside race. The air was clear as crystal. It had the vigorous freshness of October in it, and every old salt who sniffed it in the early morning predicted a blowing day.

Lord Dunraven's Daughter Aboard.

The Valkyrie arrived at the Sandy Hook lightship an hour before the time of starting. On board the Valkyrie were Lord Dunraven, Lord Wolverton and one of the latter's daughters, all of the blue yachting suit, trimmed with yellow at the neck. She seemed to be perfectly at home on the deck, and when there was any unusual activity she stood in the companion way. Others on the British yacht were Captain Cranfield, Designer Watson, Sailmaker Ratsey and a number of sailors.

On the Vigilant were C. Oliver Iselin, August Belmont, Nat Herrischoff, F. A. Willard, W. Butler Duncan, Jr., Herbert Lee, Newberry D. Lord, Augustus Hazard, who was at the tiller; Captain Terry, who looked out for the sails, and Charles Kerr, the representative of Lord Dunraven.

Before the start the excursion boats and tugs massed in two groups—one around the lightship and one around the buoy. At the request of the skipper of the Vigilant, one of the boats around the lightship moved over to the other side of the course, so that the yachts could work up the line close under the lee of the lightship without their wind being broken. The fleet made a great show on the water. The decks of the iron steamboats and river craft were black with people. All eyes were on the two yachts, which, bending gracefully in the wind and keeping well together, sailed in short reaches back and forth just to windward of the line. The Vigilant showed her Tobin bronze bottom as she heeled over and bowled along the seas occasionally dashing a cloud of spray over which flashed. The Valkyrie did not heel quite so much, but she showed some of her copper below the water line.

Yacht Lost Her Awning.

The wind was blowing 20 miles an hour when both boats went over the line within two seconds of each other. The Vigilant led by the length of her bowsprit. She made a pretty start as they started on a beat to windward of 10 miles to the first mark, which was off north Long Branch, and as a result of the start a fine view of the racing yachts was obtained from the bridge of the New York Central road over the Shrewsbury river. The Valkyrie did not heel quite so much, but she showed some of her copper below the water line.

The damage to her bowsprit makes the American yacht's victory the more emphatic, as she was forced to take in her baby jib topsail to avoid further trouble from the tremendous tension.

ADJOURNMENT RUMORS.

President Said to Favor That Rather Than Compromise.

READY FOR ELECTION LAW REPEAL.

The Democrats in Executive Conclave—A Majority Together—Gorman Confers with Senators—Walsh Arrives—The President.

Washington, Oct. 10.—Wild rumors bewildered the public attention are current about the capitol. The most important of these includes the possibility of an attempt to adjourn congress on the Chicago holiday. To this day, which cannot be confirmed, but which has come to the ears of various persons, the president is credited with favoring the proposal. It is said that the senate would adjourn rather than accept any compromise.

The silver question, discussing this rumor, declares they will oppose any attempt to adjourn, because such action would be a surrender of the silver cause. It was also said upon the authority of a senator whose name could be given, that the silver men would be heard and practically agreed upon. All of these statements were received with a proper amount of "salt."

If the Election Repeal Bill.

The Republicans of the house will not aid in making a quorum for the consideration of the conference report of the bill to repeal the federal election laws, and some doubt is expressed that a quorum of Democrats and Populists, who are in favor of the passage would be on hand today. Quite frequently the Republicans, by their dilatory tactics on the bill, the Democratic whip, said that there would be fully 180 Democratic representatives present and voting for it.

"There will be," said the latter, "a few absentees, but I think 10 had been withdrawn by the return of the parties. The leave of absence granted in the past month to 40 members, half had been will" but one or two exceptions made to expire today. Representative Tucker, in charge of the bill, is also counted confidently by the friends of the measure on being able to furnish enough votes to pass the bill. The voting on the bill and amendments is to begin at 1 o'clock p. m.

The house Democratic caucus last night, after a session of two hours, unanimously adopted the following resolution:

Resolved, That it is the sense of the caucus that the pending bill (house bill 2311) should be passed by the house of representatives, and that the caucus should present an unbroken column in its support.

The caucus was unusually well attended, between 140 and 150 members being present. A number of them came directly from the cars upon which they had returned to the city.

Wolcott Attacks the President.

The session of the senate was given up entirely to considering the Sherman act. That question came up in the shape of a resolution offered as a sort of personal explanation by Mr. Harris in reply to resolutions adopted at a joint meeting of the Memphis Cotton and Merchants' Exchange condemning the course of the Tennessee senators on the silver question.

Mr. Harris declared his disregard of a threat contained in the resolutions, and he said that the maintenance of his self respect was of vastly more importance to him than any office within the gift of any people.

After the reading of the resolution offered by Mr. Wolcott last Saturday, instructing the finance committee to put into legislative form the bimetallic declaration of policy contained in the Voorhees substitute. Some of the most impassioned speeches made since the opening of the debate took place on this resolution.

Mr. Wolcott criticised the president for his letter to Governor Northen of Georgia, characterizing it as "intrusive, offensive and impudent," and declared that it should exist between the legislative and executive departments of the government."

Mr. Voorhees made a speech defending the president, and asserting that the statement that it demonetized silver, even if repeated a hundred times, would not make it true.

He declared that he was ready, when the Sherman law no longer disgraced the statute books, to act promptly in carrying out the pledge in the bill contained in the platform.

The Wolcott resolution was finally sent to the calendar and the repeal bill proper taken up. Upon it Mr. Cockrell occupied the floor for the day. Mr. Hill had not concluded his remarks when the senate adjourned.

Opening of the Supreme Court.

Washington, Oct. 10.—The opening day of the October term of the supreme court of the United States attracted an unusual by large and notable attendance of counsel and others, desiring to see the new chief justice, Melville W. Fuller, and the associate justices of England. The distinguished visitor was presented to many of the attorneys and was apparently deeply interested in the proceedings of the court. He is above average size with brown hair and whiskers, distinguished shape style, and a high, broad forehead. He was gained in a measure over the white haired and florid countenance and wore the fashionable side cut.

After the court had adjourned ex-Senator Edmunds announced to members of the bar present that on Friday morning next, in the supreme court chamber, Hon. Joseph Choate of New York would deliver an address upon the late Associate Justice Blatchford.

The court begins the call of the docket today. Appeals and motions heard will probably fill up the time until Monday, when the cases from the Chinese coast on the docket.

Fourth Class Postmasters.

Washington, Oct. 10.—The following fourth class postmasters were appointed:

New Jersey—Atlantic Highlands, Mrs. Fannie Barnett, Cold Spring; Miss V. C. Foster, Willow Grove.

New York—Alfred, S. Vanarsdale, Bergen; J. N. Kimball, Bristol Center; D. M. Cooper, Bristol Springs; Mrs. Ida Cooper, Canaseraga; Miss Ella Gilbert, Cedarville station; Jesse Bowen, Hamburgville; D. J. Flynn, Hartsburg; C. F. Fuller, Jr., Hartsburg; Miss Ella Hamilton, Hartsville; L. A. Cummings, Naverstraw; W. H. Card, Owasco Valley; C. L. King, Quaker; David Hallock, Quogue; Miss Sarah Horton, Van Etten; W. S. Coon, Venice Center; C. L. Fry, Wells; E. J. Dyer, Wellsburg.

Pennsylvania—W. S. Miller, Bakerstown; Miss E. V. Pedrick, Chester Valley; Samuel Lapsley, Beaver; Nathan Jones, Bethel; J. F. Bellis, Bethlehem; Miss Sarah Bailey, Lansdale; P. H. Walsh, Lenape; A. R. Bartley, Perkiomen; J. J. Callahan, Glenside; W. H. Hutchison, Lee.

Van Alen Not Yet Confirmed.

Washington, Oct. 10.—The nomination of J. J. Van Alen to be ambassador to Italy was received by the senate in executive session today, but was not confirmed when taken up.

Two Children Burned With the House.

Michigan, Oct. 10.—Will Davis and wife locked their two children in the house while they went into the cornfield. When they returned the house was destroyed by fire, and the children were burned to death.

Three Thousand Have Strikers.

Buffalo, Oct. 10.—Three thousand more glaziers have struck in this town.

Mrs. Theresa Herrera

"For fourteen years I have suffered with the most terrible pains in my back that sometimes I could not sleep. I have taken bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla. I feel like a new person, my backache nothing; have all gone. Life and my work are a pleasure to me. I owe it to Hood's Sarsaparilla." Mrs. Theresa Herrera, Salina, N. Y.

Hood's Pills cure Constipation by restoring the peristaltic action of the alimentary canal.

JOSEPH SOHL,
PRACTICAL
Electrician
49 NORTH AVENUE,
Plainfield, N. J.
Estimates furnished on Electric Light Wiring, Burglar Alarms and Bell Work, and Repairing of same. Dynby in

Electric and Gas Fixtures.

Madame Iza Lezem's Conservatory
will open on
Friday, October 6,
from 2 to 5 p. m., in HULETT'S HALL, for instruction in Physical Culture, Elocution, Deportment, Singing, Violin, Piano,
Society and Fancy Dancing.
Reception on October 3, from 2 to 5 p. m., to which all ladies are cordially invited.
For particulars, address to the Hall, or 339 West Front street. 10 2 tf

The only place to buy
Sea Food!
is at
TERRY'S
North Avenue Sea Food Market,
where you will find the biggest Stock in Plainfield. Also, all other kinds in season, at the lowest prices.

OPENING
of Fall and Winter
Millinery and Jackets,
Wednesday, Thursday and Friday,
SEPTEMBER 13, 14 AND 15.
Having remodeled and greatly enlarged our Millinery Department we are, this season, able to show one of the largest and finest lines Millinery second to none in the State, and at New York City prices. Our Trimmer, Miss Dunn, has made the selection of Miss Carrie Kinsey, whose artistic style of arranging goods is well known to the ladies of Plainfield, who will also open on above dates, a line of Fall Jackets for Ladies, Misses and Children.

Boehm's.

A. W. Rand,
145 WEST FRONT STREET.
New and second hand
SCHOOL - BOOKS.
School supplies of all kinds.
Those wishing to exchange second hand books must bring them in immediately

Van Eps,
THE NEW JEWELER.
12 Park Avenue. Also a large variety of Musical Goods.

World's Fair Excursion Tickets!
Going and returning via all the different lines, with or without hotel accommodations at
FRANK'S
Lowest Rate Railroad and Steamship Agency,
345 AND 347 BROADWAY, Corner Leonard Street, NEW YORK.
Lowest rates to all parts of the World. Tickets purchased and exchanged. Sleeping berths reserved. Baggage transferred.
MEMBER AMERICAN TICKET BROKERS' ASSOCIATION. 10 5 3m

Educational.

HARNED ACADEMY,
BOARDING AND DAY SCHOOL.
New School Building.
Competent Instructors.
Students Prepared for College, for Business, and
In Special Subjects.
For circulars, address "Harned Academy, Plainfield, N. J.

Plainfield Manual Training School,
209 EAST FRONT STREET.
The course of study includes fifteen lessons each week, in the various branches taught, for which the charge is two dollars per week. Lessons in any of the branches can be taken singly, at correspondingly low prices. Visitors will be welcome on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons and Fridays. JOHN DALZIEL, Principal.

Plainfield Seminary,
Re-opened
SEPTEMBER 14, 1893,
(28th year.)
MISS E. R. KENYON, Principal.

FRENCH LESSONS.
Mlle. Bonnard, entertainment in French Language, or private lessons at residence of pupils. Address, 127 Park avenue, or 339 West Front street, Plainfield.
Instruction from Professor Bonnard, Graduate of the Sorbonne, Paris, in French, German, Italian, Spanish, Latin and Greek, can now be had at 127 Park avenue, Plainfield, or 339 West Front street, Plainfield.

MISS FAWCETT'S
Kindergarten, Primary and Intermediate School, 19 Madison avenue. French, Music, Drawing, Calisthenics. An opportunity to join a class in French, Music and Drawing, Monday, from 2 to 5 p. m.

MISS JEANNETTE MATTHEWS,
Teacher of Piano, Organ, lessons at her studio parlors or at pupils' residences. Pupils may have regular practice hour at studio parlors. Liberal terms to classes. Best references. 105, 33 East Front street.

GERMAN SCHOOL.
Dr. Conrad Grieshaber and Mercer avenue, opens on Saturday, October 14, 1893, at 10 o'clock a. m. Rev. E. Kronke. 10 5 1m

Are You Insured?
If you are 21 years old $97.10 paid annually for fifteen years would entitle you to $1,000,
If 22 years old, $97,
If 23 years old, $97.10,
If 24 years old, $97.30.
This sum of $1,000 is payable to the insured, if living, at the expiration of fifteen years, or at his death if prior.
FOR A LIFE POLICY, of $1,000 the annual payments to continue during life, the payments for young men between 21 and 24 are between $18.60 and $20.
For further particulars address Henry D. Morrison, 11 Spencer street, agent The New York Mutual Life Insurance Company.

F. M. HULETT,
MUSIC DEALER,
74 West Front Street,
handles the following makes:
Gildemeister & Kroeger.
Kranich & Bach,
Starr,
Hallett,
Jacob Bros. Pianos,
and the world-renowned
Berman Bros. and Mason & Hamlin Organs.

New : Proprietor!
HENRY F. WINDHAM,
Arlington : Hotel!
Fairmount street and Greenbrook road.
Regular and transient boarders.
First-class bar and stables attached.

Van Eps,
THE NEW JEWELER.
12 Park Avenue. Also a large variety of Musical Goods.

$55!
Six Days at the World's Fair.
A WEEK OF HOLIDAYS.
Railroad tickets, hotel accommodations, admission tickets, and eleven attractive features provided, including two concerts by the 70 school, church, military, musical and social CLUBS, by parties of Plainfield people, to suggest and take care of tickets, police business and lodging, we offer special advantages. Write or send money by registered letter at once. We have exclusive arrangements with the great railways terminal in Chicago.
Send for circulars, or call at office at Rahway, and we will give you prices.
WORLD'S COLUMBIAN TOURIST COMPANY,
239 Broadway, New York.
GEORGE C. McEWEN,
Agent for New Jersey,
404 Broad street, Newark.

THE BEE HIVE!
Infants' long Cashmere Cloaks, $1.50, $2.00, $2.25.
Children's Elder down Coats, $1.48, $2.00, $2.25.
Also a full line of Flannel Skirts, Infants' Shawls and Sacks.

Fall : Underwear.
Children's merino Vests and Pants, 16-inch, 12c., 18-inch, 15c., 20-inch, 19c., 22-inch, 22c., 24-inch, 25c.
Ladies' natural wool Vests and Pants, 16-inch, 20c., 18-inch, 25c., 20-inch, 30c., 22-inch, 35c., 24-inch, 40c.

SPECIAL!
Ladies' Ribbed Vests, long sleeves, 25c.
Ladies' Merino Vests, 25c., 35c. and 50c.
Ladies' Fleece Lined Vests, $1.00 and $1.50.
Ladies' Natural Wool Vests, 50c.
Men's White Merino shirts and Drawers, 25c., 50c. and 75c.
Men's Natural Wool Shirts and Drawers 75c. and $1.00.
Men's Scarlet t-hirts and Drawers, 75c., $1.00 and $1.25.

Louis Callman,
223 West Front Street.

The New Address
of Seguine's Livery Stable
is 18 West Second Street,
in the Elkwood building.
Telephone Call, 39]
Fine horses, carriages, vehicles of all kinds. Horses boarded. Careful drivers.

Cleaner Coal!
L. A. Rheaume Ag't,
4 BROADWAY, COR. FOURTH STREET,
Invites the public to inspect the operations of his newly added steam vibrating screen, by which means he is enabled to confidently recommend his coal to deliver cleaner and more free from dust than by any other method of screening.
Queen Lehigh and Honeybrook Coal in each quantities and various sizes carried in stock.
Rouge and Bernice Lumber.
We would also announce recently increased facilities for handling and delivering lumber, and respectfully solicit a continuance of the same in the best manner at short notice.

Miscellaneous Cards.
H. M. SPENCER,
Dealer in Groceries and Provisions, 70 and 72 Second street. Pure cider vinegar, 2 years old, 20c. per gallon. C. C. C. pickles, sweet, sour, mixed, chow-chow, mustard, cucumber pickles, cabbage, lettuce, tomato, pepper, cauliflower, sweet potato, and egg plants in season.

PLAINFIELD
BOULDER EXCAVATING COMPANY

JONES & CO.
Work quickly and thoroughly done. Estimates given. Our prices reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed or the money refunded. Perfect control of Quarries at Fort Lewis, Garden and Peach Orchard.
P. O. box 433 Telephone call 39

The Dime Savings Institution
of
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually
JOHN W. MURRAY, President.
WILLIAM D. SEYB, Vice-President.
NATHAN HARPER.
ELIAS R. POTTS, Treasurer.

THE FAIR'S BIG DAY.

It Is Estimated That 700,000 People Attended on Chicago Day.

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—Seven hundred thousand people—doubtless the greatest crowd that ever congregated—visited the World's fair on Chicago day, breaking the record at one day record at Paris by an overwhelming majority and completely smothering the "big one" figures of any other exposition ever held.

By the time the gates opened fully 1,000 people besieged each passage eager for admission. From that hour until late in the afternoon there was a constant jam at every gate. The department of admissions and an extra force on duty, and every turnstile was kept registering at its highest speed. Yet these facilities were inadequate. At 3 o'clock Superintendent Tucker ordered every wagon gate opened and abandoned a corps of men at each to take tickets, relieving the pressure from without to a marked degree. The official figures will be given out some time today, as the great mass of tickets nearly swamped the department of admissions.

Previous to this ever memorable day the palm for large attendance rested with Independence day, July 4, when the attendance was 283,272.

The display of fireworks on the lake front adjoining the Peristyle exceeded in magnificence any heretofore given in the United States, if not in the world. The special pyros were illustrative of old Fort Dearborn, the old city hall, Chicago welcoming the world and Old Glory, carried by Mr. Baldwin, the aeronaut, into the heavens.

A remarkable feature in connection with the celebration was the comparatively small number of accidents and Emergency hospital cases. Not more than 150 people had been taken to the hospital before the multitude started surging homeward. Nearly all of those who were received at the hospital needed only temporary treatment. James Malcomb, a prominent ranch owner of California, died at the hospital during the afternoon of apoplexy.

Long before the last bomb of fireworks had been exploded on the lake front there was a dangerous jam of people on the highway leading to the elevated railroad station and the Sixty-fourth street gates. The precautions taken by the police and officers of the guards to resist the human tidal wave, which swept toward the street and the stairway leading to the elevated railroad, were inefficient, and many men and women were injured in the crush. It was nearly morning when the grounds were cleared of the great crowd. Thomas Robertson of Fremont, Minn., while returning from the grounds, was struck by a cable car and died on the way to the hospital.

Miantonomoh Sunk a Tugboat.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The tugboat William Alexander, while going from Hoboken to Brooklyn, came into collision with the United States monitor Miantonomoh. The monitor's heavy sea anchor projecting over the side raked the Alexander fore and aft, punching holes in the deckhouse, and as a general climax wing a hole in her bilge. The tug was towed to the Hoboken flats, where she sank in a few minutes. Captain Van Name of the tug Alexander says he will bring suit against the government for the damage. The Miantonomoh was not injured.

Blood Poisoned by a Cow's Tooth.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Oct. 10.—Mr. Charles W. Haight, a well known farmer, who lives near New Hackensack, Dutchess county, is in a serious condition at his home from the effects of blood poisoning incurred in a very peculiar manner. A large apple became lodged in the throat of a favorite Guernsey cow, and Mr. Haight attempted to remove the obstruction. In withdrawing his hand the back of it was slightly scratch by a decayed tooth.

A Swell Wedding in Kentucky.

COVINGTON, Ky., Oct. 10.—At the Trimble mansion, on Madison avenue, Mrs. Kate Trimble de Roode, well known in New York and London society, became the bride of Edward Winslow Wells, a millionaire clubman of New York. The bride's costume was the Worth gown in which she was once presented to Queen Victoria.

Shot His Wife on the Street.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10.—John T. Kelly, 39 years old, shot and fatally wounded his wife Maggie, about 10 years younger, in the presence of a number of onlookers at Twelfth and Race streets. The shooting is the culmination of several years of unhappy married life.

Killed by a Drop Car in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—Charles A. Clark, living in Buffalo, while attempting to cross Madison street at Morgan street in front of an east bound grip car, was struck and so seriously injured that he died in two hours. Mr. Clark came to Chicago to see the World's fair.

A New Pasteur Institute.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The New York Pasteur Institute, Ninety-seventh street and Central Park west, was formally opened. The institution, which is philanthropic, was founded and will be supported by its president, Dr. Paul Gibier.

Encouraging Outlook In New Bedford.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Oct. 10.—The business outlook this week is certainly encouraging. With but few exceptions all the cotton mills have started up on full time, and there is every reason to believe that full hours will continue.

A Memorial Tablet to Booth.

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 10.—It is reported here that Miss Edwina Booth, daughter of the late Edwin Booth, as a memorial to her father, will place a marble tablet in Berkley Memorial chapel, Middletown.

An Aged Apple Picker's Fatal Fall.

UTICA, N. Y., Oct. 10.—William Roberts, aged 70 years, fell from a ladder while picking apples and broke his neck. The high wind caused the ladder to slip.

Commissioners of Foreign Missions.

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 10.—The eighty-fourth annual meeting of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions begins this afternoon.

Killed by White Caps.

DRESDEN, Tenn., Oct. 10.—Bob Hudson, colored, was shot and killed while defending his wife, who was being whipped by the white caps.

A Boy Accidentally Kills His Friend.

BARTLON, N. Y., Oct. 10.—Charles Swinson, 17 years old, was accidentally shot and killed by his friend Dennis Sullivan, of the same age.

Mrs. Hickey, Aged 104, Dies.

GREAT BARRINGTON, Mass., Oct. 10.—Mrs. Ann Hickey died here, aged 104. She was born in County Clare, Ireland.

Latin Union Conference Begun.

PARIS, Oct. 10.—The Latin union conference opened in this city.

HOW DID DR. OLNEY DIE?

The Mystery to Be Investigated by the Authorities.

MISS WHITE'S VARYING STORIES.

The Spiritualist Who Was Drowned at Onset Bay Was a Nephew of the United States Attorney General—Miss White Was a Medium, and the Two Were Friends.

WAREHAM, Mass., Oct. 10.—There is a deal that is strange about the death of Dr. Charles Theodore Olney of Brooklyn, a nephew of the attorney general of the United States. He was drowned Saturday night in Onset bay, and time does not seem to be doing much to clear it up.

Gussie White, the young woman who came to Onset Bay with Dr. Olney only two weeks ago, told, when taken from the water, a peculiar story about hearing him screaming wildly and having gone out in a boat in a vain effort to rescue him. She has had a chance to retell her story. She is a peculiar woman and a spiritualist. When questioned Saturday night, she said Dr. Olney told her when he started for the shore that he was going for a swim. Then, she says, she thought there was trouble in store and followed him.

Miss White's Explanation.

The people at the Bliss cottage, where both Dr. Olney and Miss White have been boarding, say that he was in an unusually good humor at the tea table just before going out.

The fact that he had all of his clothing on when found leads to the conviction that he could not have intended suicide. If he had been overturned from a boat by accident, as Miss White has suggested might have been the case, the boat would have been picked up. No sign of boat or oars has been found.

Dr. Olney was a giant in strength and a capital swimmer. These facts, people here think, make it unlikely that he would take that method of suicide even if he were bent on self destruction.

When she talked Sunday, too, Miss White said the doctor was suffering with a bowel complaint Friday, and that might have unsettled his mind. No other evidence pointing to such a conclusion can be found.

One thing is certain. The people here are not by any means satisfied that Miss White's story is true, or if it is that she has told all she knows about events preliminary to his death. Deputy Sheriff James W. Hoyle has taken up the case and says he will demand a searching examination. He took the first step today, when Medical Examiner George L. Ellis of Middleboro came here to hold the inquest.

The deputy sheriff presided at the hearing, which was held at Cornell Brothers' undertaking shop, where Olney's body lies. Miss White, who, by the way, was the only friend Dr. Olney had here, was questioned. She had calmed down somewhat since Sunday and told a clearer story.

The Deputy Sheriff Will Investigate.

She had said Sunday, she testified, that she had known Dr. Olney in New York for over a year, and that when he came to Onset Bay she took a room at the Bliss cottage, and had been near him much of the time up to the hour of his death. She admitted that he was more or less wild; that sometimes he had plenty of money, and at other times absolutely none. For two days last week he was sick and had drank freely. It was because she had feared that he would go to drinking again that she followed him to the bathing beach as she did.

Minor witnesses were heard and hearing closed. Then Medical Examiner Ellis told a reporter that his belief was that the drowning was accidental and that he should issue a certificate for the removal of the body at once.

"Whatever the man's condition may have been," said the examiner, "his death was certainly caused by drowning." Dr. Ellis implied that he believed Dr. Olney to be of unsound mind. The deputy sheriff is by no means so easily satisfied. He wants the mystery cleared up. What the authorities will do cannot be learned.

A friend of Dr. Olney, who lives near Boston, said that the doctor had acquired a reputation as a "high roller" long before he left Boston to go to Brooklyn. He was a native of Taunton and came of the old Olney family. He was prominent in the Order of Elks, and J. T. McCarthy, a fellow Elk, came here from Lynn today to take the body to Taunton. The townspeople are greatly wrought up about Dr. Olney's death and the accompanying mystery.

What the Sneezers Say.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The morning papers print the following today: Boarders at 496 State street, Brooklyn, where Dr. Olney and Gussie White used to live, say the doctor had been very popular there. He was jolly, and his friends liked to hear him sing. Miss White always played his accompaniments. She came to the house last January, and he followed a fortnight later. They gave no sign of having known one another before, but became warm friends right away. Miss White the boarders didn't like. She is a big, dark eyed looking woman, with short, dark hair and keen eyes, and had, they say, a violent temper. She was very reticent about herself.

Once, when some one passed a remark about the intimacy between Miss White and Dr. Olney, she said: "I compliment myself that I have more influence over him than any one living. In fact I might brag of it if I chose."

Miss White was known to have strong hypnotic power, though she had never made any manifestation of it there. She was deeply devoted to spiritualism and went with Olney to seances.

It became gossip in the house that Olney and Miss White had traveled together in Europe. When, later, the woman was requested to leave the house, she went with much less protest than had been expected.

She seemed to have plenty of money, and she and the doctor indulged liberally in wines and liquors.

De Lesseps Reported Dying.

PARIS, Oct. 10.—Count Ferdinand de Lesseps was this morning reported to be dying. All the members of his family had been summoned to his bedside.

Marshal MacMahon Very Ill.

PARIS, Oct. 10.—Marshal MacMahon's illness has assumed a dangerous appearance. Concern is felt for the outcome of the present attack.

Troubles With Boston Printers.

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—The union printers employed on the Boston Telegram were locked out, and nonunion men and women put in their places.

A Big Fire In a Small Town.

ACKLEY, Ia., Oct. 10.—The entire business portion of Parkersburg, 15 miles east of here, was burned

FIGHT IN MIDAIR.

A Drunken Painter's Reckless Action on a Telephone Pole.

ATLANTA, Oct. 10.—A drunken painter named Tucker gave a war dance on the narrow platform at the top of a telephone pole 90 feet above the ground. He carried up a flask of whisky and a can of green paint. With the paint he colored himself green from belt to crown. Then he sang and yelled and danced, attracting a great crowd.

He swung himself from the right of the platform and dangled there in the air, to the horror of the crowd below. Two linemen were telephoned for and climbed up. One got through the fireplace when Tucker shut it and would not let the other up.

He assaulted the lineman on the platform, and they had a thrilling fight. Tucker tried to throw the lineman off, but the latter finally got in a blow with his slippers on Tucker's head, knocking him senseless. Tucker was then let down with a rope and taken to the police station.

Denounced Their Senators.

KNOXVILLE, Oct. 10.—At a large and representative meeting of business men held here the following resolution was adopted: "We unhesitatingly say that in taking the position they do on this vitally important question the senators from Tennessee do not represent the sentiments, feelings and wishes of a large majority of people of free states, and therefore charge them with being unfaithful to the great trust confided to them." The resolution further charges Senators Harris and Bate with leading Democrats as instruments to be used by men interested in the production of silver.

Ernst Knocked Out.

COney ISLAND, N. Y., Oct. 10.—Billy Ernst was defeated by Horace Leeds of Atlantic City in the ring of the clubhouse for a purse of $2,500. Leeds punched him out in the eighth round. Ernst's ending was not wholly unfortunate.

1893 TAXES!

Notice is hereby given to the taxpayers of the

City of Plainfield,

that the taxes assessed in said city for the year 1893 are now due and payable, and that if the said taxes be not paid by the

20th Day of December

next, the names of the defaulters, with their respective taxes, will be returned to the City Judge for the prosecution. The

COMMISSIONERS OF APPEAL

in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council Chamber, on the

Fourth Tuesday in November Next.

(the 28th,) and sit from two o'clock p m. until five o'clock p m, or longer, if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

JOHN JOHNSON,
Collector of Taxes.

Dated, Plainfield, N. J., October 2, 1893.
10 2 td

Another one in the race, and

A. G. VOGELER

takes the lead.

LOOK AT THESE PRICES.

Porterhouse Steak	15c.
Sirloin	12c.
Round	12c.
Rib	8c.
Roast Beef	10c
Lamb Chops	14c.
Veal	10c.
Leg Mutton	12c.
Spring Lamb	12c.
Shoulder Spring Lamb	12c.
Jersey Hams	15c.
Fresh Pork	10c.
Fresh Sausage	10c.
Pickled Tripe	5c.
Pickled Pigs' Feet	5c.

Headquarters for Bologna. Bologna made fresh twice a day. Call and get your money's worth.

Union Meat Market,

131 WEST FRONT STREET.
9 14 tm A. G. Vogeler, Manager.

ROCHESTER BEERS.

The success already attained by this brand of Lager Beer in Rochester and other cities where handled in this city has had such remarkable sales. Try it!

Bottled Liquors,

Imported Beers and Ales are having a very large sale at this season. My stock is first class, and it will pay you to call and see it.

FRANK LINKE'S

Wholesale Liquor Establishment,
42 WEST FRONT STREET.
Telephone Call, 169.

VIGOR OF MEN

Easily, Quickly, Permanently Restored.

Weakness, Nervousness, Debility and all the train of evils from early errors or later excesses, the result of overwork, sickness, worry, mental anxiety, overexertion, loss of manhood and lost power to exercise the reproductive organs and perfect manhood restored. Impotency, Nightly Emissions, Lost Power, Failing Memory, Wasting Diseases and Pimples on the face, quickly and forever cured. Avoid imitations. Book, explanation and proofs (sealed) free.

ERIE MEDICAL CO., Buffalo, N.Y.

Do You?

Intend to invest in a

WHEEL?

If so, call on

Dickinson,

The Optician.

Agent for the Excelsior, the best wheel in the market. 4 styles, 28, 30, 32 and 41 lbs. Wheels to hire at reasonable rates.

COTTOLENE

What is it

?

It is the new shortening taking the place of lard or cooking butter, or both. Costs less, goes further, and is easily digested by anyone

AT ALL GROCERS.

Made only by
N. K. FAIRBANK & CO.,
CHICAGO, and
124 N. Delaware Ave., Phila.

Send three cents in stamps to N. K. Fairbank & Co., Chicago, for their handsome cook book containing one hundred recipes. Mention this paper.

Stoves For Winter,

Hardware of all Kinds,

Everything From Tacks to Furnaces.

A. M. GRIFFEN,

13 East Front Street. Telephone 6.

Metropolitan Livery and Boarding Stables!

Coaches, Close Carriages, Park Phaetons, Surreys, Buggies, Pony Phaetons and Saddle horses.

Especial care given boarding horses. Storage for furniture and carriages.

149 AND 157 NORTH AVENUE,

Opposite depot. Telephone Call, 44.

H. B. RIDER, Proprietor. FRANK DAY, Manager

Do Your Corns Hurt?

They can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of

ELECTRIC

Corn Cure.

A remedy that never fails. A guarantee is sent with each box, that if a complete cure is not made, the money is to be refunded at once. Price, 50cts. per box. Sent by mail to any address on receipt of price. Result by postal note received. (Silver or coin.) A book of testimonials with each box.

ALLEN & CO.,
6 19 tf Lock Box 38, Richmond, Va.

MORE SLAUGHTER!

to close out our entire line of

Neglige SHIRTS!

We offer them at the ridiculously low price of

85 CENTS.

These goods are worth $1.25 and $1.50. If you don't need 'em now, buy and keep until next season. Save 40c. from $1.25—40c on each.

Hallock & Davis,

New number, 109 West Front street, opposite Somerset street.

Special Notices.

New York Law School

120 Broadway, New York City. Incorporated 1891. Number of students, 1891-92, 2031; 1892-93, 2600. Large list added in United States, except Ga. "Purple medley" of Instruction. Degree of LL.B. given after two years' course. Graduate course now added. Tuition fee, $100. Reopens October 2, 1893. Address GEORGE CHASE, Dean. 9 7 3m

U. B. CRANE,

has the largest stock of

Fine Fall HATS,

in Plainfield.

12 WEST FRONT STREET.

TAKE NOTICE.

Charles Arnold,

the butcher,

Is Still in the Race

for cut prices.

Fresh Pork and Sausage 12c. lb.
My own Dressed Jersey Chickens, 18c. lb.
Legs Mutton, 10c. lb.
Lamb, 12c. lb.
My Smoked Meats and all other Meats will be the same old cut prices.

Arnold's : Market,

208 LIBERTY STREET.

GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE.

Strictly Cash.

Great Bargains

in all grades of

WALL PAPERS,

for the next 60 days.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

29 EAST FRONT STREET.

The Vandertilts and Astors!

Use the same make of imported Table Oil, Cheese and French Sardines that I now have in stock.

THEY ARE DELICIOUS.

And then I personally select the

FRESH FISH!

I have on sale to-day and to-morrow. Call and see my stock.

JULES BOVEY,

60 Somerset Street.

H. De MOTT,
Graduate of United States Embalming College.
UNDERTAKER : AND : EMBALMER,
Office at residence, 178 Somerset Street.
4 tuthsdo, N. J.

Townsend's Marble Works,

30 Somerset Street.

Builders Cards.

Daniel Hulick,

Carpenter

and

General Jobber.

SHOP,

35 Jackson Avenue.

Storm doors and weather strips a specialty.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

Window Screens made to order.

John P. Emmons,

MASON AND BUILDER,

Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place.

Jobbing promptly attended to.

P. O. Box 668.

DIBBON & GAYLE,

Carpenters and Builders.

W. J. Dibbon, No. 13 Vine street. H. B. Gayle, No. 12 Vine street.
All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM G. SMITH,

PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER.

All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.

Residence—Grandview avenue,

P. O. Box 82.

R. V. SAUER,

Carpenter & Builder.

Residence—Clinton avenue, near depot, Dunellen.

P. O. Box 1288

Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.

JACOB M. HIGGINS,

PRACTICAL MASON AND CONTRACTOR.

P. O. Box 265. Residence Dr street, 9 25 y near Howard.

JOHN ARNOTT,

Practical Carpenter and Builder. Estimates cheerfully given. Orders left at Arnott's grocery, Park avenue, will receive prompt attention. P. O. Box 1016.

ALFRED E. NELSON,

Civil Engineer and Surveyor, No. 2 East Front street, Plainfield, N. J. Maps of all kinds made to order. Surveying in all its branches. Also on the United States Coast Survey. All work guaranteed. 10 7y

59c. 59c. 59c. 59c.

SALE!

of

KID GLOVES!

4 button length, tan, modes, brown and black, all sizes, 89c to 75c

59c. 59c. 59c. 59c.

GEO. L. VAN EMBURGH & SON.

FRONT STREET, OPPOSITE PARK AVENUE. UNDER THE BANK.

Now is Your Chance.

GRAND CLOTHING OPENING, at our retail store, 318 West Front street. Are you ready? We are prepared to offer the public a clean, fresh stock of Fall and Winter Clothing, for Men, Boys and Children. Remember, we sell at retail at the wholesale prices.

C. SCHEPFLIN & CO.,

318 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

Timely Warning! Winter Approaching!

Keep your Scalp Clean and your Hair Growing.

RANDOLPH'S Quinine and Glycerine

HAIR TONIC!

The Friend in the Hour of Need.

EACH BOTTLE GUARANTEED. Sold only by

L. W. RANDOLPH, Prescription Druggist,

148 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

Successors to

The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,

Dealers in

Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials

42 to 60 PARK AVENUE.

Are now prepared with their increased facilities, (having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs. A. D. Cook & Bro.,) to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

Railroad Time Table.

CENTRAL RAILROAD OF NEW JERSEY

(Anthracite coal used exclusively insuring cleanliness and comfort.)

Station in New York, foot of Liberty street. Time-table in effect July 23, 1893.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield at 2 14, 3 37, 5 30, 6 45, 7 30, 8 30, 10 30, 11 30 a m, 12 00, 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p m, 12 01 night. 2 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a m, 12 00, 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p m, 12 01 night.

Leave Plainfield at 2 14, 3 37, 5 30, 6 45, 7 30, 8 30, 10 30, 11 30 a m, 12 00, 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p m, 12 01 night. 2 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a m, 12 00, 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p m, 12 01 night.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield at 6 15, 6 30, 6 45, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a m, 12 00, 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p m, 12 01 night. 2 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a m, 12 00, 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p m, 12 01 night.

PLAINFIELD AND BOUND BROOK.

Leave Plainfield at 7 15, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a m, 12 00, 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p m, 12 01 night. 2 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a m, 12 00, 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p m, 12 01 night.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield at 7 15, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a m, 12 00, 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p m, 12 01 night. 2 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a m, 12 00, 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p m, 12 01 night.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

Leave Plainfield,

5 15 a m, for Somerville, Bound Brook, Allentown, Bethlehem, Easton, Phillipsburg, Flemington, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Binghamton, Buffalo, Chicago and the West.

8 30 a m, for Somerville, Bound Brook, Allentown, Bethlehem, Easton, Phillipsburg, Flemington, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Binghamton, Buffalo, Chicago and the West.

3 30 p m, for Somerville, Bound Brook, Allentown, Bethlehem, Easton, Phillipsburg, Flemington, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Binghamton, Buffalo, Chicago and the West.

7 30 p m, for Somerville, Bound Brook, Allentown, Bethlehem, Easton, Phillipsburg, Flemington, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Binghamton, Buffalo, Chicago and the West.

8 30 p m, for Somerville, Bound Brook, Allentown, Bethlehem, Easton, Phillipsburg, Flemington, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Binghamton, Buffalo, Chicago and the West.

SOME WOMEN SCRIBES

A CAUSTIC CRITICISM OF THEIR ANATHEMAS AGAINST THE SEX.

Editorial Work That Is Misapplied and Unappreciated In This Era of Enlightenment and Universal Reading—The Conventional Woman's Page.

The estimate of the editor of the average "woman's page" is the newspaper is, upon the whole, not flattering to the intelligence of the sex. They have, first of all, one important fact to learn, and that is that women are asleep, with few exceptions, read the entire paper—news, specials, editorial page and all. The woman of ordinary brains may not wade through long congressional debates, but in this respect she differs little from the generality of men. She does, however, read the Washington dispatches and is generally found to have a pretty good idea of the attitude of the leading political parties upon all leading questions. This is true not only of the city women, the club women and the teacher, but it is equally or still more true of farmers' wives and the women of the country towns and villages.

It has been my good fortune to know women well in nearly every walk of life—women who work with their hands, who sew and scrub and wash; women on the farms and in the schools and colleges, both as teachers and students, with many others in the professions—artists, writers, singers and actors. I have had the privilege of hearing them talk and in talking with them upon those topics in which they are most interested. An eminent English writer once said that he gauged the intelligence of a people by the proportion of generalities to personalities in their conversation. It is a safe test, and, moreover, one of those rules that work both ways.

With a knowledge of women in the sense of a profession where there are few distinctions made, I have also had unusual opportunity to talk with men under somewhat unusual circumstances, in their offices, in the excitement of political campaigns, in their plans of business, where weighty matters of partisan interest or statesmanship were being discussed, and I am ready to affirm that it was difficult to decide in whose conversation, that of men or women, personalities most abound.

Many years ago, while connected with a country paper, I went one day in the week to the courthouse to collect news relating to the appointment of guardians and administrators and similar information. I recall vividly that upon these rounds I frequently gathered up more town gossip than I ever heard at all the church socials and tea drinkings I managed to attend between times. "Jurist" was quite an unpretentious and authoritative within the stronghold of justice as it was in the parlors of my women friends.

If a wife left her husband, if a husband deserted his wife, if there were irregularities in the conduct of any man or woman in the 23-square-mile bailiwick of my woman—it was known to the clerks and lawyers in that courthouse for some time before it became a common topic for feminine gossip.

I do not intend by the statement to reflect upon either men or women, but to show what I have always believed, because it has been so unvaryingly demonstrated—that is, that there is a vast deal of human nature in both men and women. Taking into account the difference of their training (a vital matter always), men and women are interested, in about the same degree.

It is a fine to be borne in mind that within the past 20 years the public schools have done an immense deal toward broadening women's minds, enlightening them and giving them a capacity for the intelligent consideration of questions beyond dress and personalities. I do not mean that they have lost their interest in either of those—the woman who has no regard for personal appearance is less than half a woman—but they are interested quite as deeply in much besides.

For this reason the conventional page, in nine cases out of ten, is an insult to both head and heart. Conspicuous in its columns are silicone caricatures of fashion, women with wasp waists, attenuated arms and faces as expressionless as a piece of paper. With these edifying illustrations are articles dealing with the indecency of women's character, with their uncharitableness and cruelty toward each other; their feminine, their stupid and senseless blunders, with dissertations upon their lack of honesty, interspersed with others on some such edifying theme as "Why Are Women Afraid of Mice?"

Mrs. Lynn Lynton is a favorite critic whose bitter and disloyal anathemas against her own sex only prove a nature war, and soured and therefore incapable of making a just estimate of anything pertaining to women. Marion Harland, who has almost equaled Mrs. Lynton in her severity, is another contributor to the average woman's page. Still other contributions, I regret to say, are from the pens of younger women, who by wrong and befitting their sister women, whom they do not know and whose friendship they have never sought or valued, imagine that they are proving their own mental superiority and hope thus to curry favor with the critics of the other sex.

If these beginners had the confidence of women which their own disloyalty and hostility forbids, they would learn that a good deal of the common sense of this world is the heritage of women who possibly make no great professions to culture or mental superiority. The farmer's wife nowadays discusses the silver question and the tariff with her husband. Working women are interested in educational and philanthropic questions, and it is upon these themes, quite as much as upon personal topics and matters pertaining to the toilet, that they read and talk. It would be well for those who undertake to enter intelligently for the women of the country to cultivate their acquaintance individually and collectively.
—Mary H. Krout in Chicago Inter Ocean.

An Opp.ssive Butler.

Many funny stories have been told of the manoeuvres practiced by women of fashion and position to capture a real English butler, and if he happened to be the castoff servant of a noble family their satisfaction was supreme. This mania has been developed in Boston to some extent, so I was not surprised to hear that the scion of a family of prominent Brahmins had snubbed and stripped all her sisters and taken into her service a butler who had formerly been employed by a real, live earl. Still, her triumph was but short lived, and her historic ancestors were avenged, for the other day she confessed to a friend, her confidante, who never tells anything, that "she hadn't even a meal in peace since he came into the house. He has such a solemn look on his face, don't you know, that I can't line into what he is thinking about, and being used to waiting in the earl's family, you know, it really scares me to think he may be thinking about us. Don't tell, dear, but really I don't think I like noblemen's servants."—Boston Herald.

Often That Way!

A lady took time to travel down our way to see if what she had heard was true. "What's the price of that jacket?" "$4.98." "And that dress pattern?" "$3.98, a yard." She told her friends afterwards, and they told us, that it was the biggest day's saving she had ever made.

Your Turn Now

WINTER UNDERWEAR—Sold more Underwear the last ten days than all last Winter. And why not? Prices cut in half. Our show windows tell the story. All kinds for Ladies, Gentlemen and Children.

LADIES' JACKETS—Manufacturer was heart-broken last week when he saw his Jackets that cost him $10 to make, sold for $5. We bought them and they are yours at half what they cost.

DRESS GOODS—Greater values never offered in Dress Goods than at the present time. See that 40 inch, all wool Suiting that we only ask 25c. for. Just the thing for street wear.

MILLINERY—Have you seen the latest? It's an ecru felt, green velvet suit Hat, with scarf to match. You want the best that money can buy in trimmings, work and style, and we know that no one can beat us, will give us satisfactory work as we are giving this season. COMPARISON PROVES IT.

HOUSE FURNISHINGS—This department is improving all the time. Larger assortment and lower prices than ever before. There are three large rooms devoted to useful articles that you want every day in the year.

SHOES!

In Ladies, our straight Goat and Walkingfast styles at $2.50 and $3.00 are the proper weights for the season.

The "FARGO TIP" for Children,

Is the best looking and best wearing shoes for school wear. Sizes 8½ to 10½, $1.25. Sizes 11 to 2, $1.50. A few of those $1 50 Oxfords, at 98c., still remain.

WHITE, of Plainfield.

CHILDREN'S COLUMN.

A Domestic Elephant.

The elephant plays an important role among the domestic animals of Ceylon, says the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. He is found in great numbers in the southwest part of the island, and while not very large he is very tractable and docile. The natives use them for riding about the country and teach them to perform all kinds of laborious tasks. The accompanying sketch made from a photograph shows one of them in the act of rolling a section of sewer pipe through the streets of Candy, which it does with its trunk, accompanied by a guard armed with an iron goad.

The elephants of Ceylon are very strong, and combining with their strength an amount of docility and docility which is astonishing they make the most valuable "domestic" animals of the Cingalese.

An Old Puzzle.

For this trick you must first arrange the letters of the alphabet in five columns, thus:

A	B	D	H	P
C	E	I	J	S
G	F	L	K	T
O	J	M	R	Q
I	K	N	U	V
M	N	O	X	W
Q	R	T	Y	Z
U	S	V	Z
W	Y	W

Having the letters properly arranged, ask the person whose name is to be revealed to tell you which upright column or columns contains the first letter of his name.

If it be in only one column, it will be the top letter; if in more than one, you find it by adding the alphabetical numbers of the top letters of these columns, the sum of which will be the alphabetical number of the letter sought. In the alphabetical numbering A is 1, B is 2, and so on through the list.

By taking one letter at a time in this way the whole name can soon be ascertained.

Take the name John, for illustration. J is found in the two columns commencing with B and H, the second and eighth letters of the alphabet. Add 2 and 8, and you have 10, and the tenth letter of the alphabet is J.

The second letter of the name, O, is found in the four columns commencing with A, B, D and H, or the letters that number 1, 2, 4 and 8. Add these numbers, and we have 15, and the fifteenth letter is O.

So on with every letter until the entire name is found.

Just why the given arrangement of the alphabet should produce these results I leave the wise men to explain. The fact remains, however, and whether you can understand it or not it may be used to mystify your friends in a delightful manner.

The Raindrop Princess.

The Raindrop Princess is a rain maiden who comes to the earth in a storm. Just when she comes no one knows exactly, but it is when the storm rages fiercest. The Raindrop Princess loves the earth, and when her subjects are flooding it with raindrops she tells them to stop as soon as she thinks her dear earth has had all the water it needs. When it is raining, the Raindrop Princess watches the earth very carefully, and when the thunder is terrifying the boys and girls and is driving them into the house to seek the refuge of dark closets, softly closed doors, there are not any small like to tell them to be not afraid. In the midst of the loudest peal of thunder the Raindrop Princess comes to the earth, and when the drops cease falling at her command, and the sun comes out.

The German children are taught to love the Raindrop Princess. And when the rain has been falling for days, and the sky of sun pierces the clouds they laugh and clap their hands and shout;

"See! The Raindrop Princess is stopping the drops! Look how she calls out the sun!"—New York Ledger.

A Peacock's Little Foster Mother.

A bantam hen at Norwich has adopted a young peacock newly hatched from an ordinary looking egg, to the greatest disgust of another hen who did the hatching. There were three pea chicks first, but the latter hen killed one, and another died. The bantam soon manifested a warm interest in the peacock, and the latter becomes attached to his foster mother. Although the peacock is three times the size of the bantam hen, he does not like to be left alone, and when his little mother gets out of his sight it is amusing to hear him set up his ear piercing yawp for her to return to him. The little hen is very faithful to him and devotes her whole time to the plumaged giant.—Hartford Courant.

The Moon's Mistake.

As Tom and Mollie watched the sky
One lovely morn in June
There were a number of fleecy clouds
A faintly showing moon.

Wee Mollie, aped the curious thing
With look of grave surprise,
A puzzled wonder creeping up
Into her little eyes.

"Tommie, I think the moon don't know It's daytime," Mollie said.
"I just believe that little moon Forgot to go to bed!"
—Eva Lovett in New York World.

This Story Is About Twins.

The nurse was giving them a bath. Later, hearing the children laughing in bed, she said:

"What are you children laughing at?"

"Oh, nothing," replied Elsa. "Only you have given Edith two baths and haven't given me any."—London Tit-Bits.

Tired from Head to Foot.

FROM HEAD TO FOOT.

That's what's the matter with the most of us. We're tired. Poisons accumulate in the blood. The cause? The neglect of the feet. We have known severe cases of so called rheumatism, headache, backache, neuralgia, dizziness, toothache, (so familiar to females), and dropsies in a short time by the use of Anti-Tire. Get up good circulation, health and strength. Send 25 cents in stamps for trial package.

LYONS & HEDGES,
464 Bergen avenue,
Jersey City, N. J.

A GOOD WIFE

is a great blessing, and a good husband will look after her comfort. He can almost secure her future comfort by buying a lot which is pretty nearly, the prices are so low. The lot is situated in a beautiful and healthy neighborhood.

GIVEN AWAY

WITH EVERY

convenience for reaching stores, schools and churches quickly. Now is the grand opportunity to invest in a splendid

BUILDING LOT.

For particulars, address
"OWNER,"
care of EVENING NEWS.

Horses and Carriages,

of all kinds, for hire, at

O'BRIEN'S,

116 WEST FOURTH STREET,

or at the depot.

Joseph T. Vail,

REAL ESTATE

and

INSURANCE.

DEALER IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING

6 North Avenue.

Pret T GOODS

For wise people, peculiarly appropriate for the holidays, one always to find in our repository.

We will not say that we have the best in the world, but we do say and know that the same money cannot purchase better Harness and Carriages than our patrons are rapidly making their own. It is sometimes expedient to forget what you know, but it never is in the case of wisdom to forget our select consignment of fancy traps and trappings. Save time, temper and money by purchasing of us.

L. M. FRENCH,
Carriage Manufactory,
24, 26, 28, 40 SOMERSET STREET.

World's Fair Exhibit on Flower Pots!

OVER FOUR TONS—8,400 pounds—18 large crates—6 truck loads.

The patterns and decorations are numerous and exquisite in design. Prices range from 1½ cents for the 2½ in. to 41.25 for the double Calla Lily, the popular one being the 8c., 9c. and 10c. size in the common, though we have the largest made, 40c. Decorated pots and hanging baskets range from 7c. to 25c. We are prepared to suit all, and our prices are guaranteed the lowest and quality without a fault. The wide rim and the oak leaf on the corner of Pots add strength and beauty, and are easily decorated. Order early, as some will have to wait.

J. C. Allan, 28 West Front St., Plainfield, N. J

FOR A CLEAR COMPLEXION.

A Doctor's Advice as to Diet, Exercise and Treatment of the Skin.

To do away with the oily appearance, the doctor prescribes this diet: Lean meats, plenty of fruit, vegetables in their season (not cooked in grease), no pastry or cake, brown sugar or molasses, but cereal, cracked wheat, farina and the like sprinkled sparingly with white granulated sugar. Three times a day she stirs a teaspoonful each of cream of tartar and sugar into a tumbler of water and drinks it in order to cool her blood. This is an agreeable medicine, both in the taking and in the effect. All heat or hot producing drinks were forbidden, as well as coffee with milk, chocolate and beer. Plenty of out door exercise, with a visit to protect the face, this wise doctor recommended, also ladder games, such as shuttlecock and battledore, to stir the sluggish blood. Heart and body were employed to conscientiously carry out this plan in its every detail. As one by one the ugly lines in the complexion, a clear soft skin and a thoroughly healthful constitution. She both looked and felt years younger.

All of these things she under may not need to do; but to wash your face and hands at night quite clean, using soap freely, then rinsing in cool water, will give a surprisingly pleasant effect. The pores of the skin will become stopped up, unless thoroughly cleansed with soap, and as they throw off all the minute particles of refuse which accumulate beneath the skin, we can imagine the result when they can not do their work properly. A sponge or flesh brush will be found helpful, as a vigorous friction is required for thorough cleansing.

Bismarck Made Her Queen.

The Empress of Germany is a stupendous and overwhelming excuse and encouragement for any woman's love of dress. Augusta makes a magnificent appearance. One would not believe her a royal beauty. Nevertheless, she is about as commonplace, really, as empresses are ever detail. As one sees her daily and in the glory of her magnificent jewels and the style of her sumptuous gowns that chest the eye into admiring the woman. She is a big woman, tall, and of late years her maternity given an amplitude not graceful but imposing. It was her height, as it said, that gave her a dignity of mark, whose word then was law, remarked that Bismarck was running down in stature—getting below the regulation size. So he ordered that the young prince marry the tallest princess that he could find, which he did in the person of her present Majesty.

Bows for Trimming Dresses.

Rosseo bows, now so much used for trimming dresses, are made by the machine both in braid and silk embroidery, and can be almost invisibly sewn on the dress. By this means any part of the gown can be enriched and the bows arranged either singly or in groups and border pattern. Then, again, ready-worked rosseo bows are not alone available for dress trimming, they may equally well be used for decorating embroidered cushions, covers and the like.

The Much Needed Pocket.

The pocket is in disgrace just now, and with the sheath-skirt is an impossibility. The numerous fancy bags but poorly supply its place, and all women must surely fail to lament the loss of this useful accessory.

FOR FALL TRADE.

THE LEADER

has received a great variety of Infants' Cloaks, Coats, Slips, Robes, Tamel and Worsted Suits, Hoods, Flannel Skirts, all of the latest styles. Also new styles of Ladies' Wrappers, Underwear and a large variety of Comfortables, at very low prices. Make no mistake, this is the new store.

THE LEADER! M. GOLDMANN, Prop.
210 WEST FRONT STREET. (Old No. 211).

R. W. Rice & Co.,

THE PARK GROCERS.

Corner Duer and Emily Streets.

NORTH PLAINFIELD.

Novelties in Hosiery.

In children's stockings black and plain colors are almost entirely used.

White stockings are worn with shoes of white cone-leather, kid or canvas.

The most expensive hose are of very fine silk, with the entire front of duchess, Brussels or chantilly lace.

Polka-dotted hosiery is having a great vogue both here and in Paris; it is stylish, and especially adapted for seaside and mountain wear.

The only high novelty this season are the scarlet and crimson hose, which are made to match the low shoes of red Russia kid and patent leather.

The prevalence of low shoes has caused a demand for openwork hose, and these are wrought in fine lace effects or in openwork stripes alternating with narrow ones embroidered in tiny polka-dots.

How a Husband Is Made.

If it is true that the best of men are molded out of faulty clay, it is more true that the best of husbands are molded out of their wives' faults. You do not believe this? Look about you for some good man here you know is to be wedded to a disagreeable woman. Now, the very quality which you regard as disagreeable in his life partner has caused him to be a good man. Every fault has its effect. His goodness is the effect. If the same man had been married to another woman possessing his wife's virtues he were worth the price of a shotgun for his destruction.

Funny Sayings.

"I tell you," said the tiger, "I'm a daisy."

"Ah, but look at me," said the lion, "I'm a dandy."

"You! You daisies are more popular than dandelions," retorted the tiger.

"Stay home and play with me, pups," said Jimmieboy.

"I can't. I've got to go down town and get some bread and butter for you and mamma," replied pups.

"Why don't you do like Mary Ann, and make the bread in the kitchen?" asked Jimmieboy.—Harper's Bazar.

Father Gander's Melodies.

Little Bo-Peep
Has lost her sheep,
And I know where she'll find them:
Down in the shop—
As mutton chops—
With a porter-house steak behind them.

THE COMICAL RABBIT.

A comical rabbit
Contracted the habit
Of walking about on his ears;
When he'd had enough
They beat with his weight,
And made him bow-legged in years.
—Harper's Young People.

A Proper Mistress.

For the benefit of those who are intending to have hair-mattresses made over, a correspondent sends the following hint: Instead of having the mattress in one piece, have two pieces, one being a quarter of a yard wide, and have also two other pieces of scalloped zeno to fill the remaining space. By doing so the unsightly depression which is sure to come in a mattress of one piece will be avoided, as the squares can be turned around and the pieces changed and for end. It is much more convenient to handle when moving, and to be aired, and will remain in shape for many years.

Eugene Hoerster,

206 Grove Street,

North Plainfield.

Wholesale Dealer

in

WINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.

Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

Hotels.

CENTRAL HOTEL,

No. 11 E. Front St.,

PLAINFIELD.

Windham & Crowley,

PROPRIETORS.

First-class bar attached.

Fourth Ward Hotel.

JOHN GOFF, Proprietor.

Boarders accommodated, both transient and permanent.

LARGE ROOMS
and
ALL MODERN IMPROVEMENTS.

Fine Wines, Liquors and CIGARS.

Corner Third and Liberty Streets.

Hotel Grenada,

NORTH AVENUE.

Is open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the travelling public.

City Hotel,

Corner

PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.

Transient guests accommodated.

CAREY'S Storage Warerooms,

Corner
Front and Grove Streets,
Plainfield, N. J.

The Fall and Winter Styles in Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing are now in Stock. Overcoats of all Weights. Trousers Made to Order from $4 to $8. Suits from $15 to $30. Hats and General Furnishings. WERNER'S MAMMOTH CLOTHING HOUSE, 206 West Front Street.

This Date In History—Oct. 10.

1825.—Pierre Joseph, leading architect of the Italian style of mid-19th century in France, was born at Chartres.

1844.—John, duke of Argyll, statesman and economic writer, born.

1723.—Henry Cavendish, famous for discoveries in chemistry, was born at Nice, Italy; died 1810.

1773.—Dr. William Wilkie, author of the "Epigoniad," was born at St. Andrews, Scotland.

1750.—Rev. Theobald Mathew, Irish apostle of temperance, was born at Thomastown, Tipperary; died 1856.

1856.—Jeremiah James Oberlin, philologist and archæological writer, died at Strasburg.

1826.—Sarah Margaret Fuller, Marchesa Ossoli, better known as Fanny Fern, died in Brooklyn; born 1810. William Henry Seward, statesman, died in Auburn, N. Y., 1872.

Oysters will be plentiful this winter. There was compensation even for the almost unprecedented cold weather of last winter. The bitter weather and ice along the shores prevented oyster dredging to the usual extent. The result is that the bivalves increased, and there will be this year thousands of bushels more than there were last season.

Says one of Uncle Jerry Rusk's assistants in the agricultural department at Washington. "This department is the only one under the government that is connected with the creation of wealth; the others all spend it." See?

There is only one subject or more thrilling interest than the silver question in connection with the opening of congress, and that is the question who shall be elected doorkeeper and sergeant at arms.

There is considerable to live for even after one's heart is broken, but when a man's stomach has gone back on him things look bad indeed.

All educated Russians can speak French fluently, but how many educated Frenchmen can speak Russian?

There are enough miles of telephone wire in the United States to go around the globe 10 times.

1893		OCTOBER.				1893
Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fr.	Sa.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
15	16	17	18	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26	27	28
29	30	31

MOON'S PHASES.

Third Quarter	2	10:19 a. m.	First Quarter	17	6:32 p.m.
New Moon	9	3:37 p.m.	Full Moon	25	6:42 p.m.
			Third Quarter	31	5:48 p.m.

Tickets

For, or from Europe,

On

All Lines,

And all Steamers.

Drafts

Sold also.

H. D. MORRISON,

Agent,

Somerset Street.

PEACHES!
PEACHES!
PEACHES!

Following varieties: Yellow Globe, Crawford's Morris White, Keyport and old reliables. Prices to suit everybody.

NEUMANN BROS.

WATCHUNG AVENUE
and FIFTH STREET.

THE TIME TO EAT!

MEAT!

Is at meal time, of course, and the place to get good meat, all kinds, corned pieces and greens, etc., is at

E. J. CONNOLLY,

No. 321 Broadway.

SMOKED MEATS AND VEGETABLES always on hand.

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$5 per Year in Advance. — E. W. Bailey Jun., Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 21 Somerset street. Printing of All Kinds. — 10 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. — PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," — WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 11, 1893. — PRICE TWO CENTS.

North Plainfield Republican Primary.

The Republican of North Plainfield will meet at the School Building on

SATURDAY, OCTOBER, 14, 1893,

at 8, p. m. for the purpose of electing delegates to the county convention to be held at Somerville Tuesday 17 th inst.

By order Executive Committee.
Dated October 11, 1893.

Third Assembly District Convention of Union County

Pursuant to resolutions adopted by the Union County Republican Executive Committee, it is hereby called to meet at Elizabeth, N. J., on Saturday, September 30th, 1893, and the resolution adopted at the last convention, the Republican Assembly District Convention for the Third Assembly District of Union County will be held at Auxer Hall, in Elizabeth, Union Township, on

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1893,

at 2:30 P. M.

In accordance also with the above resolutions, the following number is allowed to meet in said convention at the above time and place, to-wit:

Elizabeth—Ward delegates, seven delegates. Second Ward, four delegates. Third Ward, six delegates. Fourth Ward, nine delegates.

Union—First Ward, two delegates. Second Ward, four delegates. Third Ward, eight delegates. Fourth Ward, one delegate.

Westfield—Six delegates.

By authority of the County Executive Committee. CHARLES M. CODING, Chairman of last Convention.

Republican County Convention.

The Somerset County Republican Convention will meet in the Court House, in Somerville, on

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1893,

At 11 o'clock a. m. for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for offices of Senator, Members of Assembly, Coroners and the transaction of such other business as may properly come before it.

Each district will be entitled to five delegates, who will be selected by the Republican voters in their respective districts, on Tuesday, the 10th day of October instant, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon excepting North Plainfield and Bernards, where the primaries will be held at 8 o'clock in the evening, in the following places:

Bedminster—Bedminster Hotel, Bedminster.
Bernards—Tony's Hotel, Bernardsville.
Branchburgh—Codington's Hotel, North Branch.
Bridgewater—Hotel somerset, Somerville.
Franklin—Hummer's store, Kane Milstone.
Hillsborough—Devender's store, Frankfort.
Magyon—Harlingen Hotel, Harlingen.
North Plainfield—Basement of New School House.
Warren—Mt. Bethel Hotel, Mt. Bethel.

L. A. THOMPSON,
Chairman County Committee

Dated October 4, 1893.

BREVITIES.

—People driving around Plainfield say that the foliage has "gone to glory."

—Ensign Cahill and Capt. Lee will be at the special meeting of the Salvation Army to-morrow night.

—The regular monthly business meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held in the W. C. T. U. rooms, on Thursday afternoon, at 3:30.

—Justice Mosher this morning rendered judgment in the case of the Postal Telegraph Company vs. D. S. Roberts, for $58.75, and cost, in favor of Mr. Roberts.

—The October moon, known as the "Hunter's moon," will possess many of the characteristics of the September moon, rising at about sunset when near the full.

—A social was given by the Y. M. C. A. Boy's Committee at the Association rooms last evening. Mr. John Dalziel gave an interesting and instructive talk on the World's Fair.

—Owing to the fact that the Democrats of North Plainfield will hold their primary on Friday night, 13th inst., the Republicans have postponed theirs to Saturday, Oct. 14th at 8 p. m. at the school building, on Somerset street, as per advertisement in another column.

NUPTIALS.

Keegan-Schwartz.

THE marriage of Mr. James Keegan to Miss Josephine Schwartz took place at St. Mary's Church at ten o'clock this morning. The Rev. Father Smyth officiated, assisted by Fathers Murphy and O'Connell.

Mr. Thomas Lowe, of New York, was best man.

Miss Therese Schwartz was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Maggie Keegan and Miss Hannah Chrisman, of New York.

Sprained His Ankle on the Church Steps.

Sunday night George Wills of La Grand avenue was taken sick while attending divine service in the Park Avenue Baptist Church. He started to go outside. In going down the steps he slipped and sprained his ankle. He was taken to his home in a carriage.

Woman's Auxiliary to the Board of Missions.

The Woman's Auxiliary to the board of Missions will meet in St. Luke's church, Roselle, on Thursday morning at eleven o'clock. A large gathering of delegates from all over the State is expected, and an important meeting will be held.

The Victor Wheelmen Meet.

Monday night the Victor Wheelmen, composed of colored bicyclists, met at the home of Israel Jones of Washington avenue. The organization of the club took place last week, with 15 members. Fifteen new members were elected Monday night, making a total of 30.

SUICIDE OF A FARMER.

JOEL LANGSTAFF SHOOTS HIMSELF IN THE HEAD.

He was Found in His Employer's Wagon House in a Dying Condition, and Carried Into the House, Where He Died This Morning.

Joel S. Langstaff, age 35, employed by Manning Randolph, a farmer, living between New Market and Bodine, went into the carriage house and shot himself in the head about seven o'clock yesterday morning.

The deed was done with a 32 calibre revolver. The ball entered his head just behind the right ear.

He was found about an hour afterwards by Mr. Randolph, who, aided by Mr. Thomas Brantingham of South Plainfield, carried him into the house.

Langstaff's friends say they know no reason why he should kill himself. He was a married man, and lived in part of his employer's home. He had worked for Mr. Randolph about a year.

Langstaff remained in a semi-conscious condition until about two o'clock this morning, when he died.

He was a member of the Shelton Baptist Church, and also of Hiawatha Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., of Millstone, where his folks live.

THE POLLING PLACES.

Where to Vote at the Coming Election.

The polling places for the Fall election have been arranged for, by City Clerk Runyon, as follows:

First Ward, First District—Crescent Wheelmen Club Rooms, on North avenue.

First Ward, Second District—Office of the Oil Cloth Factory, on North avenue.

Second Ward, First District—811 Park avenue.

Second Ward, Second District—C. H. Rugg's office, at Netherwood.

Third Ward—Adam Blair's livery stable.

Fourth Ward, First District—Sequine's office, on West Second street.

Fourth Ward, Second District—Grant avenue, two doors from Second street.

THE ROOM FULL OF SMOKE.

Mr. and Mrs. Hope Almost Suffocated Last Night.

Last night between twelve and one o'clock Special Policeman Hope's wife was awakened by the smell of smoke in the room. She awoke her husband, who made an investigation and found a large roll of smouldering paper in the ash pit of the stove from which volumes of smoke were filling the house. Both Mr. and Mrs. Hope were almost suffocated.

PERSONAL.

Mr. J. B. Kline and wife of this city, will hereafter reside in Cranford.

Mr. and Mrs. Wharton of Crescent avenue are home from the Thousand Islands.

Mr. Cyrus E. Moore of New street, has returned home after a short sojourn at Red Bank.

Mr. Peter Van Deventer of East Fifth street, starts next Thursday for the World's Fair.

Miss Addie Weaver of Orchard place, has gone to Elizabeth for a two weeks' visit with Miss Annie Breen.

Miss Laura Warnock, formerly saleswoman in the Bee Hive, is now in charge of the girls employed in the Bottle Stopper Factory.

Mrs. Barney of Providence, R. I., National Superintendent of Prison Work, will speak in the First Presbyterian church, October 17th, at eight p. m.

At five o'clock this afternoon Miss Anna Guion, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Guion is to be married to Mr. George S. Clay, at the Grace Church.

The Miss Mosher, whose name was used by a fraud who worked the sympathies of the Plainfield public, as announced in Monday's NEWS, to a notice of Street Commissioner Robert Mosher. The young lady was very much annoyed that her name should be used as a cloak for a swindler. The best way for the benevolent inclined to give, is not to door to door beggars, but to the societies organized solely for the purpose of relieving the worthy poor.

Too Much Beef for Him.

Monday as Richard Warnock was in the act of hanging a quarter of beef on one of the hooks in the Beef Company's house on East Third street, he slipped and fell. The heavy piece of meat fell to the floor. One of the sharp corners of a bone cut Warnock on the wrist in its descent. Warnock also fell against another bone cutting a gash over his eye.

"Dandy Dick" Skipped With the Money.

The Wild West Show, which gave a performance in the rink not long ago, under the management of Hall and Bostertil of this city, is in a sorry plight, so it is said. Last week they gave to "Dandy Dick," one of the company, $600 to pay for the rent of Manhattan Field, New York, and he skipped with the money.

E. M. Wood for Sheriff of Union.

The Union County Republicans have a new candidate for Sheriff. This latest aspirant is ex-County Collector Edward M. Wood, of Elizabeth.—World.

A MISSIONARY FROM AFRICA.

His Talk at the Park Avenue Baptist Church.

The Park Avenue Baptist church was crowded to its utmost capacity last night, to hear Miss Sidney Whittemore, better known as "Dear Soul," of New York, and Mr. Peter Scott, a returned missionary from Africa. Mr. Scott was the first speaker. He spoke for some time, his audience listening with the most rapt attention. He dwelt chiefly upon the need of workers in Africa and of his station on the Congo, the work there, the school, and what the boys were willing to sacrifice for Jesus' sake. He then told of his experience with a witch doctor, saying that they were the hardest of all to convert, and that their witchcraft was very cruel, killing many people every year. He told how he had pleaded with the one in his district, and how every time he had only been scoffed at. But one day he had decided to deal with him, and told him that if he would not listen to the law of God, he would have to listen to the law of man, and, if he still persisted in practicing his witchcraft, he would have him bound hand and foot, and delivered into the hands of the law. The doctor became enraged and attempted to plunge a large dagger in Mr. Scott's throat, but his attempt at murder was foiled.

Mrs. Sidney Whittemore told of her different experiences, and of a midnight trip on the Montreal train. She had been left off at a small station at three o'clock in the morning. She tramped to a farmhouse in the dark. The next morning she traveled the remainder of distance on a hand car. The three men and their wives she spoke to, all on the way and brought to a knowledge of their sins and converted. She also spoke of their work at the "Door of Hope," New York, their night visits to the slums and of the means of over 100 conversions.

THE MOCK COURT TRIAL.

A Great Entertainment in Which Plainfielders will be Principals.

The sale of seats for the Mock Trial to be given in Music Hall on Monday evening Oct. 16th under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. began at Leggett's Pharmacy Monday. Those desirous of obtaining good seats should not delay in securing them as the indications at present bids fair to be very popular, so says the managers.

The trial will be given under the personal direction of Mr. A. V. Newton of Worcester Mass. who has conducted over 500 trials in this line of work. Mr. Newton will act as lawyer for the defense and all the other twenty four parts will be taken by Plainfield gentlemen.

Further particulars appear in our advertising columns.

The Mock Court Trial is, in the first place, an exact reproduction of the ordinary court scene and methods of procedure. In this respect it will not be as novel to those who are frequently in court, as it will to the many who never see it. Its humorous scenes result from exaggerations of some of the grotesque incidents that habitues of the courts know are always happening, and from the fact that the persons who figure in these incidents and in the serious as well as the burlesque proceedings of the court are prominent citizens, well-known to us all.

With Mayor Saunder's as the culprit, Judge Rowland Cox, sitting on the case, Mayor Gilbert as the one who lost the pocketbook, Craig A. Marsh prosecuting the prisoner, and Capt. Newton defending him, to say nothing of the other officers of the court, the witnesses, jurors, etc., it is pretty certain that the comedy and pathos of a court scene, if not the tragedy of it, will be witnessed.

Wherever is has been given the entertainment has been an unqualified success, and it isn't probable that Plainfield looks the material to give the affair a rollicksome and piquancy that will equal the best.

A NON-SUIT GRANTED.

No Damages Allowed Mrs. Mahon for the Killing of Her Husband.

The first case tried in the Circuit Court, at Elizabeth, yesterday morning, was the suit of Michael F. Mahon, administrator for the estate of James F. Mahon vs. the Central Railroad. The action was brought to recover damages for the killing of James F. Mahon at Westfield, on September 22, 1893. The deceased was a resident of Cranford. He went to Westfield to attend a political meeting, and in crossing the track near the station was run down by a coal train and instantly killed. He left a widow and five young children.

The plaintiff alleged that the railroad was negligent in not having a flagman at the place, as it now has.

Mr. Lindabury, the company's lawyer moved a non-suit on the ground of contributory negligence on part of the deceased. The motion was granted.

Did They Want to be Initiated?

Last night Jerusalem Lodge, No. 46, F. & A. M., held its regular communication. While they were in session, George Killoran and Peter Winn annoyed them by running up and down the stairs in the hall leading to the street. Several times they knocked at the lodge room door, and otherwise created a disturbance. At last one of the members went out and hunted up a policeman, who arrested them. This morning when arraigned before Judge Coddington, they were severely reprimanded and released.

THE CHILDREN'S HOME.

THE ANNUAL REPORT OF THAT WORTHY INSTITUTION.

The President's and Treasurer's Report.—The Officers, Advisory Board, Executive Committee and Board of Managers.

N that most worthy institution, the Children's Home, many a little tot has been tenderly cared for during the past year. The following is the annual report of the Home:

PRESIDENT'S REPORT.

LADIES OF THE ASSOCIATION:

It seems hardly necessary as we gather here so largely the same band of interested workers, that from year to year for so long a time have considered the interests and needs of our Home, for me to make any formal report to you. It is however good to recall for our encouragement in the future the pleasant ways in which we have been led. The health of our little family has been exceptionally good the past year; Dr. Rushmore has kindly looked after all the children needing medical attention. Friends old and new, have made our Thanksgiving and Christmas days full of delight to the children. From the "Needle-work Guild" we have received more than two hundred new garments. These have kept our wardrobe well supplied in many directions. Our city editors have laid us under fresh obligations by many favors. Messrs. Pitcher and Manda sent us in the fall a large package of assorted bulbs. Our family has been smaller during the Winter than for some time past, owing to the fact that homes were offered in the Fall, to several of our older boys. We always feel that any other of a good home is not to be lightly passed by. No institution however wisely managed can ever make up to a child the loss of an individual home with its sweet, personal influences in the forming of character. Our matron and her assistants have been most careful and constant in their departments, thus greatly lightening the responsibility of our ladies. We have released from our board of officers, Mrs. H. M. Eaton, who for years has been most deeply interested in our work. We rejoice to believe that after long years of faithful labor, and patient suffering, she has heard with joy the summons to enter into the rest and blessedness of that home, which is never shadowed by sickness or pain. As we look back ward with gratitude, and forward with hope, to a new year of work for the children, let us hear our own Whittier saying to us:

"For gifts to His name of food and rest,
The tents of Islam of God are blest,
Those who has faith in the Christ above,
Shall find the Koran leads them the law of love!
O Christian! open they hearts and door,
Cry East and West to the wandering poor.
Whoever shoot first or who good is great,
In the name of Christ the Compassionate,
And Merciful One, for thee I wait.'"

S. E. KIMBALL, President.

TREASURER'S REPORT.

RECEIPTS.

May 1st, 1893, Balance on hand,		1,092.33
Received, Monthly Payments,	$ 885.75
" Annual Subscriptions,	470.00
" Life Memberships,	100.00
" Donations,	207.00
" Interest on Investments,	1,000.00
" Interest on Deposits,	24.00
" Sundries,	24.00
" Per Capita,	32.00
" Legacy,	72.00
Total Receipts,		2,981.75
		$4,074.08

EXPENDITURES.

By Cash paid for Provisions,	$ 674.10
" " " Groceries,	283.75
" " " Meat,	276.85
" " " Clothing,	257.40
" " " Dry Goods,	127.00
" " " Coal,	1,000.00
" " " Gas,	60.00
" " " Printing,	43.87
" " " Sundries,	29.50
Total Expenditure		3,756.37
Balance on hand		$1,318.33
Amount in City No.
Mutual Benefit,	$ 1,097.37
Cash in hand,	21.46
	$1,318.83
Investment Mortgages 6 per cent,	$ 1,000
" " "	1,000
" " "	1,000
" " "	1,000
" Bond	1,000
	$5,000

One Treasurer. ELIZA SWAINE, Treas.

Examined and compared with vouchers and found correct.

CHARLES PLACE, } Auditing Com.
LEWIS W. SWAINE, }

June 30th, 1893.

The following are the officers and managers for 1893-94:

OFFICERS.

President—Mrs. Horace Kimball; Vice Presidents, Mrs. Joseph W. Rushmore, Mrs. Louise Woodruff, Mrs. Geo. C. Hubbell; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Geo. C. Hubbell; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Lucy H. Everett; Treasurer, Miss Ella Serrell.

ADVISORY BOARD.

Messrs. Isaac D. Mettler, L. W. Serrell, Isaac D. Miller, H. K. Carroll, Charles Place, Mason W. Tyler, H. B. Ogilvie, J. H. Van Deusen, R. D. Chase.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

Mrs. Horace Kimball, Miss Ella Serrell, Mrs. Charles Place, Mrs. L. S. Gilbert, Mrs. Ruth G. Leonard, Mrs. I. W. Rushmore.

BOARD OF MANAGERS.

1893 1894—Mrs. Francis Wood, Mrs. Ruth G. Leonard, Mrs. Morgan Taylor, Mrs. Laura C. Gilbert, Mrs. Hannah Dunn, Mrs. Louise Woodruff, Miss Ella Serrell, Mrs. Lucy H. Everett, Mrs. Horace Kimball.

1893 1895—Mrs. Frances Wood, Mrs. Smith G. Leonard, Mrs. Morgan Taylor, Mrs. Laura C. Gilbert, Mrs. Hannah Dunn, Mrs. Louise Woodruff, Miss Ella Serrell, Mrs. Lucy H. Everett, Mrs. Horace Kimball.

1893 1896—Mrs. Frances Wood, Mrs. Smith G. Leonard, Mrs. Morgan Taylor, Mrs. Dr. Elsey, Mrs. William Dunn, Mrs. M. J. Conley, Mrs. Edward Sellers, Mrs. S. S. Mettler, Mrs. Lucy H. Everett, Mrs. Horace Kimball.

Mrs. Eleanor S. Williams, Mrs. Charles Place, Mrs. J. C. Hutchinson, Mrs. Jerome Hubbell, Mrs. Leander Manning, Mrs. J. D. Ellsworth, Mrs. J. W. Hand, Mrs. [illegible]

ATE UP THE WIDOW'S MONEY.

Mice Play Havoc With $1000 Saved by Mrs. Hoff.

Mrs. Mary Hoff, an aged widow, living in Ferncote street, Rahway, had placed her savings from time to time to the old number of $1000. This amount she placed there a month ago, made the total $2000, which was all in bills of the one, two and five denomination. Yesterday, upon going to look at her treasure, she was horrified to find that mice had gnawed into and torn the bills, making a comfortable nest, in which they were rearing their young. Not one of the bills escaped mutilation, and the largest remaining piece of any bill was scarcely the size of a quarter, although the bills made from the $2000 would hardly fill a half peck measure. Mrs. Hoff, who is seventy-five years old, and lives alone, is the widow of a soldier, and accumulated these savings from a quarterly pension of $12. Friends will help the poverty piece the bills in order to have the government redeem them.

NEW JERSEY KENNEL LEAGUE.

A Bench Show to be Held at Newark Next Month.

OGS from all over the county will have a chance to show themselves at Newark next month.

The New Jersey Kennel League held an important meeting last night. Monday evening and made final arrangements for their first bench show which is to be held in Industrial Hall, Newark, during Thanksgiving week. From the reports received, the show will rival those of the Westminster Kennel in New York, for all the champion dogs will be exhibited. Florence, Young Rube and Rustic Beauty, J. Pierpont Morgan will also exhibit. The prizes will amount to $2,000. One prize, a $25 cup for mastiffs will be offered by the Old English Mastiff Club of New York.

The League is composed of all the prominent fanciers of New Jersey. All are doing their utmost toward making the coming show a success and with every prospect of success.

The World's Fair a Success, But it will Soon Close its Gates Forever.

The grandest exhibition of our time and possibly for many generations to come will soon be brought to an end.

There remains but one month in which to visit this marvelous gathering of all the world's Productions, and everybody should strain a point to go to Chicago.

The railroads have heretofore has been considering a hindering to all classes, but this has all been changed, and on the following dates the Lehigh Valley and Shore Railroad will run black-class excursions on its fast express trains to Chicago and return, both by lake and rail, at $17.00, from New York to Chicago and return, and proportionately lower rates from other points. On each of these magnificent excursion trains will be in charge of an agent whose duty is is to see to the comfort and safety of every patrons en route, to furnish detailed information as to accommodations obtainable in Chicago, and to point out the historic points along the grand old Hudson and through the picturesque Mohawk Valley.

These trains will leave Franklin street, New York, at 10:00 a. m. West 42d street at 10.10 as follows: Saturday, October 14th; Thursday, October 19th, and the last, Monday, October 23d.

If our readers will just take trouble to call at any West Shore office they will be supplied with the most complete and descriptive literature the employees of this superb route, (over which a journey of unsurpassed beauty is to be made with considerable ease, owing to the fact that the road is composed of but few grades) has prepared no expense to make it the easiest running and safest road in the world, and they will be furnished with detailed information as to accommodations obtainable in Chicago, and to point out the historic points along the grand old Hudson and through the picturesque Mohawk Valley.

These trains will leave Franklin street, New York, at 10:00 a. m. West 42d street at 10.10 as follows: Saturday, October 14th; Thursday, October 19th, and the last, Monday, October 23d.

If our readers will just take trouble to call at any West Shore office they will be supplied with the most complete and descriptive literature the employees of this superb route, (over which a journey of unsurpassed beauty is to be made with considerable ease, owing to the fact that the road is composed of but few grades) has prepared no expense to make it the easiest running and safest road in the world, and they will be furnished with detailed information as to accommodations obtainable in Chicago, and to point out the historic points along the grand old Hudson and through the picturesque Mohawk Valley.

Advertised Letters.

Remaining in the Plainfield post office for the week ending Oct. 9:

Attendant, Guest, J T
Adams, Lizzie J — Hall, Henry B
Attwood, Mrs Frank — Jones, Mary E
Bennett, Frank E — Jennings, A F
Brownell, John — Lee, Mrs M
Brown, Mrs H A — Lee, John
Brown, Mrs H A — Negrish, Swin
Bowne, Mrs Elizabeth — Nelson, Annie
Cohens, Mrs Eliza (2) — O'Leary, Michael
Campbell, Mrs — Powers, Ellen
Campbell, Mrs — Powers, Ellen
Field, Mrs F — Searing, Matthew
Field, Miss R J (3) — Stevens, Wm
Grover, Miss A M — Twomey, Richard
Grover, Miss A M — Taylor, Mary E
Gibson, Mrs F G (3) — Wilson, Mrs F
Gibson, H S — Woodruff, Miss Ada
Hall, Isaac

Persons calling for the above please say "advertised."

E. S. PORT, P. M.

The Weather.

The weather to-morrow promises to be fair and partly cloudy, with no great temperature changes, followed by cloudiness and and rain.

Dr. Cyrus Edson, ... says:

HORNLY'S OATMEAL

Is Unquestionably The Best Breakfast Food.

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE

The Start of the Third Race Postponed.

ELBERON, N. J., Oct. 11.—The yachts have not arrived. It is a dead calm. Unless a breeze comes soon the race will be postponed.

The Valkyrie First over the Line.

1:45 p. m. New York, Oct. 11.—The boats have started. The Valkyrie was first over the line.

2.30 The Valkyrie is still in the lead but the Vigilant is gaining.

The Vigilant Ahead.

2:50 P. M., New York, Oct. 11.—The Vigilant is half a mile ahead.

The Boats Even.

3.20 P. M.—Both boats are about even. The Vigilant is the Valkyrie's race.

3.35 P. M.—The Valkyrie is three boat lengths ahead (100 feet).

A Close Race.

3.45 P. M.—The boats have just turned at Long Branch and are on the homestretch. The Vigilant is ahead three lengths.

Luncheons for School Children.

The best medical authorities attribute many of the cases of dyspepsia, so common in children, to the indigestible nature of the luncheons taken to school. Too much cannot be said against the pernicious habit of giving children money to buy their luncheons at the store, where they invariably choose candy, lemons, pickles or stale cake, preferentially bad for their digestion. A wicker basket, being porous, is the best receptacle, says the Albany Cultivator, Tin should never be used. Never wrap the food in paper, either brown or newspaper; the waxed confectioner's paper may be used, or the common Japanese napkins. Milk should be given as a drink, as well as a food. It may be carried in an ordinary glass bottle. With this a few graham crackers and dates will suffice. Another day the lunch may consist of cold meat, bread, butter, milk and an apple or orange. Baked apples or pears may be safely carried in a half-pint preserve jar. Children do not require meat more than once a day, and it should then be given them hot, juicy and rare.

'Twill be the Last Day of the Month.

The fact that the last Thursday of November is the last day of the month troubles some persons, who are in doubt whether Thanksgiving day will be appointed for the 30th of that month. There has always been a day appointed for Thanksgiving day, and it undoubtedly will be so set apart this year. In 1871, 1876 and 1882 Thanksgiving day was celebrated on November 30.

—Corn cutting this fall is a pretty hard thing to accomplish. So much black wind has laid most of the stalks flat to the ground.

Cent-a-Word Column.

FOR SALE.

A GOAT horn for sale 9 2 West Third street. 10 10

FOR SALE.—1 truck, suitable now. John Fraser, Plainfield avenue, between Plainfield and New Brooklyn. 9 6

FOR SALE.—A desirable discount 7 cent No. 1, corner of Somerset and Grant; also view a source No. 2, at 193 Somerset street. No. 3, Grandview avenue. Real Estate Agency, No. 21 Somerset street, North Plainfield. 9 6

FOR SALE.—Both boats are about even. It is a dead heat. All in North Plainfield. Thirty perfect. Terms easy. Dwelling, 1 mile from Arlington. Address "S. D. Jr." care of Everyone News. 9 6

FOR SALE.—New house, Park place, near Warner avenue. (Westfield.) Price $3,500. Walford, broker. 9 14 tf

LOTS OF HOLES IN A SIEVE.

Lots of ways of throwing away money. One of the best methods of accomplishing it is to get your printing done at THE NEWS JOB DEPARTMENT. Let us figure on your next order for printing, no matter how small or large. Address or call 21 Somerset street. 9 22 tf

HELP WANTED.

PAINTERS wanted. First-class painters at once. A. D. Van Beiver, North Plainfield. 11 4

WANTED.—A cook and housework girl. Best of wages to a good woman. Must have references. Apply, 765 Woodland avenue. 11 tf

SITUATIONS WANTED.

SITUATION wanted by a German girl as general housework. No. 509 West Fifth street. 14 2

GIRL wants situation as general housework. In a small family. Call at 39 Harrison street. 11 4

YOUNG man, 21, wants position as clerk; best references. Address "21," care of Evening News. 11 4

SITUATION wanted as cook, or as grocery boy-errand, by a small family. Best of references. Address "Mrs R.," care of News. 10 10tf

WOMAN wants work by the day. Call at 39 Harrison street. 10 10tf

ELDERLY woman wishes management of professional nurse. Address "Mrs R.," care of Evening News. 9 26

FOR RENT.

TO NORTH Plainfield, an eight room house to let. Furnished or unfurnished. All improvements, and barn. Good location. Inquire of P. O. Box 205. 10 4 eow1 m

120 CRESCENT avenue. One large and a half room with board. 10 5

AN OPPORTUNITY—$15 per month will rent a pleasantly located house of 8 rooms, with bath, hot and cold water, and large garden. Call at News office. 10 7 tf

NICELY furnished rooms to let. 215 Richmond street. 9 tf

TO LET—A furnished room with or without board to a lady. 1270 East Fifth street. 9 1282

TO LET—Seven room house near Park. Also twelve room house on Front street. Both in good order. Inquire City Hall. 9 6 tf

BOARDERS WANTED.

BOARDERS—Large rooms, good table, home comforts. 61 Sheffield street. 8 5

MISCELLANEOUS.

FREE dahlia show, at Denton's Hillside Greenhouses, Tuesday, 10 for regular 25 cent rate vines from observatory. 10 3

Special Notices.

New York Law School

120 Broadway, New York City. Incorporated 1891. Number of students, 1891-92, 1,000; 1892-93, 1,200. Prepares for admission to the United States, except one, Chaplain method of Instruction, Degree of LL.B. given after two years' course. Graduates admitted to the bar in 24 States. Tuition fee, $100. Session, October 2, 1893. Address GEORGE CHASE, Dean.

CARD OF THANKS. THE UNDERsigned wishes to extend her thanks to the ladies of Grace Church for the kindness and their efforts to serve his property. Sunday morning, October 8, 1893, at 2 o'clock, some fire destroyed his house and barn.

GEORGE W. COLE.

MRS. PHILLIPS HAS REMOVED her intelligence office, to No. 223 West Third street. 11 3

Boehm's.

$5.00

Buys a Gas Lighter Coat, for either sex, made according to the latest fashion. We have the Largest and best assortment of Ladies' and Gents' Clothing in Central New Jersey. Come and see for yourself. Goods sold on Credit. Cash Prices. Suits to Order, $15.00 and upwards. Pants to Order, $4.00 and upwards. Our line of Cloths for Ladies' and Gents' Jackets and Coats we are now showing.

25c. per Cent. Discount. We are showing a Magnificent Line of Cloths, Beavers, Kerseys, Meltons, Cheviots, Tricots, Worsteds, Cassimeres, Fancy Suitings, Overcoatings, Trouserings, &c., &c., made from all wool fabrics, and guaranteed to be as represented. Our prices are the lowest. Our workmanship is unsurpassed. Our trimmings are the best. Our garments are made in the most thorough manner. Our fits are perfect. Our styles are the latest. Our prices are the lowest. Our goods are the best. Our terms are the easiest. Our store is the largest. Our stock is the largest. Our assortment is the largest. Our reputation is the largest. Our business is the largest. Our customers are the largest. Our profits are the largest. Our losses are the largest. Our expenses are the largest. Our debts are the largest. Our assets are the largest. Our liabilities are the largest. Our capital is the largest. Our surplus is the largest. Our dividends are the largest. Our interest is the largest. Our discount is the largest. Our premium is the largest. Our commission is the largest. Our brokerage is the largest. Our agency is the largest. Our branch is the largest. Our office is the largest. Our warehouse is the largest. Our factory is the largest. Our mill is the largest. Our shop is the largest. Our store is the largest. Our building is the largest. Our lot is the largest. Our land is the largest. Our property is the largest. Our estate is the largest. Our fortune is the largest. Our wealth is the largest. Our income is the largest. Our revenue is the largest. Our profit is the largest. Our loss is the largest. Our expense is the largest. Our debt is the largest. Our asset is the largest. Our liability is the largest. Our capital is the largest. Our surplus is the largest. Our dividend is

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Making of an Actress.

A newspaper correspondent addressed a number of noted actresses a circular letter asking them questions as follows: "Is the successful actress born or made? Which is the least essential, beauty, magnetism or hard work? Will the pleasure derived from the art and from fame and fortune repay a woman for the struggling, self sacrifice, loss of home life, etc., necessary to attain it?"

The last question the correspondent might have answered for himself if he had thought a moment. It all depends on how the woman is built. If she is so constituted that domestic life is dearer to her than stage life, she would answer that nothing could compensate her for the loss of home. If she likes professional life better than home life, then she will evade the question, because she will not like to run counter to the popular belief that it is not the proper thing for a woman to prefer anything to domestic life.

In the estimation of most of the ladies beauty is the quality least essential to success, though it is a great help in its way. Some consider that a most desirable accessory to bring stage success is "magnetism," though, like mankind in general, they are rather hazy in their idea of what magnetism is. But neither beauty nor magnetism will do anything like as much in the long run toward the making of an actress as downright, earnest pegging away and hard work. Rosa Bay has some actresses are born, others are made. She also pens this final, earnest sentence and commentary: "To the true actress her art is a creed upon whose altar all else is unflinchingly sacrificed. Success makes one forget all the struggle and pain that were suffered in its achievement."

Minnie Maddern Fiske says there is something in the life of an actress which is youth and health compelling, and that there are actresses not far from 60 who still look like girlish heroines. She believes the secret of this perennial youth to lie in the fact that the actress is free from untold cares. "The average woman in private life yields up youth upon the altar of domestic duty. The sacrifice is divine and all unconscious."

Pineapple Culture.

The newest fad is to drink pineapple juice as an aid to digestion—a wineglassful in the morning before breakfast and a like amount any time through the day. The pineapple juice fad appears to have taken the place of the oatmeal craze, which lasted so long.

At any rate, a wineglassful of pineapple juice in the morning is an improvement on the wineglassful or more of corn juice which so many citizens take as a supposed aid to digestion.

While the pineapple craze lasts those who have secured plantations for growing this luscious fruit will be able to live up some money. A syndicate of English capitalists has purchased a tract of land in Florida and will endeavor to turn it into a great pineapple plantation. There is room for them, and also for as many Americans as wish to engage in the same kind of farming, for it would be hard for mankind to use too much pineapple juice. The woody fiber of the fruit should not be swallowed, only the pressed out juice. The early soil of Florida has been found admirably adapted to the culture. The young suckers are split off from the sides of the large fruit and set out much the same as straw berry plants. In 18 months from the time of planting the first crop is gathered, and the yield is abundant.

It will take the revenue cutters Grant and [illegible] which Secretary Carlisle has ordered [illegible] gthen the Pacific fleet, thus [illegible] make the journey, going [illegible] outh America. If we should be [illegible] on that side by China, and China [illegible] formidable navy, the whole Pacific could be devastated before we could [illegible] our fast new cruisers and [illegible] ers thither. We could not [illegible] pieces and ship them across [illegible] by rail, though it would be a good thing to build the [illegible] this could be done. Meantime [illegible] that Nicaragua canal?

[illegible]ze strip is 200 miles long, [illegible] and contains seven counties, [illegible]0,000 acres of land. A third of [illegible] the eastern part of the [illegible] excellent ground for tillage, another third is well adapted [illegible] while the remainder is not of [illegible] sighting at present.

[illegible]sto issued by the national [illegible]ation of Great Britain to [illegible]states these words: "If the [illegible] be faithful to its traditions [illegible] it will capitulate. If the Liberal party will enter [illegible] of which we shall not be [illegible]

The Review laments the [illegible]ssity" because of the [illegible] distinctions and caste by [illegible]ell, that's the difference [illegible]s that only it is done?"

[illegible]d Beecher once mentioned [illegible]d such harm in his life [illegible]ories about wrinkles [illegible]ors concerned."

"The power between the throne and the people" is what Gladstone called the house of lords.

A CRISIS IN THE SENATE.

Today the Silver Men Hope to Force a Compromise.

ELECTION REPEAL BILL PASSED.

With a Big Majority the Tucker Bill Was Put Through the House by the Democrats—The Republicans Saw That It Was Useless to Try to Break the Quorum.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—As the eve of the test of physical endurance approaches there appear to be manifestations of uneasiness on the part of some of the administration senators, and this feeling was evinced in numerous conferences between administration and anti-administration Democrats, a number of these conferences taking place in Mr. Voorhees' room.

The attitude of the Republicans is causing the Democrats some alarm. Whether they will go to the extent of remaining and assisting through the weary watches of the night to maintain a quorum is a question that cannot be definitely answered.

The Silver Men's Programme.

A prominent Democrat who has been identified with the repealing forces said that it was a significant fact that the great Republican convention of the state of New York the other day failed utterly to refer to the silver question, and that Senator Jacob Dolliver, Republican, of Chautauqua, and Chauncey Depew and Pierpont Morgan had come out in interviews advocating a compromise. In the face of such things, he said, the Republicans could hardly be expected to go to extremes in indorsing a Democratic administration.

The Democrat regardless the idea of any attempt to adjourn without doing anything or even to take an extended recess, saying that would be the most suicidal policy the party could follow. He believed that the only issue that can come from the struggle is compromise and is hoping that some tangible agreement may yet be effected before Monday.

He, however, expects the battle to be over by the end of this week. Should it be so, there will be a rush of work for the senate, for the bill to repeal the federal election laws came over from the house only a short time after it passed, and is already to the mahogany of the committee.

According to the programme of the silver men, they will make a motion to adjourn today when the usual hour of 6 arrives, which motion will of course be voted down by the republicans. Then Mr. Dubois, speaking for the silver men, will state their position, after which the debate will proceed, A. H. Martin of Kansas opening.

He will probably be followed by Mr. Stewart. Mr. Dubois will remain on guard and insist upon the presence of a quorum. The silver men will oppose and in keeping up the quorum until about 11 o'clock, when, as one of them put it last night, the screws will be applied.

The means that the silver men will withdraw and force the repealers to have their own quorum present. Should any attempt be made to adjourn or take a recess, the silver men will antagonize it and insist upon a continuous session until some agreement has been reached.

The Tucker Bill Goes Through.

The house passed by the overwhelming majority of yeas 201, nays 100, the Tucker bill to repeal the federal election laws.

The Republicans had intended to refrain from voting on the final passage, but when the Democrats mustered 193 votes on the first amendment proposed they saw that it was absolutely impossible to break a quorum and yielded as gracefully as might be. The vote was strictly a party one, but the third party men joined with the Democrats. The house then adjourned.

Senator Squire of Washington gave notice of an amendment to the silver purchase bill providing for the coinage of silver for private owners to the amount of $2,000,000 a month, not to exceed $100,000,000 in all—the owners to receive in coin only the commercial value of the bullion on the day of deposit, and the difference to be retained by the government as seignorage. It also proposes the issue of five year 4 per cent bonds to the amount of $300,000,000, the proceeds of which are to be used for the redemption of United States notes.

There were two speeches delivered on the repeal bill—the first by Senator McPherson and the second by Senator Cockrell. Mr. McPherson's speech was in support of the bill. He declared it to be his belief, which was shared, he thought, by two-thirds of the people of the United States who had any opinion on the subject, that the Sherman law was the main cause, the true cause, the only visible cause of the business troubles of the country.

Mr. Cockrell's speech was a continuation of the one which he began yesterday and was directed against the pending bill. He ridiculed the idea of the Sherman law being of any significance in bringing about the financial panic, and attributed it rather to the legislation to establish gold monometallism in European countries and in the United States. But as to international bimetallism, that, in his opinion, was an impossibility, a mere dream, as international bimetallism had never been. He spoke for five hours and had not then come to an end of his speech.

The house bill to repeal the election laws was received during the day.

Our Expedition Coasts.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Brigadier General Joseph C. Breckinridge, inspector general of the United States army, has submitted a report to the secretary of war upon the condition of affairs prevailing in regard to our coast defenses which is officially characterized as "disgraceful." It is shown that almost the entire southern coast of the Atlantic seaboard is absolutely unprotected and at the mercy of a foreign foe.

Progress on the Tariff Bill.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Progress is making on the preparation of the tariff bill by the Democratic members of the committee on ways and means. Chairman Wilson still declines to fix any date as the time when the bill may be expected to go to the house.

Senator Stone Improving.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Senator Hill presented to the senate a huge petition signed by 10,000 New York citizens praying for the passage of Senator Voorhees' anti-option bill for the repeal of the purchase clause of the Sherman act.

Appointments.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11. — The following fourth class postmasters were appointed:

Massachusetts—S.S. Sargent, Tewksbury, W. F. Cass, Salem.

Connecticut—F. K. Stuart, Lakeville; W. H. Capron, Canaan.

Strangulation Known to a Wooden Puppet.

BARTHOLOMEW, Pa., Oct. 11.—A bloody battle has occurred at Nanticoke between Jack Ryan, a prize fighter, and Dr. Lewis Smith, assistant deputy coroner of the county, during a performance of Punch and Judy. Ryan was severely injured, two of them fatally.

MYTHICAL RIVALIOS.

Fabled Believers Punished Because of Rejection by the Whole Family.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 11.—What appears to be a mythical history among certain Polish Hebrews in this city to swindle fraternal beneficial orders was brought to a climax by the arrest of five alleged prominent in the affairs of three local councils of the National Fraternal union of Cincinnati. Other sick benefit societies of large numbers of people are said to be involved, and many more arrests are looked for.

Those arrested are Moses Pudler, Selig Lieberman and Samuel J. Blumberg, financial accountants of the three councils, and Drs. Lewis S. Rubinsohn and Abraham Hahn, medical examiners. The arrests, which were made on complaint of Daniel A. Phelps of Cincinnati, supreme adjuster of the union, are the result of over three months of patient work by Pinkerton detectives and officers of the union.

Early in the year three councils of the order were established here, their membership being made up entirely of Hebrews. As soon as the 30 day limit had expired applications for sick benefits, as all cases for the limit of $25 per week, began to roll in. The chief officers at Cincinnati suspected fraud and began an investigation, finally hiring a Pinkerton man, who came here, connected himself with one of the councils and, as himself, admitted to the conspiracy, sharing the profits thereof.

His evidence against the prisoners is of this nature: Applying for sick benefits, claims must first be approved by the medical examiner and financial accountant of the local council to which the applicant belongs. Failing in this, the services of the five men arrested with the conspiracy, nearly $4,000 has been fraudulently collected by the conspirators from the National Fraternal union, and of this amount all but $1,000 is alleged to be clear profit. It is almost certain that they have swindled other orders of the same character.

THE MADRID SUICIDE.

A Chicago Girl Kills Herself After Being Jilted by a Spaniard.

MADRID, Oct. 11.—A young American woman who arrived here on the Lisbon express and who went to the Hotel de Paris shot herself in the head. She was engaged to a hospital and is now believed to be dying. Letters found in her luggage indicate that unrequited love was the cause of her suicide.

A further search of her effects shows that the young woman is Miss A. Middleton Brown, a native of Chicago and 24 years of age. She is of county appearance.

Just before shooting herself she ordered a bottle of rum and then rang for a servant, to whom she showed letters addressed to persons in Chicago, Lisbon and Paris. It has been learned that she received a telegram from Lisbon just before she shot herself. The telegram was in code and directed by a young Portuguese nobleman. She is believed to have been a circus artiste.

Wants to Be Buried For a Month.

ROCHESTER, Oct. 11.—Professor Alexander J. McIvor Tyndall, the London mind reader, is in this city and is up with a remarkable proposition. He wants to go into an unconscious state here and be buried. He desires to stay in the ground 30 days and then have his body dug up. The professor says that he possesses the elixir of life and has been already buried twice, one time being beneath the sod 21 days.

The Fireman Scalded to Death.

WHITING, Ind., Oct. 11.—A train of the Pennsylvania railroad ran into an open switch, causing the engine, mail car and baggage car following to leave the track. The dead are Henry Warner, engineer, and John Christie, fireman. Three persons were injured, the engineer, conductor, but none fatally. The fireman was buried beneath the engine and scalded to death by the escaping steam.

A Golden Wedding Tour.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Oct. 11.—Mr. and Mrs. William C. Smillie of this city celebrated their golden wedding. Mr. Smillie was one of the best known engravers of the country. He was one of the incorporators of American Bank Note company. They will take their golden wedding tour to the World's fair.

Nominated For Supreme Court Judge.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The Democratic convention of the Second judicial district of the state of New York nominated as justice of the supreme court Thomas E. Postall, chairman of the general committee of the regular Democratic organization in Kings county.

A Big Gold Coinage Proposed.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 11.—Director of the Mint Preston was closeted for some time with Superintendent Bosbyshell of the Philadelphia mint discussing the facilities for the coinage of $15,000,000 in gold by Dec. 1.

Three Political Murders Near Tuskaloosa.

TUSKALOOSA, I. T., Oct. 11.—Word has just been received that on Saturday last at Red Bird here three Choctaws were murdered. Governor Jones says the murders are the result of the late political trouble.

Smallpox in a Crowded Hospital.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Charity hospital on Blackwell's island has been placed under quarantine owing to the discovery of a case of smallpox in one of the wards. There are over 1,200 patients in the hospital.

Ship Swallowed by Quicksands.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The ship Valkyrie, which sailed from Buenos Ayres for Newcastle for New York, is believed to have been swallowed, with all hands, by quicksands off Sable island.

Professor Promises Dead.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Oct. 11.—Professor George Prentice, head of the department of German language at Wesleyan university, died suddenly at Pasadena, Cal.

Congress and the President Censured.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 11.—The state anti-Chinese convention resolved that President Cleveland and cabinet be censured for non-enforcement of the Geary act.

Big Preparations For the Fêtes at Venice.

PARIS, Oct. 11.—The council of state, without discussion, has voted 275,000 francs for the fêtes in honor of the Russian squadron's visit to Toulon.

Governor's Proclamation.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 11.—Governor Jones has issued a proclamation declaring that the state militia will be called out to suppress any attempt to lynch Tom Speed, who is charged with the murder of Deputy Sheriff Bell.

Another Passenger Steamer Up.

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 11.—The R. Bond Gardiner Steamboating company has started up with a full tonic.

Death of a New York Congressman.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Ex-Judge Lorenzo Shepard, member of congress from the Fifth district in 1851-53, died at his residence in this city, aged 82.

HAZERS MAY BE TRIED.

Judge Abbett Charges the Grand Jury to Indict Them.

THE PENALTY MAY BE TWO YEARS.

The Princeton Students Who Threw a Freshman Into the Water and Left Him to Drown Will Be Arrested—Talk of Vigilance Committees.

TRENTON, Oct. 11.—Justice Abbett charged the Mercer county grand jury in regard to the recent hazing outrages at Princeton, and directed it to make an investigation and indict the offenders. He said in part: "It is the profound regret that in one of the greatest institutions of learning in this country it had been the practice of the students to indulge in the infliction of violence upon their fellows. In some cases this practice had assumed a brutal form; in others it had endangered human life. It had injured the reputation and standing of the college.

"The matter had assumed such a condition that, in the judgment of the court, it was necessary for the judge to himself, and for the grand jury to indict and punish those young men and let them know that maltreatment of fellow students was a violation of the laws of the state.

Justice Abbett's Charge.

A case had recently occurred and had attracted great public attention. The college authorities were endeavoring to obtain evidence in the case, but it was difficult for any college faculty to deal with such a case because a misguided sense of honor would lead the young men united on both sides to withhold any information which they might have obtained. The court could not be told anything with reference to such performances. A young man might be injured for life, but if he spoke a word or made any statement he was denounced in the eyes of his associates. Silence was therefore forced upon the students from the pernicious practice under consideration.

"The parents are threatening to withdraw their sons from the college," continued the judge. "Others decline to send their sons to such a place. It is the duty of the grand jury to exercise its power to check these outrages, and it is now the duty of the grand jury to investigate the matter, and when there is a charge or information that any of these boyish foolishness or quest, to indict, and the court will then make it its business to see that those parties who indulge in this thing in the future. This will tend to the good of the college and the community."

Princeton Is All Excitement.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 11.—Princeton is all excitement over the serious aspect which the Leopold hazing episode has assumed. Dr. Patton's charge to the grand jury brought the students to a realization of the serious nature of hazing such as they had not had before.

Hayard Stockton, the public prosecutor, whose duty it is to take up the case and carry it through, is an interview, said to a reporter:

"A force of detectives will be at once put at work, and a thorough investigation will be made and witnesses subpoenaed to appear before the investigating committee until all the facts and the guilty men are known. No help will be asked of the college faculty in this matter. It will be entirely independent of them and conducted on legal methods."

When asked if Leopold or his father had anything to do with bringing the matter into court, he said:

"Not at all. I have never seen the young man. The judge based his charge on rumors only. Leopold will be summoned to testify in the case if full facts can be obtained otherwise, which, I think, can be done. Should it be necessary, however, he will be asked to tell all he knows of the matter."

Students May Be Imprisoned.

"What is likely to be the punishment of the men if found guilty?"

"I cannot say definitely. It was the spirit of the judge's charge that the punishment in each case be as rigid as required by law. If sentenced, he will be imprisoned for a term of the law is two years' imprisonment. Unless the facts prove that the offense was flagrant, it is hardly likely that the punishment will be so great."

As soon as the investigation is over and the indictments found, the suspected men will be brought from their homes on writs of extradition. It will be necessary, and will be tried in Trenton within the next three weeks.

In speaking of the action of the college in the matter, Dean Murray said: "The college did not begin the prosecution, but, according to our laws, we are required to turn over to the proper authorities all such matters in hand and let the law take its course. I am very sorry for the young men, but they have had all the warning they could have asked, and in keeping with never be wiped out until the students understand that those who are guilty of it are amenable not only to the laws of the college but to the civil courts of New Jersey."

Not Quite Ready to Resume Work.

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 11.—The Riverside and Nelson mills, which are affected by the strike of weavers at Olneyville, were closed for an indefinite period. The total number of operatives idle to-day is close upon 6,000.

Williams College Centennial Closed.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Oct. 11.—The college centennial closed here with an address by Professor Fisher, which was preceded by the annual dinner of college presidents and professors supported.

Will Build Five New Steamers.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The Hamburg-American Packet company has just made a contract for the construction of five large steel twin screw steamers for transatlantic freight and steerage traffic.

Snip Donovan's Total Dog Set.

PERRYDELL, N. J., Oct. 11.—Patrick S. Donovan, known as Snip Donovan, the horse trainer, charged with having killed John Chew, has been held down for Nov. 16.

Spain Will Demand an Indemnity.

TANGIER, Oct. 11.—Spain will demand from Morocco substantial guarantees assuring her rights in Melilla, besides adequate indemnity from the outlaws.

Federation of Labor Convention Opened.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 11.—The eighth annual convention of the American Federation of Labor opened in this city.

New York's Subscriptions.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—As the first day of registration here the total number of persons registered was 69,023.

New York State's Total Tax.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 11.—The total state tax to be collected at the comptroller's office is $10,423,202.

Mr. J. E. Sullivan

"I am Truly Thankful

For Hood's Sarsaparilla. During the year I have taken several bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and found great benefit from it. I was troubled with nervousness and dyspepsia, which I have entirely overcome. I am thankful for Hood's Sarsaparilla, and recommend it to my friends." J. E. SULLIVAN, Engineer Fire Department, Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills Cure Liver Ills. 25c.

JOSEPH SOHL,
PRACTICAL
Electrician
29 NORTH AVENUE,
Plainfield, N. J.
Estimates furnished on Electric Light Wiring, Burglar Alarm and Bell Work and repairing of same. Dealer in
Electric and Gas Fixtures.

Madame Iza Lezem's Conservatory
will open on
Friday, October 6,
from 2 to 6 p. m., in HULETT'S HALL, for instruction in Physical Culture, Elocution, Deportment, Singing, Violin, Piano,
Society and Fancy Dancing.
Reception on October 3, from 3 to 5 p. m., to which all ladies are cordially invited.
For particulars, address to the Hall, or 329 West Front street. 10 2 tf

The only place to buy
Sea Food!
is at
TERRY'S
North Avenue Sea Food Market,
where you will find the biggest Shad in Plainfield. Also, all other kinds in season, at the lowest prices.

Metropolitan Livery
and
Boarding Stables!
Coaches, Close Carriages, Park Phaetons, Surreys, Buggies, Pony Phaetons and Saddle horses.
Special rare given boarding horses. Storage for furniture and carriages.
146 AND 157 NORTH AVENUE.
Opposite depot. Telephone Call, 44.
H. R. RIDER, Proprietor. FRANK DAY, Manager

A. W. Rand,
120 WEST FRONT STREET.
New and second hand.
SCHOOL - BOOKS.
School supplies of all kinds.
Those wishing to dispose of second hand books must bring them in immediately.

World's Fair Excursion Tickets!
Going and returning via all the different lines, with or without hotel accommodations at
FRANK'S
Lowest Rate Railroad and Steamship Agency,
245 AND 247 BROADWAY, Corner Leonard Street, NEW YORK.
Lowest rates to all parts of the World. Tickets purchased and exchanged. Sleeping berths secured. Baggage transferred.
MEMBER AMERICAN TICKET BROKERS' ASSOCIATION. 10 5 3m

Educational.

HARNED ACADEMY.
BOARDING AND DAY SCHOOL.
New School Building;
Competent Instructors,
Students Prepared for College,
For Business, and
In Special Subjects.
For circulars, address "Harned Academy," Plainfield, N. J.

Plainfield Manual Training School,
209 EAST FRONT STREET.
The course of study includes fifteen hours each week in the various branches taught, for which the charge is two dollars per week. Pupils in any of the branches can be taught singly, at correspondingly lower rates. Visitors will be welcome on Monday, Tuesday and Friday. JOHN DALRIDA, Principal.

Plainfield Seminary,
re-opened
SEPTEMBER 14, 1893.
(26th year.)
MISS E. R. KENYON, Principal.

FRENCH LESSONS.
Instruction and entertainment in French conversation at private lessons or in classes. Terms reasonable. Highest references from Professor and Mrs. Pujo, late of Paris, Normal School, and others. For terms and trial lesson free, write to Prof. L. Wroux, care of Messrs. Brentano and Newton, 31 La Grande avenue, Plainfield.

MISS FAWCETT'S
Kindergarten, Primary and Intermediate Department, Plainfield Academy, French, Music, Drawing, Calisthenics. An opportunity to join a class will be given to a few pupils. Those desiring to enter with the school. At home Wednesdays, from 2 to 5 p. m.

MISS JEANNETTE MATTISON,
Teacher of Piano. Gives lessons at her home; persons or at pupils' homes if desired. Terms reasonable. Address or apply at music store. Liberal terms to classes. Best references. No. 34 East Front street.

GERMAN SCHOOL.
Corner Grove street and Mercer avenue, Opens on Monday, October 16, 1893, at 10 o'clock a. m. Rev. J. Klenke. 10 5 1m

Are You Insured?
If you are 21 years old $66.90 paid annually for fifteen years would entitle you to $1,000,
If 22 years old, $67.
If 23 years old, $67.10,
If 24 years old, $67.30.
This sum of $1,000 is payable to the insured, if living, at the expiration of fifteen years, or at his death if prior.
FOR A LIFE POLICY, of $1,000 the annual payments to continue during life, the payments for young men between 21 and 24 are between $18.60 and $20.
For catalogues and further particulars address Henry D. Moore, 245 Broadway, agent, THE NEW YORK MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

F. M. HULETT,
MUSIC DEALER,
74 West Front Street,
handles the following makes:
Gildemeister & Kroger,
Kranich & Bach,
Starr,
Holtzel,
Jacob Bros. Pianos,
and the world-renowned
Newman Bros. and Mason & Hamlin Organs.

New : Proprietor!
HENRY P. WIDDMAN,
Arlington : Hotel
Somerset street and Greenbrook road.
Regular and transient boarders.
First-class bar and stables attached.

Van Epe,
THE NEW JEWELER,
12 Park Avenue. Also a large variety of Musical Goods.

$55!
Six Days at the World's Fair.
A WEEK OF HOLIDAYS.
Railroad tickets, hotel accommodations, admission tickets, and eleven attractive features provided, including two excursions.
To schools, church, military, musical and other CLUBS, to parties desiring special trains, to engine and hose companies, police bodies and lodges, we offer special advantages. Comfort and luxury at a minimum of cost. We have exclusive arrangements with the great railways terminal in Chicago. Send for circulars and call at Masonic Temple, Newark, or 849 Broadway, New York, and we will give you prices.
WORLD'S COLUMBIAN TOURIST COMPANY,
229 Broadway, New York.
GEORGE C. McEWEN,
Agent for New Jersey,
494 Broad street, Newark.

THE BEE HIVE!
Infants' long Cashmere Cloaks, $1.50, $2.00, $2.25.
Children's Elder down Coats, $1.48, $2.00, $2.25.
Also a full line of Flannel Skirts, Infants' Shawls and Socks.
Fall : Underwear.
Children's merino Vests and Pants, 10-inch, 12c., 15-inch, 19c., 20-inch, 19c., 22-inch, 22c., 24-inch, 25c.
Children's natural wool Vests and Pants, 16-inch, 25c., 18-inch, 25c., 20-inch, 25c., 22-inch, 25c., 24-inch, 25c.
SPECIAL!
Ladies' Ribbed Vests, long sleeves, 25c.
Ladies' Merino Vests, 25c., 35c. and 50c.
Ladies' Natural Wool Vests, 50c.
Ladies' White Merino Shirts and Drawers, 50c., 75c. and $1.00.
Men's Natural Wool Shirts and Drawers 75c. and $1.00.
Men's Scarlet Shirts and Drawers, 75c., $1.00 and $1.24.
Louis Callman,
229 West Front Street.

The New Address
of Seguine's Livery Stable
is 18 West Second Street,
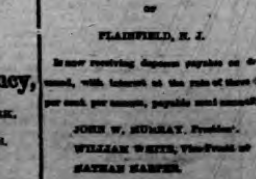
in the Elkwood building.
Telephone Call, 95;
Fine horses, carriages, vehicles of all kinds. Horses boarded. Careful drivers.

Cleaner Coal!
L. A. Rheaume, Ag't,
2 BROADWAY, COR. FOURTH STREET.
Invites the public to inspect the operations of his new coal yards, where he will keep a full season for next coal, which he confidently believes enables him to deliver cleaner coal than is possible by any other method of screening.
Upper Lehigh and Honeybrook Coals in best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.
HOUSE AND STEAMER LUMBER.
He would also announce recently having established a saw mill at Newfield (Rheaume's), and is prepared to execute orders for the same in the best manner at short notice.

Miscellaneous Cards.
H. K. SPENCER,
Grocer and Baker, 76 and 78 Somerset street. Pure cider vinegar, 2 years old, 20c. per gallon. W. O. G. Coffee, 25c. per pound. Soda, wholesome and relish, cider bread, cakes, cookies, lemon, lunch, pepper, cloves, mace, cassia, allspice, mustard, ginger, cream of tartar, sweet potato, and egg plants in season.

PLAINFIELD
TOOTHLESS EXCAVATING COMPANY


JONES & CO.
Work quickly and thoroughly done. Prices lowest in keeping with first-class work. Our contract is approved by the Board of Health. Estimates cheerfully and promptly furnished. Office, 12 East Second street. Yard Lewis, Garden and Front streets.
P. O. box 686. Telephone call 7.

THE DIME SAVINGS INSTITUTION
OF
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually
JOHN W. MURRAY, President.
WILLIAM WHITE, Vice-President.
NATHAN HARPER,
ELIAS S. FOPE, Treasurer

THE BURNING OF KINGSTON.

Daughters of the American Revolution to Celebrate Its Anniversary.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Oct. 11.—Next Monday will be the one hundred and sixteenth anniversary of the burning of Kingston, the then capital of the state of New York, by the British under Major General John Vaughn. The Wilmyck chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, has prepared a programme for the suitable observance of the day, which will close with commemorative public exercises at the state armory. Invitations have been issued to all national and state officers of the society, Daughters of the American Revolution, and to members in New York state, many of whom have signified their acceptance.

At 1 p. m. a luncheon will be served to the chapter and invited guests at the stone honored revolutionary residence of A. H. Bruyn by the Misses Forsyth, after which the guests will be formally received by the chapter. At the time of the burning of Kingston the women and children, left helpless in the absence of husbands and fathers, most of whom were in military service, fled to Hurley. At 5 o'clock, true to revolutionary precedent, the daughters, with their guests, will flee to Hurley, where they will be sheltered in the revolutionary homestead of the Wynkoop family, now owned by James D. Wynkoop. Mrs. Wynkoop, a member of the chapter, assisted by a reception committee, will receive the guests.

At 8 p. m. public commemorative exercises will be held in the armory. The speakers of the evening will be General George H. Sharpe, a member of the Society of the Sons of the Revolution; General Adolphus W. Greely of arctic fame, a member of the Society of Sons of the American Revolution, and General Horace Porter, president general of the Society of Sons of the American Revolution. Henry Abbey will read an original poem. David M. Kennedy, mayor of the city, will preside.

Among the invited guests are President Cleveland and Mrs. Cleveland, Vice President Stevenson and Mrs. Stevenson, who is the president general of the Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and Governor Flower and staff.

KILLED IN A HOSPITAL.

There Will Be an Investigation Into the Manner of Felton's Death.

BUFFALO, Oct. 11.—George E. Felton died at the Buffalo State hospital under circumstances calling for an investigation.

The coroner ordered Dr. Hewitt to make a post mortem examination, and the doctor's report raises in the nature of a sensation. Dr. Hewitt's report goes to show that the man met death at the hands of brutal attendants.

The story of the man's death, as told by the hospital authorities, runs as follows: Felton was making a good deal of noise, and one of the attendants tried to force him into a room. Felton resisted, and a struggle followed, in which they say Felton fell from a chair on his head. He was removed to the hospital and died some hours later.

Felton was 42 years of age. He had been an inmate of the asylum since August. His home was in Poland, Chautauqua county. Coroner Tucker will hold an inquest.

New York Republican Leaders Chosen.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The Republican state committee met at Fifth avenue hotel and organized by appointing officers and executive and advisory committees. William Brookfield was re-elected chairman of the state committee, and Charles W. Hackett was re-elected chairman of the executive committee. The secretary and treasurer, John S. Kenyon and General Samuel Thomas, respectively, were also re-elected, and, with Thomas C. Platt, Warner Miller and Chauncey M. Depew, were made the advisory committee.

Connecticut Folks at the Fair.

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—Four hundred residents of the Nutmeg state attended a reception given in the Connecticut building by Governor Luzon B. Morris. The receiving party consisted of the governor and Mrs. Morris, Mrs. George H. Knight, president of the board of lady managers for Connecticut, and Hon. David M. Read, chairman of the executive committee for the state.

Six Blows With a Hatchet.

HARTFORD, Oct. 11.—A murderous assault was committed in Burnside, near East Hartford, this morning. Mrs. William Hosch. Cavitt struck her six blows in the back of the head with a hatchet. When she regained consciousness, her cries were heard by neighbors, and a posse of citizens is searching for Cavitt.

An Embezzling Bookkeeper Confesses.

ROCHESTER, Oct. 11.—William P. Evans, a young bookkeeper in the employ of Albert Bier, a large furniture dealer in this city, has confessed that during the last year he has stolen from the firm many small sums, aggregating $8,000. He has been living a fast life.

Where Dr. Koch's Lymph Failed.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 11.—Edward Blake, a well known electrical engineer of this city, died of consumption. He was one of the three persons who were the first to be inoculated with Dr. Koch's lymph in this country.

Sir Richard Webster Dined.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—E. J. Phelps, ex-United States minister to England, gave a dinner at the Manhattan club to Sir Richard Webster, counsel for England in the Behring sea commission.

The Women Won the Day.

FLUSHING, N. Y., Oct. 11.—The women of Flushing swarmed to the polls in the school trustee election, and their candidate, John H. Clarke, beat Chester Huntington by 100 majority.

Burglars Robbed the Postoffice.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 11.—Thieves entered the postoffice at Fredericktown, blew open the safe with dynamite, secured $50 in stamps, $60 in money and a number of valuable papers.

Cotton Mill Operatives on Strike.

WOONSOCKET, R. I., Oct. 11.—The warp dressers in the Valley Falls company's Woonsocket cotton mill struck against a wage reduction.

December Wheat Touches Bottom.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 11.—On the Merchants' Exchange, December wheat sold at a lower figure than was ever known before, opening at 63 cents.

New York State Doctors In Session.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The tenth annual meeting of the New York State Medical association began in Mott Memorial hall, this city.

New York Firemen's Convention.

BAY SHORE, N. Y., Oct. 11.—The seventh annual convention of the State Order of American Firemen convened in Islip.

VIGILANT WILL BE SOLD

The Cup Defender Something of a White Elephant.

THE THIRD RACE IS ON TODAY.

With a Brand New Monopole and Lots of Confidence, the Yankee Sloop Again Tackles the British Cutter—Ready to Thrash the Jubilee For a $10,000 Wager.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The syndicate which built the Vigilant has decided that at the close of the contests for the American's cup the gallant defender of the coveted trophy should be offered at private sale, and that if she is not purchased at private sale within a limited time she shall be sold by public auction to the highest bidder.

The original amount subscribed by the syndicate to build and run the Vigilant was $100,000, which it was then thought would be sufficient for building the yacht and to defray the running expenses till the close of the contest. This amount, however, was all expended before the trial races were begun, and it was found necessary to assess the members of the syndicate heavily in order to keep the yacht in commission till the close of the international races.

The Third Race On.

Today the third of the series of races for the America's cup between the yachts Vigilant and Valkyrie is taking place. It is 15 miles to windward and leeward, as the case may be, and return.

The Vigilant's new bowsprit, which takes the place of the one [illegible] in Monday's race, was put in [illegible]day, and after it was adjusted the cup defender took a spin down the bay for an hour or two. Everything worked beautifully, and she returned to her anchorage at Bay Ridge as trig and trim as a new pin. Blow high or low, she can be depended on to give a good account of herself.

The Valkyrie came out of the race Monday in good condition, and yesterday her crew were busy bending new bobstalls on her. They hope they may pull her through the water faster than the set they replaced.

Lord Dunraven said in an interview: "I have not thought about building another boat to race for the America's cup. If I should come over here to race for the cup again, I should prefer to have the races sailed off Newport, where there would be less interference from excursion steamers. It is impossible to sail a boat to the best advantage amid such a lot of steamers as followed the second race.

"They undoubtedly interfered with the Vigilant somewhat, but my boat, being behind, got the worst of the wash. I still regard the Valkyrie as the faster boat in very light weather or heavy weather. The race of Saturday I do not regard as a fair test.

Deserves Finds Death.

"Monday there was fair racing weather. I believe I made a mistake in shortening the lead water line of the Valkyrie. She is sailing high. I would have sent her over earlier, so that we could have become accustomed to the American conditions of racing weather and of American waters.

"I do not see why the Valkyrie would have won the race yesterday had it not been for the crowding of excursion boats, but I believe we would have made a better showing had they kept away from us. In racing on the other side the Valkyrie could beat the Vigilant."

There has been some talk by the admirers of the Boston boat, the Jubilee, to the effect that she could thrash the Vigilant as easily as the latter has vanquished the Valkyrie. It was stated upon good authority at Bay Ridge that there is $10,000 of Vigilant money waiting for the eastern men to cover for a series of races in the sound after the Vigilant's present excursion engagement is over.

An Italian Count Commits Suicide.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 11.—A printer, known to his associates as Lorettor Fuch, committed suicide here. He was a man of liberal education, being able to set type in seven different languages. Since his death papers found among his effects prove that he was an Italian count and that his real name was John Eos Fuch-Loretzor.

Yesuvius Will Blow Up Wrecks.

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 11.—The dynamite cruiser Vesuvius will engage today in the work of blowing up wrecks now dangerous to navigation along the New Jersey coast. She will remove one of the most dangerous wrecks tomorrow—a schooner lying in 12 fathoms of water, bearing east one-half mile north of Barnegat.

Pawnbroker Murdered by Burglars.

SAN ANTONIO, TEX., Oct. 11.—Marcus Koenigheim, a wealthy pawnbroker of this city, was found murdered at his palatial home here. His body was horribly mutilated. It is supposed the crime was committed by burglars, as his safe was rifled.

Mello Has a Fort Now.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—A dispatch from Rio Janeiro says that Fort Villegagnon, situated on an island inside the entrance of the bay of Rio Janeiro, garrisoned with marines and hitherto neutral, has declared in favor of Admiral Mello.

Historic Earth From Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 11.—Several cans of earth taken from historic spots in this city have been sent to the Colonial Dames of San Francisco, who will plant a tree in soil of the revolution.

Baseball Player Pike Dead.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Lipman E. Pike, who for years was one of the best professional ball players in the country, died at his home in Brooklyn of heart disease.

A Big Peach Yield.

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Oct. 11.—From a careful canvass of Hunterdon county it is estimated that the peach crop exceeds 1,000,000 baskets.

Fire In a Pennsylvania Village.

BEAVER, Pa., Oct. 11.—In Monaca village five buildings, with their contents, were entirely consumed by fire. The loss will reach $60,000.

Fire Again Under Fire.

MONTEVIDEO, Oct. 11.—Admiral Mello has once more bombarded the city of Rio Janeiro, and the capital is in a state of panic.

St. Jean de Baptiste Convention.

BRUNSWICK, Conn., Oct. 11.—The annual state convention of the St. Jean de Baptiste societies was opened here.

The Belgian Miners' Strike Over.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 11.—The advance demanded by the miners has been granted, and the strike is to be closed.

No Cholera Cases Developed Yet.

QUARANTINE, N. Y., Oct. 11.—All of the passengers and crew of the steamer Russia are well.

BRIEFLY TOLD HAPPENINGS.

The funeral of Mrs. Hayes and Stewart was held in New York.

Willie Menard, the first colored man to run for congress, has just died in Washington.

James Donachue of Scranton, Pa., made the tenth unsuccessful attempt to kill himself.

It has been discovered that 31 babies died from neglect in the San Francisco Foundling asylum.

Nine large ice houses at Cayuga, N. Y., containing over 10,000 tons of ice, were destroyed by fire.

Henry DeWolf, treasurer of the Illinois Central Railway company, died suddenly in Chicago of heart failure.

John Johnson, the colored murderer of two fellow convicts in Auburn (N. Y.) prison, has been resentenced to die in the chair the week of Nov. 12.

Jacob Kreutzer, a socialist, said to be the real husband of Emma Goldman, has been sent to Auburn prison for three years on the charge of grand larceny.

Frank H. Sheffield of Westerly Conn., the temperance orator and ex-Methodist preacher who was tried for the murder of his 5-year-old daughter, was found not guilty because of insanity.

A. J. Dress of Philipsburg, Center county, Pa., was arrested at that place on a charge of false pretense in receiving about $2,000 from the alleged heirs of the estate of John George Spang, who died over 60 years ago.

A BANK SURROUNDED.

Hungarians Threaten to Kill Banker McCaleb on Sight.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Oct. 11.—The failure of J. S. McCaleb, who conducted banks at Uniontown and Connellsville, is found to be much more serious than was at first supposed. His assets amount to about $75,000, while the liabilities will reach if not exceed $175,000.

A great many of the Hungarian and Italian coke workers had deposited their savings in McCaleb's banks.

Last night McCaleb's places of business were surrounded by mobs of angry creditors, who threatened to kill McCaleb on sight. The clerks in the banks had armed themselves to protect the property of their employer. Serious trouble is feared.

Dragged Down a Fellow Workman.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Adam Bock, John Burger and Jacob Mailer, painters, were engaged in cementing the side of a house at 38 Avenue A. They were standing on a scaffold which was swung from the coping of the roof to the third story of the house. In some way Bock pushed the scaffolding from the wall and slipped off. He is a large man, and in trying to save himself caught hold of Burger and pulled him down. Both fell to the ground. Bock's skull was crushed in, and he died instantly. Burger's right leg suffered a compound fracture, and he was injured internally to such an extent that it is believed he will die.

Release of a Life Convict.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Oct. 11.—Samuel E. Wayland will be released from prison today, Governor Flower being convinced that there are grave doubts of his guilt. He was condemned to death in 1890 for the murder of Emory Thayer in Livingston county, whose house, it was alleged, Wayland and a notorious character named Swartz were attempting to rob at that time. Swartz died in Auburn a year ago and on his deathbed confessed to the prison chaplain that he had sworn falsely against Wayland.

Father Mathew Societies In a Scrimmage.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 11.—A Jersey Central special train, carrying several hundred members of Father Mathew's societies and others to Wilkesbarre to the annual parade of the societies, met another train bound in the opposite direction in the southern part of this city. There was a slight crash when the two trains, but no one was injured except Miss Florence Blewitt, who jumped from the train and had a leg broken.

Cashier Arrested In Jail.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., Oct. 11.—John Jacob Arnold, cashier of the Merchants' bank here, which suspended recently, and Niagara county's treasurer, is under arrest in the county jail charged with forged paper for $1,700 and on the charge of grand larceny in the first degree in appropriating $85,000 from the bank. The directors of the bank are his accusers.

Chamberlain Denies the Rumor.

SALEM, Mass., Oct. 11.—Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, M. P., in relation to the cablegram which credited him with making overtures to the Welsh members of parliament for the defeat of Gladstone and his own election as premier, flatly denies the report.

Murder In a Cigar Factory.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—During a quarrel in a cigar factory at One Hundred and Fiftieth street and River avenue, Joseph Dickery, 16 years old, was shot and instantly killed by Charles Allen, 17 years old. Allen was arrested.

An Invalid's Suicide.

HOMEDALE, Pa., Oct. 11.—On account of illness from a surgical operation recently performed, Mrs. Amos Oliver, the wife of a wealthy farmer residing near Homedale, shot and instantly killed herself.

Former Longstreet Kills Himself.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 11.—Joseph Longstaff, aged 38, a farmer of Randolphville, about five miles northeast of this city, shot himself under the left ear. No reason is given.

To Celebrate the Close of the World's Fair.

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—The committee on decorations reported that arrangements were being made to celebrate in an elaborate and dignified manner the closing of the exposition.

Maynard Again Denounced.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The Bar association met and rescinded the opinion of Judge Maynard by passing resolutions denouncing his nomination for the court of appeals.

Do You?
Intend to invest in a
WHEEL?
If so, call on
Dickinson,
The Optician.
Agent for the Rambler, the best wheel in the market. 4 weights, 22, 25, 28 and 31 lbs. Wheels to hire at reasonable rates.

1893 TAXES!
Notice is hereby given to the taxpayers of the
City of Plainfield,
that the taxes assessed in said city for the year 1893 are now due and payable, and that if the said taxes be not paid by the
20th Day of December
next, the names of the defaulters, with their respective taxes, will be returned to the City Judge for the prosecution. The
COMMISSIONERS OF APPEAL
in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council Chamber, on the
Fourth Tuesday in November Next,
(the 28th,) and sit from two o'clock p. m. until five o'clock p. m., or longer, if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.
JOHN JOHNSON,
Collector of Taxes.
Dated, Plainfield, N. J., October 4, 1893.
10 7 1d

Stoves
For Winter,
Hardware of all Kinds,
Everything
From
Tacks to Furnaces.
A. M. GRIFFEN,
13 EAST FRONT STREET. Telephone 6.
Another one in the race, and
A. G. VOGELER
takes the lead.
LOOK AT THESE PRICES.

Porterhouse Steak	12c.
Sirloin	10c.
Round	12c.
Chuck	9c.
Roast Beef	10c.
Lamb Chops	14c.
Veal	10c.
Leg Mutton	12c.
Leg Spring Lamb	15c.
Fine Shoulder Lamb	12c.
Jersey Hams	15c.
Fresh Jersey Pork	14c.
Fresh Sausage	14c.
Pickled Tripe	5c.
Pickled Pigs' Feet	5c.

Headquarters for Bologna. Bologna made fresh twice a day. Call and get your money's worth.
Union Meat Market,
131 WEST FRONT STREET.
9 14 1m A. G. Vogeler, Manager.
Do Your Corns Hurt?
They can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of
ELECTRIC
Corn Cure.
A remedy that never fails. A guarantee in each and every box. Or a complete cure is not made, the money is to be refunded at once. Price, 50c. per box. Sent postpaid to any address on receipt of price. Remit by postal note or silver, at our risk.) A book of testimonials sent with each box.
ALLEN & CO.,
6 19 tf Lock Box 33, Richmond, Va.
MORE
SLAUGHTER!
to close out our entire line of
Neglige SHIRTS!
We offer them at the ridiculously low price of
85 CENTS.
These goods are worth $1.25 and $1.50. If you don't need 'em now, buy and keep until next season. Sizes—32 to 44. Only 85 cents each one.
Hallock & Davis,
New number, 109 West Front street, opposite Somerset street.
ROCHESTER BEERS.
The success already attained by this brand of Lager Beer is beyond expectation. No other Beer ever handled in this city has had such remarkable sales. Try It!
Bottled Liquors,
Imported Brandies and Ales are having a very large sale at this house. Try what is first class, and it will pay you to investigate.
FRANK LINKE'S
Wholesale Liquor Establishment,
32 WEST FRONT STREET.
Telephone Call, 197.
U. R. CRANE,
has the largest stock of
Fine Fall HATS,
in Plainfield.
129 WEST FRONT STREET.

TAKE NOTICE.
Charles Arnold,
the butcher,
Is Still in the Race
for cut prices.
Fresh Pork and Sausage 12c lb.
My own Dressed Jersey Chickens, 18c. lb.
Legs Mutton, 10c. lb.
Lamb, 12c. lb.
My Smoked Meats and all other Meats will be the same old cut prices.
Arnold's : Market,
208 LIBERTY STREET.
GOODS DELIVERED
FREE OF CHARGE.
Strictly Cash.
Great Bargains
in all grades of
WALL PAPERS,
for the next 60 days.
Marsh, Ayers & Co.,
29 EAST FRONT STREET.
The Vendertile and Atmore
Use the same make of imported Table Oil, Cheese and French Sardines that I now have in stock.
THEY ARE DELICIOUS.
And then I personally select the
FRESH FISH!
I have on sale to-day and to-morrow. Call and see my stock.
JULES BOVEY,
60 Somerset Street.
H. Dr MOTT, Graduate of United States Embalming College,
UNDERTAKER : AND : EMBALMER,
Office at residence, 175 Somerset street.
Plainfield, N. J.
Townsend's
Marble Works,
30 Somerset Street.
Builders Cards.
Daniel Hulick,
Carpenter
and
General Jobber.
SHOP,
35 Jackson Avenue.
Storm doors and weather strips a specialty.
JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO
Window Screens made to order.
John P. Emmons,
MASON AND BUILDER.
Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place.
Jobbing promptly attended to.
P. O. Box 905.
DUNSON & GAYLE,
Carpenters
and Builders.
W. J. Dunson, No. 18 Vine street. H. B. Gayle, No. 19 Vine street.
All work promptly attended to.
WILLIAM G. SMITH,
PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER.
All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.
Residence—Grandview avenue.
P. O. Box 852.
R. V. SAUNS,
Carpenter & Builder.
Residence—Clinton avenue, near depot, Grove.
P. O. Box 1288
Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.
JACOB M. HIGGINS,
PRACTICAL MASON AND CONTRACTOR.
P. O. Box 881. Residence Dr. Mead, 807.
JOHN ARNOTT,
Carpenter and Builder. Residence and shop, No. 8 Arnott place, Plainfield, N. J. Jobbing promptly attended to. Orders left at Frank Smith's, 111 West Front street, or at residence, No. 8 Arnott place, will receive prompt attention.
ALFRED E. HEDGES,
Civil Engineer and Surveyor, No. 8 Park Place, Plainfield, N. J. Maps of Union and Middlesex counties, with Fences, Roads, Streams, Buildings, etc., for sale. Office, Court House.
All work guaranteed.
59c. SALE! 59c.
of
KID GLOVES!
4 button length, tan, modes, brown and black, all sizes, 5½ to 7½.
59c. 59c.
GEO. L. VAN EMBURGH & SON.
FRONT STREET, OPPOSITE PARK AVENUE. UNDER THE BANK.
Now is Your Chance.
GRAND CLOTHING OPENING, at our retail store, 318 West Front street. Are you ready? We are prepared to offer the public a clean, fresh stock of Fall and Winter Clothing, for Men, Boys and Children. Remember, we sell at retail at the wholesale price.
C. SCHEPFLIN & CO,
318 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.
Timely Warning! Winter Approaching!
Keep your Scalp Clean and your Hair Growing.
RANDOLPH'S Quinine and Glycerine
HAIR TONIC!
The Friend in the Hour of Need.
EACH BOTTLE GUARANTEED. Sold only by
L. W. RANDOLPH, Prescription Druggist,
149 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.
BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,
Successors to
The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,
Dealers in
Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials
42 to 60 PARK AVENUE.
Are now prepared with their increased facilities, having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs. A. D. Cook & Bro., to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

Railroad Time Table.

CENTRAL RAILROAD OF NEW JERSEY
(Anthracite coal used exclusively insuring cleanliness and comfort.)
Station in New York, foot of Liberty street. Stations in Jersey City as follows:

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield at 5 18, 6 03, 6 48, 7 28, 8 03, 8 38, 9 13, 9 48, 10 23, 10 58, 11 33 a. m., 12 08, 12 43, 1 18, 1 53, 2 28, 3 03, 3 38, 4 13, 4 48, 5 23, 5 58, 6 33, 7 08, 7 43, 8 18, 8 53, 9 28, 10 03, 10 38, 11 13 p. m., 12 01 night.
Leave New York, foot of Liberty street, at 1 30, 2 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 a. m., 12 00, 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p. m., 12 01 night.

PLAINFIELD AND ESSEX.

Leave Plainfield at 5 18, 6 03, 6 48, 7 28, 8 03, 8 38, 9 13, 9 48, 10 23, 10 58, 11 33 a. m., 12 08, 12 43, 1 18, 1 53, 2 28, 3 03, 3 38, 4 13, 4 48, 5 23, 5 58, 6 33, 7 08, 7 43, 8 18, 8 53, 9 28, 10 03, 10 38, 11 13 p. m., 12 01 night.
Leave Foot of Liberty street, New York, at 1 30, 2 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 a. m., 12 00, 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p. m., 12 01 night.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield at 7 13, 8 13, 9 13, 10 13, 11 13 a. m., 12 13, 1 13, 2 13, 3 13, 4 13, 5 13, 6 13, 7 13, 8 13, 9 13, 10 13, 11 13 p. m.
Leave Somerville at 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield at 8 13 a. m., 12 13, 4 13, 10 13 p. m.
Leave Lake Hopatcong at 7 30 a. m., 12 30, 4 30, 9 30 p. m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

1 23 a. m. for Somerville, Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia and the West.
5 18 a. m. for Somerville, Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia and the West.
7 13 a. m. for Bound Brook, Somerville, Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia and the West.
8 13 a. m. for Somerville, Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia and the West.
9 13 a. m. for Bound Brook, Somerville, Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia and the West.
10 13 a. m. for Somerville, Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia and the West.
11 13 a. m. for Bound Brook, Somerville, Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia and the West.
12 13 p. m. for Somerville, Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia and the West.
1 13 p. m. for Bound Brook, Somerville, Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia and the West.
2 13 p. m. for Somerville, Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia and the West.
3 13 p. m. for Bound Brook, Somerville, Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia and the West.
4 13 p. m. for Somerville, Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia and the West.
5 13 p. m. for Bound Brook, Somerville, Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia and the West.
6 13 p. m. for Somerville, Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia and the West.
7 13 p. m. for Bound Brook, Somerville, Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia and the West.
8 13 p. m. for Somerville, Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia and the West.
9 13 p. m. for Bound Brook, Somerville, Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia and the West.
10 13 p. m. for Somerville, Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia and the West.
11 13 p. m. for Bound Brook, Somerville, Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia and the West.

ROYAL BLUE LINE.

Leave Plainfield at 8 13 a. m., 12 13, 4 13 and 10 13 p. m. for Philadelphia, Atlantic City, Cape May, Ocean City, Sea Isle City, Anglesea, Wildwood, Holly Beach, Avalon, Stone Harbor and Intermediate points.
Leave Philadelphia at 8 30 a. m., 12 30, 4 30 and 9 30 p. m.

ROYAL BLUE LINE.

Leave Plainfield at 8 13 a. m., 12 13, 4 13 and 10 13 p. m. for Philadelphia, Atlantic City, Cape May, Ocean City, Sea Isle City, Anglesea, Wildwood, Holly Beach, Avalon, Stone Harbor and Intermediate points.
Leave Philadelphia at 8 30 a. m., 12 30, 4 30 and 9 30 p. m.

Real Estate & Insurance

Edw. C. Mulford,
REAL ESTATE
AND
INSURANCE.
MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE
42 North Avenue.
M. M. Dunham,
REAL ESTATE
AND
INSURANCE.
No. 7 East Front street.
Wm. A. Woodruff,
REAL ESTATE
AND
INSURANCE.
MONEY TO LOAN on Approved Security
Corner Front street and Park avenue.

Spicer & Hubbard,
Manufacturers of
Blacktops, Beds, Blinds, Doors, etc.
Corner Madison avenue and Third street.
SCROLL SAWING, TURNING,
Also plain and ornamental glue headings to order.
12 17

Professional Cards.

WILLIAM B. CODINGTON,
Counselor at Law, Corner Front avenue and Second street. Solicitor and Master in Chancery. Money to loan. Prompt attention to all business.
JACKSON S. APPLEMAN,
Counselor at Law, Over Second National Bank, corner Park avenue and Front street. Solicitor for Plainfield Building and Loan Association. Solicitor and Master in Chancery.
F. A. DUNHAM, C. E.
Civil Engineer and Surveyor, Union County Bank Building. Special attention given to drainage, sewerage, etc. Office, 7 East Front street.
WILLIAM A. CODDINGTON,
Attorney-at-Law, Solicitor in Chancery, Master in Chancery, Counselor at Law, Notary Public and Conveyancer. Money to loan. Office: No. 20 East Front street, Plainfield, N. J.
CLARK & REID,
Counselors at Law, Supreme Court Commissioners of Deeds, Solicitors in Chancery. Office over First National Bank, Plainfield, N. J.
CHARLES A. MARKS,
Counselor at Law, Supreme Court Commissioner of Deeds, Solicitor in Chancery, Notary Public, Conveyancer, etc. Office, 5 Park place, Plainfield, N. J.

HOUSEKEEPER'S COLUMN.

THE HOMEMAKERS OF THE FUTURE SHOULD ALSO READ IT.

Here is the Well Tried Experience of Practical Housekeepers Printed for Your Benefit—These Recipes Should be Pasted in a Scrap Book.

Eggs should be kept in a cool, not cold, place. They will not whip well in a hot or windy room. Before using them in the summer put them in a pan of cold water; the whites will whip much better for this bit of care. One egg well beaten (the yolk and white separately) will often take the place of two. Fresh eggs will sink when put into water.

HOUSE IVY.

A Plant Easy of Cultivation and Beautiful for Decoration.

The admirable adaptability of ivy for house culture is not properly understood by house-lovers. In the first place it naturally delights in a situation partially or wholly shaded from the sun, which permits of its growing or being trained in any part of the room and at any distance from the window. Unlike many plants it is not at all particular regarding temperature, or if the atmosphere be dry or damp; frosts do not affect it, as it is always green, and on the other hand it will bear seventy-five degrees or upward of heat with impunity. The plant requires but little attention, is exceptionally free from insects and will thrive for a long time under neglect that would kill outright most plants. The ivy bears no flowers, but its foliage presents a remarkably clean, bright, glossy appearance, and is of an attractive deep green color. It is very tractable, and is planted in a large sized pot and permanently placed in the parlor or sitting-room it may be trained to cover the sides of an apartment or ceiling, festoon a pillar, climb and trail about a window sill or up a wire screen. Like all foliage plants, it is greatly improved by washing the leaves frequently. It is necessary to go over the window collection at least once a week and sponge the plants or both sides of the leaves. When sweeping a room a sheet should be thrown over the plants.

Should the Lamp Upset.

A word to those who use the ornamental lamps which give such a soft light and add so much to the daintiness of one's parlor. Should one of these lamps be upset and the spilled liquid catch fire, throw a woollen tablecover or rug over the flames. If the woollen articles thus thrown on the flames serve them entirely, the probability is that the flames will be extinguished at once. It is useless to run for water; the flames can best be smothered in their birthplace.

Don't Whip a Frightened Steed.

Never whip your horse for becoming frightened at any object by the roadside, for if he sees a stump, a log or a heap of leaves in the road, and while he is eying it carefully and about to pass it, you strike him with the whip, it is the log, or stump or the tan-bark that is hurting him, in his way of reasoning, and the next time he will be more frightened. Give him time to smell all these objects and use the bridle to assist you in bringing him near them.

Hotels.

CENTRAL HOTEL,

No. 11 E. Front St.,

PLAINFIELD.

Windham & Crowley,

PROPRIETORS.

First-class bar attached.

Fourth Ward Hotel.

JOHN GOFF, Proprietor.

Boarders accommodated, both transient and permanent.

LARGE ROOMS

and

ALL MODERN IMPROVEMENTS.

Fine Wines, Liquors

and CIGARS.

Corner Third and Liberty Streets.

Hotel Grenada,

NORTH AVENUE,

now open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the travelling public.

City Hotel,

Corner

PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.

Transient guests accommodated.

Eugene Hoerster,

206 Grove Street,

North Plainfield.

Wholesale Dealer

in

FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.

Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

OPENING

OF

Fall and Winter DRESS GOODS.

We have placed on sale the Largest Assortment of DRESS GOODS ever offered in this city, and the prices lower than ever, short lengths to avoid too many dresses of a kind.

WE MENTION A FEW SPECIALS.

All Wool Bengaline at 55c. yd. Regular Price 75c.

" " Novelties at 50c yd. Regular Price 75c.

" " Henriettas at 75c. yd. Regular Price 1.00

Cashmeres, Serges, Flannels and Cloths in large variety of colors and prices. Priestley's silk warp Dress Goods.

DRESS TRIMMINGS

In plain and changeable Braids, Gimps, Braids, etc. We are still offering

Smith's Best Moquette Carpets at 99c. yd

It will be to your advantage to look at these goods if you are in need of carpets.

BLANKETS AND COMFORTABLES AT

EDSALL'S.

MRS. NOTTAGE AND HER CAT.

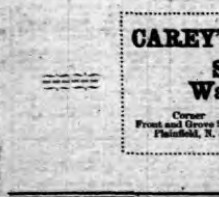
Old Mrs. Nottage
She sat in her cottage,
And thus, to herself, she did say,
"I'd like a nice chop,
Or a steak from the shop
Of the butcher right over the way!"

She put on her bonnet,
With ribbons upon it;
Her pattens she slipped on her feet,
Saying, "Tommy, don't fret,
I won't tarry my pet,
I'm only just crossing the street!"

Now, over the way
A hungry dog lay,
And he longed for a crust or a bone,
And, strange 'tis to say,
'Twas the same Doggie Tray
That once Mother Hubbard did own.

A nice steak she got,
Then returned to her cot,
And placed it upon a high shelf.
Sly Tommy looked up,
And thought, "I shall sup
On that very prime rump-steak myself!"

The old lady said,
"The fire's clear and red;
It will cook my nice steak to a T!"
She went for the grill,
Master Tom had his will,
And off with the steak bolted he!



Now, the lean dog that lay
Watching over the way,
Saw Tommy rush out from the door;
After Tommy he ran
And a chase then began;
Such racing was ne'er seen before.

The neighbors ran out,
And loudly did shout,
The children and small dogs ran after!
And, oh, such a noise
Made the girls and the boys,
Such screaming, and tumbling, and laughter!

To make the tale brief,
The cat dropped the beef,
Old Tray snapped it up—oh! so clever!
Off swiftly he flew,
We soon lost to view,
And dog and steak vanished for ever.

WHAT COWS ARE.

Little Willie Asks Some Questions That Are Not Answered in Books.

"Papa," said Willie, as he and his father roamed over the fields together, "I like to go walking with you. You know so much about everything, don't you?"

"Yes, Willie, I know a great deal," returned Mr. Bronson, complacently. "And it is a great pleasure to me, my son, to be able to impart to you the information that I have acquired."

Then he asked, catching sight of the cattle grazing in the next field, "Papa, what be cows?"

"Cows," returned Mr. Bronson, after a moment of thought—"cows—er—are animals with horns that give milk and eat grass."

"Do cows like grass better than they do apple pie and custard?" asked Willie.

"Very much better," said Mr. Bronson.

"Why do they, papa?" asked the boy.

"Oh, because they were born that way."

"Why do cows give milk, papa? Can't they eat it?"

"No. Cows don't know anything about money, you know; and even if they did, they wouldn't know where to keep it."

"Couldn't they keep it in their horns?"

"Oh my, no!"

"What good are boys' horns, anyhow? Do they make that funny 'moo' sound with their horns?"

"What an idea! No, indeed. They do that with their throats."

"Why don't they do it with their horns?"

"They can't."

"Can't anybody blow horns?"

"Oh, yes. Tin horns and—er—brass horns, but not cows' horns."

"Papa, why don't cows have tin horns?"

"Oh nonsense! Oh—er—because they are cows, I suppose."

Willie thought deeply for a long time about this, and then he turned to his father and said, "Why are cows cows, anyway?"—Harper's Bazar.

An Ultimatum.

Johnny—Where are you goin'? Tommy—Home. Don't you hear maw a-callin' me? Johnny—That's nothin'. She called you two or three times before. Tommy—Yes; but she's out at the pump-tree now a-takin' off a ultimatum.—Indianapolis Journal.

YOUNGSTER'S DOINGS.

"What has come over Johnny? He keeps his face so clean."

"Yes. He hates so to have it washed."

A MOTHER'S PRODUCTIVENESS.

Tommy (to his little brother)—"Because it's got a picture of a kitchen stove in it, and you might burn your sweet little fingers."

A YOUNG RAIN-MAKER.

"I don't know where the waterin'-pot is," said Jimmieboy, "but I'll tell you what you do, Willie; you kneel down over the flowers, and I'll pleash you till you cry, and the tears 'll water 'em good enough."

BRAVE UNCLE GEORGE.

Allen (aged seven years)—Papa, were there any live robots after the battle at Bull Run?

Father—Why, of course, my child. Why do you ask that?

Allen—Uncle George told me about the battle last night, and I thought he killed them all.

CAUTIOUS JOHNNY.

"Now, Johnny," said Johnny's father, "I want you to go back to Mr. Parker, and tell him I didn't mean to ring his door-bell and run away."

"I can't papa."

"But you must. It was very naughty of you to do it."

"I know that; but I did mean to do it, and I don't think I ought to tell Mr. Parker a story."—Harper's Bazar.

THE WOLF AND THE KID.

A wolf once overheard a goat
Say "kid my dear" to-day
Don't let a soul inside the door,
Who knocks, unless I say—

That password is "death to the wolf!"
The wolf lay hidden near,
And presently crept up and cried
"Death to the wolf—d'ye hear?"

The little kid she heard the word
But did not feel at ease—
And so she said "There's something more.
Show me a white paw, please."

The wolf, of course, had no white paw.
And what d'ye think he did,
He just lay down and died of rage
Foiled by that clever kid.

When enemies keep watch and ward
We can't be too much on our guard.

A Hymn That Made Trouble.

The pastor had no dislike to the choir, but some of its members were almost ready to resign, not long ago, on account of one of his announcements.

So many of them were sick that the choir seats were deserted. The good man was sorry for it, but the thin upperstood in his mind was to choose a hymn that the entire congregation could sing.

He mentioned the absence of the choir, and then said, "Brethren and sisters, as soon as it is decided to afflict them with hard colds, let us all join in the singing 'Praise God from whom all blessings flow.'"—N. Y. Herald.

Turned Upside Down.

Awoke confused with quaking knees,
Asked I not the meaning of my dream
Of Rachel's fair white hand.
Then grieved, I looked within his grip,
Saw her father through the door did slip,
And the swain on his hand did stand.
—Danesville Breeze

Tired from Head to Foot

FROM HEAD TO FOOT.

That's what's the matter with the most of us. What's the reason? Poor circulation of the blood. The cause? The neglect of the feet. We have known severe cases of so called rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, and even locomotor ataxia, to vanish as if by magic, from the use of Anti-Tire. Get up good circulation, healthy action, restore quick your nerve and school will vanish, the first bath of Anti-Tire will do it. Two sizes, 25c. Family size, 50c. All druggists. Send 15 cents in stamps for trial package.

LYONS MEDICINE CO.,
664 Bergen avenue,
Jersey City, N. J.

A GOOD WIFE

is a great blessing, and a good husband will look after her comfort. He can almost secure her future comfort by buying a lot which is pretty nearly, the prices are so low. The lot is situated in a beautiful and healthy neighborhood,

GIVEN AWAY

WITH EVERY

convenience for reaching stores, schools and churches quickly. Now is the grand opportunity to invest in a splendid

BUILDING LOT.

For particulars, address
"OWNER,"
care of Evening News.

Horses and Carriages,

for hire, at

O'BRIEN'S,

316 WEST FOURTH STREET,

near the depot.

Joseph T. Vail,

REAL ESTATE

and

INSURANCE.

DEALER IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING

42 North Avenue.

CAREY'S

Storage Warerooms,

Corner
Front and Grove Streets,
Plainfield, N. J.

The Fall and Winter Styles in Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing are now in Stock. Overcoats of all Weights. Trousers Made to Order from $4 to $8. Suits from $15 to $30. Hats and General Furnishings. WERNER'S MAMMOTH CLOTHING HOUSE, 206 West Front Street.

Pret T GOODS

For wise people, peculiarly appropriate for the season, one always to be found in our repository.

We will not say that we have the best in the world, but we do say and know that the same money cannot purchase better. Harmless and Carrington lines our patrons are rapidly making their own. It is sometimes expedient to forget what you know, but it is never the course of wisdom to forget our select consignment of fancy traps and trappings. Save time, temper and money by purchasing of us.

L. M. FRENCH,

Carriage Manufacturer,

34, 36, 38, 40 SOMERSET STREET.

World's Fair Exhibit on Flower Pots!

OVER FOUR TONS—9,400 pounds—15 large crates—5 truck loads.

The patterns and decorations are numerous and exquisite in design. Prices range from 1½ cents for the 2-in. pot to $1.25 for the double Calla Lily, the popular one being the 5c., 6c., 9c. and 12c. size in the common ware. We have the largest made, at 60c. Decorated Pots and Hanging Baskets range from 7c. to 25c. We are prepared to suit all, and our prices are guaranteed the lowest and quality without a fault. The white rim and the oak leaf on the common Pots add strength and beauty, and are easily decorated. Order early, as some will have to wait.

J. C. Allen, 28 West Front St., Plainfield, N. J.

FOX HUNTING.

Points Regarding this Sport that Every Boy Should Master.

The real fox-hunter chases the fox upon horseback and with the aid of dogs. Hence you must secure a steed to hunt the fox riding on a goat, behind a pack of tabby cats.

Never attempt to tire a fox you may be hunting by shouting funny stories after him, making him laugh so heartily that he loses his breath and lies down and dies.

If you have a pet fox and he happens to get loose in your room at night, you have a perfect right to hunt for him under your bed with a broomstick or anything else you may have handy.

Do not attend a fox-hunt on foot unless you have a 120-yard hurdle record under two and a quarter seconds. You would not be in the chase after the first hurdle otherwise.

It is not considered good sport to lie in waiting for a fox at the entrance to his home in the expectation of hitting him on his head with a club when he comes back at night from business.

Should the fox happen to be unusually spunky, and turn about and chase you, put on all the speed you can and go home. If you have no speed, climb a tree and stay there until the fox goes home.

If any great sportsman tells you that he once caught a fox by putting salt on his tail, don't laugh, because it is an old joke, but reply that you have heard of its being done.

If you ever catch a fox in a mouse-trap alive be kind to him, but pull his teeth before you let him set out of your hand.—Carlyle Smith, in Harper's Young People.

Tim Was a Knowing Dog.

Billy Campbell, of Rockaway, is the owner of a very knowing dog called Tim. Campbell had occasion to take a train to Hanmont's. Tim went with him. The dog began to doze on the train, and when his master alighted he was fast asleep. The train started up and began to move faster and faster, but Tim slept on. When the train reached a speed of fifteen miles an hour the dog awoke. He looked around, and, failing to find his master, ran to the platform of the car and perched on the lower step, where he remained until the train reached the trestle over Jamaica bay. He then gave a great leap, clearing telegraph wires and landing safely in the water. He swam ashore and started on a trot back to Hammont's station, where he located Campbell, who was just sending a message over the wire to the trainmen to look out for the dog.

As to Foot Wear.

A word as to the deplorable and miserable fashion in overgaiters or spats. Women should never wear them, for spats are clumsy, unattractive and generally useless. The foot clad in an overgaiter looks bulky and heavy. With low shoes on a rainy or muddy day or in extremely cold weather for the sake of warmth overgaiters are allowable.

Leather laces in shoes form a breach of taste that is absolutely unpardonable. Cloth laces, and cloth only, should be worn, and these must match the shoes.

Now, as to patent leather. While it is the most fashionable material for shoes it is absolutely ruinous to the feet if the shoes are too tight. When buying patent leather goods always have them large enough, for this material will not stretch.

A First Lesson in Running.

Never jump into a boat—a lightly built one—when it is possible to step into it, and always step into the middle of her—that is to say, place your feet in the foot down firmly either in the middle of a thwart or in the bottom of the boat. Make a practice of this and you need never be afraid of capsizing. The rose in the bow or front of the boat is called the painter. See that it is all clear (ready to throw out) before leaving the wharf or vessel's side. Sit squarely in the middle of the thwart if there is more than one. Get your oars out and begin to row, slowly at first, dipping the blades just enough to cover them and throwing your weight on them as soon as they are immersed.

A Queer Pet.

Ned is just six, and is an authority on pets. He has had any number of dogs and cats, a pet pony, and a family of turtles have helped to destroy the domestic peace at Ned's home, but never he is very indifferent to all his pets but one—and such a one! This new pet is a tall and stately rooster, with a very "don't-roll-chile." Did you ever hear of the pride of the barnyard as a pet? Well, that is exactly what Ned's rooster is. He walks stiffly down the street with his pet master to the door of the schoolhouse; then, when the door is shut on him, turns with a troubled little cheekie and walks home.

Long-Tongued Brother Bob.

"How does your father seem to regard my coming here?" anxiously asked Adolphus of little Bobby while Miss Maud was spatially getting ready to present herself. "He don't care nothin' about it," replied Bobby, carelessly. "So he has no objection, eh? But what did he say, my little man?" "He said if Maud had a mind to make a fool of herself, why let her."

An Aged Infant.

An honest peasant woman in Berkshire has attained the 100th year.

She lately lost one of her children, who had reached the age of eighty.

"Ah," said the old mother, weeping for her lost one, "I always said that I should never be able to bring up that child!"

A Pony Midget.

The Marquis of Londonderry has a Shetland pony weighing sixteen pounds and measuring only nineteen and a half inches in height. Such a healthy little specimen, too, and so perfectly formed and ever and ever so many times more valuable than ponies many times as large.

A Little Mixed.

Papa (sees naval Ned what a centurion was, and the little boy answered, "Why, papa, don't you know. The Bible tells about the centurion. He is a man who lives a hundred years. Some call him a centennial."—Harper's Young People.

Locating It.

Mother—Your finger may hurt, dear; but it isn't injured enough to put a rag on it.

Harold—Well, put a rag on it, anyhow, so I will know which finger hurts.—Puck.

Butter Song.

Plippity Butter! Do you like butter?
Thinks, you under the cellar.
If you love it, the way to prove it
Is neither to smile nor gnaw.

This Date In History—Oct. 11.

1811—Erasmus Reinhold, German astronomer, born in Saalfeld, Germany.

1885—The Catholics of Ireland at the Insurgents of Zurich at Kappel, and Ulric Zwingli, reformer, was killed and body burned by order.

1671—Don John of Austria, enemy more, commanding united fleets of Spain, Venice and the pope, destroyed the Turkish fleet at Lepanto, ending the growth of Moslem power.

1742—Philip Astley, founder of Astley's amphitheater, was born at Newcastle-under-Lyme.

1738—Anne, countess of Macclesfield, whose illegitimate son was the poet Savage, died in London.

1809—The eccentric and wily Harry Howe, soldier, peddler and long believed to be the author of "No cure, no pay," died in the poorhouse at York, England.

1862—On President Johnson's order, all the officers of the late Confederacy were released from prison except Jefferson Davis.

The fact that several persons connected with the French Panama scandal were Jews has excited a strong anti-Semitic feeling in France. But the French would have a good time of it if they undertook to discriminate against Jews. Not only their leading financiers, but many of their most gifted editors, statesmen, artists and literary men are of this race.

The biggest and wickedest invention of all comes to America from Japan. Jokichi Takamine invented the thing. It is the process by which 23 1-3 quarts of alcohol are made from one bushel of corn without the use of malt or small grains. Alas, Jokichi!

The Philadelphia Press says: "It should not be forgotten that the election of even one thoroughly good member of council where there has hitherto been a bad or an indifferent one is no much gain." Right you are, Mr. Press.

The great step in social progress will be taken when once the caste spirit is destroyed

1893			OCTOBER.			1893
Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fr.	Sa.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
15	16	17	18	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26	27	28
29	30	31

MOON'S PHASES.

Third Quarter	2	10:19 a. m.	First Quarter	17	2:22 a. m.
New Moon	9	3:27 a. m.	Full Moon	25	1:42 a. m.
			Third Quarter	31	5:52 p. m.

Tickets

For, or from Europe,

On

All Lines,

And all Steamers.

Drafts

Sold also.

H. D. MORRISON,

Agent,

Somerset Street.

PEACHES!

PEACHES!

PEACHES!

Following varieties: Yellow Globe, Crawford's Morris Whites, Keyport and old mixtures. Prices to suit everybody.

NEUMANN BROS.

WATCHUNG AVENUE

and FIFTH STREET.

THE TIME TO EAT!

MEAT!

is at most times, of course, and the place to get good meat, all varieties, lowest prices and fresh, etc., is at

E. J. CONNOLLY,

No. 231 Broadway,

SMOKED, SALT AND VEGETABLES

always on hand.

FOR FALL TRADE.

THE LEADER

has received a large variety of Infants' Cloaks, Coats, Slips, Robes, Flannel and Worsted Sacks, Hoods, Flannel Skirts, all of the latest styles. Also new styles of Ladies' Wrappers, Underwear and a large variety of Comfortables, at very low prices. Make no mistake, this is the new store.

THE LEADER! M. GOLDMANN, Prop.

210 WEST FRONT STREET. (Old No. 32.)

R. W. Rice & Co.,

THE PARK GROCERS.

Corner Duer and Emily Streets.

NORTH PLAINFIELD.

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$6 per Year in Advance. | E. W. Harrison, Editor and Proprietor. | Office, No. 21 Somerset Street. | Terms: 1 Cts Each | 10 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. | PLAINFIELD, N. J., THE COLORADO OF THE EAST. | THURSDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1893 | PRICE TWO CENTS.

A NET-WORK OF TROLLEYS, FROM PATERSON TO NEW BRUNSWICK.

A GIGANTIC TRACTION AND REAL ESTATE SCHEME THAT TAKES IN PLAINFIELD AND IS NOW RAPIDLY APPROACHING COMPLETION.

The Plainfield Street Railway Company Concluds, if Right of Way is Granted, to Extend Its Line to Dunellen Even if They Can't Unload the $250,000 Worth of Stock on the People, as at First Demanded.

On September 14th and 21st THE NEWS published articles concerning the proposed extension of the street railway from Grant avenue to Dunellen. The company was not willing to extend the road unless signatures and consent of the necessary number of property owners along the proposed route were secured, and the property owners also bought $25,000 worth of stock.

THE NEWS remarks about this latter demand—showing that the company was trying to take advantage of the people—made the sale of the stock impossible.

Mr. Jacob Krinzy, a public spirited citizen, who wanted the improvement, went on a house to house canvass to secure signatures, in which effort he would have been successful, but for the question of selling stock. The people thought the company's demand exorbitant. The matter of the extension, therefore, seemed to die out.

Last evening, however, Superintendent Adelmann, of the street railway, sent Mr. Krinzy a printed form with a request for him to secure the signatures of three fifths of the property owners, and this morning Mr. Adelmann said the Company would have the road down before cold weather set in if the right of way was secured. Mr. Krinzy is at work now.

The report that an opposition company was being started may have helped them reach this decision.

This May be an Opposition Company to the One Here—An Interested Party Says it Will Build Up the Country Along Its Lines Into One Big City.—Right of Way Secured Except Between Westfield and Dunellen, and Bound Brook and New Brunswick.

There is a great Traction Company which is proposing to lay a net-work of street-railways all over this section of New Jersey. THE NEWS has, at various times, referred to the matter.

The route is from Paterson to New Brunswick, a branch to Plainfield. Right of way have been secured from Paterson to Westfield and from Dunellen to Bound Brook. Representatives are now at work and have secured many signatures between Plainfield and Dunellen. When right of way over the entire proposed route has been secured a state charter will be applied for.

There is a gigantic real estate scheme in this also. Great tracts of unimproved land are bought, and, in due course of time, will be sold as city lots and at city lot prices.

In many places the road will be across fields, in other words, land which is cheap enough here. The mountain road will be followed to Westfield, and then, if possible, it will not deviate. North avenue and Third street through this neighborhood.

Messrs. J. Fred McDonald and Wm. Woodruff of this city are interested in having the scheme a success.

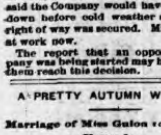
Mr. Lefferts, of Dunellen, anticipating real estate that would be increased in value, Mr. D. D. Thompson, a well known Plainfielder, is a director in the company.

One enthusiastic helper of the scheme said: "In ten years we would have a solid city between Bound Brook, Newark and Jersey City. 'Col. Keller's and his millions' ain't it with us."

The company started operations last May, and they are to commence laying the road within a year.

A PRETTY AUTUMN WEDDING.

Marriage of Miss Guion to Mr. Clay Yesterday.



THERE was a very pretty Autumn wedding at the Grace church, on East Seventh street, at five o'clock yesterday afternoon, when Miss Anna Doell Guion, only daughter of Mr. Charles H. Guion of La Grande avenue, and Mr. George Strong Clay were joined in wedlock. The Rev. Mr. Rodman officiated.

The best man was Mr. Beal, of New York. There were no bridesmaids and no maid of honor.

The bride was attired in a neat travelling dress trimmed with fur, fastened at the throat with an elegant diamond pin, the gift of the bridegroom.

An informal reception was held at the home of the bride's parents after the ceremony. The bridal couple left at about seven o'clock for a honeymoon of probably a month, which will be spent in Philadelphia, Chicago, Denver, and Salt Lake City. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Clay will reside with Mr. and Mrs. Guion.

BREVITIES.

—The twelfth series of the Home Building and Loan Association will be opened Monday, October 16th, at their room, (Republican headquarters) on East Front street.

—The opening of Mr. Klonka's German School has been postponed for one week as the church will not be finished in time. Services will still be held in the chapel.

—The case of Moore vs. Taylor, on contract, which was to have been tried yesterday before Justice Mosher, was postponed until Friday afternoon at two o'clock.

—All sportsmen are invited to be present at the Y. M. C. A. reception this evening whether they have received invitations or not. There will be entertainments, music and refreshments.

—Republicans of North Plainfield should bear in mind that the date for holding the primary has been changed from Friday night to Saturday, at eight o'clock p. m., in the basement of the school house.

Republican Primaries.

The Republican voters of the City of Plainfield are requested to meet at the places hereinafter named, on

THURSDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 19, 1893,

for the purpose of electing delegates to the county and assembly conventions, and electing two members of the County Executive Committee from each Ward.

First Ward—At the Association House, No. 129 East Front street, at 8 o'clock, and is entitled to seven delegates to each convention.

Second Ward—At Bryant school building, East Sixth street, at 8 o'clock, and is entitled to seven delegates to each convention.

Third Ward—At the Casino, on West Seventh street, at 8 o'clock, and is entitled to six delegates to each convention.

Fourth Ward—At Hulett's Hall, No. 327 West Front street, at 8 o'clock, and is entitled to nine delegates to each convention.

By order of the City Executive Committee.

ERNEST R. ACKERMAN, Chairman.
J. B. VANARSDALE, Secretary.
Dated, Plainfield, October 11, 1893.

North Plainfield Republican Primary.

The Republican of North Plainfield will meet at the school building on

SATURDAY, OCTOBER, 14, 1893,

at 8 p. m. for the purpose of electing delegates to the county convention to be held at Somerville Tuesday 17th inst.

By order Executive Committee.
Dated October 11, 1893.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Thomas King, jr., of Evona, yesterday started for the World's Fair.

Mr. Henderson and family of New York have moved into the Harmon house on West Seventh street.

Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Murphy of Frankfort were guests yesterday of Mr. John J. Kenny of East Second street.

Ex-Councilman Ernest R. Ackerman and wife of West Seventh street have returned from the World's Fair.

Miss Emma Vanderboven, formerly of Plainfield, and who has many friends in this city, will be married on Tuesday, Oct. 17th, at her parents home in Metuchen to Mr. John Sortor, of New York.

Mr. Henry Lindsley, formerly of this city, died at Newton, Tuesday, in the 76th year of his age. He was at one time Chairman of Plainfield. He had been so invalid for sometime. Deceased was a brother-in-law of Mr. B. A. Hegeman, Sr., North Plainfield.

The wedding of Mr. John Elston Woodland, formerly of this place, to Miss Rena Virginia Downing, of Philadelphia, took place at seven o'clock last evening, in the Fifth district of the latter city. Mr. Hiram B. Woodland and Miss Alice Woodland of Deer street were among the guests.

Mr. William Kelly, of Marcounier, (Oak Tree) has just returned from the World's Fair. Mr. Kelly, besides taking his family, generously made his official work, Dr. Schumaker, who had never been out of New Jersey, along. Mr. Kelly says Mr. Schumaker talks until twelve o'clock every night of the wonders of the fair.

Mr. W. S. Wadsworth of Eight street has sold his handsome team of roans to a gentleman in New York. He coached them Mr. Hoag delivered them to-day. The horses were a splendidly matched team and were only sold because Mr. Wadsworth will match another horse he has, and thought four horses just two too many for his needs.

Mr. Edward White, that well known and enterprising dry goods merchant, was elected yesterday, a member of the New York Dry Goods Exchange, an association of the leading dry goods merchants throughout the United States, representing an annual business of seventy-five million dollars. The object of the exchange is the boosting its members active to patronize the association of merchants together. Gains from the manufacturer and securing every advantage in prices. They, in turn, give the benefit to their customers. It is considered a marked compliment to be elected a member of this association, as the record of each applicant is looked up by a committee of three. Only one representative in a city can be a member and membership in the Association is said to have weight and consideration with the trade. Mr. White is to be congratulated.

Had Hard Work to Find a Minister.

Mr. Joseph Taylor, a clerk in Newman Bros.' grocery store, on Watchung avenue, was married last night to Miss Lizzie Mattie of Monroe avenue. The couple had some difficulty in finding a pastor. First they went to the Rev. G. Kennedy Newell of Fourth street. As he was not home they next went to the Rev. Dr. Ketcham's. He was away also. Finally the "knot" was tied by the Rev. Dr. Goodrich.

Busy Preparing for the Fair.

The ladies are very busy preparing for the fair, which will be held for the benefit of the hospital in the Casino, November 1 and 2, under the direction of the Woman's Auxiliary Board.

The will be no tickets issued.

—The Dunellen Bowling Club will be re-organized on Friday night. Officers will be elected.

MORE CHURCH TROUBLE.

"WHEN CHRISTIANS FALL OUT THE DEVIL GETS AN INNING"—ANON.

Rector Murphy Asked to Resign.—Public Statements of a Private Matter That Should Have Been Settled in the Church. Innocent Persons Maligned Because of It.

At a meeting of some the of members of the church of the Holy Cross on Tuesday night a committee, representing a number of the congregation, waited upon the Rev. T. Logan Murphy, pastor of the church, and asked his resignation. The members of the committee told him they preferred not to tell him why his resignation was demanded, but said it was for the best interests of the church. The committee consisted of Messrs. Charles Matthews, George P. Duner, F. S. Brown, H. S. Phillips and Samuel Townsend. Mr. Murphy was very much surprised on his entering the vestry of the committee, and requested time to consider the matter and answer by letter.

THE NEWS was apprised of the fact several weeks ago that such a meeting was contemplated, and later that it had been held, but as it was a matter concerning sacred things it was thought best not to give it any unnecessary publicity that would be likely to hamper both sides in settling their differences in an amicable and becomingly Christian spirit.

It is stated that our position at the outset of the squabble, and have adhered to it ever since, but the publicity given it in the daily papers makes it no longer wise to remain silent.

We are not willing to believe that any of the members of the church have deliberate as to give out any such statements as have appeared cruelly, shamefully and without foundation in the recent sensational family. It is an outrage which cannot be too severely condemned, and we do not believe for a moment that any prominent and honorable men of the community to see that all the redress possible is done for this grievous wrong.

They have only to take it home to themselves and see how they would like to have any one of their wives or families referred to as has been the recent fate of those who have been of these families are more worthy of honor and praise.

A Committeeman's Statement.

One of the committee was seen by a reporter for THE NEWS last night. He gave this side of the story as follows:

"The pastor has become the idol created by the more spiritual element in the church, who considered that Mr. Murphy's mission here is to live or to die or be allowed to remain rector of the church. The matter was brought to a focus by the Miner matter came up. Said he:

"The vestry is composed of four members, three of whom, at the last meeting allowing Mr. Miner to have a hearing while two were opposed to it. Mr. Murphy, Mr. Hiram B. Woodland and Mr. Miner was denied a hearing.

"The representation of Mr. Miner's friends, who claimed that Mr. Miner should have a hearing at least, for the reason that he had made a petition for a hearing and supported us to call on Mr. Murphy and ask him to resign.

"If he decline to resign the matter will be brought before the Bishop.

"Mr. Miner's salary will be paid, remains rector despite this opposition he can secure his salary if the church people can't help it. We, the committee, so if, as the need for the property, which was given by the late Mr. Dorsey, can not be sold I will gave back to his heirs."

Mr. Murphy's Statement.

A reporter for THE NEWS called upon the Rev. Mr. Murphy and his statement of the matter is as follows:

"In the first place these people met after the vestry discharged Mr. Miner, for cause and without a hearing, to be given for the vestry's action in discharging Mr. Miner. The vestry had given sufficient reasons for their action, but they didn't want to tell the congregation all they knew. Mr. Miner's friends came to the vestry and asked that a hearing be given a committee from the congregation. Mr. Miner, too.

"The vestry denied this as not a great discourtesy on the part of the officers of the church, and acted with a sense of duty, and it looked as if they threw discredit on the vestry's action.

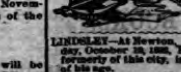
"The vestry had no objections, and were perfectly willing to give Mr. Miner a hearing, but objected to having a committee of the congregation. Those who signed the petition for Mr. Miner's hearing, did not request the appointment of a committee called upon me and informed me of their action and I told them I would give my self a hearing.

"The charges made against my family are absolutely exaggerated. There is not a word of truth in the statement that I neglect my family. My son is one of the ushers and attends church twice a day. My wife and daughter have always been active in church work. Like other young people of the parish they attended parties and entertainments of a modern character.

"In some of the papers I am represented as calling myself a pauper. This is not so. I was always a strong Republican. Many took offense at me for voting for Mr. Cleveland instead of the Governor of Maine. I have voted for Mr. Cleveland three times. I do not intend to apologize for my conduct. I have been the victim of the numerous falsehoods circulated. If seventeen years of parochial work and my standing in the community can be blasted without cause I deem it a sad misfortune."

A Runaway Yesterday.

A horse belonging to Mr. Connolly, the Watchung avenue butcher, ran away on East Fifth street yesterday. It ran to Second street, and then to Richmond street, and was caught before any damage was done by a young man named Townsend.



LINDSLEY—At Newton, N. J., on Tuesday, October 10th, 1893, Henry Lindsley, formerly of this city, in the 76th year of his age.

Funeral services at Newton on Friday October 13th inst. at 12.30, noon.

TWO STORES BROKEN IN.

AN ATTEMPT AT ROBBERY EARLY THIS MORNING.

Mr. Tomlinson's and Mr. Tunison's Stores Entered by Burglars, Who Were Scared off Before Securing any Booty.

THERE was a bold attempt at robbery at an early hour this morning in this city. About three o'clock James Heath, who is stopping with Mr. Barclay at the Orchard Inn, heard a noise in the street. He went out and saw two men in the act of breaking into Mr. Tomlinson's confectionery store.

Heath hurried for a policeman. He found Policeman Vandeweag and Matlox.

As the officers approached the building they were spied by the burglars, who ran down Watchung avenue. Vandeweag gave chase, but the robbers escaped. There were two of them.

It was found that the men had also broken into Mr. Tunison's feed store.

Nothing was stolen from either store.

Four strangers were around the vacant building yesterday several times. Mr. Charles Hand, the owner of the building, saw the men during the day and they asked him for work. It is thought, the burglars belonged to this crowd.

BOWLING.

The Park Club Will Bowl Several Practice Games.

The Park Club bowling team is getting in shape for the beginning of the league games on Nov. 1st, and under the captaincy of Mr. F. F. Matthews this team promises to make some other teams hustle this Winter.

To night, the Park Club team will bowl at Boseville, and on the 18th, the return game will be bowled in this city.

An Elizabeth team will bowl against the Park Club at the latter's alleys on Oct. 24. On October 17 the Park Club team will bowl a game at Elizabeth.

At the Riding Club.

The Plainfield Riding Club held its regular weekly ride last night. There was a good attendance of both riders and spectators. Those to be seen riding were: Miss Stroull, Miss Cawley, Miss Holly, Miss Vail. Miss Van Bostwick, Mr. Holly, Messrs. Ferdinand and Frederick Bateman, Mr. McCutchen, Mr. Battstedt, Mr. Warner, Mr. Hatfield, Mr. Rooney, Mr. Shepard and Mr. Vail.

New Brunswick in a Flutter.

A whole bevy of the charming young ladies who compose the Ladies' Cycling Club of this city rode over to New Brunswick on Tuesday morning, causing a palpitation of the hearts of the youths in that vicinity.

Henry Ward Beecher Said:—

"Dyspepsia is equal to seven devils. If H-O can cast it out, success to H-O."

H-O Hornby's Oatmeal

H-O oats in packages and bulk are guaranteed to be of uniformly good quality. It is unlike any other oatmeal. It is a food and not a drug. Ask your grocer for it. Insist upon having it.

THE H-O COMPANY, NEW YORK.

Boehm's. $5.00

buys a fine Ladies' Coat, for eleven months of every business day. Also a full line of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Cloaks, Furs, Underwear, Dress Goods, Trimmings, Flannels, Blankets, etc., ranging in width from 36 to 54 inches. The new crepe figured Novelties, all shades. The new crepe figured Novelties, all shades. The new crepe figured Novelties, all shades

EDITORIAL NOTES

How Not to Take Cold.

Many persons spend a considerable portion of their lives wondering how they have taken cold. Mr. Charles A. Blough is in much better business when in The Cosmopolitan magazine he devotes a chapter to telling them how not to take cold. The scientific explanation of "catching" cold is that the skin suddenly becomes chilled, the blood recedes from the tiny arteries on the surface and buries itself in the deeper ones. Not being provided with its due supply of warm, briskly moving blood, the skin remains cold and turns blue and white, and the person feels as if a stream of cold water were trickling over him. If the blood refuses for a considerable time to come to the surface and move briskly through the small arteries, then serious disturbance results. The individual has alternate chill and fever, headache and inflammation of the mucus membranes.

The remedy is not to be hermetically seal your windows and plug up all the keyholes and put on thick and heavy clothing. Taking cold is due entirely to sluggish circulation. The person whose circulation is active and whose warm, red blood goes coursing through his veins like a race horse does not take cold. The remedy for the unfortunate who is prone to it is simply to make the sluggish circulation active. The best time to begin this is in the autumn, when one can gradually accustom himself to exposure to that healthful cold air which makes the body tingle with warmth.

If one wishes to cultivate a muscle, he exercises that muscle. In like manner, if we want to make the skin active, we must exercise it. There are two ways of doing this, both necessary. One is to keep the skin entirely clean, the other to rub and massage it briskly every day. Besides that, it is necessary to enrich the blood by proper food so it will have more life and circulate better. It has been found that the Russian or steam bath, followed by the cold plunge, will make the most thin blooded person glow with life and health. The same result is produced partially by dancing about for a few minutes in a cold room on rising in the morning and exposing your body to the air. Dashing cold water over the body, following it by brisk rubbing, is good. It should be continued for months. Gradually harden yourself at the same time to sleeping with open windows.

The South Carolina Liquor Law.

The American edition of The Review of Reviews remarks of the South Carolina liquor law, which permits no traffic in intoxicants except by the state itself:

Despite the many legal difficulties which have beset it, the South Carolina experiment of prescribing the sale of liquor to the public dispensaries has thus far made an astonishingly good record. Whatever Governor Tillman's faults, he has at least the courage of his convictions. He has not, as many of his colleagues have done, been content to talk about the evils of the saloon and then do nothing. He has put down the sale of liquor at private hands. On one occasion, at Hampton, his executive mansion was attacked by a mob while confiscating a stock of contraband liquor, but Governor Tillman forthwith armed his officials and gave them orders to shoot if molested. Thus far shooting has not been necessary.

In quite a number of counties the freeholders have refused to petition for a dispensary, and in these according to the Charleston News and Courier—there has been up to date real prohibition. Where the dispensaries have been established the room is always a plain one, and no liquor is sold in the evening, or to minors or inebriates, or at any time to any one to be drunk on the premises. This means that while citizens may buy liquors freely to drink at their homes, there are no open drinking places in the state. The moral results of this change, as described even by its opponents, are all the friends of the movement could wish.

The legal difficulties with which the experiment has had to contend have not been so serious as the press dispatches have indicated. The decision of one local judge that the law was unconstitutional was promptly appealed, and the flaws that have been found in the law relate only to such minor matters as the control of the railroads which bring the liquor into the state. When the liquor is once delivered, it is subject to the state law, and as long as the courts uphold the law as it stands there is little likelihood that the old system will be restored.

The gulf storm was even worse than that on the Atlantic coast a few weeks ago. The San Island storm destroyed 1,000 lives. That on the gulf drowned and crushed to death 2,000. This San Island disaster left not less than 5,000 people destitute because their crops had been destroyed. The gulf cyclone was so awful that it left few alive to tell the tale. Those few are all strong, robust young men. The old, the weak and the ailing yielded quickly to the fury of a wall of water 15 feet high, driven by wind traveling at a velocity of 115 miles an hour. A more terrific war of the forces of nature has rarely been witnessed on this continent. In some of the places ravaged not a child was left alive. In many parts of the coast of Louisiana the land is only three feet above sea level. A Louisiana geologist expresses the opinion that the state was settled 300 years too soon and should have been left till the overflow of the Mississippi and the gradual rise of the land along the coast had made human life safe. The only satisfactory reflection in this melancholy business is that those who escaped the storm's fury are in all cases unbefooled young people who can make their way without trouble.

So long as women will carry their pocketbooks in their hands and large amounts of money and valuable jewels about with them in handbags, just so long will the human race be convinced of the intellectual inferiority of the female sex, and nothing can change its mind.

IN CONTINUOUS SESSION

Mr. Voorhees Throws Down the Gauntlet to the Silver Men.

ALL NIGHT THE DEBATE WENT ON.

The Silver Senators Signify Their Willingness to Enter the Fight to a Finish and Begin Talking Against Time — Night Scenes in the Senate Chamber.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—For the first time since the beginning of this special session of congress the people of Washington and the many visitors to the national capital had an opportunity to witness a night session of the senate. They improved their opportunity to the full, and as a result the entire wing of the capitol occupied by the senate was filled with a great throng of people, representing all classes and conditions.

The galleries were filled to their utmost capacity early in the evening, and around the doors of the entrance crowds of people stood patiently waiting for hours to slip into the places vacated by the earlier comers, or at least get a glimpse over the heads of the occupants of the galleries into the senate chamber itself.

Even the diplomatic gallery, which is usually deserted except for the use of the diplomats, who rarely avail themselves of the privilege, was overrun, mainly by the families of senators and by representatives.

The Galleries Crowded.

The floor of the chamber presented an unusually lively appearance, as in addition to the large attendance of senators many members of the house, including Speaker Crisp, took seats at the desks or in the rear of the chamber and listened with interest to the proceedings, particularly when Mr. Dubois cast his gauntlet at Mr. Voorhees' feet and the latter responded so energetically. All the evening, as it was along the debate itself slackened in interest and senators repaired to the cloakrooms, where they stretched themselves upon the lounges and talked earnestly, or in places of interest to the crowds of spectators who surged to and fro through the galleries and listened curiously through the wire screens which separated them from the representatives of their sovereign states.

Secretary of the Senate Cox spread a luncheon for the senators in his office. It was served between 10 and 1 o'clock.

The debate earlier in the day had many interesting features. Among other things it showed the staying qualities of Mr. Cockrell as a speechmaker. Having argued against the bill for four hours on Monday and five hours on Tuesday, he held the floor for another hour Wednesday. Within that time he took a short rest, while brief speeches were made by Mr. Smith of New Jersey, Mr. Irby and others.

Mr. Allen was occupying the floor when, at 6:05 p. m., Mr. Dubois rose and by his leave suggested that it was past the hour for taking a recess. Senator Indiana (Mr. Voorhees) usually made a motion to adjourn. He asked that senator whether he desired to submit that motion.

Mr. Voorhees' Challenge.

"I feel it my highest duty," said Mr. Voorhees, "now to make that motion this evening, but, on the contrary, to ask the senate to sit in continuous session until the pending measure is disposed of."

During this proceeding the seats of the senators were being filled by accessions from committee rooms and cloakrooms, and

RIDER HAGGARD'S ADVICE.

The Novelist Urges England to Hunt Down Lobengula.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—H. Rider Haggard, the novelist, has written a long letter to The Times "to dispel the notion current in some circles in England that Lobengula is an innocent and worthy savage on whom the Chartered company is forcing a quarrel."

Haggard relates that Lobengula, for an inoffensive remark about being a pretender to his throne, had a British captain—Patterson by name—and a sergeant sent to his camp on a mission by Sir Bartle Frere in 1878 and had them foully murdered on their return journey, together with a youth named Thomas, whom they had engaged from Lobengula's own camp.

The government never avenged their deaths. He (Haggard) proved the murders and describes them in detail. "Some of the stories told of Lobengula," he says, "are too devilish for print. If ever innocent blood cried to heaven for vengeance, it cries against Lobengula." Haggard urges the government, even at some cost, to retain Bechuanaland and Mashonaland.

CAPE TOWN, Oct. 12.—Lobengula is reported to be encamped with the pick of his troops between Buluwayo and Fort Charter, on the Shangani river, but he has sent all his property northward. He has prepared a canoe fleet to cross the Zambesi in readiness to retreat if he should be defeated.

WISCONSIN MINERS STARVING

Bread Riots Have Taken Place, and Hundreds Are Destitute.

ASHLAND, Wis., Oct. 12.—There is much trouble on the Gogebic range, and more is promised unless some measures can be devised to furnish employment for the large numbers of men now out of work and with scant prospects of getting any. Several bread riots have occurred, and the prospect of more occurring is not diminished by the fact that immediate starvation stares hundreds in the face unless some provision is made by which they can be certain of sustenance for themselves and families.

Leading men from that section pronounce the situation serious in the extreme. Around Hurley the suffering is reported to be intense, and over 300 people are clamoring for work and bread.

About the Elmwood district and across the Michigan line at least 1,000 are out of work. There is at present no hope of employment for fully at least half of this number are burdened with families.

A special election is soon to be held in the town of Vaugn to vote $10,000 to feed the destitute, and the probabilities are that it will carry.

HAZERS DISMISSED.

Three Princeton Students Must Leave, and Others Are Suspended.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 12.—The faculty has taken action in the case of the sophomores convicted of hazing. One of the sophomores was dismissed with a recommendation of severe punishment by the authorities outside of the college. Two others were dismissed, two were suspended until Jan. 16, one suspended until March 1, one until Thanksgiving day and one until Nov. 1.

The punishment is regarded as extremely severe. The faculty positively refuses to give the names of the disciplined students with reference to the degree of punishment. It could not be learned whether any of the three football men is the number dismissed and thus barred from a return to college.

Five Wives Had Williams.

EMPORIA, Kan., Oct. 12.—Investigation of the past record of John J. Williams, who is now in jail charged with having forged a mortgage, shows that Williams came to America from Wales 18 years ago and soon afterward married a Pennsylvania woman. About two years later he deserted her and went to Norway where he married again. The second wife was also deserted, and he came here and took a third wife. A scandal caused a divorce suit by wife No. 3, but before the case was decided he married a fourth time. Now it has developed that Williams was married secretly two years ago to a fifth woman.

McGavitt Drowned Himself.

HARTFORD, Oct. 12.—Patrick McGavitt, who made a murderous assault on Mrs. William Hosher in Woodland, a mile east of Burnside, committed suicide soon after. McGavitt has been on a debauch for about a week and was thought to be partially insane from rum. McGavitt's hat was found in the mill pond near the dam, and later his body was taken from the water.

Bicycle Records Smashed.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 12.—Both world's records for the bicycle mile were lowered at Hampden park. H. C. Tyler rode from a standing in 2:00 2-5. He also broke the three-quarter mile by 2-5 second and the half by a second. Windles' mile was in 1:35 4-5, breaking his record of 1:36 1-5, made Oct. 2.

Startling Report From Rio.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—The Exchange Telegraph company says: A telegram received here from Rio Janeiro indicates that startling developments may be expected soon. Everything in Rio tends to the restoration of the monarchy. It is now virtually only a question of terms.

Twenty-two Horses Burned.

BOSTON, Oct. 12.—The house, barn and outbuildings owned and occupied by J. F. Crosby on the Concord turnpike, two miles from Lexington, were burned, with 22 horses and other stock, making 40 loss in all.

The Deadlock Broken at Last.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Oct. 12.—The Twentieth district Republican senatorial convention, at its third session held on the three hundred and eleventh ballot, nominated Harvey J. Donaldson of Saratoga county.

Carloads of Provisions For Brunswick.

QUARANTINE, N. Y., Oct. 12.—Health Officer Jenkins notified by telegraph the mayor of Brunswick, Ga., that seven carloads of provisions had been shipped to his city.

Dr. Burtsell on His Way to Rome.

HOBOKEN, N. J., Oct. 12.—Rev. Dr. R. L. Burtsell left for New York on his way to Rome. He expects to return before Christmas.

Mackay's Assistant on Trial.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 12.—The trial of Wesley C. Ripley, charged with shooting John W. Mackay last February, was begun.

He Drank Laudanum and Died.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 12.—Frank Johnson, an attache of the Wonderland theater, committed suicide by drinking laudanum.

Fair Attendance on Connecticut Day.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—Paid admissions at the World's fair Wednesday, 308,773.

MR. VAN ALEN'S VOTING

He Put It Off For Twenty-six Years, It Is Alleged.

HIS FIRST BALLOT CAST IN 1892.

Until Last Year His Name Did Not Appear on the Voting List at Newport, but He Votes Regularly Now — He Confesses More Personal Property Too.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—The World publishes today the following: Mr. James John Van Alen, who paid $50,000 to represent his native country at the court of King Humbert, is an American who up to his forty-seventh year considered it "vulgar to vote." Like the man from the Bowery lodging house, who waits on election day to see "what it is worth," Mr. Van Alen waited all his life till it was worth a high place in the diplomatic service. He threw in $50,000 with his vote, but then he hopes to pull out a bigger plum than the lodging house man.

Mr. Van Alen is a citizen of the state of Rhode Island. His father was a citizen of the same state. The son never voted until 1892—after he had contributed the $50,000.

This remarkable fact was demonstrated positively yesterday in the office of Newport's city clerk by a World reporter, who went over all the registry lists since 1880. Mr. Van Alen has never had any American residence but in Newport. He was educated in England, and between his majority and his marriage to Miss Astor, 17 years ago, he lived almost entirely abroad. He went to Newport only a few times during his married life and then only on short visits of 10 to 15 days, and it was not until just before his father's death in 1889 that he became in any sense a resident. Since then he has been on the taxbooks as the owner of Wakehurst.

Name Not on the List.

This is the law in Rhode Island qualifying voters: A freeholder or real estate owner may vote after one year's residence in the state and six months' residence in the city by simply having his name put on the voting list, where it remains until he files or moves away. An owner of personal property may vote after two years' residence in the state and six months in the city. He registers once, after which his name remains. Persons owning no property must have lived the same length of time in the state and city, as in the preceding case, but they must register every year. Their names must be recorded before Dec. 31 of each year to enable them to vote at any election in the coming twelvemonth.

So it will be seen that Mr. Van Alen might have voted any year if he had so desired. He is certainly a resident of Newport, because his father's will was probated there, and there he took out letters of administration. He has never had a residence in New York city. His father's place was on the Hudson near Irvington, and the generally address used at the hotel he used during his brief stays in the metropolis—the Brevoort House.

Just before all the election days in Newport the books of voters hang up lists, through the wards containing the name of every man entitled to vote therein. A copy is kept in each polling book, and on it each man who casts a vote has his name checked off to prevent "repeating." These checked lists are carefully preserved each year and are filed away in the city clerk's safe.

A reporter read carefully every list since 1880, and never came across the name of Van Alen until he searched the sheet for October, 1892. Van Alen, J. J., began the list of V's there, and after the name was the check which told of his vote. The name and check appeared also on the sheets for November, 1892, and April and May, 1893, and the name will be printed on all the coming lists.

His Taxes Increased.

The reporter also looked over the tax lists and found that J. J. Van Alen had no figures in the personal estate column until 1893, when he is credited with $50,000 worth of personal property.

Ever since his palace at Ochre point, Newport, was finished, nearly 10 years ago, it has been filled with objects of art, of which a conservative valuation would be $1,000,000, but until this year he never paid a cent of personal taxes. Now, with the prospect of an ambassadorship before him, he has confessed to the tax commissioners of Newport that he owns $50,000 worth of personal property.

He has had to pay in other years taxes on his real estate at a valuation of $220,000, averaging $2,100 a year. This year, with the personal property tax, his contribution to Jessup John Van Alen is worth more than the $50,000 fat stipulated in the bond.

Still, there is this to be said in Mr. James John Van Alen's favor. He is working hard to make up his lost time in voting under the tutelage of Colonel Honey. He did not vote at all for the 26 years succeeding his majority, but in the last eight months he has voted four times, which stamps him as the Fidelio of yearling politicians. He voted in the Newport city election on Oct. 30, 1892, in the national election on Nov. 8, in the state election on April 5, 1893, and in the election of May 23 for a successor in the assembly to the late Henry Anne Carey.

Mr. James John Van Alen did little else than actually vote, however. His political mentor, Captain and ex-Mayor and Ex-postmaster Senator Honey, attended to all the disgusting preliminary details for him. It was the useful Honey who told the tax commissioners that they might put James John Van Alen down as the owner of $50,000 worth of personal property, and it was the same gentleman who told the board of canvassers to put the name of James John Van Alen on the registry list. It was Mr. Honey who organized the Newport Democratic club and proposed James John Van Alen as its president, and it was Mr. Honey who organized that sterling organization—the Van Alen guards—which helped so signally in the success of the Democratic party. It may be inserted here that Colonel Honey was defeated in October for a second term as mayor, even with the aid of Mr. Van Alen's maiden vote.

Fairchild Chief of the Legion.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—General Lucius Fairchild of Wisconsin was elected commander in chief of the Loyal Legion to succeed ex-President Hayes.

The Foreign Missions Board.

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 12.—The evening session of the American board was devoted to addresses from various missionaries from the foreign field.

The Queen Approves of Elgin.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—The queen has approved of the appointment of the Earl of Elgin as viceroy of India.

BRIEFLY TOLD HAPPENINGS.

The postoffice at Victory Mills, N. Y., was robbed.

The threatened strike on the Union Pacific is off.

The water supply of St. Louis is to be investigated.

White caps burned four more cotton gins in Alabama.

Three Cincinnati bank officials have been indicted for fraud.

The Whisky trust is starting its distilleries in Indiana on full time.

Highway robbers attacked and severely beat two men near Brockton, Mass.

Dr. Schweninger sends detailed reports of Bismarck's condition to the emperor.

Frederick Abel was killed by the bursting of a grindstone in an ax factory at Ballston, N. Y.

Patrick Collins, who brutally murdered his wife in San Francisco, was arrested while praying in church.

Frederick Weiseman, the Long Island City (N. Y.) burglar, sentenced to 18 years' imprisonment, has become insane in jail over his sentence.

The board of managers of the Commercial Travelers' Home Association of America adjourned at Syracuse to meet at Binghamton, N. Y., Nov. 8.

PARIS A LA RUSSE.

Tomorrow's Fetes at Toulon Occupy the Gay Capital's Entire Attention.

[Copyright, 1893, by the United Press.]

PARIS, Oct. 12.—The reception of the Russian fleet at Toulon is but one day off, and the Russian fever grows hourly in intensity. The newspapers now give daily long lists of Russian officials and dignitaries who have come to Paris to witness the fetes. Russian decorations are seen everywhere in such variety and beauty as would not be possible in any other continental capital.

Designers and manufacturers have been put to their wits' end to produce novelties which will appeal to the popular fancies. The shops have in their windows full length portraits of the czar and of Admiral Avelan, who commands the visiting squadron. Within are shown toys and bric-a-brac adorned with the Russian eagle or with the French and Russian arms combined. Russian and French colors are entwined in the restaurants. One man has ramified the name of his place (Cafe Divan) by inserting an apostrophe between the D and i, thus making it Cafe d'Ivan.

A TENOR SINGER'S SUICIDE.

George O'Brien of Arthur Lloyd's Comedy Company Hangs Himself in Albany.

ALBANY, Oct. 12.—George O'Brien of New York, a tenor singer in Arthur Lloyd's comedy company, playing "Our Party" at the Leland Opera House here, hanged himself in his room at the American House just before the beginning of the performance.

O'Brien accomplished his suicide by securing the end of a fire escape rope to the top of the bedstead and taking a hitch around his neck with another part of the rope. By pushing the bed from the wall and drawing his feet up he was able to strangle himself.

O'Brien has been with Arthur Lloyd about seven weeks. Two weeks ago his mother died, and since that time he has been despondent and last night drank heavily. He was about 40 years old and had been on the stage 20 years.

Fear the Dalton Gang.

GUTHRIE, O. T., Oct. 12.—A committee of citizens from Cushing and Ingalls appeared at the United States marshal's office and demanded protection for themselves and their property, as the Dalton gang has threatened to have revenge on every citizen who aided the officers at the Ingalls battle a month ago. The people fear the town will be burned and they themselves shot down during the excitement.

Wayman's Hard Luck.

AUBURN, N. Y., Oct. 12.—Samuel Wayman, convicted of murder and sentenced to life imprisonment, was released from Auburn prison upon a pardon granted by Governor Flower. The iron gate had no sooner swung open for his exit, however, than he was confronted by the sheriff of Livingston county and a policeman, who rearrested him for a series of burglaries committed near the time of the murder.

Klein Was Late and Lost His Bride.

ATLANTIC CITY, Oct. 12.—Pretty Adele Seaman, one of Egg Harbor City's belles, did not become disconcerted when August Klein failed to appear at the hour set for their wedding. She promptly asked Dr. Harry Shaefer, a former lover, and after a few minutes' conversation they were married in the presence of the astonished guests. Klein arrived after the ceremony and was much agitated at the outcome.

"I speak not out of weak surmises, but from proof."

LARD MUST GO

since COTTOLENE has come to take its place. The satisfaction with which the people have hailed the advent of the New Shortening evidenced by the rapidly increasing enormous sales is PROOF POSITIVE not only of its great value as a new article of diet but is also sufficient proof of the general desire to be rid of indigestible, unwholesome, unpalatable lard, and all the ills that lard promotes. Try at once and waste no time in discovering like thousands at others that you have now

Cottolene

Cottolene

NO USE FOR LARD.

Send three cents in stamps to N. K. Fairbank & Co., Chicago, for their Cottolene Cook Book, containing six hundred receipts, prepared by eight of the best cooks in cooking.

Sold only by

N. K. FAIRBANK & CO., CHICAGO, and 402-412 Greenwich St., N. Y. Produce Exchange, N. Y.

Are You Insured?

If you are 21 years old $86 00 paid annually for fifteen years would entitle you to $1,000,
If 22 years old, $87.
If 25 years old, $97.10.
If 26 years old, $97.80.

This sum of $1,000 is payable to the insured, if living, at the expiration of fifteen years, or at his death if prior.

FOR A LIFE POLICY, of $1,000 the annual payments to continue during life, the payments for young men between 21 and 24 are between $18.00 and $20.

For catalogues and further particulars address Henry D. Morrison, 7 Somerset Street, Agent. THE NEW YORK MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

Do Your Corns Hurt?

They can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of

ELECTRIC

Corn Cure.

A remedy that never fails. A guarantee is sent with each box, that if a complete cure is not made, the money is to be refunded at once. Price, 50 cents per box, postpaid to any address on receipt of price. Remit by postal note or silver, (at our risk.) A book of testimonials sent with each box.

ALLEN & CO., Lock Box 32, Richmond, Va.

6 19 tf

New : Proprietor!

HENRY F. WINDHAM,

Arlington : Hotel!

Somerset street and Grandview road.

Do You?

Intend to invest in a

WHEEL?

If so, call on

Dickinson,

The Optician.

Agent for the Excelsior, the best wheel in the market. 4 weights, 22, 23, 26 and 41 lbs. Wheels to hire at reasonable rates.

BEFORE BUYING LAMPS

See the new lamp

The "Miller,"

(Patented 1890).

It has no equal. It is

The Lamp you Want

Every Lamp Warranted. We have a full line of

Plain and Beautiful Lamps.

Read for circular, or call at 10 and 12 College Place, N. Y. (Near E. Rose Buildings, 6th Ave. and 23d St., Elevated R. R. Station.)

EDWARD MILLER & CO. (Est'd 1849.

Insist on having the "Miller" from your dealer.

U. B. CRANE,

has the largest stock of

Fine Fall HATS,

in Plainfield.

12 WEST FRONT STREET.

TAKE NOTICE.

Charles Arnold,

the butcher,

Is Still in the Race

for cut prices.

Fresh Pork and Sausage 12c lb.
My own Dressed Jersey Chickens, 18c. lb.
Legs Mutton, 10c. lb.
Lamb, 12c. lb.
My Smoked Meats and all other Meats will be the same old cut prices.

Arnold's : Market,

208 LIBERTY STREET.

GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE.

Strictly Cash.

Great Bargains

in all grades of

WALL PAPERS,

for the next 60 days.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

29 EAST FRONT STREET.

The Vanderbilts and Astors

Use the same make of Imported Table Oil, Cheese and French Sardines that I now have in stock.

THEY ARE DELICIOUS.

And then I personally select the

FRESH FISH!

I have on sale to-day and to-morrow. Call and see my stock.

JULES BOVEY,

60 Somerset Street.

DR. MOTT, Graduate of United States Embalming College,

UNDERTAKER : AND : EMBALMER,

Office at residence, 175 Somerset Street, Plainfield, N. J.

Townsend's Marble Works,

30 Somerset Street.

Builders Cards.

Daniel Hulick,

Carpenter

and

General Jobber.

SHOP,

35 Jackson Avenue,

Storm doors and weather strips a specialty.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

Window Screens made to order.

John P. Emmons,

MASON AND BUILDER,

Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place.

Jobbing promptly attended to.

P. O. Box 923.

PIERSON & GAYLE,

Carpenters

and Builders.

W. J. Pierson, No. 15 Vine street. H. S. Gayle, No. 29 Vine street.

All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM G. SMITH,

PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER,

All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.

Residence—Grandview avenue.

P. O. Box 824.

R. V. SAUNDS,

Carpenter & Builder.

Residence—Clinton avenue, near depot, Dunellen.

P. O. Box 1288

Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.

JACOB M. HIGGINS,

PRACTICAL MASON and CONTRACTOR.

P. O. Box 251. Residence Du ... street, near Second.

JOHN ARNOTT,

Carpenter and Builder. Shop ... Residence ... Orders left at ... will receive prompt attention. Jobbing promptly attended to. P. O. Box 324.

ALFRED E. NELSON,

Civil Engineer and Surveyor, No. 2 Rose Place, Plainfield, N. J. Maps of property, Plans, Profiles, Estimates, Reports, etc. Late of the United States Coast Survey. All work guaranteed.

VIGOR OF MEN

Easily, Quickly, Permanently Restored.

Weakness, Nervousness, Debility, and all the train of evils from early errors or later excesses, this invigorator restores lost power, failing memory, wakefulness, lost manhood, and wasting diseases. It wards off insanity and consumption if taken in time. Have it always with you. Don't be imposed upon by pretended remedies. Insist upon having VIGOR OF MEN, or send for pamphlet. Sold by druggists, or sent by express, $1 per package, or six packages for $5, with a written guarantee to cure or refund the money. Pamphlet free. Address

ERIE MEDICAL CO., Buffalo, N. Y.

Van Eps,

THE NEWS JEWELER.

12 Park Avenue. Also a large variety of Musical Goods.

59c. SALE! 59c.
59c. of 59c.
59c. KID GLOVES! 59c.
59c. 4-button length, tan, modes, brown and black, all sizes. 59c.
59c. 85c to 75c. 59c.

GEO. L. VAN EMBURGH & SON.

FRONT STREET, OPPOSITE PARK AVENUE. UNDER THE BANK.

Now is Your Chance.

GRAND CLOTHING OPENING, at our retail store, 316 West Front street. Are you ready? We are prepared to offer the public a clean, fresh stock of Fall and Winter Clothing, for Men, Boys and Children. Remember, we sell at retail at the wholesale price.

C. SCHEPFLIN & CO,

316 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

Timely Warning! Winter Approaching!

Keep your Scalp Clean and your Hair Growing.

RANDOLPH'S Quinine and Glycerine

HAIR TONIC!

The Friend in the Hour of Need.

EACH BOTTLE GUARANTEED. Sold only by

L. W. RANDOLPH, Prescription Druggist,

142 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

Successors to

The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,

Dealers in

Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials

43 to 60 PARK AVENUE.

Are now prepared with their increased facilities, (having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs. A. D. Cook & Bro.,) to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

Railroad Time Table.

CENTRAL RAILROAD OF NEW JERSEY

(Anthracite coal used exclusively insuring cleanliness and comfort.)

Station in New York, foot of Liberty street. Time-table in effect July 30, 1893.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield at 5 14, 6 32, 7 08, 7 32, 8 03, 8 32, 9 03, 9 32, 10 03, 10 32, 11 03, 11 32 a m, 12 03, 12 32, 1 03, 1 32, 2 03, 2 32, 3 03, 3 32, 4 03, 4 32, 5 03, 5 32, 6 03, 6 32, 7 03, 7 32, 8 03, 8 32, 9 32, 10 32, 11 32 p m, 12 01 night.

Leave New York, foot of Liberty street, at 2 15, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 a m, 12 00, 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 30 p m, 12 00 night.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield at 6 20, 6 50, 7 20, 7 50, 8 20, 8 50, 9 20, 9 50, 10 20, 10 50, 11 20, 11 50 a m, 12 20, 12 50, 1 20, 1 50, 2 20, 2 50, 3 20, 3 50, 4 20, 4 50, 5 20, 5 50, 6 20, 6 50, 7 20, 7 50, 8 20, 8 50, 9 20, 9 50, 10 20, 10 50, 11 20 p m.

Leave Newark at 6 50, 7 20, 7 50, 8 20, 8 50, 9 20, 9 50, 10 20, 10 50, 11 20, 11 50 a m, 12 20, 12 50, 1 20, 1 50, 2 20, 2 50, 3 20, 3 50, 4 20, 4 50, 5 20, 5 50, 6 20, 6 50, 7 20, 7 50, 8 20, 8 50, 9 20, 9 50, 10 20, 10 50, 11 20 p m, 12 20 night.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield at 6 15, 6 45, 7 15, 7 45, 8 15, 8 45, 9 15, 9 45, 10 15, 10 45, 11 15, 11 45 a m, 12 15, 12 45, 1 15, 1 45, 2 15, 2 45, 3 15, 3 45, 4 15, 4 45, 5 15, 5 45, 6 15, 6 45, 7 15, 7 45, 8 15, 8 45, 9 15, 9 45, 10 15, 10 45, 11 15 p m.

Leave Somerville at 6 45, 7 15, 7 45, 8 15, 8 45, 9 15, 9 45, 10 15, 10 45, 11 15, 11 45 a m, 12 15, 12 45, 1 15, 1 45, 2 15, 2 45, 3 15, 3 45, 4 15, 4 45, 5 15, 5 45, 6 15, 6 45, 7 15, 7 45, 8 15, 8 45, 9 15, 9 45, 10 15, 10 45, 11 15 p m, 12 15 night.

PLAINFIELD AND BOUND BROOK.

Leave Plainfield at 6 20, 6 50, 7 20, 7 50, 8 20, 8 50, 9 20, 9 50, 10 20, 10 50, 11 20, 11 50 a m, 12 20, 12 50, 1 20, 1 50, 2 20, 2 50, 3 20, 3 50, 4 20, 4 50, 5 20, 5 50, 6 20, 6 50, 7 20, 7 50, 8 20, 8 50, 9 20, 9 50, 10 20, 10 50, 11 20 p m.

Leave Bound Brook at 6 50, 7 20, 7 50, 8 20, 8 50, 9 20, 9 50, 10 20, 10 50, 11 20, 11 50 a m, 12 20, 12 50, 1 20, 1 50, 2 20, 2 50, 3 20, 3 50, 4 20, 4 50, 5 20, 5 50, 6 20, 6 50, 7 20, 7 50, 8 20, 8 50, 9 20, 9 50, 10 20, 10 50, 11 20 p m, 12 20 night.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield at 7 35, 8 45, 10 24 a m, 2 30, 5 30 p m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

8 32 a m, for Pennsylvania, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Bethlehem, Easton, Phillipsburg, Harrisburg, Pittsburg, Buffalo, Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Washington, Baltimore, Pittston, Wyoming, Elmira, Williamsport, Watkins, Geneva, Rochester, Niagara Falls, Binghamton, Oswego, Syracuse, Utica, Albany, Troy, Saratoga, Lake George, Montreal, Canada, Northern New York, Vermont, Boston, Mass., Portland, Me., Manchester, N. H., Worcester, Mass., Providence, R. I., Hartford, Conn., New Haven, Conn., Springfield, Mass., Pittsfield, Mass., Lenox, Mass., Stockbridge, Mass., Lebanon Springs, N. Y., Bennington, Vt., Rutland, Vt., Burlington, Vt., Ogdensburg, N. Y., Thousand Islands, Richfield Springs, Cooperstown, Sharon Springs, Schoharie, Howe's Cave, Richmond, Va., Washington, D. C., Cape May, Atlantic City, Ocean City, Sea Isle City, Wildwood, Anglesea, Holly Beach, Cape Island, Delaware Water Gap, Stroudsburg, Mount Pocono, Pocono Manor, Tobyhanna

WOMAN AND HOME.

HOW A GOOD WIFE WAS PREPARED FOR AN EMERGENCY.

Take Care of the Family—A German Girl's Day—Her Good Samaritan—Money Does Not Mother—Instructive Reading For Housemakers.

A Delaware girl, marrying at 17, passed seven years of happy domestic life in New York. Her husband was a prosperous salesman, representing large dealers in Japanese goods. She had inherited a small property, and they lived in handsome style, but in the midst of her prosperity she was overwhelmed with misfortune.

Her husband was stricken with that hopeless disease, paresis, and incapacitated for business. Her private fortune was swept away by the mismanagement of relatives who had invested it.

Thus reduced to great straits, with four children dependent upon her, she sold her jewelry and costly furniture, left her handsome home and found modest lodgings in the suburbs. Then she hit upon a bold stroke.

She went to her husband's former employers and stated her case. She had her sick husband and four children to provide for. No ordinary employment for a woman, like typewriting, would suffice to keep them together and support them comfortably. She wished to take her husband's route as a commercial traveler.

The firm raised objections. The route had been divided among salesmen. It was not a suitable occupation for a woman. She would be exposed to insult.

She pleaded in deprecation for a trial. Her husband had always talked with her freely, she said, about business. When on the road it was a habit for her every night, and gave minute details about sales and customers.

"I understand the business already," she said, "from his letters. I am sure I can make myself respected, even in what seems to be an unsuitable occupation, and be successful."

Her courage inspired confidence. The firm planned a short route and offered her a small salary, with commissions. She went from town to town, opened her trunks and displayed her samples. She found her husband's customers and pleased them. Her earnings in a few months averaged $60 a week.

The experiment was repeated with a longer route. Her earnings ran up to $90 a week. The firm then placed her in charge of her husband's trade, which enabled her in time to earn $7,500 a year. Meanwhile she had established a relative in business and placed her children under his wife's care in a comfortable home.

The firm, impressed with her intelligence, now sent her to China to buy goods. She accepted on that condition that orders were not allowed to go into the interior.

Traveling ostensibly for pleasure, she made a long circuit of interior villages and purchased almost room house to house a unique collection of wares. Many of these goods had never before been seen in New York. The firm made a very large sum from her purchases.

Since then she has been admitted into the firm as a partner and has accumulated a handsome fortune.

Without adaptability, self respect and a natural talent for trade she could not, of course, have achieved this striking success, but remarkable as was her mercantile capacity it should be remembered that it was first developed by her interest in her husband's business. He made her his confidante, shared with her his daily experience and unconsciously educated her for her work. She had often said laughingly:

"I know your business so well from your letters that I could take your place."

When the emergency arose, she soon, therefore, became fully equal to its demands.—Youth's Companion.

Take Care of the Family.

That race and that nation will win which takes the best care of the family. It is the heart of the whole social system. It has in it the law of continuity and perpetuity, and you can find it nowhere else in society. Make the family true to its nature, defend it from the inroads of vice, ed teate it, keep it out of squalidness, save it from the extortions of the rich, guard it with wise and holy laws, train it in the virtues suggested by itself and which are native to it—obedience, love, kindness, considerateness, purity, truthfulness, reverence, self sacrifice, fidelity, regard for the common good—make these virtues growths and parts of family life, and they will send vital blood into society as long as such family life continues. Nor can social permanence come from any other source.

The nation lives only as the family flourishes. Let us thank God for whatever deepens and strengthens and sweetens family life. Here is found not only the joy of life, but also its safety. Here are not only new children saved and parents saved by saving their children, but society is saved and carried on to its destiny. A true family is the best church which God puts into the world that it may subdue it unto its own likenesses, and so make the world one great home in which God is the father and all men are brethren. May God give us wisdom to read his great design as it is disclosed in humanity, and as it is revealed by his Son.—Rev. T. S. Munger, D. D.

A German Girl's Day.

A German matron rouses her daughter of 16 at 7 a. m., summer or winter. Half an hour later she must be at breakfast, serving her brothers and sisters, after seeing that they are properly dressed for school. Rid of the young folks, she must make her bed and clean and dust the whole of the rooms of the house by 10 a. m. On three days of the week she sets out for the dressmaker's and learns the business until 12:30. On the other three days she practices on the piano and learns English. Twice a week the hour from 12 to 1 is devoted to music lessons.

At 1:30 dinner is finished, and the girl must herself put away and lock up the remains, after which she is allowed to read some entertaining book or play piquet or dominoes with her father. From 2:30 she does plain sewing till 4 o'clock. The whole family then take coffee and walk for 1½ hours. By 6 her father pounces upon the unfortunate girl and gives her a subject in history, geography or literature on which to write a theme in the space of an hour without book or other assistance.

Next the young lady must prepare tea, to which the family sit down at 7 o'clock "punctually." After that she may take up her embroidery or crochet, and the family read aloud by turns until 9 o'clock, when the poor chief daughter is sent to bed.—St. Louis Republic.

Her Good Samaritan.

Favorite masculine jokes are those at the expense of women's unkindness to women and the vanity of the landlady's fashionable keeper. Here is a true story which flatly contradicts both of these sweeping assertions. Some years ago a young woman came to one of our large cities to try to engage work upon one of the newspapers. She went to a cheap boarding house, but upon one floor room it is impossible to get her way regularly even there. She took the landlady into her confidence, told her a painful story and obtained every possible help and privilege from her.

At last she got on her feet and was established to repay the money part of her debt. Then her health broke down. Not long before her early death she was invited to speak at the best known women's club in the country. She invited the old landlady to be her guest on that occasion. What was the latter's astonishment as she sat, ill at ease among all those elegant and cultured ladies, to hear her quondam boarder introduce her own tale of early struggles into that speech, which proved to be her "swan song!" She told of her attempts and failures, of the one friend who stood by her and was not afraid to trust her, in words that brought tears to every eye. And then she turned, and with a graceful gesture the modest little good Samaritan was introduced to all these eager listeners. And what an ovation she received!—Philadelphia Press.

Honor Dear Old Mother.

Time has scattered the snowy flakes on her head, plowed deep furrows on her cheeks, but is she not sweet and beautiful now? The lips which have kissed many a hot tear from the childish cheek are the sweetest lips in all the world.

The eye is dim, yet it glows with the rapt radiance of a holy love which can never fade.

Oh, yes, she is a dear old mother.

Her hands of time are nearly run out, but feeble as she is they will go further and reach down lower for you than any other on earth.

You cannot walk into midnight where she cannot see you; you cannot enter a prison where home shall not be; you can never mount a scaffold too high for her to reach that she may kiss and bless you.

In evidences of her deathless love, when the world shall despise and forsake you, when it leaves you by the wayside to die unnoticed—the dear old mother will gather you up in her feeble arms, carry you home and tell you all your virtues until you almost forget that your soul is disfigured by vices.

Love her tenderly and cheer her declining years with holy devotion.—Bugle Call.

But Yet a Woman.

Did it ever occur to you when you have told the maid to dismiss the disconsolate figure in black who has been ringing every door bell in the neighborhood and obtained admittance to but one or two houses that, though it is a book agent, she has a heart underneath the shabby dress and the tired feet have tramped many a weary mile while one hope after another has been dashed down as adverse answers have met her at every turn? Even though you do not want the book which she is canvassing, could you not find a little womanly kindness to the weary toiler, and you may be certain that you will not be bored by a recital if you gently but firmly impress upon her mind the fact that you are not anxious to buy. There will be appreciation of your kindly manner, and the few encouraging words that you may be prompted to say may aid her in going on through the long and tiresome day feeling brighter and better for the sunshine that has come through your gentle life. No one knows how soon they may be put in just such trying circumstances, and the least that you can do is to be kind, even though at first we feel annoyed and irritated.—Philadelphia Times.

Mrs. Helen Rankin Capp.

Mrs. Helen Rankin Capp, the only professional sculptress in Chicago, is still on the sunny side of 40 and has made a reputation within the last five years.

She came to the Institute of Chicago in 1886, and having previously dreamed of becoming a painter discovered on trial that sculpture was her forte. She took up the study of modeling under Mr. Taft and one of anatomy with intense enthusiasm and application, overcame the thousand and one difficulties which confront the adult novice, and by sacrifice of leisure and comfort bore off the honors of her class for three successive years. In 1890 the first and only medal ever given by the institution for original work was awarded Mrs. Capp, who had accomplished by dint of hard labor alone the routine work of 10 years in three.

At the time of entering the institute Mrs. Capp had been a wife 14 years. She was the mother of five children, four of whom had died in childhood. Her early life had been passed in the midst of the trials of pioneer life.—Buffalo News.

A Word Fitly Spoken.

Had she a daughter to train, said a woman of the world, one accomplishment above all should be taught her—to make herself agreeable without descending to make fun of other people. Of all the social arts that of fun comes among young folks outside of picking others to pieces.

Bright people are given to use their wit very freely at the expense of their less unfortunate to come near them. Women especially regard the world outside their immediate circle as created to afford them amusement, not of the most amiable kind. They are not discriminating enough to see what underlies and offends the peculiarity which provokes their fun.

The ill dressed, hurried woman is commonly trying to carry affairs whose burden her critics would shirk shamelessly. No wonder if the brave spirits stagger awkwardly and unbecomingly under the load she can but just bear without breaking. Those who halt their fun on her most laugh and laugh again unbecoming.—Housewife.

Mrs. Disraeli's Economy.

Of the rigid economy practiced by Mrs. Disraeli there is one very good story told. Mrs. Disraeli and her husband had come down from London to spend the Easter vacation at Hughenden and had called on the various tradesmen at Wycombe to order the groceries and other requirements for their 10 days' or fortnight's stay. It so happened that their coming was rather abruptly shortened, and Mrs Disraeli was seen calling at the grocer's and other purveyors', taking out of the carriage the nonconsumed wares and selling the shopkeepers to receive them back and have them reweighed, and so to make a reduction in their accounts. The great statesman, with folded arms, was standing back in the carriage, perfectly nonchalant, but evidently desirous to have no share in the frugal transaction. Such rigid economy was no longer required after an old lady who so admired his books died and left him her entire fortune, amounting to over £40,000.—South Wales Daily News.

The Japanese Woman.

With the Japanese woman her lord stands first. He takes the precedence of relatives and religion, and she—well, next to the servants the wife is the humblest member of the household. A Jap takes his bride home to his mother's household, and from the day of his wedding she is the slave of his mother, his sisters and himself, and of her own children, too, when she has them, until one of her sons follows the custom of his father by bringing a wife home for her to tyrannize over in turn. You see, it puts a premium on growing old.

Still the women are so happy and lovable, so gentle and contented, that one scarcely wishes to see them emancipated. They are so innocent, too, like children or birds. I saw a missionary, with an air of great perplexity, pick up a Japanese girl's kimono at the throat. It just seemed wicked, and I thought of how shocking the Japanese ladies think even our most modern evening dresses are.—Tokio Correspondent.

Suede Kid Gloves.

Don't buy suede kid gloves if you buy for service. Suede kid leathers cling to the hand and make it neat and small in appearance, but it doesn't wear—it is too thin. The mere friction of opening and closing of a pocketbook or portemonnaie will wear out the fingers of a suede kid or lamb glove in a couple of weeks. To get the skin suede—that is, undressed—it has to be shaved down, reducing it to less than the ordinary thickness of texture. This shaving is done with steel. It stands to reason that gauze will not resist the wear of a fabric of double, full. Buy suede gloves for the theater, church, calls, balls or any other dressy occasion, when it is desirable to have the hands look their daintiest, but buy a dressed kid glove for street wear.—New York World.

Mme. Loschetzsky.

Mme. Leschetzsky, the wife of the great pianoforte teacher to whom Paderewski ascribes his success, is also a wonderful exponent of her husband's method. If it were possible, say those who have heard her, to think she cares two straws about what she plays, she would also be one of the greatest musicians in Europe. No technical difficulties give her trouble enough to rouse her. She seems to have discovered that all is vanity, and with a cool indifference cloaked by a superb demeanor, she goes through a recital as a queen might go through the duties of a drawing room reception. Some critics speak of Anna Mehlla Goddard, who was a player of the same sort.—Exchange.

The Hygiene of the Teeth.

"All decay of the teeth," says the London Lancet, "begins from the outside, no such thing as internal decay having ever been observed. Hence, if the surface could be kept absolutely clean no decay could take place however poor the texture of the teeth. This is of course impossible, but much may be attained by attention to hygenic rules.

"Parents often ask dentists and medical attendants, 'When ought teeth to be cleaned?' The answer generally is, 'As soon as they are teeth.' A very small toothbrush charged with some precipitated chalk, flavored with an aromatic drug to make it pleasant, is perhaps the best means."

Woman's Progress.

Harvard observatory is the first institution to develop a corps of trained women assistants dealing with difficult problems, and these women, who are not blue stockings, because their labor may be obtained for less money than would be paid to men for the same work, but receive the regular fee for such service, are showing not only great accuracy in their routine work, but also considerable capacity for original investigation. Not all women are capable of working in this field, but Mrs. Fleming, the leader of the group, has "an eye remarkably keen in making measurements, a mind unusually alert in observing and great executive ability."—Boston Globe.

The Object In Dressing.

A paper of an investigating turn of mind recently undertook to find out for what object women chose their dresses. Several prominent people expressed opinions on the subject, among them Harriet Prescott Spofford, who said that they "were attended only by their perception of the beautiful; that they dress neither to dazzle women nor to attract men, but to please themselves." Kate Sanborn said: "Some women dress to win envy, jealousy and admiration all at once. A few sensible women dare to dress for neither man nor women, but for health and comfort, and women acknowledgedly over 50 sometimes dress to suit themselves."

Servant or Menial?

There can be no doubt that many a competent girl would gladly engage in housework were it not for the fear that she has of being looked down upon as a menial. There can be no doubt that the American people themselves are responsible for this disinclination. The American girls and women of the working classes to seek and take employment as servants, because the people themselves have put a certain stigma upon what is a most honorable work. What is absolutely necessary in order to insure a plentitude of good servants is to make the servant's work more honorable and respected.—Burlington Hawkeye.

Poor Jean Ingelow.

Poor Jean Ingelow! Instead of being pale and thin, with dreamy eyes and a neurotic smile, she is a very plump, comfortable little body, who might have been an authority on jams instead of the writer of "Divided." "All the people who see me are disappointed," she says ruefully, "and they do not so much as take the trouble to conceal it."—Exchange.

White silk lace may be cleaned by spreading it out upon white paper that has been covered with calcined magnesia, placing another sheet upon it and laying it away for three days between the pages of a large book. Shake off the powder, and the lace will be clean and white.

Hostesses who have been puzzled to find some new form of entertainment might try the plan of a London woman who engaged a silhouette expert. All the men and maidens hung around in an unusual fever of impatience to be cut out.

Gail Hamilton was appointed by James G. Blaine as his literary executor and is preparing a biography of the statesman, with the co-operation of the Blaine family and with the special authorization of Mrs Blaine.

Miss Grant, the daughter of Colonel Fred Grant, besides her various social attractions and her remarkable beauty, works hard in the study of art. She has no small ambition to follow in the footsteps of Bonheur.

When a girl confides in a married woman, she ought always to remember that the chances are that she is meddling in the married woman's husband too.

Each one of us is, whether we will or no, a teacher of ethics during every moment of our waking lives, and, above all, in our relations with our children.

Hotels.

CENTRAL HOTEL,
No. 11 E. Front St.,
PLAINFIELD.

Windham & Crowley,
PROPRIETORS.

☞ First-class bar attached.

Fourth Ward Hotel.
JOHN GOFF, Proprietor.
Boarders accommodated, both transient and permanent.
LARGE ROOMS
and
ALL MODERN IMPROVEMENTS.
Fine Wines, Liquors and CIGARS.
Corner Third and Liberty Streets.

Hotel Grenada,
NORTH AVENUE,
now open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the travelling public.

City Hotel,
Corner
PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.
Transient guests accommodated.

Eugene Hoerster,
206 Grove Street,
North Plainfield.
Wholesale Dealer
in
FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.
Lowest Prices. Goods Were sted.

OPENING
OF
Fall and Winter DRESS GOODS.

We have placed on sale the Largest Assortment of DRESS GOODS ever offered in this city, and the prices lower than ever, don't laughbe to avoid no many dresses of a kind.

WE MENTION A FEW SPECIALS:

All Wool Bengaline at 55c. yd. Regular Price 75c.
" " Novelties at 50c. yd. Regular Price 75c.
" " Henriettas at 75c. yd. Regular Price 1.00

Cashmeres, Serges, Flannels and Cloths in large variety of colors and prices.
Priestley's silk warp Henrietta.

DRESS TRIMMINGS
In plain and changeable Braids, Guimps, Braids, etc. We are still offering
Smith's Best Moquette Carpets at 99c. yd
It will be to your advantage to look at these goods if you are in need of carpets.
BLANKETS AND COMFORTABLES AT
EDSALL'S.

Tired from Head to Foot

FROM HEAD TO FOOT.

That's what's the matter with the most of us. Whatis the remedy? Pure circulation of the blood. The best remedy for that is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. We have known scores of so-called cheap substitutes for Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which, however, so-familiar to druggists, have disappeared in a short time by the use of Ayer's. Therefore, we say, don't be induced to buy a cheap substitute, but insist and order Ayer's Sarsaparilla. One dollar a bottle. Ayer's Pills will do it. Try them. Family size, 25c. All druggists. Send 2c stamp for book of advice for ladies.
LYONS 464 Broadway, Newark, Jersey City, N. J.

A GOOD WIFE
is a great blessing, and a good husband will look after her comfort. He can always insure her future comfort by buying a lot which is pretty nearly, the prices are so low. The lot is situated in a beautiful and healthy neighborhood.

GIVEN AWAY

WITH EVERY
convenience for reaching stores, schools and churches quickly. Now is the grand opportunity to invest in a splendid

BUILDING LOT.
For particulars, address
"O'BRIEN,"
care of EVENING NEWS.

Horses and Carriages, to hire, at
O'BRIEN'S,
116 WEST FOURTH STREET,
near the depot.

Joseph T. Vail,
REAL ESTATE
and
INSURANCE.
AGENT FOR THE BLUE STONE FLAG
40 North Avenue

Often That Way!

A lady took time to travel down our way to see if what she had heard was true. "What's the price of that jacket?" "$1.98." "And that dress pattern?" "Six a yard." "I'll take both." She told her friends afterwards, and they told us, that it was the biggest day's saving she had ever made.

Your Turn Now!

WINTER UNDERWEAR—Sold more Underwear the last ten days than all last Winter. And why not? Prices cut in half. Our show windows tell the story. All kinds for Ladies and Children.
LADIES' JACKETS—Manufacturer was heart-broken last week when he saw his Jackets that cost him $10 to make, sold for $5. We bought them and they are yours at half what they are worth.
DRESS GOODS—Greater values never offered in Dress Goods than at the present time. 46 inch, all wool Suiting that we only ask 39c. for. Just the thing for street wear.
MILLINERY—Have you seen the latest? The sea serpent, green velvet suit Hat, with wing to match. You want the best that's to be had in Millinery, work and style, and we have them. Give us a call, we will give satisfactory work as we are giving this season. COMPARISON PROVES IT.
HOUSE FURNISHINGS—This department is improving all the time. Larger assortment and prices lower than ever before. There are three large rooms devoted to useful articles that you want every day in the year.

SHOES!
In Ladies, our straight Coast and Walkingfast styles at $1.50 and $2.00 are the proper weights for the season.
The "FARGO TIP" for Children,
In the best looking and best wearing shoe for school wear. Sizes 8½ to 10½, $1.25. Sizes 11 to 2, $1.50. A few of those $1 50 Oxfords, at 89c., still remain.
WHITE, of Plainfield.

FOR FALL TRADE.
THE LEADER
has received a large variety of Infants' Cloaks, Coats, Slips, Robes, Flannel and Worsted Sacks, Hoods, Flannel Skirts, all of the latest styles. Also new styles of Ladies' Wrappers, Underwear and a large variety of Comfortables, at very low prices. Make no mistake, this is the new store.
THE LEADER! M. GOLDMANN, Prop.
210 WEST FRONT STREET. (Old No. 21.)

R. W. Rice & Co.,
THE FARE GROCERS.
Corner Duer and Emily Streets.
NORTH PLAINFIELD.

World's Fair Exhibit on Flower Pots!
OVER FOUR TONS—8,400 pounds—18 large crates—5 truck loads.
The patterns and decorations are numerous and exquisite in design. Prices range from 1½ cents for the Slip Pot to $1.25 for the double Calla Lily, the popular ones being the 5c., 6c., 9c. and 13c. sizes in the common, though we have the largest made, at 60c. Decorated Pots and Hanging Baskets range from 7c. to 25c. We are prepared to suit all, and our prices are guaranteed the lowest and quality without a fault. The wide rim and the oak leaf on the common Pots add strength and beauty, and are easily decorated. Order early, as some will have to wait.
J. C. Allen, 28 West Front St., Plainfield, N. J.

The Fall and Winter Styles in Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing are now in Stock. Overcoats of all Weights. Trousers Made to Order from $4 to $8. Suits from $15 to $30. Hats and General Furnishings. WERNER'S MAMMOTH CLOTHING HOUSE, 206 West Front Street.

This Date In History—Oct. 12.

42?—Pope Honorius I died.
1095—Pope Boniface VIII died.
1492—Columbus first saw land in the new world; Rodrigo Triana, common sailor, was first to cry, "Land, ho!"
1537—Edward VI of England was born at Hampton court.
1576—Maximilian II, emperor of Germany, died at Ratisbon.
1700—Pedro de Alcantara, first emperor of Brazil and father of the late Dom Pedro, was born in Lisbon; died 1834.
1857—Hugh Miller, geologist, born at Cromarty, Scotland; became insane and killed himself; 1856.
1858—Robert Stephenson, famous engineer, died in London; born 1803.
1892—Dr. J. G. Holland died in New York city; born 1820.
1890—A search let congress opened at Halle, Germany. The grand Duke Nicholas of Russia said the king of Holland both declared insane.
1892—A military and civic parade in New York, which virtually wound up the Columbian festivities in that city.

The provisional government of Hawaii is declared to be in excellent financial condition, and citizens of all shades and colors are paying their taxes as cheerfully as if they understood fully that the revolution had your meant business and had come to stay.

In Russia the inflated currency is silver, not paper. The silver ruble in that country is now not worth so much as the paper one. For this reason the Russian government will not allow any more silver to be coined on private account.

It is an unfortunate fact that by far the greater number of deaths by dynamite result not from the machinations of anarchists, burglars or personal enemies, but from carelessness of workmen in handling the explosive.

The Siamese-French difficulty proves anew that England, although she wisely keeps aloof from continental entanglements, is still the strongest power in Europe.

The bitterest, cruelest of all wars or faction fights are those in which race or religion constitutes the question at issue.

1893 OCTOBER. 1893

Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fr.	Sa.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
15	16	17	18	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26	27	28
29	30	31

MOON'S PHASES.
Third Quarter 2 10:19 p. m.
New Moon 9 3:57 p. m.
First Quarter 17 8:32 a. m.
Full Moon 25 5:12 a. m.
Last Quarter 31 5:49 p. m.

Tickets For, or from Europe, On All Lines, And all Steamers.
Drafts Sold also.
H. D. MORRISON, Agent, Somerset Street.

PEACHES! PEACHES! PEACHES!
Following varieties: Yellow Globe, Crawford's Morris Whites, Keyport and old mixtures. Prices to suit everybody.
NEUMANN BROS.
WATCHUNG AVENUE and FIFTH STREET.

THE TIME TO EAT!
MEAT!
is at meal time, of course, and the place to get good meat, all varieties, lowest prices and prompt, civil attention is at
E. J. CONNOLLY,
No. 2031 Broadway.
SMOKED MEATS AND VEGETABLES always on hand.

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$5 per Year in Advance. | N. W. Blackman, Editor and Proprietor. | Office, No. 21 Somerset street. PO BOX 214 of All Kinds. | 10 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. | PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST." | FRIDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1893. | PRICE TWO CENTS.

Republican Primaries.

The Republican voters of the City of Plainfield are requested to meet at the place hereinafter mentioned, on for the purpose of electing delegates to the county and assembly conventions, and electing two members of the County Executive Committee from each Ward.

THURSDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 19, 1893,

First Ward—At the Association House, No. 109 East Front street, at 8 o'clock, and is entitled to seven delegates to each convention.

Second Ward—At Bryant School building, East Sixth street, at 8 o'clock, and is entitled to seven delegates to each convention.

Third Ward—At the Casino, on West Seventh street, at 8 o'clock, and is entitled to six delegates to each convention.

Fourth Ward—At Hetzel's Hall, No. 317 West Front street, at 8 o'clock, and is entitled to nine delegates to each convention.

By order of the City Executive Committee.

ERNEST R. ACKERMAN, Chairman.
J. B. EDWARDS, Secretary.
Dated, Plainfield, October 17, 1893.

North Plainfield Republican Primary.

The Republicans of North Plainfield will meet at the Soil Building on

SATURDAY, OCTOBER, 14, 1893,

at 8 p. m. for the purpose of electing delegates to the county convention to be held at Somerville Tuesday 17th inst.

By order Executive Committee,
dated October 11, 1893.

THE CART TOPPLED OVER.

Mr. Sperry and His Coachman Spilled Out.

Between five and six o'clock last evening Mr. T. S. Sperry and his coachman were on their way home from the depot. They were riding in a covered dog cart. As they were going under the Park avenue railroad bridge the horse took fright and started on a run. At the corner of Fourth street the animal swerved to the right. The cart was overturned and both Mr. Sperry and the coachman landed upon the sidewalk. Mr. Sperry was bruised about the head and shoulders, but neither escaped injury. The coachman was not hurt.

The horse ran down Fourth street and was caught after running a short distance. The rig was brought back and Mr. Sperry and his man proceeded home.

BREVITIES.

—The Board of Trade held a meeting last night and adopted its by-laws.

—The Republicans of North Plainfield will hold their primary in the school building on Somerset street, to-morrow night.

—The Young People's Society of the First Baptist church will hold a business meeting in the lecture room of the church to night.

—The Y. M. C. A. invites all young men who are all interested in the study of shorthand writing to the rooms this evening at eight o'clock.

—The Middlesex County Board of Freeholders has decided to unsodamize the road from New Dover to Rahway, work to begin early next Spring.

—A levy was made yesterday on the property of the Postal Telegraph Company, on North avenue, to satisfy a judgment in favor of D. S. Roberts.

—The State Council of the Jr. O. U. A. M. will meet in Trenton on the 26th of October. There are 284 Councils in the State, with a prospect of two more before the meeting of the State Council.

—We have received several communication denouncing in strongest terms the attack in the Press on Rev. T. Logan Murphy's family. There seems to be but one opinion of the matter, and that seems to have been correctly expressed in THE NEWS of yesterday.

St. Mary's Church Fair.

St. Mary's church fair was well patronized last night. Among those occupying fair positions were: Miss Susie Goff and Miss Mamie Whalen, for a pretty set of china dishes; Miss Katie Fitzu, Miss Kate Carty Miss Nellie Cagey and Miss Kate Flannagan, for a diamond ring; and Miss Kate Whalen and Miss Lizzie O'Keefe for a large doll. The bed room suite was won by Mr. J. J. Kenney, a $10 gold piece by Thos. Leapon and a barrel of flour by Adam L. Seal.

Reception to Apprentices.

The reception tendered to apprentices at the Y. M. C. A. rooms last evening was attended by a goodly number of young men. The programme, consisted of banjo and zither solos by Van Ess and son, vocal solos by Miss Holmes, gymnastics by visiting young men and an address by Mr. Titsworth in which he gave some helping advice.

Franklin Council's Sixth Anniversary.

Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., celebrated its sixth anniversary last night in its lodge room, on West Second street. There was music, singing and speeches, followed by a collation. The principal speech of the evening was made by State Warden David Bodine of Grandview avenue.

Grand Rally Bethel A. M. E. Mission.

There will be a grand rally at the Seventh Day Baptist Church Sunday, 15th, inst., for the benefit of Bethel A. M. E. Mission (the colored Methodist Church). Preaching all day. Mrs. Mary Exholt, of the Methuchen A. M. E. Church, will preach at 7.45 p. m. All friends and well-wishers are invited.

In Justice Nash's Court.

Justice Nash yesterday rendered judgment in the case of Flynn vs. Harding, in favor of the plaintiff for $28.20 and costs.

Summons was issued in the landlord and tenant case of Marckley vs. Bower, returnable Oct. 17.

BURGLARS IN HIS ROOM.

MAHLON DAYTON AWAKENED BY THEIR NOISE.

The New Market Post-Office Broken into Early This Morning by Thieves Who Make Their Way to the Sleeping Apartments Above.

MORE attempts at robbery are reported in this vicinity. About one o'clock this morning thieves broke into Dr. Nelson's place at New Market, but were frightened off before securing anything.

Dr. Nelson is at the World's Fair. During his absence Mahlon Dayton, a youth of 18, was employed by the doctor to stay in the house with Mrs. Nelson, as she was afraid to remain alone nights.

In the same building is the Post Office. Dayton slept in a little room above the office.

About one o'clock this morning he was awakened by hearing some one in his room. He jumped out of bed. As he did so he saw three men run out.

Dayton descended the front stairs, where he found that the burglars had gained an entrance to the Post Office through one of the windows.

Nothing was stolen.

WAIT TILL THEY COME HERE.

The Park Club Defeated by the Roseville Last Night.

Last night the Park Club went west to Roseville and rolled two games against one of the strongest teams in the State. The following are the scores:

FIRST GAME.

PARK CLUB.		ROSEVILLE CLUB.
Lyman	163	Pearson	144
Sandford	138	Wood	195
Faber	167	Titus	141
Brown	183	VanNess	214
Matthews	167	Thompson	189
Total	818	Total	871

SECOND GAME.

PARK CLUB.		ROSEVILLE CLUB.
Lyman	151	Pearson	144
Sandford	165	Wood	167
Faber	167	Titus	141
Brown	183	VanNess	192
Matthews	165	Thompson	160
Total	795	Total	807

The return games will be played on Oct. 19th, on the Park Club alleys.

PERSONAL.

Miss Ondyke of Watchung avenue returned yesterday from Asbury Park.

Mr. W. H. Rice, son of Grocer Rice of Emily street, returned home to-day from the World's Fair.

The Misses Katie and Sadie Blimm of Somerset street are visiting Miss Carrie Mohl of Freeport, Long Island.

Mr. A. D. Phillips has moved with his family from Fifth avenue to Central avenue yesterday. Mr. R. T. Rogers, of corner Seventh street and Madison avenue moved into the house on Fourth street vacated by Mr. Phillips.

Prof. Boilly of this city says that even if Lord Dunraven happened to win the International yacht race to-day he would not consider it very profitable to furnish the music, seeing that the Lord hasn't got even one centre-board (cent-aboard, see?) What next?

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Stout of East Front street, and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Manning and Ford Manning were among the guests at the marriage of Miss Emma A. Wyckoff of New Brunswick to Mr. Jay D. Peckman of Roselle, 55 New Brunswick, Wednesday evening.

At the Seventh-Day Baptist Church tomorrow morning, Dr. Lewis will make a "Prelude" upon the "race-track" loans in New Jersey. The sermon will consider the "Parliament of Religions," and the religions of India there represented, viz., Brahmanism, Buddhism, and the Brahmo Somaj. All are invited.

Miss Jessie M. Brock, daughter of Detective Phillip M. Brock, of Elizabeth, was married at Elizabeth to Mr. Willis C. Bagel, at 2.30 o'clock yesterday morning, at the bride's home, 254 Adams avenue. It was a private wedding, only the immediate friends being present. Rev. J. M. Hourez, of the Madison avenue Presbyterian Church, performed the ceremony. After the congratulations and breakfast Mr. and Mrs. Bagel started for the World's Fair. Detective Brock was formerly Chief of Police of Plainfield.

"That's a Good One!"

Members of the Plainfield Bicycle Club have received postals, bearing the following:

"Burdett (the Inimitable), and Pearsall (who is Pearsall, anyway?), will give you several "good ones" at the Bicycle Club house, Saturday night, Oct. 21st 1893. There will be a male quartette (vocal), and, perhaps, Daly, of Bergen Point. Two "dark horses"—but we won't tell it all. Come and see. As this is a free smoker, of course you will come. Admission, for yourself and friends, will be by tickets, which will be sent later. Please put them "where they will do the most good." PATTERSON.

Tearing Down the Old Building.

Charles H. Hand has a force of men tearing down the remaining portion of the old oil-cloth factory, which was not sold and is using the brick in another building.

KILLED BY THE CARS.

JOHN BURLEY FOUND DEAD BESIDE THE TRACKS.

He was Employed as Coachman by a Fanwood Family.—He Visited His Sister in this City Last Night, and Started for Home.

WHEN the train that reaches this city at 5.15 from New York passed Fanwood this morning, the engineer discovered the body of a man lying beside the track. He reported the matter at the Fanwood depot. The body was picked up and carried to the freight house.

It was identified as that of John Burley, colored, a coachman, for a Fanwood family. He was about 18 years old. The body was badly cut.

It seems that Burley had been to this city to see his sister, who is employed by Mrs. Kemp of Carlton avenue. He left there about eight o'clock. That was the last seen of him alive.

As the body was found on the East side of the Fanwood station it is supposed that Burley must have attempted to jump from a train that did not stop at Fanwood, having boarded it as this city to go home.

He had only been in this part of the country about seven months, having come from the South at the request of his sister.

ENTERTAINMENT FOR RELIEF CORPS

A Pleasing Programme Well Rendered.

The Women's Relief Corps held an entertainment in the G. A. R. Hall on East Front street, last night, for the benefit of the corps. Before the curtain raised the hall was crowded, every seat being taken. A number was compelled to stand, throughout the entertainment.

The programme was as follows:

Piano Solo.....Miss Mary Greene
Recitation.....Mrs. Ella Wood, Monroe
Quartette—"Hush thee My Baby,".....

Mrs. Ella Wood, Mrs. Minnie Scott, Mr. Bert Towner, Mr. Wm. Townley.
Dialogue—Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlain, Peter Sutherland, Amelia Kister, Fred. Bock, Gus Bock, Chas. Hummer.
Solo.....Mrs. Nash
Solo.....Mrs. Fannie Westphal
Dialogue—Three Interrupters.
Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlain, Peter Sutherland, Amelia Kister, Chas. Hummer, Alfred Kister.
Duet—Mrs. Wm. Westphal and Miss Dottie Sears.
"We Will Have to Mortgage the Farm" (by request) Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dottie Sears, Miss Lizzie Dexter, Mr. Wm. Townley, Mr. Bert Litell, Mr. Chamberlain, Mrs. P. Dexter sold.
Solo—"Hanging the Baby".....Mr. Wm. C. Smith
Mrs. F. Crandell
Dialogue—Mrs. Chamberlain, Mrs. Wm. Sears, Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlain, Peter Sutherland, Fred Bock, Peter Sutherland, Amelia Kister, Chas. Hummer.
"America" by audience.

SOMERSET COUNTY FREEHOLDERS.

A Regular Meeting of the Board Held Tuesday.

The Somerset County Freeholders met at Somerville Tuesday.

A communication from the Plainfield Council, respecting the Sandford avenue bridge was received. The board decided that it had no jurisdiction.

The report of the Finance Committee was received. Bills amounting to $201.70 were ordered paid.

Mr. Sutphen reported that the illness, etc., of bridge tender Higgins' mill has been compensated for at $365.

The Director and Counsel were authorized to act with the Morris county board respecting a line bridge.

The County Collector was authorized to borrow $60,000 for current expenses.

A motion to the effect that where cost of small bridges exceeds the estimate, bills must not be paid until so ordered by the board, or Director, was carried.

The Journal Bowling League.

The Executive Committee of the Journal League will hold a meeting at the Journal office next Monday night, when the Schedule Committee will make its report and the final arrangements for the League series. The great interest in the coming contest is causing considerable speculation among the members as to the respective merits of the several teams. Each club is confident that its representatives will make a showing much better than they made last season.

Cared for by the King's Daughters.

A destitute family on South Second street is being cared for by the King's Daughters of Hope chapel. There is a man and wife and two children in the family. The husband was formerly an employee in Schepflin's, but has been out of work nearly all Summer.

In Justice Mosher's Court.

Summons was issued this morning by Justice Mosher, in the case of the New Jersey Oil Company vs. Noah A. Barnett of Westfield, and the Standard Oil Company vs. Albertus Swain. Both are on contract and are returnable October 23, at ten o'clock.

Death Prevents a Wedding.

Miss Nellie Martin was found dead in bed at the residence of Mrs. Walter M. Ireland, 23 Orchard, yesterday morning. She was twenty-four years old and was about to be married. The girl's death is supposed to have resulted from apoplexy.

TO DON A STRIPED GARB

SENTENCE DAY IN THE SOMERSET COUNTY COURT.

"Gus" VanAngles Is Sentenced to Three Years in State Prison; Randolph to Five Years, and Stutts to Three Months in Jail.

OF OUR several notorious characters will have to wear the striped garb, not because they like to but because of Jersey justice which was dispensed to many patients at Somerville to day, in being sentence day in the Somerset County Court.

Those sentenced were as follows:

John Maguire, convicted breaking and entering; sentence two years in State Prison.

John Rogers, larceny, sentence, five months in county jail.

"Gus" Van Angles, for assaulting Margaret Pangborn in North Plainfield, sentence, three years in State Prison.

Adam Stutts, for aiding in the abduction of Annie Kline; sentence, five months in county jail.

Miles Fury, one of the "Whyo" gang, for insurance frauds; Carrier's Bar Room; sentence, three years in State Prison.

Christopher Lorring, petit larceny, (He stole two ducks), five days in county jail. He had already served three months awaiting trial.

Robert Wallace, of North Plainfield, for assaulting a photographer; sentence suspended.

Two Hungarians, for stealing coal, fined ten dollars each.

Frank VanDoren, and Brooks, for assault, sentence, thirty days.

The Musicians Want Their Pay.

[From The News of June 28, 1893.]

Recurring to what Editor J. A. Demarest of the Daily Press has been saying of late in our columns of yesterday—the appointment as Commissioner of Deeds of Mr. Demarest by the county seat of Leeds Co., in the Province of Ontario, Canada, and the publication of the Thousand Islands. It has population 6,783, the largest town in the county being Brockville, 9,000 in four Municipal, and can be reached from Plainfield, starting to-night, by about noon to-morrow. The Thousand Islands Hotel, one of the best harbors on the St. Lawrence River. It is most likely that Mr. Demarest will spend the rest of the summer there, and it is probable that some of the boys will be going over to see him. For a summer vacation the Thousand Islands is the best place to go to take such medicine that way. When the Winter approaches the refreshed scribe can resign, or resign and return to Plainfield, as he may choose. He swallows neat again. Mr. Demarest was sent to Washington as correspondent by the Democratic press, and after his return he became a candidate for Postmaster of Plainfield. Failing in that, he was appointed a member of the Democratic Committee of other Democrats. But he has been suddenly called from Washington to Plainfield, Toronto and Canada, and has left the masters at Music Hall, of which he is manager.

There is a judgment against Demarest for debt. Ex-City Judge Ulrich informs us that he obtained it as counsel for Mr. E. C. Hubbard, the leader of the Plainfield Cornet Band, who for some time furnished the music at the performances. As Mr. Gutt would not pay, he paid it and refused to furnish the music any longer.

Mr. F. M. Robert was thereupon engaged, but later declined, saying he learned a thing or two more than he knew before, and was perfectly happy as he was. Then an outsider, a man from Newark, was induced to take hold. He undertook to play for $200, but he should be paid at each performance. It seems that Demarest has not lived up to that agreement either, and that the musicians finally refused point blank to furnish any more music unless paid in advance. The band at Rockville, Ont., brought an answer from him as at Washington, D. C., saying he would be home "in a few days." That was two weeks ago. Meanwhile the decision of the musicians, to not play "on tick" any more and with no music—and by no other difficulty shall arise—it is hard to see how the next performance proves other than a fizzle.

West Field's New Athletic Club.

The plan of consolidating the Westfield Athletic and the Union Leagues Clubs is developing. A petition is circulated among the young men of the place calling for the formation of a new social and athletic club to be known as the Union. Over 125 names have been secured in a short time and a new club organization will be formed. The membership fee will be $5 and the club rooms will be located in the present W. A. C. building.

The Weather.

The weather to-morrow promises to be stormy and cooler, with rain, followed at night by clearing.

Your Vitality

depends upon the food you eat and assimilate.

H-O Hornby's Oatmeal

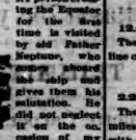
is the perfect food for bone and brain.

OLD FATHER NEPTUNE.

AS DESCRIBED BY A PLAINFIELDER.

How he Came Aboard With His Barber and Two Assistants When the Ship Crossed the Equator.—The Closing Letter.

[In the last letter "Plainfielder" had passed the Trinidad Islands and began his 6th journey.]



After supper, the day we crossed, he first appeared at the gangway and began climbing over the port bow. He was tall, dressed regardless of cost, in a red flannel shirt. He had a long, flowing beard and hair, (made of untwisted rope) and held a long staff in his right hand. His wife was by his side, with an aldermanic front and a huge bust. He had two assistants. We were seated at the table when he came on deck, and soon approached, and addressing the captain, asked if there were any on board who had never crossed the line before? "Yes" answered the captain "but they are timid, as hostile treaty greatly." "Father Neptune always does" came the response. The cook was the first victim. He made a game fight but was captured and securely held. They then proceeded to shave him and give him some milk, "a quart or two" as they said they knew what. With a large whitewash brush used for shaving the bristle he was given a liberal supply over his face, head and ears, of a lather composed of oil and tar. They next proceeded to talk to him in conversation, and then suddenly filled his mouth with lather, also.

The razor blade was two feet long and four inches wide, and made of wood.

The actors were as follows: Neptune, made of wood, and butter enough to cover it with them.

After the shaving and general mauling the cook was thrown into the "Den of Bears" consisting of a huge tarpaulin filled with water. Every attempt he made to get out after his plunge was thwarted, for they would push him back into it, until he let him out, and he had to swim to keep afloat. Four fellow, he received an awful drubbing because he had failed to get his initiation. I had initiated among the others but my dose was little compared to what he got. I escaped with the cover, but, being dressed appropriately, no damage was done and I surprised to obtain this new experience.

With a "coffer," as sailors call their purse, I'm done.

Well, the sailor's rations they are given pea soup twice a week and on some ships three times. The story is told of the "Jack" who ate his first pea soup meal. The Queen, wishing to reward him, gave him the grandest dinner ever served. His first request was to have enough tobacco to last him the rest of his life; his second a field. His third was to have a third of the same sufficiency of pea soup. The Queen quietly said "why that is only your second meal, diet on pea soup boys, you have another wish granted." "Well" slowly replied the bewildered sailor, "I'll have a little more pea soup, please."

During a severe storm once when all things were adrift, and the cook having been swept overboard, a "middy" assumed charge of the vessel. Not being familiar with the mystic art of managing a ship he depended upon the printed instructions. His first order to furl the sails was received with a laugh. The second, in mid ocean, was naval. While watching his first order executed with wind turning the vessel on her beam ends, his first command had been obeyed, he glanced again at the printed book, read the lines and rolled out, "Go to the anchor."

I'm not writing all who can to take a trip at sea. Your health will surely be benefited and you gain an experience to be thought over in after years. But the monotony of the voyage, the remembrance of which will be marked with indescribable memories.

PLAINFIELDER.

An Interview with the Defendants, Conover & Hall.

So much interest has been aroused by the forth coming trial before Judge Ogden, at the court house, Hall, on Monday evening, that it is thought proper to interview the one alleged to be suspected of being the author of the article which was found at his place of business. We are informed that, though he accepted a position on the staff of the Daily Press, he could not see through the deep circles under his eyes and the quick nervous glances which he cast about him, that the work was telling upon a system which was rocking him to pieces, and that it can never be known to the world the struggles of conscience, the pangs of remorse, or whether the heart-broken scene of writing and persecution which he was to be daily subjected to, if he was convicted, he is reported to have said, "that I am the man that I am not." We are also gratified to state that my friends think as I do, and though my bail was fixed at such a sum that I, a poor devil as I am, could not possibly command, I had not the slightest difficulty in obtaining bonds-men who were willing to go my bail for any sum that the court might see fit to name. There is not a word of truth in it. From Mr. Sumner's further remarks, the reporter learned that the defendants had not yet been served with a copy of the complaint, but since he had been told that feathers were connected with poultry and that wool was connected with sheep, he claims to have supposed, he had used an air cushion instead of a pillow. This may or may not be true, but we are inclined to believe it does. Mr. Saunders says that he calls his constituents together every night, and consults their opinion for the night before. "I shall go to my wife on Saturday," he said, "and ask her opinion, and if she says I am guilty, I shall resign my office." The above is as true as anything connected with the entertainment will prove to be.

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE.

The Vigilant Again

BUT SHE WINS BY ONLY ONE MINUTE AND 13 SECONDS.

The Closest Race on Record.

12.06

The Vigilant crossed the starting line one minute and 45 seconds ahead.

The Race Starts.

The Vigilant Still Ahead.

2.25

The Vigilant is one and one-eight miles ahead, going like a race horse and with the spray flying half way up her mast.

Vigilant Gaining.

2.05.2 p. m.

The Vigilant appears to be gaining. The boats are eight miles from home.

The Valkyrie Ahead.

2.33 p. m.

The Valkyrie turned the stake boat. The Vigilant is two minutes behind.

The Boats Even.

2.35 p. m.—
The boats are even.

The Vigilant Ahead.

2.30 p. m —
The Vigilant is ahead and gaining, and almost a sure winner.

4 p m —
The Vigilant crossed the line at 2.52, 44-60ths p. m., the Valkyrie at 2.55 p. m. The Vigilant declared the winner by only one minute and 13 seconds.

Women's Missionary Societies.

The annual synodical meeting of the Woman's Missionary Societies of New Jersey, the Rev. Dr. John Hall of New York and Miss Charlotte Brown of Sidon Syria, were among the speakers. Mrs. W. E. Honeyman, of Somerset street, is president and Mrs. J. H. Maastoe, of Park avenue, is secretary of this society.

The Field Clear for Mr. Martine.

State Senator Marsh published a letter last evening in which he announces that he is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Senator from Union County. This leaves the field clear for Mr. Martine, of Plainfield, known as the "Farmer Orator," who will, no doubt, be unanimously nominated at the convention Oct. 19.

Subscribe to the TWELFTH - SERIES of the Home Building and Loan Association,

which will be opened Monday evening,

October 16, 1893,

at their room, Republican headquarters, Front street, over City National Bank.

The semi-annual statement shows present investments about $100,000. Shares, $500 each; dues, $1.00 per month, which is constantly increasing. Expenses average less than one dollar per month. Only a few more shares to be issued. Our plan enables it possible for members buying homes, to own them in about eleven years, by a payment of but little more than they are usually pay for rent. It accumulates a fund to meet the principal of the mortgage, and at the same time is the only plan to promote the payment of interest. Members who join the Association not only pay rent but a daily which is constantly increasing, and a rate of profit greater than for any other safe investment.

ISAAC W. RUSHMORE,
S. R. STRUTE-SR, President.
Secretary. 12 5

An Interview with the Defendants, Conover & Hall.

So much interest has been aroused by the forth coming trial before Judge Ogden, at the court house, Hall, on Monday evening, that it is thought proper to interview the one alleged to be suspected of being the author of the article which was found at his place of business. We are informed that, though he accepted a position on the staff of the Daily Press, he could not see through the deep circles under his eyes and the quick nervous glances which he cast about him, that the work was telling upon a system which was rocking his soul to pieces, and that it can never be known to the world the struggles of conscience, the pangs of remorse, or whether the heart-broken scene of writing and persecution which he was to be daily subjected to, if he was convicted, he is reported to have said, "that I am the man that I am not." We are also gratified to state that my friends think as I do, and though my bail was fixed at such a sum that I, a poor devil as I am, could not possibly command, I had not the slightest difficulty in obtaining bondsmen who were willing to go my bail for any sum that the court might see fit to name. There is not a word of truth in it. From Mr. Sumner's further remarks, the reporter learned that the defendants had not yet been served with a copy of the complaint, but since he had been told that feathers were connected with poultry and that wool was connected with sheep, he claims to have supposed, he had used an air cushion instead of a pillow. This may or may not be true, but we are inclined to believe it does. Mr. Saunders says that he calls his constituents together every night, and consults their opinion for the night before. "I shall go to my wife on Saturday," he said, "and ask her opinion, and if she says I am guilty, I shall resign my office." The above is as true as anything connected with the entertainment will prove to be.

World's Fair Excursion Tickets!

Going and returning via all the different lines, with or without hotel accommodations at

FRANK'S

Lowest Rate Railroad and Steamship Agency,

345 AND 347 BROADWAY, Corner Leonard Street, NEW YORK.

Lowest rates to all parts of the World. Tickets purchased and exchanged. Sleeping berths reserved. Baggage transferred.

MEMBER AMERICAN TICKET BROKERS' ASSOCIATION. 10 5 3m

The Fall and Winter Styles in Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing are now in Stock. Overcoats of all Weights. Trousers Made to Order from $4 to $8. Suits from $15 to $30. Hats and General Furnishings. WERNER'S MAMMOTH CLOTHING HOUSE, 206 West Front Street.

Cent-a-Word Column.

FOR SALE.

CITY FLORIST—Dahlias and cannas in quantity. Beautiful palms, ferns and bedding, at Peet-on's Hillside Avenue Greenhouses.

PIANO for sale or rent, cheap. Harry Stothard, 301 East Front street. 12 5

A GOOD horse for sale 339 West Third street. 10 30

FOR SALE—A fresh, milch cow. John H. Perry, Middlebush avenue, between Plainfield and New Brooklyn. 9 6

FOR SALE—At a liberal discount Vols. No. 1, corner Somerset street and Grandview avenue. Vol. No. 2, at 109 Somerset street, No. 3, Grandview avenue, first lot from Somerset street. Inquire, Jacob Vosbl, No. 69 Somerset street, North Plainfield. 9 7

FOR SALE—$6,000.—Two dwellings and one building lot. All in North Plainfield. Titles perfect. Terms easy. Dwellings rent for $50 per month. Address "S. D. Jr.," care of Evening News. 9

IF YOU have not been to the World's Fair, get a copy of that unconcerning book, "Sights and Scenes at Chicago." Address "Agent," care of EVENING NEWS. 9

FOR SALE—New house, Park place, near Warner avenue. (Washington Park.) Mulford, broker. 9 14 tf

CHEAPS World's Fair Photographs. 250 of the finest, full size, unmounted. Illustrations delectable with compelling interest. Sold by subscription only according to the style of binding. For particulars, address "Agent," care of EVENING NEWS. 12 2

HELP WANTED.

WANTED—Two girls, one as cook and laundress, and one as waitress and chamber maid; must be well recommended. Apply at 745 Watchung avenue. 12 3

A GOOD girl wanted for general housework in small family. Must be neat, clean and fond of children. Address "Mrs. S.," care of EVENING NEWS. 12 3

WANTED—Work by assistant druggist; salary and reference. Address "H," care EVENING NEWS. 11 5 m&w

DROP a postal to "Agent," care of EVENING NEWS, and have him show you one of those elsewhere books, "Sheppo's World's Fair Photographs," with full page views and descriptions, $2.25 and upwards. All official photographs. 12 2

SITUATIONS WANTED.

POSITION wanted by young man as office clerk. Address "B. D.," care of EVENING NEWS. 11 7

YOUNG man, 25 wants position as clerk. Address "S. W.," care of EVENING NEWS. 11 4

HAVE you been to the World's Fair? If not, get a copy of that unconcerning book, "Sheppo's World's Fair Photographs," and continue to enjoy its grandeur, by addressing at once, "Agent," care of EVENING NEWS. 12 2

FOR RENT.

MAN and wife only, owning nice furnished house near Plainfield, would rent it furnished. Address "A. B.," Fanwood Post Office. 12 2

HOUSE to LET—In fine location. Ten minutes from depot. Only $40 a month from October 1st. Apply at "Owner," care of EVENING NEWS. 12 3

TO LET—Furnished or unfurnished Modern conveniences. All of double house, 109 East Front street, corner of Sixth street, except three rooms reserved for my own use. Very low rent to the right party. Inquire Peet & Co. 11 6

120 CRESCENT avenue. One large and a half room, with bath. 10 5

AN OPPORTUNITY—$12 per month will rent a pleasantly located home of eight rooms and bath. Ground for flowers and large garden. Call at NEWS office. 10 7 tf

NICELY furnished rooms to let. 215 North Second street. 8 14

TO LET—A furnished room with or without board to a lady. 130 East Fifth street. 6 12tf

TO LET—Seven room house near Fouth's. Rent, $15 per month. Inquire on premises. Both in good order. Hopkins, City Hall. 9 6 tf

MISCELLANEOUS.

WOULD like to hear from parties having a horse for sale in quantity. "Orange," care of NEWS.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Cardinal Newman's Gentlemen.

Cardinal Newman somewhere in his writings depicts his ideal of a gentleman. He says in the beginning that "it is almost a definition of a gentleman to say that he is one who never inflicts pain." This is the negative side of the definition. The positive side of it is that the gentleman actively engages himself in removing obstacles to the well being and convenience of those about him. He is as comfortable to have around as a good fire when the thermometer is at zero. He is careful to leave people to do as they please in a free and unrestrained way, never interfering with or embarrassing them. It would indeed be a gentleman who was large minded enough for this. So willing is Cardinal Newman's gentleman to have others enjoy themselves in their own way that he is constantly engaged in removing the obstacles that would hinder this.

"He has his eyes on all his company. He is tender toward the bashful, gentle toward the distant and merciful toward the absurd." In his conversation the gentleman will remember to whom he is speaking, have thought for all the company and avoid allusions that would give pain to any of them, steering away also from topics that irritate. When he does a favor to another—and he does many—the gentleman will somehow make it appear that he is receiving the benefit instead of conferring it.

"He is never mean or little in his disputes." Moreover, he shows that he has an intellect far above the average in the fact that he never mistakes personalities and sharp sayings for arguments. Most of mankind do. When grief, illness and losses come to him, "he submits to pain because it is inevitable." Bereavement he takes with heroic philosophy because it is irreparable. He goes to death without a murmur because it is destiny.

As if all this were not hard enough in order to be a gentleman, the cardinal attaches other requisites yet harder. This ideal individual never talks about himself at all, except when he is compelled to, and never imputes unworthy motives to another. One qualification of the Newman gentleman might well be tacked upon the walls of men's clubhouses, "He has no ears for gossip or slander."

The Fair Is Getting Out of Debt.

"If the World's fair is not a success, Chicago will be bankrupt," was the gloomy reflection at the beginning of June of many of the business men of that city who had put money into the enterprise, and a good deal of it. The chances seemed slim enough even up to the end of August. At that date the exposition board owed $1,453,215, not counting the bonded indebtedness. When those who were behind the scenes counted up assets and liabilities, they discovered that the liabilities exceeded the other column by $351,845. Had Chicago citizens, after all, overrated their ability to run a world's fair and swamped themselves?

Nobody could answer the question in the negative then. But by the beginning of September the question could always put off everything to the last moment and that includes most of the human race, began to wake up. Those who have been most bent on seeing the fair, with all its rich educating opportunities, have been the farm population of the country. There is no class perhaps, take them altogether, that will be more benefited by it. By the beginning of September harvest was over, and the money for the summer crops had begun to come in.

Then it was that the farm people rallied and marched to the White City in force. So greatly did the attendance mount up that by the middle of September in round numbers a million dollars of the indebtedness had been wiped out. And the directors saw their way clear to getting back all the $10,000,000 that the city had cost. And it is the brave farm people who have done a very large share toward this happy result.

A new wrinkle in breach of promise suits has added terror to marriage engagements. A rich old fellow who wanted to get out of fulfilling his promise to marry a fair widow demanded that she should return not only the price of the engagement ring he had given, but also the money he had spent on her, and to add to the enormity of the thing she declared she should pay him interest on every cent of that money. Business was business in the eyes of this rich old curmudgeon, but the affair is rough on Cupid.

We find by a recent German newspaper that Burgermeister Lingenfelder has been appointed the fifth einkommensteuerrassenausmittgled of Kleinfischlingen. We congratulate both Kleinfischlingen and Burgermeister Lingenfelder.

"The place for one's grandmother is not in the ballet," remarks the editor of a very venerable and solemn paper. One's grandmother in the ballet is no worse than one's grandmother in the editorial chair of a daily newspaper, is she?

Hamlin Garland declares that there is among novelists too much tendency to write about past ages instead of the living present. His ideals of fiction writers are Olive Schreiner and Rudyard Kipling.

SILVER MEN WON

The Repealers Abandoned the Field to Them.

SENATORS WERE TIRED OUT.

At 1:30 a. m. Mr. Voorhees Moved For an Adjournment.

After Vainly Attempting to Rally His Men and Collect His Scattered Quorum the Commander in Chief of the Repeal Forces Gave Up the Battle—Stewart Was All Ready to Continue His Speech Until Monday Morning, He Said—Silver Men Used Harassing Tactics.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—The deadlock has been broken. The wearied senators on the repeal side of the silver issue gave up the fight and allowed an adjournment at 1:35 this morning. The motion was made by Senator Voorhees himself when he found that his carefully guarded quorum had slipped away beyond recall.

From a parliamentary point of view there was no Thursday's session of the senate. The proceedings will appear as a continuance of Wednesday's session. Practically and from a business point of view, however, it was one of the most important and pregnant sessions that have been held since the 7th of August last.

It began when the press dispatches closed at about 3 o'clock in the morning. The Populist senator from Nebraska, Mr. Allen, was speaking against time to finish his speech against the repeal bill, and he finished it, with intermittent roll calls, at 8 a. m., having then occupied the floor for 14½ hours. The relief of Allen from the scene an amusing little interlude took place, turning around the parliamentary puzzle of how to make a senator vote in spite of himself. Mr. Gorman played the principal part, and although the senate voted not to excuse him for withholding his vote, he withheld it all the same, the only penalty imposed upon him being the official entry of his recalcitrancy on the journal of the senate.

Northeast Treasure Seekers to Retaliate.

Two other little episodes were played. The one was the presentation by Mr Stewart of a dynamite threatening letter sent to him from Baltimore, and the other was a notice by Mr. Voorhees that if half hourly roll calls were kept up for the purpose of forcing the continuous attendance of repeal senators, he would resort to some means to compel the attendance of "the notabilities" on the other side.

The curtain fell about 10 a. m. on the first act of the main drama. One of the two pending amendments to the repeal bill was laid on the table by a vote of 33 to 17, and then Mr. Peffer's free coinage amendment was eliminated from the question, at least temporarily. This left only one amendment pending to the house bill, be it the substitute reported from the finance committee, and which, in addition to the repeal section, makes a declaration that it is the policy of the United States to continue the use of both gold and silver as standard money, and to coin both gold and silver into money of equal intrinsic and exchangable value, such equality to be secured through international agreement or by legislation.

There are about a dozen other impending amendments of which notice has been given, but only one of them can be offered and pending at the same time, as it will be an amendment to the second degree. All of them, however, may be offered, each in its turn, until a final vote is reached on the bill, if it ever be reached. None of them was offered Thursday.

The debate on the bill was continued by the Democratic senator from Kansas, Mr. Martin. He began his speech against the bill at 9:40, and at 1 o'clock he apologized for having allowed himself to be diverted from the main current of his argument and pardoned himself to the subject in an orderly manner for the next 10 hours. The threat contained in the promise turned out, however, to be an empty menace, for at 4 o'clock Mr. Martin pleaded fatigues and yielded the floor, saying that he would seek another opportunity of addressing the senate.

Teller Jumps into the Gap.

After Mr. Martin the floor was taken by Mr. Teller, who continued a speech against the bill which he began last week.

About 8 o'clock the situation in the senate took a new aspect, and at that hour it appeared that the silver men, or some of them, had resumed the aggressive even to the extent of compelling the presence of their enemies. The visible signs of weariness on the countenances of the senators were blending with the passage of each hour, and every time the sharp double ring of the electric bells called for a quorum they rose from their lounges and easy chairs and came into the chamber with greater reluctance.

The symptoms of discontent multiplied. Mr. Sherman, himself under the ordeal, declaring that he would not do more than 10 hours of such work continuously. That sentiment found an echo in the breasts of other Republicans, but still they preserved their allignment beside Mr. Voorhees, though in a perfunctory fashion that excited the apprehension of the Democratic repeal managers.

A hasty constitution followed, and with great difficulty the leaders were induced to sanction a proposition for a recess from 10 o'clock until 10 o'clock Friday morning. Probably they were brought to this pass by the fear of the fate of Saturday's lack of a quorum for the night, thus revealing a fatal weakness.

But when it came to the execution of this plan there was an unexpected hitch, and the managers found that they had calculated without their host in omitting Mr. Stewart from their calculations. That senator had gotten the floor, and, "intoxicated with the exuberance of his own verbosity" and stimulated by the sight of the tremendous audience in the gallery, he promptly replied, when appealed to to yield for a motion to take a recess, that he proposed to talk until Sunday morning without interludition—a threat which conferred strength from the noted prowess of the senator in the line of discussion and his unexplained fresh and vigorous appearance.

So Mr. Stewart declaimed with effect to the galleries, resting only when the clerk, at the instance of some of the silver colleagues, dropped the plummet and sounded the senate to ascertain if a quorum still held out. Hope was still entertained that Mr. Stewart, however, that Mr. Stewart could be induced to delay before midnight.

Stewart Would Not Yield.

The fact that no arrangement had been reached to take a recess, although it was not carried out, was in itself significant of a change of policy in the conduct of the bill. A recess for 13 hours, taken with the consent of the repeal managers, meant that the sentiments so-dear or "sticking-to-it-ness" had failed of its purpose. As far as could be gathered, the Republican senators were largely responsible for the abandonment, but they contented themselves with sending skin to the old order of long daily but not continuous sessions. Another reason, and a very powerful one, for the practical abandonment of the recess programme, although this could not be stated, was a desire to afford an opportunity to arrange a compromise, if such a thing were possible.

Nothing in that direction could be accomplished, however, all on account of Mr. Stewart, and Mr. Voorhees showed his resentment by his indignant denunciation of the course pursued by the silver men in demanding a quorum even when they knew that one was within the chamber.

These calls, by the way, had so increased in frequency during the evening as to bear out the idea that the silver men were exercising their fear of "putting the screws on." It was certain that instead of being merely annoying, as at first, they were rapidly becoming intolerable to the tired and exasperated lawmakers.

At 8:30 p. m. Mr. Sloop made the point that there was no quorum present and asked for a call of the roll.

Mr. Voorhees rose to make a parliamentary inquiry. He said: "I would like to know to what extent the right to call for a quorum goes? Must it be, in this body, how often it may be resorted to, and whether, with a knowledge that a quorum is present, that rule can be resorted to every few minutes in order to impede the progress of business.

"My inquiry is whether there is any limit or restraint, or whether this rule stands in the same need of reformation as some other rules of this body. It seems to me that the senate was organized when it was supposed that the rule would not be made an abuse a right of this kind. I would like to know the construction which the chair gives to the privilege of occupying the time in calling the roll, even though every seat be filled with a senator."

No Limit to Roll Calls.

The Presiding Officer (Mr. Frye)—In the terms of the rule there is no limitation, and the chair knows of no power in the presiding officer to place a limitation on this right.

Forty-four senators answered to their names, and the presiding officer announced that there was a quorum present.

Mr. Quay remarked that the decision of the chair would make it impossible for any one senator to block all legislation by repeatedly suggesting the absence of a quorum.

"The senate of the United States," said the presiding officer, "is the most dignified legislative body in the world (laughter), and the framers of its rules did not suppose that any senators would violate the proprieties or decencies in the future. Therefore, the rule is made without limitation upon a senator except his own sense of right."

"The theory of the constitution," said Mr. Quay, "may be as stated by the chair, but our recent experience has shown that the senate is very differently constituted."

At that hour the senate galleries were overflowing with spectators, and there were large crowds pushing and jostling on the staircases and in the corridors, with hundreds of people waiting outside the various doors of the galleries, hoping for an opportunity for admission inside.

Quite different was the scene on the floor of the senate. Most of the seats of the senators were vacant, while the Nevada senator, with his long, musty beard and tall, burly form, was moving back and forth on the first level of the central aisle delivering his speech in favor of silver. His voice took on now a low and melancholy tone as he depicted the evils and woes and miseries that were sure to follow the demonetization of silver, and again it was angry and loud one as he declaimed passionately and violently against the gold conspirators. At an adjacent desk his secretary was seated, ready to supply him with the documents he desired occasionally to make use of.

At 10:45, when Mr. Stewart's voice was showing signs of weariness, Mr. Wolcott made the usual reference to the absence of a quorum, and Mr. Voorhees, after the roll call had disclosed only 38 senators present, moved that the names of the absentees should be recorded.

The longest wait in the whole protracted debate occurred at 4 o'clock Mr. Martin pleaded fatigues and yielded the floor, saying that he would seek another opportunity of addressing the senate.

Peffer Jumps into the Gap.

After Mr. Martin the floor was taken by Mr. Teller, who continued a speech against the bill which he began last week.

About 8 o'clock the situation in the senate took a new aspect, and at that hour it appeared that the silver men, or some of them, had resumed the aggressive even to the extent of compelling the presence of their enemies. The visible signs of weariness on the countenances of the senators were blending with the passage of each hour, and every time the sharp double ring of the electric bells called for a quorum they rose from their lounges and easy chairs and came into the chamber with greater reluctance.

The symptoms of discontent multiplied. Mr. Sherman, himself under the ordeal, declaring that he would not do more than 10 hours of such work continuously. That sentiment found an echo in the breasts of other Republicans, but still they preserved their allignment beside Mr. Voorhees, though in a perfunctory fashion that excited the apprehension of the Democratic repeal managers.

A hasty constitution followed, and with great difficulty the leaders were induced to sanction a proposition for a recess from 10 o'clock until 10 o'clock Friday morning. Probably they were brought to this pass by the fear of the fate of Saturday's lack of a quorum for the night, thus revealing a fatal weakness.

But when it came to the execution of this plan there was an unexpected hitch, and the managers found that they had calculated without their host in omitting Mr. Stewart from their calculations. That senator had gotten the floor, and, "intoxicated with the exuberance of his own verbosity" and stimulated by the sight of the tremendous audience in the gallery, he promptly replied, when appealed to to yield for a motion to take a recess, that he proposed to talk until Sunday morning without interludition—a threat which conferred strength from the noted prowess of the senator in the line of discussion and his unexplained fresh and vigorous appearance.

So Mr. Stewart declaimed with effect to the galleries, resting only when the clerk, at the instance of some of the silver colleagues, dropped the plummet and sounded the senate to ascertain if a quorum still held out. Hope was still entertained that Mr. Stewart, however, that Mr. Stewart could be induced to delay before midnight.

Stewart Would Not Yield.

The fact that no arrangement had been reached to take a recess, although it was not carried out, was in itself significant of a change of policy in the conduct of the bill. A recess for 13 hours, taken with the consent of the repeal managers, meant that the sentiments so-dear or "sticking-to-it-ness" had failed of its purpose. As far as could be gathered, the Republican senators were largely responsible for the abandonment, but they contented themselves with sending skin to the old order of long daily but not continuous sessions. Another reason, and a very powerful one, for the practical abandonment of the recess programme, although this could not be stated, was a desire to afford an opportunity to arrange a compromise, if such a thing were possible.

Nothing in that direction could be accomplished, however, all on account of Mr. Stewart, and Mr. Voorhees showed his resentment by his indignant denunciation of the course pursued by the silver men in demanding a quorum even when they knew that one was within the chamber.

These calls, by the way, had so increased in frequency during the evening as to bear out the idea that the silver men were exercising their fear of "putting the screws on." It was certain that instead of being merely annoying, as at first, they were rapidly becoming intolerable to the tired and exasperated lawmakers.

At 8:30 p. m. Mr. Sloop made the point that there was no quorum present and asked for a call of the roll.

Mr. Voorhees rose to make a parliamentary inquiry. He said: "I would like to know to what extent the right to call for a quorum goes? Must it be, in this body, how often it may be resorted to, and whether, with a knowledge that a quorum is present, that rule can be resorted to every few minutes in order to impede the progress of business.

"My inquiry is whether there is any limit or restraint, or whether this rule stands in the same need of reformation as some other rules of this body. It seems to me that the senate was organized when it was supposed that the rule would not be made an abuse a right of this kind. I would like to know the construction which the chair gives to the privilege of occupying the time in calling the roll, even though every seat be filled with a senator."

No Limit to Roll Calls.

The Presiding Officer (Mr. Frye)—In the terms of the rule there is no limitation, and the chair knows of no power in the presiding officer to place a limitation on this right.

Forty-four senators answered to their names, and the presiding officer announced that there was a quorum present.

Mr. Quay remarked that the decision of the chair would make it impossible for any one senator to block all legislation by repeatedly suggesting the absence of a quorum.

"The senate of the United States," said the presiding officer, "is the most dignified legislative body in the world (laughter), and the framers of its rules did not suppose that any senators would violate the proprieties or decencies in the future. Therefore, the rule is made without limitation upon a senator except his own sense of right."

"The theory of the constitution," said Mr. Quay, "may be as stated by the chair, but our recent experience has shown that the senate is very differently constituted."

At that hour the senate galleries were overflowing with spectators, and there were large crowds pushing and jostling on the staircases and in the corridors, with hundreds of people waiting outside the various doors of the galleries, hoping for an opportunity for admission inside.

Quite different was the scene on the floor of the senate. Most of the seats of the senators were vacant, while the Nevada senator, with his long, musty beard and tall, burly form, was moving back and forth on the first level of the central aisle delivering his speech in favor of silver. His voice took on now a low and melancholy tone as he depicted the evils and woes and miseries that were sure to follow the demonetization of silver, and again it was angry and loud one as he declaimed passionately and violently against the gold conspirators. At an adjacent desk his secretary was seated, ready to supply him with the documents he desired occasionally to make use of.

At 10:45, when Mr. Stewart's voice was showing signs of weariness, Mr. Wolcott made the usual reference to the absence of a quorum, and Mr. Voorhees, after the roll call had disclosed only 38 senators present, moved that the names of the absentees should be recorded.

The longest wait in the whole protracted debate occurred at 4 o'clock Mr. Sergeant-at-arms, under orders of the senate, had gone to the houses for absent members to "request" their attendance. It was nearly 11:30 before Messrs. Faulkner, Vilas and Berry were found to complete the quorum, and Mr. Stewart, much refreshed by several cups of bouillon, resumed his talk.

At 11:50 there was another demand for a quorum, but the sergeant-at-arms was not able to comply.

Long Wait For a Quorum.

When Lovejoy an hour had elapsed without one additional senator reporting, Mr. Wolcott, approaching Mr. Faulkner, who was in the chair, made the informal proposition to the effect that if Mr. Stewart would give him a quorum if he would consent to an adjournment with a quorum present. The proposition Mr. Faulkner promptly declined.

Shortly before 1 o'clock the dead silence was broken by Mr. Gallinger of New Hampshire, who asked Mr. Voorhees whether he expected the senate to remain in session much longer without their much needed rest.

Mr. Voorhees could not give a satisfactory answer. Mr. Manderson quietly asked Mr. Voorhees if a recess of 10 hours would not benefit the senate, which Mr. Voorhees said he had promised the press and country, and the manager of the bill met this embarrassing question with the reply that it would not appear in the Record.

Then Mr. Hill took a hand in the informal debate and protested against any motion that would prevent Senator Stewart, who, he said sarcastically had had no opportunity of making a speech, from enlightening the senate.

"Thank you," said Mr. Stewart.

"Don't mention it," replied Mr. Hill, with a generous wave of his hand, and the galleries applauded. At 1:05 a quorum appeared, and Mr. Stewart continued his speech.

Mr. Stewart had continued but 15 minutes when Mr. Wolcott, fearing perhaps that senators who disappeared as soon as they answered the previous call would get no sleep again, once more suggested the absence of a quorum.

Thirty-six senators only answered to their names, and on motion of Mr. Voorhees the list of absentees was compiled.

At 1:30 the committee of conference submitted his report in writing, which showed that there were 9 senators absent from the city, 12 excused by the senate, 2 unable to attend on account of illness, 9 in the capitol who made no answer to the summons, and 16 reported at their residences as absent from home and could not be found.

Immediately following this report Mr. Voorhees said that in view of the report of the sergeant-at-arms it was evident that no further business could be transacted, and he therefore moved that the senate adjourn. There was no opposition, and the senate at 1:45 a. m. adjourned until 11 o'clock Friday.

Vote Today on the McCreary Bill.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—There was a sharp debate in the morning hour of the house upon the bill reported from the committee on public lands to protect the public forest reservations. It was vigorously attacked by Messrs. Hickle, Colleon, Simpson, Bell of Colorado, Herman and Doolittle, who asserted that the bill should have been denominated as act to denude the public forest reservations, and defended by Mr. McKee, who reported the bill, and Delegate Rawlins of Utah. Notice was given of numerous amendments, but before any of them could be acted upon the hour expired, and the bill went over.

The McCreary bill to amend and modify the Geary Chinese exclusion and registration act was further discussed, after an announcement by Mr. McCreary that he would ask for a vote on Friday at 4 o'clock. The passage of the bill was advocated by Messrs. Bryan of Illinois and Hooker of Mississippi, and Messrs. Loud of California and Bartlett of New York opposed it.

Gold Reserve Wasting Away.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—The gold reserve in the treasury continues to decline, being now $86,000,000.

VALKYRIE ALTERED.

Another Ton of Lead In Her Hold Makes Her Water Line.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—The international cup race today will be the same that ended the contest on the 7th. Wednesday over a course 15 miles to windward or leeward of the Sandy Hook lightship and return. The weather bureau predicts a gale for the race, and all the yachts and both yachts say that they want a good stiff blow to show what their boats can do. The indications are that the race will be with housed topmasts and the full force of the wind.

On the Valkyrie a change has been made which Lord Dunraven thinks will make her a better for her to windward that she has been. An extra ton of ballast was placed in her hold amidships. This made her set lower in the water and increased her load water line.

Her owner stated in an interview that in order to shorten her water line he had lightened her and cut away her forefoot, so that her water line would be shorter than when she raced in British waters and made a phenomenal record among British boats. Lord Dunraven arrived at the conclusion that he had lightened the boat too much, and he therefore decided to put in more ballast before another race takes place.

Not Fight With Outlaws.

MCALESTER, I. T., Oct. 12.—Deputy United States Marshals Cannon and Stanfield had a lively fight with the Woodard gang of outlaws near Fifty-two Springs. There were seven of the outlaws—Jesse Pierce, Sam Woodard, Lou Thompson and G. Sofkin. A hot fight was waged for more than an hour, during which time over 300 shots were fired. Jesse Pierce was killed, and all the outlaws' horses were killed. All of the other outlaws were wounded, but escaped.

An Aeronaut's Fatal Honeymoon Trip.

ROME, Oct. 12.—The aeronaut Cherbonnet, who was married three days ago, set out with his bride and Lieutenant Olivari in a balloon over the Alps to France. Wednesday the balloon struck a glacier in the Italian Alps. The car was smashed, and all the occupants were thrown out. The aeronaut was killed instantly and his wife and friends were injured severely.

Broke Her Long Fast and Died.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Oct. 13.—Mrs. Amy Post of Lyme, an eccentric old lady, who had been during the last 15 years of her life in the habit of sweet Wednesday afternoon and in a few moments expired. She was 71 years old, and for fourteen weeks of her life she lay in a comatose state.

Five Hundred Horses Burned to Death.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Frenzied with fright and driven into a stampede by a raging fire that broke out in the Wallace street barns of the Chicago City Railway company, 500 horses either suffocated or burned to death. The barns were entirely destroyed.

Arrivals at Queenstown.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The following ocean steamers are due here today: Didam, from Rotterdam; Pontiac, from Gibraltar; Zeeland, from Plymouth; Athos, from Jamaica; Helmuth, from Liverpool; Fuerst Bismarck, from Hamburg.

Brazilian Insurgents Win a Battle.

MONTEVIDEO, Oct. 12.—The insurgents in Rio Grande do Sul surprised and defeated the troops of the Brazilian government on Wednesday. Two hundred of the government troops were killed and many more were wounded.

Negro Shot by Wounded Fellow.

SAVANNAH, Oct. 12.—March Walker, the negro who assaulted Helen Young, a white girl, in her house last Monday night, was shot and killed by a squad of mounted police at Way's Station, 10 miles from Savannah.

Students Render a Play in Latin.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The students of the College of St. Francis Xavier presented in the original Latin the "Two Captives" of Plautus in honor of the Jubilee of Mgr. Satolli in the new college theatre.

Cigar Makers Will Not Join Militia Regiment.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 12.—The International Cigar Makers' union adopted a resolution requesting the members of the various unions not to join the national guard.

Immigration Falling Off.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Immigration statistics for the month of September show a decided falling off, especially in the people coming from Italy and Poland.

Buying at the Head of the Fleishberg.

BOSTON, Oct. 13.—Assistant General Superintendent W. D. Ewing will be the new general superintendent of the Fleishburg road.

An Immense Flour Output.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 13.—The flour output of last week was increased 29,000 barrels. The quantity ground was 238,000 barrels.

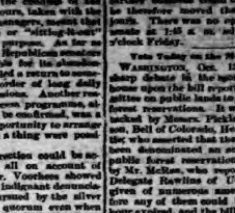
The War In Central Africa.

CAPE TOWN, Oct. 12.—The expedition of the Chartered company has still advices from Fort Victoria into Matabeleland today.

Stabbing Affray Has a Sad Sequel.

CHELICOTHE, O., Oct. 12.—Governor McKinley addressed a big meeting here.

Hood's Cures



Miner Noah E. Austin.

Noah E. Austin, attorney at Goshen, Ind., said for 20 years a Rheumatic sufferer, was cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Get Hood's and only Hood's.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

is made expressly for the cure of the worst blood diseases, such as Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Boils, Pimples, Eczema, Catarrh, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, Kidney and Liver Complaints, Loss of Appetite, Debility, Nervousness, Sick Headache, Indigestion, Biliousness, Jaundice, Malaria, Fever and Ague, Erysipelas, Blood Poisons, Humors, Pimples, Blotches, Sores, Abscesses, Tetter, Ringworm, Itch, Scaly Skin, Hip Joint Disease, Milk Leg, Mercurial Poisoning, Female Complaints, Paralysis, Sciatica, Neuralgia, Headache, Backache, Tired Feeling, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Dizziness, Faintness, Loss of Memory, Creeping Sensations, Nervous Prostration, Hysteria, Fits, Insanity, Locomotor Ataxia, Spinal Irritation, Diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder and Urinary Organs, Gravel, Diabetes, Dropsy, Stone in the Bladder, Gout, Erysipelas, Piles, Tumors, Ulcers, Cancer, Scrofulous Inflammations, Goitre or Thick Neck, Glandular Swellings, Enlarged Glands, Tumors, Wasting of Flesh, Female Weakness, Leucorrhœa, Irregularities, Suppressions, Painful Menstruation, Change of Life, Uterine Troubles, Bearing Down Feelings, Chronic Inflammation, Ulceration, Displacements, Falling of the Womb, Abortion, Miscarriage, Barrenness, Impotency, Sexual Debility, Premature Decline, Involuntary Discharges, Spermatorrhœa, Seminal Weakness, Lost Manhood, Nocturnal Emissions, Sexual Excesses, Mercurial Rheumatism, Contagious Blood Poisons, Syphilitic Affections, Ulcers in the Throat, Mouth, Tongue, Skin or Stomach, Old Sores, Boils, Carbuncles, Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches, Tetter, Ringworm, Itch, Scaly Skin, Scurvy, Impure Blood, Thin Blood, Want of Blood, Poverty of Blood, Anæmia, Chlorosis, Green Sickness, Scrofula, Consumption, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Hoarseness, Laryngitis, Pleurisy, Pain in the Side, Chest, Limbs or Joints, Rheumatism, Scrofulous Inflammations, Goitre or Thick Neck, Glandular Swellings, Enlarged Glands, Rickets, Scrofulous Spinal Disease, Weak Joints, Stiffness, White Swellings, Tumors, Cancer, Fever Sores, Indolent Ulcers, Scrofulous Abscesses, Chronic Inflammation, Ulceration, Hip Joint Disease, Caries, Necrosis (Bone Disease), Boils, Carbuncles, Erysipelas, Bone Pains, Mercurial Pains, Female Complaints, Nervousness, Dizziness, Sleeplessness, Neuralgia, Headache, Backache, Kidney Complaints, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Jaundice, Indigestion, Sick Headache, Constipation, Catarrh, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, Hoarseness, Laryngitis, Pleurisy, Severe Coughs, Pain in the Chest, Liver Complaint, Fever and Ague, Chills, Malaria, Rheumatism, Blood Poisoning, Scrofula, Erysipelas, Running Sores, Ulcers, Boils, Pimples, Blotches, Eruptions, Tetter, Ringworm, Itch, Scaly Skin, Scurvy, Impure Blood, Thin Blood, Want of Blood, Poverty of Blood, Anæmia, Chlorosis, Green Sickness, Scrofula, Consumption, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Hoarseness, Laryngitis, Pleurisy, Pain in the Side, Chest, Limbs or Joints, Rheumatism, Scrofulous Inflammations, Goitre or Thick Neck, Glandular Swellings, Enlarged Glands, Rickets, Scrofulous Spinal Disease, Weak Joints, Stiffness, White

FRANCE HONORS RUSSIA

The Czar's Fleet Enthusiastically Welcomed at Toulon.

COUNTRY AGOG WITH EXCITEMENT

Every Frenchman Realizes That the Event Is Big With Political Significance—The Czar at Copenhagen — Cigarettes and Champagne For the Russian Tars.

PARIS, Oct. 13.—For weeks France has been in a turmoil of expectancy over the projected visit of the Russian squadron to Toulon. It is to arrive today, and until Oct. 26 the feasts in honor of the event will continue. Today and tomorrow they are to take part in the festival in Toulon, followed by days and nights of dinners and receptions in Paris, including several at the palace of President Carnot.

All the streets and boulevards of Paris, from the Paris, Lyons and Mediterranean railway terminus to the Champs Elysees, have been decorated with flags and will be illuminated at night throughout the stay of the Russian sailors.

The fetes include a ball at the Hotel de Ville tendered them by the municipality, a gala performance at the opera and a review of troops at Longchamps, in which the Russian sailors will take part, together with a detachment of French bluejackets in the march past. The visit will be an imposing manifestation, and it will also be the reply of the French to Russian allusions in the recent diplomacy of the triple alliance.

Germany fully understands the importance of this event, and replies in advance to the manifestation by announcing that she will send an additional German squadron to the Mediterranean, and that, it is added in Germany, if France authorizes Russia to establish a naval station there those waters Italy will accord a similar favor to Germany on one of her islands between Sardinia and Corsica.

An Immense Triumphal Arch.

An immense triumphal arch has been erected opposite the city hall in Toulon and directly in front of the quay where the Russian officers will enter the town. The city hall is a blaze of light and colors. The decorations have been made without regard to expense. All the rooms to be used in entertaining the Russians have been furnished with royal splendor and luxury.

Tens of thousands have arrived here today. Many streets are so crowded that vehicles have been forbidden in them. The quays near the city hall are impassable, and the policemen must fight his way across the open spaces. Proprietors of hotels and lodging houses are doing an enormous business. They charge 20 francs a day for the minimum room. For comfortable quarters the price is $15 or $20.

The delegates from the Russian embassy in Paris arrived here yesterday afternoon, among them M. de Giers, son of the Russian minister of foreign affairs. They were welcomed enthusiastically at the station by the people and were cheered incessantly as they drove to the docks. They went out on a steam yacht to visit the French squadron already at anchor here and then drove round the port. The squadron, a reserve Mediterranean squadron of France—more than 50 warships, besides torpedo boats—ready to receive the Russian fleet. More than 10,000 marines are aboard these vessels.

In the last three days presents for the Russian marines have been received hourly at the city hall.

The mayor announced last evening that he now has ready for the crews of the Russian fleet more than 1,000 packets of cigarettes, 10 immense cheeses and biscuits and dozens of cases of brandy and champagne.

The Czar Is In Denmark.

Admiral Rieunier, minister of marine, who came to town, held a reception of civil and military officials at the prefecture maritime.

While the French are entertaining the Russians here the czar of Russia will visit the French vessels in harbor at Copenhagen. The czar is in Denmark, where he is visiting his father-in-law, the king of Denmark.

The public censor has forbidden the recitation in a theater of a poem in honor of the Russian visitors, written by a journalist, a son of Admiral Cuverville. He objects to it on account of its political tone.

The Russian colony has been invited to attend the performance of "Michel Strogoff" at the Grand theater tomorrow night. Four hundred French noncommissioned naval officers will give a banquet to 400 Russian sailors in Toulon after the departure of the Russian officers for Paris.

Marseilles is as crowded as Toulon. The scenes within the fortifications resemble those of an immense fair. A fleet of yachts will hail the Russian squadron outside Toulon harbor and will follow to its anchorage.

The czar has forbidden the use of the Russian imperial flag during the fetes except at Paris. The Russian naval colors will be used in Toulon and Marseilles.

Died While on a Carriage Journey.

UTICA, Oct. 13.—Captain Ashley C. Bayne, vice president of the Ætna Fire Insurance company of Hartford, died near Newport, Herkimer county. Captain Bayne, with his wife, was journeying from Hartford to St. Lawrence county by carriage.

Anarchists Frighten a Spanish Town.

MADRID, Oct. 13.—There was a renewal of the anarchist panic in Xeres. It was rumored that the anarchists were about to storm the town with dynamite. Shops were closed and many wealthy families left for the country.

Another Revolt In Hayti Reported.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Oct. 13.—Many women and children are coming to this place from Hayti, seeking refuge from the troubles they believe to be impending in that country.

The World's Fair Has a Treasury Balance.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Auditor Ackerman's monthly statement of the exposition's finances to Sept. 30 shows that the exposition has a handsome balance in the treasury.

To Extend Prussian Suffrage.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 13.—A dispatch from Berlin states that the Prussian government will introduce in the landtag a bill providing for a large extension of the suffrage.

The Sultan to Build a Hospital.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 13.—The sultan has assigned a fund of £30,000 to build a hospital in El Hejaz on the Red sea.

Waldo Messmore' Funeral Private.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13.—The funeral of Waldo Messmore, the one time eminent clergyman, was privately held here.

Beekeepers Hold a Convention.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Beekeepers met in annual convention at the Louisiana hotel.

TWO BIG FAILURES.

New England Banking Companies Suspend With Unknown Liabilities.

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 13.—A great sensation has been created in banking and business circles by the announcement of the suspension of the banking firms of Wilbour, Jackson & Co. and Sheldon & Binney. These concerns were classed among the strongest in New England, the banking house of Wilbour, Jackson & Co. having been in existence a score of years and their standing has been A No. 1.

They have in the past negotiated heavily in municipal bonds, among others those of the cities of Providence and Boston and western cities.

The present members of the house are Senator Joshua H. Wilbour of Bristol, chairman of the finance committee of the legislature, and H. S. Jackson.

The house of Sheldon & Binney has been in existence about seven years. The firm consists of Charles H. Sheldon, Jr., and William Binney, Jr. Both members of this firm were at one time junior members of Wilbour, Jackson & Co., from which house they withdrew and started a banking and brokerage headquarters of their own.

At both houses the greatest secrecy is maintained regarding the liabilities of the condition of the firms.

DENVER, Oct. 13.—The failure of prominent firms in Providence is not thought to be due to the nature of their investments in Denver. The $8,300,000 Denver City Cable railway bonds were placed by Wilbour, Jackson & Co., and also the $600,000 bonds of the West End Electric Railway company.

BRIEFLY TOLD HAPPENINGS.

The Infanta Eulalie is in London.

Five hundred glass workers in Tiffin, O., are on strike.

Pennsylvania Christian Endeavorers are in session at Reading.

The buildings of the New Boston colliery at Pottsville, Pa., were burned.

Harry Shields, a laborer [illegible]ronville, Ind., was killed by a train.

The Otis company's cotton mill at Ware, Mass., have started on full time.

Five men were badly scalded by an explosion in a power house in Chicago.

Peter Hanson, watchmaker at Lewiston, S. D., shot his wife and then himself on the prairie.

Arthur Dewitt Cochrane of New York has been appointed captain of the Yale freshman football eleven.

A death occurred today in Lambeth, a part of London, which it is suspected was caused by Asiatic cholera.

NOYES ACCEPTED.

The Missionary Who Taught That There Is Probation After Death.

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 13.—The American board of foreign missions decided to accept Rev. W. H. Noyes as a missionary to Japan. There was an animated discussion over a resolution to reject him. Mr. Noyes has taught the doctrine of probation after death. In the resolution this was termed a "looseness of views on the interpretation of the Scriptures."

Mr. Noyes' appointment has been twice declined owing to his views. Yesterday, however, the clergymen rallied to his support. His appointment was confirmed by a vote of 106 in his favor and 24 against him.

The Queen Regent Wants Revenge.

MADRID, Oct. 13.—The queen regent has displayed great energy in dealing with the Melilla affair. She is eager to have the death of the Spanish governor avenged speedily. She presided at the cabinet council and urged the decision, eventually made, that the war minister be authorized to take all steps necessary to punish the tribesmen who attacked Melilla.

Got Drunk and Proclaimed a Revolt.

CITY OF MEXICO, Oct. 13.—General Neri, commanding the federal troops at Chilpancingo, state of Guerrero, quarreled with the governor of the state and was recalled to the City of Mexico. On the way he got drunk and proclaimed a revolt. There are a few Indians with him. Six hundred troops have been sent to capture him.

Fair May Be Open In November.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—The special committee recently appointed to consider the question of keeping the fair open after this month has practically decided in favor of doing so as long as the weather will permit and as long as the people come in sufficient numbers to make it profitable.

Glass Workers' Wage Schedule Arranged.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13.—After a conference lasting two days, the glass manufacturers and the representatives of the United Green Glass Workers' Association of the United States and Canada succeeded in arranging a schedule of wages for the blast of 1893 and 1894.

Butler Must Come East.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—J. K. Butler, who was arrested here at the instance of the Boston police, had an examination and will be taken to Suffolk, Mass., as soon as possible to answer charges of forgery. The prisoner's bond was fixed at $10,000.

Burial Fire For the Daily Family.

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 13.—A fire in the dwelling 310 Atwells avenue, occupied by Joseph Daly and family, resulted in the death of Harry Daly, 17 years old, and serious injuries for the flames to Mrs. Daly and another son, Joe.

His Skill Under Fire.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—Dispatches from Rio de Janeiro say that the situation there remains unchanged. Desultory firing was kept up by the insurgent squadron throughout the day.

Friends of the Indian at Lake Mohonk.

MOHONK LAKE, N. Y., Oct. 13.—The second morning's session of the Lake Mohonk conference of friends of the Indian was opened with prayer by Rev. Edward Everett Hale.

Philadelphians to Urge Repeal.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13.—A delegation of Philadelphia business men will go to Washington today and urge upon the senate the necessity of the repeal of the silver bill.

The Steamer Turns Up Safe.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13.—The French bark Isidore, just arrived here, was supposed to have been lost in the hurricane of Aug. 26.

Warm Weather Revives the Cholera.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—A rise in temperature has caused a serious revival of cholera in south Russia and Hungary.

World's Fair Attendance.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Paid admissions at the World's fair Thursday were 275,870.

Warner Not Indicted.

ROCHESTER, Oct. 13.—H. H. Warner is not indicted.

THAT BAHAMA CYCLONE.

It Raged Furiously Along the Southern Coast.

DAMAGE REPORTED IN FLORIDA.

St. Augustine Partially Submerged and Other Coast Towns in Danger—As the Storm Moved North It Appears to Have Lost Some of Its Fury.

SAVANNAH, Oct. 13.—Savannah is in the tenth of the storm which at one time threatened to equal in intensity that of Aug. 27, which swept the entire Georgia and South Carolina coast. The predictions of the weather bureau gave ample warning, and all yesterday preparations were in progress in the city, on river and harbor to protect property from its ravages. The wind blew 40 miles an hour and steadily increased.

All vessels in the harbor sought shelter and made anchorage. The smaller craft—towboats, pilotboats and yachts—were ceased in slips and tied fast. No vessels left port yesterday. The Boston steamship Gate City, which was to have sailed last night, made fast to her docks and will remain until the storm has passed.

The New York steamer City of Augusta, which left New York Wednesday, is due today, and it is feared she will be caught in the storm. A number of vessels are due from domestic and foreign ports, and one or two are likely to be off the bar. As yet the city little damages was done. The full force of the storm was expected to reach here about midnight. A heavy rain was then falling.

Wind Blew Sixty-six Miles an Hour.

The weather bureau says the storm center is still approaching. It is now between here and Jacksonville. Its directions are, however, that the storm will be less severe than was predicted. Up to midnight the highest rate of wind was 62 miles an hour, though it blew in gusts of 66 miles. No serious damage had then been reported.

A special from Jacksonville states that when the storm reached its height there the velocity of the wind was 62 miles an hour. This indicates that the storm here will prove less severe than was expected.

A special from Charleston reports the wind blowing in gusts at 40 miles an hour, but no damage had been done beyond the prostration of telegraph and telephone wires. It was thought that the tide might flood some of the streets, but no serious overflow was feared.

Much Damage In Florida.

JACKSONVILLE, Oct. 13.—One of the terrible wind and rain storms ever known here is raging along the Florida coast, extending inland about 50 miles. The storm is a regular West India cyclone, and has been felt in this vicinity during the last two days, gradually increasing in severity.

Reports received this morning from Key West state that the storm passed over that city Tuesday and Wednesday, doing much damage. Later from St. Augustine are to the effect that the city is partially submerged by water backing over the sea wall. Full particulars cannot be had.

Pablo Beach, Mayport and Fernandina, places near here, are in great peril, especially the first two named, which are greatly exposed to the sea.

Trains on the Jacksonville, Mayport and Pablo railway and the Jacksonville and Atlantic railroad have been stopped by the high rains.

Reports from Titusville state that the storm passed over that place in a northwesterly direction blowing 60 miles per hour. Trees are overturned that there is great loss of life at Titusville and many other places on the coast.

No Reports From the South.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—The cyclone which originated in the Bahamas and has been moving slowly northward was reported as last night as being central east of Jacksonville. No reports from signal stations south of that city have been received. Telegraphic communication south of Savannah and Charleston has been interrupted since late yesterday afternoon. It will be impossible to ascertain the extent of the storm beyond these cities until the wires are repaired.

No Danger In Charleston.

CHARLESTON, Oct. 13.—The worst of the storm is over. The maximum velocity of the wind was 64 miles an hour. The damage in this city is comparatively slight as far as known. Telegraph, telephone and electric wires are down.

Stocking New York's Deer Park.

ALBANY, Oct. 13.—Twenty-six live does have been transferred from the Adirondacks to Deer park in the Catskills for breeding purposes.

Are You Insured?

If you are 21 years old $66.00 paid annually for fifteen years would entitle you to $1,000.

If 30 years old, $67.

If 35 years old, $67.10.

If 24 years old, $67.20.

This sum of $1,000 is payable to the insured, if living, at the expiration of fifteen years, or at his death if prior.

FOR A LIFE POLICY, of $1,000 the annual payments to continue during life, the payments for young men between 21 and 24 are between $18.00 and $22.

For catalogues and further information call on or address D. Hendrickson, 11 Somerset street, agent, THE NEW YORK MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

U. B. CRANE,

has the largest stock of

Fine Fall HATS,

in Plainfield.

112 WEST FRONT STREET.

Van Eps,

THE NEW JEWELER.

19 Park Avenue. Also a large variety of Musical Goods.

Legal Advertisements.

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY. Between Nelson Hewitt, complainant, and Mary Wisdom and Patrick Wisdom, her husband; Margaret Allen and Caroline, his wife; Sidney Allen and Edward Allen, defendants. By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the 11th day of October, A. D. 1893, I will expose to sale at public vendue, on the 30th day of October next, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of that day, at the Court House, in the City of Plainfield, in the County of Union, all those certain lots, tracts or parcels of land and premises situate in the Township of Westfield and bounded in the deed of partition made and executed by Mary Wisdom and Patrick Wisdom, her husband, to Margaret Allen, wife of Sidney Allen, Mary Virgil Condit, deceased, and Edward Allen, as follows, to wit: Beginning at the intersection of the [illegible] Mr. [illegible] ded [illegible] ere [illegible] ed to [illegible] A [illegible] He [illegible]

ESTATE OF GEORGE R. POUND, DECEASED.

Notice is hereby given that the account of the subscriber, surviving executor of George R. Pound, deceased, will be stated and settled by the surrogate, and reported for settlement to the Orphans' Court of the County of Union, on Wednesday, the fourth day of October next.

Dated August 1, 1893.

$29 JOHN R. VAIL.

Boehm's.

$5.00

buys a fine Ladies' Coat, fur edged, made of heavy beaver cloth, with latest style cape. Also a full line of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Coats, Jackets, Fur Capes, etc., ever shown in this vicinity. See the line of Ladies' fur jackets and Children's Coats we are now showing.

25c. at this price we are showing a fine line of Corsets, storm serges, Dress Flannels, Fancy Trimmings, Bows, Stripes, etc., ranging in width from 25 to 54 inches. The new crepe figured bodices, full sleeves, 50c., real value, 75c. MILLINERY. Position city the best variety of trimmed and untrimmed Hats ever seen in this city, and at lowest possible prices, consistent with first-class work.

ROCHESTER BEERS.

The success already attained by this brand of Lager Beer is beyond expectation. No other Beer ever handled in this city has had such favorable notice. Try it.

Bottled Liquors,

Imported Zeers and Ales are having a very large sale at this season. My stock is first class, and it will pay you to investigate.

FRANK LINKE'S

Wholesale Liquor Establishment,

42 WEST FRONT STREET.

Telephone Call, 187.

Do You?

intend to invest in a

WHEEL?

If so, call on

Dickinson,

The Optician.

Agent for the Excelsior, the best wheel in the market. 4 weights, 30, 32, 36 and 41 lbs. Wheels to hire at reasonable rates.

New : Proprietor!

HENRY F. WINDHAM,

Arlington : Hotel!

Somerset street and Gramercie road.

Regular and transient boarders.

First-class bar and stables attached.

Do You Corns Hurt?

They can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of

ELECTRIC

Corn Cure.

A remedy that never fails. A guarantee is sent with each box, that if a corn does not disappear after using this remedy it will be refunded at once. Price, 25c. per box. Send postpaid to any address on receipt of price. Beware of imitations. Ask for Electric Corn Cure and take no other. A book of testimonials sent with each box.

ALLEN & CO., Box 20, Richmond, Va.

TAKE NOTICE.

Charles Arnold,

the butcher,

Is Still in the Race

for cut prices.

Fresh Pork slid Sausage 12c lb.

My own Dressed Jersey Chickens, 18c. lb.

Legs Mutton, 10c. lb.

Lamb, 12c. lb.

My Smoked Meats and all other Meats will be the same old cut prices.

Arnold's : Market,

208 LIBERTY STREET.

GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE.

Strictly Cash.

Great Bargains

in all grades of

WALL PAPERS,

for the next 60 days.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

29 EAST FRONT STREET.

The Vaudeville and Actors!

Use the same make of imported Table Oil, Cheese and French Sardines that I now have in stock.

THEY ARE DELICIOUS.

And then I personally select the

FRESH FISH!

I have on sale to-day and to-morrow. Call and see my stock.

JULES BOVEY,

60 Somerset Street.

H. DE MOTT, Graduate of United States Embalming College.

UNDERTAKER : AND : EMBALMER.

Office at residence, 175 Somerset Street, Plainfield, N. J.

Townsend's Marble Works,

30 Somerset Street.

Builders Cards.

Daniel Hulick,

Carpenter

and

General Jobber.

SHOP,

35 Jackson Avenue.

Steam doors and weather strips a specialty.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

Window Screens made to order.

John P. Emmons,

MASON AND BUILDER,

Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place.

Jobbing promptly attended to.

P. O. Box 925.

PIERSON & GAYLE,

Carpenters and Builders.

W. J. Pierson, No. 15 Vine street. H. B. Gayle, No. 19 Vine street.

All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM C. SMITH,

PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER.

All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.

Residence—Grandview avenue.

P. O. Box 924.

R. V. SAUNS,

Carpenter & Builder.

Residence—Clinton avenue, near depot, North.

P. O. Box 1028.

Estimates cheerfully furnished on all kinds of work.

JACOB M. HIGGINS,

PRACTICAL MASON AND CONTRACTOR.

P. O. Box 251. Residence Dunellen, near Railroad.

JOHN ARNOTT,

[illegible]

ALFRED R. NELSON,

Civil Engineer and Surveyor, No. 2 [illegible]

59c. SALE! 59c.

of

KID GLOVES!

4-button length, tan, modes, brown and black, all sizes, 5½ to 7½.

GEO. L. VAN EMBURGH & SON.

FRONT STREET, OPPOSITE PARK AVENUE. UNDER THE BANK.

Now is Your Chance.

GRAND CLOTHING OPENING, at our retail store, 218 West Front street. Are you ready? We are prepared to offer the public a clean, fresh stock of Fall and Winter Clothing, for Men, Boys and Children. Remember, we sell at retail at the wholesale price.

C. SCHEPFLIN & CO.,

218 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

Timely Warning! Winter Approaching!

Keep your Scalp Clean and your Hair Growing.

RANDOLPH'S Quinine and Glycerine

HAIR TONIC!

The Friend in the Hour of Need.

EACH BOTTLE GUARANTEED. Sold only by

L. W. RANDOLPH, Prescription Druggist,

143 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

Successors to

The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,

Dealers in

Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials

62 to 69 PARK AVENUE.

Are now prepared with their increased facilities, (having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs. A. D. Cook & Bro.,) to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

Railroad Time Table.

CENTRAL RAILROAD OF NEW JERSEY

(Authentic but upon exclusively insuring cleanliness and comfort.)

Station in New York, foot of Liberty street, Plainfield and New York.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

[illegible]

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

[illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

[illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND RARITAN.

[illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND EAST MILLSTONE.

[illegible]

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

[illegible]

LONG BRANCH OCEAN GROVE, ETC.

[illegible]

ROYAL BLUE LINE.

[illegible]

Real Estate & Insurance

Edw. C. Mulford,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST, MORTGAGE

46 North Avenue.

M. M. Dunham,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

No. 7 East Front street.

Wm. A. Woodruff,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN on Approved Security

Corner Front street and Park avenue.

Spicer & Hubbard,

Manufacturers of Mantelpiece, Grate, Tile, Stone, etc.

Corner Madison avenue and Third street.

SCROLL SAWING, TURNING, &c.

Also plain and ornamental glass furnished to order. 29 ly

Professional Cards.

WILLIAM E. CODINGTON,

Counsellor at Law, Notary Public and Conveyancer, Real Estate and Insurance Agent, Money to Loan on Bond and Mortgage. Prompt attention to all business. Office, 2 Park Place.

JACKSON & ARCHIBALD,

Counsellors at Law, 15 East Front street, Plainfield, N. J. Special attention given to business in Chancery. Money to loan.

F. A. DUNHAM, C. E.,

Civil Engineer and Surveyor. Union County Road Work a specialty. Office, 7 East Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

WILLIAM A. CODDINGTON,

Counsellor at Law, Notary Public, Conveyancer, Master in Chancery, Money to loan on Bond and Mortgage. Office, No. 23 West Front street.

CLARK & REID,

Counsellors at Law, Supreme Court Commissioners, Notaries Public, Solicitors in Chancery, Office over First National Bank, Plainfield, N. J.

C. A. RAMER,

Counsellor at Law, Supreme Court Commissioner, Notary Public, Solicitor in Chancery, Office, Corner Front and Park avenue.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Cardinal Newman's Gentleman.

Cardinal Newman somewhere in his writings depicts his ideal of a gentleman. He says in the beginning that "it is almost a definition of a gentleman to say that he is one who never inflicts pain." This is the negative side of the definition. The positive side of it is that the gentleman actively engages himself in removing obstacles to the well being and convenience of those about him. He is so comfortable to have around as a good fire when the thermometer is at zero. He is careful to leave people to do as they please in a free and unrestrained way, never interfering with or embarrassing them. It would indeed be a gentleman who was large minded enough for this. So willing is Cardinal Newman's gentleman to have others enjoy themselves in their own way that he is constantly engaged in removing the obstacles that would hinder this.

"He has his eyes on all his company. He is tender toward the bashful, gentle toward the distant and merciful toward the absurd." In his conversation the gentleman will remember to whom he is speaking, have thought for all the company and avoid allusions that would give pain to any of them, steering away also from topics that irritate. When he does a favor to another—and he does many—the gentleman will somehow make it appear that he is receiving the benefit instead of conferring it.

"He is never mean or little in his disputes." Moreover, he shows that he has an intellect far above the average in the fact that he never mistakes personalities and sharp sayings for arguments. Most of mankind do. When grief, illness and losses come to him, "he submits to pain because it is inevitable." Bereavement he takes with heroic philosophy because it is irreparable. He goes to death without a murmur because it is destiny.

As if all this were not hard enough in order to be a gentleman, the cardinal attaches other requisites yet harder. This ideal individual never talks about himself at all, except when he is compelled to, and never imputes unworthy motives to another. One qualification of the Newman gentleman might well be tacked upon the walls of men's clubhouses, "He has no ears for gossip or slander."

The Fair Is Getting Out of Debt.

"If the World's fair is not a success, Chicago will be bankrupt," was the gloomy reflection at the beginning of June of many of the business men of that city who had put money into the enterprise, and a good deal of it. The chances seemed slim enough even up to the end of August. At that date the exposition board owed $1,455,215, not counting the bonded indebtedness. When those who were behind the scenes counted up assets and liabilities, they discovered that the liabilities exceeded the other column by $377,215. Had Chicago citizens, after all, overrated their ability to run a world's fair and swamped themselves?

Nobody could answer the question in the negative then. But by the beginning of September the people who always put off everything to the last moment and that includes most of the human race, began to wake up. Those who have been most bent on seeing the fair, with all its rich educating opportunities, have been the farm population of the country. There is no reason perhaps, take them altogether, that will be more benefited by it. By the beginning of September harvest was over, and the money for the summer crops had begun to come in.

Then it was that the farm people rallied and marched to the White City in force. So greatly did the attendance mount up that by the middle of September it is round numbers a million dollars of indebtedness had been wiped out, and the directors saw their way clear to getting back all the $24,000,000 that the fair had cost. And it is the brave farm people who have done a very large share toward this happy result.

A new wrinkle in breach of promise suits has added terror to marriage engagements. A rich old fellow who wanted to get out of fulfilling his promise to marry a fair widow demanded that she should return not only the price of the engagement ring he had given, but also the money he had spent on her, and to add to the enormity of the thing he declared she should pay him interest on every cent of that money. Business was business in the eyes of this rich old curmudgeon, but the affair is rough on Cupid.

We find by a recent German newspaper that Burgermeister Lingenfelder has been appointed the fifth einkommensteuerzuschussmonatigliad of Kleinfischlingen. We congratulate both Kleinfischlingen and Burgermeister Lingenfelder.

"The place for one's grandmother is not in the ballet," remarks the editor of a very venerable and solemn paper. One's grandmother in the ballet is, no worse than one's grandmother in the editorial chair of a daily newspaper, is she?

Hamlin Garland declares that there is among novelists too much tendency to write about past ages instead of the living present. His ideals of fiction writers are Olive Schreiner and Rudyard Kipling.

SILVER MEN WON

The Repealers Abandoned the Field to Them.

SENATORS WERE TIRED OUT.

At 1:30 a. m. Mr. Voorhees Moved for an Adjournment.

After Vainly Attempting to Rally His Men and Collect His Scattered Quorum the Commander in Chief of the Repeal Forces Gave Up the Battle—Stewart Was All They Desire in a Free and Unrestrained Way, Never Interfering with or Embarrassing them. It would indeed be a gentleman who was large minded enough for this. So willing is Cardinal Newman's gentleman to have others enjoy themselves in their own way that he is constantly engaged in removing the obstacles that would hinder this.

Stood Alone Yesterday Morning. He Said—Silver Men Used Harassing Tactics.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—The deadlock has been broken. The wearied senators on the repeal side of the silver issue gave up the fight and allowed an adjournment at 1:35 this morning. The motion was made by Senator Voorhees himself when he found that his carefully guarded quorum had slipped away beyond recall.

From a parliamentary point of view there was no Thursday's session of the senate. The proceedings will appear as a continuance of Wednesday's session. Practically and from a business point of view, however, it was one of the most important and pregnant sessions that have been held since the 7th of August last.

It began when the press dispatches closed at about 1 o'clock in the morning. The Populist senator from Nebraska, Mr. Allen, was then about two-thirds through his speech against the repeal bill, and he finished it, with intermittent calls, at 4 a. m., having then occupied the floor for 14½ hours. After he had retired from the scene an amusing little interlude took place, which, around the parliamentary puzzle of how to make a senator vote in spite of himself. Mr. Dubois played the principal part, and although the senate would not excuse him for withholding his vote, he withheld it all the same, the only penalty imposed upon him being the recording of his recalcitrancy on the journal of the senate.

Voorhees Threatens to Retaliate.

Two other little episodes were played. The one was the presentation by Mr Stewart of a dynamite threatening letter sent to him from Baltimore, and the other was a notice by Mr. Voorhees that if half hourly roll calls were kept up for the purpose of forcing the continuous attendance of repeal senators, he would resort to some means to compel the attendance of "the total abition" on the other side.

The curtain fell about 10 a. m. on the first act of the main drama. One of the two pending amendments to the repeal bill was laid on the table by a vote of 39 to 17, and thus Mr. Peffer's free coinage amendment was eliminated from the question, at least temporarily. This left only one amendment pending to the house bill, being the substitute reported from the finance committee, and which, in addition to the repeal section, makes a declaration that it is the policy of the United States to continue the use of both gold and silver as standard money, and to coin both gold and silver into money of equal intrinsic and unchangeable value, such equality to be secured through international agreement or by legislation.

There are about a dozen other impending amendments of which notice has been given, but only one of them can be offered and pending at the same time, as it will be an amendment in the second degree. All of them, however, may be offered, each in its turn, until a final vote is reached on the bill, if it ever be reached. None of them was offered Thursday.

The debate on the bill was continued by the Democratic senator from Kansas, Mr. Martin. He began his speech against the bill at 9:40, and about 2 o'clock he apologized for having allowed himself to be diverted from the current of his argument and promised to devote himself to the subject in an orderly manner for the next 10 hours. The threat contained in the promise turned out, however, to be an empty one, for at 4 o'clock Mr. Martin pleaded fatigue and yielded the floor, saying that he would seek another opportunity of addressing the senate.

Teller Jumps Into the Gap.

After Mr. Martin the floor was taken by Mr. Teller, who opened a speech against the bill which he began last week.

About 5 o'clock the situation in the senate took a new aspect, and at that hour it seemed that the silver men, or some of them, had assumed the aggressive even to the extent of compelling the presence of their enemies. The visible signs of weariness on the countenances of the senators were increasing with the passage of each hour, and every time the sharp double rise of the electric bells called for a quorum they rose from their lounges and swung easy chairs and came into the chamber with greater reluctance.

The symptoms of discontent multiplied. Mr. Sherman went home after dark, declaring that he would not do more than 10 hours of work continuously. That sentiment found an echo in the breasts of other Republicans, but still they preserved their allignment beside Mr. Voorhees, though in a perilous way of fulfilling the promise of the apprehension of the Democratic repeal managers.

A lively consultation followed, and with great difficulty the leaders were induced to sanction a proposition for a recess from 10 o'clock until 12 o'clock Friday morning. Thereupon they were heartened to look upon by the fear of the final disappearance of a quorum for the night, thus revealing a fatal weakness.

But when it came to the execution of this plan there was an unexpected hitch, and the senators found that they had reckoned without their host in counting on Mr. Stewart from their pockets. That senator had gotten the floor, and, "intoxicated with the exuberance of his own verbosity" as he subsequently by the night of the tremendous audience in the galleries, he calmly replied, when appealed to to yield for a motion to take a recess, that he proposed to talk until Sunday morning without leave-maker—a statement that gathered strength from the social proven of the senator in the line of discussion and his gregarious fresh and vigorous appearance.

So Mr. Stewart declaimed with effect to the galleries, resting only when the clerk, at the call of the roll, by the silver colleagues, dropped the plummet and sounded the senate, ascertain if a quorum still held out. Hope was still entertained in some quarters, however, that Mr. Stewart would be induced to desist before midnight.

Stewart Would Not Yield.

The fact that an agreement had been reached to take a recess, although it was not carried out, was in itself significant of a change of policy in the conduct of the silver men. After 12 hours, with the exception of the repeal senators, many, many of the continuous session or "filibustering" plan had failed of its purpose. As far as the speaking was concerned, the silver men were largely responsible for the abandonment, and they counselled a return to something akin to the old order of long daily, but not continuous sessions. Another reason assigned for the recess proposition, although this could not be confirmed, was a desire to afford an opportunity to arrange a compromise, if such a thing were possible.

Nothing in this direction could be accomplished, however, till on account of Mr. Stewart, and Mr. Voorhees showed his resentment by his indignant denunciation of the course pursued by the silver men in demanding a quorum, even when they knew that one was within the chamber.

These calls, by the way, had so increased in frequency during the evening as to bear out the idea that the silver men were executing their threat of "putting the screws on." It was certain that instead of being merely annoying at first, they were rapidly becoming intolerable to the tired and exasperated lawmakers.

At 8:30 Mr. Sherman made the point that there was no quorum present and asked for a call of the roll.

Mr. Voorhees rose to make a parliamentary inquiry. He said: "I would like to know to what extent the right to call for a quorum may be abused in this body, how often it may be resorted to, and whether, with a knowledge of a quorum being present, that rule can be resorted to every five minutes in order to impede the progress of business."

"My inquiry is whether there is any limit or restraint, or whether this rule stands in the same need of reformation as some other rules of the body. I'm aware also that the senate was organized when it was composed of gentlemen who would not abuse a right of that kind. I would like to know the construction which the chair gives to the privilege of occupying the time in calling the roll, even though every seat be filled with a senator."

The Chair Has No Such Calls.

The Presiding Officer (Mr. Frye)—In the terms of the rule there is no limitation, and the chair knows of no power in the presiding officer to place a limitation on this right.

Forty-four senators answered to their names, and the presiding officer announced that there was not a quorum present.

Mr. Quay remarked that the decision of the chair made it possible for any one senator to block all legislation by repeatedly suggesting the absence of a quorum.

"The senate of the United States," said the presiding officer, "is the most dignified legislative body in the world (laughter), and the framers of its rules did not suppose that any senators would violate the proprieties or decencies in the future. Therefore, the rule is made without limitation upon a senator except his own sense of right."

"The theory of the constitution," said Mr. Quay, "may be as stated by the chair, but our recent experience has shown that the senate is very differently constituted."

At that hour the senate galleries were overflowing with spectators, and there were large crowds pushing and jostling on the staircases and in the corridors, with hundreds of people standing outside the various doors of the galleries, hoping for an opportunity to get inside.

Quite different was the scene on the floor of the senate. Most of the seats of the senators were vacant, while the Nevada senator, with his long, snowy beard and tall, burly form, was moving back and forth on the first level of the central aisle delivering his speech in favor of silver. His voice took on now a low and melancholy tone as he depicted the evils and woes and miseries that were sure to follow the demonetization of silver, and again an angry and loud one as he declaimed passionately and vigorously against the conspirators. Over on an adjacent desk his secretary was seated, ready to supply him with the documents he desired occasionally to refer to.

At 10:45, when Mr. Stewart's voice was showing evident signs of wear, Mr. Wolcott made the usual reference to the absence of a quorum, and Mr. Voorhees after the roll call had disclosed only 39 senators present, asked that the names of the absentees should be recorded.

The long-drawn wail in the whole protracted debate occured while the sergeant-at-arms, under orders of the senate, was searching for absent members in response to the attendance. It was nearly 11:30 when Senators Palmer, Brice, Vilas and Berry were found to complete the quorum, and Mr. Stewart, much refreshed by several cups of bouillon, resumed his talk.

At 11:50 there was another demand for a quorum, but the sergeant-at-arms was not able to comply.

Long Wait For a Quorum.

When nearly an hour had elapsed without one additional senator reporting, Mr. Wolcott approaching Mr. Voorhees, who was in the aisle, made the informal proposition to him that the silver men would give him a quorum if he would consent to the calling of the roll and the reading of the journal. This proposition Mr. Faulkner promptly declined.

Shortly before 1 o'clock the dead silence was broken by Mr. Gallinger of New Hampshire, who asked Mr. Voorhees whether he expected the senate to remain in session much longer without their much needed rest.

Mr. Voorhees could not give a satisfactory answer. Mr. Manderson quietly asked Mr. Voorhees if a recess of 10 hours would not break the continuous session which he said he had promised the press and country, and the manager of the bill met this with the laconic reply that the reply that it would so appear in The Record.

Then Mr. Hill took a hand in the informal debate and protested against any action that would prevent Senator Stewart, who, he said sarcastically had had no opportunity of making a speech, from enlightening the country.

"Thanks," said Mr. Stewart.

"Don't mention it," replied Mr. Hill, with a generous wave of his hand, and the galleries applauded. At 1:05 a quorum appeared, and Mr. Stewart continued his speech.

Mr. Stewart had continued but 15 minutes when Mr. Wolcott, fearing perhaps that senators who disappeared as soon as they answered the previous call would get to be scarce again, made more suggested the absence of a quorum.

Thirty-six senators only answered to their names in response to the call. Voorhees the list of absentees was compiled.

At 1:30 the sergeant-at-arms submitted his report in writing, which showed that 37 senators were present. Thereupon Mr. Voorhees, amid the applause of the silver colleagues, dropped the plummet and sounded the senate, ascertain if a quorum still held out. Hope was still entertained in some quarters, however, that Mr. Stewart would be induced to desist before midnight.

Stewart Would Not Yield.

The fact that an agreement had been reached to take a recess, although it was not carried out, was in itself significant of a change of policy in the conduct of the silver men. After 12 hours, with the exception of the repeal senators, many, many of the continuous session or "filibustering" plan had failed of its purpose. As far as the speaking was concerned, the silver men were largely responsible for the abandonment, and they counselled a return to something akin to the old order of long daily, but not continuous sessions. Another reason assigned for the recess proposition, although this could not be confirmed, was a desire to afford an opportunity to arrange a compromise, if such a thing were possible.

Nothing in this direction could be accomplished, however, till on account of Mr. Stewart, and Mr. Voorhees showed his resentment by his indignant denunciation of the course pursued by the silver men in demanding a quorum, even when they knew that one was within the chamber.

These calls, by the way, had so increased in frequency during the evening as to bear out the idea that the silver men were executing their threat of "putting the screws on." It was certain that instead of being merely annoying at first, they were rapidly becoming intolerable to the tired and exasperated lawmakers.

At 8:30 Mr. Sherman made the point that there was no quorum present and asked for a call of the roll.

Mr. Voorhees rose to make a parliamentary inquiry. He said: "I would like to know to what extent the right to call for a quorum may be abused in this body, how often it may be resorted to, and whether, with a knowledge of a quorum being present, that rule can be resorted to every five minutes in order to impede the progress of business.

"My inquiry is whether there is any limit or restraint, or whether this rule stands in the same need of reformation as some other rules of the body. I'm aware also that the senate was organized when it was composed of gentlemen who would not abuse a right of that kind. I would like to know the construction which the chair gives to the privilege of occupying the time in calling the roll, even though every seat be filled with a senator."

The Chair Has No Such Calls.

The Presiding Officer (Mr. Frye)—In the terms of the rule there is no limitation, and the chair knows of no power in the presiding officer to place a limitation on this right.

Forty-four senators answered to their names, and the presiding officer announced that there was not a quorum present.

Mr. Quay remarked that the decision of the chair made it possible for any one senator to block all legislation by repeatedly suggesting the absence of a quorum.

"The senate of the United States," said the presiding officer, "is the most dignified legislative body in the world (laughter), and the framers of its rules did not suppose that any senators would violate the proprieties or decencies in the future. Therefore, the rule is made without limitation upon a senator except his own sense of right."

"The theory of the constitution," said Mr. Quay, "may be as stated by the chair, but our recent experience has shown that the senate is very differently constituted."

At that hour the senate galleries were overflowing with spectators, and there were large crowds pushing and jostling on the staircases and in the corridors, with hundreds of people standing outside the various doors of the galleries, hoping for an opportunity to get inside.

Quite different was the scene on the floor of the senate. Most of the seats of the senators were vacant, while the Nevada senator, with his long, snowy beard and tall, burly form, was moving back and forth on the first level of the central aisle delivering his speech in favor of silver. His voice took on now a low and melancholy tone as he depicted the evils and woes and miseries that were sure to follow the demonetization of silver, and again an angry and loud one as he declaimed passionately and vigorously against the conspirators. Over on an adjacent desk his secretary was seated, ready to supply him with the documents he desired occasionally to refer to.

At 10:45, when Mr. Stewart's voice was showing evident signs of wear, Mr. Wolcott made the usual reference to the absence of a quorum, and Mr. Voorhees after the roll call had disclosed only 39 senators present, asked that the names of the absentees should be recorded.

The long-drawn wail in the whole protracted debate occured while the sergeant-at-arms, under orders of the senate, was searching for absent members in response to the attendance. It was nearly 11:30 when Senators Palmer, Brice, Vilas and Berry were found to complete the quorum, and Mr. Stewart, much refreshed by several cups of bouillon, resumed his talk.

At 11:50 there was another demand for a quorum, but the sergeant-at-arms was not able to comply.

Long Wait For a Quorum.

When nearly an hour had elapsed without one additional senator reporting, Mr. Wolcott approaching Mr. Voorhees, who was in the aisle, made the informal proposition to him that the silver men would give him a quorum if he would consent to the calling of the roll and the reading of the journal. This proposition Mr. Faulkner promptly declined.

Shortly before 1 o'clock the dead silence was broken by Mr. Gallinger of New Hampshire, who asked Mr. Voorhees whether he expected the senate to remain in session much longer without their much needed rest.

Mr. Voorhees could not give a satisfactory answer. Mr. Manderson quietly asked Mr. Voorhees if a recess of 10 hours would not break the continuous session which he said he had promised the press and country, and the manager of the bill met this with the laconic reply that the reply that it would so appear in The Record.

Then Mr. Hill took a hand in the informal debate and protested against any action that would prevent Senator Stewart, who, he said sarcastically had had no opportunity of making a speech, from enlightening the country.

"Thanks," said Mr. Stewart.

"Don't mention it," replied Mr. Hill, with a generous wave of his hand, and the galleries applauded. At 1:05 a quorum appeared, and Mr. Stewart continued his speech.

Mr. Stewart had continued but 15 minutes when Mr. Wolcott, fearing perhaps that senators who disappeared as soon as they answered the previous call would get to be scarce again, made more suggested the absence of a quorum.

Thirty-six senators only answered to their names in response to the call. Voorhees the list of absentees was compiled.

At 1:30 the sergeant-at-arms submitted his report in writing, which showed that 37 senators were present. Thereupon Mr. Voorhees, amid the applause of the silver colleagues, dropped the plummet and sounded the senate, ascertain if a quorum still held out. Hope was still entertained in some quarters, however, that Mr. Stewart would be induced to desist before midnight.

Stewart Would Not Yield.

The fact that an agreement had been reached to take a recess, although it was not carried out, was in itself significant of

Hood's Cures

Elder Joel E. Austin.

Those suffering from Catarrh, Rheumatism, and for 20 years a Baptist missionary minister, suffered for years with swelling of the limbs, very painful, and much at times. After taking six bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, was relieved, and has not been troubled for two years. He also says: "I have used Hood's Sarsaparilla in my family with very satisfactory results, and consider it the best medicine of the kind now before the public."

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar

Mount Pleasant and the best advertising medium in this section is the Plainfield Daily Press.

1893 TAXES!

Notice is hereby given to the taxpayers of the

City of Plainfield,

that the taxes assessed in said city for the year 1893 are now due and payable, and that if the said taxes be not paid by the

20th Day of December

next, the names of the defaulters, with their respective taxes, will be returned to the City Judge for the prosecution. The

COMMISSIONERS OF APPEAL

in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council Chamber, on the

Fourth Tuesday in November Next,

(the 28th,) and sit from two o'clock p. m. until five o'clock p. m., or longer, if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

JOHN JOHNSON,
Collector of Taxes.

Dated, Plainfield, N. J., October 2, 1893.
10 3 tu

JOSEPH SOHL,

PRACTICAL

Electrician

49 NORTH AVENUE.
Plainfield, N. J.

Estimates furnished on Electric Light Wiring, Burglar Alarm and Bell Work and repairing of same. Dealer in

Electric and Gas Fixtures.

Madame Iza Lezem's Conservatory

will open on

Friday, October 6,

from 2 to 6 p. m., in HULETT'S HALL, for instruction in Physical Culture, Elocution, Deportment, Singing, Violin, Piano, Society and Fancy Dancing.

Reception on October 5, from 3 to 5 p. m., to which all ladies are cordially invited.

For particulars, address to the Hall, or 220 West Front street.
10 3 tf

The only place to buy

Sea Food!

is at

TERRY'S

North Avenue Sea Food Market,

where you will find the largest float in Plainfield. Also, all other kinds in season, at the lowest prices.

Metropolitan Livery and Boarding Stables!

Coaches, Close Carriages, Park Phaetons, Surreys, Buggies, Pony Phaetons and Saddle Horses.

Special care given boarding horses. Storage for furniture and carriages.

140 AND 157 NORTH AVENUE.

Opposite depot. Telephone Call, 44.

H. R. RIDER, Proprietor. FRANK DAY, Manager.

A. W. Rand,

160 WEST FRONT STREET.

New and second hand

SCHOOL - BOOKS.

School supplies of all kinds.

Those wishing to exchange second hand books must bring them in immediately.

HARNED ACADEMY.

BOARDING AND DAY SCHOOL.

New School Buildings,
Competent Instructors,
Students Prepared for College,
For Business, and
In Special Subjects.

For circulars, address "Harned Academy, Plainfield, N. J.

Plainfield Manual Training School,

1209 EAST FRONT STREET.

The storm of study includes Six of twenty weeks, in the various branches taught, for which the charge is two dollars per week. Lessons in any of the branches can be taken singly, as correspondence lessons. Pupils will be with us Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. JOHN DeLIEBL, Principal.

Plainfield Seminary,

re-opened

SEPTEMBER 14, 1893.

(20th year.)

MISS R. E. KENYON, Principal.

FRENCH LESSONS.

Instruction given in conversational French. Lessons, $2 per quarter. Private lessons given to Plainfield residents and summer visitors. Classes formed for evening and afternoon lessons. Private lessons, $5 per quarter, and other terms. For terms and other information address Miss Jeannette Mathison, Miss Jeannette Mathison, Plainfield.

MISS FAWCETT'S

Home and Day School, Primary and Intermediate School, 25 Washington avenue. Pupils taken from the kindergarten. An opportunity to join these classes will be offered to those not connected with the school. Afternoon Wednesdays, from 2 to 4 p. m.

MISS JEANNETTE MATTHEWS,

Teacher of Piano. Given lessons at her home, 1000 Park avenue. Terms, $2 per week. Pupils may have regular practice hour at music parlor. Lessons taken by the hour. Best references. No. 31 East Front street.

GERMAN SCHOOL.

Corner Grove street and Mercer avenue, Grant Hill, Plainfield. Opened St. 1893, at 9 o'clock a. m. Rev. P. Klenke.
10 5 1m

Stoves For Winter,

Hardware of all Kinds,

Everything From Tacks to Furnaces.

A. M. GRIFFEN,

19 East Front Street. Telephone 6.

A. G. VOGELER

takes the lead.

LOOK AT THESE PRICES.

Porterhouse Steak	12c.
Sirloin	12c.
Round	12c.
Chuck	8c.
Roast Beef	7c.
Loin Steak	12c.
Roast Beef	10c.
Veal	10c.
Leg Mutton	12c.
Leg Spring Lamb	12c.
Forequarter Lamb	10c.
Spring Chickens	30c.
Fresh Sausage Pork	10c.
Fresh Pork	10c.
Pickled Tripe	5c.
Pickled Pigs Feet	5c.

Headquarters for Bologna. Bologna made fresh twice a day. Call and get your money's worth.

Union Meat Market,

131 WEST FRONT STREET.
9 14 1m A. G. Vogeler, Manager.

F. M. HULETT,

MUSIC DEALER,

74 West Front Street,

handles the following makes:

Gildemeister & Kroeger,
Kranich & Bach,
Starr,
Mulhfeld,
Jacoby Bros. Pianos,
and the world-renowned
Bauman Bros. and Symphony & Hamlin Organs.

MORE SLAUGHTER!

to close out our entire line of

Neglige SHIRTS!

We offer them at the ridiculously low prices of

85 CENTS.

These goods are worth $1.25 and $1.50. If you don't need 'em now, buy and keep until next season. Saves 50c. from $1.25—50c. on each one.

Hallock & Davis,

New number, 109 West Front street, opposite Somerset street.

$55!

Six Days at the World's Fair.

A WEEK OF HOLIDAYS.

Select, delightful and all expenses included. Schools, and other attractive features now provided, including two excursions, and to and from Chicago, Sundays, account other CLUBS, to parties of personal friends, to engine and hose companies, police bodies and lodges, we offer special advantages. Comfort and luxury at a minimum of cost. We have exclusive arrangements with the great railways terminal in Chicago, and will give you the benefit of same. Write us with us. Interest, and we will give you prices.

WORLD'S COLUMBIAN TOURIST COMPANY.
220 Broadway, New York.
GEORGE C. McEWEN,
Agent for New Jersey,
494 broad street, Newark.

THE BEE HIVE!

Infants' long Cashmere Cloaks, $1.50, $2.00, $2.50.
Children's Elder down Coats, $1.48, $2.00, $2.25.
Also a full line of Flannel Skirts, Infants' Shawls and Sacks.

Fall : Underwear.

Children's merino Vests and Pants, 16-inch, 12c.; 18-inch, 15c., 20-inch, 19c., 22-inch, 22c., 24-inch, 25c., 26-inch, 29c.

Children's natural wool Vests and Pants, 16-inch, 39c.; 18-inch, 42c., 20-inch, 45c., 22-inch, 48c., 24-inch, 50c., 26-inch, 55c.

SPECIAL!

Ladies' ribbed Vests, long sleeves, 31c.
Ladies' Merino Vests, fine, 39c. and 50c.
Ladies' Wool Vests, 75c. and $1.00.
Ladies' Natural Wool Vests, 50c.
Men's White Merino Shirts and Drawers, 50c., 59c. and 75c.
Men's Natural Wool Shirts and Drawers 75c. and $1.00.
Men's Scarlet Shirts and Drawers, 75c., $1.00 and $1.24.

Louis Callman,

222 West Front Street.

The New Address

of Seguine's Livery Stable

is 18 West Second Street,

in the Elkwood building.

Telephone Call, 26.

Fine horses, carriages, vehicles of all kinds. Horses boarded. Careful drivers.

Cleaner Coal!

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't,

9 BROADWAY, COR. FOURTH ST. REFT.

Invites the public to inspect the operation of his new coal screening plant. Special care for nut coal, which he guarantees will give more heat to deliver cleaner coal than is possible by any other method of screening.

Upper Lehigh and Scrantoon Coal in best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.

House and Bedding Lumber.

He would also announce recently increased facilities for turning and carving lumber and scroll work to order, and to execute orders for the same in the best manner at short notice.

Miscellaneous Cards.

H. E. SPENCER,

Grocer and Tobacconist, 70 and 72 East Front street. Sole agent for Lowney's cocoa and chocolate, Lowney's Huyler's and Lowney's Huyler's and Lowney's Huyler's and

FRANCE HONORS RUSSIA

The Czar's Fleet Enthusiastically Welcomed at Toulon.

COUNTRY AGOG WITH EXCITEMENT

Every Functionary Realizes That the Event Is Big With Political Significance—The Czar at Copenhagen — Cigarettes and Champagne For the Russian Tars.

PARIS, Oct. 13.—For weeks France has been in a turmoil of expectancy over the projected visit of the Russian squadron to Toulon. It is to arrive today, and until Oct. 28 the feasts in honor of the event will continue. Today and tomorrow they are to take part in the festival in Toulon, followed by days and nights of dinners and receptions in Paris, including several at the palace of President Carnot.

All the streets and boulevards of Paris, from the Paris, Lyons and Mediterranean railway terminus to the Champs Elysees, have been decorated with flags and will be illuminated at night throughout the stay of the Russian sailors.

The fetes include a ball at the Hotel de Ville tendered them by the municipality, a gala performance at the opera and a review of troops at Longchamps, in which the Russian sailors will take part, together with a detachment of French bluejackets in the march past. The visit will be an imposing manifestation, and it will also be the reply of the Franco-Russian alliance to the recent diplomacy of the triple alliance.

Germany fully understands the importance of this event, and replies in advance to the manifestation by announcing that she will send an additional German squadron to the Mediterranean, and that, it is added in Germany, if France authorizes Russia to establish a coaling station in those waters Italy will accord a similar favor to Germany on one of her islands between Sardinia and Corsica.

An Immense Triumphal Arch.

An immense triumphal arch has been erected opposite the city hall in Toulon and directly in front of the quay where the Russian officers will enter the town. The city hall is a blaze of light and colors. The decorations have been made without regard to expense. All the rooms to be used in entertaining the Russians have been furnished with royal splendor and luxury.

Tens of thousands have arrived here today. Many streets are so crowded that vehicles have been forbidden in them. The quays near the city hall are impassable, and the pedestrian must fight his way across the open spaces. Proprietors of hotels and lodging houses are doing an enormous business. They charge 20 francs a day for the smallest room. For comfortable quarters the price is $15 or $20.

The delegates from the Russian embassy in Paris arrived here yesterday afternoon, among them M. de Giers, son of the Russian minister of foreign affairs. They were welcomed enthusiastically at the station by the people and were cheered incessantly as they drove to the docks. They went out on a steam launch to visit the French squadron already at anchor here and then drove round the port. They found both the active and reserve Mediterranean squadrons of French—nine battleships, four warships, four torpedo boats—ready to receive the Russian fleet. More than 10,000 marines are aboard these vessels.

In the last three days presents for the Russian marines have been received hourly at the city hall.

The mayor announced last evening that he now was ready for the crews of the Russian fleet more than 1,000 packets of cigarettes, innumerable cheeses and biscuits and dozens of cases of brandy and champagne.

The Czar Is In Denmark.

Admiral Rieunier, minister of marine, who came to Paris, held a reception of civil and military officials at the prefecture maritime.

While the French are entertaining the Russians here the czar of Russia will visit the French vessels in harbor at Copenhagen. The czar is in Denmark, where he is visiting his father-in-law, the king of Denmark.

The public censor has forbidden the recitation in a theater of a poem in honor of the Russian visitors, written by an amateur, a son of Astruc Cuvreville. The subjects to it on account of its political tone.

The Russian colony has been invited to attend the performance of "Michel Strogoff" at the French theater tomorrow night. Four hundred French noncommissioned naval officers will give a banquet to 400 Russian sailors in Toulon after the departure of the Russian officers for Paris.

Marseilles is as crowded as Toulon. The scenes inside the fortifications resemble those of an international fair. A fleet of yachts will hail the Russian squadron outside Toulon harbor and will follow to the anchorage.

The czar has forbidden the use of the Russian imperial flag during the fetes except at Paris. The Russian naval colors will be used in Toulon and Marseilles.

Died While on a Carriage Journey.

UTICA, N. Y., Oct. 13.—Captain Andrew C. Bayne, vice president of the Ætna Fire Insurance company of Hartford, died near Newport, Herkimer county. Captain Bayne, with his wife, was journeying from Hartford to St. Lawrence county by carriage.

Anarchist Frighten a Spanish Town.

MADRID, Oct. 13.—There was a renewal of the anarchist panic in Xeres. It was rumored that the anarchists were about to storm the town with dynamite. Shops were closed and many wealthy families left for the country.

Another Revolt In Hayti Expected.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Oct. 13.—Many women and children are coming to this place from Hayti, seeking refuge from the troubles they believe to be impending in that country.

The World's Fair Has a Treasury Balance.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Auditor Ackerman's monthly statement of the exposition's finances to Sept. 30 shows that the exposition has a handsome balance in the treasury.

To Extend Prussian Suffrage.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 13.—A dispatch from Berlin states that the Prussian government will introduce in the landtag a bill providing for a large extension of the suffrage.

The Sultan to Build a Hospital.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 13.—The sultan has assigned a fund of £20,000 to build a hospital in El Hejaz on the Red sea.

Waldo Messmers' Funeral Private.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13.—The funeral of Waldo Messmer, the one time eminent clergyman, was privately held here.

Beekeepers Hold a Convention.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Beekeepers met in annual convention at the Louisiana hotel.

TWO BIG FAILURES.

New England Banking Companies Suspend With Unknown Liabilities.

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 13.—A great sensation has been created in banking and business circles by the announcement of the suspension of the banking firms of Wilbour, Jackson & Co. and Sheldon & Binney. These concerns were classed among the strongest in New England, the banking house of Wilbour, Jackson & Co. having been in existence a score of years and their standing has been A No. 1.

They have in the past negotiated heavily in municipal bonds, among others those of the cities of Providence and Boston and western cities.

The present members of the house are Senator Joshua R. Wilbour of Bristol, chairman of the finance committee of the legislature, and B. S. Jackson.

The house of Sheldon & Binney has been in existence about seven years. The firm consists of Charles H. Sheldon, Jr., and William Binney, Jr. Both members of this firm were at one time junior members of Wilbour, Jackson & Co., from which house they withdrew and started a banking and brokerage headquarters of their own.

At both houses the greatest secrecy is maintained regarding the liabilities of the condition of the firms.

DENVER, Oct. 13.—The failure of prominent firms in Providence is not thought to be due to the nature of their investments in Denver. The $8,300,000 Denver City Cable railway bonds were placed by Wilbour, Jackson & Co., and also the $600,000 bonds of the West End Electric Railway company.

BRIEFLY TOLD HAPPENINGS.

The Infanta Eulalie is in London.

Five hundred glass workers in Tiffin, O., are on strike.

Pennsylvania Christian Endeavorers are in session at Reading.

The bankrupt of the New Boston colliery at Pottsville, Pa., were bur...ed.

Harry Shields, a laborer i... Evansville, Ind., has fallen heir to $80,...

The Otis company's quinine plant at Ware, Mass., have started on full time.

Five men were badly scalded by an explosion in a power house in Chicago.

Peter Pearson, postmaster at Lewiston, S. D., shot his wife and then himself on the prairie.

Arthur Dewitt Cochrane of New York has been appointed captain of the Yale freshman football eleven.

A death occurred today in Lambeth, a part of London, which it is suspected was caused by Asiatic cholera.

NOYES ACCEPTED.

The Missionary Who Taught That There Is Probation After Death.

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 13.—The American board of foreign missions decided to accept Rev. W. H. Noyes as a missionary to Japan. There was an animated discussion over a resolution to reject him. Mr. Noyes has taught the doctrine of probation after death. In the resolution this was termed a "looseness of views on the interpretation of the Scriptures."

Mr. Noyes' appointment has been twice declined owing to his views. Yesterday, however, the clergyman rallied to his support. His appointment was confirmed by a vote of 106 in his favor and 34 against him.

The Queen Regent Wants Revenge.

MADRID, Oct. 13.—The queen regent has displayed great energy in dealing with the Melilla affair. She is eager to have the defeat of the Spanish garrison avenged speedily. She presided at the cabinet council and urged the decision, eventually made, that the war minister be authorized to take all steps necessary to punish the tribesmen who attacked Melilla.

Got Drunk and Proclaimed a Revolt.

CITY OF MEXICO, Oct. 13.—General Neri, commanding the federal troops at Chilpancingo, state of Guerrero, quarreled with the governor of the state and was recalled to the City of Mexico. On the way he got drunk and proclaimed a revolt. There are a few Indians with him. Six hundred troops have been sent to capture him.

Fair May Be Open In November.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—The special committee recently appointed to consider the question of keeping the fair open after this month has practically decided in favor of doing so as long as the weather will permit and as long as the people come in sufficient numbers to make it profitable.

Glass Workers' Wage Schedule Arranged.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13.—After a conference lasting two days, the glass manufacturers and the representatives of the United Green Glass Workers' Association of the United States and Canada succeeded in arranging a schedule of wages for the blast of 1893 and 1894.

Butler Must Come East.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—J. E. Butler, who was arrested here at the instance of the Boston police, has had an examination and will be taken to Suffolk, Mass., as soon as possible to answer the charge of forgery. The prisoner's bond was fixed at $10,000.

Fatal Fire For the Daly Family.

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 13.—A fire in the dwelling 310 Atwells avenue, occupied by Joseph Daly and family, resulted in the death of Harry Daly, 17 years old, and serious injuries from the flames to Mrs. Daly and another son, Jos.

Rio Still Under Fire.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—Dispatches from Rio de Janeiro say that the situation there remains unchanged. Desultory firing was kept up by the insurgent squadron throughout the day.

Friends of the Indian at Lake Mohonk.

MOHONK LAKE, N. Y., Oct. 13.—The second morning's session of the Lake Mohonk conference of friends of the Indian was opened with prayer by Rev. Edward Everett Hale.

Pella Lepheus to Urge Respect.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13.—A delegation of Philadelphia business men will go to Washington to day and urge upon the senate the necessity of the repeal of the silver bill.

The Haitien Turns Up Safe.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13.—The French bark Haitien, just arrived here, was supposed to have been lost in the hurricane of Aug. 26.

Warm Weather Revives the Cholera.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—A rise in temperature has caused a serious revival of cholera in south Russia and Hungary.

World's Fair Attendance.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Paid admissions at the World's fair Thursday were 275,678.

Warner Not Indicted.

ROCHESTER, Oct. 13.—H. H. Warner is not indicted.

THAT BAHAMA CYCLONE.

It Raged Furiously Along the Southern Coast.

DAMAGE REPORTED IN FLORIDA.

St. Augustine Partially Submerged and Other Coast Towns In Danger—As the Storm Moved North It Appears to Have Lost Some of Its Fury.

SAVANNAH, Oct. 13.—Savannah is in the track of the storm which at one time threatened to equal in intensity that of Aug. 27, which swept the entire Georgia and South Carolina coast. The predictions of the weather bureau gave ample warning, and all yesterday preparations were in progress in the city, on river and harbor to protect property from its ravages. The wind blew 40 miles an hour and steadily increased.

All vessels in the harbor sought shelter and safe anchorage. The smaller craft—towboats, lighthouse and yacht service—ceased in slips and tied fast. No vessels left port yesterday. The Boston steamship Gate City, which was to have sailed last night, made fast to her docks and will remain until the storm has passed.

The New York steamer City of Augusta, which left New York Wednesday, is due today, and it is feared she will be caught in the storm. A number of vessels are due from domestic and foreign ports, and concern here are believed to be off the bar. In the city little damage was done. The full force of the storm was expected to reach here about midnight. A heavy rain was then falling.

Wind Blew Sixty-six Miles an Hour.

The weather bureau says the storm center is still approaching. It is now between here and Jacksonville. The indications are, however, that the storm will be less severe than was predicted. Up to midnight the highest rate of wind was 42 miles an hour, though it blew in gusts of 66 miles. No serious damage had then been reported.

A special from Jacksonville states that when the storm reached its height there the velocity of the wind was 66 miles an hour. This indicates that the storm here will prove less severe than was expected.

A special from Charleston reports the wind blowing in gusts at 40 miles an hour, but no damage had been done beyond the prostration of telegraph and telephone wires. It was thought that the tide might flood some of the streets, but no serious overflow was feared.

Much Damage In Florida.

JACKSONVILLE, Oct. 13.—One of the most terrible wind and rain storms ever known here is raging along the Florida coast, extending inland about 50 miles. The storm is a regular West India cyclone, and has been felt in this vicinity during the last two days, gradually increasing in severity.

Reports received this morning from Key West state that the storm passed over that city Tuesday and Wednesday, doing much damage. Reports from St. Augustine are to the effect that the city is partially submerged by water backing over the sea wall. Full particulars cannot be had.

Pablo Beach, Mayport and Fernandino, places near here, are in great peril, especially the first two named, which are greatly exposed to the sea.

Trains on the Jacksonville, Mayport and Pablo railway and the Jacksonville and Atlantic railroad have been stopped by the high rains.

Reports from Titusville state that the storm passed over that place in a northwesterly direction blowing 60 miles per hour. Great fears are entertained that there is great loss of life at Titusville and many other places on the coast.

No Reports From the South.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—The cyclone which originated in the Bahamas and has been moving slowly northwestward was reported last night as being central as far as Jacksonville. No reports from signal stations south of that city have been received. Telegraphic communication south of Savannah and Charleston has been interrupted since late yesterday afternoon. It will be impossible to ascertain the extent of the storm beyond these cities until the wires are repaired.

A dispatch from Augusta, Ga., said that heavy rain had fallen there all the afternoon and continued at night. The signal service there predicts that the West Indian cyclone will not reach Augusta until morning.

No Danger In Charleston.

CHARLESTON, Oct. 13.—The worst of the storm is over. The maximum velocity of the wind was 64 miles an hour. The damage to this city is comparatively slight as far as known. Telegraph, telephone and electric wires are down.

Shocking New York's Deer Park.

ALBANY, Oct. 13.—Twenty-six live does have been transferred from the Adirondacks to Deer park in the Catskills for breeding purposes.

Are You Insured?

If you are 21 years old $61.40 paid annually for fifteen years would entitle you to $1,000.

If 22 years old, $67.

If 23 years old, $67.10.

If 24 years old, $67.30.

This sum of $1,000 is payable to the insured, if living, at the expiration of fifteen years, or at his death if prior.

FOR A LIFE POLICY, of $1,000 the annual payments to continue during life, the payments for young men between 21 and 24 are between $18.60 and $20.

For catalogues and further particulars address Henry D. Morrison, 11 Second street, Agent THE NEW YORK MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

U. B. CRANE,

has the largest stock of

Fine Fall HATS,

in Plainfield.

12 WEST FRONT STREET.

Van Eps,

THE NEW JEWELER.

12 Park Avenue. Also a large variety of Musical Goods.

Legal Advertisements.

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY. Between Charles Arnold, Trustee, and Twelve Others, his Creditors, Virgil Conduit and Alice Conduit, his wife, Defendants, Adalbert Conduit and Wm. Maddock, Executors, and John Allen, Mrs. John Allen, Defendants.

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the 7th day of October, A. D. 1893, in the cause above stated, I, the subscriber, will expose to sale at public vendue, on the premises hereinafter mentioned and you and others are defendants, you and others are defendants, on Saturday, the 4th day of November, A. D. 1893, at two o'clock in the afternoon of the said day of October next, or the next day following, at the hour of two o'clock in the afternoon of the said day, all the right, title and interest which the said Charles Arnold, trustee, had on the 1st day of May, A. D. 1893, or at any time since, in and to all that certain lot, piece or parcel of land and premises hereinafter described, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to raise the sum of $1,000 and interest thereon from the 1st day of May, A. D. 1893, and the costs of this suit, which said lot, piece or parcel of land and premises hereinafter described, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to raise the said

TALK WITH MOTHERS

THE WIDESPREAD NEED OF PRACTICAL INSTRUCTION.

A Mistaken Idea of Woman's Mission—A Specimen of the Really Uneducated—A Type That Is Said to Be by Far Too Common Among Mothers.

No work can possibly be of more importance than that of intelligently caring for the health and welfare of a family. It sometimes seems incredible that women can bean ignorant upon the subject of home sanitation, hygiene and physiology as the miserable looking specimens of humanity that one meets everywhere would argue. Few people are willing to admit that the average mother would neglect any precaution necessary to the health and well being of either husband or children did she know the law. But often she does not, and sometimes, I fear, it is her own fault that she will not.

Ignorance of what to do to correct unfortunate conditions can often be urged in extenuation of ill health and deplorable habits of disposition, temper and life that confront the student of social science when he begins to look into cause and effect in social conditions.

A widespread need was constantly forced upon my attention during my summer holiday—that of simple, practical instruction to mothers upon everyday correct and healthful living. It seemed to me as if nature had decreed that I should concern myself with these conditions in particular by thrusting every conceivable manner of mismanagement and inconsistency concerning the rearing of children especially within my observation.

It began when I took my first meal at a railroad restaurant. At the same table was a young mother, well dressed—better dressed, in fact, than she should have been for dusty summer travel—wearing the inevitable diamond solitaire ring that marks the first step upward in the scale of human prosperity in this country. With a high chair at her side sat an 11 months' old babe. His weak, puny little lordship, of the blue white complexion, fishy smile, thin hair and watery eyes, was being fed from a cup with a spoon upon—what, think you? Tea!

My soul rebelled. I looked at the mother, then at the baby, and the logic of the situation was written on every lineament and gesture of the mother. As if by magic the limitations and interests of such a life passed in review before me, for she was, alas! of a type too common among us.

A woman of narrow education and reading, so anxious to be true to "woman's sphere" that the routine of domestic duties, performed with the greatest amount of friction and the least possible knowledge of scientific and sanitary improvements, marked to her undisciplined mind the true feminine incompetence most to be desired as distinguishing her from a man, she was not interested in anything except what the force of circumstances thrust upon her.

To exist, bear children—no matter what kind—and herself break down under the pains and burdens of maternity was to her mind fulfilling woman's mission. Physiology, hygiene, scientific procreation, mother's duties in offspring unborn and rational care of children in order to correct inherited evil tendencies once they were in the world, were as unintelligible subjects to her as Greek to the boiler maker. She was not only a nonentity intellectually, but she was a positively vicious force morally since she was the mother of offspring.

Turning to her, I said, "Madam, pardon me, but I see that you are feeding tea to baby; do you not realize that tea is a powerful stimulant which will disorder the child's stomach and do positive injury to his brain?"

She looked at me, neither impressed nor offended, and replied listlessly: "He likes it. (I have given it to him since he was 6 months old; it has not hurt him yet. I have taken tea ever since I was a baby, and it has not hurt me.)"

"Are you perfectly well?" I asked.

"Well enough, except for dyspepsia and headaches and the troubles I have had since my first child was born."

"You have all of those ailments and live?" I exclaimed in surprise.

"I guess I'm as well as most women," she replied. "You ought to see my neighbor, Mrs. Twambly. You wouldn't waste any pity on me."

She was showing a little spirit over what she evidently thought none of my business.

Fate threw us together for two hours, however, and I did the best at my command during that time to arouse interest in the proper feeding and care of babies, in sanitary housekeeping and higher ideals of living, and I got far enough for her to say as a parting shot: "You must be one of the women who do not think your mother and grandmother knew anything; still," doubtfully, "I should like to do right by the children, and if there is a better way, as you say there is, perhaps I ought to find out about it, but one can never be certain, there's so much that's now going round nowadays." We parted then.

Will the seed sown ever bear fruit? What think you, reader?

I was on my way to the seaside, and there I saw babies in abundance, for it was a popular, rather cosmopolitan resort. I saw children of all ages, from the infant to the full grown, eating candy, fruit and sweet cakes at all hours of the day, remaining out of doors awake until all hours of the evening, often dressed in utterly frivolous garments considered from neither standpoint of health nor beauty, and more than all I was shocked at the utter indifference of many of the mothers who enjoyed such luxuries as nursemaids as to how these generally uneducated and coarse girls interested and amused the children or cared for them. In a general way as long as they did not cry or bother themselves.—Caroline Everett in Jennese Miller Monthly.

To Make a Fowl Tender.

When it is drawn and stuffed, it is wrapped in two thicknesses of brown paper, tightly bound with twine so that none of the vapor or steam may escape. According to its size and age, the fowl is allowed to cook in a very hot oven, within its envelope of paper, from an hour to an hour and a half. When the fowl is taken out, remove the paper, which is to be burned with all the grease it may contain. The bird is now dredged with flour, replaced in the oven and basted every few moments with the juice which may flow into the pan. As soon as it has assumed a deep brown color it is served with a rich gravy. Full grown pigeons cooked in this manner are said to be equal to squabs.—New York Journal.

What Your Wife Reads.

Your wife works quite as hard as you. Her holidays are few, the breaks in the routine of her labor are very rare, and the strain upon her mind and the tax upon her heart are not lightened or lessened as yours are by brisk contact with the world and frequent glimpses at the kaleidoscope of affairs. You go out, she sits in your spend the same.—Joe Howard.

"RISE UP, RISE UP, O WOMAN!"

[A hymn sung at the world's congress of representative women in Chicago.]

Rise up, rise up, O woman!
No longer sit at ease,
The banner of thy freedom
Is lifting to the breeze.
Be ready for the morning
That breaks thy long dark night,
Un. Ignorance and bondage—
And hail the coming light.

Rise up, the bridegroom cometh
In grace and majesty.
Go joyfully to meet Him.
His name is Liberty;
His face is as the day break;
His heart is true and strong;
His hand is brave and mighty
Against all honored wrong.

The keys of thy rich kingdom
He bringeth as a gift.
O woman, wronged and fettered,
Thy race to greet Him lift.
'Tis God, o'er all and in all,
'Tis Christ who bids thee rise,
Thy shield is quickly passing,
Thy morning gilds the skies.
—Rev. Ada C. Bowles.

Tailor Made Extortion.

When will it be easy for busy women to clothe themselves as well, as easily and at as reasonable cost as men have long done? What is wanted is the tailor made costume, of good material, well cut, well made, at a price or prices within range of ordinary incomes. From $50 to $150 is charged now for really made gowns of satisfactory American workmanship, and English tailors here charge nearly double their prices in England.

Such charges are absolutely prohibitory to the great majority of women. Is there any real need that a well built, substantial, stylish, carefully stitched gown of the cellent materials should cost more than $30 to $37 That excludes silk linings, of course, and supposes the use of a fabric costing not less than $1 a yard, but need it exclude thorough workmanship and finish and scientific cut?

A certain number of sizes covers the range of men's garments. Within perhaps a higher number, should it not be as possible to fit the various normal types of women? Where is the energetic woman or the enterprising tailor who can appreciate the business opportunity in this great need of the hour, and who has the courage to set about supplying it?—Providence Journal.

Dolly Madison's Rose.

Mrs. Madison was unquestionably the most popular woman that ever presided over the social life of the executive mansion. She was extremely beautiful in person and gentle and courteous in manner. Conspicuous in her abundant hair was a fillbeul adjustion. Madison first met her when he was a member of congress at Philadelphia, and with Aaron Burr boarded at the house of her father, Mr. Payne. She was then she Widow Todd. The future president promptly fell in love with her. Her refusing some doubts about her mental qualities he one day handed her a book to read and asked her to give him her opinion of it. She gave the book to Burr with the request that he write a letter for her to copy. This he did with his usual brilliance, and Madison, on receiving the note, was fully convinced that the lady's mind was fact the equal to her beauty. He at once offered himself and was accepted.—Scribner's.

Interesting to Single Women.

Miss. Lenormand has taken it into her head to figure out what chances a young lady has of getting married at various periods of her existence. From her investigations it appears that out of 1,000 women the marriages are as follows:

333 between the ages of 18 and 21 years
200 between the ages of 21 and 22 years
232 between the ages of 20 and 21 years
85 between the ages of 22 and 23 years
87 between the ages of 23 and 24 years
40 between the ages of 24 and 25 years
45 between the ages of 25 and 26 years
21 between the ages of 26 and 27 years
14 between the ages of 27 and 28 years
8 between the ages of 28 and 29 years
8 between the ages of 29 and 30 years
1 between the ages of 30 and 31 years

So that a young lady of 20 has only 18 chances out of 1,000 of getting married. After 40 the probability of meeting with a husband is represented by a very small fraction. It is a question of dowry.—Diluvio.

The Indoor Garden.

Those flower lovers whose esthetic ideas are wounded by the sight of the little cakes of earth in which potted plants are grown will rejoice to hear of a more decorative arrangement. Fill the pot with coarse moss instead of using with which it is usually filled with earth. Then plant the seeds or cuttings in the usual manner.

The effect is not only much prettier than that of garden mold, but the plants thrive better in the moss. The moss absorbs just

OPENING
OF
Fall and Winter DRESS GOODS.

We have placed on sale the Largest Assortment of DRESS GOODS ever offered in this city, and the prices lower than ever, short lengths to avoid too many dresses of a kind.

WE MENTION A FEW SPECIALS.

All Wool Bengaline at 55c. yd. Regular Price 75c.
" " Novelties at 50c. yd. Regular Price 75c.
" " Henriettas at 75c. yd. Regular Price 1.00

Cashmeres, Serges, Flannels and Cloths in large variety of colors and prices. Priestley's silk warp Dress Goods.

DRESS TRIMMINGS

In plain and changeable Braids, Guimps, Braids, etc. We are still offering

Smith's Best Moquette Carpets at 99c. yd

It will be to your advantage to look at these goods if you are in need of carpets.

BLANKETS AND COMFORTABLES AT

EDSALL'S.

Often That Way!

A lady 1 ok time to travel down our way to see if what she had heard was true. "What's the price of that jacket?" "$4.98." "And that dress pattern?" "39c. a yard." "I'll take both." She told her friends afterwards, and they told us, that it was the biggest day's saving she had ever made.

Your Turn Now!

WINTER UNDERWEAR—Sold more Underwear the last ten days than all last Winter. And why not? Prices cut in half. Our show windows tell the story. All kinds for Ladies, Gentlemen and Children.

JACKETS—A Chicago Manufacturer was heart-broken last week when he saw his Jackets that cost him $10 to make, sold for $5. We bought them and they are yours at half what they were worth.

DRESS GOODS—Greater values never offered in Dress Goods than at the present time. See that 45 inch, all wool Suiting that we only ask 33c. for. Just the thing for street wear.

MILLINERY—Have you seen the latest? Tis an extra felt, green velvet suit Hat, with scarf to match. You want the best that money can buy in trimmings, work and style, and we know that you can get it, give us satisfactory work as we are giving this season. CORSETS PROVES IT.

HOUSE FURNISHINGS—This department is improving all the time. Larger assortment and lower prices than ever before. There are three large rooms devoted to useful articles that you want every day in the year.

SHOES!

In Ladies, our straight Goat cut Walkingfast styles at $1.10 and $1.00 are the proper fight for the season.

The "FARGO TIP" for Children,

the best looking and best wearing shoe for school wear. Sizes 8½ to 10½, $1.25. 11 to 2, $1.50. A few of these $1 50 Oxfords, at 98c., still remain.

WHITE, of Plainfield.

CHILDREN'S COLUMN.

In the Rose.

"If you look in the soft
Pink leaves of the rose
But you'll find a butterfly
In the rose."

I said, "for within it
Are hidden things
Just the color
Of yellow wings."

Then while she searched
With eager face
Slim and camera
Sketched her grace.

And something sweeter
Far have I
Than rose or yellow winged Butterfly.
—Clara Doty Bates.

He Could Dress Himself.

He was a very, very little boy, and he had come to school that morning puffed up with pride because he had a new accompaniment. "I can dress me all myself now," he said to the teacher, and her praise was unstinted.

"I am very proud of a little boy who can dress himself," she said. "I'm sure he will be a great comfort in school, he can do so many things now, and he is so anxious to do them well."

Little Tommy drew a long breath of delight and trudged off to his seat. He never meant to be naughty any more; he was sure he never would be. But, alas! school grew tiresome, and Tommy indulged in several remarkable antics behind the teacher's back. Then he was discovered and condemned to exile behind the door.

Time passed, and Tommy was forgotten, but the committeeman drove up and while he was alighting Tommy was remembered. The teacher beckoned behind the door to release him from discovery and disgrace.

There he stood, with nothing on but his little shirt and his little shoes and stockings. His eyes shone, his round face was smiling and eager. He looked up triumphantly waiting for approval. He had been praised once for a similar deed. Why not again?

"I can und'see me, too!" he cried in glee.—Youth's Companion.

Queer Comrades.

One real friend, a friend that sticketh closer than a brother, hath the rhinoceros, or "chukuru," as the natives in some parts of Africa call him. This is none the less a pretty gray bird, about as large as a thrush, which never leaves its big, ugly friend—in the birds eyes, though, rhinoceros is a model of beauty—but perches by day, save to build her nest and rear her young. It spends its time on the back of both rhinoceros and hippopotamus, ridding them of their insect pests. What is more, it warns chukuru of coming danger. Should he be asleep and a hunter draw near, the bird screams in his ear. The huge creature knows well what that cry means and starts to his feet and bolts as fast as he can, the bird—perhaps several of them—perched on his back. Whenever a bullet hits his hide, up flies the bird some six feet into the air, with a scream, but only to settle in a minute or two on its wonted place. One wouldn't think there was so much romance about the rhinoceros.

Why He Was Anxious.

While Archbishop French was dean of Westminster, he delegated Canon Curteton to preach at the abbey on a certain saint's day. On such days the boys of Westminster school attended service, and after service had the rest of the day as a holiday. While Mr. Curteton, on the morning of the day he was to officiate, was looking over his sermon at the breakfast table, his son asked in a tone vibrating with anxiety:

"Father, is yours a long sermon today?"

"No, Jimmy, not very."

"But how long? Please tell me."

"Well, about 20 minutes, I should say. But why are you so anxious to know?"

"Because, father, the boys say they will thrash anybody if you are more than half an hour."—New York World.

Little Mary's Composition.

Little Mary wrote a composition on "The Cow." It was brief. "The cow is a very useful animal." Her mother requested her to read it to the minister, which she did, amending it thus to suit the occasion, "The cow is the most useful animal except religion."—"Real Children" in Philadelphia Working Woman's Journal.

Jolly Pavement Dancers.

Everybody has seen a throng of children gracefully keeping time to the music of the street piano. Nearly everybody has noticed if only they have noticed at all, the crowd out by the machine that it is all dance music nowadays. The children hop around and enjoy it, and their parents are glad to pay a nickel or dime for their little ones' pleasure as well as their own in watching the performance.

These pavement dancing classes are the result of the adoption by the head organ makers of popular songs and waltzes, all dance tunes, in place of the old familiar airs from "Martha" or "Marguerite" or "Annie Laurie," which fail to make the feet tingle and move restlessly. The great abundance of jolly dance songs at the present time has much to do with the new repertories of the street players, but their own choice has still more.

"Give me some lively airs. They pay better," the buyer of an instrument says. "for they make the children dance and entertain both themselves and their parents."

FOR FALL TRADE.

THE LEADER

has received a large variety of Infants' Cloaks, Coats, Slips, Robes, Flannel and Worsted Sacks, Hoods, Flannel Skirts, all of the latest styles. Also new styles of Ladies' Wrappers, Underwear and a large variety of Comfortables, at very low prices. Make no mistake, this is the new store.

THE LEADER! M. GOLDMANN, Prop.
210 WEST FRONT STREET. (Old No. 32.)

Tired from Head to Foot

FROM HEAD TO FOOT.

That's what's the matter with the most of us. What's the reason? Poor circulation of the blood. The cause? The neglect of the feet. We have known women to suffer from Headache, neuralgia, lumbago, weak joints, swollen limbs, and all kinds of pains, to disappear in a short time by the use of Anti-Tire. Get up good circulation, healthy action, and you will be a new person in every respect. One foot bath of Anti-Tire will do it. Tries one. If it costs you anything you need not pay. Sold by druggists, 25 cents per box. Send for pamphlet.

LYONS & RIGLER,
484 Bergen street,
Jersey City, N. J.

A GOOD WIFE

is a great blessing, and a good husband will be the best thing for a wife, but next to good husband comes her future comfort by buying a lot while it is pretty nearly, the prices are so low. The lot is situated in a beautiful and healthy neighborhood.

GIVEN AWAY

WITH EVERY

convenience for reaching stores, schools and churches quickly. Now is the grand opportunity to invest in a splendid

BUILDING LOT.

For particulars, address
"OWNER,"
Box 1 Station Plainfield, N. J.

Horses and Carriages,

for purchase, for hire, at

O'BRIEN'S,

216 WEST FOURTH STREET,
Opposite the Depot.

Joseph T. Vail,
REAL ESTATE
and
INSURANCE.
DEALER IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING
North Avenue.

CAREY'S
Storage Warerooms,

Corner
Front and Grove Streets,
Plainfield, N. J.

World's Fair Exhibit on Flower Pots!

OVER FOUR TONS—9,400 pounds—24 large crates—5 truck loads.

The patterns and decorations are numerous and exquisite in design. Prices range from 1½ cents for the Slip Pot to $1.25 for the double Calla Lily, the popular one being the 5c., 6c., 8c. and 10c. sizes in the common, though we have the largest made, at 65c. Decorated Pots and Hanging Baskets range from 7c. to 25c. We are prepared to sell all, and our prices are guaranteed the lowest and quality without a fault. The wide rim and the oak leaf on the common Pots add strength and beauty, and are easily decorated. Order early, as some will have to wait.

J. C. Allen, 28 West Front St., Plainfield, N. J.

Hotels.

CENTRAL HOTEL,
No. 11 E. Front St.,
PLAINFIELD.

Windham & Crowley,
PROPRIETORS.

First-class bar attached.

Fourth Ward Hotel.
JOHN GOFF, Proprietor.
Boarders accommodated, both transient and permanent.
LARGE ROOMS
and
ALL MODERN IMPROVEMENTS.

Fine Wines, Liquors and CIGARS.
Corner Third and Liberty Streets.

Hotel Grenada,
NORTH AVENUE,
now open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout and makes all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the travelling public.

City Hotel,
Corner
PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.
Transient guests accommodated.

Eugene Hoerster,
206 Grove Street,
North Plainfield.
Wholesale Dealer
in
FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.
Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

This Date In History—Oct. 13.

54—Claudius, Roman emperor, was poisoned by Agrippina to make way for her son Nero.
1537—Pope Gregory XII died.
1688—Edward, prince of Wales, son of Henry VI, born at Windsor; murdered by the Yorkists in War of Roses.
1820—Pope Pius III died.
1792—The Cadets tragedy at Toulouse, France, began by the suicide of one, their father executed and all the family horribly tortured; 9 others violdented to death.
1, 16—Ferdinand VII, king of Naples, died.
1812—Battle of Queenstown, Ont.
1864—Mary Lead, by a very small majority, voted for emancipation; home vote, 1,269 against; soldiers' vote, 1,238 for it; total vote over 60,000.
1880—General W. W. Belknap, ex-secretary of war, died in Washington, D. C., aged 68.
James E. Thorold Rogers, famous writer on political economy, died at Oxford, England.

Do not sit down and wonder because you have not what you want in this life, but up and hustle and get it. The world is all before you. There is as much room in it for you as for anybody else, and as good a place.

Who shall say now that farmers do not know their rights, and knowing have maintain? Two of them in Harper county, Kan., lately chased a lightning rod peddler two miles with pitchforks.

An individual who has certainly run out of something to write about has been cautioning people against the admission of fresh air into their sleeping rooms. Good heavens!

Champion Prizefighter Jim Corbett says President Cleveland can get this if he will only run as hard as he can half a mile every day before breakfast. Good gracious!

The Philadelphia Telegraph pronounces the professional juryman, who is found hanging around every courtroom, "one of the sore afflictions of the times."

An air of "I-know it-all-and-am-ready-to-fight-for-it" is very much against a young person just starting in life.

1893		OCTOBER.				1893
Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fr.	Sa.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
15	16	17	18	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26	27	28
29	30	31

MOON'S PHASES.

Third Quarter	2	10:19 a.m.	First Quarter	17	3:37 p.m.
New Moon	9	9:11 p.m.	Full Moon	25	1:42 a.m.
			Third Quarter	31	8:42 p.m.

Tickets
For, or from Europe,
On
All Lines,
And all Steamers.
Drafts
Sold also.
H. D. MORRISON,
Agent,
Somerset Street.

PEACHES!
PEACHES!
PEACHES!
Following varieties: Yellow Globe, Crawford's Morris White, Keyport and old fashioned. Prices to suit everybody.
NEUMANN BROS.
WATCHUNG AVENUE
and FIFTH STREET.

THE TIME TO EAT!
MEAT! is at meal time, of course, and the place to get good meat, all varieties, lowest prices, long grocers, etc., is at
E. J. CONNOLLY,
No. 321 Second ave.
SMOKED, SALT MEATS AND VEGETABLES always on hand.

R. W. Rice & Co.,
THE PARK GROCERS.
Corner Duer and Emily Streets.
NORTH PLAINFIELD.

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$5 per Year in Advance. T. W. Morrison, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 21 Somerset street. Printing of All Kinds. 10 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," SATURDAY, OCTOBER 14, 1893. PRICE TWO CENTS.

North Plainfield Republican Primary.

The Republican committee of North Plainfield will meet at the School building on

SATURDAY, OCTOBER, 14, 1893,

at 8 p. m. for the purpose of electing delegates to the county convention to be held at Somerville Tuesday 17th inst.

By order Executive Committee.
dated October 11, 1893.

Republican Primaries.

The Republican voters of the CITY OF PLAINFIELD are requested to meet at the places hereinafter named on

THURSDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 19, 1893,

for the purpose of electing delegates to the county and assembly conventions, and electing two members of the County Executive Committee from each Ward.

First Ward—At the Association House, No. 120 East Front street, at 8 o'clock, and is entitled to six delegates to each convention.

Second Ward—At Bryant School building, East Sixth street, at 7:30 o'clock, and is entitled to seven delegates to each convention.

Third Ward—At the Gaslon, on West Seventh street, at 8 o'clock, and is entitled to six delegates to each convention.

Fourth Ward—At Hulett's Hall, No. 227 West Front street, at 8 o'clock, and is entitled to nine delegates to each convention.

By order of the City Executive Committee.
C. ACKERMAN, Chairman.
J. B. COWAN, Secretary.
Dated, Plainfield, October 12, 1893.

Republican County Convention.

The Somerset county Republican Convention will meet at the Court House, in Somerville, on

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1893,

At 11 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of electing in nomination candidates for offices of Senator, Member of Assembly and Coroner, and the transaction of such other business as may properly come before it.

Each township will be entitled to five delegates, who will be selected by the Republican voters of the respective townships, on Friday, the 13th day of October instant, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, according to North Plainfield and Bernards, where the primaries will be held at 6 o'clock in the evening, in the following places:

Bedminster—Bedminster Hotel, Bedminster.
Bernards—Doty's Hotel, Bernardsville.
Branchburgh—Codington's Hotel, North Branch.
Bridgewater—Hotel Somerset, Somerville.
Franklin—Hillsborough Hotel, Millstone.
Hillsborough—Devendee's store, Frankfort.
Montgomery—Hotel Harbinger, Harlingen.
North Plainfield—Basement of New School House.
Warren—Mt. Bethel Hotel, Mt. Bethel.

L. L. THOMPSON,
Chairman County Committee
Dated October 4, 1893.

Third Assembly District Convention of Union County

Pursuant to resolutions adopted by the Union County Republican Executive Committee at a meeting held at Elizabeth, N. J., on Saturday, September 30th, 1893, and the resolution adopted at the last convention, the Republican Assembly Convention for the Third Assembly District of Union County, will be held at Arion Hall, in Roselle, Linden Township, on

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1893,

at 2:30 p. m.

In accordance also with the above resolutions, the Republican voters are requested to meet in their respective wards and townships, on Thursday evening, October 19, 1893, to elect delegates to the said convention.

The basis of representation will be one delegate to every fifty, and one for every fraction above fortyfive, on the votes cast at the last election for Assemblyman.

The number of delegates to which each ward and township is entitled is as follows:

Clark—One delegate.
Fanwood—Four delegates.
Linden—Six delegates.
Plainfield—First Ward, seven delegates. Second Ward, seven delegates. Third Ward, six delegates. Fourth Ward, nine delegates.
Railway—First Ward, Four delegates. Second Ward, four delegates. Third Ward, eight delegates. Fourth Ward, no delegates.
Westfield—Six delegates.

By authority of the County Executive Committee.
CHARLES N. CODDING,
Chairman of last Convention.

BREVITIES.

—North Plainfield Republican primaries to-night.

—To night a song service will be held in the W. C. T. U. rooms. Mr. Irving from New York will have charge.

—Madame Lozeen advertises in another column that she is about forming evening classes, and invites all interested to call.

—The Republicans of North Plainfield will hold their primaries in the forenoon room of the school, at eight o'clock to-night.

—At the freight house the other day a man applied for work, saying he had had nothing to do for four months. He said he had walked from Toledo, Ohio.

—A ruffed grouse was flushed last night near Madison avenue and Randolph road. This is the first one that has been seen in this vicinity for some time.

—The landlord and tenant case of Yoehl vs. Price was tried before Justice Black yesterday afternoon. Judgment was rendered in favor of the plaintiff.

—"Jack" Boyle of Dunellen lies in a critical condition. His tongue is split and his ear is almost cut off. He is unable to tell how it happened, but believes he fell among some beer bottles.

—The Diocesan Union Bowling League will open on Nov. 15. The Catholic Young Men's Lyceum of this city is represented. There are five teams in the League and each team is composed of five men.

—The information of the financial difficulty of Manager Demarest with his musicians in Music Hall referred to yesterday reached us a day late. The matter now seems to have been adjusted, at least temporarily. However, he managed to secure musicians.

—An innovation, introduced into the evening service at the Methodist Church, last Sunday, proved such a success that it is to be continued. The innovation consisted in having the young people of the Epworth League, who form an excellent chorus of about fifty voices, lead in the singing. Immediately after the Epworth League Sunday evening service the young people march in a body into the church and occupy the front seats.

—The "financial stringency," Edsall says in his new advertisement to-day, has forced many manufacturers and importers to dispose of their stocks at great sacrifices, and has thereby enabled the wide-awake retailer with ready cash to secure great advantages for his patrons. He gives a comparison of former prices with present prices on a few sample articles, and says he can new offer greater advantages to his numerous patrons than ever before.

EDGE OF A CYCLONE.

A HEAVY WIND AND RAIN STORM LAST NIGHT.

Rain Descended in Torrents, Flooding the Streets and Filling the Gutters to Overflowing.—Trees and Wires Blown Down.

The edge of a howling cyclone burst over the city last night. The terrifying visitor was accompanied by rain which descended in sheets and caused the streets to run in torrents and filled the gutters to overflowing.

Several trees were blown down about the city. Limbs of trees fell across electric light wires, breaking the wires and causing several parts of town to be left in total darkness. The fire-alarm system was slightly crippled for a time, by a wire breaking, but this was soon repaired.

A smoke-stack on Mr. Mehl's shop back of highhouse, on West Second street, was blown down. Several such casualties happened from the storm.

The wind wrecked a wagon-house belonging to Daniel Acker, of Dug Out road, so badly that the upper floor fell, crushing about fifty peach baskets that happened to be in its way.

HENNESSY'S RUNAWAY PONY.

Ran a Short Distance and Then Slid on the Sidewalk.

There was a short but lively runaway on Park avenue and Front street early this morning. Mr. John Hennesay has a little black pony which they say likes to run and at any time improves any opportunity to make a little exhitement. This morning he left his fractious steed standing on Park avenue, near the corner of Second street. The pony saw a good chance to have a run, so it started at a lively pace for Front street. When the animal reached Front street it was going so fast it couldn't stop, and made a bee line for the store on the opposite side. The pony slipped and fell when it struck the curb and slid along on the slippery side-walk for about fifteen feet. Before the pony could get up again Charles Perrine and a man named Giddis had hold of it.

No damage was done, and the pony escaped injury.

THE FRANCHISE GRANTED.

A Trolley Road to be Built from Newark to Elizabeth.

An important special meeting of the Union County Board of Freeholders was held at Elizabeth, yesterday afternoon, and after a three hour's debate a franchise was granted to the Consolidated Traction Company of New Jersey to build and operate an electrical railway from Newark to Elizabeth. The road is to be fully equipped and in operation before June 30, 1894. Strong opposition was made by many of the property-owners along the route to the road, which is to be operated by the trolley system. The franchise was awarded by a vote of 11 to 4.

SUING FOR $5,000.

The Henry-Clarkson Case Being Tried at Elizabeth.

The trial of Mrs. John Henry against Mr. John Clarkson for $5,000 damages began at Elizabeth yesterday. Mr. Craig A. Marsh appeared for the plaintiff and ex-Judge Codington for the defendant. The case was adjourned yesterday afternoon until Monday.

"It will be remembered, that Mrs. Henry was accidentally shot by Mr. Clarkson, who was shooting at a cat. The bullet entered Mrs. Henry's neck.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Loomis, of Rockview avenue, moved to-day to Bethlehem, Pa.

Miss Lulu West of Raleigh, N. C., is visiting Mrs. Edward F. Randolph of Park avenue.

Mr. Nicholson of Grant avenue, who was recently taken to the hospital suffering with spasms, is convalescent.

The pulpit in All Souls' church, Park avenue, still be occupied to-morrow by Mr. A. Emerson Palmer of Brooklyn.

Invitations have been issued for the wedding of Miss Jennie Wyckoff of West Eighth street to Mr. Clarence G. Brock of Red Bank.

Mayor Alexander Gilbert and wife of West Eighth street have returned from the great White City, where they have been enjoying the delights of the World's Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Townsend of Madison avenue, New York, are visiting among friends in this city. Mrs. Town's is a sister of the late Mrs. Dr. Spooner.

The Rev. J. W. Richardson will deliver a lecture in the Park Avenue Baptist church, the latter part of this month, taking for his subject: "Lights and shadows of Ministerial Life."

A party consisting of Mr. Peter Emmons, of Jackson avenue, and Mrs. John P. Engman, of Prospect place, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Smith of Grove street start to-night for the World's Fair. Mr. Peter Emmons already there, having started last week.

Messrs. George W. and Henry D. Morrison of THE NEWS started yesterday to do the World's Fair. They go via the Lehigh Valley R. R. to Niagara Falls, where they are to spend a brief season sight seeing, and then continue their journey via the Grand Trunk. They return sometime week after next.

THE KEYES TICKET WON.

NORTH PLAINFIELD DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY.

Two Tickets in the Field, Anti-Race Track and Race Track.—The Delegates Chosen are all Keyes Men.—The Delegates.

BARELY two hundred Democrats were present at the North Plainfield Democratic Primary, held in the basement of the school house last night.

The meeting was called to order by Mr. Levi Kline. Mr. John Vetterlein was elected chairman of the meeting and Messrs. Ira Riker and Lewis H. Brown were elected secretaries.

Mr. Vetterlein thanked those present for electing him chairman and stated that the meeting had been called to select delegates to the county convention at which an Assemblyman and a Senator were to be nominated. He concluded with the request that men be elected who would do all they could for their party, and look to their party's interest.

Secretary Brown read the call and the following tickets were nominated:

TICKET NO. 1.

William L. Saunders,
Elston N. French,
Andrew Love, Sr.,
David J. Carney,
Richard H. McCullough.

TICKET NO. 2.

Richard H. McCullough,
Benjamin Clark,
Joseph Blatz,
Lewis R. Stockford,
William H. Ludlow.

A ballot was then taken and resulted as follows:

TICKET NO. 1.

William L. Saunders	118
David J. Carney	116
Andrew Love, Sr.	114
Elston N. French	108
Richard H. McCullough	108

TICKET NO. 2.

Richard H. McCullough	78
Joseph A. Blatz	70
William A. Ludlow	70
Lewis R. Stockford	70
Benjamin Clark	70

The tellers were Messrs. Edward C. Morse and Levi Kline.

Chairman Vetterlein declared the first ticket elected.

The first named ticket was an out and out Keyes ticket, while it was understood the other one favored the nomination of Mr. Beekman. Mr. Keyes voted against the race tracks last year, while it is said Mr. Beekman is in favor of the race tracks. This made the issue anti-track vs. race track.

NUPTIALS.

Shultz—Austin.

THERE was a very pretty home wedding, at Dunellen, at four o'clock, Thursday afternoon, when Mr. Peter Schultz and Miss Emma Austin were made man and wife. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents, on Grove street, by the Rev. Mr. Fletcher, pastor of the New Market Baptist church.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Schaefer and Mr. and Mrs. Austin stood up with the bridal couple. The bride was given away by her father. A reception followed the ceremony.

The bridal couple are enjoying a honeymoon and will visit the following places: Niagara Falls, Chicago, Memphis, New Orleans, Mobile, Atlanta and Nashville.

Mr. Schultz is a member of the firm of Schaefer & Co., and has charge of the New York store.

In the City Court.

The case was tried this morning of John Henry against Charles McOsan, for assault, in the city court.

Witnesses swore that Henry struck McOsan first. But Henry first observed that he had been unmercifully beaten, and the Judge decided that McOsan was guilty of the charge, and fined him $5.

John Connors was tried for being drunk and disorderly at the depot. He was discharged.

Warning from the King's Daughters.

To THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS:—Will you through your paper, warn your readers against giving money at the door for the benefit of the King's Daughters. No one is authorized by the City Union to collect for the joint societies, consequently any such demands made upon households are of a fraudulent character.

B. AUGUSTA SCHUYLER,
Cor. Sec'y. Plainfield City Union of the King's Daughters.

Somerset's Installation.

Somerset Lodge, No. 104, Jr. O. U. A. M., at its regular meeting last night installed the following officers:

Councillor—E. D. Ganun.
Vice Councillor—M. D. Tompkin.
Assistant Recording Secretary—C. A. Leland.
Warden—E. H. Anderson.
Conductor—J. Small.
Inside Sentinel—E. V. Lorton.
Outside Sentinel—Arthur Thorn.

STATE C. E. CONVENTION

MISS SPANGENBERG'S EXCELLENT REPORT FOR UNION COUNTY.

She also Spoke on "Missionary Committees and Their Methods of Work."—Her Address Listened to with Interest.

SEVERAL hundred delegates attended the second day's session of the New Jersey Christian Endeavorers at Trenton, yesterday. During the morning reports from the various societies were listened to. Miss Alice B. Spangenberg of Netherwood made a report for Union County. The Trenton True American says of her:

Miss Alice Spangenberg carried the convention away with her bright sparkling enthusiasm and excellent report. She began by saying that Union county gives Glory to God for the progress made and the work accomplished. It is due to His holy name. The majority of the societies are much interested in missions and practical work. The poor are clothed; the sick nourished; the wayward received; workers furnished; missions supplied with gospel tracts. There have been large accessions to the church: Missionaries have aided in China, Japan, India, etc. Miss Spangenberg was still talking as she withdrew from the front of the platform.

In the afternoon Miss Spangenberg spoke on "Missionary Committees and their Methods of Work." She said in part:

First, the committee should be carefully selected. The subject is of sufficient importance to claim the best members of the society. No one can serve who does not possess a knowledge of missions, and only those who are anxious to know something of the missions are likely to have a knowledge. How is it possible for us to interest and instruct others about a matter of which we know nothing ourselves? So then let knowledge be the first in most important; it awakens, stimulates and insures support.

Second, the members of the committee should be large hearted and broad-minded and should feel interested in the world.

The third characteristic is that the members of this committee should possess the faculty for securing volunteers for service in the meetings.

The speaker spoke of Mr. Moody's custom of saying that it is better to set ten men to work than to do the work of ten men. Every member of the society should be called on to do something in connection with this meeting. The members of this committee should not be easily discouraged. They should be willing to labor notwithstanding unfavorable circumstances. There may be a feeling on the part of some that the society is not sufficiently strong to go beyond their own bounds; such persons can not lead the society in this great matter. Faint hearted Endeavorers will not accomplish very much in carrying the gospel to the ends of the world. There are other qualifications quite as essential, but these will suffice. The conference was divided into three main divisions. First the missionary meeting; second, practical work; third, systematic giving. Under the first the following subdivisions: First, how is attendance to be secured; and, by what means should these meetings be held; the programmes for these meetings. In the second division, what sorts of practical work are undertaken in your society? what are some of the instances of discouragements and how have you met them? what are some of the methods that you can suggest for the assistance of others? Under third said division she made the following divisions. Plans for systematic giving; second, how to instruct those; and, lastly how carry them out.

Christian Duke Taken to the Hospital.

About the first of September Christian Duke of Locust street was injured in New York while loading to the unloading of furniture. He was kept in the house for some time. He finally got out doors again. Then he was unfortunate enough to slip and sprain his ankle. Thursday he was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital, where an operation is to be performed.

The Dunellen Bowling Club Organized.

The Dunellen Bowling Club met at Taylor's Hotel and organized last night, electing W. Waters, President; F. Sandford, Vice-President; W. Giles, secretary; A. Wilson, treasurer. Captain of team, C. D. Taylor. Bowling Committee—F. Sandford, C. Krewson, and A. Wilson. Every Monday they meet for practice.

Real Estate Transfers.

The following transfers of real estate in North Plainfield were duly recorded in the County Clerks office at Somerville:

John H. Koch to St. Peter's Lutheran church, North Plainfield.	$200 00
Frank Wolff to Lillian T. Slage.	1 00
Lillian T. Slage to Charlotte Wolff, North Plainfield.	1 00

The Weather.

The weather to-morrow promises to be cloudy and partly cloudy, followed by fair and cooler weather.

—The mock court trial will take place at Music Hall Monday night.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

THE USUAL SATURDAY ANNOUNCEMENTS.

What Will be Done at the Churches, Chapels and Missions in Plainfield and North Plainfield.—The Themes for Morning and Evening.

[Notice of religious services are published under this head free of charge. It is necessary that they be furnished before noon of Saturday to insure insertion the same day.]

J. W. Sievets will lead the meeting at Mt. Pleasant to-morrow night.

Rev. Wm. M. Angleman will preach at the Methodist chapel, at Washingtonville, Sunday evening.

Services at the church of the Heavenly Rest, Clinton avenue, at eleven o'clock a. m. Sunday school at 3.30 p. m. Seats free.

All Souls' Church, Park avenue, Mr. A. Emerson Palmer of Brooklyn will preach. Services at 10.45 a. m. Sunday school at 11.45 a. m.

Masses in St. Joseph's church, to-morrow, at 6.30 a. m. and 10.30 a. m. Sunday-school at three p. m., and vespers at eight p. m.

There will be preaching by Pastor Ekman, at the Swedish class to-morrow afternoon at 2.45 at the Park avenue Baptist church.

First Baptist church. Prayer meeting at 9.30 a. m.; preaching at 10.30 a. m.; Sunday-school at 2.30 p. m., and evening service at 7.45.

Sunday meetings in Reform Hall at 9.15 a. m. and four p. m. Rev. Mr. Ferrier will be led by the Rev. George Anderson of Kansas.

Services in Hope chapel, Thursday 10.30 a. m. Sunday-school three p. m. Hot g service and preaching 7.45 p. m. G. Kennedy Kowell, pastor.

Warren Chapel, Rev. Joseph O. McKelvey, pastor. Sunday school at 2.30 p. m. Song service at 7.45. Devotional meeting at 8 p. m.

Stephen Cahoone will lead the Young Men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. rooms to-morrow afternoon at 4.15. There will be quartette and solo singing.

The W. C. T. U. rooms will be open as usual for the 5.15 o'clock praise and consecration service and the gospel temperance meeting at four p. m.

St. Peter's congregation, German Lutheran will hold services in the Warren chapel at 10.30 a. m. Sunday-school at 11.30 a. m. Rev. H. Meeks, pastor.

Crescent avenue church. Rev. Wm. R. Richards, D. D. pastor. Services at 10.30 a. m. and 7.30 p. m. Sunday school at 3 p. m. All seats free at the evening service.

Services in St. Mary's church. First Mass at 6.45. Second Mass at 8.30. Third mass at 9.45. High mass at 10.45. Sunday-school at 2.30 p. m., and evening service at 7.30.

Congregational church, West Seventh street, Rev. C. L. Goodrich, pastor. Morning service at 10.30. Sunday school at 2.45 p. m. Christian Endeavor Consecration service at 7.30.

The Trinity reformed church to morrow the pastor, the Rev. Cornelius Schoeck will preach at 10.30 and 7.30. Also discourse about "A Christian's Faith." Sabbath-school at 2.30 p. m.

To-morrow only one service will be held in the Presbyterian church, corner of Craig place, North Plainfield at 10.30 a. m. No evening service. Rev. F. Koechli will preach. Sunday-school at 11 a. m.

The Church of the Holy Cross, the Rev. T. Logan Murphy, rector. Celebration of the Holy Communion every Sunday morning prayer and sermon at 11 a. m. Afternoon service at 4.30 p. m. Sunday-school at three p. m.

Church of Our Saviour, Netherwood. Holy Communion, 7.30 a. m. Morning prayer, litany and sermon 10.30 a. m. Evening prayer, 4.30 p. m. Hand's excursion stage will leave R. R. station for the church at 10.30 a. m.

Services in the First Presbyterian church. Rev. Charles E. Herring, pastor. Morning service, 10.30. Topic: "Missionary Influence." Evening subject: "Midway Plaisance." Sunday school at 2.30 a. m. Young People's Service at seven p. m.

Grace Methodist Episcopal church, North Plainfield. Rev. Herbert F. Randolph, pastor. Preaching at 10.30 a. m. and 7.30 p. m. Sunday at 2.30 p. m. A special service at 7.45 p. m. under the direction of the Sunday-school. "Come and See."—John 1.46.

The Methodist Episcopal church, Rev. C. H. Barnes, D. D., pastor. Preaching at 10.30 a. m. by the Presiding Elder, Rev. G. S. Bryan, D. D. Sunday-school at 2.30 p. m. Epworth devotional service at 6.45 p. m. Topic: "Christ Before Pilate." The Christian Citizen and the Race Track." All seats free to strangers.

Christ Episcopal church. Grand rally to-morrow at Seventh-Day Baptist church. Preaching 10.30 by Rev. Dr. Platts. Dr. Platts is expected; 3.30 p. m., Rev. F. F. Smith of Jersey City is expected; 7.45 p. m. Mrs. Mary D. Holt of Metuchen will preach. All are invited. Rev. T. A. V. Dewolf, Superintendent.

At the Park avenue Baptist church, services will be held as usual, preaching by the Rev. Dr. Dewolf, Superintendent of State Missions, at 10.30 a. m. In the absence of the pastor, the Rev. J. W. Richardson will deliver the fifth sermon in the Ethel series, topic: "The Ideal Employer." Sunday-school meets at 2.30 p. m.

May Induce Voorhees to Run.

The latest Republican ticket in Union county which several party leaders assert will be the slate is ex-Assemblyman Foster M. Voorhees, of Elizabeth, for State Senator, and ex-Freeholder Robert G. Houston, of Elizabeth, for Sheriff. Mayor Rankin is enthusiastic for this ticket, and declares it will be a winner. Mr. Voorhees has declared that he would not be a candidate, but it is believed that he will be so strongly urged to run that he will give his consent.—World.

A FREIGHT TRAIN PARTS

AND THE TWO SECTIONS COME TOGETHER WITH A CRASH.

Conductor Joseph Hess of Easton, who was Riding in the Caboose, Thrown Against a Car and his Face Badly Bruised.

FREIGHT train No. 409, which passes through here between eight and nine o'clock going West parted near Dunellen. The train, continued in two sections, which came together with such force that Conductor Joseph Hess, of Easton, who was riding in the caboose, was thrown against the side of the car with considerable force.

His face was badly bruised and he was injured about the stomach.

He was taken aboard engine No. 209 to Grant avenue. He walked from there to Muhlenberg Hospital, where his injuries were attended to. He will probably be confined to the Hospital for a few days.

GRAND LODGE, KNIGHTS OF HONOR.

Mr. C. J. Peytel Elected Representative to the Supreme Lodge.

The Grand Lodge of the Knights of Honor of New Jersey held their annual session in Newark Wednesday. There were delegates present from sixty-three lodges, representing 4,825 members.

The following officers were installed: Grand dictator, Frank Bell of Elizabeth; vice dictator, William Baldon; grand assistant, Thomas P. Leonard; grand reporter, J. M. Mayhew; grand treasurer, Samuel Klotz, grand chaplain, Dr. William C. Keller, of Bayonne; grand guide, William Moore; guardian, W. H. Kerr; sentinel, C. B. Bennett; trustee for three years, H. E. Toms; representative to the supreme lodge, C. J. Peytel, of Plainfield; alternate, F. W. Kimber.

Anti-Race Track Meeting at Westfield

Interest in the race-track question increases among the citizens of Westfield at election day approaches. The anti-race track committee were called to-gether Monday evening by the chairman, the Rev. H. W. Cadwell. The committee have called a mass meeting for next Monday night. The meeting will be in one of the churches of the place. Lawyers Lindsbury and Craig Marsh, it is expected, will address the meeting. The anti-race track movement in the village is better organized this year than ever before.

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE.

THE CYCLONE.

The Wind Blew at the Rate of Eighty Miles an Hour.

ASBURY PARK, Oct. 14.—The West Indian hurricane reached this section of the New Jersey coast shortly after six o'clock last evening.

Preparations were made for it. At times the gale blew at the rate of eighty miles an hour.

Nearly all of the telegraph and telephone wires are down and communication by wire is practically cut off from the outside world.

The storm completely wrecked what was left of the schooner Mattie B. Congdon, stranded here some time ago.

—A lady who teaches dancing in this city said to day that she was surprised that such inclement weather as appears at present around in such a city as this is supposed to be. She considered them simply shocking.

Subscribe to the TWELFTH - SERIES of the

Home Building and Loan Association,

which will be opened Monday evening,

October 16, 1893,

at their room, Republican headquarters, Front street, over City National Bank.

The second series of shares opened recently have already about $100,000. Twenty-Three interest and premium, $500 per month, which is constantly increasing. Expenses small, only about two cents a share per month. Our loss value it possible for members buying homes, to own them in about eleven years, by a payment of but little more than they would ordinarily pay for rent. It accumulates a fund to meet the principal of the mortgage, while other lenders are anxious only to perpetuate the payment of interest. Members desiring loan for immediate use, may rely upon a security which is constantly increasing, and a rate of profit greater than for any other safe investment.

ISAAC W. RUSHMORE, Pres't.
S. R. STRUTT, Sec'y. Pro.
Secretary. 12 28

Madame Iza Lezem's Dancing School.

Every Friday evening, from 8 to 8:30 o'clock, Hulett's Hall, Front street. Also Classes in Physical Culture, Delsarte, etc every Tuesday and Friday, from 3 to 5 p. m. For particulars, address 332 West street.

RAISING A BREEZE!

We might wait a couple of weeks and let November do it, but we don't propose to let even the weather get the drop on us,

THIS WAY!

UNDERWEAR—Maybe you don't need any Underwear just now, but you will later, and now is a good time to buy it. That special sale of heavy Underwear for Ladies, Gentlemen and Children is most successful. Prices are RIGHT.

LADIES' AND CHILDREN'S COATS—Never a better assortment of everything new and desirable to select from. That Ladies' Jacket, at $5.50, is a good one.

A HANDY BARGAIN—100 granite Iron Stew Kettles. Large size, price 49c; value, 75c.

DORNBUSH FLANNELS—The second case in ten days, at the same price, 5c. yard. Are you ready for them? Better be on hand early. We are opening up new goods every day, and you will surely find something that will interest you.

UMBRELLAS—Most people carry Umbrellas when it rains. We carry them all the time, and just now we have some that we are going to close out at 49c., 69c., $1.00 cans for 59c., $1.25 cans for 98c.

SPECIAL ORDERS—Only waste time running around to fill your orders. If we have not what you want, we will get it for you.

SHOES!

In Ladies, our straight Goat and Wallingford styles at $2.00 and $3.00 are the proper weights for the season.

The "FARGO TIP" for Children,

In the best looking and best wearing shoe for school wear. Sizes 9½ to 12½, $1.25.—Sizes 11 to 2, $1.50. A few of these $1.50 Oxfords, at 98c., still remain.

WHITE, of Plainfield.

"It's an ill wind that blows nobody any good!"

The "financial stringency" has forced manufacturers and importers to dispose of their stocks at a great sacrifice. The wide-a-wake retailer with the "ready cash" in hand is now enabled to secure the most advantageous purchases as to supply his customers with new desirable goods at greatly reduced prices.

THIS IS A SAMPLE.

New Elder down Flannels	Regular price,	50c.	Now 39c.
Novelty, all wool Dress Goods	"	50c.	" 39c.
Columbia Linen Towels, extra size	"	25c.	" 19c.
Turkish Bath Towels, 24 inches wide	"	25c.	" 19c.
Changeable Surah Silks	"	50c.	" 39c.
Changeable Taffeta Silks	"	75c.	" 59c.
Chenille Portiers, all wool fabrics and Dadoes,	"	$1.00	" 69c.
White Angora Trimming	"	25c.	" 19c.
White Angora Trimming	"	50c.	" 39c.
Ladies' Fine Cashmere, all Hose Colors,	"	25c.	" 19c.
Furniture Covering	"	$1.25.	" 98c.
Best Moquette Carpets	"	$1.25.	" 98c.

Our new Fall Stock, Underwear is all made with "lock stitch," extra full and long. We can offer better goods at these prices than ever before.

Our entire establishment has never before been stocked with such large and desirable lines of goods as now, and the prices never so low. You will have no trouble in getting suited, as the very lowest prices, as

EDSALL'S.

EDITORIAL NOTES

A Hundred Beautiful Years.

There died lately in Erie county, N. Y., Mrs. Lovina Fillmore, aged 106 years. She was born the year the federal constitution was adopted. She was married the year Gladstone was born, so that until her death there was still living at least one woman old enough to be Gladstone's mother. Mrs. Fillmore's husband was a pioneer Methodist preacher, and for 66 years these two brave comrades marched side by side in the ranks of the army of the Lord. After her husband's death in 1875 Mrs. Fillmore remained upon her farm, managing it herself. She continued so to live, without a break or any weakening of mental power, up to the end of her 106 years of life. She was an excellent housekeeper as well as farm manager and engaged in her active, useful pursuits to the very last, as young at 106 as most women are at 60.

The records show that in the past few years an unusually large number of people have rounded up the full century of life. Not only that, too; but, what is far better, many of them have closed their hundred years in possession of all their mental faculties and with physical powers mostly still in fair working order. That there is much except the average of human life is lengthening, and that in another century it will not be any more uncommon to find persons a hundred years old than it now is to meet those who are 70?

With the knowledge of hygiene and the achievements of sanitary science in our time, what is to hinder the well-born person who takes care of himself from looking confidently forward to a full century active, useful life? This is a beautiful world of light and life. There are so many million noble and wonderful things to learn. There are so many glorious opportunities for helping, the race. The progress in art, in science and in the industries will be something stupendous in the coming century. On economic questions we find we are yet only at the door of any real understanding.

Let the young person who stands at the entrance of active live rejoice greatly. Let him take the best care of his health and cultivate his heart and brain to the utmost. With the development of the race physical weakness, disease and deformity will drop away, the old will be as comely as the young, and mankind will rejoice in the prospect of 100 years of beautiful life.

A Tribe That Follows Nature.

A rare opportunity to study primitive man is afforded in the mode of life of a tribe of Eskimos hitherto almost unknown. These people inhabit the most northerly part of Labrador and are not at all bad looking. Their physique seems to have developed ahead of their manners. They are large and well formed, being taller than the average white man.

They have little acquaintance with civilization and that little only through the Hudson Bay Trading company, to whom they sell furs and skins three or four times a year. These Eskimos are therefore uncorrupted, so far as almost any people can be by intercourse with white men. Food is scarce at all times among them, they deriving a precarious existence mostly from the sea. In winter they cut holes in the frozen snow and make houses of it, where they live huddled together like rats in a hole.

When one of their number gets old or infirm and unable to keep up with the tribe in its journeyings, at once that person's family is seized with a mad desire to move. This is done, the family traveling with the utmost rapidity. If the infirm person falls behind and gets lost on the way and never is found any more, whose fault is it? The individual who could not work was only taking part of the scant supply of food away from those who could work.

The British house of lords can only be abolished by act of parliament. But as it constitutes a part of parliament, in order to do away with the hereditary legislative house, it would be obliged to assist in killing itself. The only way to accomplish the thing would be for the prime minister to nominate and the queen to confirm a multitude of peers, enough to constitute a majority of the existing house of lords. The anomaly would be presented of the creation of a large number of peers for the express purpose of doing away with the house of peers.

Since the outbreak of the war this country has never been so mixed up politically as it is now. The safe old party lines within which every man could keep in the middle of the road are shaking and wabbling, and many a voter has jumped over or pushed under them and finds himself marching pro tem. in the ranks of "other army or no army at all."

The coal strike in Great Britain is producing harder times in some quarters than the Americans are experiencing. Ten dollars a ton was the price lately quoted for coal in London, with prospect of a further advance.

At a recent silver session in our upper house only seven senators were present during the opening prayer. What an example to set before the country!

THE CUP IS SAFE.

The Gallant Vigilant Won In a Piping Gale.

MISHAP TO THE VALKYRIE.

She Was Doing Well When She Lost Her Spinnaker.

The Third and Closing Race In the International Contest For the America's Cup Was Won by the Yankee Sloop—Chased Across the Finish Line by a Young Cyclone—The English Cutter Made a Gallant Struggle.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—America wins. In a gale that split two spinnakers on Lord Dunraven's Valkyrie, the Vigilant won the third of the international yacht races, and the cup is safe for another year the trophy remains in this country, and Lord Dunraven goes home without a race to his credit. He put over with the reflection, however, of knowing that he led the Vigilant by almost two minutes in beating to windward 15 miles and would in all probability have won the race but for the accident to his canvas. As it was, the Vigilant won by 46 seconds. It was a day long to be remembered. The weather bureau predicted that the wind would blow great guns and that the storm which had caused havoc on the southern coast would get here before the race was over. It came on time. The yachts finished in the edge of it, and all the accompanying fleet raced home with it. No grander race was ever sailed off this coast, and the spectators on the excursion boats were amply repaid for their trip and incidental discomfort due to the thrashing of the boats in the heavy sea.

THE AMERICA'S CUP.

What Luck to Sail the Englishman.

It was a day of reefed mainsails, a day when life lines were out, a day when the strength of spars and toughness of canvas counted fully as much as lines below water. It was a day to test seamanship as well as yacht architecture. It was just the day that Lord Dunraven and all the British crew had prayed for, and the only kind of a day in which he still claimed that his yacht could sail with the Vigilant. She had been beaten in two races easily in a light wind, and still more easily in what Americans call a stiff breeze. His only hope was in a gale, and the gale split his sails, while the good Vigilant came home under a big cloud of canvas, with the wind piping through her shrouds and without a mishap of any kind. And the Valkyrie had in addition 7,240 pounds of ballast in her hold. The additional ballast had increased her load water line so that she had a time allowance of 1 minute and 32 seconds instead of 1 minute and 45 seconds.

At 12:07 the May ran up the preliminary signal and fired a gun to attract attention to it. Two minutes later the preparatory gun was fired, and the red ball went up to the stay between masts. The wind was right from the east and blowing harder every minute. The fleet of yachts on the steamers watched the two yachts careening off over as they rushed through the water, parting the foam at their bows and leaving a trail of foam behind. At times one or the other of the racers would bend before a particularly strong blast until she seemed to be on her beam ends. There were plucky sailormen on both boats. Neither skipper would house his topmast or lower a topsail. It was to be a final decisive test of battle to the death, and the spectators applauded as the daring yachtsmen sped past them.

Crossed the Line Almost Together.

The start took place at 12:37. Like that of last Saturday, the boats went over almost together and made a pretty sight as they laid over toward Rockaway beach on their first tack to windward.

The Valkyrie led all the way out and the largest part of the way home. She turned the outer mark at 2:30:03, and the Vigilant followed at 2:30:05, the English boat having a time of 2 minutes 30 seconds. Both boats took in the spinnakers for the run home, and ran for home in the young gale which prevailed. The Vigilant began to gain almost immediately and continued to do so, but very slowly.

CAPTAIN CRANFIELD. CAPTAIN BARKER.

Though the best to windward was exciting, the run home was the more exciting contested to the two boats. The lead seemed to freshen, and the sea became angry and turbulent; still both boats carried their sails. Every few minutes the Valkyrie dipped her skirts of the outer turn before she got her heavier spinnaker, her big 7th topsail and her balloon jib topsail out.

The Vigilant, though a little slower than the Valkyrie in setting her kites, carried nearly twice as much of canvas, and in the surprises of the heavy, choppy sea, the Vigilant in her mainsail and set her large 7th topsail over the working one that she had carried all day. This great area of sail seemed to completely embrace the gale and less cup defender got scared of itself more than enough to blow her to victory.

The Vigilant, though she showed a half mile behind at the turn, managed to pick up handily on her English rival, blanketed the leader, took away all of his wind, and then, with her greater power, walked away from him. The Englishmen showed that they could play at this game just as well as the Vigilant's men, and they tried it on the Yankee, but it was too late. The race from the Americas, and they let go their sheets.

Valkyrie, Jr., Has a Spinnaker Mishap.

It was 3:00 on the dot of 2½ hours of hard battling that set spectators and sailors alike to a series of unfortunate mishaps. Just the race for the Valkyrie. The Englishmen were heading the V's, hunt by several points, with still 1 minute and 30 seconds of time allowance to spare, when a little squall appeared on the inner bight of the cutter's spinnaker. Longer and longer grew the bight, to grow, and when it had extended 10 feet outboard Captain Cranfield was forced to take it in. Everything on the Vigilant was then ready for jibing. Even the great balloon jib topsail was full of wind, and with this great excess of canvas she suddenly also stood and rapidly opened the gap between herself and her crippled adversary. The way the sailors worked on board the Valkyrie was simply marvelous, for in less than two minutes the enormous sheet of light Irish linen was taken out of the hold and quickly run up to the masthead.

It was all in vain, however, for the wind was then blowing nearly half a gale, and the light piece of canvas was soon torn into shreds, the pieces flying all over the challenger like snowdrifts.

The finishing blow to the hopes of an English victory even for one brief day, for though a balloon jib topsail was hoisted in lieu of a spinnaker the English cutter fell rapidly astern and was passed by the blue about 300 yards behind the Vigilant.

The Vigilant as she crossed the line was saluted by all the vehicles of the attendant fleet, and the cheers of the spectators on the tors. Another blast at the whistles and a cheer for the gallant Englishman went up when the Valkyrie reached home. She had sailed a fine race and had made a close finish in spite of the misfortunes that attended her.

The Vigilant Reefed and Injured.

The Vigilant close reefed her mainsail, dropped her topsail and scudded home so fast that her tug could not overtake her. The Valkyrie also ran up to Bay Ridge under reefed mainsail and jib. Only the fastest steamboats could keep the pace they set. The outer edge of the gale had arrived, and the excursion boats reached the upper bay just as it broke on the city.

The Vigilant's Contraband Stock.

Captain Nat Herreshoff, in reply to an inquiry as to how he felt over the victory, said: "Why, I feel as well as we won; that's all, and of course we're glad."

C. Oliver Iselin greeted the reporter on the deck of the Vigilant. "We have won," he said, "and the cup is safe."

"What caused the delay in starting?"

"In the first place the Valkyrie, I believe, had to get in hand and appointed. She had some trouble. In the second place we were the cause of it, for our centerboard got stuck. We could neither raise nor lower it, and after many fruitless efforts to fix it we concluded to start."

"Did that affect your sailing?"

"Undoubtedly it did. There was 11 feet of it sticking down, and when we had rounded the stake boat for the run to the finish we were very anxious to get the centerboard up, but it was useless to try."

The stereotyped question as to the result of the race was put to Mr. Watson, the Valkyrie's designer. He said:

"What do I think of it? Am I satisfied? No. I am about 40 seconds dissatisfied."

"Will Lord Dunraven try for the cup again?"

"I really do not know."

"Is Mr. Jamieson likely to challenge for it?"

"He is the last yachtsman in Britain to do it. He has so declared himself several times."

"When is the Valkyrie going back?"

"I should say she would fit out at once. I haven't seen Lord Dunraven either today or yesterday, so I can't speak positively."

English Papers on the Result.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—The Daily Graphic, commenting on yesterday's yacht race, says: "Lord Dunraven has the sympathy of all Englishmen in his defeat. Nevertheless he must try to outsail the Americans before the same day an American yacht will come here and sweep the board."

The Daily News says: "If the race were across the Atlantic and in December, Valkyrie would certainly win."

The Morning Post says that Englishmen will regret Lord Dunraven's defeat, but they will find in the defeat a stimulus to further efforts. Echoing the conclusion of The Speaker, The Post proposes that the next challenger for the America's cup be provided with a centerboard.

Disappeared With a Domestic.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Oct. 14.—John G. Henderson of Gunysboro, N. S., has been missing since Wednesday night. He is 62 years old and had been passing the summer with his daughter here. Wednesday afternoon he left the house to get a dampsie for a neighbor and later returned with a woman named Susie Hill, who does not have a very good reputation. She did not suit, and when Henderson left the house he insisted that Henderson should accompany her, which he did. Since then they are missing. The Yarmouth has left Halifax in search.

Receivers For the Union Pacific.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Receivers were appointed for the Union Pacific railroad by Judge Brewster in the United States circuit court in Brooklyn. The appointments were made by Oliver Ames, Peter B. Wyckoff and Edwin Atkins, holders of bonds and mortgages, the interest on which has fallen due. Messrs. Ames and E. Ellery Anderson were appointed receivers of the Kansas Pacific. Each must qualify in $10,000 for the southern district of New York.

Wrestler Cannon Won.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—The international wrestling match between McInerny of America and Cannon of Liverpool for the world's championship and £200 took place in Liverpool in the presence of an enormous crowd. Cannon was declared the victor amid tumultuous applause.

"The Wee Hielan'" in London Streets.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—A crowd of unemployed workingmen, led by the soldier Williams, started to march through some of the principal streets chanting "The Marseillaise" and other revolutionary songs. They were charged by the police and were quickly dispersed. Williams and other leaders were arrested.

Mapp's Final Drink.

BIRMINGHAM, England, Oct. 14.—T. B. Mapp of Chicago, who came to this city on a visit recently, was found unconscious in the street and was taken to a hospital in a dying condition. He had fallen out of a cab while intoxicated.

Pyramidists Expedition Against Melilla.

MADRID, Oct. 14.—Preparations continue for the expedition against the pyramidists of the Moors. A Spanish squadron will render good assistance near Melilla. Another regiment embarked at Cadiz for Melilla.

Coal in Chicago in Boycott Days.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—Owing to the boycott, coal is very scarce in Chicago, and in the poorer districts the retail price of coal purchased here fallen 2 shillings a ton.

Cable Cutters in Liverpool.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 14.—A fresher case of disorderly conduct was in and Asiatic dockers, FAIR TRADE WRECKED.

Twelve Killed and Over Thirty Injured.

MANY VICTIMS FROM THE EAST.

An Airbrake Failed to Work, and One Special Train Dashed Into Another—The Accident Occurred In the Yard at Jackson, Mich.

JACKSON, Mich., Oct. 14.—The second greatest accident in the history of the Michigan Central railroad occurred here within 100 yards of the place where almost 14 years ago the deadly canvas accident takes a freight engine in October, 1879, and 18 people were killed. Yesterday's disaster has so far a record of 12 dead, 3 probably fatally injured, and 15 others more or less seriously hurt.

An excursion train originating at Owego, N. Y., which had been turned over to the Lehigh Valley, Jackson, Scott and Cortland to the Michigan Central road at Buffalo, was standing on a track at Jackson, standing on the ground, also 'bulled' with superintendent from the east, crashed into it from the rear and telescoped the three last cars of two Owego special.

The Dead and Injured.

The officers of the road gave out the following list of the killed:

Mrs. Charles Starr, Elmira, N. Y.
Miss Bessie McMurray, Penn Yan, N. Y.
Miss Harriet Brewer, Pine City, N. Y.
George Hoffman, Saranac, N. Y.
Mrs. J. A. Beardsley, East Canton, Pa.
Mrs. D. J. Gibbs, Hamilton, Ontario, N.Y.
Mrs. Lloyd Woodbury, Bath, N. Y.
James Woodbury, Bath, N. Y.
Mrs. D. J. Gibbs, Wheeler, N. Y.
Infant child of Mrs. Anson Harrington, Elmira, N. Y.
Two not yet identified.

Of these, one is a dark skinned man, with a flowing beard and wearing Oriental dress. There are no means of identifying him. The other is a woman of 35, with dark hair and sallow complexion, having some show of foreign blood in her veins. She wears a wedding ring on the fourth finger of the right hand. The man is terribly crushed about the head and face, but the features are discernible.

The unknown man and woman dead at the morgue have not a scrap to identify them, but records of newspapers say that they believe their name is Buck and they were husband and wife. They were taken out together and seemed to have been in one sack.

Following is a list of the injured:

Mrs. Searle, Elmira, N. Y., badly injured about head; Edward Fay, Mrs. C. W. Fay, Miss Laura Fay all of Elmira, N. Y., all badly injured; Miss Blanche Beardsley, Canton, Pa., is in a precarious condition; L. N. Beardsley, Canton, Pa.; Mrs. Allen Harris, Troy, Pa., two ribs broken and bruised; Frank Farley, Columbia Cross Roads, Pa., slightly; Mrs. J. A. B. Arlington, Spencer, N. Y., arm and shoulder fractured; Sarah Keeler, Hammondsport, N. Y., legs broken and injured internally; Mary B. Wakefield, Elmira, N. Y., slightly; Mrs. F. A. Dodd and child, Elmira, N. Y., slightly; Mrs. W. R. Humphrey, Chenango, N. Y., arm broken; William Whalen, engineer Welsh special, seriously burned, leg broken; Mrs. J. H. Gardner, Horseheads, N. Y., slightly; L. B. Ainsworth, Norwich, N. Y., slightly; Robert Walsh, Horseheads, N. Y., slightly; Mrs. Barbara Healey, both legs broken near ankle, right arm broken near elbow, recovery doubtful; J. N. Anderson, aged 80, New York state, cut, bruised about face and back and legs, recovery doubtful; Miss Kate Healy, Morris Run, Pa., aged 25, right leg broken and bruised, probably recover; Mrs. Timothy Donovan, Morris Run, Pa., internal injuries, recovery doubtful; Mrs. Anson Harrington, Elmira, N. Y., right leg broken, left arm bruised, left eyeball bruised, her recovery doubtful; Miss Maude Benedict, Canton, Pa., injured in back, body painfully bruised, may recover; Mrs. Frederick Brooks, Norwich, N. Y., slightly; Miss Headley, Elmira, N. Y., slightly; Frederick Brooks, Norwich, N. Y.; Mrs. Frederick Brooks, Norwich, N. Y.; Edward Nash, Norwich, N. Y.; Mrs. Edward Nash, Norwich, N. Y.; Mary C. Krise, Canton, Pa., slightly.

The scene after the wrecks cast of the passenger station. An excursion train from the east was standing at the station when another excursion train pulled in. The engineer lost control of his airbrake and could not stop his train, and it rushed at the rate of 40 miles an hour into the train already standing under it and throwing the cars in all directions.

Nine cars were demolished and the locomotive smashed to pieces. Two cars were thrown across the main track. Others were driven completely through another, and others were turned entirely over.

The second section of the Owego special ran into the rear end of the first section. Six dead bodies were taken out within 20 minutes, and the work had only begun.

Scenes at the Accident.

One of the most horrible sights in connection with the accident was a woman carrying a head by the hair around through the wreckage and crying wildly and apparently a raving maniac. She was taken care of by the police.

Engineer Welch of the first section had a miraculous escape. He had first tried trying the airbrakes on the first section and was walking to the rear of his train, believing under it and throwing the cars in all directions.

Nine cars were demolished and the locomotive smashed to pieces. Two cars were thrown across the main track. Others were driven completely through another, and others were turned entirely over.

The second section of the Owego special ran into the rear end of the first section. Six dead bodies were taken out within 20 minutes, and the work had only begun.

Scenes at the Accident.

One of the most horrible sights in connection with the accident was a woman carrying a head by the hair around through the wreckage and crying wildly and apparently a raving maniac. She was taken care of by the police.

Engineer Welch of the first section had a miraculous escape. He had first tried trying the airbrakes on the first section and was walking to the rear of his train, believing under it and throwing the cars in all directions.

Hood's Cures

Mrs. Jennie Cunningham

"I Could Eat Nothing

but very light food, without having terrible distress in my stomach. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, two bottles of Hood's I saw that it was doing me good. I continued to grow better while taking them, and

Now I Can Eat Anything, and my health is very much better than for many years." MRS. JENNIE CUNNINGHAM, South Coventry, Conn.

Hood's Pills cure Constipation by restoring the natural action to the liver. 25c.

F. W. HULETT,

MUSIC DEALER,

74 West Front Street,

handles the following makes:

Gildemeister & Kroeger.
Kranich & Bach.
Starr.
Mulfield.
Jacob Bros. Pianos,
and the world-renowned
Newman Bros. and Mason & Hamlin Organs.

Boehm's.

$5.00

buys a fine Ladies' Coat, fur edged, made of heavy beaver cloth, with latest style cape. Largest and best assortment of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Cloths, Jackets, Fur Capes, etc., ever shown in this vicinity. See the line of Cloths for Ladies' and Children's Coats we are now offering.

25c per yard is this price we are showing a line of Cashmeres, Storm serges, Dress Flannels, Fancies, Cheviots, Black and Stripes, etc., ranging in width from 36 to 54 inches. The new crepe figured Bedford cord suitings 50c, real value 75c. MILLINERY. Positively the best variety of trimmed and untrimmed Hats ever seen in this city, and at lowest possible prices, consistent with first-class work.

ROCHESTER BEERS.

The success already attained by this brand of Lager Beer is beyond expectation. No other Beer ever handled in this city has had such remarkable sales. Try it!

Bottled Liquors,

Imported Beers and Ales are having a very large sale at this season. My stock is first class, and it will pay you to investigate.

FRANK LINKE'S

Wholesale Liquor Establishment,
42 WEST FRONT STREET.
Telephone Call, 197.

The only place to buy

Sea Food!

is at

TERRY'S

North Avenue Sea Food Market,

where you will find the biggest stock in Plainfield, also all other kinds in season, at the lowest prices.

Metropolitan Livery and Boarding Stables!

Coaches, Close Carriages, Park Phaetons, Surreys, Buggies, Four Pastimes and Saddle Horses.

Special care given boarding horses. Storage for furniture and carriages.

140 AND 142 NORTH AVENUE.
Opposite Depot. Telephone Call, 47.
H. P. RIDER, Proprietor. FRANK DAY, Manager.

A. W. Rand,

160 WEST FRONT STREET.

New and second hand

SCHOOL - BOOKS.

School supplies of all kinds.

Those wishing to exchange second hand books must bring them in immediately.

U. B. CRANE,

has the largest stock of

Fine Fall HATS,

in Plainfield.

42 WEST FRONT STREET.

Educational.

HARNED ACADEMY.

BOARDING AND DAY SCHOOL.

New School Buildings,
Competent Instructors,
Students Prepared for College,
For Business, and
In Special Subjects.

For circulars, address "Harned Academy," Plainfield, N. J.

Plainfield Manual Training School,

1200 EAST FRONT STREET.

The course of study includes Sloyd, lessons each week, in the various branches taught, for which the charge is two dollars per week. Lessons in any of the other studies may be taken singly, at correspondingly low prices. Visitors will be welcomed on Monday, Tuesday and Friday. JOHN DALRIEL, Principal.

Plainfield Seminary,

re-opened

SEPTEMBER 14, 1893.

(26th year.)

Miss E. R. KENYON, Principal.

FRENCH LESSONS.

Instruction and entertainment in French given by Mlle. Lemoine, graduate of Institution de Demoiselles, Versailles, and Professeur Diplome, Ecole Normale Primaire Pedagogique, Paris. Private lessons, schools, and others, for terms and trial lessons, address 1 Lincoln place, Plainfield, care of Miss Lemoine and Miss Pinchard.

MISS FAWCETT'S

Private school for primary and intermediate pupils, 25 Washington avenue. French, Music, Drawing, Calisthenics. Pupils prepared for the grammar school. Special attention will be given to these classes will be afforded to those not connected with the school. At home Wednesdays, from 2 to 5 p. m.

MISS JEANNETTE MATTISON,

Teacher of Piano. Gives lessons at her home, corner of Park avenue and Somerset street. Pupils may have regular practice hour at studio parlors. Address, or call at residence. Best references. No. 48 East Front street.

GERMAN SCHOOL.

Corner Grove street and Manor avenue, opens on Saturday, October 14, 1893, at 10 o'clock a. m. Rev. C. Klonke. 10 5 tf

Another one in the race, and

A. G. VOGELER

takes the lead.

LOOK AT THESE PRICES.

Porterhouse Steak	15c.
Sirloin	12c.
Roast	12c.
Liver	5c.
Roast Beef	10c.
Lamb Chops	14c.
Veal	14c.
Leg Lamb	12c.
Leg Spring Lamb	15c.
Shoulder Spring Lamb	12c.
Jersey Ham	15c.
French Mutton Fork	14c.
French Stewing	10c.
Pickled Tripe	10c.
Pickled Pigs' Feet	8c.

Headquarters for Fat-ens. Bologna made fresh twice a day. I sell and get your money's worth.

Union Meat Market,

131 WEST FRONT STREET.
9 14 1m A. G. Vogeler, Manager.

Are You Insured?

If you are 21 years old you can pay annually for fifteen years and then you will receive

If 20 years old, $67.10.
If 30 years old, $67.10.
If 34 years old, $67.10.

This sum of $1,000 is payable to the insured, if living, at the expiration of fifteen years, or at his death if prior.

FOR A LIFE POLICY, of $1,000 the annual payments to continue during life, the payments for young men born on 21 years, 24 are between $13.60 and $20.

For particulars and further information apply to or address, H. F. RIDER, 11 Somerset street, Agent. The New York Mutual Life Insurance Company.

JOSEPH SOHL,

PRACTICAL

Electrician

49 NORTH AVENUE.
Plainfield, N. J.

Estimates furnished on Electric Light Wiring, Burglar Alarm and Bell Work and repairing of same. Dealer in Electric and Gas Fixtures.

$55!

Six Days at the World's Fair.

A WEEK OF HOLIDAYS.

Railroad tickets, hotel accommodations, admission to the World's Columbian Exposition are provided, including two excursions, one by steamer (meals, state-room, berth, and other CLUBS, to parties of two or more friends or families). Also excursions to Niagara Falls, Washington, Boston, Philadelphia, Atlantic City, Cape May, Old Point Comfort, and other points of interest, and to cities and large manufacturing establishments. We have exclusive arrangements with the great railway terminal in Chicago.

Complete descriptive circulars, with rates, itinerary, and references, sent free on application.

THE FIGHT RENEWED.

Repealers Begin Again Their Fight to Force a Vote.

STEWART FINISHING HIS SPEECH.

Refreshed by Sleep and Rest, Voorhees Again Marshals His Forces—The Senate Debating the McCreary Clause Bill. Indefinite In the Discussion.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—It might have been expected that after a continuous session of 19 hours, and after the partial failure of the test of physical endurance on the silver purchase repeal bill, that measure would have been allowed to go over till next Monday and that the senate would have adjourned till then. Such was not the case, however.

The senate met at the usual hour, took up the bill promptly, and submitted, wearied but patient, to the second instalment of Mr. Stewart's speech. Not only did it do so, but it was a remarkable fact that there were several more senators present than there had been for some weeks past. The first roll calls showed the presence of 54 senators, the second of 51 and the third of 53. The fifth call showed the presence of 57.

Mr. Stewart announced his purpose not to vote for any bill that would limit the life of silver, and he was still talking at 7 p. m., only interrupted by half hourly calls. There was, indeed, one longer break in his speech, while Senators Teller and Hoar had an excited discussion over the rights of minorities.

Mr. Vest gave notice of an amendment to the bill. The amendment proposes the repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman act.

A Rest For Stewart.

Mr. Stewart once yielded the floor temporarily to Mr. Manderson, who offered a resolution instructing the committee on Pacific railroads to investigate and report whether the Union Pacific Railroad company has passed into the hands of a receiver, and if so, by what action and under what circumstances, and what steps, if any, are necessary to protect the interests of the United States and secure the indebtedness of the company to the government.

Mr. Brice, chairman of the Pacific railroad committee, said that he had had during the last few days consultations with the law officers of the government—the attorney general and solicitor general. He had called their attention to the imminency of a receivership for the Union Pacific and to the necessity of protecting the interest of the government, so that receivers' certificates for the payment of the floating debts of the company should not be issued to take precedence of the government lien. The attorney general, he said, had put the solicitor general's office had had the matter under consideration, but there was an insufficiency of legal force in their offices, and there was also insufficient appropriation at their command to enable them to employ outside counsel. He suggested that the resolution lie over for the present.

Mr. Manderson presented a different amendment as to the right of the committee on Pacific railroads to authorize the employment of counsel. He added that he had learned by telegraph that Mr. S. H. H. Clark, the president of the Union Pacific, had been appointed receiver. After some further colloquy the resolution went over.

Debate Outside of the Silver Bill.

The house resumed consideration of the McCreary bill to amend and modify the Geary Chinese registration and exclusion act after having agreed to vote on the measure and pending amendment at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon. The intervening time to be given to debate. Mr. Rayner was the first speaker. He argued that the passage of the bill was an act of self evident justice.

Mr. Rayner made an impassioned speech in favor of the bill, being finally interrupted by questions pleading to exciting colloquies between himself and several Republicans.

Mr. Sickles of New York followed Mr. Rayner in a brief speech in support of the bill, and devoted it largely to a discussion of the effects upon the interests of American labor of the presence of the Chinese in this country. "This cry of Chinese cheap labor," he said, "is indicative of danger to American labor in all of its elements. The American laborer fears the competition of no foreign laborer."

He raised a laugh by saying, "I am glad that they don't drink whisky; that they don't join strikes nor assault other men who are willing to work for the wages offered." Mr. Sickles had read the following proposed amendment:

Provided, That nothing contained in this act or in any act shall be held or construed with China, but in violation of the provisions of all of them.

Another proposition which Mr. Rayner advanced was that every single Chinese person with respect to whom the Geary law proposed to legislate was legally domiciled within the United States in accordance with the terms of the laws and treaties by which they were invited to come to this country. "If we are going to exercise natural justice in this country," he said, "if we are going to maintain human rights, we must pass this bill."

Mr. Rayner's energetic and emphatic manner attracted more attention to him than any previous speaker on the question had secured, with the result that he was almost constantly interrupted by questions.

Mr. Tarsney of Missouri asked him if the administration had done anything to enforce the law.

Mr. Rayner—No, and rightfully so.

Mr. Ray—How rightful?

"Mr. Rayner's Criticism.

Mr. Rayner—It came from the fact that there was insufficient funds at its disposal for the enforcement of the law. At the earlier stage of the matter the law was before the supreme court of the United States for consideration, and later, after it had been pronounced constitutional, there was a likelihood that it would be amended by congress."

In further discussion of this point Mr. Rayner said: "I am very particular in criticizing the judgment of any court, but I must say that, taking Justice Gray's declaration for the majority of the court in the light of the dissenting opinions of Chief Justice Fuller and Justices Field and Brewer, it is the most incomprehensible judgment ever rendered in this country."

In the course of the questioning to which he was subjected Mr. Rayner confessed that he had signed the report in favor of the Geary law and had voted to pass it. He explained that he had been led to do this upon his faith in Mr. Geary as to the necessity of the law and its provisions—a confidence that had been sadly shaken—and with the impression to him at the time that the law was unconstitutional.

Mr. Cannon—Wasn't an election pending?

Mr. Rayner—Oh, now, my friend may deny himself a matter if he wants to, but I say to him that if I had known the contents of the bill and the election of a Democratic president depended on my vote in favor of it, a Republican president would today be in the White House.

An interruption coming from a Democratic representative criticising the president for his failure to enforce the law, Mr. Rayner pseudonately rejoined: "The president has done his duty in accordance with the dictates of his own conscience. He is no weak, unscrupulous thing, yielding to every wind of public opinion. He does not believe in bartering away any of the principles upon which he was swept into office by an overwhelming verdict. But if these attacks upon him do not cease, I greatly fear that there won't be enough left of us to fight the enemy when the time comes."

Mr. Burrows—It does not look that way.

Mr. Rayner had intended to devote a portion of his speech to criticisms of the senate for its failure to do anything not acceptable to the minority and began by alluding to it as the "seat of anarchy." He was immediately called to order by Mr. Williams of Mississippi, and abandoned that portion of his speech. He closed with a fervid appeal to the house to pass the bill and not commit a great national crime as gross and wicked as the treatment accorded by Russia to the unfortunate Jews in her dominion and against which our own government had protested.

RUSSIANS AT TOULON.

The Czar's Fleet Royally Welcomed by the French.

TOULON, Oct. 14.—Two hundred thousand strangers gathered in Toulon to welcome the Russian fleet. Bunting flew on all sides. Bands played everywhere. The open space near the town hall and the streets leading to it were packed so densely that carriages could not pass. Hardly a man, woman or child was without a knot of French and Russian colors in the hat or on the breast.

The most popular articles sold by hawkers were small Franco-Russian conversation dictionaries, some of them containing only a few pages of the commonest expressions.

At 10:30 a. m. gunshots from the arsenal announced that the Russian warships were entering the harbor.

A light division of the French fleet put out to meet them. The shore of the roadstead was lined with people. Two 80 or more French warships in the harbor had all their decorations out, their yards manned and their bands playing. As the Russians passed the French warships the marines gave long cheers in unison, and the marines of the visiting squadron cheered in return.

At noon the chief officers of the French fleet and land forts embarked for the flagship. After embracing and speaking a few words of welcome the French officers and Admiral Avelan and his staff came to shore. The Russian admiral was greeted with incessant cheering. He was received with high military honors. He proceeded in a coupe with his staff to pay a visit to the French naval authorities, while the people cheered for Russia and the czar.

STORM MOVES NORTH.

New York and New Jersey Swept by Winds From the South.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—The city was visited by a severe rain and windstorm. It set in in earnest at about 10 o'clock last night, and the velocity of the wind and the downpour of rain were great. At the weather bureau it was stated the wind was blowing at the rate of 47 miles an hour. The storm continued all night. Rain is falling all along the coast and lake region. No reports of any serious damage have been made. Both telegraph and telephone wires were prostrated in all directions, and communication with many points was cut off for a time.

The Storm Howled Through Jersey.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Oct. 14.—A frightful gale of wind and rain howled through this portion of New Jersey last night, and much damage was done. Trees were uprooted, fences and outbuildings blown down and larger buildings unroofed.

All trains coming from the west were from two to four hours late. It is reported that a freight brakeman was blown from the top of a car on the Central Railroad of New Jersey near the junction. A farmhouse back of North Branch was blown over. At Washington the church steeple was blown down for the second time within a year. The Raritan river is rising very rapidly.

Little Damage In the South.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Oct. 14.—The storm has passed, and but little damage was done in this section. Along the Florida coast it was quite severe, blowing down poles and wires, while the smaller town suffered slightly. At Charleston the only damage was to the telephone system, the damage being but light. Savannah escaped practically unharmed.

Movements of Ocean Steamers.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—The following ocean steamers sail from this port today:

Lucania, Liverpool; City of Rome, Glasgow; Werra, Genoa; La Gascogne, Havre; Venezuela, La Guayra; Arizona, Glasgow; Rotterdam, Rotterdam; Russia, Hamburg.

Due here today: Paris, Southampton; La Touraine, Havre; Etruria, Liverpool; Suevia, Hamburg.

Shot His Wife In the Breast.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Dennis Fox, a plasterer, first threw acid from a revolver at his wife this morning and after wounding her slightly shot himself in the temple, inflicting a wound from which he will die. The shooting took place in the street, when Mrs. Fox was surrounded by children.

He Forged an Injunction.

NASHVILLE, Oct. 14.—Judge M. E. Mathers, a practicing attorney of Decatur, Ala., has been arrested on a charge of forging an injunction alleged by him to have been issued by United States Circuit Judge Bruce during the recent strike in the Louisville and Nashville shops at Decatur.

College Presidents In Session.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 14.—Over a hundred college presidents and leading instructors in the educational institutions of New England are here to participate in the eighth annual convention of New England colleges and preparatory schools at Yale.

Judge Hammond Is Ill.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 14.—Supreme Court Justice Francis Hammond is ill at his home in this city. The judge leaves a widow and two children. He was born in Alabama, Genesee county, N. Y., in 1827.

Mr. Anderson Third Receiver.

BOSTON, Oct. 14.—Mr. R. Ellery Anderson, government director of the Union Pacific, has been appointed third receiver.

An Iron Foundry Starts Up.

PLEMINGTON, N. J., Oct. 14.—The Flemington iron foundry has started up with a full force.

THE SHAM BATTLE AT RIO.

The First Vessel From That Port Brings a Story.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—The steamship Biela, which left Santos on the night of Sept. 20, has arrived here. She brought a miscellaneous cargo of merchandise, but no passengers. The Biela is the first vessel to arrive in this port from the Brazilian coast since the last revolution was started.

The Biela had almost reached the mouth of the river when the bombardment or sham battle began. The man-of-war Republica made her appearance off the quarantine and apparently made a lively bluff-like upon the fort, although the mate of the Biela declares they were only firing blank shells. Meanwhile the government had thrown up a naval defense quite as novel as the famous cotton bale intrenchment at New Orleans.

They had collected together all the old hulks in the harbor and anchored them together broadside, touching one another at the mouth of the river. The impossibility of such a barrier without literally tearing it to pieces is readily apparent. The blockade was strengthened by a number of torpedoes which are scattered over the bottom of the river at this point.

There were six European steamers and a number of sailing ships in the harbor, but none of them made any effort to leave. Captain Davies having secured the permission of the governor to pass the fort, determined to weigh anchor and go to sea. The greatest danger was the possibility that the rebel ships would fire across their bows and force them to lay to and give up what coal they had aboard. They were not molested, however, and all were glad to get away from the place. When asked about the cholera ship which has been said to be cruising along the Brazilian coast trying to enter different ports, he said that he had heard that a big Italian steamship upon which 200 people had died had been driven out of the harbor of Rio Janeiro.

CAPTAIN BAYNE'S DEATH.

It Was Due to Natural Causes and Not to Cocaine Pills.

HARTFORD, Oct. 14.—There is some mystery connected with the death of Vice President Bayne of the Ætna Insurance company at Newport, N. J. It is given out that the cause of death was heart disease, but later information from the Shellman House, where he died, is that the evening before he bought 20 morphine and cocaine pills and took 13 before retiring to alleviate some internal trouble. His condition, it is stated, was discovered by his wife, and three physicians worked over him for four hours before he died.

Captain Bayne was at times a great sufferer from wounds received during the war. The suicide theory is entirely untenable. There is absolutely no cause to suspect suicide.

Captain Bayne will be buried at New York Mills, N. Y., on Monday. A delegation of R. O. Tyler post, of which he was commander, will attend the funeral.

Later.—A telegram from Captain Bayne's brother, Alexander Bayne of New York Mills, states that he died wholly from natural causes.

Army of the Tennessee Disbanded.

KNOXVILLE, Oct. 14.—The 16 soldiers of the Tennessee militia charged with lynching Richard Drummond at Coal Creek were released under a $3,000 bail for the entire body of 16 men. Proceed at Knoxville. After the decision was rendered the Army of Tennessee was paid off and disbanded.

The Central Arties Disturbances.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—A dispatch from Johannesburg, in the Transvaal, says that a large body of Matabele warriors, including a crack Embezi regiment, is threatening the Fort Victoria column on the flank and rear.

Drummond Out of Charlestown Navy Yard.

BOSTON, Oct. 14.—At Charlestown navy yard Harry Jewell, a marine, who had been dishonorably discharged from the service, was drummed out of the yard by his comrades.

English Miners at Work Again.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—The miners' strike in Nottinghamshire has almost ended. There are now only 6,000 men idle out of a total of 32,000 miners.

Editor Dana Talks Shop.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Oct. 14.—Hon. Charles A. Dana lectured in Union college on "Journalism and the Press."

That Pie

I had for dinner was the best I ever ate. Thanks to COTTOLENE, the new and successful shortening.

ASK YOUR GROCER FOR IT.

Send three cents in stamps to N. K. Fairbank & Co., Chicago, for Choice Cookery Book, containing 65 handsome recipes; will also send sample of Cottolene free.

Made only by N. K. FAIRBANK & CO., CHICAGO, and 1339 Delaware Ave., Phila. Produce Exchange, N. Y.

New : Proprietor!

HENRY F. WINDHAM,

Arlington : Hotel!

Somerset street and Greenbrook road.

VIGOR OF MEN

Easily, Quickly, Permanently Restored.

Weakness, Nervousness, Debility, and all the train of evils from early errors or later excesses, the result of overwork, sickness, worry, etc. Full strength, development and tone given to every organ and portion of the body. Simple, natural methods. Immediate improvement seen. Failure impossible. 2,000 references and proofs mailed (sealed) free.

ERIE MEDICAL CO., Buffalo, N.Y.

Do You?

Intend to invest in a

WHEEL?

If so, call on

Dickinson,

The Opticlan.

Agent for the Excelsior, the best wheel in the market. 4 weights, 24, 26, 28 and 41 lbs. Wheels to hire at reasonable rates.

TAKE NOTICE.

Charles Arnold,

the butcher,

Is Still in the Race

for cut prices.

Fresh Pork and Sausage 12c lb.
My own Dressed Jersey Chickens, 16c. lb.
Legs Mutton, 10c. lb.
Lamb, 12c. lb.
My Smoked Meats and all other Meats will be the same old cut prices.

Arnold's : Market,

208 LIBERTY STREET.

GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE.

Strictly Cash.

Great Bargains

in all grades of

WALL PAPERS,

for the next 60 days.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

20 EAST FRONT STREET.

The Vanderbilts and Adlers!

Use the same make of imported Table Oil, Cheese and French Sardines that I now have in stock.

TRY ARE DELICIOUS.

And then I personally select the

FRESH FISH!

I have on sale to-day and to-morrow. Call and see my stock.

JULES BOVEY,

60 Somerset Street.

DR. MOTT,
Graduate of United States Embalming College.
UNDERTAKER : AND : EMBALMER,
Office at residence, 179 Somerset Street.
A lamount, N. J.

Townsend's Marble Works,

20 Somerset Street.

Cents-Word Column.

FOR SALE.

PIANO for sale, or rent, cheap. Harp attachment. 301 East Front street. 12 3

A GOOD horse for sale. 229 West Third street. 10 10

FOR SALE—A fresh, milch cow. John Lyons, Plainfield avenue, between Plainfield and New Brooklyn. 9 6

FOR SALE—At a bargain if discount. Lots No. 1, corner Somerset street and Grandview avenue. No. 2, at 100 Somerset street. No. 3, Grandview avenue, first lot from Somerset street. Inquire, Jacob Vogel, No. 65 Somerset street, North Plainfield. 9 6

FOR SALE—$6,000—Two dwellings and one building lot. All in North Plainfield. Titles perfect. Terms easy. Dwellings both rented. Address "R. D. B.," care of EVENING NEWS. 12

FOR SALE—New house. Park place, near Mercer avenue, (Washington Park.) Mulford, broker. 9 14 tf

HELP WANTED.

GLAZIER, applied to any window, produces, at a nominal cost, all the beauty of cut plate glass. Every agent wanted for Plainfield, N. J. Liberal commission. A CLAW, Stevenson & Orr, 56 Wall street, New York. 13 2

WANTED—Two girls, one as cook and laundress, and one as waitress and chambermaid. Must be well recommended. Apply at 55 Washington avenue, middle house. 13 2

A GOOD girl wanted for general housework in small family. Must be neat, clean, competent and fond of children. Address "Mrs. S.," care of EVENING NEWS. 13 2

WANTED—Work by assistant dressmaker and seamstress. Address "J. S.," care EVENING NEWS. 13 2

SITUATIONS WANTED.

POSITION wanted by young man as clerk. Address "S. D.," care of EVENING NEWS. 13 2

YOUNG man, 25, wants position as clerk, best references. Address "S. W.," care of EVENING NEWS. 11 4

FOR RENT.

MAN and wife only, coming soon furnished house in Plainfield, would rent same and accept board. Address "J. R. P." Fremont Post Office. 12 3

HOUSE, 10 LAKE—Six rooms, modern conveniences. All of double house on park avenue, between Fifth and Sixth streets, or will rent rooms separately for my own use. Very low rent to the right party. Consult Paul, M. D. 12 5

120 CRESCENT avenue. One large and a hall room. Use of bath. 10 7

AN OPPORTUNITY—$18 per month will rent a pleasantly located house at 20 Somerset street. Grand outing for a large family. Call at 20 as above. 10 7 tf.

NICELY furnished rooms to let, 213 Richmond street. 5 14

TO LET—A furnished room with or without board to a lady. 322 East Fifth street. 9 13tf

TO LET—Seven room house near Front's. Also twelve room house on Front street. Both in good order. Enquire, City Hotel. 9 6 tf

LOST AND FOUND.

LOST—On Central avenue, Friday afternoon, a mink cape. The finder will be liberally rewarded on leaving it at 5 La Grau de avenue. 13 2

Do Your Corns Hurt?

They can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of

ELECTRIC Corn Cure.

A remedy that never fails. A guarantee is sent with each box. If it fails to cure you is not made the money is to be refunded at once. Price, 50c. per box. Sent postpaid to any part of the United States on receipt of price. Stamps taken. Send by postal note or silver, as per risk.) A book of testimonials with each box.

ALLEN & CO.,
6 29 tf Lock Box 35, Richmond, Va.

Van Eps,

THE NEW JEWELER.

19 Park Avenue. Also a large variety of Musical Goods.

World's Fair Excursion Tickets!

Going and returning via all the different Lines, with or without hotel accommodations at

FRANK'S

Lowest Rate Railroad and Steamship Agency,

345 AND 347 BROADWAY, Corner Leonard Street, NEW YORK.

Lowest Rates to all parts of the World. Tickets purchased and exchanged. Sleeping berths reserved. Baggage transferred.

MEMBER AMERICAN TICKET BROKERS' ASSOCIATION. 10 5 3m

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

Successors to

The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,

Dealers in

Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials

43 to 69 PARK AVENUE.

Are now prepared with their increased facilities, (having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs. A. D. Cook & Bro.,) to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

1893 TAXES!

Notice is hereby given to the taxpayers of the

City of Plainfield,

that the taxes assessed in said city for the year 1893 are now due and payable, and that if the said taxes be not paid by the

20th Day of December

next, the names of the defaulters, with their respective taxes, will be returned to the City Judge for the prosecution. The

COMMISSIONERS OF APPEAL

in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council Chamber, on the

Fourth Tuesday in November Next,

(the 28th,) and sit from two o'clock p. m. until five o'clock p. m. of that day, if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

JOHN JOHNSON,
Collector of Taxes.
Dated, Plainfield, N. J., October 3, 1893.
10 2 1td

Railroad Time Table.

CENTRAL RAILROAD OF NEW JERSEY

(Anthracite coal used exclusively insuring cleanliness and comfort.)

Stations in New York, foot of Liberty street. Time-table in effect July 23, 1893.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 5 00, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 a m, 12 00, 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p m, 12 00 night.

Leave New York 8 35, 9 05, 9 35, 10 05, 10 35, 11 05, 11 35 a m, 12 05, 12 35, 1 05, 1 35, 2 05, 2 35, 3 05, 3 35, 4 05, 4 35, 5 05, 5 35, 6 05, 6 35, 7 05, 7 35, 8 05, 8 35, 9 05, 9 35, 10 05, 10 35, 11 05, 11 35 p m, 12 05 night, 1 05, 2 05, 3 05, 4 05, 5 05, 6 05, 7 05, 8 05, 9 05, 10 05, 11 05 p m.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 6 30, 8 00, 9 30, 11 00 a m, 12 30, 2 00, 3 30, 5 00, 6 30, 8 00, 9 30, 11 00 p m.

Leave Somerville 7 10, 8 40, 10 10, 11 40 a m, 1 10, 2 40, 4 10, 5 40, 7 10, 8 40, 10 10, 11 40 p m.

PLAINFIELD AND RARITAN.

Leave Plainfield 6 30, 8 00, 9 30, 11 00 a m, 12 30, 2 00, 3 30, 5 00, 6 30, 8 00, 9 30, 11 00 p m.

Leave Raritan 7 10, 8 40, 10 10, 11 40 a m, 1 10, 2 40, 4 10, 5 40, 7 10, 8 40, 10 10, 11 40 p m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD AT 7 30 a m, for Bound Brook, Somerville, Raritan, Flemington, Mount Olive, Washington, and Hackettstown.

8 00 a m, for Bound Brook, Somerville, Raritan, Flemington, Mount Olive, Washington, and Hackettstown.

9 30 a m, for Bound Brook, Somerville, Raritan, Flemington, Mount Olive, Washington, and Hackettstown.

11 00 a m, for Bound Brook, Somerville, Raritan, Flemington, Mount Olive, Washington, and Hackettstown.

12 30 p m, for Bound Brook, Somerville, Raritan, Flemington, Mount Olive, Washington, and Hackettstown.

2 00 p m, for Bound Brook, Somerville, Raritan, Flemington, Mount Olive, Washington, and Hackettstown.

3 30 p m, for Bound Brook, Somerville, Raritan, Flemington, Mount Olive, Washington, and Hackettstown.

5 00 p m, for Bound Brook, Somerville, Raritan, Flemington, Mount Olive, Washington, and Hackettstown.

6 30 p m, for Bound Brook, Somerville, Raritan, Flemington, Mount Olive, Washington, and Hackettstown.

8 00 p m, for Bound Brook, Somerville, Raritan, Flemington, Mount Olive, Washington, and Hackettstown.

9 30 p m, for Bound Brook, Somerville, Raritan, Flemington, Mount Olive, Washington, and Hackettstown.

11 00 p m, for Bound Brook, Somerville, Raritan, Flemington, Mount Olive, Washington, and Hackettstown.

EASTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD AT 6 30 a m, for Bound Brook, Somerville, Raritan, Flemington, Mount Olive, Washington, and Hackettstown.

8 00 a m, for Bound Brook, Somerville, Raritan, Flemington, Mount Olive, Washington, and Hackettstown.

9 30 a m, for Bound Brook, Somerville, Raritan, Flemington, Mount Olive, Washington, and Hackettstown.

11 00 a m, for Bound Brook, Somerville, Raritan, Flemington, Mount Olive, Washington, and Hackettstown.

12 30 p m, for Bound Brook, Somerville, Raritan, Flemington, Mount Olive, Washington, and Hackettstown.

2 00 p m, for Bound Brook, Somerville, Raritan, Flemington, Mount Olive, Washington, and Hackettstown.

3 30 p m, for Bound Brook, Somerville, Raritan, Flemington, Mount Olive, Washington, and Hackettstown.

5 00 p m, for Bound Brook, Somerville, Raritan, Flemington, Mount Olive, Washington, and Hackettstown.

6 30 p m, for Bound Brook, Somerville, Raritan, Flemington, Mount Olive, Washington, and Hackettstown.

8 00 p m, for Bound Brook, Somerville, Raritan, Flemington, Mount Olive, Washington, and Hackettstown.

9 30 p m, for Bound Brook, Somerville, Raritan, Flemington, Mount Olive, Washington, and Hackettstown.

11 00 p m, for Bound Brook, Somerville, Raritan, Flemington, Mount Olive, Washington, and Hackettstown.

ROYAL BLUE LINE.

Leave Plainfield 8 00, 9 30, 11 00 a m, 12 30, 2 00, 3 30, 5 00, 6 30, 8 00, 9 30, 11 00 p m.

Leave New York 8 35, 9 05, 9 35, 10 05, 10 35, 11 05, 11 35 a m, 12 05, 12 35, 1 05, 1 35, 2 05, 2 35, 3 05, 3 35, 4 05, 4 35, 5 05, 5 35, 6 05, 6 35, 7 05, 7 35, 8 05, 8 35, 9 05, 9 35, 10 05, 10 35, 11 05, 11 35 p m, 12 05 night, 1 05, 2 05, 3 05, 4 05, 5 05, 6 05, 7 05, 8 05, 9 05, 10 05, 11 05 p m.

ROYAL BLUE LINE.

Leave Plainfield 8 00, 9 30, 11 00 a m, 12 30, 2 00, 3 30, 5 00, 6 30, 8 00, 9 30, 11 00 p m.

Leave Washington 8 40, 10 10, 11 40 a m, 1 10, 2 40, 4 10, 5 40, 7 10, 8 40, 10 10, 11 40 p m.

Leave Hackettstown 7 10, 8 40, 10 10, 11 40 a m, 1 10, 2 40, 4 10, 5 40, 7 10, 8 40, 10 10, 11 40 p m.

Leave Mount Olive 7 30, 9 00, 10 30, 12 00 a m, 1 30, 3 00, 4 30, 6 00, 7 30, 9 00, 10 30, 12 00 p m.

Leave Flemington 7 50, 9 20, 10 50, 12 20 a m, 1 50, 3 20, 4 50, 6 20, 7 50, 9 20, 10 50, 12 20 p m.

Leave Raritan 8 00, 9 30, 11 00 a m, 12 30, 2 00, 3 30, 5 00, 6 30, 8 00, 9 30, 11 00 p m.

Leave Somerville 8 10, 9 40, 11 10 a m, 12 40, 2 10, 3 40, 5 10, 6 40, 8 10, 9 40, 11 10 p m.

Leave Bound Brook 8 20, 9 50, 11 20 a m, 12 50, 2 20, 3 50, 5 20, 6 50, 8 20, 9 50, 11 20 p m.

Leave Plainfield 8 00, 9 30, 11 00 a m, 12 30, 2 00, 3 30, 5 00, 6 30, 8 00, 9 30, 11 00 p m.

Leave New York 8 35, 9 05, 9 35, 10 05, 10 35, 11 05, 11 35 a m, 12 05, 12 35, 1 05, 1 35, 2 05, 2 35, 3 05, 3 35, 4 05, 4 35, 5 05, 5 35, 6 05, 6 35, 7 05, 7 35, 8 05, 8 35, 9 05, 9 35, 10 05, 10 35, 11 05, 11 35 p m, 12 05 night, 1 05, 2 05, 3 05, 4 05, 5 05, 6 05, 7 05, 8 05, 9 05, 10 05, 11 05 p m.

Real Estate & Insurance

Edw. C. Mulford,
REAL ESTATE
AND
INSURANCE.
MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE
45 North Avenue.

M. M. Dunham,
REAL ESTATE
AND
INSURANCE.
No. 7 East Front street.

Wm. A. Woodruff,
REAL ESTATE
AND
INSURANCE.
MONEY TO LOAN on Approved Security.
Corner Front street and Park avenue.

Spicer & Hubbard,

Manufacturers of
Mouldings, Sash, Blinds, Doors, etc.
Corner Madison avenue and Third street.
SCROLL SAWING, TURNING.
Also plain and ornamental glass furnished to order.
10 29 ly

Professional Cards.

WILLIAM R. CODDINGTON,
Law Office, corner Park avenue and Front street, Plainfield, N. J. Money to loan on real estate security. Notary Public. Prompt attention to all business.

JAMESON & ANDERSON,
Counsellors at Law, 55 East Front street, Plainfield, N. J. Special attention given to Corporation and Chancery practice. Money to loan on first class mortgages.

F. A. DUNHAM, C. S.
Notary Public and Commissioner of Deeds for the State of New York. Office, 7 East Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

WILLIAM A. CODDINGTON,
Counsellor at Law, Notary Public and Commissioner of Deeds. Office, Coddington building, 111 West Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

CHARLES H. REED,
Counsellor at Law, Solicitor in Chancery, Commissioner of Deeds for other States, Notary Public, Conveyancer, Real Estate and Insurance Agent. Office, 29 West Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

CHARLES A. REED,
Counsellor at Law, Solicitor in Chancery, Supreme Court Commissioner of Deeds for other States, Notary Public, Conveyancer, Real Estate and Insurance Agent. Office, 29 West Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

Science Progress.

FOR AMATEUR PHOTOGRAPHERS.

A Convenient and Simple Way to Mount Prints of Any Size.

The following description of an album, which dispenses with both cardboard and the use of a mountant, will doubtless commend itself to many persons interested in photography. It is translated in Popular Science News from a French source. First provide what is known as a "spring back folio"—that is to say, a portfolio like the covers of a book, with a large, strong, hollow spring back that will grip anything that may be laid between the sides and pushed back into the hollow.

PHOTOGRAPH ALBUM.

The leaves of the album are made as follows: Good tough paper—manilla wrapping paper, for instance—is cut to the required size and folded double. On a band of calico (A) 2 inches wide is pasted a strip of card (B) an inch wide along the left side. The left hand fold of the manilla paper is then attached to the calico at the right, leaving a space of one-eighth inch of calico between to act as a hinge. The manilla paper is then carefully folded over so as to bring its right hand fold under the calico, where it is attached in like manner, leaving the clear space of one-eighth inch as before. Four short, diagonal cuts are now made with a sharp knife through the double leaf to hold the corners of the prints, which are slipped in under the paper. If prints of different sizes have to be put on the opposite sides of the same leaf, all that is necessary is to slip a piece of glass down between the folds and cut each side separately.

The prints can be changed about if desired, the smaller ones being made to occupy the place of a larger one, etc. The prints having been put in place in the leaves, the latter are inserted into the cover so that the spring grips the cardboard strips (C, C). The leaves may now be turned over at will by means of the calico hinge between the strips (C) and the manilla paper (D).

LEAF OF PHOTOGRAPH ALBUM.

Opals Cut In Cameo.

Of semiprecious stones none is lovelier than the opal, with its fiery rose and an

Hotels.

CENTRAL HOTEL,

No. 11 E. Front St.,

PLAINFIELD.

Windham & Crowley,

PROPRIETORS.

First-class bar attached.

Fourth Ward Hotel.

JOHN GOFF, Proprietor.

Boarders accommodated, both transient and permanent.

LARGE ROOMS and ALL MODERN IMPROVEMENTS.

Fine Wines, Liquors and CIGARS.

Corner Third and Liberty Streets.

Hotel Grenada,

NORTH AVENUE,

now open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the travelling public.

City Hotel,

Corner PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.

Transient guests accommodated.

Eugene Hoerster,

206 Grove Street,

North Plainfield.

Wholesale Dealer

in

FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.

Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

Now is Your Chance.

GRAND CLOTHING OPENING, at our retail store, 318 West Front street. Are you ready? We are prepared to offer the public a clean, fresh stock of Fall and Winter Clothing, for Men, Boys and Children. Remember, we sell at retail at the wholesale price.

C. SCHEPFLIN & CO,

318 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

Timely Warning! Winter Approaching!

Keep your Scalp Clean and your Hair Growing.

RANDOLPH'S Quinine and Glycerine

HAIR TONIC!

The Friend in the Hour of Need.

EACH BOTTLE GUARANTEED. Sold only by

L. W. RANDOLPH, Prescription Druggist,

143 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

Attenuation of green and blue that shame the peacock, while by a change of posture all these starry ardors can be lost in a milky way of whiteness, as suits one's mood. Opal runs, much like a vein of marble, through a matrix of brown ironstone. When the vein is seen to be thick enough to yield good pieces, the ironstone is split and the opal cut out.

But a singularly beautiful art is practiced by a German carver, who leaves the matrix as a background and cuts the opal lying attached to it, following the suggestions of color and form after the well known manner of a cameo. A cameo, however, is opaque and mere brown and white, whereas the opal is translucent and full of color. A dying aurora with a burning sun rising over the sea, a mermaid with the rosy fire in her cheek and the peacock tints in her tail, birds standing by a pool in violet twilight, are among this artist's happiest carvings.

Why Lamps Burn Badly.

A lamp burning badly develops more heat than usual, the light is red and the combustion imperfect, producing a disagreeable odor. Science says this may arise from the air not being properly nevertheless against the flame, or from the shape of the chimney allowing of back currents, or from the lamp being dirty, the airholes clogged, the wick damp or dirty, the presence of a trace of vegetable or animal oil in the vessels used for filling or from the oil itself, the presence of heavy oils or refining chemicals. When the oils are not homogeneous, a light and heavy oil being mixed, the heat developed is greater than with either oil separately, the result being more pronounced than when a poor wick is used.

Prepared Chalk.

Thoroughly pulverize the chalk, then mix it with clean rainwater in proportion of two pounds per gallon. Stir well and let it settle for about two minutes. The gritty matter will now have settled to the bottom. Slowly pour the water into another vessel so as not to disturb the sediment. Perish the whole to stand until entirely settled, then decant, as before. You now have prepared chalk ready for use, when dried. Spanish whiting may be treated in the same way and makes an excellent polishing powder, says The Jewelers' Circular.

To Keep a Watch From Losing Time.

During the night your watch is quiet, as it were—that is, it hangs in your vest without motion or touch. If you don't wind it at night, the mainspring is then relaxed, instead of being in that condition during the day, remarks The Industrial World. By winding it in the morning the mainspring remains close and tight all day. It keeps the movement steady at a time when you are handling it, running about the city attending to your daily affairs. A relaxed mainspring at this time accounts for fine watches varying slightly.

Beware of the Dog and Other Pets.

Ladies who are given to caressing and kissing their lapdogs and kittens will be surprised to learn that great danger lurks in such pastimes. If alleged investigations on the part of an Italian scientist are to be credited, the cat's saliva by which she washes her face is full of minute bacilli so deadly poisonous that rabbits and guinea pigs inoculated with it died in 24 hours. The dog's saliva is, if anything, worse, containing a greater variety of bacteria. Nor is the horse free from these deadly dealing organisms, and thus another source of apprehension is opened to the timid and fearful

CAREY'S

Storage Warerooms,

Corner Front and Grove Streets, Plainfield, N. J.

FOR FALL TRADE.

THE LEADER

has received a large variety of Infants' Cloaks, Coats, Slips, Robes, Flannel and Worsted Sacks, Hoods, Flannel Skirts, all of the latest styles. Also new styles of Ladies' Wrappers, Underwear and a large variety of Comfortables, at very low prices. Make no mistake, this is the new store.

HE LEADER! M. GOLDMANN, Prop.

210 WEST FRONT STREET. (Old No. 31)

from the earth, and a similar phenomenon is to be seen in the Sulatan salt mine in Hungary. The first discovery of natural gas made in America was, according to Thorne, in the neighborhood of Fredonia, Chautauqua county, N. Y., early in this century.

Catching a Tartar.

During a battle between the Russians and Tartars a private soldier of the former cried out, "Captain, I've caught a Tartar!" "Bring him along," said the officer. "He won't let me!" was the response. Investigation proved that the captive had the captor by the arm and would not allow him to move. So "catching a Tartar" is applicable to one who has found an antagonist too powerful for him.

The Most Ancient of Field Sports.

Falconry claims to be the most ancient field sports followed at the present day. There is an Assyrian bas-relief of a date antedating 1300 B. C., showing a falconer with a hawk on his wrist. In Britain it seems to have been followed before the time of the Heptarchy, and in the celebrated Bayeux tapestry Harold is figured with a hawk upon his hand. It seems, however, to have been practiced in eastern countries and central Europe long before it became established in Great Britain. But after the Norman conquest it took rapid strides in that country, being much indulged in by kings, nobles and ladies, and in those days the rank of an individual was limited by the particular species of hawk carried upon his wrist.

A HAWK TRAINED TO PURSUE GAME.

The sport declined somewhat in the seventeenth century, but again revived in the eighteenth, but with the introduction of fowling pieces and the art of shooting on the wing it went entirely out of fashion in England. The hawks were trained to mount and pursue game and bring it to their masters or mistresses, coming and going at the call of the latter with marvelous docility. They were tricked out with gay hoods and held until ordered to pursue the "quarry" or game by leathern straps fastened with rings of leather around each leg, just above the talons, and silken cords called "jesses." To each of these leather straps, or "jesses," was attached a small bell, shaped in most cases like the nearly closed sleigh bells of the present day. In India, Persia and other eastern countries falconry is still practiced.

Tired from Head to Foot

FROM HEAD TO FOOT.

That's what's the matter with the most of us. What's the remedy? Four ounces of one of the blood purifiers in the market of the day. We have known severe cases of so called rheumatism, neuralgia, backache, weak joints, headache, no appetite, to disappear entirely in a short time by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, Hood's Sarsaparilla, Ayer's Pills, &c., how quick your pains and aches will vanish. One first bath of Anti-Tire will do it. Trial size, 25 cents. Sold by druggists. Ask for sample. Send 15 cents in stamps for trial package.

LYONS & SINGLEY,
604 Jackson Avenue,
Jersey City, N. J.

A GOOD WIFE

is a great blessing, and a good husband will look after her comfort. The best husbands secure her future comfort by buying a lot which is pretty nearly, the prices are so low. The lot is situated in a beautiful and healthy neighborhood,

GIVEN AWAY

WITH EVERY

convenience for reaching stores, schools and churches quickly. Now is the grand opportunity to invest in a splendid

BUILDING LOT.

For particulars, address "OWNER," care of EVENING NEWS.

Horses and Carriages,

to Jobbing, for hire, at

O'BRIEN'S,

316 WEST FOURTH STREET,

or at the depot.

Joseph T. Vail,

REAL ESTATE

and

INSURANCE.

DEALER IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING

Cor. North Avenue.

THE CURIOSITY SHOP

THE GLOVE IN DAYS OF YORE.

When Venus Pricked Her Finger and Adorlyens Sold Gloves "Sweet as Roses."

If the science of knowing people by their clothes, whose claims are so eloquently urged by Balzac, ever come to be formulated, the chapter on the meaning of the glove will not be the least interesting portion of it. There is no article of clothing more diversified in its uses. Its apparent triviality disarms us, and we are inclined to toy with it lightly as one of the most agreeable ebullitions of feminine fancy and forget that anything more serious than adornment ever caused its use. Jean Godard, a French rhymester of the sixteenth century, wrote a poem, in which he told how Venus, running after Adonis, pricked her finger and ordered her maidens to get leather and make some gloves for her to protect her hands. But Mr. Godard's pet fancy as not give way before stern facts. The primary uses of the glove were strictly practical and unromantic.

Anglian dames of early days never dreamed of such subtleties as gloves. They wore their sleeves long, with wide flaps that fell on the back of the hands, so, when they went forth in wintry drew the loose drapery of their outer garment over their hands. It was not till near the close of the tenth century that they thought of gloves; then they wore them with only a thumb and no fingers, like the mittens of the present day, and they were ominously embroidered and starred with jewels. No gloves were finer than those of the clergy. They were mostly of white silk, or linen cunningly embroidered, and sometimes fringed with pearls.

Later on, gloves became magnificent for common wear, and in contemporary pictures the nobility seemed to have carried them rather in their hands or in their girdles than on their fingers. It was by the gloves his page carried in his girdle that Coeur de Lion was betrayed on his way home from the crusade, and so fell into captivity.

But already the glove was more than a mere bit of foppery. The knight's mailed glove sheltered his hand. It became a sign of power, and when a gracious lord meant to signify his intention to protect a town he sent his glove as a sign of his willingness. The glove, too, was the token of defiance when one knight declared war against another, and at the same time, as if to mark the difference between the strong right hand of man and the daintier hand of woman, he hound his lovers' defiance in a bejeweled glove to his helmet by way of showing his fealty. As the sign and test of love, gloves had been largely utilized.

By the fifteenth century gloves were common wear, together with farthingales, corsets and low gowns. Gloves were perfumed greatly. Antonyny and the maids "gloves as sweet as damask roses." In Charles II's time the sheltering of the sleeves led to the lengthening of gloves.

Natural Gas.

The earliest use of natural gas of which there is any record is in China, where for centuries it has been conveyed from fissures in salt mines to the surface through hollow bamboos and used for burning purposes. There are also places in Asia, near the Caspian sea, where it is seen to issue

59c. 59c. 59c. 59c. 59c.

SALE!

of

KID GLOVES!

4-button length, tan, modes, brown and black, all sizes, 5½ to 7½.

59c. 59c. 59c. 59c. 59c.

GEO. L. VAN EMBURGH & SON.

FRONT STREET, OPPOSITE PARK AVENUE. UNDER THE BANK.

The Fall and Winter Styles in Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing are now in Stock. Overcoats of all Weights. Trousers Made to Order from $4 to $8. Suits from $15 to $30. Hats and General Furnishings. WERNER'S MAMMOTH CLOTHING HOUSE, 206 West Front Street.

FASHIONS

NEW HAIRDRESSING.

Fashionable Styles For Women, With a Whispered Prophecy to the Stronger Sex.

For evening wear the hair is dressed somewhat higher than it was a little while ago and is being much ornamented. Diamonds, aigrets, combs and flowers are worn with often very beautiful and striking effect.

Waved bandeaux are extremely becoming to women with really good, well cut features, accentuating and strengthening these good points. The hair is parted in the middle and waved down each side of the face. The back hair is done in a large knot. A comb can be added if ornament is considered necessary.

A BECOMING COIFFURE.

The front hair is arranged in small curls which often come to a point in the middle of the forehead. An untidy bang is not now tolerated; every little curl must be carefully arranged and kept in place.

To the stronger sex is now vouchsafed by a hairdresser, of words few, but mighty, a whispered prophecy. It is that the signs of the times point to a revival of another one of the fashions of 1830 or thereabouts—in short, that the locks of the Beau Brummels of 1894 will form a most intimate acquaintance with the curling iron. "Have they not been growing steadily longer?" he says, "and what more natural sequence, therefore, than a desire to relieve the monotony of undiversified length? Hence the curling iron." However, even the most exceptional hairdresser is liable to err, and it may be long before curls, other than nature's own aggressive and crisp ones, clutter round manly brows.

The New Skirts and Their Trimming.

It is stated in a general way by Harper's Bazar that there is a tendency to reduce the amplitude of skirts, and furthermore that the best dressmakers do not, at least for lightweight dresses, employ stiff facings of haircloth, buckram or crinoline in skirts. The new stuffs manufactured for winter, both in woolens and silks, are of the supple, clinging quality which lends itself so well to natural folds that the announcement made in some quarters seems credible that we are about to return to double skirts, or at least to skirts slightly draped. Braid is employed to a substantial working extent in serges, cheviots and cloths, set on in spaced rows of the wider kinds or in cluster rows of narrow widths. Some simple tailor gowns have three or four rows of braid placed at 30 inches above the lower edge, about where the folds of the skirt emanate.

A Fashionable "Doucean."

The petticoat is bell shaped, trimmed with festoons of lace and cut into a shaped band. It is made of striped silk. No. 2 the under petticoat, in the same style has hand embroidery trimming.

A NEW SET OF UNDERWEAR.

No. 3, chemise, in either lawn or long cloth, with lace frill and straps to tie on the shoulders. No. 4, knickers to match. No. 5, a low petticoat bodice, with gathered waist. The neckholes and waist are finished with lace insertion and ribbon bows.

Grandmother's Chain Again In Fashion.

The old fashioned chain, slender and fine, that our grandmothers wore we are wearing now, says a New York exchange; at least those of us fortunate enough to have had a grandmother of such elegant taste. And we wear them just as she did, passed twice around the neck, so that they display a heart shaped locket at the throat and another at the waist. The watch is not worn on these chains, which have been christened by the unpoetical name of "dangles," but pinned on the shoulder, or, the latest wrinkle, inserted in the left hand glove, as formerly it was set into the purse or card case.

Fashion Brevities.

Brown is a delightful color, and it is nice to know that it is to be the fashion again this season.

Ermine trimmed wraps are found among the expensive novelties.

Watered silk will be the thing for evening gowns, and it is quite the exception to find a French visiting dress that is not trimmed with it.

Doucet's skirts are just as full and wide as those of Felix, and other people are narrow.

Bodices are narrow, with short basques arranged rather full about the hips.

A good deal of fur is being used for trimming cloth gowns. A Scottish kind of bleak fur like Persian lamb will be fashionable.

Drooping shoulders promise to be in vogue for coats this winter.

In Custard Making.

Four whole eggs are sufficient for a quart of milk. At the same time the thickening depends a great deal on the steady stirring of the custard while cooking in the bain-marie, or the double pan.

World's Fair Exhibit on Flower Pots!

OVER FOUR TONS—9,400 pounds—15 large crates—5 truck loads.

The patterns and decorations are numerous and exquisite in design. Prices range from 15¢ cents for the 6in Pot to $1.25 for the double Calla Lily, the popular ones being the 8c., 9c., 9c. and 12c. sizes in the common, though we have the largest made, at 60c. Decorated Pots and Hanging Baskets range from 7c. to 25c. We are prepared to suit all, and our prices are guarantee I the lowest and quality without a fault. The wide rim and the oak leaf on the common Pots add strength and beauty, and are easily decorated. Order early, as some will have to wait.

J. C. Allen, 28 West Front St., Plainfield, N. J.

R. W. Rice & Co.,

THE PARK GROCERS.

Corner Duer and Emily Streets.

NORTH PLAINFIELD.

This Date In History—Oct. 14.

P. L. 1893.

1066—Battle of Hastings; death of King Harold and end of Saxon rule in England.

1633—James II of England was crowned.

1844—William Penn born in London.

1845—Pierre Giacomelli, famous mathematician and philosopher, was born at Paris.

1848—Paul Bourget, famous French writer and poet, born at Paris.

1858—Francis Lightfoot Lee, "Signer," born in Westmoreland county, Va.; died 1797.

1758—"Orator Henley," head, long the butt of wits for his pompous talk and ridiculous sermons, died in London; born 1692.

1758—Field Marshal James Keith, Scotch rebel of 1715 and then celebrated soldier of fortune in Europe, was killed at Hochkirchen fighting for Frederick the Great.

1804—Flora Macdonald, Scotch heroine, born at Ogelbarg, N. Y.; died and buried 1868.

1807—Mr. Blaine, while a guest of Whitelaw Reid at Ogden Farm, made a stand over the Republican ticket. Dense smokeworks in Cadwalader county lives lost.

Here is a nugget of Rank's Horn wisdom: "There are many people who never can tell what they think of anything till they see what the papers have to say about it." Well, isn't that right? What would The Ram's Horn have?

The dedication of Marion Crawford's latest novel, "The Three Fates," to his publisher, as an expression of gratitude, shows there is at least one publisher who is not regarded as the natural enemy of the author.

An heir apparent is the fellow who is sure to reign if he is alive after the present ruler dies. An heir presumptive is the fellow who will wear the crown after the heir apparent, should he outlive the h. a.

The tailor's shears have been scolloped. An electrical cutting machine has been invented which at a cost of 3 cents an hour will cut 12,000 pairs of trousers a week from cloth of any thickness.

Advice to congress: Business before politics. That is what the American people want just now.

1893		OCTOBER.				1893
Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fr.	Sa.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
15	16	17	18	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26	27	28
29	30	31

MOON'S PHASES.

Third Quarter	2	10:12 p.m.	First Quarter	17	3:37 a.m.
New Moon	9	2:27 p.m.	Full Moon	25	1:11 a.m.
			Third Quarter	31	5:48 p.m.

Tickets For, or from Europe, On All Lines, And all Steamers. Drafts Sold also.

H. D. MORRISON, Agent, Somerset Street.

PEACHES! PEACHES! PEACHES!

Following varieties: Yellow Globe, Crawford's Morris White, Keyport and old mixtures. Prices to suit everybody.

NEUMANN BROS.

WATCHUNG AVENUE and FIFTH STREET.

THE TIME TO EAT!

MEAT!

is at most time, of course, and the place to get good meat, all varieties, lowest prices' first-class, etc., is at

E. J. CONNOLLY,

No. 7301 Broadway.

SMOKED MEATS AND VEGETABLES always on hand.

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$5 per Year in Advance. — E. W. Morrison, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 21 Somerset street. Printing of All Kinds. — 10 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. — PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," MONDAY, OCTOBER 16, 1893. — PRICE TWO CENTS.

REPUBLICAN PRIMARY.

MEETING OF THE BOROUGH REPUBLICANS SATURDAY NIGHT.

Messrs. Jacob Long, B. A. Hegeman, Jr., W. W. Howland, L. B. Wooleton and C. E. Buell Elected Delegates to the County Convention.

BY ACCLAMATION the Republicans of North Plainfield elected their delegates Saturday night to the County Convention to be held at Somerville to-morrow.

The meeting was called to order by Ex-Mayor Cooley.

Ex-Mayor Charles Place was elected chairman, and C. S. Greer secretary.

In taking the chair Mr. Place expressed his thanks for the honor. He stated that the meeting had been called to elect delegates to attend a convention to nominate a senator and one assemblyman and such other officers as might come before them. He called the attention of his party to the one great question before the people at the present time—the race tracks. "No Republican," Mr. Place concluded, "should be elected who is not opposed to the race track gambling."

The following delegates were nominated and unanimously elected:

Jacob Long,
B. A. Hegeman, Jr.
W. W. Howland,
L. B. Wooleton,
C. E. Buell.

On motion the delegates were empowered to fill all vacancies that might occur.

Dr. H. K. Carroll offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this primary that the delegates elected to attend the convention shall represent the anti-race track sentiment.

BREVITIES.

—Mock Court Trial at Music Hall to-night.

—The case of Smith vs. Lederer will be tried before Justice Mosher Wednesday.

—It was not McCann who was fined Saturday. The fine was imposed on Henery.

—The case of Elliott vs. Drake, on contract, was adjourned by Justice Nodyne to November 8th.

—James Emmons was arraigned before Judge Coddington this morning charged with drunkenness. He was fined $5.

—A sheriff's jury is to be summoned by Deputy Sheriff Moffett to try a lunacy case at the Common Council Chamber, Friday morning, at 11 o'clock.

—A regular meeting of the Plainfield Gun Club will be held in the club rooms on Tuesday evening, Oct. 17, at eight o'clock p. m. A full attendance is desired.

—While the sale of seats for the mock court trial this evening has been excellent, at this writing, there still remain many seats and are accumulating a fund for paying their loans. Their average payment is $21 per month for a house for which they would pay $15 to $18 per month rent. As their term of payment is about 11 years, a short consideration will show that they get their homes $400 to $600 beyond their rent for that term and are then complete owners of their property, with no further rent or interest to pay.

The "Home" is in a flourishing condition.

Plainfielders on a Scrub Jury.

Deputy Sheriff Amos Moffett served summons on six Plainfield gentlemen, who will serve on a struck jury at Elizabeth, to-morrow, in a suit against the Pennsylvania railroad. The names of the six are: Jeremiah Manning, John B. Brown, William T. Kirk, J. Fred MacDonald, John H. French, (the miller), and William H. Sandford.

Bowling Next Saturday at Dunellen.

Next Saturday the final bowling of the season will take place at the Dunellen Bowling Green. The Middlesex Bowling Club will bowl games for individual prizes. The Dunellen and Middlesex Clubs have received an invitation to visit Boston and bowl with the Boston Club.

The Parmele Matter Coming Before the Grand Jury.

Saturday, Deputy Sheriff Amos Moffett served subpœnas on all persons connected with the losing of young Taylor in a cellar by Mr. Parmele recently.

Those subpœnaed are to appear before the Grand Jury this week.

The Weather.

The weather to-morrow promises to be warmer and generally fair.

RESENTING THE INSULTS

THE MINISTERS OF PLAINFIELD DENOUNCE THE PRESS.

The Holy Cross Vestry Request Rev. T. Logan Murphy to Remain with Them.—The Committee Preparing a Report.

The ministers of Plainfield have held a meeting to denounce the Press for its contemptible attack on Rev. T. Logan Murphy, and his most estimable family, and have set forth their feelings in the following:

COMMUNICATION.

In view of recent statements in one of the newspapers of this city, reflecting on one of our number and evidently designed to injure his ministry here, we, as members of the Plainfield Ministers' Association, desire to express our cordial regard for the Rev. T. Logan Murphy, Rector of the Holy Cross Church.

We do this express our great regret and our surprise that any newspaper of this city, invading the sanctities of the domestic circle, should open its columns to such an unwarrantable and insulting attack on the family and private character of a gentleman.

Signed—

E. M. Rossman,
C. L. Goodrich,
C. E. Hendrie,
G. K. Rendel,
E. J. Tyrell,
H. Lewis,
W. R. Richards,
C. R. Baker,
J. B. Taylor.

MR. MURPHY ASKED TO REMAIN.

When the committee, representing members of the Holy Cross Episcopal church, waited on the Rev. T. Logan Murphy, the Rector, last Tuesday, Oct. 10th, requesting his resignation, he said he would send them his answer in writing.

Mr. Murphy submitted the matter to the Vestry, which he considered the official body in charge of such business in his church, and the following, their reply, he has sent as his reply to the chairman of the committee:

"Resolved, That the Secretary of the Vestry be instructed to write the committee, whose call on Mr. Murphy and requested his resignation, that Mr. Murphy has the confidence of the Vestry, the substance of their call, and that, after very careful thought, and in consideration of his past services, present position, and unblemished character, we deem it for the future good of the Church that he remain with us. That we do not have requested him, to act in accordance with our wishes; and in this we feel sure we express what they are expressing the sentiments of the majority of the parishioners."

THE NEWS Last Wednesday had the following comment on the matter:

"We are not willing to believe that any of the Communicants of the Church will state as to give out any such statements as have appeared recently. Such slurring and cowardly work is beneath the dignity of a manly and courageous man. It is an outrage which cannot be too severely condemned, and that the gentlemanly rector should receive so insulting and honorable men of the community is to us a matter of the deepest regret. Some one has been grievously wronged.

Gossip is easy to take it home to themselves and see how they would like to have members of their own families referred to as has been the case in the recent attack on the Rev. Mr. Murphy's family. He is more worthy of honor and praise."

This committee had prepared a report fatherly advising the congregation right and disclaiming any responsibility for the infamous attack in the Press on the rector's family, denouncing the attack in proper terms. This report was signed by all but one of the members, who was to have signed it Saturday evening, and the report was to have been published to-day.

But, we are told there is a hitch.

We have only to repeat that those men stand too high in the community to allow it to appear that they by their silence condone such an attack. We are sure that they do not, but to such a matter they must speak for themselves.

Testifying to Her Worth.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS:—In view of the many misrepresentations and untruthful stories circulated through the Press regarding the family of the Rev. Mr. Murphy, it is with sincere pleasure that I bear testimony from personal experience to Mrs. Murphy's faithful and efficient performance of her duties as a clergyman's wife, both in her parish and in her many kindly work for the poor. Those who have been privileged to attend the missionary meetings of the Holy Cross, will always remember her cordial welcome, graceful hospitality and untiring efforts to make all, in Christian work.

Such qualities ought to elicit praise rather than censure.

A MEMBER OF GRACE CHURCH.

Plainfield, Oct. 16th, 1893.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Drake and family of Westfield, are stopping at the Albion.

Mrs. Frank Van Winkle of Central avenue is seriously ill.

Mrs. Hall of Roseville is visiting her sister, Mrs. Peer, of West Front street.

Miss Lizzie Gavin of North Plainfield is visiting Miss Newburger of Elizabeth.

Mrs. J. W. Jackson of Crescent avenue, returned Saturday from the Thousand Islands.

Rector Rodman of Grace church expects to start for the World's Fair to-morrow.

Mrs. Patterson and daughters of West Seventh street returned Sunday from the World's Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mulford of Sandford avenue have returned from the World's Fair delighted with their trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Cook of Trenton are guests at the home of Mrs. Cook's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clark of Central avenue.

Messrs. A. N. Dunster & Son have purchased the Metropolitan Livery stables from Mr. H. E. Ryder, taking possession to-day.

THE RACE TRACK EVIL.

WHAT DR. BARNES HAS TO SAY ABOUT IT.

An Eloquent Sermon Yesterday Morning in the Methodist Church.

Rev. Dr. Barnes last evening preached before a large congregation on the race-track evil, speaking in substance as follows:

"No apology is necessary for talking to you about the claims of the State upon the citizen, and his most estimable family, and have set forth their feelings in the following:

COMMUNICATION.

In view of recent statements in one of the newspapers of this city, reflecting on one of our number and evidently designed to injure his ministry here, we, as members of the Plainfield Ministers' Association, desire to express our cordial regard for the Rev. T. Logan Murphy, Rector of the Holy Cross Church.

We do this express our great regret and our surprise that any newspaper of this city, invading the sanctities of the domestic circle, should open its columns to such an unwarrantable and insulting attack on the family and private character of a gentleman.

Signed—

E. M. Rossman,
C. L. Goodrich,
C. E. Hendrie,
G. K. Rendel,
E. J. Tyrell,
H. Lewis,
W. R. Richards,
C. R. Baker,
J. B. Taylor.

MR. MURPHY ASKED TO REMAIN.

When the committee, representing members of the Holy Cross Episcopal church, waited on the Rev. T. Logan Murphy, the Rector, last Tuesday, Oct. 10th, requesting his resignation, he said he would send them his answer in writing.

Mr. Murphy submitted the matter to the Vestry, which he considered the official body in charge of such business in his church, and the following, their reply, he has sent as his reply to the chairman of the committee:

"Resolved, That the Secretary of the Vestry be instructed to write the committee, whose call on Mr. Murphy and requested his resignation, that Mr. Murphy has the confidence of the Vestry, the substance of their call, and that, after very careful thought, and in consideration of his past services, present position, and unblemished character, we deem it for the future good of the Church that he remain with us. That we do not have requested him, to act in accordance with our wishes; and in this we feel sure we express what they are expressing the sentiments of the majority of the parishioners."

THE NEWS Last Wednesday had the following comment on the matter:

"We are not willing to believe that any of the Communicants of the Church will state as to give out any such statements as have appeared recently. Such slurring and cowardly work is beneath the dignity of a manly and courageous man. It is an outrage which cannot be too severely condemned, and that the gentlemanly rector should receive so insulting and honorable men of the community is to us a matter of the deepest regret. Some one has been grievously wronged.

Gossip is easy to take it home to themselves and see how they would like to have members of their own families referred to as has been the case in the recent attack on the Rev. Mr. Murphy's family. He is more worthy of honor and praise."

This committee had prepared a report fatherly advising the congregation right and disclaiming any responsibility for the infamous attack in the Press on the rector's family, denouncing the attack in proper terms. This report was signed by all but one of the members, who was to have signed it Saturday evening, and the report was to have been published to-day.

But, we are told there is a hitch.

We have only to repeat that those men stand too high in the community to allow it to appear that they by their silence condone such an attack. We are sure that they do not, but to such a matter they must speak for themselves.

Testifying to Her Worth.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS:—In view of the many misrepresentations and untruthful stories circulated through the Press regarding the family of the Rev. Mr. Murphy, it is with sincere pleasure that I bear testimony from personal experience to Mrs. Murphy's faithful and efficient performance of her duties as a clergyman's wife, both in her parish and in her many kindly work for the poor. Those who have been privileged to attend the missionary meetings of the Holy Cross, will always remember her cordial welcome, graceful hospitality and untiring efforts to make all, in Christian work.

Such qualities ought to elicit praise rather than censure.

A MEMBER OF GRACE CHURCH.

Plainfield, Oct. 16th, 1893.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Drake and family of Westfield, are stopping at the Albion.

Mrs. Frank Van Winkle of Central avenue is seriously ill.

Mrs. Hall of Roseville is visiting her sister, Mrs. Peer, of West Front street.

Miss Lizzie Gavin of North Plainfield is visiting Miss Newburger of Elizabeth.

Mrs. J. W. Jackson of Crescent avenue, returned Saturday from the Thousand Islands.

Rector Rodman of Grace church expects to start for the World's Fair to-morrow.

Mrs. Patterson and daughters of West Seventh street returned Sunday from the World's Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mulford of Sandford avenue have returned from the World's Fair delighted with their trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Cook of Trenton are guests at the home of Mrs. Cook's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clark of Central avenue.

Messrs. A. N. Dunster & Son have purchased the Metropolitan Livery stables from Mr. H. E. Ryder, taking possession to-day.

P. H. S. A. A. FIELD DAY.

WELL CONTESTED EVENTS SATURDAY AFTERNOON.

The Track of the Gentlemen's Driving Park in Fine Condition.—The Entries, Winners and Prizes.—Third Annual Meet.

IN THE Gentlemen's Driving Park, on Park avenue, between the Plainfield High School Athletic Association held its third annual field day. The track was in fine condition and the weather was all that could be desired.

Blenkers were in attendance, going by steam, carriages and bicycles.

The first event of which there were twelve entries began at three o'clock. The entries were as follows:

RUNNING.

E. I. Serrell, '95. — H. B. Drake, '95.
R. Campbell, '95. — H. Bonnell, '95.
H. Sandford, '94. — C. S. Mosher, '94.
F. H. Freeman, '94. — F. W. Gotshall, '94.
V. G. Green, '94. — F. W. Cornwell, '94.
C. D. Pfeuder, '94. — G. A. Horne, '95.
J. Fortel, '94. — E. Carey, '95.
H. C. Wells, '94. — J. C. Whiting, '95.
G. Smith, '95. — L. H. Read, '94.
J. Fortel, '95. — L. H. Craig, '94.
C. Bray, '95. — C. S. Bray, '94.
J. Giles, '95. — J. W. Everard, '94.

OFFICIALS.

Referee—F. L. C. Martin.
Judges—Messrs. Travell, Holck and Stevens.
Timers—H. Doane, W. B. Rittenhouse and L. H. Pfeil.
Clerk of Course—C. S. Morse.
Starter—H. C. Wells.
Announcer—F. A. Cuming.
Committee of Arrangements—C. B. Morse, chairman, E. Campbell, F. H. Freeman, C. C. Gallup, C. D. Pfeuder.

The first event was a half-mile bicycle race, which was won by E. I. Serrell, in 1.17 3 5; with A. Wolfman second, and G. Smith third. The prizes were: First, graphite and lubricating oil; second, letter for hair cut; third, 40-oth powder.

The next was the 100 yard dash, won by A. Woltman, in 11¾ seconds; C. D. Pfeuder second, and C. M. Smith third. Prizes, first, small box containing smelling salts and perfumery; second, a neck-tie; third, pocket-knife.

C. M. Smith out-distanced all competitors in "putting the shot" (12 pounds), by throwing 31 feet eight inches; with F. H. Freeman second, 31 feet four inches, and C. Smith third. First prize, one quart of ice cream; second, two bottles of tooth powder.

The mile bicycle race was a quarter-mile bicycle race, which was won by E. I. Serrell, in 37½ seconds; A. Woltman second, in 38 seconds; and G. Smith, third, 39½ seconds. Prizes, first, bag of tape, second, two bottles of tooth powder; third, one bottle tooth powder.

The 440 yards run was won by C. D. Pfeuder in one minute 11 2-5 seconds; with F. W. Goddard second. Prizes, first, pair of cream cheese; second, sponging bag; third, tooth powder.

The running broad jump was won by C. D. Pfeuder, clearing 16 feet 4 inches, with C. M. Smith, second, jumping 14 feet 2 inches. Prizes—Horn, a box cream cheese; second, bottles of perfumery; second, a postage.

The one mile bicycle race was won by A. Woltman, in 4.38½; E. T. Serrell, second. Prize—graphite and lubricating oil; third, a whistle.

220 yards dash was won by F. H. Freeman, in 27 seconds; C. D. Pfeuder second. Prizes—First, half-a-dozen cabinet; second, order for ticket of apples; third, tooth powder.

F. H. Freeman also won the "one-legged hop, skip and jump," going nine feet 9½ inches; C. D. Pfeuder, second, with eight feet 6 inches; C. M. Smith, third, with 8 feet 2½ inches. Prize—First, a patent bicycle lock; second, 1 dozen bananas.

The running high jump was won by B. Campbell, who cleared 5 feet 4 inches. Prizes—First, pocketbook; second, pocketdee.

The last event was the 4 mile bicycle race, the entries being as follows:

	Handicap.	Finish.
F. W. Cornwell	4 min. 30 sec.	Third
G. Fortel
E. I. Serrell		Second
G. Fortel

The race was won by J. Fortel in 16 min. 21 sec. Crane did not ride against the racers, but just rode for time for the benefit of the grand stand. It was half-past five when the last event was finished, and nearly all who had come to witness the sports remained till the very last.

The prizes will be awarded at an athletic meeting to be held at the school to-day.

A Shepherd Dog Poisoned.

A large shepherd dog belonging to Mr. Stanley of East Third street, was found dead on Richmond street. It is believed the animal was poisoned.

THE IDEAL EMPLOYER.

THE FIFTH SERMON OF PASTOR RICHARDSON'S SERIES.

Preached in the Park Avenue Baptist Church Last Night—A Large Congregation Present.

VERY one of the series of sermons preached by the Rev. Mr. Richardson in the Park Avenue Baptist church have been well attended. Last night he preached on "The Ideal Employer." The text was Luke 6:31:

"As ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them likewise."

The speaker said: "If the employe is taught by the treatment he receives that his employer has no interest in him, and only thinks of his help as a machine, then a gulf will open between employer and employe. Among the masses moral sentiment is weak, because so many employers teach their help by their example that it is not necessary to respect either the laws of God or man. There are employers who advertise to sell goods at less than cost, and the next clerk knows that those goods are being sold at twenty-five per cent profit. There are head men in some establishments who are allowed to degrade the help, by making them the butt of profanity and lasciviousness six days a week. And yet such employers wonder why their salesmen are immoral; why their clerks are tricky; why their help hate them. It's a shame for any employer to set before his help an example which will lead them to walk in the ways of iniquity. What some of our business men need is more Christianity and less profession; more humanity and less selfishness. The ideal employer will be just in compensation for labor. It is an eternal wrong for an employer or corporation to say through its agents, "He shall not make above two dollars a day; she shall not earn more than a dollar and a quarter a day." If this is the mere reason for keeping wages at that standard or cutting wages down to that standard, then, "He is a grindstone of the face of the poor," which God will not overlook. It is not true that the law of supply and demand regulates wages in that house. Then too great injustice is being done the young women who keep accounts, or sell goods, or work in stores. I know instances where she is hired to do a man's work at less wages. If she does the same work, in the same manner, and it is as valuable as a man's, then she should receive the same compensation. God expects the employer to seek the moral and spiritual welfare of those under him. "But, Mr. Preacher, you certainly dont expect that the proprietors of our large establishments to go around among the help, et cetera, do you?" How else are you going to apply the Golden Rule? How else are you going to put yourself in the other man's place? It is a pretty big subject; and, gentlemen, it is a pretty big text to be judged by! Let me tell you, that the temporal needs of a boiler or machine are small, when he who sent his son to work as a carpenter! Woe to the man who heaps up gold and silver, every dollar of which represents tears and aching hearts! John Wanamaker told his thousand employers that he would not make a dollar of profit or the profits of his business, which in addition to their regular wages would be divided at the end of the year among the faithful ones. There were quick hands, and fickle hearts in that vast throng of employes. That employer had an interest in his employers. Such interest is practicable, and feasible, and could be adopted by large establishments of any kind. It has been done by many. We are not preaching a theory, we believe absolutely in applying the word of God, and that ideal employers will find their reward in the world to come. We believe God will temple down into the earth the curse, for the sake of the few, the saints in Christ, he will greet in heaven with wide open doors, and where the interests of employer and employee shall be kept sacred."

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

A Race Track Man Wins.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Oct. 16.—The Democrats of Somerset county to-day nominate John M. Beekman for Senator. He got 80 votes, against 15 for ex-Senator Keyes, who was opposed to race tracks.

George N. Cramer was nominated unanimously as candidate for the Assembly.

83 PERSONS QUARANTINED.

Small-Pox in a Crowded Tenement House in Williamsburg.

WILLIAMSBURG, Oct. 16.—Sixteen families, comprising eighty-three persons, were placed under strict quarantine at 207 Ten Eyck street, this city, to-day, in consequence of three members of the family of Jacob Brennan being reported as suffering from small-pox.

Emma Goldman Gets One Year.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Emma Goldman, the anarchist, was to-day sentenced by Judge Martine in Part I of the General Sessions to one year in Eastern Prison, for a speech inciting to riot.

NO UNION JUST NOW.

G. A. R. POSTS WILL NOT UNITE JUST YET.

Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, Refuses to Give Up Its Name and Number, and so Does Major Anderson Post.

A BAND Army men in Plainfield were desirous last summer of uniting both Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, and Major Anderson Post, No. 106, in one Post and resolutions were adopted favorable to the matter, and it was thought the veterans would at last unite. But it seems that they are not to unite at present. The following explains itself:

Comrades William Hand, Charles B. Stephens and William C. Smith were appointed a committee to confer with a committee consisting of Comrades Asa Collier, C. H. Randolph, J. P. Allis and Joseph T. Dunham, appointed by similar resolutions adopted by Major Anderson on Thursday evening, Aug. 3, 1893.

The following is from the commander of Major Anderson Post:

The movement in furtherance of the consolidation of the two Grand Army Posts of Plainfield seems to have been blighted by an early frost, so to speak. The preliminaries to the accomplishment of this desirable result gave promise of a harmonious outcome, and it was confidently hoped that the obliteration of all rivalry and the consummation of fraternal pride, and interest which the blending of the two organizations would effect would redound to the welfare of the old veterans and strengthen their usefulness in the promotion of the interests to which they are allied.

It appears, however, from the result of the conference of the committees appointed to conclude arrangements for the end in view, that some of the parties to the proposed union are not so cordially inclined toward closing ranks and marching on to greater achievements under one banner, as they are to the preservation of a separate local organization. A report of the conference quite enforces the conclusion that the credit of blocking the hoped for consummation by the barrier of local pride must be charged to the Winfield Scott members of the conference. It was maintained by the representatives of Major Anderson Post that a thorough unification would be more perfectly insured by the obliteration of the old titles, and the starting of all interests under a new one to be agreed upon by the consolidate committees.

In furtherance of this view they were willing to recommend the name by which they had been known and in addition to make such concessions to No. 73, Post as would reconcile its members to the surrender, unless such of their belongings as would not be available in the organization proposed, and to that end the Anderson committee bid one alternative. They had not been empowered to knock at the door of Winfield Scott Post and beg admission; much less to submit the worthiness of their organization to inspection, and hence, failed to report in response to all consolidate measure of compromise their only recourse was to report a failure of their efforts and await further developments.

AD. DRAPER.

Secretary of the Treasury, who is making fame for himself as an Arctic Explorer, took with him on his present voyage a generous supply of H-O because of its nutritive and warmth-giving properties.

H-O Hornby's Oatmeal

is an ideal sustainer.

Hornby's Oatmeal

"There are a few of the Arctic explorers who will not be supplied with H-O Oatmeal."

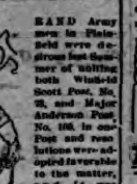
PEARY'S MESSAGE.

THE H-O COMPANY, NEW YORK.

OVER THE EMBANKMENT

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH OF MRS. MURRAY AND CHILD.

She was Walking Along the Tracks When the Engine of a Coal Train Struck Her.—Both Mother and Child Roll Down the Embankment.



WITH a year old child in her arms Mrs. Camelia Murray, colored, of Cottage place, started from home this morning to take the 7 10 train to Round Brook. She walked down the railroad track to save time. Just before she reached the Webster avenue bridge she was struck by one of the end beams of the engine and of coal train No. 417 bound West.

The woman was knocked over the embankment and rolled to the street. The baby fell from her arms and rolled down upon the Watchung avenue sidewalk.

Everyone who saw the accident thought the baby was killed, or at least fatally injured, but when the infant was picked up there wasn't a scratch upon it. The woman also escaped injury.

The engine was running very slowly at the time and must have simply pushed the woman over to one side.

Mrs. Murray is positive the engine struck her, but the engineer said he didn't think it did.

—The W. C. T. U. are most happy to once again having before their friends Mrs. Barney of Providence, R. I., Superintendent of Prison and Almshouse Work of National W. C. T. U., at the First Presbyterian church, October 17th, at eight p. m. Subject: "The World's Bondage."

Legal Advertisements.

REGISTRATION NOTICE.

The following voting places in the various wards of the city have been located as follows:

First Ward—First district, Wheelmen's Headquarters, West Front street.

First Ward—Second District, office of ex-Clerk Berry.

Second Ward—First District, 311 Park avenue.

Second Ward—Second District, rear store of E. H. Runge, South avenue.

Third Ward—Adam Bahr's livery stable, 456 West Fifth street.

Fourth Ward—First District, office of A. M. Runyon, Somerset street.

Fourth Ward—Second District, Grant avenue, near Somerset street.

The Board of Registry will meet at the various voting places on Tuesday, October 17, and Tuesday, October 24.

To revise and correct the register the F. W. REVELL, City Clerk.

10-16-2d

Cent-a-Word Column.

FOR SALE.

A GOOD horse for sale. 239 West Third street. 10 10

FOR SALE—$6,000.—Two dwellings and building lots, All in Modern Style. Will be Tilton parties. Terms easy. Dwellings both rented. Address "R. D. Jr.," care of EVENING NEWS.

FOR SALE—New house, Park place, near Mercer avenue. (Washington's Park). Enclosed. Inquire. 9 14 tf

SITUATIONS WANTED.

A LADY wants a situation for a week, house, would buy, 16 years old. Can care for horse and cow. Apply, 548 Watchung avenue.

ELDERLY lady wishes position as housekeeper or companion; no objection to country. Address "Mrs. E.," care of EVENING NEWS. 9 28 2

FOR RENT.

TO LET—A small house on Warren street, No. 21. 9 6

HOUSE TO LET—In East Plainfield. Ten minutes from depot. Only $40 a month. Apply to Mrs. Anderson, Front street, near Grove. 9 6

AN OPPORTUNITY—$13 per month will rent a pretty finished house of seven rooms, with bath, hot and cold water, and large garden. Call at Myers cottage. 10 7 tf

NICELY furnished rooms to let. 239 Richmond street. 8 14

TO LET—A furnished room with or without board to a lady. 324 East Fifth street. 9 2 tf

TO LET—Seven rooms house near Franklin. Also twelve rooms house on Front street. Apply to Mrs. Hopkins, Clay street. 8 28

LOST AND FOUND.

A SETTER dog strayed into my place Friday, Oct. 6th. Owner can have the same by paying charges and proving property. C. H. Harrison street. 10 9

Subscribe to the TWELFTH SERIES of the

Home Building and Loan Association,

which will be opened Monday evening,

October 16, 1893,

at their rooms, Rossmore building, Park avenue, near City Hall and Bank.

Present issue of stock, 2,000 shares; present investments about $100,000; dividends from investment and premiums, $600 per month, which is distributed among the stockholders; present monthly payments, $1,000; shares now taken by many at par value of $200 each. Shares may be taken at $1 per week, or more, to suit purchasers, so even those in almost every grade of society can find some way to own a home. Money is loaned to members for purchase of property, or for building on their own lots. Call and see us, or write for prospectus, which explains the plan fully. Also loans for investment only, any city property. Money to loan on first mortgage. Also a security which is perfectly safe, and pays a handsome profit. Call or write for any information desired.

ISAAC N. RUSSMORE, President.
S. E. STRAUB, Secretary.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Herbert Spencer's Ethics.

The most devoted disciple of Herbert Spencer must, at times regret that he could not have put his magnificent social deductions into fewer words. Then twice as many people would have had time to read them, and twice as many would have been instructed by them. That simple, straightforward, pellucid style of writing which the French have brought to perfection, if applied to the work of Herbert Spencer, would cut it down in length to half its present dimensions and make it easier reading.

Still, wordiness, indirectness and all, Herbert Spencer is one of the great lights of the centuries, and so must remain. The fact that at last he has practically completed his "Synthetic Philosophy" is a matter for rejoicing where men live and think. There have been years for years that the light would go out ere his work was done, but happily it did not, and now, at the age of 72, Mr. Spencer can draw a long breath of satisfaction and feel that whatever comes to him hereafter he has said his say. He has been 40 years at work on the "Synthetic Philosophy." The volume of his writings most easily read, and the one which contains in a nutshell much that he has elaborated in other books, is his "Social Statics." It gives the key to his whole philosophy.

The great thinker crowns his life work with a book on the subject of scientific ethics, very properly, since the moral sense is the highest to be developed in man. There are civilized men and women in whom it has not been developed to any great extent as yet.

How does man come into possession of the moral sense—the sense that teaches him it is the best to do as he would be done by? Herbert Spencer does not believe in the intuitive moral sense, to start with. Man's conscience is produced by the sum of the accumulated experiences of all his ancestors and of his own experiences and surroundings. In the course of his evolution man has found that in order for all to be happy each must yield some of the privileges that he enjoys as an isolated individual. Hence, if he would be happy himself, he must permit other people to be so, or other people will not permit him to be. In the course of ages this doctrine comes to be one of the inherited ideas of humanity; hence the origin of the moral sense. The true line of conduct lies neither in altruism nor in egoism, says Spencer, but half way between.

Happy Poor.

Rev. S. A. Barnett has been examining into the condition of the poor people of many nations. He is an Englishman, and perhaps for that reason he finds the wickedest poor are in America. He thinks that the depravity that accompanies poverty in this country is due to the fact that we have let our government become corrupt.

The ideal poverty, however, if there is any such thing, Mr. Barnett finds in Japan. The extremes of wealth and poverty found in western nations do not exist there. The Japanese are somewhat shocked at the huge houses the rich private citizens of other nations build to live in. Their tastes are simple. They do not spend their wealth on marble palaces, yachts or race horses, so that there is less difference in the style of living of rich and poor in Japan than elsewhere.

All the Japanese have courteous manners. The street laborer or scrubwoman has as polished manners as the gentleman of leisure. In this fine old native politeness has been studied so many thousand years that it is bred in the bone of all the people. The effort the children of rich and poor associate on terms of equality. If the rich have money to spare, they give it to the poor, with no sense of condescension on the one part or humiliation on the other. All are equal, and wealth seems a mere accident.

It is not likely that the wheat plethora will trouble the nations much longer. Certainly the amount exported from India will soon cease to give an appearance of a surplus. The people are now in India and subject to British rule 287,000,000 people. They are increasing at the rate of a million a year. While the suppression of widow burning and of the drowning of girl babies is beneficial from the humanitarian view, it must be admitted from the economical point of view it added that many more to the mouths to be filled. Population in India has now almost reached the limit of food production. Unless some way of increasing this production should be developed by improved agriculture, wheat will in another decade or less time have to be imported into instead of shipped out of India. Cheap Indian labor will swarm through the world along with that which already crowds from China in an ever increasing stream. Finally, as different are the people of India from western nations that with a few exceptions of soldiers Great Britain, from the western edge of Europe, governs the whole 287,000,000. What were all these people born for anyway?

One thing that can reconcile an actress to the piles of cotton flowers upon ladies' hats this spring is the fact that while the flowers are there the birds will be spared. When flowers are in, birds are out.

LAKES STORM SWEPT.

Many Vessels Lost on the Big Inland Seas.

A CREW OF EIGHTEEN DROWNED.

The Schooner Dean Richmond Foundered In Lake Erie With All Hands—Five Vessels Wrecked Ashore—Pictures Wrecks Reported—Sea Like an Ocean.

BUFFALO, Oct. 16.—Eighteen persons, the entire crew of the propeller Dean Richmond, are given up for lost in Saturday night's storm on lake Erie. The corpses of five men have been washed ashore on Van Buren point, which forms the outer harbor near Dunkirk. The shore of the lake is strewn with wreckage and merchandise, and the waves are hourly yielding up further evidences of the fate to which the Richmond has gone. The Richmond was loaded with 80 carloads of merchandise from Toledo for Buffalo.

The Crew of the Dean Richmond.

The crew of the Dean Richmond was composed of the following:

G. W. Stoddard, captain, Toledo; George Boyson, second mate, East Toledo; Batchel Meadows, wheelman, Toledo; E. Wheeler, lookout, Toledo; Frank Ernest, lookout, North Toledo; A. B. Dugan, second cook, Toledo; Wilson, chief engineer, address at Toledo; Jacob Earnest, assistant engineer, Toledo; William Zink, deck hand, Toledo; George M. Schilling, porter, Toledo; Walter Goodrich, deck mate, Ottawa Lake, Mich.; J. E. Beadle, wheelman, residence unknown; Mrs. Retta Ellsworth, steward ess, Ayimer, Ont.; Frank Hilton, second engineer, Toledo; ——— Hogen, assistant fireman, residence unknown; William Secontzel, steward, residence unknown; Frank Tatton, deck hand, residence unknown; unknown man, deck hand, shipped at Buffalo.

Of the foregoing, Captain Stoddard leaves a wife and two children; Boyson, a wife; Mrs. Retta Ellsworth, a widow, has children in the west. Frank Hilton was the sole support of a mother and sister. The chief engineer, J. O. Hogen, with his boat before she departed on what proved to be her last trip, is at the World's fair. He is part owner of the lost steamer.

Lost Sears Laboring In Heavy Sea.

Anxiety became general in shipping circles when the severity of the north western gale that had been sweeping Lake Erie for 48 hours was made known by incoming vessels. These showed the effects of the terrible seas, some being badly stove in and minus parts of their rigging. The captain of the Helena reported having sighted the Richmond off Long point. The storm was at its height at the time, and it was impossible to render any assistance to the vessel, though she seemed to be laboring under difficulties.

The Helena was with difficulty kept aright herself, and the captain reported that everything in this storm to date was the most severe of a long life on the lakes. The Richmond was battling with the heavy seas and seemed to be at a great disadvantage, dismantled and in imminent danger of foundering.

The condition of the bodies washed ashore at Dunkirk indicates that the unfortunate seamen had not been dead long; that they had probably been cast adrift some time in the night and had been beaten to death on the dangerous rocks that abound in this part of the lake shore. Wreckage is still being cast ashore, and it is believed the Richmond foundered not more than three miles out in the lake. It seems impossible that any one of the 18 souls on board her could have escaped alive.

The Richmond was a clover leaf boat, and her crew were all from Toledo. She was the first of the large steel steamers, which mark the coming of the present style of marine construction on the lake. She was of 1,257 tonnage and was built in Cleveland in 1884, but was rebuilt in 1892. She was owned by Botsford and others of Port Huron and was valued at $60,000.

Sixteen Wrecks Reported.

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—The severity of the northwest gale that has swept the great lakes for the past 48 hours has been without precedent in the history of navigation for the past 40 years. The list of wrecks, in proportion to the number of vessels which were out in the gale, is larger than, in the history of the latter day marine. That there has been a large loss of life now seems certain, but it may be several days before it is known how many sailors perished. Following is the list of wrecks thus far reported:

Yacht Enterprise, ashore; Lion's Head, Lake Michigan; schooner Austin Gardner, Cheboygan; schooner Isabel Reid, ashore, Cheboygan; schooner Nelson Holland, ashore, Cheboygan; barge Ketchum, ashore, Cheboygan; barges Raleigh, Trego, ashore, Cheboygan; barge Ida Acme, aground, Sturgeon Bay canal; schooner Young Brothers, ashore, Sturgeon Bay; schooner Jessie Hall, ashore, Sturgeon Bay; schooner Ashland, ashore, Sturgeon Bay; schooner Thomas Quayle, ashore, Sturgeon Bay; schooner Mary Ann, ashore, Sturgeon Bay; steamer Schuylkill, stranded, Pier Point, Lake Michigan; steamer Manistee, ashore, Kilmoor Ironton, ashore, Bay Mills; barge Superior.

Dispatches from all points along the coast of Lake Superior indicate that the storm focused greatly in violence as regards the height, but most of the boats fleet had succeeded in reaching shelter.

Six Lost Off Ashtabula.

ASHTABULA, Ohio, Oct. 16.—The fatality of the four masted schooner reported ashore near here has been ascertained. The vessel is the Fred Pratt, of Buffalo, with Captain Parker, with a crew of nine. Of the seven souls on board the schooner but one, Captain Parker, escaped. Those drowned were:

John Rafferty, mate, Cleveland.
John Rafferty, jr., Cleveland.
Mary Kerr, cook, Cleveland.
William Ashbourne, sailor, Cleveland.
Two sailors, names unknown, both of Cleveland.

The schooner went ashore Saturday afternoon, and it was seen that she must soon be pounded to pieces by the heavy seas. The sea was running very high and strong, and the vessel's masts, deck, cabin and hull drowned except the cabin and which jammed overboard with a crash, and swam ashore.

Two Vessels Ashore at Milwaukee.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Oct. 16.—Schooner William D. Rose, Capt. A. S. Hill, bound from Boston to Duluth, Minn., struck this port, went ashore at midnight yesterday on the west side of Gooseberry rock, 15 miles from this city, over the town of Westport. She lies about along the beach for an hour and is fully broken up in the bar between Gooseberry rock and Horse Neck ledge, where she filled with water and careened from the shore at 6 o'clock. Two children were placed in the boat, and the crew started for shore. The boat capsized before she reached land, and just as the boat was starting the last line of breakers it was capsized and five persons thrown out. The crowd on shore formed a line by grasping hands and rushed into the surf and reached the crew and people in the boat.

Lake Nurse's Committee.

DETROIT, Oct. 16.—It is believed that the schooner Jane Ruth, which left Alpena last Monday, has been lost. Nothing has been heard of her since she left port. She carried a crew of five men and was owned by C. Bonner of Port Huron. The storm on the lakes was by far the worst of the year, all the ports being filled with vessels that put in for shelter. The crew of the Dean Richmond, foundered in Lake Huron about 30 miles from the river, were saved by the coolness and bravery of the crew of the tug Reliance just as the leaking boat sank.

Three Boats Missing on Lake Superior.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Oct. 16.—The gale from the northwest was felt severely on Lake Superior. Three boats are missing and have not been heard from, the casinos stove in by the heavy seas, which made a clean sweep over the decks.

A FATHER'S RASH ACT.

Killed His Two-year-old Son and Then Cut His Own Throat.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 16.—Haven E. Winn killed his two-year-old son by cutting his throat with a razor and then committed suicide in the same way. His wife obtained a decree for separation from him from the probate court Wednesday and had been given the custody of their only child. She then went to live with her father.

Since his wife left him Winn showed a determination to obtain possession of his child at any cost. He called frequently at the house and tried to get him by persuasion and threats to live with him again. She positively refused to do so at present, and this refusal maddened Winn.

He was given permission by the court to see his child, and going to the house with a razor he was allowed to enter, and for a few minutes he caressed the baby up and down in the sitting room.

His wife and her father meantime had driven to church, leaving Mrs. Hecox and the 4-year-old son at home with Winn.

Winn began to act so strangely that Mrs. Hecox became frightened and sent her son for assistance. He called a special policeman and on the way told Mrs. Hecox, who told them that Winn had killed his child and himself. He laid the baby on the bed and severed the jugular vein with one stroke of the razor. He left the child lying on the bed, where he died. Winn then went into the sitting room, and standing in front of a looking glass cut his throat, dying instantly.

Winn was about 30 years of age, of a silent and morose disposition. He was married four years ago at Battle Creek, Mich. He had been employed here by Stevenson Burrell, but was discharged a few days ago. He had managed to escape from this frail lockup by the aid of a confederate, and the police are now looking for them.

Better Threaten to Strike.

DANBURY, Conn., Oct. 16.—From present indications the disagreement between the manufacturers and employes of this city over the schedule of wages submitted by the employers is likely to culminate in a strike. The hatters claim that the new schedule will reduce their wages one half in some instances, and they consequently refused to work for the wages offered. They say that they will not accept it and will strike first.

Workmen's Accident Victims Recovering.

DETROIT, Oct. 16.—The Michigan Central officials here state that the reports from their physicians at Jackson as regards the condition of the victims of the recent wreck are of the most encouraging character. Miss Johnson Healy is still in critical condition, but it is thought she will recover. All the rest of the injured will recover.

Killed Four With a Jump Up.

CONNEAUT, O., Oct. 16.—William Wheeler, a confined man, confessed to Chaplain W. M. Dudley of the state prison that he committed the murder of four of the Sweet families that have been assassinated near Yellow Springs, Green county, in the last year. All were killed by blows from a hammer.

A Head End Collision.

TOLEDO, Oct. 16.—A head end collision occurred on the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad at Paxton, 20 miles west of Kankakee, between a freight and passenger train. Two colored tramps riding on the mail car were instantly killed, and several other persons were injured.

A Family Swept From the Panther's Wrath.

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Oct. 16.—The body of a sailor, badly decomposed, was washed ashore at Quogue yesterday. It is supposed to be one of the crew of the wrecked schooner Panther, which was blown up with dynamite Thursday.

Murder on the Cattaraugus Reservation.

BUFFALO, Oct. 16.—Jasper Longfellow, a Cattaraugus Indian, was arrested in the Erie county jail here charged with the murder of a squaw at Newtown on the Cattaraugus reservation.

Workmen Go to English Workhouses.

LONDON, Oct. 16.—It is now the case that the guardians of the poor of the Greenwich district license the actual number of deaths in the workhouse from this disease to eight.

Queen Victoria's Jubilee Closed.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—The closing exercises of the Queen Victoria Jubilee were held at the Academy of Music.

Two Children Drowned.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Oct. 16.—Schooner William D. Rose, Capt. A. S. Hill, bound from Boston to Duluth, Minn., struck this port, went ashore at midnight yesterday on the west side of Gooseberry rock, 15 miles from this city, over the town of Westport. She lies about along the beach for an hour and is fully broken up in the bar between Gooseberry rock and Horse

COMPROMISE EXPECTED

A Substitute For Senate Bill No. 1 to Be Proposed.

THE DEBATE GOES MERRILY ON.

Vote In the House Today on McCreary's Bill to Amend the Geary Restricted Act—Repudiation of National Banks in the Statement.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—Notwithstanding the interesting and important character of the debate progressing in the house upon the question of Chinese immigration and registration, the silver situation in the senate, with its related subject of the rules for the management of that body, easily holds first place in public attention. At this writing it looks as though there be no relief that any change will come within the immediate future, despite the introduction of several amendments yesterday by members who want to see the senate governed by rules which will enable the majority to control debate within what they conceive to be reasonable limits. The time for a modification of the rules is not yet ripe, nor will it be, in the opinion of practical observers, until the consideration of the subject can be entered upon without prejudice or passion.

The Debate Will Continue.

As to the silver question, the common expectation is that some compromise will be brought forward on the Wolcott-Jones side and pressed to a vote at the earliest possible moment. Just when this moment will arrive doubtless depends largely upon the decision of the Gorhamanian conundrum, for if it is not acceptable to the silver Republicans and Populists they can and probably will prevent any vote upon the way of its enactment into law. The probable course of events meanwhile is a continuance of the debate for a few days at least. This debate of late has taken on an interesting character since Senator Jones of Nevada began his speech Saturday, and it promises to revive a flagging interest in the proceedings. Senator Morgan will follow Mr. Jones, but the order of speakers has not been definitely arranged. During the continuance of the debate there will be a full opportunity offered for negotiations looking to the expected compromise.

A vote will be reached by unanimous consent at the hour of 2 o'clock this afternoon upon Mr. McCreary's bill to amend and modify the Geary Chinese restriction and registration act. Several amendments will be offered to the bill as reported from the committee on foreign affairs, which may be agreed to by the house, but they will not materially alter the measure. The principal amendment of these is that by Mr. Geary defining the term "Chinese merchant." Another amendment he proposes, requiring that photographs be attached to the certificates issued to Chinese, which must be provided for in the law as at present on the statute books. Mr. McCreary says there is no doubt of the passage of the bill, provided no pressure is brought to bear by the protection of stockholders and depositors that the proposed extension of federal interference with the banking business should still further go into force.

Representative Hepburn of Iowa, who was solicitor of the treasury under the Harrison administration, commends the measure.

After the bank bill is out of the way the bill to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy throughout the United States will be taken up. The latter measure will undoubtedly exhaust all the remainder of the week.

What the London Times Fears.

LONDON, Oct. 16.—The Times says in a leader concerning the latest debate on the repeal bill:

"We fear that no result will be reached speedily, and that the more disinterested of the senators will be driven to despair. Suggested by the advocates of compromise, will remove the existing financial anxiety, which is undoubtedly the chief cause of the present depression. At the same time the prolonging of uncertainty will result in the suspension of business under the Sherman act, which obviously will result in the suspension of business under the Sherman act, which obviously will result in the suspension of business under the Sherman act, which obviously

THE FETES AT TOULON.

Flowers, Confetti, Champagne and Kisses For the Russians.

PARIS, Oct. 16.—Immediately after the Russian squadron reached Toulon on Friday, President Carnot telegraphed to the czar in Copenhagen, and the czar replied. Several dispatches were exchanged also in connection with the czar's visit to the French warships off Copenhagen. Dispatches from St. Petersburg say that the Russian press makes much of the czar's visit to the warships. Several journals declare that the visit and the toasts of Admirals Avelan and Rieunier complete the proof of the consolidation of the Franco-Russian relations.

Mayor Farnaux gave a luncheon in the name of the municipality. The playground of the college had been covered with a great tent, spread between double rows of palm trees, and under this table was laid. The Russian officers showed their appreciation of the fine wines by drinking themselves into a state of flushed excitement.

As the day advanced all the main thoroughfares were thronged from wall to wall. Admiral Avelan and his officers were conveyed in open carriages to the Place de la Liberte, where the battle of flowers was to take place. The crowd was so dense that the horses could proceed only at a slow walk and often must be stopped. The Russians were half smothered with flowers, confetti and paper spirals. They returned the fire with spirit and energy and waved their caps to the people packed up to the carriage wheels.

At the Place de la Liberte the procession of floats and flower bedecked carriages was longer and finer than anything attempted at the Nice carnival. The pavements were strewn with tons of confetti.

The enthusiasm of the uncalled crowd exceeded all bounds when the Russian sailors landed. French sailors and civilians formed in procession and the men to their shoulders and carried them through the streets. Women embraced and kissed them. Wherever the Russian sailors appeared deafening shouts for Russia and the czar filled the air.

HORSES LOST BY FIRE.

Seventeen Perished In the Burning of Several Stables.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—A long row of stables in Fleetwood park was burned. Many valuable horses belonging to members of the Gentlemen's Driving club were saved, but two which belonged to William L. Whitehead were lost. They were worth $5,000 each. A small one story stable owned by Henry Thollman, at 236 and 238 West Tenth street, was burned. Seven horses, valued at $2,000, perished.

At Corning, N. Y., the livery stables of Lewis Green were burned. Eight horses perished in the flames. Loss, $4,000.

At Newport, a barn belonging to W. W. Watts Sherman, a summer resident, was totally destroyed by fire. Loss, about $10,000; no insurance. Three coach horses and many fowls are among the destroyed property.

High Pontifical Mass Said In Brooklyn.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—The consecration of the new St. Agnes' church in Brooklyn took the form of the most known ceremonial in the Roman Catholic religion. There were present Archbishop Satolli, the papal delegate; Archbishops Corrigan of New York, Fabre of Montreal, Chapelle of Santa Fe and Cross of Oregon; Bishops McDonnell of Brooklyn, McNierney of Albany, Ryan of Buffalo, Gabelelli of Ogdensburg, Ludden of Syracuse, McQuade of Rochester, Wigger of Newark and O'Farrell of Trenton; Mgr. Farley of New York and others. Archbishop Satolli celebrated high pontifical mass before an immense congregation. The service was the highest that has been performed in Brooklyn in many years. The papal delegate intoned the litanies.

Killed Her Husband With a Hammer.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—George Dunn, an engineer at the Marlborough hotel, died at the New York hospital from injuries received at the hands of his wife Saturday night. Dunn came home and found his wife intoxicated and children neglected. A quarrel followed, and Mrs. Dunn attacked him with a hammer, fracturing his skull in 26 places. The woman was arrested at her home in West Twenty-sixth street.

There Were Thieves on the Train.

EASTON, Pa., Oct. 16.—Frederick Hilton of Philadelphia reported to the Easton police that he had been assaulted on a Lehigh and Susquehanna freight train and robbed of his pocketbook, containing $30, and his papers and letters of introduction. He was in charge of two locomotives and was riding in the tank of one of the engines, when two thieves came over the cars and assaulted him.

Bill Dalton Shows Himself.

STILLWATER, O. T., Oct. 16.—Bill Dalton and two of the gang, Bill Doolin and Ted Tyler, were in this city Saturday and Bill Doolin paraded the streets. They were not molested, and no depredations were attempted. They departed at midnight. A number of United States marshals left Guthrie determined to capture or exterminate the band, and a desperate battle is looked for.

Lawyer Denbigh Sticks to His Story.

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 16.—James E. Denbigh, attorney at law, of Woonsocket, who was arrested, charged with forgery, by the Mittleren-Tomlinson company of Portland, Me., was bound over in $2,000 to await the action of the grand jury.

Wyeth's Fate Undecided Yet.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Oct. 16.—President Rodriguez and his cabinet will today hear arguments in the case of Francis H. Wyeth, the New York extradition, on the question of his extradition to the United States.

The Olympic Club Sued For Taxes.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 16.—The first step toward preventing the Mitchell-Corbett fight taking place here will be a suit to be begun today against the Olympic club for $12,000 taxes.

On Solferino's Battlefields.

ROME, Oct. 16.—King Humbert and Queen Margaret attended the inauguration of the memory tower reared on the battlefield of Solferino.

Robber Reuard Get Twenty Years.

PARIS, Oct. 16.—Reuard, leader of the gang who killed the Marquis de Pomlanx Pamis last January, was sentenced to 20 years' hard labor.

New York Man Killed In Chicago.

ALBION, N. Y., Oct. 16.—Anthony Blake, a prominent and wealthy citizen of Albion, was killed in Chicago by a trolley car.

The Cyclone Columbia Makes Repairs.

LEWES, Del., Oct. 16.—The United States cruiser Columbia made several runs in and out the capes at a tremendous speed.

YOUNG FAIR IS MARRIED

The Son of the Bonanza Ex-Senator's Latest Move.

THE BRIDE A NEW JERSEY GIRL

The Wedding Was a Sudden One, and a Stockman Was the Witness—The Ex-Senator In a Rage When He Heard of the Affair.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—A morning paper publishes the following special dispatch from San Francisco: With a hackman for best man, Charles L. Fair, the only surviving son of ex-Senator James G. Fair, the legatee to $1,000,000 of his mother's estate and disinherited of $20,000,000 from his father's estate, was married in St. John's church, Oakland. The ceremony was attended by but five people—the two principals, the minister and two witnesses—and the wedding breakfast consisted of one bottle of beer, divided between the bride and bridegroom.

Charles Fair said three days ago that when he received the pocket of his estate he will publish a newspaper devoted to the record of the daily deeds of C. L. Fair, in whom the public seems to take a vast deal of interest.

The recent performances of this C. L. Fair would be excellent material for the first number of his paper, for he astounded even those who declared that Charles Fair's career left nothing undone that could cause astonishment.

His Bride Comes From New Jersey.

The bride at this wedding had two names. One name was Caroline D. Smith. That was the name that was her heritage and to which she was justly entitled. The other name was Mrs. Nelson. The marriage was said announced by engraved invitations, nor were there ushers and music and bridesmaids.

Charles L. Fair and Caroline D. Smith, known to the world in which she lived as Maude Nelson, left San Francisco for Oakland Friday morning. When they alighted, Fair hired Pat Mullen's hack for the morning, and helping the prospective Mrs. Fair into it drove first to the county clerk's office.

When he finally got a license, it was for "Charles Lewis Fair, aged 27, a native of Nevada and a resident of San Francisco, and Caroline D. Smith, aged 26, a native of New Jersey and a resident of San Francisco."

Mr. Fair left his prospective bride in the hack outside while he secured the license. Then he joined her, and they drove to the residence of Rev. Benjamin Akerly, the aged rector of St. John's Episcopal church. Father Akerly was not at home, and the good old man said that from the description of the couple he would have refused to perform the ceremony. From his house they drove to the house of Rev. Mr. Church, the assistant rector of St. John's. It was near the fashionable hour of high noon.

Hack Driver as a Witness.

Mr. Church went over to the rectory of the church and agreed to perform the ceremony, but the bridegroom had neglected to secure the witnesses required by law. This slight difference was overcome by calling in a hack driver for one witness, while Mr. Church sent to the house for one of the ladies, and Miss Bessie Trew, the daughter of Dean Trew, Mr. Church's predecessor, responded. With these witnesses the wedding was solemnized according to the ritual of the Episcopal church.

Mr. and Mrs. Fair drove back to the principal street with their witness coachman, indulged in the mild wedding breakfast of a bottle of beer at a restaurant and then returned to San Francisco.

When they arrived there, Mrs. Fair drove from place to place obtaining all the photographs of herself she had given to friends and acquaintances. Then the bride and bridegroom left for Santa Clara county.

Before he started young Fair said he would return to San Francisco Monday and on the afternoon of that day leave for the east and Europe. It was said that the pair was at Los Gatos Saturday, but their names could not be found on any of the hotel registers. The young people have avoided the usual wedding route, and friends profess not to know where they are.

James G. Fair, ex-senator of the United States, is a man of abundant self control, and he could not conceal his distress and agitation when speaking of his son. His handkerchief was crushed between his hands and laid upon the table before him and again gripped as he spoke of the events of Friday.

"I received a telegram," said he, "informing me that the license was issued, I sent word to learn who the woman Caroline D. Smith is, and I'm told that she is a common woman known as Nelson. She came from New Jersey, I am told. I know nothing more. The boy is now nothing to me. I shouldn't speak to him if I should meet him."

Ex Senator Fair is one of the quartet of bonanza kings who developed the famous Comstock silver mines. His wealth is estimated at $20,000,000.

Movements of Ocean Steamers.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—The following ocean steamers are due at this port today:

Cleopatra, from Gibraltar; Ems, from Bremen; Grecian Prince, from Gibraltar; Caribbee, from St. Croix; Rhein, from Bremen; Rome, from Naples; Iowa, from Kinsale; Iris, from Liverpool; Drizabe, from Havana; Wells City, from Swansea.

Cried a Man of Peace.

ROME, Oct. 16.—A banquet given in Genoa to celebrate the anniversary of Garibaldi's military expedition to Sicily, ex-Premier Crispi, after eulogizing Garibaldi, declared himself to be a firm believer in the need of peace.

Ex-Congressman Thomas Dead.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 16.—Mr. John L. Thomas, ex-congressman, ex-collector of the port, genial wit and after dinner speaker, died at his residence from heart failure, brought on by an abscess of the bladder.

India's Mints Closing.

LONDON, Oct. 16.—A Simla dispatch says: "The closure of the mints is now becoming imperative, and the business of silver seems to be declining."

Jersey City Ministers Preach on Politics.

JERSEY CITY, Oct. 16.—In nearly all the leading churches of this city politics was the subject of yesterday's sermons.

Smallpox In New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—The health board reports three additional cases of smallpox in the tenement house quarter.

Brooklyn Republicans Nominate Schieren.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—The Republicans of Brooklyn nominated Charles A. Schieren for mayor.

SANE, BUT IN AN ASYLUM.

Two Fishtown Arrested on a Charge of Conspiracy.

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 16.—Dr. Wardwell Ameraga of this city and Dr. Garrett B. B. Larkspoe of Boston were arrested. They are charged with conspiracy in the false committal to the State Lunatic hospital of Jonas E. Greeley, a member of Post No. 19, G. A. R. and the owner of a grocery store on Lincoln street.

Mr. Greeley says that he became acquainted with Dr. Ameraga a year ago. Domestic troubles arose and Greeley called the doctor to make any move claim to his house. Mrs. Greeley and her two sons went to reside with friends on Paine street. Soon after this Mr. Greeley left the city to visit relatives. On his return he was informed that police officers had been at his house inquiring for him and had left word that he was wanted at the station.

Amazed at the intelligence, Greeley at once called on Constable Macomber. The constable informed him that he was under arrest.

A complaint had been sworn out against him by Dr. Ameraga and Dr. Larkspoe. They charged that he was violently insane. The complaint was signed by Greeley's two sons, Archibald and Charles. Greeley was taken to the hospital for inmates, which is presided over by Dr. H. N. Quimby. He was convinced that his committal was a scheme concocted by the two doctors and his family to get him out of the way in order to obtain possession of his property. Superintendent Quimby, after an examination, decided that Greeley was not insane and discharged him.

Running Antelope Must Go Home.

PINE RIDGE, S. D., Oct. 16.—Fourteen mounted Indian police left here for the purpose of escorting Running Antelope and his band to their own agency, Standing Rock. The Indians have been here for the past month or two, and the government has decided that they shall go home. It is believed that they will accompany the Indian police without resistance.

Boy Indian Fighters From New England.

QUINCY, Mass., Oct. 16.—William Clarke, Ernest Baker and Walter Smith, each 13 years of age, disappeared from their homes during Saturday night. The Clarke boy drew $500 belonging to his father from the Quincy Savings bank Saturday afternoon on a forged order. It is supposed that the three boys have gone west to fight Indians.

Three Men Struck by a Train.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16. — Paul Victor Neuenschvanger and Frank Reisemer (Swiss) were struck and instantly killed by a train on the Pennsylvania railroad near Magruder's. Another Swiss named Hasenfratz, who was with them, was also struck by the train and severely injured and is not expected to live.

Two Sisters Burned to Death.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Annie and Maggie Tracy, two old maid sisters, who were severely burned in their rooms at 21 Morton street through the upsetting of a kerosene lamp, died of their injuries in St. Vincent's hospital

Stoves For Winter,

Hardware of all Kinds,

Everything From Tacks to Furnaces.

A. M. GRIFFEN,

13 EAST FRONT STREET. Telephone 6.

Metropolitan Livery and Boarding Stables!

Coaches, Close Carriages, Fast Phaetons, Surreys, Buggies, Pony Phaetons and Saddle horses.

Especial care given boarding horses. Storage for furniture and carriages.

149 AND 157 NORTH AVENUE,

Opposite depot. Telephone Call, 54.

H. E. RIDER, Proprietor. FRANK DAY, Manager.

BEFORE BUYING LAMPS

See the new lamp—
The "Miller,"
(Patented 1893.
It has no equal. It is
The Lamp you Want
Every Lamp Warranted!
We make a full line of
Fish and Stuffed Birds,
Good for chowder, or call at
10 and 12 College Place, N. Y.
(Next to Rossi Restaurant, only one door from Canal St., Jersey City.)
EDWARD MILLER & CO. (Est'd 1849.
Insist on having the "Miller" from your dealer.

Do You?

Intend to invest in a

WHEEL?

If so, call on

Dickinson,

The Optician.

Agent for the Excelsior, the best wheel in the market. 4 weights, 22, 25, 28 and 31 lbs. Wheels to hire at reasonable rates.

1893 TAXES!

Notice is hereby given to the taxpayers of the

City of Plainfield,

that the taxes assessed in said city for the year 1893 are now due and payable, and that if the said taxes be not paid by the

20th Day of December

next, the names of the defaulters, with their respective taxes, will be returned to the City Judge for the collection of the same.

COMMISSIONERS OF APPEAL,

in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council Chamber, on the

Fourth Tuesday in November Next,

(the 28th,) and sit from two o'clock P. M. until five o'clock P. M., of longer, if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

JOHN JOHNSON,
Collector of Taxes.

Dated, Plainfield, N. J., October 2, 1893.
12 2 td

Are You Insured?

If you are 31 years old $56.40 paid annually for fifteen years would entitle you to $1,000.
If 32 years old, $57.
If 33 years old, $57.10.
If 34 years old, $57.30.

This sum of $1,000 is payable to the insured, if living, at the expiration of fifteen years, or at his death if prior.

FOR A LIFE POLICY, of $1,000 the annual payments to continue during life, the payments for young men between 21 and 34 are between $18.60 and $30.

For catalogues and further particulars address Henry D. Morrison, 11 Somerset street, agent, THE NEW YORK MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

JOSEPH SOHL,

PRACTICAL

Electrician

49 NORTH AVENUE.

Plainfield, N. J.

Estimates furnished on Electric Light Wiring, Burglar Alarm and Bell Work and repairing of same. Dealer in

Electric and Gas Fixtures.

New : Proprietor!

HENRY F. WINDHAM,

Arlington : Hotel!

Somerset street and Greenbrook road.

Regular and transient boarders.
First-class bar and stables attached.

Do Your Corns Hurt?

They can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of

ELECTRIC Corn Cure.

A remedy that never fails. A guarantee is sent with each box. Price if by mail, 25 cents. Try it. Sold by druggists. Agents wanted for introduction of principal sale. Price, 50c. per box. Sent postpaid to any address on receipt of price. Send for terms and sole or silver. Address (Box 1788.) A book of testimonials sent with each box.

ALLEN & CO.,
6 29 tf Lock Box 38, Hackensack, N.J.

F. M. HULETT,

MUSIC DEALER,

74 West Front Street,

handles the following makes:

Gabler Brothers & Krueger,
Kranich & Bach,
Starr,
Mehlhaff,
Jacob Bros. Pianos,
and the world-renowned
Ferguson Bros. and Mason & Hamlin Organs

A. W. Rand,

140 WEST FRONT STREET

New and second hand

SCHOOL - BOOKS.

School supplies of all kinds.

Those wishing to exchange second hand books must bring them in to me.

Van Epps,

THE NEW JEWELER.

19 Park Avenue. Also a large variety of Musical Goods.

TAKE NOTICE.

Charles Arnold,

the butcher,

Is Still in the Race

for cut prices.

Fresh Pork and Sausage 12c lb.
My own Dressed Jersey Chickens, 18c. lb.
Legs Mutton, 12c. lb.
Lamb, 12c. lb.
My Smoked Meats and all other Meats will be the same old cut prices.

Arnold's : Market,

206 LIBERTY STREET.

GOODS DELIVERED
FREE OF CHARGE.

Strictly Cash.

Great Bargains

in all grades of

WALL PAPERS,

for the next 60 days.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

29 EAST FRONT STREET.

The Vandertilts and A Store!

Use the same make of imported Table Oil, Cream and French Sardines that I now have in stock.

THEY ARE DELICIOUS.

And then I personally select the

FRESH FISH!

I have on sale to-day and to-morrow. Call and see my stock.

JULES BOVEY,

60 Somerset Street.

H. Dr. SCOTT,

Graduate of United States Embalming College.

UNDERTAKER : AND : EMBALMER,

Office at residence, 123 Somerset Street, Plainfield, N. J.

Townsend's Marble Works,

20 Somerset Street.

Builders Cards.

Daniel Hulick,

Carpenter

and

General Jobber.

RESIDENCE,

35 Jackson Avenue.

Storm doors and weather strips a specialty.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

Window Screens made to order.

John P. Emmons,

MASON AND BUILDER.

Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place.

Jobbing promptly attended to.

P. O. Box 668.

DENNISON & GAYLE,

Carpenters and Builders.

W. J. Dennison, No. 35 Vine street. H. B. Gayle, No. 19 Vine street.
All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM C. SMITH,

PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER,

all orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.

Residence—Grandview avenue.

P. O. Box 22.

R. V. SAUNS,

Carpenter & Builder.

Residence—Clinton avenue, near depot, Bronx.

P. O. Box 168

Jobbing solicited by Richmond Sykes Dunn-Tally on all kinds of work.

JACOB M. HIGGINS,

PRACTICAL MASON and CONTRACTOR

P. O. Box 351. Residence Do street, near Howard.

JOHN ARNOTT,

GENERAL Carpenter and Builder. Estimates furnished on all kinds of work. Shop and residence, 1 Grant street, Plainfield, N. J. Lumber for sale. P. O. Box 1.

ALFRED R. NELSON,

Civil Engineer and Surveyor, No. 3 Park Row, Plainfield, N. J. Maps of private residences and public buildings made. Drawings and plans for buildings of all kinds. Office hours: 9 to 12 a. m. and 1 to 4 p. m. Orders by mail will receive prompt attention. Satisfaction guaranteed.

59c. SALE! 59c.

at

KID GLOVES!

4-button length, tan, modes, brown and black, all sizes, 5½ to 7½.

59c. 59c. 59c. 59c.

GEO. L. VAN EMBURGH & SON.

FRONT STREET, OPPOSITE PARK AVENUE. UNDER THE BANK.

Timely Warning! Winter Approaching!

Keep your Scalp Clean and your Hair Growing.

RANDOLPH'S Quinine and Glycerine

HAIR TONIC!

The Friend in the Hour of Need.

EACH BOTTLE GUARANTEED. Sold only by

L. W. RANDOLPH, Prescription Druggist,

143 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

Now is Your Chance.

GRAND CLOTHING OPENING, at our retail store, 318 West Front street. Are you ready? We are prepared to offer the public a clean, fresh stock of Fall and Winter Clothing, for Men, Boys and Children. Remember, we sell at retail at the wholesale price.

C. SCHEPFLIN & CO,

318 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

Successors to

The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,

Dealers in

Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials

42 to 60 PARK AVENUE,

Are now prepared with their increased facilities, (having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs. A. D. Cook & Bro.,) to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

Railroad Time Table.

CENTRAL RAILROAD OF NEW JERSEY

(Anthracite coal used exclusively insuring cleanliness.)

Stations in New York, foot of Liberty street. Time-table in effect July 31, 1893.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield at 1 35, 3 35, 5 35, 7 35, 9 35, 11 35 a. m., 1 35, 3 35, 5 35, 7 35, 9 35, 11 35 p. m. Sunday at 4 35 a. m., 1 35, 3 35, 5 35, 7 35, 9 35, 11 35 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND ELIZABETH.

Leave Plainfield at 1 35, 3 35, 5 35, 7 35, 9 35, 11 35 a. m., 1 35, 3 35, 5 35, 7 35, 9 35, 11 35 p. m. Sunday at 4 35 a. m., 1 35, 3 35, 5 35, 7 35, 9 35, 11 35 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND BOUND BROOK.

Leave Plainfield at 1 35, 3 35, 5 35, 7 35, 9 35, 11 35 a. m., 1 35, 3 35, 5 35, 7 35, 9 35, 11 35 p. m. Sunday at 4 35 a. m., 1 35, 3 35, 5 35, 7 35, 9 35, 11 35 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield at 7 35 a. m., 4 35 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield at 7 35 a. m., 4 35 p. m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

Leave Plainfield for Bound Brook, Allentown, Easton, Phillipsburg, Mount Olive, Stanhope, Lake Hopatcong, Netcong, Dover, Morristown, Gladstone, Bernardsville, Basking Ridge, Lyons Farms, Millburn, Short Hills, Orange, Newark, Elizabeth, Rahway, Metuchen, Perth Amboy, Bonhamtown, Keyport, Matawan, Long Branch, Red Bank, Freehold, Jamesburg, Monmouth Junction, Kingston, Princeton, Lambertville, Trenton, Bristol, Philadelphia, Atlantic City, Cape May, Wilmington, Baltimore, Washington, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Portland, Oregon, Los Angeles, Tacoma, Seattle, Victoria, B. C., Alaska, Japan, China, Australia, Europe, Africa, Asia, South America, Mexico, Central America, Canada, Cuba, Hawaiian Islands, Sandwich Islands, Fiji Islands, Samoa, Tahiti, Society Islands, Marquesas Islands, Paumotu Archipelago, Gambier Islands, Low Archipelago, Tonga Islands, Navigator Islands, Ellice Islands, Gilbert Islands, Marshall Islands, Caroline Islands, Ladrone Islands, Philippine Islands, Celebes, Java, Sumatra, Borneo, Malay Peninsula, Siam, Burmah, Ceylon, Hindostan, Persia, Arabia, Egypt, Abyssinia, Algeria, Tripoli, Tunis, Morocco, Madeira, Azores, Canary Islands, Cape Verde Islands, Liberia, Sierra Leone, Gambia, Senegal, Guinea, Ivory Coast, Gold Coast, Lagos, Benin, Cameroons, Gaboon, Congo, Loanda, Benguela, Cape Colony, Natal, Zanzibar, Mozambique, Madagascar, Mauritius, Reunion, Seychelles, Aldabra, Amirantes, Comoro Islands, Abd-el-Kuri, Socotra, Maldives, Laccadives, Andaman Islands, Nicobar Islands, Sumatra, Java, Borneo, Celebes, Moluccas, Philippines, Formosa, Loo Choo Islands, Japan, Corea, Manchuria, Siberia, Russia, Finland, Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Iceland, Greenland, Spitzbergen, Nova Zembla, Franz Josef Land, Siberian Islands, Kamchatka, Behring Sea, Behring Straits, Alaska, Arctic Ocean, Hudson Bay, Labrador, Newfoundland, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick, Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba, Keewatin, Assiniboia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Athabasca, Mackenzie, Ungava, Yukon, Franklin, Parry Islands, Boothia Felix, Victoria Land, Wilkes Land, Graham Land, Palmer Land, Weddell Sea, Ross Sea, Antarctic Ocean, Southern Ocean, Pacific Ocean, Indian Ocean, Atlantic Ocean, Arctic Ocean, Mediterranean Sea, Black Sea, Caspian Sea, Red Sea, Persian Gulf, Gulf of Oman, Arabian Sea, Bay of Bengal, China Sea, Yellow Sea, Sea of Japan, Sea of Okhotsk, Behring Sea, Gulf of Alaska, Gulf of California, Gulf of Mexico, Caribbean Sea, Gulf of Darien, Gulf of Panama, Gulf of Guinea, Bay of Biscay, English Channel, North Sea, Baltic Sea, Gulf of Bothnia, Gulf of Finland, Gulf of Riga, Gulf of Lepanto, Gulf of Venice, Gulf of Genoa, Gulf of Lyons, Gulf of Gascony, Irish Sea, St. George's Channel, Bristol Channel, Strait of Dover, Strait of Gibraltar, Strait of Magellan, Strait of Malacca, Strait of Sunda, Strait of Lombok, Strait of Macassar, Strait of Bab-el-Mandeb, Strait of Ormuz, Strait of Babelmandel, Strait of Bosphorus, Strait of Dardanelles, Strait of Messina, Strait of Bonifacio, Strait of Corsica, Strait of Sardinia, Strait of Florida, Strait of Yucatan, Strait of Belle Isle, Strait of Canso, Strait of Northumberland, Strait of Juan de Fuca, Strait of Georgia, Strait of Fuca, Strait of Georgia, Strait of Fuca, Strait of Georgia, Strait of

GOOD HEALTH

VEGETARIANISM.

A Distinguished Frenchman Tells What It Did When Practiced in Moderation.

Vegetarianism has made a distinguished convert in the person of M. Francisque Sarcey, who since April last has not touched any meat. He has written a most interesting account of his experience to a Paris paper. He says he is only a "moderate vegetarian"—that is, he only eschews meat and admits eggs, butter, cheese, milk and fish into his regime. Contrary to the expectation of both himself and his friends, he finds that he is in much more vigorous health and in better working condition under the influence of his new daily meal than before. At first he felt hungry an hour or two after eating, but after 15 days the craving for meat passed away, and now he not only eats at the same hours as before, but consumes much less.

The advantages of the diet are, he says, most remarkable. His mind is clearer and his body more disposed for work. Hats no longer sleepy after meals; his brain is fresher, his limbs more elastic, and, more astonishing still, he has great resistance to fatigue. Formerly he felt the need of stimulants, now he has suppressed them.

He does not smoke, and he is even endeavoring to diminish the quantities of coffee which he has been in the habit of taking. Altogether he is very enthusiastic and closes his dietetic confession by asking others to try his system. "The first week is rather hard to bear, but try it; you will soon feel the benefit," says the eminent critic.

Food and Fat.

Human fat is composed of 79 per cent carbon, a little over 11 per cent hydrogen and a little over 9 per cent oxygen. Of course this fat cannot be accumulated unless its ingredients are taken into the body in food. The food which has a preponderance of these ingredients must be worked off by open air exercise, because the oxygen of the air uniting with the carbon goes out of the lungs in the form of carbonic gas and relieves the system of so much fat. This is the reason why people who lead an open air life or who live in the country or on mountains and breathe a great deal of fresh air are less likely to be corpulent than business men, shopkeepers and others who are habitually in an atmosphere with less oxygen and who take less exercise. Open air respiration is one of the best ways to work off fat, says an exchange.

Sleeping After Meals.

A foreign medical correspondent of the New York Herald points out that it is not a good thing to sleep after a meal, as by so doing there is a risk of congestion of the head and especially of attracting toward the brain the circulation necessary for the process of digestion. But it must not therefore be assumed that active exercise is desirable after a meal. A short rest followed by very gentle exercise is preferable, as thus the gastric juices mix more thoroughly with the food, and the secretions indispensable to digestion are not impeded as they are by active exercise.

Anæmic persons who are in no danger of congestion may sleep after meals with impunity. But old persons subject to constipation, rheumatism or rush of blood to the head should be careful not to retire soon after a meal.

Hearty Laughter.

Chevasse, an eminent surgeon, says: Encourage your child to be merry and to laugh aloud. A good, hearty laugh expands his chest and makes his blood bound merrily along. Compare him to a good laugh—not to a little sniggering laugh, but to one that will sound through the house. It will not only do your child good, but will be a benefit to all who hear and be an important means of driving the blues away from the dwelling. Merriment is very catching and spiteful it is a remarkable measure, being this to resist the contagion. A hearty laugh is delightful harmony. Indeed it is the best of all music.

Hotels.

CENTRAL HOTEL,
No. 11 E. Front St.,
PLAINFIELD.

Windham & Crowley,
PROPRIETORS.

☞ First-class bar attached.

Fourth Ward Hotel.
JOHN GOFF, Proprietor.
Boarders accommodated, both transient and permanent.
LARGE ROOMS and ALL MODERN IMPROVEMENTS.
Fine Wines, Liquors and CIGARS.
Corner Third and Liberty Streets.

Hotel Grenada,
NORTH AVENUE,
ow open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished. Stringbest and cuisine all improvement. First-class accommodations for families and the travelling public.

City Hotel,
Corner
PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.
Transient guests accommodated.

Eugene Hoerster,
206 Grove Street,
North Plainfield.

Wholesale Dealer
in
FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.
Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

"It's an ill wind that blows nobody any good!"

The "financial stringency" has forced manufacturers and importers to dispose of their stocks at a great sacrifice. The widow wake realler with the "ready cash" in hand is now enabled to make such advantageous purchases as to supply his customers with new desirable goods at greatly reduced prices.

THIS IS A SAMPLE.

New Elder down Flannels	Regular price,	50c.	Now 39c.
Novelty, all wool Dress Goods	" "	50c.	" 39c.
Columbia Linen Towels, extra size	" "	25c.	" 19c.
Unbleached Table Damask, 58 inches wide	" "	50c.	" 39c.
Changeable Surah Silks	" "	85c.	" 75c.
Changeable Satin Duchesse Silks	" "	$1.	" 75c.
Corsets, all sizes, all colors and Drabers,	" "	$1.50	" 98c.
White Angora Trimming	" "	65c.	" 49c.
White Angora, 2 rimming	" "	50c.	" 39c.
Ladies' Full Regular Fashioned Hose, Cashmere,	" "	50c.	" 39c.
Furniture Covering	" "	$1.25.	" 75c.
Best Mosquito Carpets	" "	$1.25.	" 98c.

Our new Fall Muslin Underwear is all made with "lock stitch," extra full and long. We can give better value in these goods than ever before.

Our entire establishment is better stocked with such large and desirable lines of goods as now, and the prices never so low. You will have no trouble in getting suited, all the very lowest prices, at

EDSALL'S.

CURE YOUNG FOLKS

WHAT HAPPENED

To Adelaide Jane Augusta Frost, Out Walking With Her New Things On.

Adelaide Jane Augusta Frost
Thought herself very fine;
She had some new silk stockings on,
And boots with buttons nine.

Adelaide Jane Augusta Frost
Had also a new hat;
Her hair was hanging down her back
In a nice shiny plait.

Adelaide Jane Augusta Frost
Went mincing on her way;
First at her boots she looked and next
Thought of her hat so gay.

Soon from a school she had to pass
The boys came running out.
They saw her airs and laughed at her,
Adelaide J. A. Frost.

Adelaide Jane Augusta Frost
Was seized with sudden fright;
She tried to run, but slipped because
Her boots were new and tight.

Her hat went rolling far away,
Her plait became undone,
Her stockings were both splashed with mud,
The rude boys thought it fun.

Adelaide Jane Augusta Frost
Went home in grief and woe.
Her mother said, "Remember pride
Must have a fall, you know."

ART FOR AMATEURS

POINTS ABOUT OIL PAINTING.

How to Keep Palette and Brushes In Order—Oiling Dead Coloring.

There are some artists who use their palettes day after day and perhaps year after year without ever removing all the paint from them, and as to their brushes they always keep enough on hand to make sure of having a good number in order. Yet some need suppose that it is unprofessional to keep palette and brushes clean. The former, after having the paint taken off with a flat-lying palette knife—not one held with the blade at a right angle for scratching—should be rubbed with a clean rag and polished after each day's service. In time its surface will become as smooth and hard as glass and so bright that it will reflect light like a mirror.

Neither should the brushes be handed over to Bridget to be washed, as though they were scrubbing brushes, nor should they be soaked in water until the spring is taken out of them, nor put in turpentine with the same result, besides becoming gummy. They should be carefully stroked over good laundry soap and shaken in warm—not hot—water until there is no sign of paint in any part of them. If brushes are moistened all the way up to the binding before they are used, it is easy to wash the color entirely out.

When you have done painting, dip your brushes in the oil and wipe them on a cloth, but do not clean them in boiled linseed oil, for that will leave the hairs stiff, and they will wear out soon. Bristle brushes can be cleaned in lukewarm soap and water. Never clean any brushes in turpentine; they do not work so well afterward. The turpentine seems to destroy the life, and it loses its strength. Art Amateur, in addition to the foregoing useful suggestions, has noted another very necessary precaution:

After painting in your picture let it dry thoroughly before you apply the second coat. Should you lay on the second coat before the first is dry, your work will crack. When your dead coloring or first painting is dry, rub a little oil over the picture with a damp cloth. Oiling before painting moistens the paint already laid in and facilitates your work. Never leave a drop of oil standing on your picture, for when dry it forms a bad spot on your painting.

CAREY'S
Storage Warerooms,
Corner
Front and Grove Streets,
Plainfield, N. J.

FOR FALL TRADE.

THE LEADER

has received a large variety of Infants' Cloaks, Coats, Hats, Robes, Flannel and Worsted Sacks, Hoods, Flannel Skirts, all of the latest styles. Also new styles of Ladies' Wrappers, Underwear and a large variety of Comforables, at very low prices. Make no mistake, this is the new store.

THE LEADER, M. GOLDMANN, Prop.
212 & 210 WEST FRONT STREET. (Old No. 32.)

Adelaide Jane Augusta Frost
For nothing could her name,
Unless it was her nose, excite
And arrest beholds' notice.

The Size of the Sea.

There are not many people who, if they were to be asked the question, could tell the size of the salt waters of the earth. The figures are so great that they would only vex; with Dionysius Exiguus, "Prodigious! Any yet some interesting illustrations and comparisons may be given as to the size of the sea, and here is a simple one found in Golden Days:

The whole sea is composed of the Atlantic and Pacific, the Indian ocean, the Arctic and Antarctic, all connected with smaller bodies of water. It has an area of 140,000,000 square miles and would form a circle of 13,250 miles in diameter.

The relative size of the areas of the whole surface of the earth, of the whole sea, of the Pacific and of the Atlantic can be represented by a silver dollar for the surface of the earth, a half dollar for the surface of the whole sea, a 25 cent piece for the surface of the Pacific and a silver half dime for the surface of the Atlantic.

A Dog That Could Spell.

A great love of animals has said that dogs can be almost taught to speak. Captain is the name of a clever dog which, although he had not advanced so far as this, could spell his own name and that of his owner's. The letters used in the names were cut out of painted cardboard and placed upon the floor before him, and with scarcely ever a mistake he would arrange them in the correct order. I do not know how long Captain took to learn this wonderful trick, but I do know that unlimited patience and kindness were used in the teaching. The years have robbed the lower from Captain's eye, and his limbs are stiff and his frame racked with age, but he is still living, and if he regards yet as a special friend you may count him to spell his name.

A Bit of History In a Common Phrase.

When one says of anything that it is "not worth a straw," one means to imply that it is worthless, for what can be the value of straw? On the other hand, one says "not worth a rush," and this brings out the origin of the phrase better. In the days before carpets it was the custom to strew the floor with rushes, and the guests of rank were entertained, rushes, green, fresh and sweet, were spread for them, but folk of lower degree had to be content with rushes that had already been used, while still humbler persons had to do without any, as not even being "worth a rush."

October's Party.

October gave a party—
The leaves by hundreds came—
The Chestnuts, Oaks and Maples,
And leaves of every name.
The sunshine spread a carpet,
And everything was grand;
Miss Weather led the dancing,
Professor Wind the band.

The Chestnuts came in yellow,
The Oaks in crimson dressed;
The lovely Misses Maples,
In scarlet, looked their best.
All balanced to their partners
And gayly fluttered by.
The sight was like a rainbow
New fallen from the sky.

Then, in the rusty hollows,
All hid a merry while they played;
The party closed at sundown,
And everybody smiled.
Professor Wind played louder,
They flew along the ground,
And there the party ended,
In handsome leaves all round.

Tired from Head to Foot.

FROM HEAD TO FOOT.

That's what's the matter with the most of us. We're tired because the nerves lack force, the blood. The cause? The neglect of the feet. We have known severe cases of nailed rheumatism, to be relieved by Anti-Tire. Cures backache, too. Sufficient to say, it is a discovery, not a patent medicine, for the cure of Anti-Tire. Get up good circulation, healthy action, remove dead cells and tissue, and you will realize how good "Ask at Anti-Tire will do it. Trial size, 15c. Family size, 25c. All druggists. Send 12 cents in stamps for trial package.

LYONS & SCHLEICHER,
264 Broadway,
Jersey City, N. J.

A GOOD WIFE

is a great blessing, and a good husband will look after her comfort. He can almost secure it by buying comfort by buying a lot which is pretty nearly, the prices are so low. The lot is situated in a beautiful and healthy neighborhood, convenience for rendering it desirable and cheaper quickly. Now is the grand opportunity to invest in a splendid

GIVEN AWAY

WITH EVERY

BUILDING LOT.

For particulars, address
"OWNER,"
care of EVENING NEWS.

Horses and Carriages,

for sale or hire, at

O'BRIEN'S,

216 WEST FOURTH STREET.

Joseph T. Vail,
REAL ESTATE
and
INSURANCE,
DEALER IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING
North Avenue.

RAISING A BREEZE!

We might wait a couple of weeks and let November do it, but we don't propose to let even the weather get the drop on us.

THIS WAY!

UNDERWEAR—Maybe you don't need any Underwear just now, but you will later, and here it is ready to buy it. That special sale of heavy Underwear for Ladies, Gentlemen and Children is great and prices are little.

LADIES' AND CHILDREN'S CLOAKS—Never a better assortment of everything new and desirable to select from. That Ladies' Jacket, at $5.50, is a good one.

A HANDY BARGAIN—100 grenite from Shoe Knives. Large size, price 6½c, value, 10c.

DOMINO FLANNELS—The second case in two days, at the same price, 3c. yard.

WHEN YOU are down our way come in the store. We are opening up new goods every day, and always "just received" or "just arrived."

UMBRELLAS—Most people carry Umbrellas when it rains. We carry them all the time, and just now we have many, we think, so down goes the price. 26c. ones for 49c., $1.00 ones for 67½ ones for 89c.

SPECIAL ORDERS—Why waste time running around to fill your orders. If we have not what you want, we will get it for you.

SHOES!

In Ladies, our straight Goat and Walkingfast styles at $1.50 and $2.00 are the proper weights for the season.

The "FARGO TIP" for Children,

Is the best looking and best wearing shoe for school wear. Sizes 9½ to 13½, $1.25. Sizes 11 to 2, $1.50. A few of these $1.50 Oxfords, at 98c., still remain.

WHITE, of Plainfield.

THE HOUSEHOLD

A CHANGE AROUND.

Which Provides the Pleasure of Novelty as Delightful to Humankind.

"You shall find a benefit in the change," remarks Shakespeare.

The first thing in contemplating a change round is to begin upon the corners. Any one who has ever had to do with an old fashioned room, one end having rounded walls instead of the usual angles, knows the intense relief of getting rid of even two of them.

The widespread fashion of corner seats has done much to make the arrangement of our rooms easier and less formal. A writer in The Decorator and Furnisher, from whom emanate these suggestions of change, confesses to a great fondness for an eastern divan in cases where it suits the style of the room. His imagination shows one which fills a long stretch of plain wall —some 11 feet—from fireplace to corner. It is a mere strong deal bench, low and broad, with a mattress cushion covered with gold plaited satin against the wall, held down by gold embroidered or frilled brocade cushions. On the wall behind it stretches a long panel of Japanese gold paper, with enormously large raised gold embroidered motto.

Above this again is a long oriental bracket, holding brass and copper plates and quaint eastern pottery. The corner cupboard is lined with red silk and holds a lamp, with its shade, together with the little hanging jeweled one, a pretty soft light on the corner at night.

The fashion of putting the piano across the corner of the room has done much to destroy the formality of its appearance, and where space is an object the back of the piano, if curtained with brocade hanging from a rod, might make a good screen to place against which to stand a small writing table.

It will always be found a great improvement to the formal square lines of an upright piano to place a tall palm stand and a spreading palm near one side of it in such manner as partly concealing the back of the instrument, and those not severely musical can further improve its appearance by a shelf placed on the top, to be drawn about 15 inches at each end, with a pretty framed photograph or two, and a big yellow pot filled with a bold group of flowers according to the season.

Novelties in China and Glass.

Banjos, mandolins, guitars, fiddles and tambourines in white ware for china decoration are in such profusion as to indicate a busy winter among the china painters, says The Jewelers' Circular.

A new class is called easel mirrors, because it has decorations in broad water color effects. The body of the glass is flesh tinted and appears in vases and flower bowls.

There is a good deal of novelty in designs and subjects in decorative china. Some of the handsomest plates for the table have odd designs, a modern woman in Paris clothes.

Broken edged dishes rimmed in gilt follow silver designs. Dull red shading unevenly inward is a favorite decoration.

Candlesticks in white ware in the form of fluted columns are intended for special decoration, according to the colors of the room in which they are to be placed.

The Fall and Winter Styles in Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing are now in Stock. Overcoats of all Weights. Trousers Made to Order from $4 to $8. Suits from $15 to $30. Hats and General Furnishings. WERNER'S MAMMOTH CLOTHING HOUSE, 206 West Front Street.

R. W. Rice & Co.,
THE PARK GROCERS.
Corner Duer and Emily Streets.
NORTH PLAINFIELD.

Sunshine Cake.

Whites of 11 eggs, yolks of 7, 1½ cups of fine granulated sugar, sifted; a teacupful of flour and a level teaspoonful of cream of tartar sifted together three times. Beat the whites to the stiffest froth; add the yolks well beaten; whip in the sugar quickly and lightly, using a wire spoon; add any flavoring preferred; sift in the flour and mix it in as lightly as possible; do not beat, but turn it at once into an angels' food pan (ungreased). Bake in a moderately hot oven for from 40 to 45 minutes; remove from the oven; turn upside down and allow the cake to remain in the pan until perfectly cold.

Potato Puffs.

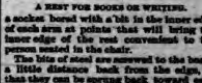
Two cups mashed potatoes, hot or cold, 2 eggs, 2 tablespoonfuls of cream, a tablespoonful of butter, salt and pepper to taste. Put the potatoes in a frying pan, add the yolks of the eggs, cream and seasoning. Stir over the fire until well mixed. If the potatoes were used cold, stir until hot. Take from the fire; add carefully the well beaten whites of the eggs. Heap on a greased baking dish or in gem pans. Bake in quick oven until a nice brown.

An Attachment For a Chair.

Comfort in a comfortable chair can be conserved by a simple addition (Fig. 1) illustrated and described by Country Gentleman. A plain piece of board five-eighths of an inch think has screwed to its under surface two flat pieces of steel, whose ends have been made round and bent at a right angle (Fig. 2). These rounded ends fit into a socket bored with a bit in the inner edge of each arm at points that will bring the inner edge of the rest convenient to the person seated in the chair.

Fig. 1

Fig. 2



A REST FOR BOOKS OR WRITING.

The bits of steel are screwed to the board a little distance back from the edge, so that they can be swung back screwed each other when being inserted in the sockets. The two supports in front of the chair are hinged to the under side of the board, when rest either desired can be raised or lowered at will. A small strip of wood can be attached to the board near its inner edge, if desired, to keep books or papers from sliding off.

A Delicate Glue For Mounting Fans.

For mounting fans and other trophies of summer rambles a glue is made of five parts gum arabic, three parts white sugar, two parts starch and a very little water. Boil until thick and white.

This Date In History—Oct. 16.

1555—Bishops Nicholas Ridley and Hugh Latimer were burned at the stake at Oxford by Queen Mary.

1758—Dr. Albert von Haller, eminent physician, born at Bern.

1774—Robert Ferguson, Scottish poet, died.

1777—Rev. Laurence Dow, eccentric traveling preacher, born in Coventry, Connecticut.

1793—Marie Antoinette, queen of France, was guillotined at Paris.

1808—John Hunter, the famous anatomist and writer on private diseases, fell dead in consequence of a violent dispute with other members of the London College.

1758—Victor Amadeus III of Savoy died.

1802—Henry Martyn, famous missionary, died at Tocat, Asia Minor.

1806—John Brown astonished the world by seizing Harper's Ferry arsenal.

1850—Joseph Jefferson, Warren's, statesman, died in Chicago; born 1812.

1887—Sellers of the United States orator Beaconsfield subdued at Valparaiso.

One encouraging fact in the hard times is that most of the large corporations came up the little men and paid their interest and dividends that fell due Sept. 15 and Oct. 1. Though a given stock should go down to half a man paid for it, yet so long as it returns the usual dividends the investor will know that it is safe to go and buy more of that same stock, and the reduced price of it will be as an additional inducement to purchase.

Mr. R. L. Garner is still trying to interpret monkey talk. If he would only set himself to shut up some of the monkeys that are chattering all around me now he would confer a greater benefit on humanity.

Whether the New York Tribune opened the following or got it out of its own head, it deserves to be pasted along: "Whoever makes one word grow where two words grew before is a public benefactor."

A Wisconsin doctor claims to have likewise a sure cure for drunkenness—the petroleum cure. A drunkard who would be willing to swallow this remedy must have seen some very horrid things indeed.

1893			OCTOBER.			1893
Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fr.	Sa.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
15	16	17	18	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26	27	28
29	30	31

MOON'S PHASES.

Third Quarter	2	10h 19 m. p.m.	First Quarter	17	1h 42 m. p.m.
New Moon	9	3h 37 m. p.m.	Full Moon	25	1h 42 m. a.m.
			Third Quarter	31	5h 49 m. p.m.

Tickets For, or from Europe, On All Lines, And all Steamers. Drafts Sold also.

H. D. MORRISON,
Agent,
Somerset Street.

PEACHES!
PEACHES!
PEACHES!

Following varieties: Yellow Globe, Crawford's Morris White, Keyport and old reliables. Prices to suit everybody.

NEUMANN BROS.
WATCHUNG AVENUE
and FIFTH STREET.

THE TIME TO EAT!

MEAT!

is at most times, of course, and this place to get good meat, vegetables, breads, pastry, groceries, etc., is at

E. J. CONNOLLY,
No. 206 Grove Street.
SMOKED MEATS AND SWEETMEATS always on hand.

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

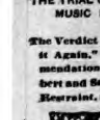
50 per Year in Advance. | E. W. Mathews, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 21 Somerset street. Printing of All Kinds. | 10 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. | PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," TUESDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1893. | PRICE TWO CENTS.

DEM STOLEN ROOSTERS.

THE TRIAL OF MAYOR SAUNDERS AT MUSIC HALL LAST NIGHT.

The Verdict "Not Guilty, but Don't do it Again," and the Jury's Recommendation That both Mayors Gilbert and Saunders be Placed Under Restraint, the Audience Applaud s



OR de good Lor's sake, honey! Dem yar white trash has just fown out dat dere yar niggers don' gone an wisit all de hen roosts in dis yar Republican town. Maybe dey will now let dese yar niggers alone. Now day see 'tis de Democrats demselves wat's gone done dem things. Leastwise dat's how it looked at Music Hall last night when 'bout everybody in town filled dat yere hall completely to see dat Democrat, Billel Saunders, the Mayor of the Borough of North Plainfield, Bull Frog City and Cocntown, tried for stealing a big ole Plymouth Rock roostre. "Yer, yar, witse, Ise tell yer all 'bout it."

"Yer see, Massa Ma'r Gilbert he had an ole rooster which he allowed came over in de Mayorflower, and de place whar dat rooster fust landed an' flapped hese flippers and crowed, dey called dat yere place Plymouth Rock. I dunno as how de Ma'r he know dat, but I s'pose it must be so, for dey say de rock is dar yet jes' to prove it.

"Well, dey allow dat Ma'r Billel Saunders hab a Plymouth Rock rooster, too, dat gun on dat yer rock. Massa Saunders say his rooster no good. Hese a Democrat. Dunno how dat is, but de Ma'r, oughten know, for some folks say dey is fedders of one bird.

"Well, de court got his yer harness on. Fust de Judge (Rowland Cox) in a black Mudder Hubbard, and wid his har all scared white, he walk in, keepin' tight hold ob his own han's an' watchin' dem so dey don't get away. He got one a high place like de dumper at school, and he look around as if he had a pain and want a dose.

"Massa Come Atme Marsh, de prosecutor, he stood up and so do de udders, ziff dey want to be fust to get away in case de judge he get mad and want to frow a brick. But de judge he set down, and de udders conclude it am safe and set down too.

"Den a man dey allows is a Court Crier (W. H. Cook), he cry out 'yere, yere, all yu uns wat has no business wid dis yere court draw near, and yer will be heard.

"Den Mass Cleric Josephs call case No. 4-11-44—R. J. Shaw v. P. P. Shaw. Dey allow it was for divorce. But Dr. Shaw 'scape. Dey say he am sick wid dat yer cholera infantry, and spec dey musno, dough we all 'spose Dr. Shaw, he an ole bachelor.

"1193 war de State v. E. P. Williams, a good ole Prohibitionist wat dey say got soaked wid it. But de lawyer he say he got no pay, and so dey sin's got no law ter spare and jes' allow he may go and see dem later.

"Next come de State v. W. L. Saunders, cock fighting and chicken stealing.

"Dat yer jury war Grover Cleveland (Councilman Frank Marsh) who appeared in his grandfather's swallow-tailed coat, red-neckfie, brass-buttoned bandanna, and a few other things; Benjamin Harrison (H. A. Gins, President of Oshmark Cowpoke); David Bennett Hill, (ex-Councilman John M. Whiton); Thomas B. Reed, (Speaker as the House of Representatives), (Councilman Charles J. Fisk, very pudgy and jolly in a corderoy suit, swaying stedicously a base ball stick painted a gory red); William McKinley (H. F. Reynolds); John L. Sullivan, (ex-Mayor L. V. F. Randolph); James J. Corbett, (ex-Councilman O. T. Waring); T. DeWitt Talmage, (E. R. Erickson); Foobah, (Postmaster Augustus Pope); Socrates (John Leal); Lord Dursreen, (John W. Murray); and Adonis Gixey, (H. R. Munger.)

"Dat's wat de Bes said. 'Spec it all right.

"Dey had Roger F. Murray for Constable.

"Lawyer Mases Marsh allow he gwine to prove to dat jury dat Ma'r Saunders stole dat Plymouth Rock rooster from Ma'r Alexander de tayum gumment, and when he prove it to his satisfaction dat de lawyer for de udder side, Capt. American Vamoose Newton, of Worcester, Mass., he prove to his satisfaction dat Massa Gilbert dunno what he say. On cross-examination Massa Gilbert say he didn't call de police 'bout as how he didn't want to make dem.

"De witness for de rooster war was stole war Massa Gilbert. He allow he tink some one war in his chicken-coop on the night before Christmas. He took his dog, and went to de coop. He heared his rooster's voice comin' from a bag. He know de voice, and he saw Massa Bill Saunders holdin' dat bag and gettin' away. De dog barked. De dog without de bark war put in evidence. So we s Plymouth Rock, de rooster. And a few of de feathers were given to the jury as proof dat Massa Bill stole it.

"De nex' witness war F. H. Andrews, who knowed Bill in Jericho, Vermont, and say he no good as a man, and dat while he war in Jericho eggs war high and hens so scarce dat no mudder would name her boy Henry, for fear he would be taken for a chicken, or her daughter Henrietta, for fear she would be taken for a duckie, and no gals would wear a string on de cars 'cept de conductor might pull it (pullet.)

"Samuel St. John McCutcheon, de nex' witness, saw Bill going home with de rooster on de night of Dec. 24, the night before Christmas. He knowed it war Bill, for while jagging home from de Club he hit a tree on Grove street wid his head and saw stars. He could show the street to prove it. He knowed it war Gilbert's rooster by de voice. He knowed all de ole roosters in town.

"Den Constable Murray allow as how he saw Bill wid de rooster at a cock fight back of Holy Cross church, which be one mo' bus'd man.

"Den his lawyer he call Mases Wes D. Murray. He allow he sold dat rooster to Mases Saunders, doubt he done believe he not him.

"Nex' witness war Dr. Hedges. He allow dat de Ma'r never had a rooster, and war a moneymaniac. He think he own ebery rooster he see.

"Hen. Age Moice as nex' witness allow dat as war he go toward a talk wid Sam. McCutchen and Andrews one night befo' de rooster was took and dat dey agree to say Bill did as dey had told de jury, 'cause dey allow dey didn't like him no how, and want to put him in a hole. They see, 'Judge Mases Gilbert's dat he had a rooster and dat Mases Bill had gone and took it from his roost.

"Den some witnesses say dat dey wouldn't b'lieve de udder witnesses under oaths.

"Lastly de lawyers scold de jury to dah face. Den dat Judge he make de jury to hear him stan' up and read to dem one of his own speeches. When dey could stan' it no longer, dey got up and went out.

"Soon dey come back wiping dah moufs, and allowed as how de rooster war a hen, and dat befo Mases Gilbert and Saunders were pnoneymaniacs who ought ter be sent to Morristown, and de court allow so vote it be.

"'Spec I dunno nuffin' 'bout who stole dat rooster? Well, guess not."

The supposed Gil. and Bill roosters and the jury's hen are also in the initial herewith heading Sambo account.

The T. M. C. A. Building fund was materially increased by the entertainment, and the audiences seemed to highly enjoy the fun, and its hits.

PERSONAL.

Miss Morris of East Ninth street returned yesterday from the World's Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Depew of East Ninth street have returned from the World's Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Miller of North avenue left to-day for Chicago to attend the World's Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Smith of Grandview avenue start this week for the World's Fair.

Mr. Underwood and Miss Underwood of Crescent avenue returned to-day from the World's Fair.

Mr. Frederick Smalley and Miss Ida Wilson of Madison avenue will be married to-morrow afternoon.

Messrs. Dennis E. Gavin of North Plainfield and Charles Reynolds start Wednesday for the World's Fair.

Mr. Albert Hedden is improving the appearance of his place on East Fourth street by having a stone walk laid.

Next Monday Messrs. Winfield S. Terry and Richard Joseph will start for the White City to see the World's Fair.

Miss Spannenberg of Hotherwood conducted the consecration service at a Y. P. S. C. E. meeting at Westfield last night.

Dr. Brundage and wife of New York, who have been stopping for the Summer at 120 Crescent avenue, have returned to New York.

Dame Rumor has it that a prominent borough official will wed a charming young lady of West Front street in the near future.

Mr. William Bard and Miss Engelman of Newark were guests Sunday, of Mr. Bard's uncle, Mail Carrier J. W. A. Bauerle, of Madison avenue, Plainfield.

A committee consisting of Messrs. George Schlereth, Peter Sauter and David Allen of Warren Engine Co. went to New York to-day to buy some furniture for their parlors.

At the meeting of the Synodical Woman's Missionary Society of New Jersey at Rahway last Thursday Mrs. W. F. Honeyman was re-elected president, and Mrs. J. H. Manning secretary.

Mr. Samuel Bodine, accompanied by his wife and son returned to Hunterdon county yesterday after a pleasant visit with Mr. Bodine's brother, Mr. John Bodine of Grandview avenue, North Plainfield.

The Y. P. S. C. E. of the Marshall street Presbyterian church, Elizabeth, will celebrate their fourth anniversary on Thursday evening. Rev. Charles E. Herring of the first Presbyterian church of this city will made the address.

Mr. L. A. Goodenough, who has been the esteemed principal of the Scotch Plains school for six years past, recently received an unsolicited call to the principalship of the school at Summit, and as a consequence he has declined the invitation and will remain with the people to whom he is greatly endeared.

In Justice Nash's Court.

The case of Haynes et al, vs. Clark was adjourned yesterday for one week.

The case of Markley, vs. Bowen was settled out of court.

The case of the State vs. Moore was adjourned to the 28th.

COUNTY NOMINATIONS.

SELECTIONS BY THE SOMERSET COUNTY DEMOCRATS.

Three Men Named for Coroners, as Follows: Dr. Farr of Dr. Sutphen, and Mr. J. V. Brady—The Executive Committee.

STUMP speaking will soon be in order. The Somerset County Convention at Somerville, yesterday, briefly gave the stamp to several candidates, but terminated in a surprise to the Democrats in this section. The North Plainfield delegation was pledged to ex Senator William Keene, and evidently thought they would have a walkover.

The convention was presided over by ex-Assemblyman Pace.

The morning session was taken up with resolutions, etc. Just before adjournment Messrs. W. J. Keyes, H. D. Bergen and Alvah A. Clark were nominated for State Senator and ex-Assemblyman Cramer for Assemblyman.

At the afternoon session there was much discussion over a resolution to give Bridgewater township power to elect more delegates. It now has five to representation of 1,350 voters, while the other townships where there are only from 100 to 400 delegates they have the same number of delegates. An amendment was finally adopted leaving the matter to the executive committee.

Just before a ballot was taken the chairman read a letter from the Hon. Alvah A. Clark positively refusing to allow his name to be used, stating that he would not accept the nomination if it were tendered him, unless there was no opposition and there were no other man who would consent to run.

A ballot was then taken and the townships voted as follows:

	BERGEN.
Bedminster	3
Branchburg	3
Bernards	4
Franklin	5
Montgomery	3
Warren	5
Total	30

	BERGEN.
Bridgewater	5
Hillsboro	3
North Plainfield	5
Total	15

Mr. Beekman's nomination was then made unanimous.

Ex-Assemblyman George N. Cramer was unanimously re-nominated.

Dr. Farrell, Dr. Sutphen and Mr. J. F. Brady were nominated for coroners.

The following selections were made by the members of the executive committee: Bedminster, E. Randall; Bridgewater, Messrs. J. Shortz, Mershon, Meshan, Logan, Roach and Hilpot; Bernards, J. E. Belleution and H. N. Bowen; Branchburg, C. B. Correll; Franklin, J. L. Bergen and E. Peace; Hillsboro, Henry Lee and Michael Staples; Montgomery, H. B. Brokaw; North Plainfield, Andrew Love, Sr., Elston M. French; Warren, J. V. Bowman.

THE HANS ANDERSON CASE.

Judge Van Syckel Held that the Company was Not Liable.

In the case of Hans Anderson against the Pond Machine Tool Co. Judge Van Syckel held to-day that if there was any negligence, it was the negligence of one of Anderson's fellow servants for which the company was not liable. He said the Judge said that he would give Mr. Anderson's counsel, Craig A. Marsh, the benefit of an exception and give him every opportunity to have the case reviewed by the Court of Errors if counsel thought the Court said he would take the appeal.

"TIDINGS DAY MEETING."

A Pleasant Time at Grace M. E. Sunday Night.

An "Incantherine" or "Good Tidings Day meeting" was held in Grace Methodist Episcopal church, corner of Park and Sterling streets, under the direction of the Sunday school. The church was crowded. The room was prettily decorated with flowers. An arch of maple branches with a sheaf of wheat at one end and corn stalks at the other was formed over the platform in front of the pulpit. There was a large sheaf of wheat, and other things representing a regular harvest. The programme was very interesting.

Lawyer John K. Van Ness Again.

Lawyer John K. Van Ness is in trouble again. Yesterday Frederick Clark made a complaint before Justice Nash against Mr. Van Ness, charging him with assault and battery. Mr. Clark said he had called at Mr. Van Ness's place to collect his wages, when he was struck by him with a stick.

Clark also went to Elizabeth and made his complaint to the Grand Jury.

St. Mary's Fair.

The most successful fair ever held by St. Mary's church, was brought to a close Saturday night. It is estimated that the proceeds will reach $1,300.

MRS. HENRY WINS.

$200 DAMAGES AWARDED TO HER YESTERDAY.

For being Shot in the Neck by Mr. John Clarkson, who was Shooting at a Pear—The Jury Out None Hours. She Sued for $5,000.

Mrs. Annie Henry, who was accidentally wounded in the back of her neck by a 38-calibre pistol ball discharged from the pistol of Thomas Clarkson while he was firing at a chestnut post last May, yesterday received a verdict in her favor for $200 damages. This carries with it the costs of her suit. She admitted that the shooting was purely accidental and that the wound healed up in about a week's time, but claimed that she had not yet recovered from the nervous shock. Mr. Clarkson, his wife and his daughter testified that Mr. Clarkson had paid two doctors' bills and given Mrs. Henry $6, making $26 in all, which Mrs. Henry said was satisfactory to her. They added that she said she would not make Mr. Clarkson any further trouble. Mrs. Henry denied having said this, but admitted that Mr. Clarkson paid the $26.

The case was begun Friday and concluded yesterday. Mrs. Henry was represented by Mr. Craig A. Marsh. Mr. Clarkson's counsel were Mr. R. V. Lindsley and ex Judge W. R. Codington.

MAIL CARRIERS MEET.

Four Guests Present from the Newark Association.

The Letter Carriers' Association of Plainfield held a meeting last night in the lecture room of Reform Hall. President Demarest presided.

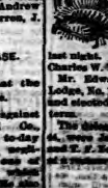
Messrs. T. H. Butterson, John Wood, John Young, Thomas Wood and Thomas Bradbury of Newark were present as guests of the association. The first named gentleman represented the Plainfield association by proxy at the National Association Convention, held at Kansas City.

Mr. Butterson had reported the action of the national association, business was suspended and the members and guests adjourned to an adjoining room, where a feast was spread.

When the inner man had been satisfied, the company repaired again to assembled in the lecture room where they were heartily entertained with vocal and instrumental music. But the members and guests were unanimous in pronouncing a recitation by Carrier Bauerecke the best of the evening.

A NEW DISTRICT DEPUTY.

A District Meeting of Odd Fellows Last Night.



A district meeting of the Odd Fellows of Elizabeth, Somerville, Westfield, Rahway, White House, Pleasant Valley, Elizabethport and Plainfield was held in the lodge room of Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, last night. The retiring District Deputy, Charles W. Sanford, presided.

Mr. Edward S. Kellam of Memorial Lodge, No. 185, Elizabeth, was nominated and elected District Deputy for the next term.

The officers of Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, are: Noble Grand, E. G. Brown and T. F. Bonny. There was a collation at a conclusion of the meeting.

RECEPTION.

A reception pro tem will be held at the Grace M. E. church to-night.

—The first session of the class in Plane Geometry will meet at the Y. M. C. A. rooms this evening.

—Justice Mosher has issued summons in the contract case of the Standard Oil Company vs. James Flynn, returnable Oct. 28th.

A number of the members of the Salvation Army went to New York, last night, to attend the wedding of Adjutant Bell to Major Chatterton of England.

—The Bicycle Club has decided to hold "stag" runners every Saturday during the Winter. Brooks and Dunn, Lindley-ave., have been assigned for November 4th.

—The Victor Wheelmen (colored) will meet at the house of the captain on Washington avenue, on Thursday night, when important business will be transacted.

—On Thursday night, Sixth Captain Glenn, of the Scotch preacher, Ensign Wood and Captain Dayman are expected to have charge of the meeting at the Salvation Army.

Caught One of Them Alone.

Last summer Samuel Allen of this city had a row with three brothers named Kelly at Westfield., Allen was worsted.

Yesterday Allen met one of the trio in Plainfield. The man had a set-to. Both were arrested before Justice Nash. Kelly made a complaint of assault against Allen. The case will be tried Saturday.

To the "Ts."

The "Ts." will hold a devotional meeting to-morrow afternoon. Miss C. S. Peck will speak, and a full attendance is earnestly requested.

$25,993 NEEDED YET.

IN ORDER TO COMPLETE THEIR NEW BUILDING.

Appeal from the Building Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association for More Funds. The Financial Statement.

ORE money is needed by the Building Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association to complete their handsome new home on East Front street. The committee has issued the following appeal for more funds:

Plainfield, N. J., October 12th, 1893.

After careful consideration, and having in mind our obligations to those with whom we have contracted for the erection of the Young Men's Christian Association, we have been compelled to stop the work on our new building. We do this reluctantly, knowing that in making this move we shall disappoint many who believe we have no money with which to proceed. We address you as a friend of our work, and enclose for your information the following statement of our financial condition. From this you will see that we need to raise for the above purpose, and to complete in some way the $3,000 not yet available.

We were induced to commence building after the vexatious delay caused by the Peace street extension, and were led to believe that we would raise the balance needed within the committee's control. The delay of many times there would have been no doubt of this.

But we believe that with a little exertion on the part of those who have the welfare of our young men at heart, we can raise the money in these extraordinary times, and that the work can be resumed and carried to a finish.

We ask not only your earnest consideration of this matter, but such immediate subscription or additional subscription as you feel the cause warrants.

Yours respectfully,

W. D. MURRAY,
H. O. NEWMAN,
CHAS. W. MCCUTCHEON,
JAS. W. JACKSON, Trust.,
D. K. TINGWOOD,
H. S. MOSHER,
C. T. KISSAM,
Building Committee.

The following is the financial statement of the Young Men's Christian Association Building Fund:

Amount needed to complete building:
For land	$ 14,000
Contractor's estimate for building, boiler, cooker and painting	31,993
Work to be completed for heating, covering, grading, hardware, sidewalk, bowling alleys,	3,000
	$48,993
Paid for land	$12,000
Paid to contractors	25,000
	$36,000
Balance needed	$12,993
Subscriptions paid in	10,000
Paid in	2,000
Balance unpaid	$ 1,000
Good	$ 1,000
Await on Peace street extension	2,000
	$3,000
New subscriptions needed	$10,000
Original purchase	$7,000
Additional payment	5,000
Peace street extension	7,000
	$19,000
Damages awarded	6,000
Actual cost of land	$ 7,000

JOURNAL BOWLING LEAGUE.

Schedule of the Games to be Bowled This Winter.

The schedule of the Journal Bowling League for the season 1893-94 is as follows:

Thursday, Nov. 16th, Y. M. C. I. A. vs. Alcyone at Alcyone.
Friday, Nov. 17th, Alcyone vs. E. F. C. at Pioneer.
Saturday, Nov. 18th, A. K. A. vs. Pioneer at A. K. A.
Monday, Nov. 20th, Y. M. C. I. A. vs. Pioneer at Y. M. C. I. A.
Tuesday, Nov. 21st, Alcyone vs. C. T. M. L. at Alcyone.
Wednesday, Nov. 22d, Pioneer vs. Alcyone at Pioneer.
Thursday, Nov. 23d, Field Club vs. C. T. M. L. at Field Club.
Friday, Nov. 24th, Y. M. C. I. A. vs. E. F. C. at Y. M. C. I. A.
Saturday, Nov. 25th, Alcyone vs. A. K. A. at Alcyone.
Monday, Nov. 27th, Alcyone vs. C. T. M. L. at Alcyone.
Tuesday, Nov. 28th, Pioneer vs. A. K. A. at Pioneer.
Wednesday, Nov. 29th, Field Club vs. Y. M. C. I. A. at Field Club.
Thursday, Nov. 30th, E. F. C. vs. Pioneer at E. F. C.
Friday, Dec. 1st, Alcyone vs. A. K. A. at Alcyone.
Saturday, Dec. 2d, C. T. M. L. vs. Pioneer at C. T. M. L.
Monday, Dec. 4th, Alcyone vs. C. T. M. L. at Alcyone.
Tuesday, Dec. 5th, Y. M. C. I. A. vs. A. K. A. at Y. M. C. I. A.
Wednesday, Dec. 6th, Pioneer vs. Alcyone at Pioneer.
Thursday, Dec. 7th, Field Club vs. C. T. M. L. at Field Club.
Friday, Dec. 8th, E. F. C. vs. A. K. A. at E. F. C.
Saturday, Dec. 9th, Alcyone vs. Pioneer at Alcyone.
Monday, Dec. 11th, Y. M. C. I. A. vs. Alcyone at Y. M. C. I. A.
Tuesday, Dec. 12th, A. K. A. vs. Pioneer at A. K. A.
Wednesday, Dec. 13th, Alcyone vs. C. T. M. L. at Alcyone.
Thursday, Dec. 14th, Field Club vs. E. F. C. at Field Club.
Friday, Dec. 15th, Y. M. C. I. A. vs. Pioneer at Y. M. C. I. A.
Saturday, Dec. 16th, A. K. A. vs. Alcyone at A. K. A.
Monday, Dec. 18th, Pioneer vs. Field Club at Pioneer.
Tuesday, Dec. 19th, C. T. M. L. vs. E. F. C. at C. T. M. L.
Wednesday, Dec. 20th, Alcyone vs. Pioneer at Alcyone.
Thursday, Dec. 21st, Y. M. C. I. A. vs. A. K. A. at Y. M. C. I. A.
Friday, Dec. 22d, Field Club vs. C. T. M. L. at Field Club.
Saturday, Dec. 23d, E. F. C. vs. Alcyone at E. F. C.
Monday, Jan. 22d, Y. M. C. I. A. vs. A. K. A. at Y. M. C. I. A.
Tuesday, Jan. 23d, A. K. A. vs. Pioneer at A. K. A.
Wednesday, Jan. 24th, Field Club vs. C. T. M. L. at Field Club.
Thursday, Jan. 25th, E. F. C. vs. Pioneer at E. F. C.
Friday, Jan. 26th, Alcyone vs. A. K. A. at Alcyone.
Saturday, Jan. 27th, Y. M. C. I. A. vs. C. T. M. L. at Y. M. C. I. A.
Monday, Jan. 29th, Alcyone vs. Pioneer at Alcyone.
Tuesday, Jan. 30th, C. T. M. L. vs. Alcyone at C. T. M. L.
Wednesday, Jan. 31st, Pioneer vs. Field Club at Pioneer.
Thursday, Feb. 1st, Alcyone vs. E. F. C. at Alcyone.
Friday, Feb. 2d, Pioneer vs. A. K. A. at Pioneer.
Saturday, Feb. 3d, Y. M. C. I. A. vs. Field Club at Y. M. C. I. A.

Mr. John J. Keaney of the C. T. M. L. attended a meeting of the Journal Bowling League, held at Elizabeth, last night.

Racing at Linden Anyway.

Despite the fact that at their last regular meeting the Linden Township Committee revoked the license of the Linden Park Association, racing has already begun at that picturesque track to-day. The meeting will last two days.

The Linden Township Committee held a meeting last night.

Messrs. Lyon and Conrad (of counsel) for the Linden Park Association, who was present in the interest of the track, immediately served a writ of certiorari upon the Clerk and Township Committee from Chief Justice Beasley, which is returnable in ten days.

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE

REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS.

Ex Senator Thompson Nominated for Senator.

Somerville, N. J., Oct. 17.—The Somerset County Republican Convention met here to-day. The meeting was called to order at 11.25. Mr. W. W. Howland of North Plainfield was elected chairman and Mr. J. Frelinghuysen of Raritan secretary.

The nominations for Senator were as follows:

Lewis K. Thompson, Lewis Schenck, James Boorman and Charles A. Reed.

Thompson dropped out in the fourth ballot. At the sixth ballot the vote was as follows:

Thompson	26
Schenck	17
Reed	3

Mr. Thompson's nomination was made unanimous.

Frank W. Somers of South Bound Brook was unanimously nominated for Assembly.

WILLIAM L. PATTON ARRESTED.

Charged with Breach of Trust.—Now in Jail.

New York, Oct. 17.—Broker William L. Patton was arrested here last night, charged with hypothecating more than $750,000. All the money, he says, went into Wall street's whirlpool. Mr. Patton lives on East Ninth street, Plainfield.

Comments on a So-Called Newspaper's Politics.

To the Editor of The News:—"No one deprecates more than does The Press the movement of publishing the facts of distressing discord in an organization like Holy Cross parish; but it has a duty to fulfill."

Well, now, this is gratifying! We somehow got the impression from certain editorials in the columns of the "daily" was a pleasure, and somewhat overdone at that.

Here are some of the pleasantries alluded to:

"Recent events demonstrate that a good newspaper is a power for good in the community. Best of references to others, if they wish to keep pace with the times."

"The personal bloom of ecclesiastical disturbance continues in Plainfield. Who next?"

"With pen out of the pulpit, McAllister will be a chance to spread his wings."

"None of the local clergymen(him has yet spoken on a sermon on the text: 'Be thou not afraid of sudden fear.'"

We admit that the desperation in these quotations seems rather obscure, but all the same we are willing to believe it is there, for, as a newspaper has not The Press its duty to fulfill? And is not its complete duty best set forth when it is closed? It is painful to feel obliged to apologize for anything that appears in a paper which is so excellent as the The Press, but there seems good reason to in this case, for the last paragraph quoted was evolved The Press grammar (if it ever had one) was loaned out; or else, the Bible has been the Congressional library, it is in an excellent state of preservation. LEX.

Oatmeal Eaters.

Uncle lived to be - - - 142.
Cardinal de Salis to be 118.
Old Parr to be - - - 152.

All famous oatmeal eaters,

and this was before

H-O Hornby's Oatmeal

the perfect oatmeal, was known.

Third Assembly District Convention of Union County.

Pursuant to a call issued by the County Committee, the Republican voters of the Third Assembly District of Union county met in convention at Republican Headquarters, Elizabeth, on Tuesday evening, October 17, 1893, at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of nominating candidates for Assembly, Coroners and Surrogate, to be voted for at the general election to be held on Tuesday, November 7, 1893.

The convention was called to order by Chairman Charles N. Goodnow, who stated the object of the meeting.

On motion of Mr. Frank Hetfield, Mr. Charles N. Goodnow was elected temporary chairman, and Mr. Frank Hetfield temporary secretary.

On motion of Mr. Frank Hetfield, the chair appointed the following committee on credentials: Messrs. Frank Hetfield, Fourth Ward, Elizabeth; Frank Hall, Second Ward, Elizabeth; Frank Hall, Second Ward, Elizabeth; Frank Hall, Second Ward, Elizabeth; Frank Hall, Second Ward, Elizabeth.

The committee retired, and after a short absence reported the following delegates entitled to seats in the convention:

First Ward—Second District, 371 Park avenue, Elizabeth; Second District, 371 Park avenue, Elizabeth; Third District, 371 Park avenue, Elizabeth.

Second Ward—First District, 371 Park avenue, Elizabeth; Second District, 371 Park avenue, Elizabeth; Third District, 371 Park avenue, Elizabeth.

Third Ward—Adam Bahr's Every station, 300 Elizabeth avenue, Elizabeth.

Fourth Ward—First District, office of A. M. Hetfield, 371 Park avenue, Elizabeth.

Fourth Ward—Second District, corner avenue, near South Second street.

The Board of Inspectors will meet at the various polling places on Tuesday, October 31, and Tuesday, October 31.

To revise and correct the Register List.

F. W. HUNTON, City Clerk.
15-17-24

Legal Advertisements.

REGISTRATION NOTICE.

By virtue of the following places for the various Wards of the city of Plainfield, are hereby designated as follows:

First Ward—Second District, Washington's Engine House, corner Second street and Watchung avenue.

First Ward—Second District, office of A. M. Hetfield, 371 Park avenue, Elizabeth.

Second Ward—First District, 371 Park avenue, Elizabeth; Second District, 371 Park avenue, Elizabeth; Third District, 371 Park avenue, Elizabeth.

Third Ward—Adam Bahr's Every station, 300 Elizabeth avenue, Elizabeth.

Fourth Ward—First District, office of A. M. Hetfield, 371 Park avenue, Elizabeth.

Fourth Ward—Second District, corner avenue, near South Second street.

The Board of Inspectors will meet at the various polling places on Tuesday, October 31, and Tuesday, October 31.

To revise and correct the Register List.

F. W. HUNTON, City Clerk.
15-17-24

Classified Want Columns.

FOR SALE.

A GOOD horse for sale. 309 West Third street. 10 10

FOR SALE.—$6,000.—Two dwellings and one building lot, All in North Plainfield. Titles perfect. Terms easy. Dwellings rent for $60 per month. Address "R. D. Jr." care of Evening News. 9 tf

FOR SALE.—New house, Park place, near Warner avenue, (Washington Park.) Cheap. Inquire of Wallace Leake. 9 14 tf

SITUATIONS WANTED.

WANTED.—A situation as a cook and laundress; city or country. Best of references. Call at No. 434 West Front street, Mrs. Lindsay's. 17 1

FOR RENT.

TO LET.—A small house on Warren street, No. 31. 10 tf

A GOOD OPPORTUNITY.—$19 per month will rent a pleasantly located house on East street. Ground enough for a garden. Call at Keen Allen. 10 7 tf

NEWLY furnished rooms to let. 329 Richmond street. 5 14

TO LET.—A furnished room with or without board to a lady. 323 East Fifth street. 9 tf

TO LET.—Seven room house near Front St. Apply to owner, Jacob Hoffman, 1 Front street, or Geo. Hoffman, City Hotel. 9 6 tf

LOST AND FOUND.

LOST.—Near corner Bay, Church and Somerset streets, a Bunch of Keys. Return to A. Craig Jones. 16 2

A BETTER way steeped into my shoes than by using Hornby's Oatmeal and proving perfect. 16 tf

1893 TAXES!

Notice is hereby given to the taxpayers of the

City of Plainfield,

that the taxes assessed in said city for the year 1893 are now due and payable, and that if the said taxes be not paid by the next, the names of the delinquents, with their respective taxes, will be returned to the City Collector for the purpose of collection.

20th Day of December

COMMISSIONERS OF APPEAL.

In cases of inability, will meet in the Commissioners' room, on the

Fourth Tuesday in November Next,

(the 28th,) and sit from two o'clock P. M. until five o'clock P. M., or longer if necessary, to dispose of all appeals duly filed and presented for that purpose.

JOHN JOHNSON,
Collector of Taxes.

Dated, Plainfield, N. J., October 9, 1893.
10 7 24

Republican Primaries.

The Republican voters of the City of Plainfield are hereby notified that primary elections will be held at the several polling places in the city on for the purpose of electing delegates to the two Members of the County Executive Committee from each Ward.

THURSDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 19, 1893,

The polls will be open for the Election of Delegates as follows:

First Ward—At the Association House, No. 120 East Front street, at 6 o'clock, and is entitled to elect Eight (8) delegates to the Convention.

Second Ward—At Patrick Boland's Building, East Front street, at 6 o'clock, and is entitled to elect Eight (8) delegates to the Convention.

Third Ward—At the Engine House, on West Seventh street, at 7 o'clock, and is entitled to six delegates to the Convention.

Fourth Ward—At Roberts Hall, No. 37 West Second street, at 7 o'clock, and is entitled to six delegates to the Convention.

BERGEN BACKER, Chairman.
J. R. COWAN, Secretary.
Dated, Plainfield, October 11, 1893.

Boehm's.

$5.00

buys a fine Ladies' Coat, for stout, made of heavy Beaver cloth, with fancy style cape, lined with fancy plaid satin, and trimmed with Silk Braid and Ornaments. Misses' and Children's Cloaks, Jackets, Fur Capes, etc., are shown in this variety, from the cheapest to the finest. Ladies' and Children's Coats we are now showing.

25c. At this price we are showing a line of Ladies' Fancy Ribbed Vests, in Natural, White, Pink, Canary and Blue, which are worth 50c. a garment. Also a complete line of Ladies' Fleeced Underwear, at 25c. a garment. Ladies' Fleeced Hose, at 10c. a pair. Ladies' Fast Black Hose, at 5c. a pair. MILLINERY. We supply the latest novelty in Infants' and Children's Hats and Caps, in the most fashionable styles, at the lowest prices. Ladies' Trimmed Hats a specialty. Boehm's.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

West Iceland Is Like.

Mr. T. Thoroddsen is an Icelandic gentleman who has spent his summer vacations in the past 10 years to explore the geographical and physical features of his own land. It is a land where there are frequent snows in August, where there is not a wagon road and where thirteen-fourteenths of the country are uninhabitable by man, beast or vegetable. There is absolutely not a blade of grass upon these dreary, tremendous lava wastes. The 70,000 people that still inhabit Iceland live in the scraggy valleys and lowlands where the lava has crumbled away and washed down sufficiently to make a little productive soil.

In the midst of snowstorm and rainstorm, mountain torrent, failing ice avalanche and boiling, bubbling mud and sulphur springs, that fumed like sheol pits, Thoroddsen has pursued his nature studies. All the provender for his horses, food and clothing for himself and companions, his instruments and utensils, were carried on the backs of the queer, sturdy little Iceland ponies. Sometimes the path was so narrow and dangerous that the ponies had to be unloaded and led in the most careful manner. Whether such a region was worth exploring will be answered in the negative by the individual who is always and only "on the make."

For the man of science, however, the discoveries of Thoroddsen are full of strange interest. He found vast lakes of black water which were merely the filled up craters of extinct volcanoes. The water was blackened by the lava which forms the mountains. One lake, surrounded by basalt walls, he found that was not less than 375 feet deep. Thoroddsen believes that if the moon had any water on its surface its landscapes would look like those of Iceland. He judges this from the lunar photographs.

Perhaps the most interesting discovery of all was that millions of years ago, in the tertiary period, before the age of man on this earth, Iceland was a warm country filled with semitropical vegetation. The climate he supposes to be like that of northern Italy today. This may perhaps give some data as to the rate at which the globe is cooling off and the number of years that must elapse before all the earth will be as desolate and frozen as Iceland is today. The explorer believes that in the tertiary age Iceland was the neck that connected Europe and America by land.

Putting Infidels to Flight.

Rev. T. De Witt Talmage is still stirring sinners up. He uses always original but methods. Mr. Talmage says he does not believe there is an infidel alive who has read the Bible through carefully. He offers to give $100 to the unbeliever who can prove by one witness that he has read the Bible through twice. The condition attached is not difficult at first blush. But the more one thinks of it the more he is convinced of the genius of the old soldier of the cross.

The infidel must prove by a witness that he has read the Scriptures through twice. Somebody, of course, must have seen him so read. He must not have skipped even the genealogical chapters dealing with the "begats." Naturally the infidels squirm at this, and thus their forces are rotted. They say in extenuation that nobody alive can prove by a witness that he has read the Bible through twice. In order to do that, it is necessary to read it through aloud to some other person and be sure that the other person hears every word and never dozes off for one single whit. One infidel lawyers went to Mr. Talmage and insisted that if he himself could prove by his father that he had read the Bible through twice, the offering was proper and sufficient. Mr. Talmage very properly answered the lawyer with his own lookout and declared he would not discuss the matter at all. So the matter is on the table on the same old terms.

During October and November it is unusual for Italian unemployed laborers to go home for the winter. They usually take the trip home and a winter's lay off as a chapter to that means that they can get employment during in America. During the past year, however, the interruption of Italians named the emigration of Italians to the west of New York considerably. But when the spring returns the gentle Italian will be with us, serene and smiling, ready for work or ruckus.

Any American searching have been looking during the past summer for the best information obtainable as to the $10,000,000 worth of American securities still held in Europe. In order to ascertain it is believed that although less than $100,000,000 of British capital are invested in the ranches, mines, railroads and real estate.

Some mining engineers do not allow that there is danger of [illegible] that reversing an [illegible] speed makes it go fast [illegible] it did before. The motor [illegible] still on, and the driving [illegible] the axles.

A reader wants to know which is correct to say, "I feel bad," or "I feel badly." Either. You feel bad when you are sick, and you feel badly when you feel guilty [illegible].

MUST HAVE HIS SAY OUT

Senator Peffer Tells the Majority to Have Patience.

HOUSE PASSES MCREAKY'S BILL

The Silence of a Chinese Got the Senate Into a Most Curious Tangle and Helped the Silver Cranks—Crowded Gallery Watched the Evening Session.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—The proceedings of the senate were interesting. They opened with a motion by the silver party leader to displace the consideration of the bill to open to settlement the Cherokee outlet, Oklahoma territory, as the first municipal elections. The joint resolution was passed after an unsuccessful attempt by the Populist senator from Kansas, Mr. Peffer, to engraft a proviso upon it. The attempt was smothered by only nine senators. The Union Pacific receivership led to the introduction of a bill by Mr. Morgan to provide for the control of the Union and Central Pacific railroads until their debts to the government are paid up in full or secured.

Most of the two hours assigned by the rules to morning business was taken up in a debate upon resolutions to amend the rules heretofore offered by Mr. Lodge. They propose to prohibit the reading of prepared speeches, require the counting of enough who are present and refuse to vote for the purpose of making a quorum, and propose an arrangement similar to that now existing in the house, under which, through a report from the committee on rules, debate may be stopped and a vote taken.

Sharp Debating on the Rules.

Mr. Lodge spoke of the senate presenting a travesty of deliberation, and said that it should adopt, speedily, some rule which, one thing or else go to work and amend the rules so as to give power to the majority. Mr. Vest, in opposing the amendments, said that the effective and patriotic use of the right of the minority in defeating the force bill a few years ago was worth an acre of arguments. When senators, he said, came to the conclusion that there would be no unconditional repeal of the Sherman law, a compromise bill could be passed which would be just to all sections and all classes. To a question by Mr. Hill why the pending bill could not be passed, Mr. Vest replied that if the New York senator, after what he had witnessed during the last two months, could not answer the question satisfactorily to himself, it would be arrogant vanity for him (Mr. Vest) to try to do so. Mr. Aldrich also took part in the discussion, and he and Mr. Hill were equally emphatic as to the power of the minority to pass the repeal bill, even under existing laws.

The Lodge resolutions went over and the silver bill was taken up at 2 p. m. Mr. Jones occupying three hours, but not finishing his speech, and Mr. Peffer going on with the speech which he began last Friday.

Senate In a Curious Tangle.

The senate got into a curious parliamentary tangle just at nightfall, which recalled that extraordinary session when the body, with Mr. Ingalls in the chair, found itself unable to adjourn, when every person present wished to do so. During the course of the proceedings at a point when a quorum was temporarily absent Mr. Voorhees moved that the sergeant-at-arms be directed to secure the attendance of the absentees. Soon afterward a few stragglers came into the chamber and made up a quorum to transact all of the business. Then Mr. Voorhees wished to withdraw his motion, but Mr. Dubois, probably recalling an occurrence during the force bill campaign, saw his opportunity and refused his assent. There was nothing to do but call the yeas and nays, and the yeas were so numerous that a voting quorum could not be obtained.

As soon as the vote was announced on the yeas and nays, under the rules another call was in order, without motion, to devise the presence of a quorum. The quorum answering to the call, again the motion presented to Mr. Voorhees' original proposition, and so it went on, changing from the yeas and nays to the call of the senate. The silver men had ready tinta barrel to the clock the necessity of talking against time, and the proceeding seemed very weak like what a spectator denominated the ridiculous side of politics. It was for two hours and a quarter, uninterrupted by the adjournment of a voting quorum.

About 8 o'clock the audience had become pretty well filled and presented the same animated scene of Wednesday and Thursday nights last week. Many ladies in the galleries can be taken as an index of the popular feeling, it is evident that interest in the proceedings on the floor is as intense as when the silver bill for its repeal was inaugurated.

At 8:20 o'clock, after nine roll calls, Mr. Voorhees moved to dispense with further proceedings under the call and to have the yeas and nays noted in the negative. The motion was agreed to, a quorum declared present, and the motion was carried.

Mr. Hill Makes an Objection.

Mr. Peffer was then allowed to proceed and that it was only by long steps that he could reach the point [illegible] that he thought it necessary to recall to the senate the subject and discussion which [illegible] interrupted.

Mr. Hill was giving the history of the senate and had got to the time when the rules were changed so as to allow the previous question to be sustained upon a majority vote, and Mr. Peffer then read on to find those rules to discover what [illegible] upon them.

At this point Mr. Hill arose to a question of order. He said that [illegible] the senate [illegible] he could, was the propriety of the passage of the repeal bill. The senator from Colorado, he was free to say, had not [illegible] but was talking about an entirely irrelevant matter in connection with the subject of the passage of the repeal bill. He desired to call the senate to order, and the record would show the absurdity and the ridiculous part of although these certain remarks in addition to be made under the guise of a discussion of a repeal bill, and he asked the chair if these remarks were not out of order.

The presiding officer ruled that the chair had no power to pass upon the relevancy of the discussion of the senator from Kansas.

Mr. Hoar arose and asked whether the books on the senator's desk and to the accompanying chart were [illegible] a formidable affair, were to be read through.

The presiding officer stated that that was not a question of order, and a colloquy [illegible] between Mr. Hoar and Mr. Peffer, in the course of his speech, said there was nothing [illegible] that he was [illegible] knew as much about [illegible] as the men in Wall street or [illegible] other street. He [illegible] might be a [illegible] of what to discuss [illegible] is full.

The Majority Must Be Patient.

"I have enough business [illegible] Mr. Peffer, "under the rules of the senate to occupy the time [illegible] day's debate." [Laughter.] As to the time when the question [illegible] ready to vote on the bill, that would be [illegible] Mr. Peffer. He had the [illegible] request for the doctrine that the majority should rule. A time would come [illegible] if the majority had patience to wait [illegible] when the senate had to act by the question, which the senators would vote, but not until then. "But if the senate insists on forcing this bill on us," said the speaker, in effect of a compromise, just as long will we insist that we are the majority; that we represent the great mass of the people."

Mr. Palmer asked if the senator meant that the majority should not be allowed to vote until a proposition is made which is acceptable to the minority.

Mr. Peffer said the supporters of this bill claim to be bimetallists. Let them prove their words by their acts.

Mr. Palmer—Does the senator mean to say that we shall not vote until we prove our words by our acts? Does he mean that at the present time the compromise is before we can vote?

Mr. Peffer—My answer to the senator is that if we can't vote they shall not.

The colloquy between Mr. Peffer and Mr. Palmer kept up in a desultory manner until 10 o'clock, when Mr. Voorhees arose and suggested that the hour for the evening he had asked the senate to remain in session until 10 o'clock. That hour having arrived, he moved that the senate adjourn until 11 o'clock Monday. Accordingly the senate adjourned.

The Mercenary Bill Passed.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—The bill extending for six months the time within which Chinese may be allowed to register under the provisions of the Geary law was passed in the house with little or no opposition. This was due to the fact that the fact that the house democratic debating Chinese merchants was agreed to almost unanimously. There was no attempt made to procure the yeas and nays, and the opponents of the measure refrained in its progress through by default. The final vote by tellers stood 179 to 1.

The Cox bill for the better control of national banks was then taken up, and after remarks by Mr. Cox (pro) and Mr. Cannon (con) the house adjourned without disposing of the measure.

Fourth Class Postmasters Appointed.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—The following fourth class postmasters were appointed:

New York—Hiram Steele, Arcade; H. B. Jackson, Barre Center; J. C. Guthrie, Barrington; F. P. Worsley, East Corning; W. H. Whitcomb, Freeman; P. A. Fairbanks, Jay; Abram Taylor, Johnson Creek; E. E. Hall, La Salle; W. Boyd, Medina; D. R. Maxwell, Newtane; Emerson Ford, Oak Hill; F. W. Lamont, Pine Hill; W. A. Riley, Rensselville; Charles E. Jones, South Cairo; G. W. Covart, Sparrowbush; J. E. Scoville, Sullivan; J. L. Chesbro, Trumansburg; C. H. Ayrault, Westville.

Pennsylvania—J. Z. Groop, Bartlier; W. S. Dueliman, Morgantown; Evelyn Giering, Portland; F. M. Gates, Prince; J. J. Seitz, Seven Stars; A. McIlvaine, Sylvia; Miss K. A. Wolfe, Wilmore; Howard Stonebeck, Zionsville.

Drank Adulterated Whisky and Died.

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 17.—James Quinn of Pawtucket is held here on a charge of causing the death of John Gilligan. Gilligan and another man drank what they supposed to be whisky at Quinn's place and died a few hours after. An autopsy revealed the use of death to have been nitrobenzene, which was found in Gilligan's stomach. In the examination it was brought out that the drug is used as a substitute for oil of almonds in the adulteration of whisky.

Legion of Honor Elects Officers.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—The national encampment, Medal of Honor Legion, elected the following officers: Commander, General James R. O'Beirne of New York; senior vice commander, Colonel Robert L. Orr of Philadelphia; junior vice commander, Colonel Robert L. Orr of Philadelphia; junior vice commander, Colonel Robert L. Orr of Philadelphia; junior vice council was in order, without motion, to devise the presence of a quorum. The quorum answering to the call, again the motion presented on Mr. Voorhees' original proposition, and so it went on, changing from the yeas and nays to the call of the senate. The silver men had ready tinta barrel to the clock the necessity of talking against time, and the proceeding seemed very weak like what a spectator denominated the ridiculous side of politics. It was for two hours and a quarter, uninterrupted by the adjournment of a voting quorum.

A Legislator a Voluntary Prisoner.

MEMPHIS, Oct. 17.—G. W. McKis, a member of the Mississippi legislature from Marshall county, has surrendered to the sheriff at Holly Springs to escape the wrath of a mob of negroes bent on lynching him. McKis has refused to pay Dr. John Dean, a negro employed on his plantation, in a difficulty Saturday.

Russian Got a Naval Station Near Fez.

PARIS, Oct. 17.—A high Russian naval officer, Admiral Chilkoff, has visited Admiral Tenlon again in Normandy or Dieppe. The Russian squadron in the Mediterranean, he added, would see Villefranche or Nice or Fez a coaling station which would go to Toulon probably for any needed repairs.

One Year For Boston Defaulter.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Emma Goldstein, the wife of Abraham Goldstein, who was arrested on a charge of taking part in an anarchistic assemblage in Union square in August last, was sentenced to one year's imprisonment in the penitentiary.

Fifteen Thousand Striking Mill Workers.

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 17.—There thousand more operatives from the Olneyville mills, marched in procession through the streets of the city and held a mass meeting in Music hall.

Fourth Cashier Left a Big Shortage.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 17.—A shortage that may exceed $10,000 has been discovered in the accounts of the Cincinnati Gas Light company, and Money Order Clerk William R. Orchard is a fugitive.

Steward Killed In the Siege of Rio.

RIO JANEIRO, Oct. 17.—Fort Santa Cruz Rebels on the insurgent steamers Trajano and Tallon. Both were much damaged. Several men were killed and wounded on each.

Celebrating the Burning of Kingston.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Oct. 17.—The Daughters of the Revolution celebrated the one hundredth anniversary of the burning of Kingston by the British.

College Football.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—The Columbia Athletic club's football team defeated the Pennsylvania State college's eleven here by a score of 12 to 6.

Grocery Stores Closed During Shows.

PEKIN, Oct. 17.—Striking miners rioted in Lewis Pekin Cabin. The locality was quiet, out and dispersed the mobs.

Reader's Paper Attachment.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—The poet Addison M. the World's Fair Monday were [illegible]

Prisoner Pronounced Insane.

[illegible], Ga., Oct. 17.—Twenty-seven [illegible] of yellow fever were reported [illegible]

WRECK ON THE WABASH

Another List of World's Fair Visitors Injured.

NO FATALITIES, STRANGE TO SAY.

The Train Was Making Up Lost Time When It Left the Ground and the Cars Began Tumbling Down a Low Embankment—Over Thirty Persons Were Hurt.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 17.—The west bound Chicago limited train on the Wabash road left the track one mile south of Maxnichi, resulting in the injury of some 30 people. The wreck is remarkable for the fact that no one was killed out of the 400 passengers.

The train was in charge of Conductor Wood and Engineer Hall, and was 30 minutes late time. The train was going 40 miles an hour when it gradually slowed up and stopped. The rails spread. The engine, baggage and mail cars left the track. Then a six foot embankment. The mail car was behind the baggage and express cars. It turned over and the chair car followed, settling fire to the first chair car and the buffet car, which were consumed. The rails injured immediately set to work to rescue their less fortunate companions. Two physicians on the train did noble service.

While the excitement was at its highest pitch a train on the Missouri Pacific road, which was following the Wabash train, was forced to stop to prevent a wreck. All had been sent for to St. Louis, but did not arrive till 4 o'clock Monday. Accordingly the dead were brought to the city.

List of the Seriously Injured.

Among the injured were the following: C. G. Palmer, San Antonio, Tex.; A. Steppe, St. Louis; Mrs. Hannah C. Rogers, St. Louis; Mrs. Mary Hall, Chicago; D. R. Hunter, Nevada City, Cal.; T. J. Thomas, Mobile; Mrs. W. Frame, St. Louis; P. D. Wisk, a Wabash baggage master; Mrs. Kate Lowell, St. Louis; Miss Mary Dunn, Missouri; Miss Ida Dunn, Miss Ida Maurer, New York; Mrs. Mary Moore, St. Louis; Mrs. C. Farrell, Hazel Green, Wis.; Mrs. M. Davis, Taylorville, Ills.; Mrs. William Smith, Round Rock, Tex.; Robert H. Jenkins, Chicago; James Gordon, Ruddle, Ky.; Mrs. Ed. Tuleds, Mattoon, Ill.

In addition to these there were a number of returning World's fair visitors from St. Louis, who were injured and conveyed to their homes by friends before their names could be learned.

The Rails Spread.

None of the train crew will give any theory concerning the cause of the disaster. The generally accepted opinion is that the speed and weight of the locomotive caused the rails to spread and sink. Mayor Ford of St. Louis, who was injured and conveyed to their homes by friends before their names could be learned.

The Russians Enter Paris.

PARIS, Oct. 17.—Admiral Avenal, accompanied by 50 other Russians and officers, left Toulon last night. Preparations to receive the Russians here have proceeded rapidly. The Lyons railway station is decorated profusely with bunting, trophies and flags, both inside and outside. The Rue de Lyon will be entered by the Russians between the pillars of an enormous triumphal arch. The Champs Elysees, Boilin, the boulevards and main streets are adorned with Venetian masts 60 feet high. Festoons of garlands and flags hang from the windows of hotels and private houses. President Carnot will receive Admiral Avelan at the Elysee, and in the evening the public buildings will be illuminated.

Valkyrie and Vigilant to Winter Together.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—The Valkyrie will be towed to City Island today, where she is to be laid up for the winter. The Vigilant is also to be laid up at City Island. Lord Dunraven has given a reception by the members of the New Rochelle Yacht club and the New York Yacht club will give him similar tonight. It is understood that he is expected to depart shortly for Liverpool in the Cuzco.

The Biggest Mill Building.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—The biggest steel casting that ever came to this country arrived at the docks of the Pennsylvania railroad. It weighs 65 tons and is a part of the new hydraulic forging plant which Carnegie & Co. are importing to manufacture armor plate.

Pugilistic Encounter Between Boxers.

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 17.—The Republican convention nominated Hon. J. H. Sanborn for mayor. He is proprietor of the Newport Mercury, which claims to be the oldest paper in America.

Recreation Glee Workers Employed.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 17.—The fight between the United States Glass company and the Glass Workers' Union was brought to a close today. The union has agreed to the terms of the company, which will be placed in this city on the Saturday following Thanksgiving.

Big Cotton Mill Burned at Fall River.

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 17.—The small fishing steamer Lewis Leader ran down and sunk by a four master, Bryant Barnes. The crew were saved.

A Fourth Barrel For the Cruiser New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—The United States cruiser New York was presented with a handsome silver punch bowl by the New York Yacht club.

A Reunion of General Grant's Family.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—There will be a reunion of members of the family of General U. S. Grant at the Fifth Avenue hotel today.

A Bavarian Editor Arrested.

BERLIN, Oct. 17.—The Social-Democratic editor, Lindner, has been arrested for publishing seditious articles.

A Chinese Lawyer Shot.

TUKAHOMA, I. T., Oct. 17.—John Carney shot and probably killed Sandy Lefore, a Chinese lawyer, at Ladore.

Southwestern Wheelmen Meet.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 17.—The new company has discovered that the city is absolutely broke up.

Hon. Geo. W. Fields

All Run Down

"A few years ago my health failed, and I was all run down. I was not only clearly diagnosed by men and their medicine failed to give relief. I commenced to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. From me at once, there was a change for the better. I grew stronger, my appetite returned, and I was restored to perfect health." Geo. W. Fields, Hon. Mayor of Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Cures

Purely I worked 14 hours a day. Now I can work 16 hours without fatigue. Hood's Sarsaparilla has done me much good." Chas. W. Tyson, Ex-Sheriff, Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills cure all Liver Ills, Jaundice, Biliousness, Sick Headache, Indigestion. Try a box. 25c.

New : Proprietor !

HENRY F. WINDHAM,

Arlington : Hotel !

Somerset street and Greenbrook road.

Regular and transient boarders.

First-class bar and stabling attached.

ROCHESTER BEERS.

The success already attained by this brand of Lager Beer is beyond expectation. No other beer ever handled in this city has had such remarkable sales. Try it!

Bottled Liquors,

Imported Beers and Ales are having a very large sale at this season. My stock is first-class, and it will pay you to investigate.

FRANK LINKE'S

Wholesale Liquor Establishment,

42 WEST FRONT STREET.

Telephone Call, 157.

The only place to buy

Sea Food!

is at

TERRY'S

North Avenue Sea Food Market,

where you will find the biggest Stock in Plainfield. Also, all other kinds in season, at the lowest prices.

MORE SLAUGHTER!

to close out our entire line of

Negligee SHIRTS!

We offer them at the ridiculously low price of

85 CENTS.

Hallock & Davis,

Now making up Fall Suits and Overcoats to order.

42 WEST FRONT STREET.

World's Fair Excursion Tickets!

Going and returning via all the different lines, without extra charge.

FRANK'S

Lowest Rate Railroad and Steamship Agency,

343 AND 345 BROADWAY, Corner Leonard Street, NEW YORK.

Lowest rates to all parts of the World. Tickets purchased and exchanged. Sleeping berths reserved. Baggage transferred.

MEMBER AMERICAN TICKET BROKERS' ASSOCIATION.

World's Fair Exhibit on Flower Pots!

OVER FOUR TONS—6,400 pounds—18 large crates—3 truck loads.

The patterns and decorations are numerous and exquisite in design. Prices range from 1½ cents for the Slip Pot to $1.25 for the double Calla Lily, the popular ones being the 8c., 9c., 10c. and 15c. sizes in the common, though we have the largest made, at 60c. Decorated Pots and Hanging Baskets range from 7c. to 75c. We are prepared to sell all, and our prices are guaranteed the lowest and quality without a fault. The wire rim and the oak bail on the common Pots add strength and beauty, and are easily detached. Order early, as some will have to wait.

J. C. Allen, 28 West Front St., Plainfield, N. J.

Practical.

HARNED ACADEMY.

BOARDING AND DAY SCHOOL.

New School Buildings,
Competent Instructors,
Students Prepared for College,
For Business, and
In Special Subjects.

For circulars, address "Harned Academy, Plainfield, N. J."

Plainfield Manual Training School,

1 BIG EAST FRONT STREET.

The course of study includes Sloyd lessons each week, in the various branches taught. Terms, $1.00 per lesson for children of school age. Lessons in any of the branches can be taken singly, at correspondingly low prices. The school will be continue on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday. JOHN HARTSHORNE, Principal.

Madame Iza Lezem's Dancing School.

Every Friday evening, from 8 to 11:30 o'clock, Stiles' Hall, 144 East Front street. Also classes in Physical Culture, Dancing, etc., every Tuesday and Friday, from 3 to 5 p. m. For particulars, address 139 West street.

Plainfield Seminary,

re-opened

SEPTEMBER 14, 1893.

(20th year.)

MISS K. E. ASHTON, Principal.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Miss Ashton, after an absence of a month in Europe, where she has been engaged in pursuing a course of private lessons at conservatories in Germany, has returned and resumed her duties as principal of Plainfield Seminary. Miss Ashton has brought home with her many interesting souvenirs from her travels, which will be on view, by permission, at the Seminary.

MISS JAMES BETTS MATTISON, of Boston, who has given lessons at her home parlors to all pupils' recitations. Pupils will have special preparation under her direction. Literary terms to commence with the school. At home Wednesdays, from 3 to 5 p. m.

MISS JAMES BETTS MATTISON, Corner Grove street and Arrow avenue, opens on Saturday, October 14, 1893, at 9 A. M. Rev. J. Kinsman.

Another one in the race, and

A. G. VOGELER

takes the lead.

LOOK AT THESE PRICES.

Porterhouse Steak	15c.
Sirloin "	12½c.
Round "	12½c.
Chuck "	7c.
Rib Roast	12½c.
Leg "	12½c.
Lamb Chops	12½c.
Veal "	10c.
Leg Spring Lamb	12½c.
Fore Quarter "	7c.
Dressed Chickens	12½c.
Jersey Ham	12½c.
Fresh Jersey Pork	10c.
Pickled Pork	10c.
Pickled Tripe	5c.
Pickled Tripe Feet	5c.

Reasonable rates for Salmon. Bologna made fresh twice a day. Call and get your money's worth.

Union Meat Market,

231 WEST FRONT STREET.

9 14 1m A. G. Vogeler, Manager.

U. B. CRANE,

has the largest stock of

Fine Fall HATS,

in Plainfield.

42 WEST FRONT STREET.

PLAINFIELD

FLAWLESS EXCAVATING COMPANY.

JONES & CO.

Work quickly and thoroughly done. Yard room for storage. Orders left at my residence, 5 East Second street, or by telephone, W. G. G. G. 1893, Plainfield, will receive prompt attention. Coal, coke, cement, lime, hair, brick, sewer pipe, bricks, lumber, fertilizers, flower, sweet potato, and egg plants a specialty.

$55!

Six Days at the World's Fair.

A WEEK OF HOLIDAYS

Railroad tickets, hotel accommodations, admission tickets, and eleven attractive features of sightseeing time combined. Tickets for schools, church, military, musical and other CLUBS, to parties of congenial friends to supply hotel accommodations, admission tickets and lodges, we offer special advantages.

Choice rooms secured at a minimum of cost. We have exclusive arrangements with the great railways terminal in Chicago.

Send for circulars, or submit an itinerary, and we will give you prices.

WORLD'S COLUMBIAN TOURIST COMPANY,

220 Broadway, New York.

GEORGE C. MCEWEN,
Agent for New Jersey,
604 Broad street, Newark.

THE BEE HIVE!

Infants' long Cashmere Cloaks, $1.50, $2.00, $2.50.

Children's Rider down Coats, $1.48, $2.00, $2.98.

Also a full line of Flannel Skirts, Infants' Shawls and Sacks.

Fall : Underwear.

Children's merino Vests and Pants, 16-inch, 12c., 16-inch, 19c., 20-inch, 19c., 22-inch, 25c., 24-inch, 29c.

Children's natural wool Vests and Pants, 16-inch, 20c., 18-inch, 25c., 20-inch, 29c., 22-inch, 35c., 24-inch, 39c.

SPECIAL!

Ladies' Ribbed Vests, long sleeves, 21c.
Ladies' Merino Vests, 25c., 29c. and 35c.
Ladies' Natural Wool Vests, 50c.
Ladies' Natural Wool vests, 59c.
Men's White Merino shirts and Drawers, 25c., 39c. and 75c.
Men's Natural Wool Shirts and Drawers 65c. and $1.00.
Men's Scarlet shirts and Drawers, 75c., $1.00 and $1.25.

Louis Callman,

223 West Front Street.

The New Address

of Sagginaw Livery Stables

is 18 West Second

Street,

in the Elwood building.

Telephone Call, 261

Fine horses, carriages, vehicles of all kinds. Horses boarded. Careful drivers.

Cleaner Coal!

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't,

6 BROADWAY, COR. FOURTH STREET.

Feeling the wants of the people, the use of no newly added steam vibrating machinery, all screen fine coal, which is the cleanest, and delivers coal in better shape and cleaner way than is possible by any other method of screening.

Orders Lemon and Hooperingon Coal is best qualities and various sizes carried for stock.

Scales are strictly correct.

Prompt delivery. Orders left at office or by telephone will receive prompt attention. Yard at foot of Park, and is provided in extensive order to handle coal in the most rapid manner and at short notice.

Miscellaneous Cards.

H. K. SPENCER,

Grocer and Baker, 76 and 78 Park place, Plainfield, N. J. Fine line of Fancy Groceries, Canned Goods, Pickles, Sauces, Relishes, Preserves, Jellies, Jams, Fruits, Nuts, Confectionery, Cakes, Crackers, Biscuits, Cheese, Butter, Eggs, Flour, Feed, Grain, Potatoes, Onions, Cabbages, Apples, Oranges, Lemons, Bananas, Pineapples, Cocoanuts, Figs, Dates, Prunes, Raisins, Currants, Citron, Spices, Extracts, Coffees, Teas, Tobaccos, Cigars, Soaps, Starches, Blacking, Brushes, Brooms, Mops, Pails, Tubs, Washboards, Clothespins, Clothesbaskets, Clothesbags, Clothesbaskets, Clothesbags, Clothesbaskets, Clothesbags

LOST ON THE BIG LAKES.

The List of Victims of the Great Storm Increases.

FOURTEEN SANK WITH THE BARGE.

The Sole Survivor of the Crew of the Dean Richmond Comes Ashore and Tells of His All Night Battle With the Waves. Reports of Wrecks and Suffering.

BUFFALO, Oct. 17.—Thirteen more victims have been added to the already long list of fatalities from the terrific northwest gale that swept the great lakes Saturday and Sunday last. It is now definitely known that the steamer Wocoken, from Cleveland, foundered in 10 fathoms of water just above Long point, on the northern coast of Lake Erie, in the recent storm, carrying down with her all but three of her crew. The list of those drowned is as follows:

Albert Meswald, captain, Marine City.
Miss Sarah Meswald, his sister.
Captain John Mitchell, Cleveland.
Captain David Jones, first mate, Cleveland.
Matthew Hosler, second engineer, Marine City.
Michael Hinkleman, chief engineer, Cleveland.
Charles Minard, steward, Marine City.
Henry Branch, watchman, Marine City.
John Hinchleman, fireman, Marine City.
George Smith, fireman, Marine City.
Edmund Eldredge, watchman, Marine City.
Mike Kenny, deck hand, Marine City.
William Eachl, wheelman, Marine City.

Those saved are J. P. Saph, second mate; Robert Crowding, deck hand, and J. H. Rice, wheelman, Cleveland.

A Fatal Week on the Lakes.

The last few weeks of the navigation season of 1893 will live long in the memory of the lake mariners, for no such awful list of fatalities has been known in shipping circles for a decade as the one to which additions are being made daily, as reports come in giving details of the terrific gale that swept the inland seas steadily for more than 48 hours at the close of last week. The story of the fate of the Dean Richmond, in Lake Erie, and the Minnehaha, in Lake Michigan, is supplemented by the news of the loss of one or two lives from a number of vessels composing the lake fleet, and now comes the loss of the Wocoken, with its cargo of human souls.

It is too early to attempt to estimate the money loss by the sinking of small craft at various points in the chain of the great lakes from Duluth to the mouth of the St. Lawrence. All inconsiderable are minor part of their rigging, are badly stove in, or otherwise show marks of their terrible experience with the wind and heavy seas.

The Wocoken was bound from Ashtabula to Duluth with a cargo of coal. She sailed on Friday, on the eve of the great storm, from near the starting point of the ill fated Dean Richmond, and she must have encountered the storm at the height of its severity while making for shelter, as was the case with the Richmond. The vessel had proceeded well out into the lake before she was struck by the storm. She faced the gale and prepared for the battle for life. As the boat became waterlogged and it became evident that it was a question of but a few minutes until she must go down, the stronger men began to jump overboard, with the faint hope of being cast ashore without being beaten to death on the rocks that abound in that locality. The women and the unskilful swimmers were an easy prey to the furious waves, and they were hurled out of sight of one another by the tremendous waves that lashed the sinking hull.

They went down in quick succession. Three only of the 16 souls aboard the Wocoken escaped. They were all hardy and experienced seamen and skillful swimmers, who succeeded in keeping themselves well out from the dangerous coast until the storm abated and they were able to make a landing.

The Sole Survivor of the Dean Richmond.

DUNKIRK, N. Y., Oct. 17.—Only one man escaped from the lost steamer Dean Richmond, and he has just been found on the beach near Van Buren point. His haggard face and sunken eyes told a story of terrible suffering. He was aimlessly wandering up and down the beach, and when spoken to he burst into tears and said he was looking for his dog.

He was questioned and said he had been washed off the Richmond and was unquestionably the only man saved from the vessel. After he had been cared for and given stimulants he recovered sufficiently to tell the story of the awful last hours of the steamer. He said that his name was C. L. Clarke, and he shipped in Toledo just before the Richmond sailed.

"There were 19 in the Richmond's crew," he said, "besides Captain Stoddard, his wife and three children. We left Toledo at 6 o'clock Friday night and sailed along all right until we got into the gale on Saturday. Struck us head from the very start. The waves ran over our decks, and everything which was movable was swept overboard. The captain's wife and children were locked up in the cabin for safety's sake, and the crew were working for their lives on deck. We lost a mast and smokestack. Then we drifted along at the mercy of the wind and waves. The captain had made up his mind to run for the shore and beach his vessel. He made fair headway with a hard fight, and I began to get things ready to get out in the yawlboat with the captain's wife and children. I went back to the captain, and just before I reached him a big wave struck me, and I was carried overboard.

"This must have been about 11 o'clock. I gave myself up for lost when I found myself in the water. I kept sight of the Richmond's lights for some time and saw her drifting down the lake, turning and twisting in every direction. Then I lost consciousness and did not know anything until I found myself lying on the beach."

Clarke insisted on continuing his search for his pet, and a mile or two up the shore an overturned yawlboat from the Richmond was found. Clarke saw it, jumped forward and threw it over. Inside, tied to the seat, was the dead body of the dog.

A Steamer Ashore.

ESCANABA, Mich., Oct. 17.—The steamer City of Cleveland, with a big raft of sporting men, was driven on the north end of the Beaver on Saturday night. The steamer is in bad shape and is leaking. No report can be had as to the position of the Joseph, but it is thought that she cleared the islands.

Two Died of Exposure.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—A telegram to Bigelow Brothers, lumber dealers, announces that the schooner Annie Sherwood was found waterlogged in Lake Superior near Whitefish point by the steamer Sitka. Captain Louis Guthrie of Chicago and James Cousins had died of exposure. Mate Thomas Randall and Steward Thomas Roundtree, both of Chicago, were badly injured by the flying wreckage. They were taken to Sault Ste. Marie. The crew abandoned the waterlogged vessel about 30 miles from Whitefish point and took the yawl. When picked up by the Sitka seven miles southeast of Caribou Island, the survivors were too weak to leave the boat and climb the Sitka's ladder.

Drowned While Searching For Bodies.

DUNKIRK, N. Y., Oct. 17.—While searching for bodies from the wrecked propeller Dean Richmond the boat capsized, and George Thurber, Frank Cahoon and George Mann were drowned. The bodies have not been recovered.

Two Steamers Overdue.

HAVANA, Oct. 16.—The steamers Panama and Saratoga, both from New York for this port, have not yet arrived, and some alarm is felt for their safety.

WITHDRAWS HIS GUNS.

Peixoto Deposes Upon Foreign Powers to Respect Rebel Ships.

MONTEVIDEO, Oct. 17.—The Brazilian government has agreed to withdraw all of its guns from Morros Castello, San Bento, Cheverian, Livramento and Boa Vista on assurance by representatives of foreign powers that they will not permit bombardment of the city of Rio de Janeiro, the shore line to be garrisoned as before. Nicotheroy is constantly bombarded.

The insurgents have occupied Mana, the terminal station of the Petropolis railway, and seized a small steamer, the Grospars, to be used as a distributing boat among the vessels of the fleet.

The hatred of the Fourth and Tenth battalions for the national guards culminated in a combat in which 23 were killed and several wounded. American Minister Thompson happened to be in the building of the Brazilian foreign ministry, across the street from the barracks, having called to pay his respects to the new foreign minister. Although in a critical position, bullets flying everywhere, all official formalities were strictly observed.

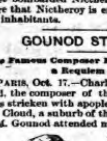
While the cruiser Trajano was seizing flour and coal from the steamer on the morning of the 5th she was fired on from the shore and returned the fire. Three shots struck near the American consulate, killing one Brazilian. One shell struck the building of the American Bible society, damaging the library. It is reported that three civilians and 45 soldiers were killed during the afternoon and night while the fleet bombarded Nictheroy. It is reported here that Nictheroy is entirely deserted by its inhabitants.

GOUNOD STRICKEN.

The Famous Composer Falls After Singing a Requiem Mass.

PARIS, Oct. 17.—Charles Francois Gounod, the composer of the opera "Faust," was stricken with apoplexy at his house in St. Cloud, a suburb of this city.

M. Gounod attended mass Sunday morning and apparently was enjoying his usual good health. In the afternoon the organist, Cantaran, and several singers went to his house. Gounod joined them in the performance of his requiem mass. He sang with great earnestness and full power. Almost at the last note his voice faltered, and he fell to the floor.



COMPOSER GOUNOD.

He has remained unconscious since. He shows no signs of rallying. The effects of the stroke are complicated by partial paralysis and profuse hemorrhage. As Gounod is 75 years old, his physicians fear that he cannot recover.

Pushed Off the L.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—John McGovern lies dying at the Gouverneur hospital, another victim of the Manhattan Elevated railroad. Squeezed from the platform of an overcrowded train, he tried to gain a foothold on the overcrowded station platform at Grand street and the Bowery, but the people were packed on the station even more closely than on the train, and so he toppled over onto the roadway.

A Policeman Kills His Brother.

GUTHRIE, O. T., Oct. 17.—Near Tecumseh Charles Brunner, an Indian policeman, attempted to arrest his brother Abe for being drunk and disorderly, and when Abe drew a revolver and began shooting at his brother was obliged to kill him in self defense. The fight took place in a country store. Richmond Carolina, a bystander, was killed by a flying bullet.

Police Guarded the Church.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 17.—The troubles at the Holy Rosary Polish Catholic church broke out afresh, and Captain Auld, with a squad of police, dispersed the crowd. After the row a special guard of police was stationed around the church and the priest's house.

The British Fleet at Toronto.

TARANTO, Oct. 17.—The British fleet sent to pay an official visit to this port, it is said as an offset to the visit of the Russian fleet to Toulon, reached here. No great popular preparation had been made to receive the fleet.

Inquest on the Jackson Wreck.

JACKSON, Mich., Oct. 17.—The inquest to determine the cause of the deaths of the 12 victims of the railroad wreck on Friday last began here.

PARAGRAPHS PARED DOWN.

Children's week at the World's fair was begun Monday.

Costa Rica will probably not surrender Embezzler Weeks.

Archbishop Francis Redwood of New Zealand is in Baltimore.

The total number of oil grass land in Texas have been burned over by a prairie fire.

Hiram Stern of Harrisburg was held up and robbed in Chicago while waiting for a train.

A bonded warehouse in Lancaster, Pa., was set on fire, and 1,200 barrels of whisky were burned.

The trial of Emma Wood for the murder of Lew Brown, a well known sporting man, was commenced in Newark, N. J.

Miss Jennie Mullen of Lisbon Center, N. Y., was found dead in bed at a Chicago boarding house, having blown out the gas.

Actor Curtis, who was tried for murder in San Francisco, says that an attempt was made to collect $8,000 from him for alleged bribing.

A suit involving the disposition of an estate valued at over $5,000,000 will soon come up before the supreme court of Arizona from the wealth of John Walker, who died two years ago in the insane asylum at Napa, Cal.

WRECKED BY DYNAMITE.

The Well Diggers Who Caused the Explosion Blown to Pieces.

ENNISTON, Ills., Oct. 17.—The entire business portion of Enniston was wrecked by a premature explosion of dynamite. Five people were killed and five injured, two of whom cannot live. The killed are:

James Cornwell of Dwight, Ills., in the employ of Eyer Brothers; Chris Eyer of the firm of Eyer Brothers, professional well digger of Dwight, Ills.; Fred Eyer, Olney, cousin of Eyer Brothers; ——— Kyer, Olney, also a cousin; S. E. Flower, Enniston, a spectator.

The injured are: John Brown, cannot live; John Kennedy, Chris Shover, cannot live; James Wylie, William Wylie, all of Enniston. Others received bruises by the awful shock, but these are the only ones seriously injured.

The two Wyllies were digging a well, and to further their work they fired a gas pipe 2 feet long and 1¼ inches in diameter with dynamite, and were tapping it when it exploded, throwing the men and landing them over 50 feet from the spot where they were working. The Eyers and Cofswell were mangled in such a manner that identification was impossible.

Hats, shoes and pieces of cloth were scattered around the streets in that vicinity. Every window light in town was shattered by the shock, and stores and residences near the scene were considerably injured. The town soon filled with curious people attracted by the shock, which was felt at a distance of five miles.

International Pool Match Begun.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—The great international pool contest between John Roberts, champion of Great Britain at pyramid pool, and Alfredo de Oro, champion of the world at continuous pool, opened at Madison Square Concert hall.

CORPORATION NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the Common Council has fixed the thirty-first day of October, A. D., 1893, at eight o'clock p. m., and the Common Council room, 97 Park avenue, in the City of Plainfield, as the time and place for J. Frederick Macdonald, William Cox and Edward C. Mulford, the commissioners appointed by the Common Council pursuant to the ordinance entitled, "An Ordinance to widen Madison avenue from the easterly boundary line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, to the westerly side line of West Front street," to appear before said Common Council at the time and place set out in Madison avenue from the easterly side line of West Front street to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey. The alterations proposed to be made are to widen said Madison avenue so that the same shall be of the uniform width of twenty-five feet on each side of the centre line thereof, which centre line is described in said ordinance, and shown on map on file in the office of the City Clerk entitled, "Alignment map for the widening of Madison avenue from West Front street to the Central Railroad of New Jersey, City of Plainfield, N. J., dated 1893, made by F. A. Denham, civil engineer."

The said real estate intended to be taken for such purpose are all that come within twenty-five feet of either side of said centre line between the southeasterly side line of West Front street, and the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, as shown by said map and said ordinance, to which reference is hereby made for more detailed description.

By order of the Common Council.

F. W. RUNYON, City Clerk.
Plainfield, N. J., October 17, 1893. 3t 17,tw

"How good digestion must be appetite,
And bowels of bell."

To secure both the above ends, good, wholesome, palatable food is demanded. It is next to impossible to prepare a sufficient variety of appetizing bills of fare for our ever varying and liberal afternoon or evening meal unless other food in which shortening is required. How to make crisp, healthful, digestible pastry has puzzled the cooks. A difficulty in all good cooking in the past has been laid. Always fickle, never uniform, most unwholesome—and had always been the bane of the cook and the obstacle to "good digestion."

COTTOLENE

comes now into popular favor as the new shortening—better than even the best of lard with none of lard's objectionable qualities. And

COTTOLENE

comes attended by both

"APPETITE AND HEALTH."

Grocers sell it all about.

Send three cents in stamps to N. K. Fairbank & Co., Chicago, for Cottolene Cook Book, containing 370 receipts, and you will receive a useful and handsome present, also interesting information concerning Cottolene.

Made only by
N. K. FAIRBANK & CO.,
Chicago, and 224 & 226 Market Sts., Philadelphia.
Procter & Gamble, Agts.

Are You Insured?

If you are 21 years old $86 00 paid annually for fifteen years would entitle you to $1,000.

If 22 years old, $87.
If 23 years old, $87.10.
If 24 years old, $87.20.

This sum of $1,000 is payable to the insured, if living, at the expiration of fifteen years, or at his death if prior.

FOR A LIFE POLICY, of $1,000 the annual payments to continue during life, the payments for young men between 21 and 24 are between $18.60 and $20.

For catalogues and further parties call on or address Henry D. Morrison, 11 Somerset street, agent, THE YORK MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

Metropolitan Livery and Boarding Stables!

Coaches, Close Carriages, Park Phaetons, Surreys, Buggies, Four Pleasure and Saddle horses.

Special care given boarding horses. Storage for Bicycles and carriages.

140 AND 157 NORTH AVENUE,
Opposite depot. Telephone Call, 44.
H. R. RIDER, Proprietor. FRANK DAY, Manager

Do Your Corns Hurt?

They can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of

ELECTRIC Corn Cure.

A remedy that never fails. A guarantee to cure with each box, that if a complete cure is not effected in one week's time, money will be refunded. Price, 40c. per box. Sent postpaid to any address on receipt of price. Sold by druggists (Sole Agents for U. S.) A book of testimonials sent with each box.

ALLEN & CO.,
6 19 tf Lock Box 32, Richmond, Va.

F. M. HULETT,

MUSIC DEALER,

74 West Front Street,

handles the following makes:

Oldermeister & Krueger,
Kranich & Bach,
Starr,
Matfield,
Jacob Bros. Pianos,
and the world-renowned
Newman Bros. and Mason & Hamlin Organs

A. W. Rand,

140 WEST FRONT STREET.

New and second hand

SCHOOL - BOOKS.

School supplies of all kinds.

Those wishing to exchange second hand books must bring them in immediately.

Van Eps,

THE NEW JEWELER.

125 Park Avenue. Also a large variety of Musical Goods.

TAKE NOTICE.

Charles Arnold,

the butcher,

Is Still in the Race

for cut prices.

Fresh Pork and Sausage 12c lb.
My own Dressed Jersey Chickens, 12c. lb.
Legs Mutton, 10c. lb.
Lamb, 12c. lb.
My Smoked Meats and all other Meats will be the same old cut prices.

Arnold's : Market,

208 LIBERTY STREET.

GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE.

Strictly Cash.

Great Bargains

in all grades of

WALL PAPERS,

for the next 60 days.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

29 EAST FRONT STREET.

The Vandeville and Atore!

Use the same make of imported Table Oil, Cheese and French Sardines that I now have in stock.

THEY ARE DELICIOUS.

And then I personally select the

FRESH FISH!

I have on sale to-day and to-morrow. Call and see my stock.

JULES BOVEY,

60 Somerset Street.

H. De Mott,
Graduate of United States Embalming College,
UNDERTAKER : AND : EMBALMER,
Office at residence, 125 Somerset Street.
Plainfield, N. J.

Townsend's Marble Works,

20 Somerset Street.

Builders Cards.

Daniel Hulick,

Carpenter

and

General Jobber.

SHOP

35 Jackson Avenue.

Storm doors and weather strips a specialty.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

Window Screens made to order.

John P. Emmons,

MASON AND BUILDER,

Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place.

Jobbing promptly attended to.

P. O. Box 823.

PIERSON & GAYLE,

Carpenters

and Builders.

W. J. Pierson, No. 25 Vine street. H. B. Gayle, No. 19 Vine street.

All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM G. SMITH,

PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER.

All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.

Residence—Grandview avenue.

P. O. Box 323.

R. V. SAUNS,

Carpenter & Builder.

Residence—Clinton avenue, near depot, Bruns.

P. O. Box 288

Jobbing promptly attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.

JACOB M. HIGGINS,

PRACTICAL MASON and CONTRACTOR

P. O. Box 251. Residence Dunellen, near Mansion.

JOHN ARNOTT,

Practical Carpenter and Builder. Estimates cheerfully furnished. Jobbing promptly attended to. Residence and shop, Somerset street, Somerset bridge. P. O. Box 1017.

ALFRED E. NELSON,

Civil Engineer and Surveyor, No. 2 Park building, Plainfield, N. J. Maps, Plans, Profiles, Estimates and Reports. Office hours, 9 to 12 a. m. and 2 to 4 p. m. Also on the South Side Real Estate Agency, 2 Somerset street.

J. H. CLEVELAND, N. P. HAMMOND,
CLEVELAND & HAMMOND,
Attorneys and Counsellors at Law,
Plainfield, N. J.
Office, 2 Park Building, Somerset street.

59c. SALE! 59c.
59c. of 59c
59c. KID GLOVES! 59c
59c 4-button length, tan, modes, brown and black, all sizes, 5½ to 7½. 59c.

GEO. L. VAN EMBURGH & SON.

FRONT STREET, OPPOSITE PARK AVENUE. UNDER THE BANK.

Timely Warning! Winter Approaching!

Keep your Scalp Clean and your Hair Growing.

RANDOLPH'S Quinine and Glycerine

HAIR TONIC!

The Friend in the Hour of Need.

EACH BOTTLE GUARANTEED. Sold only by

L. W. RANDOLPH, Prescription Druggist,

142 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

Now is Your Chance,

GRAND CLOTHING OPENING, at our retail store, 310 West Front street. Are you ready? We are prepared to offer the public a clean, fresh stock of Fall and Winter Clothing, for Men, Boys and Children. Remember, we sell at retail at the wholesale price.

C. SCHEPFLIN & CO,

310 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

Successors to

The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,

Dealers in

Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials

42 to 60 PARK AVENUE.

Are now prepared with their increased facilities, (having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs. A. D. Cook & Bro.,) to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

Stoves For Winter,

Hardware of all Kinds,

Everything From Tacks to Furnaces.

A. M. GRIFFEN,

13 EAST FRONT STREET. Telephone 6.

JOSEPH SOHL,

PRACTICAL

Electrician

46 NORTH AVENUE.

Plainfield, N. J.

Estimates furnished on Electric Light Wiring, Burglar Alarm and Bell Work and repairing of same. Dealer in

Electric and Gas Fixtures.

VIGOR OF MEN

Easily, Quickly, Permanently Restored.

Weakness, Nervousness, Debility, and all the train of evils from early errors or later excesses, this invigorator restores lost power, failing memory, lack of confidence, nervousness, blushing, sleeplessness, pimples on the face, aversion to society, self-distrust, etc. Full strength, development and tone given to every organ and portion of the body. Prevents insanity and consumption if taken in time. Avoid imitations. The specific medicine is sold only in sealed envelopes, each containing one dollar's worth, by mail, 6 packages for $5, with a written guarantee to cure or refund the money. Pamphlet free. Sold by druggists. Beware of counterfeits and worthless imitations. Address

ERIE MEDICAL CO., Buffalo, N.Y.

Do You?

Intend to invest in a

WHEEL?

If so, call on

Dickinson,

The Optician.

Agent for the Rambler, the best wheel in the market. 4 weights, 22, 25, 28 and 31 lbs. Wheels to hire at reasonable rates.

Railroad Time Table.

CENTRAL RAILROAD OF NEW JERSEY

(Anthracite coal used exclusively insuring cleanliness and comfort.)

Stations in New York, foot of Liberty street. Time-table in effect July 30, 1893.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield at 1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 a. m., 12.00, 1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 p. m., 12.00 night.

Leave New York at 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 a. m., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 p. m., 12.30 night.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield at 1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 a. m., 12.00, 1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 p. m., 12.00 night.

Leave Newark at 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 a. m., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 p. m., 12.30 night.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield at 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 a. m., 12.00, 1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 p. m., 12.00 night.

Leave Somerville at 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 a. m., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 p. m., 12.30 night.

PLAINFIELD AND BOUND BROOK.

Leave Plainfield at 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 a. m., 12.00, 1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 p. m., 12.00 night.

Leave Bound Brook at 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 a. m., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 p. m., 12.30 night.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield at 8.00 a. m., 12.00 m., 5.00 p. m.

Leave Lake Hopatcong at 8.30 a. m., 12.30 m., 5.30 p. m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

Leave Plainfield for Dunellen, Bridgewater, Allentown, Bethlehem, Easton, Phillipsburg, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre and Pittston.

Leave Plainfield for High Bridge, Lebanon, Reading, Pottsville, Harrisburg, Williamsport, Sunbury, Shamokin, Mt. Carmel, Hazleton, Wilkesbarre, Pittston, Scranton, Binghamton, Elmira, Watkins, Geneva, Canandaigua, Rochester, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Suspension Bridge, Detroit, Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, St. Louis, Cleveland, Columbus, Indianapolis, Quebec and Montreal.

Leave Plainfield for Bethlehem, Allentown, Easton, Phillipsburg, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre and Pittston.

Leave Plainfield for Dunellen, Bridgewater, Allentown, Bethlehem

THIS COLUMN FOR CHILDREN.

ITEMS PREPARED EXPRESSLY FOR THEIR ENTERTAINMENT.

A Little Amusement and Instruction Delightfully Mingled—Little Johnny's Opinions on Many Things—Sayings of Other Bright Little Ones.

LITTLE JOHNNY'S REMARKS.

Some folks growl because church pews gakes them up on Sunday mornings. Fire belle wakes people up, too, but I never heard anybody growl about them. I guess it's because people likes to go to them holder's churches. If that isn't it I give it up.

ON QUEER THINGS.

There is some queer things about this world I can't understand. If all good boys was big and all bad boys was little, why, all boys would be as polite as pie, and I guess if all good folks got rich and all bad folks got poor there wouldn't be any use for preachers.

ON MOTHERS.

There are two kinds of bigotes. One kind is called bigotes and the other kind is called safeties. On the safeties if you run into anybody you hurt 'em awful, but on the other kind if you run into anybody you get hurt awful yourself. Boys don't care which kind they has, but mas always gets safeties.

ON MARRIED FOLKS.

Mamas and papa gets mad every once in a while and has a great time about nothin'. You'd think they'd eat each other up. But when mamma goes on business trips papa gets lots of cry baby, and when papa goes off on business mamma is a cry baby 'till he gets back auin. Other boys say their papas and mamas is the same way. I guess its naturals.—N. Y. Herald.

WHAT NELLIE DID.

"The sea does look so tempting,
I'll have a wade a bout,
I know me would be angry,
But me won't find it out."

'Twere well if little Nellie
Upon the shore had kept,
Alas! With socks and slippers
Into the waves she stept.

"How nice!" said naughty Nellie;
"Oh, isn't this a treat!"
While came the tiny wavelets
Fast rippling round her feet.

Now, as she went on wading,

"It's an ill wind that blows nobody any good!"

The "financial stringency" has forced manufacturers and importers to dispose of their stocks at a great sacrifice. The wide awake retailer with the "ready cash" in hand is now enabled to make such advantageous purchases as to supply his customers with new desirable goods at greatly reduced prices.

THIS IS A SAMPLE.

New Fiber down Flannels	Regular price,	50c.	Now 39c.
Novelty, all wool Dress Goods	"	65c.	" 39c.
Columbia Linen Towels, extra size	"	25c.	" 19c.
Turkish Towels, 22 inches wide	"	25c.	" 19c.
Changeable Satin Silks	"	95c.	" 75c.
Changeable Bengaline Silks	"	85c.	" 67c.
Gents' Natural Wool Shirts and Drawers	"	$1.00	" 75c.
White Angora Trimming	"	65c.	" 49c.
White Angora Trimming	"	95c.	" 79c.
White Angora Trimming	"	65c.	" 49c.
Ladies' All Linen, colored Handkerchiefs	"	25c.	" 19c.
Furniture Covering	"	$1.25.	" 75c.
Best Moquette Carpets	"	$1.25.	" 89c.

Our new Fall Woolen Underwear is all made with "lock stitch," extra full and long. We can give better value in this goods than ever before.

Our entire establishment has never before been stocked with such large and desirable lines of goods as now, and the prices never so low. You will have no trouble in getting suited, as the very lowest prices, at

EDSALL'S.

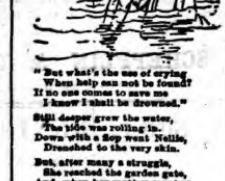
THE WORLD OF FAIR WOMEN.

THE NEWEST WRINKLES SEEN IN OLD DAME FASHION.

She Re'ns as Ever, But Her Mandates are More Agreeable—Variety in Colors and Costumes, to Millinery and Hosiery Permitted.

The girl of the period is marked for her height and slightness of build. Think of any mother and daughter you know, and in the majority of cases the mother will be short, the daughter tall. According to statistics, women to-day are two inches taller on an average than they were twenty or thirty years ago. The fact is accounted for when we remember that almost every girl is forced to go in for physical training. Gymnastics are potent in encouraging growth.

The water deeper grew.
She cried out, in her terror,
"Oh, dear, what shall I do?"



"But what's the use of crying,
What help can not be found?
If no one come to save me
I know I shall be drowned."

Still deeper grew the water,
The tide was rolling in.
Down with a flop went Nellie,
Drenched to the very skin.

But, after many a struggle,
She reached the garden gate,
And, when her mother saw her
In such a draggled state,

She spoke to her in sorrow,
For were the words she said;
And, with a dish of gruel,
She packed her off to bed.

It Would not do Here.

Thibet is a country in Central Asia, the common people of which are downright barbarians, not to say savages, and some of their manners and customs are extremely droll. For instance, their salutation and sign of reverence and respect consist in sticking out the tongue as far as one can to be complimented, and the more the tongue is protruded the greater the honor intended.

No Spoke Postlegh.

Queer things are to be heard as well as seen at the dime museums.

"Land sakes, Hiram! And was that man really skinned alive? Dear me, how did the savages do it?"

"I'd guess they covered him with peruvian plasters, 'Mandy, an' then pulled 'em off."—N. Y. Weekly.

PICKING PEAS.

Hot the day but there, what eddet Plump and pleasly lieng the pods. With his bonnet back and shoes. Gay, the gardener, goes in gloss. Many he spitter to deed If they're really to his mind. Now he comes the growing pile In the basket, with a smile. "Won't it be a prize simmon for me What a mess I'll have," cries he. When at last the row is done Shading pans is jolly fun. In a cool and shady room With mamma he shells a mess.

—Youth's Companion.

She has no think, the more we talk.

FADS OF FASHION.

Parasols for garden parties are lined with rose color, and decorated with a wreath of flowers cobbled with grasses dew drops.

Fringes are going out in Paris. The hair is waved down either side or waved back from the forehead consistently, as is most becoming.

Hats and wraps more than bonnets this season, and the indications are that they will responsible bonnets for a time, even among middle-aged matrons.

An odd and pretty trimming for hats and bonnets consists of shaded cuts dyed to any color desired. Crimson cuts, purple and brown shading to a light down effect, are formed into wreaths that ornament the brims of bonnets with charming effect.

Parisian ladies take the coarse seam of their long skirts, raise it within a few inches of the hem, and line the material should be three-quarters of a yard wide and gathered with a cord or strapped three times with ribbon or insertion.—N. Y. Sun.

TO RESTORE FRESHNESS.

The Virtue of Bathing the Face in Hot and Cold Water.

Every woman knows the aching face and nervous irritability brought home from a hard day's shopping, and from a long round of visits and afternoon teas. Her regards with intense dissatisfaction the heavy lines under and around her eyes and mouth by the long strain on the facial muscles. Bathe the face in water as hot as one can possibly bear it, rubbing the organs over and over again to the temples, throat and behind the ears, where most of the nerves and muscles of the head empire, and then splash the face in water running cold from the faucet. Color and smoothness of outline return to the face, an astonishing freshness and comfort results, and if followed by a nap of ten minutes all trace of fatigue vanishes.

Cooking by Observation.

Mr. Newwedded—This coffee is as weak as water again. Mrs. N.—I can't account for it, my dear. No matter how careful I am, it's always the same way. "Perhaps you don't use enough coffee." "Nonsense. I put in a whole half cupful, and every time it says, 'Use more.'" "Did you measure the water?" "Huh! Who ever heard of measuring water? All cooks pour it right out of the teakettle. I've seen 'em often—so there."—N. Y. Weekly.

Fun with a Gun.

Two little boys had one little gun
Went out on the field to have some fun!
Bang! went the bullet, and "kick" went the gun,
And away went the little boys, run! run! run!

Defining a Reptile.

Teacher—By reptiles we mean such creatures as creep along the ground. Can you name one as an example, Adolf?

Adolf—Yes; my little brother.

RATHER PANCIFUL IN DESIGN.

The pretty bonnet shown in the accompanying sketch is quite a novelty. It is made in spangle, either tan color or black, edged with fine jet and gold embroidery, and has a large butterfly of wired lace in black and gold perched high in front. It can also be had in black ribbon and gold. These bonnets are likely to be very popular, especially as the shape is one which is universally becoming.

To make Silk Petticoats wear.

The silk petticoats which are so light in weight and so pretty in appearance don't wear well, and that's a pity. But they can be made almost as strong as cotton wear, if, when they are new, you dampen with thin alpaca, and hold it with a hot flat iron. Just once will do it. Try also the Paraffy one. Not all druggists' Send 15 cents in stamps for trial package. LYONS & SINGLER, 26 Bergen avenue, Jersey City, N. J.

A GOOD WIFE

is a great blessing, and a good husband will look after her comfort. He can almost always be found buying or buying a lot which is pretty nearly, the prices are so low. The lot is situated in a beautiful and healthy neighborhood.

GIVEN AWAY

WITH EVERY

convenience for reaching stores, schools and churches quickly. Now is the grand opportunity to invest in a splendid

BUILDING LOT.

For particulars, address "OWNER," care of EVENING NEWS.

Horses and Carriages,

for sale, stable, for hire, at

O'BRIEN'S,

116 WEST FOURTH STREET,

Opp. the Depot.

Joseph T. Vail,

REAL ESTATE

and

INSURANCE.

OFFICE IN BLUE STONE BLOCK, 215 1/2 North Avenue.

RAISING A BREEZE!

We might wait a couple of weeks and let November do it, but we don't propose to let even the weather get the drop on us.

THIS WAY!

UNDERWEAR.—Maybe you don't need any Underwear just now, but you will before long, so it can't close to buy it. That special sale of heavy Underwear for Ladies, at [illegible] Children is great and prices are little.

LADIES' AND CHILDREN'S COATS.—Never a better assortment of everything new and desirable to select from at That Ladies' Jacket, at $5.98, is a good one.

A HANDY BARGAIN.—100 grants iron Bow Knit ca. Large size, price 67c., value 75c.

DORNET FLANNELS.—The second case in two days, at the same price, 5c. yard.

WHEN YOU are down our way come in the store. We are expecting a new goods every day, so you will surely find in our stock that will interest you.

UMBRELLAS.—Most people carry Umbrellas when it rains. We carry them all the time, and just now Lo easy, we have, so do we guess the price. 75c. cane for 49c., $1.67 cane for $1.25, $2.50 cane for $1.98.

SPECIAL ORDERS.—Why waste time running around to fill your orders. If we have not what you want, we will get it for you.

SHOES!

In Ladies, our straight Bost on Walking last styles at $1.89 and $2.00 are the proper weights for the season

The "FARGO TIP" for Children,

Is the best looking and best wearing shoe for school wear. Sizes 8½ to 10½, $1.25. Sizes 11 to 2, $1.50. A few of these in $1.50 Oxfords, at 89c., still remain.

WHITE, of Plainfield.

READING FOR LITTLE ONES.

CAREFULLY SELECTED ITEMS FOR THEIR INSTRUCTION.

The Sayings of Bright Children—Humor That Clever Young People Display — Incidents in Juvenile Life Graphically Spiced With a Little Verve.

Letty had a naughty habit of making pencil marks on the wall for which she was often reproved and at length her friends thought she was cured, as for some time no fresh marks were discovered. One day, however, her father, in putting on a curtain, found that the part of the window frame screened by it was badly defaced. "Letty," he said sternly, "what made you make those marks?" "Because," said the little sinner tearfully but promptly, "I thought you wouldn't look there."—Detroit Free Press.

SAYINGS OF BRIGHT CHILDREN.

"Papa," said Jamie, "why does birdies go lookin' for worms to eat when they can buy theirselfs a egg and eat that? Eggs is nicerer than worms."

HARD TO TELL.

"Papa" said Bessie, who has a way of putting questions that are hard to answer, "is goose-feathers softer than straw?"

"Oh my, yes! A feather bed is much better than a straw one," says papa.

"Then why ain't gooseberies better than strawberries?" asked Brownie.

A VACATION HINT.

A very profitable occupation for vacation time is hunting white crows. The profitable part comes in when you catch the crows, for they may be sold for quite a large sum of money.

PLENTY OF COMPANY.

"You didn't get a prize at school, I understand," remarked Lena's father, kindly.

"No, sir," said Louis; "there was only one prize and thirty boys, and I was one of the twenty-nine that got left. I wasn't a bit selfish."

A PROBLEM.

Morrison, who is now about five years of age, asked his father, "Poppy, s'pose you'd been born a rabbit, would you've stayed home and played with me, or gone to business every day just the same?"

BONNET'S KITE.

Rodney was flying his kite when Adams came by.

"I'll tell you what I'll do; I'll give you the twenty-five cents for the kite you said you'd sell," said Adams.

"No, I want a dollar," answered Rodney.

"You said twenty-five cents," said Adams.

"I know," said Rodney; "but can't you see the kite is much higher now?"—Harper's Young People.

THE FUNNIEST THING IS A FROG.

He Changes His Form and His Food Many Times Over in a Year.

Frogs are hatched from eggs, in about forty days after they are laid. In about two days after being hatched, they assume the tadpole or polliwog form, and feed on pond-weed. When they are three months old, two small feet sprout out near the tail; in a few days more the arms are formed; and now the frog is every way perfectly formed, except that it has a tail. During this state the creature eats very little, and is seen to rise frequently to the top of the water to take breath. He has always before lived like a fish, beneath the wave, but as he is now changing his state, he must get acquainted with the world above the water. In a few hours the tail drops off, and the frog, the real genuine frog, is completed. And one most wonderful thing is that the animal not only changes his form and habits, but his food also. While a tadpole, he fed on grass; while a frog, he lives entirely on animal food, such as insects and worms. As he cannot find enough of them in the water, he goes forth to hunt them, and takes insects by surprise.

LITTLE JOHNNY'S REMARKS.

Some boys is brave 'cause they always plays with little boys and some boys is brave 'cause their legs is too short to run, but most boys is brave 'cause somebody's lookin'.

LITTLE JOHNNY OF SUNDAY SCHOOLS.

Some boys would rather stay home than go to Sunday school, but I wouldn't, 'cause I'm a good boy. I was a bad boy once and didn't want to go, and my mother took me up stairs and read fourteen hundred pages of it to me out of the Bible to me. Ever since that I'd rather go to Sunday school than stay home.

LITTLE JOHNNY ON LYING.

It's awful hard for a boy not to lie sometimes, an' the worst of it is you never can tell which is going to make the most trouble, a lie or the truth. If you tell the truth about something you'll get licked and if you tell a lie you won't, unless you get found out, and then you get licked twice. I know a boy who always tells the truth. His mother is in Europe and his father is out West.—N. Y. Herald.

Liked Spelling.

Visitor—What do you study at school? Little Girl—Readin' an' writin' an' 'rithmetic an' spellin'.

"Well! Well! What a bright little girl you are. Now, which study do you like best?"

"Spellin'."

"Indeed! Most children do not. Why do you like spelling?"

"Cause every time I spell a word, teacher laughs.—Good News.

To Astonish Your Friends.

With some lycopodium, powder the surface of a large or small vessel of water; you may then challenge any one to drop a piece of money into it without wetting it, and you will get it with the hand without wetting the skin. The lycopodium adheres to the hand and prevents the contact with the water. A little shake of the hand, after the feat is over, will dislodge the powder.

A Hungry Horse.

Dottie (aged four), surveying the new moon)—I see the man in the moon was hungry last night; he didn't leave any of the green cheese eatin' the rind.

A bird there was, whose note of sweetness
Seemed to say,
Perched to the sky as on the bough he swung;
A great army planted the golden sky,
The bird his mate, his joyous song
Unsung.

Hotels.

CENTRAL HOTEL,

No. 11 E. Front St.,

PLAINFIELD.

Windham & Crowley,

PROPRIETORS.

First-class bar attached.

Fourth Ward Hotel.

JOHN GOFF, Proprietor.

Boarders accommodated, both transient and permanent.

LARGE ROOMS and ALL MODERN IMPROVEMENTS.

Fine Wines, Liquors and CIGARS.

Corner Third and Liberty Streets.

Hotel Grenada,

NORTH AVENUE,

is now open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the travelling public.

City Hotel,

Corner PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.

Transient guests accommodated.

Eugene Hoerster,

206 Grove Street,

North Plainfield.

Wholesale Dealer

in FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.

Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

CAREY'S Storage Warerooms,

Corner Front and Grove Streets, Plainfield, N. J.

FOR FALL TRADE.

THE LEADER

has received a large variety of Infants' Cloaks, Coats, Slips, Robes, Flannel and Worsted Socks, Hoods, Flannel Skirts, all of the latest styles. Also new styles of Ladies' Wrappers, Underwear and a large variety of Comfortables, at very low prices. Make no mistake, this is the new store.

THE LEADER! M. GOLDMANN, Prop.

210 WEST FRONT STREET, (Old No. 32.)

This Date in History—Oct. 17.

1st—Pope John VII died.
1st—Philip de Comines, eminent French historian, died.
1586—Sir Philip Sidney, born courtier and poet, was killed at Zutphen, Holland.
1st—Augustus III, king of Poland, died.
1766—Nimes de London, famous wit and beauty, "the Aspasia of France," died at the age of 89, retaining her remarkable beauty almost to the last.
1771—The general court of Massachusetts passed an act declaring the establishment of all executed for witchcraft 20 years before, declared it a vile delusion and ordered an fast day held in the next fifteen sufferers.
1785—William Scott (Baron Stowell), great lawyer, born near Newcastle-upon-Tyne.
1777—Surrender of Burgoyne's army to General Horatio Gates; 5,321 prisoners, including 6 generals of the British parliament.
1806—Frederic Chopin, musical composer, died in Paris.
1st—President Lincoln called for 300,000 more.
1st—Hon. Sylvester Mowry of Arizona died at London.
1st—The steamer Bokhara was wrecked on an island in the China seas and 108 persons drowned.

"If the nation is determined, it will not be baffled by a phalanx of 600 peers," says Gladstone. "We have the will of the country to execute and cannot submit to the house of lords, although they bear high sounding titles and sit in a gilded chamber."

We are told that a great trust recently burned its books as a preparation for the official investigation that was approaching. This is a shade better than having the cashier skip and appear to have stolen a great sum of money.

The United States certainly owes it to our sister republic of Mexico to stop the robber gangs who, under the name of revolutionists, form on this side the Rio Grande, in Texas, and make raids across the Mexican border.

Gladstone is a direct descendant on his mother's side from a Scotch Bishop Logan of Scotland. He is therefore descended from a royal family as old as that whence Queen Victoria draws her blood.

1893 OCTOBER. 1893

Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fr.	Sa.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
15	16	17	18	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26	27	28
29	30	31

MOON'S PHASES.

Third Quarter 2 10:19 a.m.
New 9 8:37 p.m.
First Quarter 17 8:37 a.m.
Full 25 1:22 a.m.
Third Quarter 31 5:42 p.m.

Tickets For, or from Europe, On All Lines, And all Steamers. Drafts Sold also.

H. D. MORRISON, Agent, Somerset Street.

PEACHES! PEACHES! PEACHES!

Following varieties: Yellow Globe, Crawford's Morris Whites, Keyport and old fashioned. Prices to suit everybody.

NEUMANN BROS.

WATCHUNG AVENUE and FIFTH STREET.

THE TIME TO EAT!

MEAT!

is at meal time, of course, and the place to get good meat, all varieties, lowest prices and greatest, etc., is at

E. J. CONNOLLY,

No. 231 Broadway.

SMOKED MEATS AND VEGETABLES always on hand.

The Fall and Winter Styles in Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing are now in Stock. Overcoats of all Weights. Trousers Made to Order from $4 to $8. Suits from $15 to $30. Hats and General Furnishings. WERNER'S MAMMOTH CLOTHING HOUSE, 206 West Front Street.

R. W. Rice & Co.,

THE PARK GROCERS.

Corner Duer and Emily Streets.

NORTH PLAINFIELD.

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$5 per Year in Advance. E. W. Mayhew, Editor and Proprietor—Office, No. 28 Somerset street. Printing of All Kinds. 1c Copies per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST." WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 18 1893. PRICE TWO CENTS.

REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS.

SOMERSET COUNTY.

For Senator,
LEWIS A. THOMPSON,
of Bridgewater.

For Assembly,
FRANK SOMERS,
of Bridgewater.

For Coroner,
DR. FRANK C. JONES,
of Bernards.

Republican Primaries.

The Republican voters of the City of Plainfield are requested to meet at the places hereinafter named on

THURSDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 19, 1893,

for the purpose of electing delegates to the county and assembly conventions, and electing two members of the County Executive Committee from each Ward.

First Ward—At the Association House, No. 120 East Front street, at 7 o'clock, and is entitled to elect eight delegates to each convention.

Second Ward—At Bryant School building, East Sixth street, at 8 o'clock, and is entitled to six delegates to each convention.

Third Ward—At the Pavilion, on West Seventh street, at 8 o'clock, and is entitled to six delegates to each convention.

Fourth Ward—At Smith's Hall, No. 327 West Front street, at 8 o'clock, and is entitled to nine delegates to each convention.

By order of the City Executive Committee.
JAMES E. ACKERMAN, Chairman.
J. B. COWARD, Secretary.
Dated, Plainfield, October 17, 1893.

Third Assembly District Convention of Union County.

Pursuant to resolutions adopted by the Union County Republican Executive Committee, at a meeting held at Elizabeth, N. J., on Saturday, September 16th, 1893, the following order is adopted: At the last convention, the Republican Assembly District Committee of the Third Assembly District of Union County, will be held at Azure Hall, in Roselle, Linden Township, on

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1893,

at 2:30 p. m.

In accordance also with the above resolutions, the Republican voters are recommended to meet in their respective wards and townships, on Thursday evening, October 19, 1893, to elect delegates to the said convention.

The ratio of representation will be one delegate to every fifty, and one for every fraction above twenty-five Republican votes cast at the last election for Assemblyman.

The number of delegates to which each ward and township is entitled, is as follows:

Clark—One delegate.
Fanwood—Four delegates.
Linden—Six delegates.
Plainfield—First Ward, seven delegates. Second Ward, seven delegates. Third Ward, six delegates. Fourth Ward, nine delegates.
Railway—First Ward, one delegate. Second Ward, three delegates. Third Ward, eight delegates. Fourth Ward, three delegates.
Westfield—Six delegates.

By authority of the County Executive Committee.
CHARLES J. CODDING,
Chairman of last Convention.

BREVITIES.

—Iona Council, D. of P., will give an entertainment to-night.

—Judge Van Syckel at Elizabeth yesterday discharged the jurors until Friday.

—Neuman Bros. are offering specials in lodgements in fine Delaware county butter.

—The Smith-Lederer case is being tried this afternoon before Justice Mosher.

—"The All Hands Around Club" met at the home of Mr. MacVoy on Front street last night.

—Mr. J. C. Allen elsewhere has an announcement of his business which purchasers may avail themselves of.

—The Swift Beef Company is having the walk graded in front of its property on East Third street, preparatory to laying a stone walk.

—The Catholic Young Men's Lyceum expect to start an individual bowling tournament Monday to pick out a team to represent them in the Journal Bowling League.

—While people are away at the theatre the burglars now doing this town have a good chance to operate. They sometimes don't even wait for such a favorable circumstance.

—Classes in trigonometry and vocal music will be organized at the Y. M. C. A. rooms on Friday evening. A $3.00 membership entitles to the privileges of instruction in this and all other classes except shorthand.

—"Abraham's purchase of the cave of Machpelah is the first recorded commercial transaction." The New York Recorder and the Americanized Encyclopedia Britannica. Representatives to be seen at Estill's Book store for 30th Deg. office. Last chance to get this wonderful work.

—Nine men out of ten think the quotation "The Lord tempers the wind to the shorn lamb," is taken from the Bible, whereas Lawrence Sterne is the author. The Americanized Encyclopedia Britannica in connection with the New York Recorder. Last Days. Representatives now at Estill's Book store.

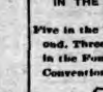
A Deserved Compliment to Mr. Reed.

Counsellor Charles A. Reed may well feel gratified by the compliment paid him at the Somerset County Republican Convention yesterday. He was in no sense a candidate and had made no effort to secure delegates. He did not even know the names of the delegates from North Plainfield until he read them in Monday's EVENING NEWS. Yet his name was presented to the convention for Senator by his own township, and until the last ballot he received the solid support of the delegation from North Plainfield and also a vote from Bridgewater township, the home of ex-Senator Thompson, in whose the nomination was given. Mr. Reed says that while he appreciates highly the compliment paid him, he is out of politics and wishes to devote his time solely to his legal business, which requires his individual attention.

DEMOCRATIC PRIMARIES

DELEGATES ELECTED LAST NIGHT IN THE DIFFERENT WARDS.

Five in the First, Five in the Second, Three in the Third and Eight in the Fourth Ward.—The County Convention to be Held To-Morrow.



By order of the Democratic Association the Democrats of Plainfield held their Ward Primaries last night to elect delegates to the Union County Convention, at Elizabeth, to-morrow. The officers of each meeting and the delegates elected follow:

FIRST WARD.

The First Ward primary was held in Haviland's express office, No. 181 North avenue. The meeting was called to order by Mr. Louis F. Wadsworth.

Chairman—Louis F. Wadsworth.
Secretary—John J. Keasy.
Delegates—Louis F. Wadsworth, S. A. Davis, John McIntyre, John J. Keasy and John Rafferty.

SECOND WARD.

The Second Ward met in the Bryant school house.

Chairman—James E. Martine.
Secretary—Louis Storer.
Inspectors—Joseph Blimm and Joseph Yates.
Delegates—William W. Robinson, Frank Vosseller, John Carney, Jeremiah Cash and Edward Serring.
Member of Executive Committee—R. M. Stover.

THIRD WARD.

The Third Ward met in Adam Blair's livery stable on West Sixth street.

Chairman—F. M. Bacon.
Secretary—A. Saltzman.
Delegates—A. Saltzman, J. M. Hetfield and Edward Van Buren.

FOURTH WARD.

Councilman Vincent L. Frazee called the Fourth Ward primary to order. The meeting was held in Democratic Headquarters on West Front street.

Chairman—Vincent L. Frazee.
Secretary—Ira G. Hurlbut.
Judge—Joseph E. Harding.
Inspectors of Election—John M. Bowman and William H. Brokaw.
Delegates—James Connealy, John J. Goff, Michael B. Flynn, William Sullivan, Vincent L. Frazee, Moses Quass, Patrick Keville and Fred White.
Member of Executive Committee—Vincent L. Frazee.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Howard Martin of Bonhamton has purchased the trotting mare, Barbara Elton, recently owned by Dennis Gorman of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. C. Smith of Grandview avenue started this morning for the World's Fair. After a short stay they will go to Denver, Colorado; and Topeka, Kansas.

Miss Glick, who is studying for the foreign missionary work, spoke at the meeting of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor at Warren chapel last night. She spoke chiefly of the need of workers in the foreign field.

At twelve o'clock to-day Miss Ida A. Williams, daughter of Mr. William H. Williams of Madison avenue, was married at Mr. Frederick Beasley. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride. The Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes officiated.

Miss Antoinette Allison, the charming niece of Mrs. Obits of Somerset street, North Plainfield, was married at 11 o'clock this morning to Mr. August Trost of North Plainfield, at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Chamberlain of Brooklyn. They were to start to Chicago this afternoon on their wedding tour.

Mr. W. H. Forrest of this city was married at ten o'clock this morning to Miss Ophelia C. Forrest. The ceremony took place in the cathedral. Mr. Forrest is one of the most prominent and active members of the Catholic Young Men's Lyceum, to the members of which he gives support at the club house to-night.

The North Plainfield Republicans who attended the Somerset Republican County Convention as delegates speak in terms of highest praise of Mr. W. W. Howland of Seekview avenue, who was chosen from among the delegates, to preside as chairman of the Convention. There is no discount about Mr. Howland's Republicanism or his worth as a citizen. He has been among the tried and true these many years, and if he will accept the nomination there is a strong probability that he will be the Borough's next Mayor.

Good Positions for Young Men.

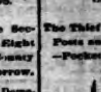
Among the advantages which the Y. M. C. A. offers to the young men of Plainfield in its Educational Department, and to which it would call particular attention, is the shorthand class.

The Association has been so successful in placing the young men in good positions who have qualified themselves in this class that it will take pleasure in organizing it again. The advantages to be derived from the study of this art are inestimable and those who expect to enter business or any of the professions, or want to improve their minds should seriously consider this opportunity. For particulars see advertising column.

A SECOND STORY THIEF.

TWO HOUSES ENTERED IN THIS CITY LAST NIGHT.

The Thief Climbed one of the Piazza Posts and Entered the Bedrooms —Pocketbooks and Watches Stolen.



THERE were two bold robberies in this city last night. Between seven and eight o'clock the residence of Mrs. Hall, on Norwood avenue, was entered and a pocketbook, watch and a number of articles stolen. While the family was at supper the thief climbed one of the piazza posts and began to ransack the bed rooms. Those below heard the marauder walking around. As one of the family started up stairs, the thief made his escape. He left black marks on the post from his hands, and it is supposed by that that he came to Plainfield on a coal train.

ROBBERY NO. TWO.

Between eight and nine o'clock an entrance was made to Mr. William K. McClure's house, on First place. Mr. McClure was attending the Second Ward primary. The rest of the family were home; however, two men only, and the thief had clean sailing.

The theft was discovered by Miss McClure. She went upstairs and found the bureau drawers in her room open.

Upon investigation it was discovered that a gold watch, a silver watch, a pocketbook, and a gold pencil were missing. Mrs. McClure's diamonds in the same drawer were unmolested.

Instead of at once notifying the police to give them a chance to catch the thief, they were not told about the matter, but left to find it out themselves.

Persons should see that their second story windows are fastened as well as those on the first story.

THEIR HEELS HIT THE WHEELS.

Mr. A. D Thompson's Team Runs Away This Morning.

Early this morning Mr A. D. Thompson, accompanied by his son and daughter, were on their way to the North avenue depot seated in a wagonette. Edward Dooley was driving the team. As he was doing he hitched too close to the vehicle. On West Second street the wheels struck their heels. This frightened the horses and they started on a run.

Mr. Thompson jumped out thinking he could catch one of the horses by the bridle. He was unsuccessful and the team dashed down Second street. The harder the driver pulled on the reins the more the horses' heels hit against the wheels.

Mr. Thompson and Mr. Rider tried to catch the runaway team with another horse and buggy.

The horses ran to Plainfield avenue. The driver was unable to turn the mixed conveyance, but he managed to turn them upon the sidewalk. As the team slowed up Miss Thompson jumped out.

The driver managed to stop the team a little further on. It was not from the livery stable, but was Mr. Thompson private team.

BOROUGH BOWLING.

The Park Club Specializing Last Season's Reputation.

Last night the Elizabeth Athletic Club succeeded in mustering eight men to roll a game with the Park Club of North Plainfield on the latter's alleys with the following result:

A. A. C.		PARK.
Barker	180	Hubbard	178
H. Lane	190	Ashford	170
Van Dorens	220	Hagaman	192
Van Dorens	220	Hagaman	192
Bloodgood	138	Stone	168
Moore	167	Brown	168
Bloodgood	138	Stone	168
Heilner	147	Matthews	140
Total	1099	Total	1324

The return game will be played on Wednesday, Oct. 25th.

PUMPKIN PIE SOCIABLE.

A Unique Entertainment at Grace M. E. Church.

A "Pumpkin Pie Sociable," was given by the Ladies' Aid Society at Grace Methodist Episcopal Church on Park Place last night. The programme was as follows:

Duet, "O Wop Thou in the Cool Rain"..... Misses Grace and Alice Carroll.
Reading, "Miss Bess and Her Three Young Men," ..... Mr. Fowler.
Recitation ..... "Hunting Bees," ..... Mamie Stevens.
Quartett ..... "We Will Stand by Our Flag," ..... Messrs. L. A. Jumper, Chas. Hummer, W. H. Cotton and Ira Longfellow.

Pumpkin pie and coffee were served by the Ladies' Aid Society.

ALL READY BUT THE FRANCHISE.

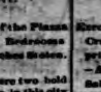
The Electric Railway Ready to Extend Its Road to Dunellen.

More than enough signatures have been secured by Mr. Krieger for the extension of the Plainfield Street Railway from Grant avenue to Dunellen. Work will be begun on the road just as soon as the franchise is granted. Application will be made at the next meeting of the Common Council for the franchise.

MR. PATTON OUT ON BAIL.

THE CHARGES OF FRAUD AGAINST HIM.

Executors of the Estate of Robert Craig Accuse Him of Misappropriating Securities Worth $650,000. —A Warrant also Issued for Mr. Saltonstall's Arrest.



MR. WILLIAM L. Patton, of the firm of William L. Patton & Co., bankers, No. 7 Wall street, who was arrested on Monday, as told in our despatches yesterday, charged with criminally disposing of securities worth $650,000, belonging to the estate of Robert Craig, was released from Ludlow street jail yesterday on $15,000 bail, furnished by the Lawyers' Surety Company. The order of arrest contained also the name of Henry L. Saltonstall, Patton's partner, but was indorsed by the deputy sheriff "not found" as to Saltonstall. Patton was arrested on the order of Judge Patterson, of the Supreme court, on complaint of William, Richard F., Henry F. and Robert Craig, executors of the estate of Robert Craig. The affidavits alleged that on May 2 Patton & Co. had pledged 820 shares of Tennessee Coal and Iron, East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia, Northern Pacific, Oregon Improvement and Richmond Terminal stock belonging to the estate, worth $60,000, with the Holland Trust Company and the Bank of the Manhattan Company, and on May 5 following had borrowed $50,000 thereon, with $750,000 liabilities and $11,000 of assets.

Patton, it is said, admitted to the executors that he had lost the money speculating in Cordage and Reading, but said he would pay back dollar for dollar if the opportunity were given him. Collector Kilbreth acted as Patton's counsel up to the time of his appointment. Both the partners have wealthy relatives who are expected to make good the lost money.

Robert B. Honeyman, of No. 40 Wall street is attorney for the Craig estate. He said yesterday that he had no fit will for Mr. Patton. His clients simply wanted to get their money; they did not desire to prosecute the criminal courts. Mr. Honeyman added that he believed Mr. Patton had failed as a result of his speculations, and not as a result of extravagant or fast living. Mr. Patton is a son of the Rev. William W. Patton, who, at the time of his death, was president of the Columbian University, in Washington, D. C. He married the sister of his partner, Mr. Saltonstall, Mrs. Patton and her two daughters went to England soon after Mrs. Patton's failure. She is in London now, visiting her sister. Before his failure Mr. Patton had a fine home in this city. When he failed he moved to Westfield, where he lived with his brother-in-law, who is connected with the New York Title Guarantee and Trust Company.

Henry L. Saltonstall is well-known as a patron of yachting. The firm of William L. Patton & Co. was established ten years ago. They succeeded Patton & Vanderventer, which firm had ten years before succeeded Ludlow Patton. Ludlow Patton was uncle of William L. Patton.

Registration Yesterday.

Yesterday was the first registration day in the city and Borough and resulted as follows:

PLAINFIELD.

First Ward, First District	466
" " Second "	466
Second Ward, First District	407
" " Second "	415
Third Ward, First District	408
" " Second "	415
Total	2,577

NORTH PLAINFIELD.

First District	468
Second "	532
Total	1,000

Entertainment at Hedges Hall.

A large and appreciative audience gathered at Hedges Hall last night to witness the entertainment of the young members of the Grace M. E. Church. The programme was as follows:

Opening address ..... Mr. W. Hedges
Song ..... Mr. W. H. Cotton
Recitation ..... Miss Mamie Stevens
Duet ..... Misses Grace and Alice Carroll
Recitation from the Scholars ..... Miss Mamie Stevens
Song ..... Mr. Cotton
Recitation from the Scholars

EDITORIAL NOTES

Street Paving In America.

William Fortune contributes to The Century a paper on street paving in America that shows more than anything else what we have yet to do in that direction before we can stand abreast of other civilized countries. We have made more advancement even in high art than we have in street and roadmaking.

Mr. Fortune estimates that if all the paving in our towns and cities that is now projected be finished according to expectation the cost in the next 10 years will not be less than $1,000,000,000. Even when that vast sum is spent "it is doubtful if more than 60 per cent of the streets of these cities would then be well paved." He believes that the owners of property abutting the street to be improved should bear the cost of the pavement, and says the rise in value of their property will be hardly ever less and often many times more than the cost of the paving.

Americans make the common and fatal mistake of supposing a good pavement is a luxurious expense rather than a profitable investment, which it is beyond all doubt. The first requisite for the good pavement is a solid foundation. A London engineer said, "The foundation is the pavement." To make the foundation, first the street is dug down 10 inches or a foot and then rolled as hard and solid as can be done with a ramming machine. Upon this hard, smooth surface is spread from six to eight inches of hydraulic concrete cement. This is then made into a solid concrete mass, and it is made by mixing together one part of hydraulic cement and two parts clean sand, free from clay. Small pieces of broken stone, no pebbles, only bits of sharp cornered crushed stone, none of them more than an inch and a half across in any direction, are mixed thoroughly in the sand and cement, water being poured on while the stone is stirred in.

When thoroughly well made and spread upon the soil, this concrete has "the qualities of a continuous layer of heavy stone, capable of bearing tremendous weights." Upon the concrete is spread a layer of sand, then on top of all the final surface paving, whether of granite, wood, asphalt, some kind of composition mastics or hard baked and pressed bricks. This last has been found to answer the purpose very well. The cost of the hydraulic concrete foundation varies from 50 cents to $1 per square yard.

Overdone and Underdone.

It seems difficult, not to say impossible, for the present generation to estimate at its true rate the value of woman's work. If a lady writes a novel or a poem, if she plans a building, studies law or invents an apple paring machine, either is ignored altogether or else a hullabaloo is raised, making twice as much of it as it really amounts to. The method heretofore has been to ignore women's intellectual powers. It was not till many years after both their deaths that it was generally known Caroline Herschel did much of the astronomical work for which her famous brother got all the credit. In the historic encyclopedias, if you wish to find something of the history of a woman who is distinguished in any way, the chances are that you will not find her name. The encyclopedic records are written and occupied by men.

So it has been in the past. There is a little danger that now the rebound will go too far the other way and overestimate feminine work just because so much does it. An exaggerated sentiment of chivalry impels men to this course sometimes. Again, the newness of the fact that the achievements of women are to be taken seriously of all overbalances a considerable proportion of mankind. The sooner the period arrives when woman's work is judged of exactly on its merits, just as a man's work is, with no thought of the sex of the one who wrought it, the better it will be for the progress of womankind.

The electrophone system had been brought sufficiently near to perfection in Paris to enable a syndicate of electrophoners to make pay the business of conveying the sound from places of entertainment to its subscribers. Electrical transmitters are placed upon the stage of a theater or concert room in front of the footlights. By means of these sound is conveyed over the ordinary telephone wires to the residence of a person who wants to get entertainment without going away from home after it. There are 1,500 subscribers to the syndicate. Music, vocal and instrumental, lectures and dialogues can thus be conveyed to any part of Paris or its suburbs. London has also a similar system of electrophoning. It ought to be universal. Perhaps the time will come when one will have only to drop a nickel in the slot in a public place and hear a concert that is going on five miles away.

Before the last dual Cemeteries was described in the French chamber of deputies as "the man who held all France in terror of his sword, his pistol and his pen," but after the duel, in which he was killed, all France laughed at the terror.

Perhaps electricity and aluminium together may help bring into being that lone sought article.

A COMPROMISE CAUCUS

Arranging For an Important Conference of Senators.

DEBATE IN SENATE WAXED HOT.

Dubois, Morgan, Hill and Others Indulged In a Sharp Tongue Passage—The Democratic Caucus.

House Passes the National Bank Bill—A Busy Day Ahead.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The prospects of a compromise are stronger today than they have been at any time during the session. Senator Sherman's latest speech caused some of the Democrats to ask whether it was not time for them to agree upon united action. Before the session had been reached to take a recess Mr. Voorhees began circulating among his colleagues a petition addressed to the chairman of the caucus asking him to issue a call for one. The call, which Mr. Voorhees had drawn up, was carefully worded, and every man who signed it thereby pledged himself to abide by the action of a majority. It was considerable that although the paper presented to Democratic repealers they declined, after reading the caption, to sign the request.

It requires 29 Democrats—a majority of the majority—to make this call effective, and according to the count of the silver Democrats they have just that number. The call which Mr. Voorhees had drawn up was carefully worded, and every man who signed it thereby pledged himself to abide by the action of a majority. It was considerable that although the paper presented to Democratic repealers they declined, after reading the caption, to sign the request.

A Caucus Means a Compromise.

It is said that when Mr. Voorhees moved to take a recess and, as he said, "round up the absentees," he had not decided whether the contemplated caucus and thought it best not to push matters pending the attempt of his colleagues to get together. When asked at this point blank question whether or not the administration Democrats would enter this caucus, one of Mr. Voorhees' warmest supporters said there could be no doubt that if the majority ordered the caucus all Democrats would participate in its deliberations. Not having signed the caucus pledge, they could be free to act for themselves, and while some would not go to the extent of binding themselves by signatures to authorize what he expected much good to grow out of the conference. The mere fact that a caucus was held, if it should be held, was, he said, significant of itself.

If the fight for unconditional repeal is to be continued on the lines now laid down, a caucus was absolutely unnecessary. A caucus could, he thought, mean but one thing, and that was compromise.

Of course, until Mr. Voorhees secures the requisite number of signatures to authorize the contemplated caucus and thought it best not to push matters pending the attempt of his colleagues to get together. When asked at this point blank question whether or not the administration Democrats would enter this caucus, one of Mr. Voorhees' warmest supporters said there could be no doubt that if the majority ordered the caucus all Democrats would participate in its deliberations. Not having signed the caucus pledge, they could be free to act for themselves, and while some would not go to the extent of binding themselves by signatures to authorize what he expected much good to grow out of the conference. The mere fact that a caucus was held, if it should be held, was, he said, significant of itself.

If the fight for unconditional repeal is to be continued on the lines now laid down, a caucus was absolutely unnecessary. A caucus could, he thought, mean but one thing, and that was compromise.

Of course, until Mr. Voorhees secures the requisite number of signatures to authorize the contemplated caucus and thought it best not to push matters pending the attempt of his colleagues to get together. When asked at this point blank question whether or not the administration Democrats would enter this caucus, one of Mr. Voorhees' warmest supporters said there could be no doubt that if the majority ordered the caucus all Democrats would participate in its deliberations. Not having signed the caucus pledge, they could be free to act for themselves, and while some would not go to the extent of binding themselves by signatures to authorize what he expected much good to grow out of the conference. The mere fact that a caucus was held, if it should be held, was, he said, significant of itself.

If the fight for unconditional repeal is to be continued on the lines now laid down, a caucus was absolutely unnecessary. A caucus could, he thought, mean but one thing, and that was compromise.

Senators Indulge In Repartee.

A most interesting and important debate took place in the senate. Mr. Dolph had made a point on Monday evening that the two Populist senators—Allen of Nebraska and Kyle of South Dakota—had not answered to their names, although they were present, and he contended that their presence should be entered in the journal. Around that question the parliamentary battle waged all day and bristled with bitter sarcasms, jibes and personalities.

Mr. Dolph, having expressed himself as "tired" of all the chicanery, was told by Mr. Harris that if he was tired he had better sit down and rest, and that would be a relief to the senator himself and to the senate. Mr. Dolph replied, however, that he was not to be the subject of the remarks of the senator from Tennessee, and said that the art of "how not to do it" seemed to be the effort of the senate. Mr. Morgan spoke of Mr. Dolph as "the New York politician who had interfered with the heresy of counting a quorum when he was president of the New York senate." Mr. Hill retorted that there were no politicians in Alabama. There they were all statesmen, and he twitted Mr. Morgan's expressed reverence for the constitution of the latter, to which Mr. Morgan replied that for a certain portion of that senator's career he had been supporting another constitution.

Morgan Lands His Sympathy.

Mr. Morgan spent a good deal of time over what he called a coalition between Democratic and Republican senators, and when Mr. Washburn asked him where was any such coalition he was partly stopped by Mr. Morgan, who said that the senator from Massachusetts knew perfectly well that the Democratic senators had been unable to get recognition from the chair, and that was the reason why they had not spoken. Then an allusion was made to the national banks in Georgia, and Mr. Colquitt was reported as saying that there were not any, and when Mr. Morgan announced him wherein he wanted to make a correction Mr. Colquitt said: "I only desire to remark by saying that as far as he was concerned it was not true."

Mr. Washburn denied having said so, and Mr. Colquitt said he had not said so, but was told by Mr. Morgan that he was responsible for what was reported in the newspapers. Mr. Morgan then said that all the national banks in Georgia, with the exception of one, had been organized under state laws

FOG CAUSED THE WRECK.

Two More Fatalities Result From the Wreck at Wellsville, Ohio.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 18.—Four deaths have resulted from the collision of the Pennsylvania limited with a freight train in the yards of the Cleveland and Pittsburg railroad at Wellsville, O. The dead are:

George Carruthers, a Cleveland and Pittsburg railroad engineer, acting as pilot for the limited—was instantly killed. He resided at Ravenna, O., and leaves a widow and large family.

Robert A. Jackson, engineer of the limited, who reached at 1 Locust street, Allegheny, was terribly scalded and died after four hours of terrible suffering. His son Elmer, fireman of the limited, was also frightfully scalded and his arms and limbs broken and head cut. He died within a few minutes.

Robert Ferree, an express messenger of New Philadelphia, had both legs crushed and was otherwise injured. He died while being taken home.

The injured are: Edward Fowler, train electrician, Chicago, both legs crushed and otherwise injured; Alexander Frasier, Bellevue, Pa., baggage master, badly scalded and hurt internally; Daniel Coughanour, engineer of the freight train, Wellsville, O., badly hurt by jumping.

The passengers on the limited were badly frightened. None, however, was seriously injured.

No authentic story of the wreck has yet been received at the Fort Wayne general offices in this city. From the manager details received by Superintendent A. B. Starr the dense fog prevailing is considered responsible for the accident. The crash occurred at the west end of the Wellsville yard. The freight train was crossing the track almost at right angles with the approaching train. The crew of the freight train saw their danger in time to jump. The employees of the freight train claim that the danger signals were set to hold the limited without the block until their train had pulled out of the way. The supposition is that Engineer Carruthers, who was an old and faithful employee, failed to see the signal lights on account of the fog. A wrecking train quickly cleared the tracks.

MACMAHON'S FUNERAL.

He Will Rest With Other Heroes In the Hotel des Invalides.

PARIS, Oct. 18.—If the relatives of Marshal MacMahon will agree to it, the state will conduct the funeral, which will be a public one. The remains will be interred in the Hotel des Invalides.

The death of Marshal Edmond MacMahon, duke of Magenta, was due to the effects of an attack of the grip which he suffered from in May and from which he never fully recovered. His great age told against him, and his death was expected.

He was born June 13, 1808, in the chateau of Sully, at Autun.

Probably his greatest military feat was at the battle of Magenta, June 4, 1859, with the Austrians on one side and French and Italians on the other. Napoleon III, who saw his throne trembling in the balance, appealed to MacMahon, who by a heroic coup in the midst of a storm of shot and shell turned the tide of battle and won the day. For this he received the baton of marshal and was created the Duke of Magenta.

Many conspicuous politicians and military men were admitted to the death chamber and condoled with Mme. MacMahon. The marshal's body lay in state in the prefect of the Department of Loiret to proceed to the Chateau de la Foret and convey to Mme. MacMahon the condolence of the government and the premier's own regrets. The marshal was conscious to the end. He took leave calmly of his sorrowing wife and family. His features show no trace of suffering.

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—The Berlin newspapers announce Marshal MacMahon's death, but pass few comments.

ROME, Oct. 18.—All the newspapers here make sympathetic allusions to the death of Marshal MacMahon.

Captain Head of Tipperary In a Sad Fix.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—A wealthy Irish land owner bearing the distinction of police magistrate slept at the Harrison Street police station Monday night. Since his arrival in America he has been duped right and left, and he finds himself in Chicago penniless. He is Captain William Edward Head of Tipperary, County Tipperary, Ireland. He carried letters of introduction to the British embassador in Washington, and in the Capital City he had his first introduction to American confidence men. Before he knew it he was in his pocket-book, containing £300, was stolen. His watch and chain were also plucked from him.

A Bullet in Chief Adams' Side.

LYNN, Mass., Oct. 18.—The illness of Commander in Chief Adams of the G. A. R. is caused, it is thought, by a bullet working its way out. An operation for the purpose of extracting the bullet was made, but it was not found. He was shot twice in the leg in nearly the same place, one bullet passing out. The other one has been in his body for years.

Senator Fair's Son Arrested.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—Charles L. Fair, the only surviving son of ex-Senator James G. Fair, was arrested at Port Costa, Cal., while on his way east to spend his honeymoon. He was arrested on a charge of insanity and brought to this city.

The Commander's Long Trip.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—The American ship Shenandoah, Captain Murphy, arrived here. One hundred and fifty-two days were consumed in the trip from New York.

PARAGRAPHS PARED DOWN.

Disastrous forest fires are raging in Texas.

A 5-year-old boy was found murdered near Altoona, Pa.

Three masked men robbed a faro bank in Coeur d'Alene, Ida.

Schaefer and Ives have arranged to play another billiard match next month in Chicago.

A large number of "raised" $20 silver currency bills are in circulation in Chicago.

Dr. Mary Walker claims the reward for the arrest of Almy, the murderer of Christie Warden.

Miller Hartman, a New York jeweler, was found bound and gagged in his store and says robbers did it.

A stallion which cost $20,000 and was insured by F. A. Bourne was poisoned at West Sayville, N. Y.

The trial of Emma Woods for the murder of Saloon Keeper Low Brown was concluded in Newark, N. J.

In Philadelphia Kate McNally, aged 22 years, was fatally shot by her father, Peter McNally, during a family quarrel.

Frederick W. Meaker of Ithaca, N. Y., aged 36, committed suicide by shooting himself, having become insane on religion.

PARIS IS WILD WITH JOY

The Russians Received With Frantic Enthusiasm.

LAVISH STREET DECORATIONS.

The Fete Seems Surpass Anything of the Kind Since the Days of the Empire—Russians Showered With Kisses—A Big Boom In Socialistic Literature.

PARIS, Oct. 18.—President Carnot's reception of the Russians at the Elysee was unusually cordial. After having thanked Baron Mohrenheim for introducing them he turned to the visitors and said:

"You have received already at Toulon an expression of the good will of the French government. You have become acquainted with the spirit of the people in the districts through which you have traveled and with the sentiment of the whole nation. You will meet everywhere the same sincere and cordial welcome. The ties of friendship uniting France and Russia, which were tightened by the demonstrations at Cronstadt, have been strengthened daily. May our hand make our friendship great! May it be an inspiration to everybody having a heart for the benefit of peace, confidence and security! To the great emperor who sent you I send a greeting from this house. He intrusted you with an exalted mission, which you have executed most worthily. I therefore bid you welcome."

Paris in Gala Dress.

Admiral Avelan replied briefly, merely expressing his thanks for the cordiality of the welcome given the Russians. President Carnot has made Avelan a grand officer of the Legion of Honor and has decorated most of the other officers and the staff of the Russian embassy.

The crowds in the streets in the evening was beyond anything seen in recent years. The streets leading to the Place de l'Opera were full. No vehicles passed through them for four hours. All the streets and public buildings were illuminated. Designs in gas jets and small electric lights and innumerable large are lights made the city bright as day. Long lines of masts stretched down the streets. Between them and from wall to wall hung festoons of flowers and bunting and flags. Shields and transparencies with mottoes were suspended in midair above the crowds. "God Save the Czar" and "Long Live the Franco-Russian Alliance" were the sentiments most frequently expressed on these decorations. Nothing like the splendor of the scene has been seen in Paris since the empire.

The crush in all handsome thoroughfares was greater than at the centennial celebration of the republic in 1886. There was a continuous and deafening din on every side in every street, but without exception the people have been good natured and have abstained from anything like violence.

Kisses Galore For Russians.

A dispatch from Toulon says: The streets of Toulon appear to be fuller of Russians than at any previous time. Hundreds marched through the town, accompanied by an equal number of French sailors. They stopped at street corners and sang "The Marseillaise" and Russian anthems. Wherever they were seen they were greeted with the most enthusiasm.

Well dressed French women meeting Russians in the street would embrace them and smother them with kisses, while the crowd cheered frantically and became dim eyed with emotion. A significant feature of the visit is that the Russians are buying largely of French and Russian Socialist, Democratic, Nihilist and other books, which are prohibited in Russia, many of which would be suppressed even in America or England.

Sultan Willing to Pay.

MADRID, Oct. 18.—The Correspondencia Espana says the Moorish foreign minister, in replying to the Spanish note, declares that the sultan is inclined to chastise the Riff tribesmen who attacked the Spaniards and is willing to pay a moderate indemnity.

The Czar and the French Minister.

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 18.—Shortly before leaving the czar showed much attention to the French minister. He talked with the minister for great length and pressed his hands warmly when leaving him.

Resigned to Come to Washington.

VIENNA, Oct. 18.—Herr von Plener, leader of the German Liberals in Austria, is about to resign his seat in the reichsrath to accept an appointment to a place in the Austrian legation at Washington.

The Ill Fated Victoria's Successor.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—The successor of the ill fated battleship Victoria as the flagship of the British Mediterranean squadron will be the battleship Ramillies.

Sculptor Birch Dead.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—Charles Bell Birch, the sculptor, died here.

Prisons Ypsilanti Dead.

VIENNA, Oct. 18.—The Prisons Ypsilanti died here.

Stampede of Texas Cattle In Boston.

BOSTON, Oct. 18.—There was a cattle stampede in Brighton when some men attempted to drive a herd of Texas cattle to the abattoir. A herd of 25 ran through Cambridge to East Watertown, and before they were rounded up all but one had been killed or crippled. He escaped and is still in the fields or woods about Brighton.

A Red Hot Stove In a Wrecked Car.

ALTOONA, Pa., Oct. 18.—A freight engine and train struck a car containing 70 employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad company returning from their work in the lower yard to this city. The car was broken up and the red hot stove overturned among the men, 17 of whom were seriously injured.

Another Lake Tragedy.

BUFFALO, Oct. 18.—It is believed that the schooner sunk off Gravelly bay was the F. C. Leighton, which left Toledo on Wednesday, carrying a crew of seven. Nothing having been heard from either the boat or crew, it is believed all have perished.

Used a Knife as a Cane.

BANGOR, Me., Oct. 18.—J. G. Copenhaven of Baltimore was fatally killed at Grand Lake on the Penobscot. He was using his rifle as a cane, when it was discharged, the bullet passing through his head.

A Big Steel Company Fails.

CHESTER, Pa., Oct. 18.—The Wellman Iron and Steel company of this place has failed. The concern has over $1,500,000 invested in its plant alone, giving employment to 1,200 men.

Saw a Dozen Floating Corpses.

ERIE, Pa., Oct. 18.—The schooner Rube Richards reported passing a dozen floating bodies, but owing to the crippled condition of the boat could not pick up the floaters.

MANHATTAN'S PROGRAMME.

New York Metropolis Gets Ready to Celebrate at the World's Fair.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Mayor Gilroy and General Porter have completed a draft of the provisional programme of features for the celebration of Manhattan day at the World's fair on Oct. 21. These features are liable to be changed somewhat on the arrival of the committee in Chicago.

In the morning a parade of the Chicago Hussars, Old Guard and other military organizations will act as escort to the committee and officials to the New York state building, at the expedition grounds. There a reception will be held. At noon a grand procession will be formed and the line of march taken up to Festival hall. This parade will consist of the same organizations as the escorting column in the morning, with whatever additional features may be arranged for.

In Festival hall the exercises will be opened with music. Opening prayer by the Rev. Morgan Dix will follow, and the speeches will be cautioned as follows:

Address of welcome by Mayor Harrison or somebody speaking in behalf of the city of Chicago; response by Mayor Gilroy; music; address of General Horace Porter; singing by the Choral society; address by Chauncey M. Depew; address by Charles S. Smith, president of the chamber of commerce; singing by the Choral society; address by Seth Low, president of Columbia college; benediction by Archbishop Corrigan.

In the evening a brilliant illumination and electrical decoration of the New York state building will be the central feature, supplemented by a grand illumination of all the buildings and fountains by the exposition authorities.

RIO IN TERROR.

Drunken Troops In the City and a Hostile Fleet Without.

RIO JANEIRO, Oct. 18.—The European diplomatic corps in the Brazilian capital are disgusted with President Peixoto. They recently withdrew all former protests of intervention, because the president had broken faith with them. Their proposal to land troops was based on an agreement with Peixoto that he would dismount all of the shore batteries and not put them into action again during the progress of the revolution. This agreement had scarcely been ratified when it was learned that agents of Peixoto, at his direction, were secretly erecting a new battery contrary to his agreement.

Admiral Mello is still stationed outside of Rio, where he prevents any ships loaded with provisions entering Rio or discharging their cargoes so as to aid the loyal garrison in Fort Santa Cruz. Advices confirming the capture of Santa Catharina by the revolutionists, which has been denied, have been received. The troops in the garrison have joined the insurgents.

Another artillery duel with the fort is expected. Business houses in Rio have shut down. No letters are allowed across the republic.

The Rio News has been attached by the government for printing truthful reports of the revolution.

There is great alarm in the city over the frequent lights between Peixoto's soldiers. They shriek heavily and rush through the streets creating terror. President Peixoto has convoked the congress elections for Oct. 30.

Rode Off Twain, Returned Gun.

RED HOOK, N. Y., Oct. 18.—Robert Schryver of Rhinebeck-on-the-Hudson and Miss Martha Kipp of Red Hook were riding together to attend a concert. While they were passing the residence of the Rev. Van Ness Traver it occurred to Mr. Schryver that it would be a good time to enter the married state. He accordingly "popped the question," was accepted, hailed the team in front of the pastoral residence, and the marriage took place. The couple then proceeded to the concert and afterward drove to their homes to announce the news.

An Actress Track Meeting.

TRENTON, Oct. 18.—A large and enthusiastic actress track meeting was held in the Taylor Opera House, this city.

Yellow Jack Still Raging.

BRUNSWICK, Ga., Oct. 18.—Thirty-one new cases of yellow fever were reported.

Do You?

Intend to invest in a

WHEEL?

If so, call on

Dickinson,

The Optician.

Agent for the Excelsior, the best wheel in the market. 4 weights, 26, 28, 30 and 41 lbs. Wheels to hire at reasonable rates.

Great Bargains

in all grades of

WALL PAPERS,

for the next 60 days.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.

20 EAST FRONT STREET.

Spicer & Hubbard

Manufacturers of Woodwork, Sash, Blinds, Doors, &c.

Corner Madison avenue and Third street

SCROLL SAWING, TURNING.

Also plain and ornamental glass furnished to order.

Townsend's Marble Works,

20 Somerset Street.

H. De MOTT,

Graduate of United States Embalming College,

UNDERTAKER : AND : EMBALMER.

Office at residence, 115 Somerset Street, Plainfield, N. J.

Cents-Word Column.

FOR SALE.

A GOOD horse for sale. 109 West Third street. 10 19

FOR SALE—$6,000—Two dwellings and one building lot. All in North Plainfield. Title perfect. Terms easy. Dwellings now rented. Address "A. D. Jr." care of EVENING NEWS. 12

FOR SALE—Four brass, first place, near Washington avenue. Washington Park's Bedford broker. 9 14 tf

HELP WANTED.

WANTED—A girl for general housework. Apply, 1101 Putnam avenue. 16 2

SITUATIONS WANTED.

WANTED—A situation as a cook and laundress, city or country. Best of references. Call at No. 158 West Front street, Mrs. Lindsay's. 17 2

FOR RENT.

IN NORTH Plainfield, an eight room house to let. Rent $15 per month. All improvements, and barn. Good location. P. O. Box 288. 10 4 new w tf

TO LET—A small house on Warren street. 9 25

AN OPPORTUNITY—$12 per month will rent a pleasantly located house at 220 Somerset street. Ground enough for a large garden. Call at NEWS office. 10 7 tf

NICELY furnished rooms to let, 213 Richmond street. 5 14

TO LET—A furnished room with or without board to a lady. 522 East Fifth street. 9 12tf

TO LET—Seven room house near Pond's. Also twelve room house on Front street. Both in good order. Inquire, City Hall. 9 6 tf

LOST AND FOUND.

A SUITABLE reward given for return to 12 East Second street of a mounted Irish setter dog, yesterday, with collar, name and address on collar.

A BETTY B. pup strayed into my place yesterday. The owner may have it, by paying expenses and proving property, at 24 Harrison street. 15 5

1893 TAXES!

Notice is hereby given to the taxpayers of the

City of Plainfield,

that the taxes assessed in said city for the year 1893 are now due and payable, and that if the said taxes be not paid by the

20th Day of December

next, the names of the defaulters, with their respective taxes, will be returned to the City Judge for the prosecution. The

COMMISSIONERS OF APPEAL

in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council Chamber, on the

Fourth Tuesday in November Next,

(the 28th,) and sit from two o'clock p. m., until five o'clock p. m., or longer, if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

JOHN JOHNSON,
Collector of Taxes.

Dated, Plainfield, N. J., October 2, 1893.
10 2 tf

Stoves

For Winter,

Hardware of all Kinds,

Everything From Tacks to Furnaces.

A. M. GRIFFEN,

12 EAST FRONT STREET. Telephone 6.

Boehm's.

$5.00

buys a fine Lasting Coat, for school, made of heavy beaver cloth, with fancy style cape. Largest and best assortment of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Coats, Jackets, Fur Capes, etc., ever shown in Plainfield. For the best of Cloths for Ladies' and Children's Coats we are now showing 25c. of Corduroys, Boston Serge, Drap Diagonal, Cheviots, Cheviot Serges, &c., ranging in width from 36 to 54 inches. The new crops figured Dress Goods, all shades and styles. ALL-WOOL FLANNELS. Strictly the best variety of trimmed and untrimmed Hats ever seen in this city, and at reasonable prices, consistent with first-class work.

A. W. Rand,

149 WEST FRONT STREET.

New and second hand

SCHOOL - BOOKS.

School supplies of all kinds.

Those wishing to exchange second hand books must bring them in soon.

Van Eps,

THE NEW JEWELER.

12 Park Avenue. Also a large variety of Musical Goods.

TAKE NOTICE.

Charles Arnold,

the butcher,

Is Still in the Race

for cut prices.

Fresh Pork and Sausage 12c lb.
My own Dressed Jersey Chickens, 18c. lb.
Legs Mutton, 16c. lb.
Lamb, 12c. lb.
My Smoked Meats and all other Meats with be the same old cut prices.

Arnold's : Market,

208 LIBERTY STREET.

GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE.

Strictly Cash.

Are You Insured?

If you are 21 years old $61.40 paid annually for fifteen years would entitle you to $1,000.
If 22 years old, $67.
If 23 years old, $67.10.
If 24 years old, $67.20.

This sum of $1,000 is payable to the insured, if living, at the expiration of fifteen years, or at his death if prior.

FOR A LIFE POLICY, of $1,000 the annual payments to continue during life. The payments for young men between 21 and 24 are between $18.60 and $20.

For catalogues and further particulars address Henry D. Mortimer, 11 Somerset street, agent for THE NEW YORK MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

F. M. HULETT,

MUSIC DEALER,

74 West Front Street,

handles the following makes:

Gildemeister & Kroeger,
Kranich & Bach,
Star,
Mulford,
Jacob Bros. Pianos,
and the world-renowned
Neuman Bros. and Mason & Hamlin Organs.

Builders Cards.

Daniel Hulick,

Carpenter

and

General Jobber.

SHOP

35 Jackson Avenue.

Storm doors and weather strips a specialty.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

Window Screens made to order.

John P. Emmons,

MASON AND BUILDER.

Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place.

Jobbing promptly attended to.

P. O. Box 803.

PIERSON & GAYLE,

Carpenters

and Builders.

W. J. Pierson, No. 12 Vine street. H. B. Gayle, No. 19 Vine street.

All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM G. SMITH,

PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER.

All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.

Residence—Grandview avenue.

P. O. Box 355.

R. V. SAUER,

Carpenter & Builder.

Residence—Clinton avenue, near depot, Bryam.

P. O. Box 1202

Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.

JACOB M. HIGGINS,

PRACTICAL MASON and CONTRACTOR

P. O. Box 351. Residence Dr. street, near Howard.

JOHN ARNOTT,

Practical Plumber and Steamfitter, Hot-water heating a specialty. Corner Front and Plainfield streets. Residence, 17 Front street. Plainfield, N. J. P. O. Box 1044.

ALFRED D. HELSON,

Civil Engineer and Surveyor, No. 2 Park Row, Plainfield, N. J. P. O. Box 1044. Will make surveys, maps and profiles of property, also on the line of the Short Cross Railway. All work guaranteed. 16 7

59c. SALE! 59c.
59c. of 59c
59c. KID GLOVES! 59c
59c 4-button length, tan, modes, brown and black, all sizes, 5½ to 7½ 59c

GEO. L. VAN EMBURGH & SON,

FRONT STREET, OPPOSITE PARK AVENUE. UNDER THE BANK.

Timely Warning! Winter Approaching!

Keep your Scalp Clean and your Hair Growing.

RANDOLPH'S Quinine and Glycerine

HAIR TONIC!

The Friend in the Hour of Need.

EACH BOTTLE GUARANTEED. Sold only by

L. W. RANDOLPH, Prescription Druggist,

140 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

Now is Your Chance.

GRAND CLOTHING OPENING, at our retail store, 218 West Front street. Are you ready? We are prepared to offer the public a clean, fresh stock of Fall and Winter Clothing, for Men, Boys and Children. Remember, we sell at retail at the wholesale price.

C. SCHEPFLIN & CO,

218 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

Successors to

The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,

Dealers in

Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials

43 to 69 PARK AVENUE.

Are now prepared with their increased facilities, (having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs. A. D. Cook & Bro.,) to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

Railroad Time Table.

CENTRAL RAILROAD OF NEW JERSEY

(Anthracite coal used exclusively insuring cleanliness and comfort.)

Stations in New York, foot of Liberty street. Time-table in effect July 30, 1893.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

PLAINFIELD AND EDGEWATER.

PLAINFIELD AND RICHMOND.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

PLAINFIELD AND BOUND BROOK.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

EASTWARD CONNECTIONS.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

ROYAL MAIL LINE.

Real Estate & Insurance

Edw. C. Mulford,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE

45 North Avenue.

M. M. Dunham,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

No. 7 East Front street.

Wm A. Woodruff,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN on Approved Security

Corner Front street and Park avenue.

The Vaudeville and Astor

Are the many names of imported Table Oil. Chess and French Mixes that I now have in stock.

THEY ARE DELICIOUS

And then I personally select the

FRESH FISH!

I have on sale to-day and to-morrow. Call and see my stock.

JULES BOVEY,

60 Somerset Street.

Professional Cards.

WILLIAM B. CODDINGTON,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW, Master and Solicitor in Chancery, Notary Public, Conveyancer, &c. Office over First National Bank, Plainfield, N. J.

JACKSON & ARCHIBALD,

COUNSELLORS-AT-LAW, Front street, over Second National Bank, Plainfield, N. J.

WILLIAM A. CODDINGTON, Jr.,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW, Master and Solicitor in Chancery, Notary Public, Conveyancer, &c. Office over First National Bank, Plainfield, N. J. Money to loan.

CHARLES A. REED,

COUNSELLOR-AT-LAW, Supreme Court Commissioner, Notary Public and Master in Chancery. Office over First National Bank, Plainfield, N. J.

CHARLES A. REED,

COUNSELLOR-AT-LAW, Supreme Court Commissioner, Notary Public and Master in Chancery. Office over First National Bank, Plainfield, N. J.

THE FLYING CLOUDS.

Above the brief morn storm was done
And now and then the sunbeams sun
Shot forth a rust-colored ray
Athwart broad fields of green and gray,
By fitful gleams—rain, wind, by spells,
Here at the seaming of the day,
Thereto to stand and look away
And deep thoughts fathom upon
The flying clouds.

But when Hope's gloomy heaven
Shudder'd my double-gloom, one by one,
It was continuous to pierce
The Truth that in the calm mine lay,
And wanton shooting to outrun
The flying clouds.
—Frank Wolcott in Boston Courier.

ANNE'S BURGLAR.

Ernest Payne's landlady escorted him to his room. She was a very florid person, with a wig that could have been worshipped without sacrilege, and she smiled at him with a large special smile which she had set apart for her boarders.

He had a motive in coming to this house, for he had heard that Miss Anne Summers and her mother were spending the winter at Mrs. Doble's (her of the wig) and as the former was a very pretty girl who had flirted outrageously with him at Brighton the year before, and then left suddenly for London one day without so much as writing him a line to say she was going, just as he was making up his mind that there was but one woman in the world for him, that Anne Summers was this woman and that he must tell her so; he determined to see her now and settle his destiny one way or the other. Sometimes there occurred to him the possibility of its being the other way; at which thought he would grow very melancholy indeed.

As luck would have it, Miss Summers and her mother were out of town, and Mrs. Doble assigned her bedroom to Ernest during her absence.

Anne returned, however, quite unexpectedly late in the evening, so that Mrs. Doble was obliged to have a folding bed in the back parlor made up for her. She undressed, and being fatigued from her journey, threw herself down to sleep in sheer weariness.

The doors were open between the two parlors, and as she lay she could see into the adjoining room. She had slept several hours when, late in the night she was awakened by a noise to find herself shivering with nervousness. She noticed that one of the front windows, which she herself had securely locked before retiring, was now wide open. And merciful heavens! In the centre of the room with the moonlight shining full upon him, sat a large and powerful negro rocking to and fro in a chair. She sat bolt upright in order to get a better view of the man, trying at the same time to make as little disturbance as possible. She could see him rise and bend forward, peering about as if in search of something; it was so dark that his sight could not penetrate into the back room. He was evidently making a close inspection of the premises and now moved slowly toward her. She sank back paralyzed with fear, and her heart beat so that she could almost hear it. Most of her relief he did not come far enough into the room to see her, but after a brief survey of the premises, and a slight hesitation, he became satisfied as to his surroundings and returned to the window, which he opened to its widest extent and looked out into the night to see if all was safe.

Anne knew now was the time for her to fly. With one bound she sprang from the bed and ran lightly to the door; one moment of agonizing suspense as it resisted her efforts; through very nervousness she could not turn the key. Then she heard the man leave the window and knew he was walking with rapid steps to where she stood. She heard his quick breathing as he drew near. She jerked wildly at the door knob; then almost miraculously it seemed to her, the lock gave and the door flew open. Down the dimly lit corridor she ran and up the stairs until she reached the landroom, where she stopped panting, and knocked loudly for admittance.

"Who is it?" asked a voice in some alarm. But Anne was too frightened to wait outside the door.

"Fire! Fire!" she said, shaking the door with all her might, but finding that the could not open it, and that the occupant of the room was disposed to temporize with the excited her scattered senses, she flew down the corridor where her own room was and instinctively dashed into it. The door was unlocked and Payne was moving about slowly to and fro. Anne was in her night dress with her hair considerably disheveled, but looking distractingly pretty with it all, as he noticed the instant he raised his eyes and gave an astonished glance at this midnight intruder. She was too frightened to think or care of her attire, and simply screamed:

"Fire! Burglars! Murder!"

Payne when he recovered himself sufficiently to say anything, cried:

"Which?" in a dazed kind of a way.

"All of them I think. Anyhow a man! A man! Oh, do come at once," Anne cried.

Luckily he was dressed, having shortly before come in. He obediently followed this white apparition, whom he privately thought demeaned, but extremely good looking and therefore worth his while to follow. She led the way swiftly to the front window half a dozen women by this time had assembled in a graduated scale of dress. Among them was a little widow in unfashionable attire with a breakfast shawl thrown hastily around her, and a lighted candle in one hand. The women flew about aimlessly trying to find the burglar and the burglar alarm, pausing first at the window, out of which the man had evidently escaped, and then to Miss Summers, to whom they spoke in breathless voices that commenced in a whisper and nearly wound up in a yell.

"What is it? Did anybody come in? Who is in the house? O, I see somebody! There!" and similar remarks which received no answer, only serving to intensify their fright.

Miss Summers explained the situation as well as she could for her agitation. They all gathered around her, plying her with questions, every minute turning to Payne for corroboration of her statements, though he knew nothing of the matter. She told of the negro when the little widow flew to the side yard opening on the parlor, and trotted up and down the cold bricks in her bare feet hunting for the burglar, and finally tugged away at the burglar alarm as she supposed, and succeeded in bringing the sergeant of the district, who inquired where the fire was. On seeing a lot of excited women he stepped up to Payne and asked him the cause of the disturbance as he did not see any signs of fire. They clustered around him as they had around Miss Summers, each telling the story in her own way with spicy variations from the truth; the little widow temporarily abandoning her aimless trot up and down the back yard to join in with her own particular version.

"Whom did you see?" asked the sergeant, when Payne had told him that her account was the only reliable one.

"A negro man," replied Anne, who was less speculative in her information than the rest. "And he came in at the window; he put two barrels outside and a plank across them and climbed into the parlor, and"—then she added, "Look out and you will see them."

Sure, a small boy held the barrels while he climbed in and stole everything he could lay his hands on," chimed in the little widow, who happened just then to be in the house, and who thought that the barrels would need steadying, and that in all probability somebody would have to steady them, and why not a small boy, who is economy to leave a small boy; therefore it was established in her mind that it was a small boy.

"How do you know?" asked the sergeant, looking at her in rather an amused way.

"How do I known?" repeated the little widow indignantly. "How do you suppose he got into the window if somebody didn't hold the barrels? They would have wobbled so he would have awakened the whole neighborhood. And is it likely a thief would enter the house and sit around on all the rocking chairs enjoying himself if there was no one outside to give him a signal in case he was discovered? Why, I feel certain there must have been a dozen small boys outside, as well as a boy, because—"

Here the sergeant turned despairingly to Miss Summers who continued to look down and hold up the skirt of her night dress, interrupted now and then by suggestions and embellishments from the other women. The masculine portion of the house had now come down, and after suggesting that the ladies might as well go upstairs, they went out to hunt the burglar. Soon a dark figure was seen creeping along on the other side of the street crouching close to the houses. Some one shouted, a policeman ubiquitously appeared on the scene, apparently as much to his own astonishment as that of the man who called, captured the thief, and with assistance conducted him to the station house.

Miss Summers had not recognized Payne, nor had he recognized her until they had met at the breakfast table the next morning. Then they both blushed a deep scarlet and an embarrassing silence ensued, which was suddenly ended by Anne bursting into a merry laugh so irresistible that Payne joined in, and they were soon at their ease.

Afterward they drifted up stairs into the sitting room where they held a long and important conversation. Then Anne disappeared only to reappear shortly dressed for the street. As they stood down the steps together Anne was smiling, though there were traces of tears in her eyes, while in the face of Payne there lurked none of the sardonic expression that haunted him as to the possible result of their meeting. Nothing remained but the placid look of one who sees in the future only what is brightest.—Burlington Hawkeye.

The Lucky Figure Nine.

The figure nine is curiously and intimately connected with all the great gold mining excitements of the nineteenth century. The great Algerian gold bubble formed and broke in 1809. Next came the Mantazan Mountain craze in 1826, when solid boulders of gold as large as flour barrels were reported. The California gold fever broke out in 1849, and raged until counteracted by the Pike's Peak boom in 1859. Ten years later, in 1869, "Old Virginny," the celebrated miner, struck the lucky lead which made Virginia City and Nevada famous in the mining annals of the world. Eighteen hundred and seventy-nine comes in on time with the Leadville frenzy and the famous "carbonates" of Lake County, Col. Eighteen hundred and eighty-nine broke the chain, but 1890 may make up for lost time, there being two mines in that date.—Chicago Herald.

A Useful Relic.

Daggett—This comb has a history. It is an heirloom in our family. My grandfather found it on the floor of Emperor Napoleon's barouche after Waterloo.

Cutting—Jove! How interesting! I suppose you would hate to part with it?

Daggett—Not at all. I am very prosaic about such things. I part with it every day.—N. Y. Telegram.

How to Wipe the Face.

Thousands of people when drying their faces after washing them wipe them downward; that is, from forehead to chin. This is a mistake. Always use upward, from the chin to the forehead, and outward toward the ear, motions. Never wipe any part of the face downward.—Ladies Home Journal.

Tired from Head to Foot.

FROM HEAD TO FOOT.

That's what's the matter with the most of us. What's the remedy? Four circulation of the blood. Anti-Tire will do it. We have known severe cases of so called rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, weak joints, backache, no ambition to do anything, etc., in a short time by the use of Anti-Tire, that no good circulation, and very active. Anti-Tire will do it. Price 50 cents by mail. Anti-Tire will do it. Trial size, 25 cents. All druggists. Send 15 cents in stamps for trial package.

LYONS & SIEGLER,
264 Bergen Avenue,
Jersey City, N. J.

A GOOD WIFE

is a great blessing, and a good husband will look after her future comfort by buying a lot which is pretty nearly, the prices are so low. The lot is situated in a beautiful and healthy neighborhood, convenience for reaching steam, schools and churches quickly. Now is the grand opportunity to invest in a splendid

GIVEN AWAY

WITH EVERY

BUILDING LOT.

For particulars, address
"OWNER,"
care of Evening News.

Horses and Carriages,

for sale or to let, for hire, at

O'BRIEN'S,

116 WEST FOURTH STREET,
near the Depot.

Joseph T. Vail,

REAL ESTATE

and
INSURANCE.
DEALER IN BLUE STONE FLAGS.
49 North Avenue.

RAISING A BREEZE!

We might wait a couple of weeks and let November do it, but we do it ourselves to let even the weather get the drop on us.

THIS WAY!

UNDERWEAR—Maybe you don't need any Underwear just now. But you will later, and now is a good time to buy it. That special sale of heavy Underwear for Ladies, and Children's at 12½ cents a garment is still on.

LADIES' AND CHILDREN'S COATS—Never a better assortment of everything new and desirable to select from. That Ladies' Jacket, at $5.98, is a good one.

A HANDY BARGAIN—Ivy growths from Silver Gilt etc. Large size, prices etc., value, the DOUBLE FLANNEL—The second case in two days, at the same price, 5c. yard.

UMBRELLAS—Must go before cooler weather sets in. We carry them all the time, and just now it's easy, we think, to do us good to drop in.

SPECIALS ORDERED—We waste time running around to fill your orders. If we have not what you want, we will get it for you.

SHOES!

In Ladies' our straight Just an1 Willoughby at $1.50 and $2.00 are the proper shoe gifts for the season is the best looking and best wearing shoe for school wear. Sizes 8½ to 10½, $1.25. Sizes 11 to 2, $1.50. A few of those $1.50 Oxfords, at 98c., still remain.

The "FARGO TIP" for Children,

WHITE, of Plainfield.

BRIGHT SAYINGS OF LITTLE TOTS.

A little three years old was dressing her doll. For some reason everything did not work to suit her, and she exclaimed: "Oh, I am by-gusted, this button won't butt!"

THE FALL OF ADAM AND EVE.

"Why did God forbid Adam and Eve to eat the forbidden fruit?" asked a Sunday school teacher of one of his class.

"For fear they might fall out of the tree and hurt themselves," replied Johnny Firststep, who had his arm in a sling.

A SWEET BREATH.

A lady had just been calling on Katie's mamma. Katie liked to sit near the caller, whose dress was perfumed. Katie had always been very fond of colognes, and when the lady was gone, she said to mamma,

"How nice her dress breathes!"

WHY THEY WERE VOWELS.

Winifred's grandmamma had tried to explain to her about the letters that were vowels, and had told her that each vowel must have one or more of them in it. Later, the young lady wished to inform her papa upon the important subject. "Papa, she said: "the reason why we called vowels is because there has to be one in every word—and they vow they will get there."

WHERE THE DUST WENT.

Walter's mother was busy cleaning house and undeniably the little fellow was very much in the way. To get him out from under her foot, and at the same time make him feel that he was of some use, his mother suggested that he take a little switch and whip the carpet that hung out on the line. He caught at the idea and for a minute or two was very much occupied. Then he came running in and said: "O, mamma! I got lots of dust out of that carpet, and it went right up to Heaven for God to make some more little boys out of!"

Little Boy's Temptation.

One morning little Bel was sent by her mamma to the kitchen store to buy some a spool of silk. She had often been trusted on such errands, though only four years old, and very proud she used to be as she trudged along, "helping mamma."

"Be sure and get just that shade of blue, and come right back, little daughter," said mamma, as she kissed her good-by.

"Yes, ma'am," was the stately answer.

Now, on the way to the "button store" there was a fruit stand, and Bel often used to look at it with longing eyes. This morning she saw something she had not seen for a long time—great, beautiful bananas, two for a penny. "I'll buy some," the world it was a banana. She wondered how much they would cost. Then she thought she would ask. "Five cents." Why, she had just five cents to get the figure that very minute! Before you could think she hadn't five cents at all and had a banana instead.

Do you think she went right home? Not she. She marched straight to the button store, and standing on tiptoe before her counter shows the coveted coin, saying:

"My mother wants a spool of silk like this."

The lady smiled down at the mite, matched the silk carefully, and handed it to her.

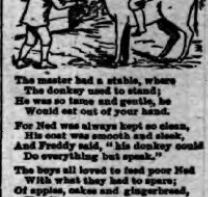
"Thank you," said Bel; she never forgets her manners.

"But, little girl," cried the lady, "don't your mamma send any money for the silk?"

"Yes'm; but I buyed a banana." And before the lady could stop laughing she was on the street hurrying home.—The Dutch Dressmaker.

FREDDY'S DONKEY.

Young Freddy had a donkey and
On mornings bright and cool,
He'd mount upon his donkey's back
And ride away to school.



The master had a stable, where
The donkey used to stand;
He was so tame and gentle, he
Would eat out of your hand.

For Ned was always kept so clean,
His coat was smooth and sleek,
And Freddy said, "his donkey could Do everything but speak."

The boys all loved to feed poor Ned
With what they had to spare;
Of apples, cakes and gingerbread,
He often got a share.

Some of Pizzolo's Pupils.

Pizzolo went down to the seaside in June and the first day she saw them bathing from the hotel windows she shouted to her mother:

"Oh, mamma, come and see the people in God's big bath tub."

In the hotel where she was stopping she took a fancy to riding in the elevator and she nearly worried the life out of the elevator boy, begging him to. One day he was not in a very pleasant frame of mind after about the seventh trip and she petitioned it.

"Well," she said to him with an air of apology, "I suppose you think I ought to own a machine of my own."

With her father and mother she went by sea to New York from a point in Virginia, leaving in the evening. The next morning they were out of sight of land for the first time in her experience. Her father had taken her on deck and she looked all around the vasts of water for an atlantic or two to see them, remarked in a tone of considerable surprise:

"My goodness, papa, it must have rained very hard last night."—Detroit Free Press.

The Boys Hardest Basket.

Every boy carries his marbles basket around his blind legs. Any one something to the body of a boy through a million holes will come out of the blind legs of a boy's trousers in a fringe of stiff hairs on the outside, the holes approaching each other at the tips so as to form a sort of cage. This is the boy's basket.

Baby.

Blinkety blinkt! what do you think?
A little new baby's in town!
He was kicking so high, in his out in the sky,
He broke through the clouds and came down.

Hotels.

CENTRAL HOTEL,
No. 11 E. Front St.,
PLAINFIELD.

Windham & Crowley,
PROPRIETORS.

First-class bar attached.

Fourth Ward Hotel.
JOHN GOFF, Proprietor.

Boarders accommodated, both transient and permanent.

LARGE ROOMS
and
ALL MODERN IMPROVEMENTS.

Fine Wines, Liquors
and CIGARS.
Corner Third and Liberty Streets.

Hotel Grenada,
NORTH AVENUE,

now open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Wallace V. Sharp. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the travelling public.

City Hotel,
Corner
PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.

Transient guests accommodated.

Eugene Hoerster,
206 Grove Street,
North Plainfield.

Wholesale Dealer
in
IMPORTED WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.

Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

CAREY'S
Storage Warerooms,
Corner
Front and Grove Streets,
Plainfield, N. J.

FOR FALL TRADE.
THE LEADER
has received a large variety of Infants' Cloaks, Coats, Caps, Slips, Robes, Flannel and Worsted Sacks, Hoods, Flannel Skirts, all of the latest styles. Also new styles of Ladies' Wrappers, Underwear and a large variety of Comforters, at very low prices. Make no mistake, this is the new store.

THE LEADER! M. GOLDMANN, Prop.
222 and 210 WEST FRONT STREET, (Old No. 24.)

The Fall and Winter Styles in Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing are now in Stock. Overcoats of all Weights. Trousers Made to Order from $4 to $8. Suits from $15 to $30. Hats and General Furnishings. WERNER'S MAMMOTH CLOTHING HOUSE, 206 West Front Street.

R. W. Rice & Co.,
THE PARK GROCERS.
Corner Duer and Emily Streets,
NORTH PLAINFIELD.

"It's an ill wind that blows nobody any good!"

The "financial stringency" has forced manufacturers and importers to dispose of their stocks at a great sacrifice. The wide-awake retailer with the "ready cash" in hand is now enabled to make such advantageous purchases as to supply his customers with new desirable goods at greatly reduced prices.

THIS IS A SAMPLE.

	Regular price.	Now
New Fider down Flannels	50c.	39c.
Novelty, all wool Dress Goods	" 50c.	" 39c.
Cobwebbs, Linen Towels, extra size	" 25c.	" 19c.
Florentine figure silk, 21 inches wide	" 75c.	" 49c.
Changeable Surah Silks	" 85c.	" 59c.
Changeable Bengaline Silks	" 85c.	" 67c.
Gents' natural, all wool Shirts and Drawers,	" $1.00.	" 75c.
White Angora Flannels	" 60c.	" 49c.
White Angora Flannels	" 85c.	" 70c.
Ladies' all linen, embroidered Handkerchief,	" 50c.	" 25c.
Furnishing Cretonnes	" $1.25.	" 75c.
Best Mequette Carpets	" $1.25.	" 99c.

Our new Fall Hosiery Underwear is all made with "lock stitch," extra full and long. We can give better value in these goods than ever before.

Our entire establishment has never before been stocked with such large and desirable lines of goods as now, and our prices never so low. Your will have no trouble in getting suited, at the very lowest prices, at

EDSALL'S.

This Date In History—Oct. 18.

1469—Pope Pius II. or Æneas Silvius, was born.
1555—Hugh Latimer, the Protestant reformer, died.
1765—Edward Winslow, famous governor of Plymouth colony, was born at Worcester, England; died at sea 1595.
1805—Francis Ie Baron, better known as Prince Talleyrand, imperial prince and chief minister of Marlborough, was born at Paris.
1844—Sarah Josepha Hale (Churchill), long famous as the duchess of Marlborough, died.
1846—The power of Abd-le-Chaudir ended the war of the Austrian succession.
1872—Rene Antoine de Reaumur, practical philosopher and inventor of a thermometer, died.
1878—The last state lottery in England was drawn in Cooper's hall, Bucinghall street, London.
1885—Thomas Brackett Reed, speaker, etc., was born in Portland, Me.
1890—Lord Palmerston, British premier, died.

Richard A. Proctor, the astronomer, died of yellow fever in America, was buried in Greenwood cemetery, Brooklyn; George W. Childs built a monument for him, Talmage preached his funeral sermon, and Herbert Spencer wrote his epitaph. That was sufficient history for a man to make after his death. Had Proctor died in his native England he would have been buried in Westminster Abbey. But as it was, though his death occurred in America five years ago, none of his fellow countrymen over showed any desire to have his body removed to his own land.

Conan Doyle says that his apprenticeship was a long and trying one before he learned to write good novels. He confesses that during 10 years of hard work he earned an average of less than $200 a year with his pen. It is the old, old story.

The growing interest, both popular and scientific, in the phenomena of the hidden workings of the mind is shown by the fact that the psychic congress was the most largely attended of any that met during the same week in Chicago.

Even Gladstone talks to himself.

1893			OCTOBER.			1893
Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fr.	Sa.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
15	16	17	18	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26	27	28
29	30	31

MOON'S PHASES.

☾ Third Quarter	2	10:10 p. m.	● New Moon	17	6:37 p. m.
● New Moon	9	2:27 p. m.	☽ Full Moon	25	2:42 p. m.
☾ Third Quarter	31	2:43 p. m.

Tickets For, or from Europe, On All Lines, And all Steamers. Drafts Sold also.

H. D. MORRISON, Agent, Somerset Street.

Metropolitan Livery and Boarding Stables!

Coaches, Close Carriages, Park Phaetons, Surreys, Buggies, Fine Phaetons and Saddle horses.

Special care given boarding horses. Storage for furniture and carriages.

149 AND 151 NORTH AVENUE,
Opposite depot. Telephone Call, 44.
H. R. RIDER, Proprietor. FRANK DAY, Manager

THE TIME TO EAT!

MEAT!

is at most times, of course, and the place to get good meat, all varieties, kosher primes, veal, greens, etc., is at

E. J. CONNOLLY,
No. 2051 Broadway.
SMOKED MEATS AND VEGETABLES always on hand.

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$5 per Year in Advance. E. W. Bonham, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 24 Somerset Street. Printing of All Kinds. 1 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST." THURSDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1893. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Republican Nominations.

SOMERSET COUNTY.

For Senator,
LEWIS A. THOMPSON,
of Bridgewater.

For Assembly,
FRANK SOMERS,
of Bridgewater.

For Coroner,
DR. FRANK C. JONES,
of Bernards.

Republican Primaries.

The Republican voters of the City of Plainfield are requested to meet at the places hereinafter named, on

TUESDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 19, 1893,

for the purpose of electing delegates to the county and assembly conventions, and electing two members of the County Executive Committee from each Ward.

First Ward—At the Association House, No. 120 East Front street, at 8 o'clock, and is entitled to seven delegates to each convention.

Second Ward—At Grant School building, East Fifth street, at 8 o'clock, and is entitled to seven delegates to each convention.

Third Ward—At the Cushing Hose House, corner West Front and Watson streets, at 8 o'clock, and is entitled to six delegates to each convention.

Fourth Ward—At Stem's Hall, No. 327 West Front street, at 8 o'clock, and is entitled to nine delegates to each convention.

By order of the City Executive Committee.

CHARLES H. PICKEMAN, Chairman.
J. B. COWARD, Secretary.
Dated, Plainfield, October 17, 1893.

Third Assembly District Convention of Union County.

Pursuant to resolutions adopted by the Union County Republican Executive Committee, at a meeting held at Elizabeth, N. J., on Saturday, October 14, 1893, and the resolution adopted at the last convention, the Republican Assembly Convention for the Third Assembly District of Union County, will be held at Miner Hall, in Roselle, Linden Township, on

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1893,

at 2:30 p. m.

In accordance also with the above resolutions, the Republican voters are recommended to meet in their respective wards and townships on Thursday evening, October 19, 1893, to elect delegates to the said convention.

The ratio of representation will be one delegate to every fifty, and one for every fraction above twenty, to which Republican votes cast at the last election for Assemblyman.

The number of delegates to which each ward and township is entitled, is as follows:

Clark—Four delegates.
Fanwood—Four delegates.
Scotch Plains—Six delegates.
Plainfield—First Ward, seven delegates. Second Ward, seven delegates. Third Ward, six delegates. Fourth Ward, nine delegates.
Westfield—Six delegates.
By authority of the County Executive Committee.
CHARLES H. CODING,
Chairman of last Convention.

BREVITIES.

—Republican primaries to-night.

—The Park Club will bowl the Rosevilles to-night on the former's alleys.

—The Y. M. C. A class in trigonometry will be organized to-morrow evening, at seven o'clock.

—The "Victor Wheelmen" (colored), will meet at the captain's house on Washington avenue, to-night.

—Justice Bach was issued summons in the case of Hetfield vs. Seguine, demand for promises, returnable Oct. 25.

—The first rehearsal of the Plainfield Choral Society will take place in Vincent chapel, on Monday evening, October 23d.

—The curbing in front of the Geesaa and Turn Verein hall has been set about two feet further back. This widens the street from Race street to Voehl's bakery.

—A meeting of the Young Ladies' Missionary Society of the First Baptist church will be held on Friday afternoon, at two o'clock, in the lecture room of the church.

—To-night in the New Market Seventh day Baptist church will be held the Fall Conference of the Plainfield Local Union of the Y. P. S. C. E. The Rev. Mr. Peterson will address the union.

—Columbia Lodge, No. 58, Ancient Order of United Workmen, will hold an adjourned meeting to-morrow night in the Exempt Firemen's hall, on Park avenue, to complete its initiation.

—The Rev. J. W. Richardson will lecture in the Park Avenue Baptist church next Tuesday evening, at eight o'clock, on Lights and Shadows of Mission Life. It will be duly advertised in The News.

—Young men who wish to hear of the success in business of graduates of the Y. M. C. A. shorthand classes should apply at the Association Rooms, on Friday evening. For particulars see advertisement.

—Ex-City Judge Stillman said yesterday to a News reporter that he considered it no longer any honor to the memory of his father to have Music Hall named after him, when the show bills were so indecent that he felt compelled to tear them down at the entrances of Music Hall. He can control them, having only given the privilege of putting them there as a courtesy. He says he is surprised that the Common Council doesn't take some action in the matter.

Fell Into a Cave.

Two young men while out gathering nuts in a wood South of Plainfield yesterday were terrified to find a place where the ground gave away under their feet. They sank about ten feet and found themselves in a cave evidently dug out by a man. Within was a stove of a make of thirty-five years ago. The pipe crumbled when touched.

The cave had other evidences of man having occupied it. It was eight feet long by nine wide. The interlacing roots of the trees furnished the roof. No one ever heard of the cave before. No one remembers any one who has lived there. With difficulty the young men got out.

SMITH-LEDERER CASE.

TRIED BEFORE JUSTICE MOSHER AND A JURY YESTERDAY.

After About Ten Minutes' Deliberation the Jury Returned a Verdict in Favor of Miss Smith for the Full Amount.—Another Suit for $10,000 Damages.

The case of Miss Elizabeth C. Smith against Mr. Isaac Lederer was tried before Justice Mosher and a jury yesterday afternoon.

Judge William A. Coddington was counsel for Miss Smith and Lawyer W. E. McClure appeared for Mr. Lederer.

The suit was brought by Miss Smith to recover $40, she claimed the defendant owed her.

Miss Smith was the first witness, she testified that she had been engaged by Mr. Lederer as milliner on a "three months' contract; that after two months and one week of service Mr. Lederer told discharged her, because the season was dull and business was slack.

Policeman Kiely swore that he was called by Mr. Lederer to arrest Miss Smith because she would not leave his place. Mr. Kiely testified "When I went into Lederer Miss Smith, Mr. Lederer and several others were there. Miss Smith said something about Mr. Lederer discharging her because it was hard times. I told Miss Smith she would have to leave the store, or I would have to put her out."

When asked how many persons were in the store at the time Mr. Kiely replied that he did not notice particularly as it was rather an embarrassing position for a man like him, as if he was married and replied that he was. This concluded his evidence.

The next witness was Mr. Cahill. He testified that on a Saturday night about two weeks after Miss Smith was discharged, he accompanied her to Mr. Lederer's store and asked him for the money due Miss Smith. To his request Mr. Lederer mumbled over something about not owing her anything. They then left the place.

Mrs. Lederer was the first witness called for the defense. She said she was the defendant's wife and knew Miss Smith, and that she was often in the store.

Mr. A. Lederer was the next witness.

Mr. McClure—Are you a son of the defendant?

Mr. Lederer—I am.

Mr. McClure—That's all.

Judge Coddington—A chip off the old block I suppose.

Mr. Lederer didn't seem to know what "chip of the old block" meant, and asked what it was.

This concluded his evidence.

The next witness was Miss Wahl.

Mr. McClure—Do you work for Mr. Lederer?

Miss Wahl—I do.

Mr. McClure—Do you know Miss Smith? That's all.

Judge Coddington—Do you know Mr. Lederer? That's all.

In rebuttal Judge Coddington called Mrs. Fulper.

Judge Coddington—Are you acquainted with Miss Smith?

Mrs. Fulper—I am.

Judge Coddington—That's all.

Mr. McClure—No questions.

Mr. Fulper was then called.

Judge Coddington—Are you acquainted with Miss Smith?

Mr. Fulper—I am.

Judge Coddington—That's all.

Mr. McClure—No questions.

After the summing up Justice Mosher charged the jury and they retired.

The jury returned with a verdict in favor of Miss Smith for the full amount sued for. The case will be appealed.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. J. J. Kline and children of Warren street are visiting relatives in New York city.

Mr. James Whalen of West Sixth street returned this morning from the World's Fair.

Mr. John J. Kline of Warren street left to-day for a week's hunting trip in Passaic county.

Mrs. Arthur D. Pearson and Miss Florence Pearson of Evans started this morning on a two weeks' trip to Niagara Falls and the World's Fair.

Dr. and Mrs. C. S. Carter, of the Tolsa, in West Fifty-eighth street, New York, have given up their apartments and have a house in Fifth avenue for the Winter. Mrs. Carter (formerly Miss Esterbrook) is a daughter of the late Richard Esterbrook.

Real Estate Transfers.

The following transfers of real estate in North Plainfield were duly recorded in the County Clerk's office between Oct. 17 and Oct. 14:

John and Esther Allen to Fidelity Title Deposit Co., North Plainfield	$1500 00
George A. Dite, Sheriff, to Alfred H. Boyd, North Plainfield	2200 00
William B. and Mary A. White to George F. White, North Plainfield	1 00

Killed the Chicken Thief.

Farmer Henry L. Kline of Cranford was awakened at about four o'clock yesterday morning by a great commotion in his hen roost. Mr. Kline got his gun and went to investigate. He found a large opossum in the hennery with a fine big hen in its paws. He captured the animal and after killing it, found it to weigh 15 pounds.

RACING SATURDAY.

On the Track of the Gentlemen's Driving Park.

IN THE track of the Gentlemen's Driving Park, on Park avenue, Saturday afternoon, some excellent trotting is to be witnessed will take place.

There will be several exhibitions of speed. Mr. A. C. Veit's fast pacers, "Budd Doweard" and "Doc Cox," will show their metal. Both horses are said to be flyers by those who know, and some fast time will, no doubt be made.

Mr. Quinn's "Vanity," by "Bayonne Prince," just taken from the pasture after taking a rest, will show her speed. Also her two-year-old colt.

There will be a match race between Mr. Chandler's black colt "Atlas" and Mr. Nathan Robbins' sorrell colt "Metaphon Thorn." There will also be other events. The races will commence at two o'clock sharp. No admission required.

WILL HAVE TO TAKE $40 NOW.

End of the Matthews-Hall Controversy.

Last Summer Mr. Matthews sued Mr. Hall for $120, he claimed the latter owed him, for grading his new property on Central avenue.

Congressman John T. Dunn was counsel for Mr. Matthews. The case was tried before Justice Hosier.

Judgment was rendered in favor of Mr. Matthews for $40. This Mr. Hall was willing to pay but the plaintiff refused to accept, saying he would appeal the case. As the time for the appeal had elapsed, Mr. Hall paid over, yesterday, the $40 to Justice Hosier for Mr. Matthews. Mr. Hall claimed that the work was not done according to contract, therefore he refused to pay for it.

NUPTIALS.

Paxson—Arnold.

Col. John W. Wilson, Miss Minnie Wilson, Master Allen Wilson, Miss Annie Murphy, Mr. Clarence Murphy and Mr. Julius Bricker, of this city attended the marriage yesterday of Miss Emily Arnold, daughter of Judge Arnold, of Philadelphia, to Mr. Edward Ely Paxson, at St. Mary's church, Philadelphia. A wedding breakfast followed the ceremony at the home of the bride, 2446 Walnut street, West Philadelphia.

The Charge Against Broker Patton.

Lawyer Ralph Ockley of 42 Broadway, counsel for Broker William L. Patton who was arrested on Monday in New York, charged by William Cray of New Jersey with embezzling and misappropriating $60,000 worth of securities held by him in trust, declined yesterday to say what defence he would make. Lawyer Honeyman of 40 Wall street, counsel for Mr. Craig and other creditors to the amount of about $200 000, said that it was "their story." Mr. Patton had twenty days in which to reply, and, if he failed to answer judgment would be taken. Mr. Honeyman declined to say whether criminal proceedings would be begun, but he said that stronger measures than those already taken could be adopted.

The Cokefair Difficulty.

The World of to-day devotes two columns to an article on the Standard Coal and Timber Company, with which Mr. C. G. Cokefair of Crescent avenue, this city, is connected.

A telegram to The News this afternoon from New York stated that Mr. C. G. Cokefair says he will send for Justification in to-morrows News, a personal statement respecting the Standard Coal and Lumber Co.

Another Call for Vouchers.

The Newark Call says: "With the retirement of Senator Marsh to Union county, the nomination of James E. Martine for the vacancy in the Commercial Pleas comes certain. This ought to be followed by naming Foster M. Voorhees by the Republicans, for as his personal popularity is great and he is respected alike for personal and political, he stands a very good chance of carrying the county."

Mrs. Powers Sues for the Killing of her Goat.

Recently "Billy" Lee's dog killed Mrs. Powers' goat. Both live on West Fourth street. Mrs. Powers has brought suit against Mr. Lee for damages in Justice Nash's court. The case will be tried October 25th.

The Machine Didn't Work.

The weighing machine on North avenue cheated Freeholder Vanderbeek out of a cent this morning. Mr. Vanderbeek dropped his cent into the slot; but he didn't ascertain his weight, as the machine refused to work.

A Horse Falls Down.

A horse belonging to Mr. William Nolan, of Nolan & Co., street railway contractors, Somerset street about nine o'clock this morning. The harness was badly broken and one of the shafts was shattered.

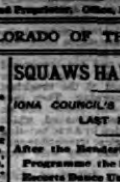
The Weather.

The weather to-morrow promises to be from partly cloudy to fair and hazy, with slight temperature changes.

SQUAWS HAVE A DANCE.

IONA COUNCIL'S ENTERTAINMENT LAST NIGHT.

After the Rendering of a Pleasing Programme the Squaws and Their Escorts Dance Until Early Morning.



RED MEN'S wigwam was crowded last night with over 300 persons who had assembled by invitation to attend an entertainment given by Iona Council, Degree of Pocahontas. It was a most successful and pleasant event. At the conclusion of an excellent programme, dancing was indulged in, and the guests enjoyed many waltzes around dancing until the "sun rose" on the morrow. The committee in charge of the affair was composed of Mrs. George Vesbit, Mrs. Weinmann, Mrs. Canfield, Mrs. W. A. Westphal, Mrs. Banta and Mr. Joseph E. Wyckoff. The programme was as follows:

Piano Solo.....Miss Jennie Pierson
Duet—(Vocal)—"Love and Love Thee".....
.....Misses Banta and Miss Lizzie Stafford
Piano Duet.....Misses Lizzie Randolph and Miss Lizzie Stafford
Duet—"I Know a Rose".....Mrs. Wm. A. Westfall and Mr. Joseph E. Wyckoff Song—"The Girl I Left Behind Me".....Mrs. Purser
Violin Solo—(Air from Martha).....Miss L. Wyckoff
Piano Duet—"Fairy Dance".....Misses Lizzie Randolph and Miss Lizzie Stafford

EDITORIAL NOTES

Plan For Making Money Plenty.

W. H. Van Ornum has been doing some original thinking all out of his own head on the currency question and has evolved a way to make money plenty. He would have the people depend neither on banks nor government for their supply of currency, but just manufacture it themselves. They can learn about it out of the history of banks and especially also out the history of the clearing houses the past summer. When money is not to be had, the clearing houses issued to banks their certificates to the amount of many million dollars, and this passed current.

Mr. Van Ornum would have business men form associations of their own and issue certificates of credit which should pass as money until the present hard times were over. Farmers can form their own associations as well as merchants and manufacturers. The exact way to go about it is set forth as follows by Mr. Ornum in The Arena:

Business men can form mutual associations for their own convenience and credit to facilitate their business. Each member should be examined for credit according to his financial ability or business probity, being guided by the same considerations as are usable by the banks to determine the credit of customers. Then let the association issue to each member its specified sum of credit, in dollars or fractions corresponding to the present paper currency, to the full amount of the credit allowed, which will circulate as money, backed by the credit of the whole association. These certificates should show that they are receivable by any member of the association for all bills or accounts due such members and in payment for all goods purchased or goods purchased. In short, let every member guarantee to receive and treat them precisely like any other money.

The association will thereby become a co-operative bank for the benefit of its members, in which the certificates or credits issued to each member become available for added to its new deposits, like any other bank account. The bank, being for the mutual convenience of its members, does not and might not to make a profit. It should discount no notes, deal in no securities, exact no interest or any way risk the money of its members. For the running expenses, each member should pay enough to cover the cost of the individual service to him, which can be based upon the volume of his credits, and in an association of even moderate proportion that need not exceed a very small part of 1 per cent annually.

Dunraven.

The English nobleman who came over here in the hope of winning away from this country the America cup has done much more than sail a racing yacht. He is much of a man all around, so much of a one that Americans would rather have seen him lift the cup than almost any other Briton if any Briton at all could win it.

Lord Dunraven was a very active member of the Salisbury administration. In 1889 he moved the appointment in the house of lords of a committee to investigate the evils of the sweating system. For once a government committee was thorough, going to the bottom, not whitewashing or extenuating. Not only the sweaters and contracts of London itself were examined, but the system was probed throughout all Britain. The result was a great stirring up of things and a reform which promises to be permanent. The committee began with the government contracts, for they found as many outrages existing there as elsewhere. A resolution was carried through parliament calling for the insertion into government contracts of such conditions as would prevent the abuses of subletting. The demand has since been strictly complied with, and local governing boards have followed the example of the national one. A sentiment against the sweating system has been aroused over the whole kingdom through the persistent effort of the man whose yacht tried for the America cup.

America is a record breaking country. We hold the blue ribbon for trotting horses, millionaires, beautiful women and labor saving inventions, and now the record has been broken by an American in the talking line. Who but an American—who but a Populist, one might add—could stand and talk for 14½ hours at one stretch without a break or a stammer? Senator Allen of Nebraska will go down in history as the man who has outtalked the world, and he was not very tired either at the end of his oration. How he endured it is hard to understand. How those who listened to him endured it could not be understood at all except for a glimpse of the bill of certain articles that went into the delicate nourishment and disappeared during that remarkable session. Here it is: 600 pounds of trimmed loins of beef, 3 cases of wine, 200 bottles of beer, 200 loaves of bread, 12 boxes of tobacco cigars, 40 boxes of 25-cent cigars, 2,000 Shrewsbury oysters, 1,000 Blue Point oysters, 300 gallons of coffee, 300 pies and 500 sandwiches. Two hundred and fifty pies!

The great yacht race has set Americans to studying up their dictionary of nautical terms. Many who before did not know a spinnaker boom guy from a topgallant backstay can now tell you to a nicety just what is the matter with the bobstay fall or the sprit topsail halyards.

There never was a World's fair in any country, there will not soon be one again, in which the paid admissions in one day amount to over 90,000. That single number could only be reached once in any of the empires of China should conclude to hold a world's exposition.

There are people who cannot help being mean little creatures. They are born that way.

MYSTERY CLEARED UP.

Anna Orr, It Is Now Known, Was Drowned.

THE BODY FOUND IN AN OLD WELL.

She Was Away From Her Father's Home One Night in July With Suffering Blackmailers—How She Feared Violence In Her Delirium—Her Flight—Search For Her.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Oct. 18.—After a bewildering search for over a week the dead body of Anna Gray Orr, who, in the delirium of fever, escaped from her father's house, three miles from Bridgeport, on the night of July 26, was found by chance in the bottom of a long disused well nearly two miles away from her home. She was a young girl of 17, and Charles S. Orr, a wealthy farmer, whose house, Castle View, stands on a knoll back of Bridgeport.

She was a very pretty and accomplished girl, built like a sylph, just sixteen years and up to last July had always been in good health. She was taken ill in the latter part of July with a fever resembling typhoid fever. Becoming delirious, she thought that some one was pursuing her with the intention of cutting off her hair. She jumped out of the window half dressed, and eluding her sister Lizzie, who pursued her, escaped into the thick woods and disappeared completely.

Could Not Be Found.

Theories that the missing girl had been put out of the way that she had been assaulted by tramps and then killed; that she had been carried off by gypsies and that she was lying in the woods still demented and subsisting on berries and wild fruits were freely advanced.

The well in which Anna Orr came to her death is on the property of Major J. B. Morehouse on the upper road from Bridgeport to Fairfield. It stands about 30 feet back from the road, from which it is separated by a stone wall and a five barred gate. From the ground to the bottom is 38 feet, and there is now four feet of water in the well. The well is about 2 feet 9 inches in diameter, walled in by jagged rocks and pointed by a well. More than within the limit it would be impossible for any one to fall in accidentally.

W. B. Banks, a son-in-law of Major Morehouse, occupies the house next to the manor house, and a number of Hungarians from a number of Hungarian laborers who had rented of him a place on the other side of the road that the water in their well was unfit to drink. It occurred to Mr. Banks that the disused well on the Morehouse place might be used to furnish water to the Hungarians. Accordingly he went over on Friday afternoon to look at it.

As he looked in something at the bottom caught his eye, something almost overhung, cast a light into the dark recesses, and presently, when Mr. Banks' eyes became used to the light, he made out that the object was a body, but whether that of a human being or of an animal he couldn't determine. He went to Dr. W. H. Donaldson of Fairfield, the medical examiner, who returned with him to make an examination. It was growing dark when they got back. The rays of the lantern soon revealed the truth.

"It's Anna Orr," said Banks.

"Perhaps," replied the doctor, "but don't say anything until tomorrow. There have been too many false alarms already without our adding another."

The Body Recovered.

On the following morning Dr. Donaldson, Mr. Banks and Detective George Arnold of Bridgeport, who had worked on the case since the girl's disappearance and who was notified of the body in the well, went to work to get the body out. By means of a mirror with which Detective Arnold reflected the sunlight into the well the depths were illumined, and the body of a woman, face downward and partly doubled up, could be seen. There was little clothing on the upper part of the body. An improvised basket was used, though after some difficulty a slip noose was slipped over the body, and it was brought to the surface of the ground.

The detectives positively identified the lady by the clothing, of which he had a full description. A hasty examination by Dr. Donaldson failed to show any other cause of death than drowning. There were no abrasions or bones broken, nor was the skull fractured.

In view of the depth and narrowness of the well and the jagged rocks that lined the sides, it is remarkable that there were no fractures, and that the body of the girl climbed down the well, which might easily be done, fell into the water and was drowned, was suggested. No signs of foul play or violence of any sort were found.

By permit from Coroner Doten the body was removed to Bishop's morgue and Mr. and Mrs. Orr notified. They and A. J. Orr, the dead girl's brother, went to the morgue, but were not permitted to see the body, Undertaker Bishop fearing the effect upon them.

Mr. Bishop positively identified the body as that of Anna Orr, whom he had known. The fact, he said, was good recognition by Mrs. Orr, whose testimony was substantial for some years, was hereby marked by the finding of the body. The Misses Orr, however, state the contrary, and with much earnestness, that the dead girl is no more like their sister than any other young girl of her age. Mr. Bishop has had considerable experience in such matters and has had to perform many embalmments.

In Search Ever Since.

In past years Mrs. Orr, in couples of instances under the hallucination that her husband was trying to kill her, has many several times, taking a small bundle of clothes, left home near the Mountain place, where friends of hers, who have since moved away, then lived. Dr. Donaldson thinks that Anna's mind, unbalanced by the fever, may have gone back to her childhood days, and that, recognizing Fairfield road with which she was perfectly familiar, took that road, and in looking for the home of her friends happened upon the well.

Although the news of the discovery was not known in Bridgeport until late in the afternoon, sensation seekers flocked to the place. They also crowded Dr. Donaldson and Bishop's place, but he refused all requests to see the body. He would this evening permit the funeral of the girl will be private. It is said that the funeral will be held at the home of Mr. J. A. J. Orr, the dead girl's brother, at 3 o'clock this evening. Bridgeport, The New York Tribune's Special Correspondent.

North Congregational church will officiate.

A peculiar feature of the tragic affair, and one which is causing much comment, is the fact that Anna Orr's body ever was found. It would seem that the bottom of a well 38 feet deep would be the last place to look for a lady missing from Bridgeport or a neighboring village.

Wanted Fair Attendance.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Paid admissions at the World's Fair yesterday, 56,121.

CARDINAL GIBBONS' JUBILEE.

The Pope Sends a Special Envoy to Celebrate It.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 19.—The celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the consecration of Cardinal Gibbons as bishop of the Catholic church began in the cathedral here with the grandest ceremonial of the Catholic church that prevails, and probably will have ever engaged in or witnessed in this country. [illegible]

The grand dinner given in honor of the cardinal by the very Rev. Dr. Magnien and the faculty of the Seminary of St. Mary of the Lake, Chicago, also owed a portion of its success to the presence of the [illegible] that day was the anniversary of the founding of the institution. Cardinal Gibbons made an address to the assembled prelates and priests.

In the evening a reception in honor of the cardinal was held in the archbishop's residence, and was only spared almost continued applause by the condition that he was speaking to a congregation and not to the [illegible] banqueting hall.

The cathedral was crowded in every part with the congregation gathered—it may be in general terms described—to hear the sermon, but certainly in very great part by the announcement that the Most Rev. Archbishop Ireland of St. Paul would preach. Many of the old priests of the diocese, and was only spared almost continued applause by the condition that he was speaking to a congregation and not to the [illegible] banqueting hall.

Most Rev. Dr. Redwood, the metropolitan of New Zealand, pontificated at the vespers. Rev. Dr. Rooker, vice rector of the university at Washington, assisted. Many archbishops and bishops were present.

The sermon of the holy father to Cardinal Gibbons is a jewel of gold set in precious stones. The center is a beautiful piece of sardonyx in three colors—a deep red, an ashy gray and pure white. This cameo is in the middle of the great bronze statue of St. Peter at St. Peter's cathedral in Rome.

The stone is a slight oblong, being about 1¼ inches long by 1¼ inches wide. St. Peter is represented as seated upon his throne, the throne being shown in the white layer, and the figure of the saint himself is cut out of the gray layer, which is about three-sixteenths of an inch thick. The red forms the background, and upon this [illegible] is a golden halo around the saint's head. Around this is a wide setting of gold, wrought in the most delicate filigree work and studded with small pearls. Around the edge of the jewel eight pearls are set. The reverse side is perfectly plain, a piece of glass, backed by a bit of scarlet ribbon, being behind the figure in sardonyx. The jewel hangs from a golden shield of the size of a silver quarter and formed of the papal coat of arms.

The gift itself is contained in a white velvet box, 6 by 5 inches and 2 inches deep, bearing on its top the papal arms in gold and enamel.

THE BLUCHER ROMANCE.

The Murdered Count's Son Died In Poverty In New York.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 19.—Count Blucher, who was murdered by his valet, a fellow estate in Pomerania, was the father of Count Blucher von Wahlstadt, who was married in Milwaukee over a year ago to a sister of Mrs. Moritz Richtenberg of this city. The young lady's home is in Brooklyn, and she was visiting in Milwaukee at the time of the marriage which occurred very soon after she made the acquaintance of Count Blucher at Elkhart Lake, Wis., where she was spending part of the summer.

They were united by Dr. Perkhurst at the parsonage of Summerfield church one Sunday evening, and the affair created quite a stir. The bridegroom's pedigree, affair, for when the paternal Blucher heard of it he cut off the young man's allowance, and as the young lady's parents were to work to get the body out. By means of a mirror with which Detective Arnold reflected the sunlight into the well the depths were illumined, and the body of a woman, face downward and partly doubled up, could be seen. There was little clothing on the upper part of the body. An improvised basket was used, though after some difficulty a slip noose was slipped over the body, and it was brought to the surface of the ground.

The detectives positively identified the lady by the clothing, of which he had a full description. A hasty examination by Dr. Donaldson failed to show any other cause of death than drowning. There were no abrasions or bones broken, nor was the skull fractured.

In view of the depth and narrowness of the well and the jagged rocks that lined the sides, it is remarkable that there were no fractures, and that the body of the girl climbed down the well, which might easily be done, fell into the water and was drowned, was suggested. No signs of foul play or violence of any sort were found.

By permit from Coroner Doten the body was removed to Bishop's morgue and Mr. and Mrs. Orr notified. They and A. J. Orr, the dead girl's brother, went to the morgue, but were not permitted to see the body, Undertaker Bishop fearing the effect upon them.

Mr. Bishop positively identified the body as that of Anna Orr, whom he had known. The fact, he said, was good recognition by Mrs. Orr, whose testimony was substantial for some years, was hereby marked by the finding of the body. The Misses Orr, however, state the contrary, and with much earnestness, that the dead girl is no more like their sister than any other young girl of her age. Mr. Bishop has had considerable experience in such matters and has had to perform many embalmments.

In Search Ever Since.

In past years Mrs. Orr, in couples of instances under the hallucination that her husband was trying to kill her, has many several times, taking a small bundle of clothes, left home near the Mountain place, where friends of hers, who have since moved away, then lived. Dr. Donaldson thinks that Anna's mind, unbalanced by the fever, may have gone back to her childhood days, and that, recognizing Fairfield road with which she was perfectly familiar, took that road, and in looking for the home of her friends happened upon the well.

Although the news of the discovery was not known in Bridgeport until late in the afternoon, sensation seekers flocked to the place. They also crowded Dr. Donaldson and Bishop's place, but he refused all requests to see the body. He would this evening permit the funeral of the girl will be private. It is said that the funeral will be held at the home of Mr. J. A. J. Orr, the dead girl's brother, at 3 o'clock this evening. Bridgeport, The New York Tribune's Special Correspondent.

North Congregational church will officiate.

A peculiar feature of the tragic affair, and one which is causing much comment, is the fact that Anna Orr's body ever was found. It would seem that the bottom of a well 38 feet deep would be the last place to look for a lady missing from Bridgeport or a neighboring village.

Wanted Fair Attendance.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Paid admissions at the World's Fair yesterday, 56,121.

TELLER TALKS OF CZAR.

He Says the President's Interference Is Unjustified.

SHARP WORDS FROM SENATORS

Senator Jones Receives a Letter Declaring He Is Destroying the Party—Senator Teller Not Out on the Road Yet—The Money Quiet, but Ready.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—The session today lasted from 10 a. m. until 5:15 p. m., when another recess was taken. The main object of these recesses, it is said, is to enable the senators to get off the executive adjournment. It is said that the session will probably be extended to two hours. This would almost time saved for debate on the silver bill, but that the senators could not do, these hours of steady business have done for me. I am

Miss Lizzie May Beebe

"Reverent Prostration

Was brought on by a very severe attack of the grippe. Hood's Cures relieved every day. That the doctors could not do, three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla have done for me. I am now well and I believe I should not now be alive if it were not for Hood's Sarsaparilla." Miss Lizzie May Beebe, Bridgeport, Conn.

Hood's Pills act easily, yet promptly and efficiently, on the liver and bowels. 25c.

New : Proprietor !

HENRY F. WINDHAM,

Arlington : Hotel !

Seaview street and Greenbrook road.

Regular and transient boarders.
First-class bar and stables attached.

ROCHESTER BEERS.

The success already attained by this brand of Lager Beer is beyond expectation. No other Beer ever handled in this city has had such remarkable sales. Try it!

Bottled Liquors,

Imported Beers and Ales are having a very large sale at this season. My stock is first-class, and it will pay you to investigate.

FRANK LINKE'S

Wholesale Liquor Establishment,
48 WEST FRONT STREET.
Telephone Call, 197.

The only place to buy

Sea Food !

is at

TERRY'S

North Avenue Sea Food Market,

where you will find the biggest Shad in Plainfield. Also, all other kinds in season, at the lowest prices.

JOSEPH SOHL,

PRACTICAL

Electrician

49 NORTH AVENUE,
Plainfield, N. J.

Estimates furnished on Electric Light Wiring, Kosher Alarm and Bell Work and Repairing of same. Tinker in.

Electric and Gas Fixtures.

MORE SLAUGHTER

to close out our entire line of

Neglige SHIRTS !

We offer them at the ridiculously low price of

85 CENTS.

These goods are worth $1.25 and $1.50. If you want a bargain, call early. Sizes 14 to 17½. Sleeves 32 to 35 inches. Never before offered at such a price.

Hallock & Davis,

Plainfield's Leading Clothiers,
128 West Front street, opposite Somerset street.

World's Fair Excursion Tickets !

Going and returning via all the different lines, with or without hotel accommodations at

FRANK'S

Lowest Rate Railroad and Steamship Agency,

643 AND 645 BROADWAY, Corner Leonard Street, NEW YORK.

Low rates in all parts of the World. Tickets purchased and exchanged.
Sleeping berths reserved. Baggage transferred.

MEMBER AMERICAN TICKET BROKERS' ASSOCIATION. 10 2 3m

Educational.

HARNED ACADEMY,

BOARDING AND DAY SCHOOL.

New School Buildings.
Competent Instructors.
Students Prepared for College, For Business, and
In Special Subjects.

For circulars, address "Harned Academy, Plainfield, N. J."

Plainfield Manual Training School,

1208 EAST FRONT STREET.

The course of study includes fifteen lessons each week, in the various branches pursued in the public schools. Pupils may enter at any of the branches can be taken singly, as correspondence study, or by private lessons. Terms reasonable. Send for circular. JOHN DeLEIRIS, Principal.

Madame Ida Lesom's Dancing School.

Every Friday evening, from 8 to 9:30 o'clock, Russell's Hall, East Front street. Also classes in Physical Culture, Calisthenics, etc., every Tuesday and Friday, from 3 to 5 p. m. For particulars, address 338 West Front street.

Plainfield Seminary,

Re-opened

SEPTEMBER 14, 1893.

(26th year.)

MISS E. S. BENSON, Principal.

MADAME ARBOUR,

Teacher of French conversation in French and vocal and private lessons at residence, 338 West Front street. Also instructor in Delsarte system from Professor Fontaine's High School of Oratory, New York, and instructor in Physical Culture and Reading at Harned Academy, Plainfield.

MISS A. M. CRANE,

Primary and Intermediate School, 26 Washington avenue, French, Music, Drawing, Calisthenics. An opportunity to join these classes will be offered to those not connected with the school. At home Wednesdays, from 2 to 5 p. m.

MISS JEANNETTE BATTISON,

Teacher of music, will receive at her home all pupils recommended. Pupils may have regular or special lessons at school or. Liberal terms to classes. Best references. No. 36 EAST FOURTH STREET.

GERMAN SCHOOL.

Corner Grove street and Mercer avenue, opens on Saturday, October 14, 1893, at 10 o'clock a. m. Rev. J. Kloss.

Another one in the race, and

A. G. VOGELER

takes the lead.

LOOK AT THESE PRICES.

Porterhouse Steak	15c.
Sirloin	12c.
Round	12c.
Chuck	7c.
Roast Beef	10c.
Lamb Chops	14c.
Veal	14c.
Leg a Mutton	12c.
Leg Spring Lamb	12c.
Shoulder Spring Lamb	10c.
Corned Beef	10c.
Fresh Jersey Pork	14c.
Fresh Sausage	14c.
Pickled Pork	10c.
Pickled Pigs' feet	5c.

Headquarters for Bologna. Bologna made fresh twice a day. I sell and get your money's worth.

Union Meat Market,

131 WEST FRONT STREET.
9 14 tf A. G. Vogeler, Manager.

Do Your Corns Hurt?

They can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of

ELECTRIC

Corn Cure.

A remedy that never fails. A 25c. corn is most certainly cured by it. A 50c. corn is cured in one week. The money is to be refunded if corn, 25c., 50c., per box. Sold everywhere, or sent by mail on receipt of price. Send for pamphlet of testimonials. Address (enclose stamp for postage) ALLEN CO.,
Lock Box 95, Richmond, Va.

U. B. CRANE,

has the largest stock of

Fine Fall HATS,

in Plainfield.

12 WEST FRONT STREET.

$55!

Six Days at the World's Fair.

A WEEK OF HOLIDAYS.

Railroad tickets, hotel accommodations, admission tickets, and eleven attractive features included, under personal escortage.

To schools, churches, military, musical and other CLUBS, to parties of congenial friends, to engine and hose companies, police bodies and lodges, we offer special advantages.

Comfort and luxury at a minimum of cost.

We have exclusive arrangements with the great railways terminating in Chicago.

Send for descriptive pamphlet and itinerary, and we will give you prices.

WORLD'S COLUMBIAN TOURIST COMPANY,
(239 Broadway, New York.
GEORGE C. McEWEN,
Agent for New Jersey,
404 Broad street, Newark.

THE BEE HIVE!

Infants' long Cashmere Cloaks, $1.50, $2.50, $3.50.

Children's Elder down Coats, $1.48, $2.00, $2.25.

Also a full line of Flannel Skirts, Infants' Shawls and Sacks.

Fall : Underwear.

Children's merino Vests and pants, 16-inch, 18c., 19-inch, 19c., 20-inch, 19c., 22-inch, 23c., 24-inch, 25c.

Children's natural wool Vests and Pants, 16-inch, 20c., 18-inch, 25c., 20-inch, 30c., 22-inch, 35c., 24-inch, 40c.

SPECIAL!

Ladies' ribbed Vests, long sleeves, 21c.
Ladies' Merino Vests, 25c., 35c., and 50c.
Ladies' Wool Vests, 75c. and $1.00.
Ladies' Natural Wool Vests, 50c.
Men's White Merino Shirts and Drawers, 50c., 60c., and 75c.
Men's Natural Wool Shirts and Drawers 75c. and $1.00.
Men's Scotch Wool Shirts and Drawers, $1.00 and $1.25.

Louis Callman,

332 West Front Street.

The New Address

of Seguine's Livery Stable

is 18 West Second

Street,

in the Elkwood building.

Telephone Call, 25;

Fine horses, carriages, vehicles of all kinds. Horses boarded. Careful drivers.

Cleaner Coal!

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't,

BROADWAY, COR. FOURTH STREET.

Invites the public to inspect the operation of his new coal screens, which will enable him to screen for our coal, which he confidently believes contains less dust and slate than is possible by any other method of screening.

Green Lumber and Hemlock Coal in best qualities and various sizes carried for HOUSE AND BARROOM LUMBER.

He would also announce recently increased facilities for the manufacture of Sash, Doors and Blinds, and is prepared to execute orders for the same in the best manner at short notice.

Miscellaneous Cards.

H. B. SPENCER,

Grocer and Baker, Seventeen, 76 and 78 West Front street, Plainfield, N. J. Telephone connection. G. C. C., rock, rye, pure old domestic wines, whiskies and cordials, cider brandy, cordials, sherry, Madeira, port, tonic, bitters, ginger wine, lemon, lemon flavor, lemon syrup, sweet potato, and egg wine.

PLAINFIELD

ENDLESS EXCAVATING CO. ADV

JONES & CO.

If you contemplate excavating, draining, grading, or any kind of work, call and see the agent of the Board of Health, Trustees of Public Schools, Commissioners of Water, Board of Freeholders of Union, Board of Freeholders of Somerset, Board of Chosen Freeholders of Essex, Board of Freeholders of Hudson, Board of Freeholders of Middlesex, Board of Freeholders of Monmouth, Board of Freeholders of Ocean, Board of Freeholders of Passaic, Board of Freeholders of Bergen, Board of Freeholders of Hunterdon, Board of Freeholders of Warren, Board of Freeholders of Sussex, Board of Freeholders of Morris, Board of Freeholders of Cape May, Board of Freeholders of Atlantic, Board of Freeholders of Cumberland, Board of Freeholders of Salem, Board of Freeholders of Gloucester, Board of Freeholders of Burlington, Board of Freeholders of Camden, Board of Freeholders of Mercer

MILLIONS IN SMOKE.

Tons of Costly Wall Paper Destroyed in a Big Fire in New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—One of the most destructive fires this city has seen recently extended from St. Raphael's Roman Catholic church on Fortieth street, west of Tenth avenue, to the north side of Forty-second street, where it will mount up into the millions. The fire started in the factory of William Campbell & Co., wholesale manufacturers of wall papers at 511 to 519 West Forty-second street and 506 to 512 West Forty-first street. It spread to the adjoining buildings occupied by Nevins & Haviland, also wall paper manufacturers, on Tenth avenue and Forty-second street. Both firms were entirely burned out. Several other buildings burned.

After the fire had gained considerable headway the smoke was so dense that the firemen could hardly do anything. It was said that there were four men in the boiler room at work, and police and firemen made a dash for the place, but were driven back. The flames burst from the front of the building with a report as if an explosion had occurred. A man appeared at the fourth story window shortly after the fire shot through the front of the building. His clothes were in flames. He got out upon the window ledge and jumped to the roof of the portico over the main entrance to the Campbell building and gained the street and started off through the crowd. Nobody seemed to know who he was.

The material in Campbell's was of such an inflammable character that 15 minutes after the fire broke out it had made a wreck of the building and had eaten its way into the adjoining houses. Next to Campbell's, on the Tenth avenue side, was Nevins & Haviland's wall paper manufactory, occupying three houses on Tenth avenue and two on Forty-second street.

These buildings, like Campbell's, were loaded to their utmost capacity with the finest wall papers, which the flames preyed upon, casting a heat so intense that one set of firemen was compelled to play on the house of the men who were fighting the flames.

At 1:20 this morning the police reported the fire was under control.

SOLD BRASS FOR GOLD.

Schafer's Friends Paid $13,000 For Some Brass Filings.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—John Schafer, a dealer in notions, 49 years old, of 839 Flushing avenue, Williamsburg, is imprisoned in the Raymond Street jail, Brooklyn, in default of $5,000 bail. He was arrested on a charge of swindling Joseph Freze and Max Levy, both of 160 Richardson street, Brooklyn, it is alleged that on Oct. 7 he obtained from them $3,000 and $2,500 respectively and from Mrs. Catherine Freze, the mother of Joseph, $6,500 by selling them brass filings for gold dust.

Schafer, it is alleged, told his victims that two of his friends had arrived from Russia with smuggled gold dust which was valued at $20,000. He offered the gold dust to them for $13,000. Joseph Freze and his brother-in-law, Max Levy, persuaded Mrs. Freze to purchase. They themselves contributed every cent they had. The buyers went to Newark, N. J., where the gold dust was assayed and weighed, and when they returned home the fraud was discovered. Mrs. Freze received a shock, from the effects of which she died.

DIED IN A BATHTUB.

Friends of Wallace Do Not Believe He Killed Himself.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19.—F. R. Wallace, the Philadelphian who was found dead in a bathtub in a Chicago hotel, was well known in this city, having been a member of several leading social organizations. He was 35 years old and was a civil engineer, having graduated from the Philadelphia Polytechnic school. Of late he was employed by the Rock Island road and located the line through Kansas.

While in Topeka he met the young lady whom he went west recently to marry. The theory of his friends here is that upon arriving at Topeka he found his fiancee too ill to be married at the fixed time and that she thereupon started back home. He has for years suffered from heart trouble, and the belief is that upon entering the bathtub he was attacked with heart disease, with fatal result.

The dead man's father received a telegram from him on Monday, announcing that he was sick and would leave Chicago Wednesday afternoon. None of Wallace's friends believes that he committed suicide.

Will Not Marry the Baron.

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 19.—A dispatch from Lexington says that the story that Miss Lillie Sherman is to marry an Australian nobleman. It seems that Miss Sherman, who is the daughter of Dr. J. A. Sherman of Lexington and New York, is quite indignant at the announcement of an engagement between herself and the nobleman in question, Baron F. D. Greenhaven, who now resides in New York.

Reggie Carroll Killed Himself.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 18.—[2, R. Carroll shot himself in the right side of his head with suicidal intent and will die from the effects of the wound. Mr. Carroll, one of the oldest employes of the Pittsburg arsenal in Lawrenceville, was arrested in this city on June 5 by United States Marshal Harran on the charge of forgery.

Fair to Remain Open Late Sunday.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—Visitors to the fair will be admitted on the Sunday path for an indefinite period after Oct. 30. The length of time will be based upon the weather and the receipts at the turnstiles. It was learned definitely this evening upon by the council of administration.

Wreck Is Coated While Under Way.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The navahips San Francisco and Kearsarge tested a device for coating ships at sea while at full speed.

PARAGRAPHS PARED DOWN.

Composer Gounod died in Paris.

Monte Tempest has rejoined "The Algerians."

A total of 56 lives were lost in the recent storm on the great lakes.

A total of $2,000,000 worth of St. Louis city bonds at par was made in London.

The National Lancers of Boston will make a second visit to New Orleans in February next.

Department Commander George T. Cranston, G. A. R., of Rhode Island, is reported dangerously ill at his home.

Bill Wade, a burglar, while "shooting up" the town of Webb, Miss., was killed by J. M. Evans, a storekeeper.

John Neil, the sailor who tied Farragut in the rigging at Mobile bay, killed himself at the Mare Island navy yard, Vallejo, Cal.

A United States grand jury will investigate the charges made against booth officers during the opening of the Cherokee trip.

TIGERS IN BATTLE ROYAL

A Bloody Struggle In a Providence Menagerie Cage.

PRINCE WAS KILLED BY HIS MATE.

Two Magnificent Royal Bengal Tigers Fight to a Finish in the Presence of Awe Stricken Spectators—Princess Tore the Body of Her Dead Mate to Pieces.

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 19.—A bloody battle occurred at Roger Williams' park between two of the finest specimens of the tiger family in captivity, resulting in the death of the handsome quadruped known throughout the United States and Europe as Prince—the most ferocious animal ever captured by animal hunters in India. It was three years ago that Prince was captured after mangling three hunters in the foothills of the Himalaya mountains. He was the finest specimen ever caught. He was marked perfectly and weighed something like 1,200 pounds. The tiger fought desperately, but was finally landed at Hamburg. Later it was purchased by the Union Railroad company of this city for the park.

Princess Began the Row.

Since his arrival menagerie keepers the country over have visited the city to see him. A year ago a female (Princess) was bought, but at that time Prince was considered a most ferocious animal and a hard fighter, they were not mated. In adjoining cages they got acquainted, and finally they were put together in a strong steel cage.

They never showed any dislike for each other until a week ago, when Prince began to punish Princess. She took his ill treatment calmly, but on Wednesday, when he began the wrangle, she was ready.

Prince struck the first blow and showed his long, white teeth. Princess laid her ears upon her well shaped head and returned the blow, and both began to hiss and growl louder and louder. They were angry, but the people in the menagerie did not expect a fight. The animals walked about the cage eying each other slowly, when suddenly Prince sprang at Princess. About the same time Princess leaped into the air, and both came together in the center of the cage.

The growling beasts had set the entire menagerie in an uproar, and the other animals began to show signs of uneasiness. Finally the whole menagerie entered into the fray, and their barking and growling made a thunderous noise which could be heard half a mile away.

A Battle Royal.

The tigers after coming together began a terrible battle. With their claws they tore each other's backs, and with their teeth they chewed each other's necks and heads.

Prince seemed to have the best of the battle, but after a hard struggle Princess broke away from him, and removing a few feet to the rear leaped upon her adversary with great force, knocking him upon his side. For half an hour the battle raged, and blood spurted in all directions. The cage and immediate vicinity looked like a slaughter house. Neither tiger gave way, and finally Princess set her teeth in her mate's neck and held him until he was dead.

She was enraged, and then, animal fashion, she tore the meat from his body and drank his blood. Almost lifeless she lay in the pond of blood for several minutes, and then raising herself let forth a terrible howl as if cheering at victory. When the noise ceased, the keepers entered the building. Princess sat in her cage with one paw upon Prince's head, which was nearly severed from his body. She was still angry, but finally became quiet. She was covered with blood and the remnants of her dead mate, but then she knew of the greatest battle ever fought in this or any other menagerie.

The Vanderbilts to Go Yachting.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The Valiant, William K. Vanderbilt's big steam yacht, is being overhauled and provisioned for a European trip. Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt, with their children, will be accompanied by several guests. The yacht will probably start next week. They will cruise through the Mediterranean and then go to India by way of the Suez canal and the Red sea. The winter will be spent in India and the east. The Valiant will return over the same course in the spring. The Vanderbilts may remain abroad two years.

Directum Trots In 2:05 1-4.

NASHVILLE, Oct. 19.—Monroe Salisbury's Directum lowered his own record by 1¾ seconds at Cumberland park, and at the same time made the fastest time ever trotted in a race. The distance rule had been waived in the third heat of the second race, and Directum, joined by a runner on the back stretch, left his field a sixteenth of a mile. The time by quarters was :32, 1:03½, 1:34, 2:05¼.

The Bankers' Congress.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—The bankers' congress met in the Art Institute and proceeded with the programme that has been laid out for them. After a brief time spent in roll call and the reports of officers Mayor Harrison delivered an address of welcome. He was followed by the Hon. James H. Eckels, comptroller of the currency, who was not greeted by a large audience.

Young Fair Disinherited.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19.—It is stated that ex-Senator James G. Fair has disinherited his son, Charles L. Fair. A clause in his will giving half of his estate, amounting to something like $15,000,000, has been stricken out and a substitute added giving his son only $100.

Whole Family Killed by Escaping Gas.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—Three persons named Steynbink, from Hampton, O., the father aged 60 years, a daughter aged 21 and a son aged 16, lost their lives last night in the Hotel Isobel, a World's fair structure, by blowing out the gas.

Bicycle Thief Attempts Suicide.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Oct. 19.—Frank Folsom, a professional bicycle thief, who was arrested here while trying to dispose of F. C. Gilbert & Co., tried to hang himself in his cell.

Marshal MacMahon's Obsequies.

PARIS, Oct. 19.—It has been decided that the public obsequies of Marshal MacMahon will be held at the Eglise des Invalides toward the end of the month.

A Fine Residence Burned.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 19.—The handsome residence of Dr. H. F. Vallette, near here, was destroyed by fire.

Cholera Increasing In Constantinople.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 19.—The ravages of the cholera epidemic in this city are increasing.

Editor McClure Failing.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19.—The condition of A. K. McClure steadily grows worse.

LASHED ON THE RUN.

A Case of Horsewhipping Extraordinary In a Quiet Long Island Village.

HEMPSTEAD, N. Y., Oct. 19.—The seven monopoly which hedges this pleasant village was rudely broken by a wife horsewhipping her husband on Main street. Both were in light wagons, and their homes raced side by side to the accompaniment of howls of pain from the husband and the vicious swish of the horsewhip as it cut welts upon his face and shoulders.

The cause of the quiet retreat of De Mott's livery stable. Robert P. Ritter was standing in front of the stable, where he had just alighted from his buggy. Mrs. Ritter drove up in a similar vehicle, and as she sighted her husband raised some wagon robes aloft and said:

"I have them, you dirty loafer!"

Then she drove on. Her husband jumped into his wagon and drove after her.

As he reached her wagon he leaned over and caught one end of the robes and gave a tug that failed. Mrs. Ritter had anticipated the action and had fastened the other end to the wagon. Raising her whip, she landed her heavy lash across the face with it. This started the horses, which in another moment were going down the street at top speed.

After a mile had been traversed Ritter managed to get his horse under control and drew out of the unequal struggle. He and his wife have been living apart for some weeks, and this episode was the outcome of Ritter's sending his boy to the stable with his wagon robes. His wife met the boy and took the robes from him.

Women Life Savers Awarded Medals.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The Maritime Association of the Port of New York recognized the services of three ladies—Mrs. Rena Scudder, Mrs. Cecil Raynor and Miss Jennie Rhodes—who aided in saving the lives of the crew of the American bark Martha F. Tucker, which was totally wrecked on Long Island during the memorable storm which swept the Atlantic coast on Aug. 29. Gold medals of unique design have been prepared and will be presented to each of the ladies.

Two Prisoners Disappear With a Mob.

ATLANTA, Oct. 19.—Bill Richardson and Jim Dickson (colored) were taken from the jail at Summerville, Ga., by a mob and carried off. Neither was heard from. It is presumed that they were lynched. Two men were accessories to the murder of Joseph Hall and the shooting of Town Marshal Murphy a few weeks ago.

A Boston Student Kills Himself.

BOSTON, Oct. 19.—The young man who registered in the Parker House as F. A. Nichols and was found dead here Wednesday morning proves to be a young technology student named Edward A. Towle. It was found out at the young man had committed suicide by taking laudanum.

The Chartered Coal Strike On.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 19.—The strike of coal miners in the Charleroi district, ordered by the Knights of Labor, proves to be a fiasco. About 8,000 men quit work on Monday, but today 7,000 of them went back.

CORPORATION NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the Common Council have fixed the fourth day of October, A. D., 1893, at eight o'clock p. m., and the Council Chamber, No. 510 Park avenue, in the City of Plainfield, as the time and place for Frederick MacDonald, William M. Sandford and Edward C. Wilford, as Commissioners appointed by the Common Council pursuant to the ordinance entitled, "An Ordinance to widen Madison avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Front street to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, approved June 5, 1893, to open Madison avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Front street to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, and to widen and lay out Madison avenue as the same shall be of the uniform width of twenty-five feet on each side of the centre line thereof, which centre line is described in said ordinance, and shown on a map on file in the office of the City Clerk, entitled, "Assessment map for the widening of Madison avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Front street, and the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, as shown by said map and said ordinance, to which reference is hereby made for more detailed description.

By order of the Common Council.

F. W. RUNYON, City Clerk.

Plainfield, N. J., October 17, 1893. 10 17 tw

BEFORE BUYING LAMPS

See the new lamp—

The "Miller,"

(Patented 1893.

It has no equal. It is

The Lamp you Want

Every Lamp Warranted.

We make a full line of

Plain and Beautiful Lamps.

Send for circular, or call at

19 and 12 College Place, N. Y.

(Next Block, Chambers St. Elevated R. R. Station, Park Place), and 54 Park Place, Newark, N. J.

EDWARD MILLER & CO. (Since 1849.

Insist on having the "Miller" from your dealer.

The Vanderbilts and Aldens!

Use the same make of imported Table Oil, Chateau Yquem Sauternes that I now have in stock.

THEY ARE DELICIOUS.

And then I personally select the

FRESH FISH!

I have on sale to-day and to-morrow. Call and see my stock.

JULES BOVEY,

60 Somerset Street.

Great Bargains

in all grades of

WALL PAPERS,

for the next 60 days

Marsh, Ayers & Co.

20 EAST FRONT STREET.

Van Eps,

THE NEW JEWELER.

12 Park Avenue. Also a large variety of Musical Goods.

OUT OF THE FRYING PAN

Has come not a little knowledge to the country—what to do, as well as what not to do. Thus we have learned to use the most pure and perfect and popular cooking material for frying and shortening purposes.

COTTOLENE,

PROGRESSIVE COOKING

is the natural outcome of the age, and it teaches us not to use lard, but rather the new shortening, which is far cleaner, and more digestible than any lard can be.

COTTOLENE,

The success of COTTOLENE has called out worthless imitations under similar names. Look out for these! Ask your Grocer for COTTOLENE, and be sure that you get it.

Made only by

N. K. FAIRBANK & CO.,

CHICAGO, and

142 N. Delaware Ave., Phila.

Product Exchange, N. Y.

Beautiful Cook Book, containing 200 choice recipes, mailed to any address on receipt of 2 two-cent postage stamps, prepared by a practical cook. Send your address on postal.

COTTOLENE COTTOLENE COTTOLENE COTTOLENE

1893 TAXES!

Notice is hereby given to the taxpayers of the

City of Plainfield,

that the taxes assessed in said city for the year 1893 are now due and payable, and that if the said taxes be not paid by the

20th Day of December

next, the names of the defaulters, with their respective taxes, will be returned to the City Judge for the prosecution. The

COMMISSIONERS OF APPEAL,

in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council Chamber, on the

Fourth Tuesday in November Next,

(the 28th,) and sit from two o'clock p. m., until five o'clock p. m., or longer, if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

JOHN JOHNSON,

Collector of Taxes.

Dated, Plainfield, N. J., October 2, 1893.

10 2 1m

Stoves For Winter, Hardware of all Kinds, Everything From Tacks to Furnaces.

A. M. GRIFFEN,

15 East Front Street. Telephone 6.

Boehm's.

$5.00

buys a fine Ladies' Coat, fur edged, made of heavy beaver cloth, with large sleeves, velvet collar and lined throughout. Ladies', Misses' and Children's Coats, Jackets, Fur Capes, etc., in all the latest styles. Also the finest line of Cloths for Ladies' and Children's Coats we are now showing.

25c. An extra price we are showing a line of Corsets, Storm Serge, Dress Flannels, Fancies, Chemiselines, Fancy Stripes, Ginghams, Prints, Percales, Muslins, Sheetings, Pillow Cottons, Table Linens, Towels, Napkins, Doylies, Tray Cloths, Bed Spreads, all shades. The new crepe Spanish Braids, all shades 50c. real value, for 25c. Millinery, Ladies' and Misses' and Children's Caps, Jackets, Fur Capes, etc., in all the latest styles. Also the finest line of Cloths for Ladies' and Children's Coats we are now showing.

VIGOR OF MEN

Easily, Quickly, Permanently Restored.

What Nervous, Debilitated Men and Women should use. Failing manhood, impotency, nervousness, lost power, failing memory, impoverished blood, premature old age, barrenness and all the train of evils from early errors or later excesses. This invigorator has restored hundreds to perfect manhood after all else failed. Have you a nervous weakness or disease? Is your blood impure or poor? Do you want pure blood, a fine complexion and good health? Then use this great remedy. Don't be imposed upon by misrepresentation and fraud. Don't accept substitutes or imitations. Don't delay. Use Vigor of Men and be cured. Don't suffer and die when a written guarantee is given with six bottles to cure or refund the money paid. Don't be deceived by unprincipled druggists who say they have something just as good. They have not. Don't be induced to buy worthless remedies because they cost less money. Vigor of Men is the cheapest because it is the only reliable remedy. Don't be ashamed to ask for it because you fear ridicule. Ridicule is cheap. Don't be afraid to spend the money because you have been deceived by worthless remedies. Vigor of Men is not sold by druggists. Don't ask them for it. Don't be persuaded to take anything else they may offer you. Don't be humbugged. Don't be deceived. Don't be ridiculed. Don't be afraid. Don't be ashamed. Don't be persuaded. Don't be deceived. Don't be humbugged

WOMAN ON THE FARM.

SHE SHOULD BE HER HUSBAND'S PARTNER IN BUSINESS.

Need Work Has Eaten Her Heart Out. While Her Immortal Hope Has Dwindled to Join Great Yearning for Rest—Some of the Things Women on Farms May Do.

The most pathetic sight on earth, not excepting a sick baby, is the knotted, bent back of the woman who has spent the best years of her life as the so called mistress of a farm. There is but one thing that matters to her, and that is her face, large eyed, withered, rigid, dead; she has borne her children, suffered her woman's hope and baptism of pain, and has done the work every day that would have broken down three men. When the farmhand came in from the field, he unwashed sat on the doorstep or with filthy feet on the hearth. She had the dishes to wash, the children to put to bed, and then sat down with the family mending basket.

In the early days she had her ambitions for herself, and her children, and her husband, but hard work and that mortgage on the farm have eaten out her heart, and now, with a sort of hopeless, horror patience, she looks on children grown up to just what she did not wish, while her immortal hope has dwindled to one great yearning for rest. Is there nothing better for the woman of the American farm? No remedy? There is. Let her begin her life not only as the farmer's wife, but as his partner in business.

There are money making interests on a farm which are forever undeveloped unless the woman makes them available. Her first and chief it is necessary, unless the farmer's wife will settle down to be only "the hand" of the employer, which earns a dollar of wages—working for her victuals and clothes—that she shall manage some small producing business and be recognized as a producer. Such a position is impressive to prevent the whole investment of the farm being risked in one sided farming, and that the wife's side, for, however wise his management, it represents only the masculine idea.

There are capabilities in a woman for organizing and utilizing money making opportunities on a farm that would otherwise go to waste. Her main obstacles are that she will not place herself enough, will not thoroughly acquaint herself with business details and will be too timid to assume financial responsibility in the face of the wet blanketing her propositions will get nine times out of ten.

But in every direction women have demonstrated their ability as farm producers. It is a well recognized fact that southern women planters are usually a success and often make plantations "pay" where the husband has succeeded only in increasing the mortgage and dying of discouragement. One instance will suffice.

A planter's wife was left with a Mississippi river plantation under $20,000 mortgage and a family of five children just ready for school and college. The two years' Misses of her husband kept her agreed of the business. After his death, when the commission merchant came up to "close her out," the improved condition of the place and the ability of her plans caused him to say, "I'll advance all the money you want this year." At the end of three years she had sold the mortgage, sent her sons and daughters to college, and her plantation was universally confessed to be the best improved one in the county. Not very long after she married the young man whom she had placed in charge of a store she opened.

God alone can fathom the mysteries of a nature that conceived it needed a partner in such success. It only proves that "nature will caper" in the face of any power of business or tallot, and that the family instincts of women reign "till death do us part," notwithstanding the fears of some timid men.

The dairy scientifically managed affords work for women's hands and brains. One young woman in Scotland became so proficient she was engaged to give a course of dairy instruction in Aberdeenshire, which was deemed so valuable she was permanently retained in that district. Cheese and butter offer a large field. The culture of bees, silkworms, poultry, eggs, beef cattle, sheep and wool, and even horses, has been successfully manipulated by enterprising women. A woman near Los Angeles has made a wondrous success of a rose farm, the product being attar of roses for the market.

Mrs. Henry Barrolllhet, the widow of a San Francisco banker, who gave up his great fortune on the failure of his bank, went resolutely to work to supply the San Francisco market with flowers. She now owns 140 acres of fine land—all in cultivation. Seven acres are in orchard. Five acres are in violets, with an increase of 18 more this autumn. Seven acres are in chrysanthemums, while roses, lilies and other flowers come in for a big share of the acreage. Two thousand eucalptus trees, 2,000 pines and sequoias and other trees are very profitable, the leaves and branches being used as evergreens in decoration.

The best testimonial to the beauty of her flowers and the favor with which they are regarded by San Francisco is the fact that although she sends enormous, 2,000 bunches of violets, 800 to 1,000 Duchesse de Brabant roses, to say nothing of other varieties, are daily shipped during their seasons. Her specialty, however, is in violets, for which she receives $2.50 per dozen bunches. Chrysanthemums bring from 1 to 5 cents apiece, governed by size rather than color or beauty. This flower plantation is described as a perfect Eden, and the proprietress personally attends to every detail of irrigation, cultivation, gathering, packing and shipping. —Harriet H. Keiis in Union Signal.

Promiscuous Handshaking.

A lady never extends her hand to a man whose acquaintance she is making. She may or may not shake hands with a lady who is introduced, but she must not give her hand to a strange man. A low bow is the elegant form of asistation. A cultivated woman will not shake hands with any man, no matter how long she is acquainted with him, unless she respects and admires him. A gentleman never extends his hand to a lady first. To do so would be presumptuous and subject him to a snubbing. A man shows his breeding the way he eats his dinner, a woman shows it the same way she receives people.—New York World.

Money Taken, Votes Stifled.

A woman may vote as a stockholder upon a railroad from one end of the country to the other, but if she sells her stock and buys a house with the money she has no vote in the laying out of the road before her door, which her house is taxed to keep and pay for.

Asbestos Holders.

Little holders for handling hot irons and pokers or dishes of cooking foods are made of asbestus. New York dealers in kitchen furniture sell them at 5 cents and sell thousands of them.

"It's an ill wind that blows nobody any good!"

The "financial stringency" has forced manufacturers and importers to dispose of their stocks at a great sacrifice. The middle-men were the "ready cash" in hand to buy, and are enabled to make such advantageous purchases as to supply his customers with new desirable goods at greatly reduced prices.

THIS IS A SAMPLE.

New Fider down Pillows	Regular price, 50c.	Now 35c.
Portable Cots	" " 50c.	" 39c.
Colombia Linen Towels, extra size	" " 25c.	" 20c.
Preventive Spats 8IN. 21 inches wide	" " 95c.	" 75c.
Changeable Bengaline Silks	" " 95c.	" 75c.
Changeable Bengaline Silks	" " 85c.	" 69c.
Gents' natural, all wool Shirts and Drawers,	" " $1.00	" 75c.
White Angora Trimming	" " 75c.	" 60c.
Ladies' all Linen, hemstitched Handkerchiefs,	" " 85c.	" 70c.
Furniture Covering	" " $1.25	" 75c.
Best Mosquito Carpets	" " $1.35	" 90c.

Our new Fall Muslin Underwear is all made with "lock stitch," extra full and long We can give better values in these goods than ever before.

Our entire establishment has never before been filled with such large and desirable lines of goods as now, and the prices never so low. You will have no trouble in getting suited, at the very lowest prices, at

EDSALL'S.

- - FREE - -

Handsomely decorated Japanese Lamp Shade with every one dollar purchase, to continue during the month of October. Remember we sell for cash and can save you 25 per cent., and we invite some very pretty ones left.

We are personally in the New York market every week and buy for cash, and can duplicate any bill bought by our competition. Lamps are about one-half what they were last year, and our line bigger than ever. See our $1.50 full decorated, and our $2.25 center draft Lamps, and our $3.00 Banquet Lamp, with globe and shade complete, all clear for cash. Buy crockery in New York, as low as we can sell it. In Toys, Dolls, Games, Soaps, &c., the is no better display in the city than ours. In Tinware, Brooms and Woodenware we are headquarters. Ask to see our 10 cent Scrub Brush, Whisk Brooms, Dusters and Feather Dusters. We have Glassware, and a host of staple articles on 5 and 10c. counters.

Our display of fancy China Cups and Saucers will surprise you, prices 10 cents to $2.50 each. If you have never used Royal Yeast Cakes, you have missed a good thing. Send to one New York house in five days—just try it, and you will be delighted with the result. You are not afraid to risk 25 cents for a good thing. Send for a sample package of "Royal" Cakes. Also for sample of the Standard Sewing Machine. This machine is a beauty, and its work wonderful. We sell the "standard."

J. C. Allen, 28 West Front St., Plainfield, N. J

Now is Your Chance.

GRAND CLOTHING OPENING, at our retail store, 318 West Front street. Are you ready? We are prepared to offer the public a clean, fresh stock of Fall and Winter Clothing, for Men, Boys and Children. Remember, we sell at retail at the wholesale prices.

C. SCHEPFLIN & CO,

318 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

"Tired from Head to Foot"

FROM HEAD TO FOOT.

That's what's the matter with the most of us. Weak? Of course! Poor circulation of the blood. The remedy is Hood's Sarsaparilla. We have known severe cases of so called rheumatism, in fact, suffering from almost every disease, to be entirely relieved by this wonderful medicine. Its peculiar combination, its familiar to physicians, gives it power to cure when all else fails. Get Hood's Sarsaparilla today. One dose will benefit. Don't delay. Get it today. Don't be induced to buy any substitute. Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by all druggists. Price $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar

A GOOD WIFE

is a great blessing, and a good husband will look after her comfort. He can absorb an insurance for future comfort by buying a lot which is pretty nearly, the prices are so low. The lot is situated in a beautiful and healthy neighborhood, convenience for erecting stores, schools and churches handy. Here is the grand opportunity to invest in a splendid

GIVEN AWAY

WITH EVERY

BUILDING LOT.

For particulars, address

"OWNER,"

care of EVENING NEWS.

Horses and Carriages,

of all kinds, for hire, at

O'BRIEN'S,

318 WEST FOURTH STREET,

near the Depot.

Joseph T. Vail,

REAL ESTATE

and

INSURANCE.

OFFICE IN BLUE STONE BUILDING

on North Avenue.

The Fall and Winter Styles in Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing are now in Stock. Overcoats of all Weights. Trousers Made to Order from $4 to $8. Suits from $15 to $30. Hats and General Furnishings. WERNER'S MAMMOTH CLOTHING HOUSE, 206 West Front Street.

R. W. Rice & Co.,

THE PARK GROCERS.

Corner Duer and Emily Streets.

NORTH PLAINFIELD.

Bottle.

CENTRAL HOTEL,

No. 11 E. Front St.,

PLAINFIELD.

Windham & Crowley,

PROPRIETORS.

First-class bar attached.

Fourth Ward Hotel.

JOHN GOFF, Proprietor.

Boarders accommodated, both transient and permanent.

LARGE ROOMS

and

ALL MODERN IMPROVEMENTS.

Fine Wines, Liquors

and CIGARS.

Corner Third and Liberty Streets.

Hotel Grenada,

NORTH AVENUE,

is now open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the travelling public.

City Hotel,

Corner

PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.

Transient guests accommodated.

Eugene Hoerster,

206 Grove Street,

North Plainfield.

Wholesale Dealer

in

FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.

Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

CAREY'S

Storage Warerooms,

Corner

Front and Grove Streets,

Plainfield, N. J.

FOR FALL TRADE.

THE LEADER

has received a large variety of Infants' Cloaks, Coats, Slips, Robes, Flannel and Worsted Sacks, Hoods, Flannel Skirts, all of the latest styles. Also new styles of Ladies' Wrappers, Underwear and a large variety of Comforables, at very low prices. Make no mistake, this is the new store.

THE LEADER! M. GOLDMANN, Prop.

222 and 240 WEST FRONT STREET. (Old No. 82.)

A Household Necessity.

No household should be without a tightly corked bottle of boric acid in powder and absorbent cotton. When a cut, wound, scratch or sore of any kind is to be dressed at once, put some cold boiled water into a cup and add boric acid until the water will dissolve no more, and a thick layer remains undissolved in the bottom. Wash first your own hands in hot water and castile soap, and then the wound, after which sponge it off with a wad of cotton dipped in the solution and keep it up in clean linen wet with it. This will allay the pain and throbbing, and unless it is very severe will heal it in 24 hours.—Exchange.

Flowers For the Invalid.

When choosing flowers to send to an invalid, select those that have a very delicate perfume, and that are as inoffensive of life and health as possible. White flowers, although most beautiful, lend neither color nor brightness to the sick room, and to a mind weakened by sickness are apt to be suggestive of death, while those of a bright crimson or a deep yellow will almost always please and gratify the convalescent. When ordering the flowers, ask your florist to send long stemmed ones; they arrange so much more prettily than those that are cut with short stems.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Dust Settlers.

With a little care the dirtiest carpet can be swept without raising much dust by placing outside the door of the room to be swept a pail of clear, cold water. Wet your broom, hold it against the side of the basket, to get out all the drops, sweep a couple of yards and rinse off the broom again. Continue this until you have gone over the entire floor, and then to every much soiled, the water should be changed several times. Slightly moistened Indian meal is also used for the same purpose. Snow, if not allowed to melt, is also excellent as a dust settler.—Exchange.

Pretty Virginia Fair.

Miss Virginia Fair, who is interesting to the public because of the fact that she will some time be one of the richest women in America, is a 19-year-old girl, short, plump, dark, vivacious and pretty. She is a pious Roman Catholic, and it is said that a few years ago she was anxious to join one of the sisterhoods of that church. By the death of her mother she became heiress to $1,000,000, to pass into her control when she is 25, and a monthly income of $2,500. Her father is one of the western multimillionaires, and she will probably inherit largely from him also.—Exchange.

Serving Fish.

Never, under any circumstances or condition, should a knife be used in serving or eating fish. If a regular fish knife cannot be afforded, the hostess can serve the mackerel, bass, halibut, etc., with a fork and a spoon. The guest will eat it with a fork and if need be borrow assistance from a crust or a clam biscuit. Some persons make the mistake of trying to cut through the backbone, whereas the skin should be cut and turned aside and three or four portions of the delicate meat removed. When the spinal column is revealed, it can be taken up and the under half of the fish served. It is customary in refined families to save the tail and head for the cat.—Exchange.

Better Than Spoiling.

A great many suppose that ladies' cloth should be sponged before using in order to prevent it spotting by water when made up.

A young man who handles cloths in a large dry goods house down here tells me that it is by no means necessary.

If the material is hung out in the place for eight or ten hours, the air will be better for it than sponging, particularly if care is used the first few times the garment is worn.

Some of the large houses will have the goods prepared and cold pressed for customers. Almost any process is better than sponging, as that takes away all the freshness.—New York Recorder.

Disadvantages of Being a Woman.

A woman must be at home to beau, while her brother has the glorious right to avoid dull women. She must wait for a partner in the dance, while her brother may seek one. She must smile on old Stumblower and accept his proffered hand for the dance, although she knows that bruised ankles will be the penalty. A woman equally bored, old and unpopular has the right to put herself in bold relief against the wall as a part of its human dado. Why should not Stumblower take his place beside her? Also, as a little courtesy to fashion, must our daughter watch and wait the coming of her lord and master?—Washington Post.

John Oliver Hobbs.

Here from Mrs. Landon Green is a portrait of John Oliver Hobbs, otherwise Mrs. Craigie, the author of "Some Emotions and a Moral," "The Sinner's Comedy" and "A Study in Temptation," who is by birth an American. She is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Morgan Richards of Boston, who have lived in England for the past 15 years.

Mrs. Craigie is a slender woman of medium height; she has dark, speaking eyes, and her dark hair is drawn absolutely away from a wide, low forehead. She is a clever talker, and while of a strong and ambitious character she is unselfish and kindly.

Wearing Ribbons.

A girl who was dressing for a party the other night was in a quandary about her hair ribbon. She had a new dress of white organdie, and wanted to wear it with the pretty pink ribbon that had been in her hair the last time she wore it. But the ribbon was soiled and crumpled, and she had no time to have it cleaned or pressed. Her mother suggested that she wear a white ribbon, but the girl objected that white ribbon was "common." Then the mother suggested that she wear a black ribbon, but the girl objected that black ribbon was "old fashioned." Then the mother suggested that she wear a blue ribbon, but the girl objected that blue ribbon was "too dressy." Then the mother suggested that she wear a red ribbon, but the girl objected that red ribbon was "too conspicuous." Then the mother suggested that she wear a green ribbon, but the girl objected that green ribbon was "too unbecoming." Then the mother suggested that she wear a yellow ribbon, but the girl objected that yellow ribbon was "too loud." Then the mother suggested that she wear a purple ribbon, but the girl objected that purple ribbon was "too old." Then the mother suggested that she wear a brown ribbon, but the girl objected that brown ribbon was "too plain." Then the mother suggested that she wear a gray ribbon, but the girl objected that gray ribbon was "too dull." Then the mother suggested that she wear a white ribbon, but the girl objected that white ribbon was "too common." Then the mother suggested that she wear a black ribbon, but the girl objected that black ribbon was "too

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$6 per Year in Advance. E. W. Sherman, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 21 Somerset street. Printing of All Kinds. 15 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST." FRIDAY, OCTOBER 20, 1893. PRICE TWO CENTS.

MRS. POUND IS INSANE.

THAT IS THE VERDICT OF THE SHERIFF'S JURY.

Commissioners George W. Endicott, M. D., Craig A. Marsh and Elias R. Pope Take Testimony in a Lunacy Case This Morning.

Messrs. George W. Endicott, M.D., Elias R. Pope and Craig A. Marsh were recently appointed as commissioners by Chancellor McGill to enquire into the alleged lunacy of Mrs. Josephine L. Pound, widow of the late George E. Pound, of this city.

The above commissioners met this morning in the Council chamber, on Park avenue, and took testimony in the matter. Among the witness were Dr. Ward of the Asylum and a sister of Mrs. Pound.

The matter was tried before a Sheriff's jury summoned by Deputy Sheriff Moffett, and composed of Vincent W. Nash, Foreman; William C. Ayres, Joel Randolph, William M. Sandford, William Addis, John Neighbor, Col. Moore, C. H. Lyman, W. R. Mattox, W. H. Clum, Randolph Dunham, Fred H. Martin.

The jury brought in a verdict as follows: "We find that Mrs. Josephine L. Pound is insane and incapable of managing her estate."

BREVITIES.

—Mr. Harry G. Adams will lead the Y. P. S. C. E. meeting at the First Baptist Church to night.

—Justice Nash has issued summons in the landlord and tenant case of Martin vs. Hadden, returnable 26th.

—The Y. P. S. C. E. of the Park avenue Baptist church will hold a meeting under the auspices of the Missionary Committee, this evening at eight o'clock. All are welcome.

—"The Leader" advertises to-day "a great slaughter in prices of ladies' wrappers." Mr. Goldmann, the proprietor, is a leading New Yorker, and is bound to get his share of Plainfield trade.

—Franklin Council No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., entertained a number of visitors from Newark last night. Several took the Oriental Degree and Messrs. Fuller and H. Fairchild were initiated into the order. At the conclusion of business, a collation was enjoyed.

—We are not going to have this kind of weather all Winter. There will come a time and very soon when that fellow, Jack Frost, will be around and then you will wish for some of the good bargains that White is offering in hosiery, underwear, etc., at his busy store.

—The delegates from here who will attend the twenty fifth annual session of the State Council, Jr., O. U. A. M., to be held in Masonic Temple, Trenton, Thursday, October 26th, are: H. G. Adams and H. S. Donovan, of Franklin Council, No. 41; J. D. Anderson and O. T. Dunham, of Somerset, No. 104, North Plainfield.

—White says he is selling ladies' fine beaver over-gaiters at 25c a pair. All you have to do is to buy a pair of shoes of any kind you may prefer if they cost $1.25 or more, and you get over-gaiters for 25 cents. They are worth 75 cents everywhere. He urges our readers not to miss this chance. This sale runs until Saturday, October 28.

—A beginners and an advanced class in book-keeping will be organized at the Y. M. C. A. rooms next Monday evening. The former class will be taught by Mr. G. J. Briggs who teaches this branch at Mr. Leal's school, and the latter class will be taught by Mr. G. G. Parker, who has so acceptably taught large classes in book keeping at the Association rooms for the past three years. A two-dollar membership is the only expense. The Y. M. C. A. staging class will hold its first session at the Y. M. C. A. rooms this evening. Mr. E. A. Embury of Washington avenue, who has been secured to teach this class, was formerly a pupil of Dr. Mosher of Trinity Church, and is a teacher of over twelve years' experience in the training of male voices. Young men interested should apply at the Association rooms to-night.

Burning Shavings Cause an Alarm of Fire

Just before six o'clock last night an alarm of fire was sounded in the borough. Mr. Charles Lyman is having a new house erected on Mercer avenue. During the day the workmen had been burning shavings in the fireplace. After they had left the building the smoulder-ing shavings flared up and gave the impression that the house was on fire.

Mrs. Lyman, seeing a messenger to the engine house to give the alarm. The Fire Company responded promptly but was not needed, as the flames were subdued with a pail of water.

Plainfield Ministers There.

At the New Jersey Synod of the Presbyterian churches, at Bridgeton, Wednesday and Thursday, the Rev. Dr. Richards, the Rev. Mr. Herring, Dr. Ketcham and the Rev. W. E. Honeyman were present from Plainfield. Mr. Honeyman read the report of the Committee on Temperance and Dr. Ketcham read the meeting at Jersey City.

Union County Republican Convention.

The Republican County Convention will be held in Library Hall, Elizabeth, N. J., on MONDAY, OCTOBER 23, 1893,

at 2 o'clock P. M., for the purpose of nominating candidates for County Sheriff and Coroners.

REPUBLICAN PRIMARIES

DELEGATES ELECTED TO ATTEND TWO CONVENTIONS.

Resolutions Adopted Instructing the Delegates to Vote Only for Men who are Opposed to Race Track Gambling. Those Elected.

URSUANT to call the Republicans of Plainfield held their Ward Primaries last night for the election of delegates to the Third Assembly District Convention to be held at Asure Hall, Rooseltown Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, and to also elect delegates to attend the Union County Convention to be held at Elizabeth next Monday. The result in the different Wards was as follows:

FIRST WARD.

The First Ward Primary met in Republican Association rooms, on East Front street, at eight o'clock. The meeting was called to order by Mr. J. Fred. MacDonald.

Chairman—Joseph S. Coward.
Secretary—Richard E. Cortell.
Tellers—E. Anthony and George W. Moore.

DELEGATES TO THE ASSEMBLY CONVENTION.

Amos Andrews,	William Addis,
Nelson Runyon,	Robert A. Meeker,
George A. Hallock,	William A. Woodruff,
	Clarence E. Bond.

On motion the above gentlemen were delegated to attend the County Convention also.

The following resolution, offered by the Rev. Cornelius Schenck, was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this primary that the delegates elected to attend the Convention support only such men as are opposed to race track gambling.

Messrs. George W. Moore and Joseph B. Coward were elected members of the executive committee.

SECOND WARD.

The Second Ward primary met in the Bryant school building, on East Sixth street. The meeting was called to order by ex-City Judge John Ulrich.

Chairman—George H. Goddard.
Secretary and Inspector—John H. Deane.
Judge—Arthur Bayuon.

DELEGATES TO ASSEMBLY CONVENTION.

Y. W. Nash,	G. D. Patton,
W. H. Codington,	C. B. Corwin,
C. A. Baynon,	C. B. Gray,
	J. V. A. Crulkshead.

DELEGATES TO COUNTY CONVENTION.

John Ulrich,	H. C. Squires,
H. B. Newhall,	L. N. Lovell,
G. D. Morrison,	J. P. Lairs,
	W. Messerschmitt.

THIRD WARD.

Mayor Alexander Gilbert presided at the Third Ward Primary, which was held in the Casino. Mr. O. B. Leonard was chosen secretary and the following delegates were elected:

DELEGATES TO ASSEMBLY CONVENTION.

Frank E. Mabon,	F. H. Andrews,
Mason W. Tyler,	W. T. Kirk,
Harry Runyon,	F. H. Bushnell.

DELEGATES TO COUNTY CONVENTION.

John W. Murray,	C. J. Fisk,
Alexander Gilbert,	E. R. Pope,
E. R. Ackerman,	D. E. Titsworth.

FOURTH WARD.

The Fourth Ward Republicans held their primary in Hulett's hall, on West Front street. The meeting was called to order by Councilman Weber.

There were no delegates in the field for delegates to the Assembly Convention.

Chairman—Rev. B. W. Hand.
Secretary—J. B. Martin.
Inspectors—J. Smith Garretson and W. Anderson.
Judge—L. W. Sorrell.

The tickets were as follows:

TICKET NO. ONE.

Amos F. Gray,	Chester Rote,
Edward F. Maynard,	Lewis De Camp,
James A. Martin,	George Demess,
B. P. Hansen,	J. E. Higgins.
	John Dixon.

TICKET NO. TWO.

J. Martin,	G. Foster,
W. McGee,	L. De Camp.
B. Martin,	Edw. Maynard.
B. F. Millington,	A. P. Gray.
	H. W. Force.

TICKET NO. THREE.

W. Connett,	B. Martin,
R. B. York,	C. Hastes,
C. Burns,	W. Fisher,
W. Newsom,	E. Schetzner.
	John Dixon.

After a ballot the following were declared elected:

Amos F. Gray,	Chester Rote,
Edw'd E. Maynard,	Lewis DeCamp,
Jas. A. Martin,	Geo. De Mess.
B. P. Hansen,	J. E. Higgins.
	John Dixon.

The above delegates were declared elected by acclamation to attend the county convention.

Councilman Weber offered a resolution, which was adopted to the effect that the delegates go to the conventions instructed to vote for a man opposed to race tracks.

Councilman Weber and Mr. Abram Angleman were elected members of the executive committee.

—Last Day (Saturday) New York Herald's great offer. Enlit's book store. 20-2*

HE WILL DO IT AGAIN.

EX-SENATOR THOMPSON HAS TWICE LED HIS PARTY TO VICTORY.

He was Regarded as one of the Most Painstaking Members of the State Senate—Who the Other Candidates are. Their Platform.

In speaking of the Republican candidates in Somerset county the Unionist Gazette says:

About 10 o'clock on Tuesday of last week it was noised around that Col. Thompson was the candidate for Senator. Only at the race track question, and as to whether they are too much interested in the welfare of the horses and not enough in that of the boys. Every citizen of Somerset county, irrespective of party, is interested in the question of the right kind of men to represent the people in the Senate and Assembly, and we feel confident that the people of Somerset county will not be misled by the race track question. Mr. Thompson has been tried and not found wanting. He has been tried as a Senator, as a Freeholder, and now in Somerville. His record in the Senate was clean and honorable, and he was kind that was his friends. He carried these methods into the Senate with him, and his record there is a matter of history. He was one of the leaders of the Senate, but never a boss. He was a conservative, safe and level-headed man, and his influence was always for the best interests of the people of the State. He was a man of his word, and his promise was as good as his bond. He was a man of strong convictions, and will not oppose bad laws in a half hearted way.

Dr. Fred C. Jones is a man worthy of Republican support.

The following was unanimously adopted by the Republicans at Somerville last Tuesday:

Republican Party of Somerset County in Council.

Non Assembled do Declare:

That they condemn the Democratic majority in the Legislature last Winter for its contemptuous disregard of the wishes of the people of Somerset county in legislating a most pernicious race track gambling measure, in spite of the earnest efforts to undo this evil by defeating the passage of this obnoxious bill over the Governor's veto; and for the additional repeal of those laws, which are a shame to our commonwealth.

That they disapprove of the methods of the Democratic majority of the Legislature by which they have sought to conceal from the people the measures that were submitted to the public, and thereby have created a distrust of their motives, which has caused a doubt what they formerly were with a Republican majority.

That they condemn the dishonorable course of action in Democratic members of the State Legislature, who, in violation of the pledges given by the Democratic Legislative Caucus, voted for the passage of the bill for having a tendency to obstruct majority rule.

Realizing that many of our citizens, regardless of party, have been misled by the false claims set forth in measures in State government, we call upon them to assist us in the effort to drive the evil from the control of bad men, and lift it to the high level of a Democratic government.

PERSONAL.

The Misses Anthony and Mrs. Tosell of Crescent avenue have returned from the World's Fair.

Mrs. Ignatz Brehm, wife of the Front street *dry goods man of that name, yes*terday gave birth to a girl baby—their first. The couple were married some six years ago.

Cards have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. James H. Force of Bound Brook for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Minnie Louise, to Mr. William F. Williams of this city. The ceremony will take place Tuesday, Oct. 31st, at four o'clock.

At 10.30 a. m., to-morrow Dr. Lewis will discuss the religions of Chuna-Confucianism and Taoism. Those who are interested in the religious history, or in the future of Christian Missions in China will be welcomed, at the Seventh Day Baptist church.

In response to request by a number of friends, Rev. Dr. Barnes will begin to teach a class of adults in the Methodist Sunday school. His plan is to give a short lecture every Sunday on Bible history, manners and customs, etc. It is an idea which proved very successful with him elsewhere.

"Inspiration" is the name Mr. Emerson, formerly of Brooklyn, has given what has hitherto been known as the stone house on the mountain. Those purchasing the property he has greatly beautified it, and says it is to him and his wife the ideal place to spend the autumn of life. He says he has used up not existence—before they prostrated upon it undertake the everlasting journey into eternity. When Mr. Emerson first went to his mountain home a few months ago he could exercise about his grounds but a few moments at a time. Now he can ramble vigorously hours at a time and enjoy it, and attributes the change to the invigorating mountain air.

North Dove Encampment.

Rush Dove Encampment of the Odd Fellows held a meeting last night. Five candidates received the Royal Purple Degree. There were 25 visitors present from Newark. Speeches were made by Grand Patriarch Dalrymple and Supreme Grand Representative J. Burns Smith. At the conclusion of the meeting they repaired to the banqueting room where a feast was spread.

Fanwood Delegates.

Last night the Republicans of Fanwood held their primary to elect Assembly and County Convention delegates. The delegates for the County Convention are John Robinson, Dr. F. W. Wescott, Wm. Terry, L. W. Miller; Assembly Convention: C. K. Moore, E. L. Hand, W. C. Strong, S. D. Darke.

A resolution was offered by the Hon. George Kyte, which was adopted, that the delegates should go to the convention unpledged.

The Weather.

The weather to-morrow promises to be cloudy with rain, no decided temperature changes, followed probably by clearing.

MR. COKEFAIR REMARKS

ABOUT THE AFFAIRS OF THE STANDARD COAL AND TIMBER COMPANY.

In Reply to Reflections on Him in the New York "World"—He is Not Aware of any Defects in the Title to the Lands of the Company.

PLAINFIELD, Oct. 19, 1893.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS:—Certain sensational articles having appeared recently in the New York World as to forfeited to the local papers attaching the title to lands of the Standard Coal and Timber Company of West Virginia, in which I am interested, and as Sunday upon the officers of that company, I beg to submit the following statement prepared by the company for publication:

New York, October 19, 1893.

Regarding the statements made in the issue of the Sunday World of this city in relation to the title of the Standard Coal and Timber Company of West Virginia, we are very cautious and carefully examined every paper relating to the title before we purchased, and our attorneys would simply in that State. One of the counsel of the company is Hon. Stephen B. Elkins, ex-Senator from West Virginia, and Secretary of War under President Harrison, and certified to by every official of any prominence in the State. The title is perfect, and we are not aware of any defect in our title. We have been able to verify, but shall be glad to have any one point out any defect in our title, and it will be our duty and pleasure to correct the same. The directors of the company are all men of high standing in the community, have invested largely in the company's property, and have the confidence of the public generally, and by them individually. Besides the above, the Union Trust Company of New York, the largest trust company in the State of Ohio and other papers relating to the title. The Union Trust Company of New York, which has examined favorably in the same and passed upon the title, and if any defects should exist in the title, the greatest losses would fall upon the Union Trust Company. The Standard Coal and Timber Company, who have invested their money in the property in all good faith.

STANDARD COAL AND TIMBER CO.
By CHARLES H. SWIFT, President.

It has been stated that Mr. Chas. Hyde holds some of the company's bonds as collaterals. Before accepting the same the title papers were submitted to Mr. Hyde's own attorneys, Messrs. Simpson, Thatcher & Brown, 10 Wall street, New York, and approved by them. The title has also been examined and approved by several other well known law firms in the interest of various bondholders.

Respectfully,
C. C. COKEFAIR

HE MAKES NO PLEDGES.

Mr. Martine Refuses to Commit Himself on Race Tracks.

As stated in second edition of THE NEWS yesterday the Union County Democratic convention was held in Library Hall, on Broad street, Elizabeth, yesterday afternoon. Before the meeting was called to order there was great deal of talk about the race track issues, and from the words of many of the delegates it was plainly evident that they were not active members of the Citizens League, though there were some present who believed it would be wise for the convention to adopt some platform to pledge the nominee on the side of morality.

Thomas B. Budd, chairman of the county committee, called the convention to order at 3.25 p. m.

Editor Thomas Lane of Summit was elected chairman and William J. McCloud, Thomas F. Sheridan and Vincent L. Frazee were elected secretaries.

After the roll call, a committee on credentials was selected as follows: Lewis F. Wadsworth of Plainfield, John W. Hughes of Summit and Daniel J. McCarty of Elizabeth.

The following committee on resolutions was appointed: John T. Brady of Elizabeth; William Roberts, of Elizabeth; Thomas Rooney, of Summit; Wm. Reynolds, of Elizabeth; M. C. Grandbeckler, and R. Shirley of Springfield.

The vice presidents were next appointed as follows: Peter Reilly, J. O. Hunt, James D. Mattison, John Rafferty, Peter L. Hughes, E. B. Kiely, H. M. Ackerson and James Oakes.

A recess of ten minutes was then taken. The convention re-opened at 3.50 o'clock.

The call for nomination for Senator was then taken; Elizabeth was unanimous in nominating James E. Martine of Plainfield and the township followed in order.

Mr. James B. Bauer of Elizabeth was nominated for sheriff on the first ballot.

Mr. Edward B. Kelly of Summit was nominated for coroner.

Mr. Martine thanked the convention for its nomination.

Mr. Martine, in his address, said he would not make any pledges.

Ministers as the Primaries.

That the ministers of Plainfield realize that the prosperance to fight race tracks is at the primaries was evidenced last night. The Rev. Dr. Richards and the Rev. Cornelius Schenck attended the First ward primary, and the Rev. B. W. Hand was elected chairman of the Fourth ward primary.

Mr. Smith's Club Won.

Mr. Henry Pound of this city has received word from Mr. Charles Smith, who is at present on a shooting exhibition, that the Rolling Springs Club defeated the Newburgh Club—139 to 136. Mr. Smith broke 24 clay pigeons out of 25.

A Fish Tea.

The Ladies' Christian Work Society of the Trinity Reformed church held a pink tea at the home of Councilman Elias E. Bird, on Elm place. A very enjoyable evening was spent.

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE.

WORLD'S FAIR TRAINS COLLIDE.

Twenty Five Reported Killed.—Eastern Passengers Burned to Death at Michael, Michigan.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Oct. 20.—The worst accident this year occurred about 4 o'clock this morning in the yards of the Chicago & Grand Trunk Railroad close by the round-house in this city by which at least twenty five persons lost their lives, and double as many more were badly injured.

A Raymond and Whitcomb special train of passengers, from New York and Boston, were returning from Chicago. The train was in charge of Conductor Scott of this city and Engineer Woolley and took orders at this station to meet at Nichols No. 9, the Pacific express going West, due at this station at 1.55 o'clock this morning, but which was three hours late.

The conductor or engineer, or both, of the Raymond special disobeyed orders and passed Nichols station and collided with the Pacific express coming west at the rate of about thirty miles an hour.

The two engines were driven into each other, and totally wrecked. The one on the express was No. 128, a new Cook engine in use only two weeks.

The engineers and firemen, when they saw that a collision was inevitable, shut off steam, reversed engines, put on breaks, and all jumped without serious injury.

The engineer of the Pacific express was named Gilcranshaw, and the conductor Busko. The conductor was badly hurt by being caught in the car.

When the collision took] place the second and third day coaches on No. 9, the train going west, were completely telescoped.

It was in these cars that the sacrifice of life took place. The second coach out through the third coach like a knife.

Twenty five bodies were taken out by the firemen.

Over forty were injured.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 20.—The Grand Trunk officers of this city said that they had advices that four passengers were killed and twelve injured, and that two coaches were burned. The trains were No. 6 express coming East and No. 9 express going West, both crowded with persons returning from and going to the World's Fair.

All those killed and injured, the company said, were from East of Niagara Falls—about evenly divided between New York State and Pennsylvania.

Sold Another Man's Cows.

Yesterday John Parcell of Bound Brook bought two cows of a man at Evona, for $65. Mr. Parcell paid for them and drove them home. Last night Mr. Emery of Evona went to Mr. Parcell at Bound Brook and claimed the cows as his. It seems that a stranger sold the cows while they were in the lot. Mr. Parcell is $60 out by the transaction.

Mons Had Luck for Poor Kitner.

The wife of Farmer Jacob Kitner, of Washington Valley, (father of the thirteen-year-old girl who was abducted recently), fell down stairs this afternoon and was pierced in the stomach by a sharp stick. She is a cripple. A doctor has been summoned to go to prison.

Plainfield Loses Eleven Stockings.

Plainfield Loyal Union of the Y. P. S. C. E. held a meeting at New Market last night. Addresses were made and reports heard from the different societies. Representatives were present from all the local societies.

Mr. Martin $4,500 the Loser.

Manager E. H. Wyckoff of Mr. Frank L. C. Martin's store in New Brunswick has disappeared, and Mr. Martin upon investigation says he finds that he has been defrauded out of about $4,500. Wyckoff's method, Mr. Martin says, was to sell a wheel for cash and then enter it upon the books as sold on the installment plan.

Common Oatmeal

Is little better than starch, which means indigestion, rough skin, and baldness.

Try H-O Hornby's Oatmeal

The starches are by a peculiar application of steam converted into sugar. It is the one digestible oatmeal.

NUPTIALS.

White—Beardsley.

[From New Brunswick Home News.]

HERE is nothing more cheerful and any home-wedding, in the country, than one at which one takes place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Beardsley, Millstone, last evening.

The contracting parties are both popular one, and their daughter, Miss Ella F. Beardsley, and the man of her choice was George F. White, of Plainfield, who is connected with the Mutual Life Insurance Co., in New York.

In the presence of a large company they stood together under a huge horse-shoe of smilax and lilies of the valley, and there the Rev. Theodore Shaffer, of Plainfield, tied the baptist knot, assisted by Rev. Dr. Vorhees, of Rahway. The bride, looking lovely in a becoming costume of pearl-satin with duchesse lace and pearl ornaments, and without a veil, was unattended. There was no groomsman. The ushers were Frank Beardsley, brother of the bride, Plainfield; David Lenox and Mr. Sewell, Plainfield; George Lenox, Plainfield. Miss Lenox played the wedding march, and afterwards the music for the dancing.

The presents which followed was a lively affair, and after everyone had congratulated the couple the latter left via Bound Brook for the World's Fair. They will live in Plainfield on their return. The presents, it need hardly be added, were numerous and many and costly. Among those present were the following:

From Millstone—K. Wilson, I. N. N. Stoothoff and son with their wives, Dr. and Mrs. Van Nuys, Miss Maggie Taylor, Miss Stults, A. Bennet, George Pearl, E. and G. Barnslow, William Staats and wife, C. Lemale, Mrs. Van Nuis and son, Mr. Gerrebrandse and wife, Jacob Van Doren and wife.

The following were those present from Plainfield—Rev. Mr. Vorhees, Mr. White, wife and daughters, Misses. McLaughlin, Worrell and Lenox.

ROSEWELLS DOWN THE PARKS.

Two Games Won by One of the Strongest Teams in New Jersey.

The Rosewells called on the Park Club last night and helped themselves to all they had to offer in the shape of two games, in which the Parks did not do themselves credit, as will be seen below:

Swanson,	169	192	Hinrichs,	192	169
Wood,	169	167	Sandford,	169	179
Thompson,	169	169	Mathews,	169	161
Van Ness,	167	156	Tiers	167	166
Warner,	178	174	Worth,	156	159
Totals	905	907	Totals	797	793

The Actingtons' Record.

The Actington's of this city have just closed a very successful season, winning 14 out of 17 games played only; the Gorhams defeating them. Following are the games won and lost and the score of each:

April 6.	Actingtons 13,	Gorhams	14.
" 20.	" 20.	"	21.
" 22.	" 12.	"	9.
May 4.	" 10.	Lewis	2.
" 13.	" 14.	Dunellen	3.
" 18.	" 14.	Orchard Mines	4.
" 27.	" 9.	Park Club	5.
June 3.	" 20.	Scotch Plains	11.
" 10.	" 24.	Scotch Plains	7.
July 1.	" 0.	Gorhams	8.
" 8.	" 11.	Gorhams	10.
Aug. 5.	" 4.	Gorhams	6.
" 9.	" 8.	Gorhams	7.
" 14.	" 13.	Picked Nine	10.
" 26.	" 13.	"	12.
" 30.	" 9.	Manchester	8.
Sept. 4.	" 14.	Gorhams	6.

Following are the players who have played in five or more games, and their positions: G. Bostorfie, p. s. o.; W. Keno, s. s.; O. Smith, 2d b.; C. Sutphen, c. s. p.; T. Smith, 1st base; O. Dodge, r. f.; d. Jiles, c. M. Sutphen, 1st b.; W. Schneider, l. f.; S. Carney, c. s.; C. P. Sutphen, c. f., C. Manning, l. f., W. Thorn, r. f.

Runs scored by Actingtons, 228. Runs scored by opponents, 183.

Hits made by Actingtons, 153. Hits made by opponents, 128.

- A SAMPLE -

OF SOME OF OUR SPECIALS.

New Elder down Plumets,	Regular price,	50c.	Now 39c.
Novelty, all wool Dress Goods	" "	50c. "	35c.
Columbia Linen Towels, extra size	" "	25c. "	19c.
Fleeced Cotton Skirt, 21 inches wide	" "	50c. "	39c.
Changeable Surah Silks	" "	69c. "	75c.
Changeable Taffeta or Silks	" "	1.00. "	65c.
Colored Dress Silk, all wool Novelties and Drapery,	" "	$1.25 "	89c.
White Angora Trimming	" "	65c. "	49c.
White Angora Trimming	" "	50c. "	39c.
Ladies' Large Colored Handkerchiefs	" "	25c. "	19c.
Furniture Covering	" "	$1.25. "	75c.
Best Moquette Carpets	" "	$1.35. "	98c.

Our new Full Muslin Underwear is all made with "lock stitch," extra full and long. We count and believe that for these goods these are better bargains.

Our entire establishment has never before been stocked with such large and desirable lines of goods as now, and the prices never so low. You will have no trouble in getting suited, as the very lowest prices, at

EDSALL'S.

THEY MUST GO!

About 100 pairs of Ladies $2, $1 and $5 Button Boots that we have put on our bargain table and marked down to $1.00 a pair. All small sizes, 2, 2½, 3 and 3½, widths a a e e e. If you have a small foot this is a great chance for you.

Doane & Edsall's.

We Can't Make Weather, But, We Can Make Prices That Will Make "Biz."

DRESS GOODS STOCK IS HEAVY AND MUST BE SOLD.

	PRICE.	VALUE.
46 inch, all wool Mixture,	39c.	50c.
38 inch, " " Serges,	25c.	39c.
38 inch, " "	39c.	50c.
54 inch, " "	50c.	75c.
38 inch, " " Ladies' Cloth,	50c.	75c.
38 inch, " " Serges,	39c.	50c.

CLOTH, full regular, dust black, 40c. 50c.
" " " " 50c. 65c.
" " " " 75c. 90c.
" " " wool Nun's, 50c. 65c.
" " " half Nun's, 39c. 50c.
" " " dust black, 25c. 39c.

LADIES' AND MISSES' JACKETS.—Wish we had space to tell you all about styles and prices but the space interesting to some and not them. We know we can suit you.

HOUSE FURNISHING DEPARTMENT.—Special sale of Granite Iron-ware, for this week only. Don't buy your Tin ware until you see ours.

KITCHEN WARE.—Our stock is complete and Cheapest. We have all kinds, white, mixed wood and marble. Grocer's scales of accurate weight warranted for one year. Ladies wash boards 27c. up—an extra good corrugated for 39c. Ladies, the Norfolk and New Brunswick ribbed-vest, seventy-five per cent. wood both white and natural.—Our price, 75c., value, $1.

	VALUE.	PRICE.
Men's colored Shirts and Drawers,	50c.	39c.
" white " "	50c.	39c.
" " " "	75c.	$1.00.
" white " "	$1.00.	75c.

FINE MILLINERY.—It keeps on every day. Ladies will go to New York to buy their Hats, bring them home and are disappointed with them. Now, if you have such and we re trim them to-suit. Why not come here first? We know we can save you money.

OVERGAITERS—LOOK! For 35c. we fit you with an Overgaiter just as good as you ever bought for 50c., and one for 40c. of good value for less than those sold by the regular dealers at 50c. For 50c. we fit you with a Gaiter that is worth 75c. Overgaiter we will sell you one with any those that you purchase from $1.25 up. A pair of these elegant Overgaiters at 25c.

WHITE, of Plainfield.

A GREAT SLAUGHTER!

Ladies' Wrappers, for one week, at 75 cents.

THE LEADER! M. GOLDMANN, Prop'r.

210 WEST FRONT STREET. (Old No. 21.)

Two doors from Main Hall.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Fall Floriculture.

The individual who brings vases of cut flowers into the house, keeps them till they fade and die and then throws them away is not a lover of flowers at all. Their true lover feels toward them as he would to a favorite horse or dog. To him or her they are living things, to be fed and watered and studied and tended and made the most of. In return they will give back floods of sweetness and light which will be rich reward for his care.

A drive through the country at this time of year will quickly show where the real flower lover lives. In that favored spot there will be activity among the plants nearly less than there was in the springtime. The flower lover will be busy with spade and trowel, potting off the beauties that are to bloom in winter, covering the shrubs and borders that are to stay outdoors, and cleaning up the garden and lawn so that they will not look all winter like an old cabbage bed from which the cabbages have been cut, while the ugly stumps are left sticking forlornly up into the air.

In the favored southern states of the Union winter covering for the glorious roses and pansies is not necessary. But in the middle and northern states in these days the real flower lover will be seen cutting back the luxuriant summer growth of the roses and laying the canes flat upon the ground in a compact mass. Over them he spreads a layer of leaves and litter, holding the cover together with evergreen or other branches piled on top so the leaves cannot blow away. The hardiest of perennial plants make a quicker, more vigorous growth in spring for being thus protected. Border plants should be covered in the same way, except that they need a cover half a foot deep of leaves and litter. It must be weighted down to keep the wind from blowing it away.

On a sunshiny day in October you will see the flower lover digging up the tuberose, gladiolus and dahlia bulbs. He will let them lie in the sun two or three days, till the moisture has dried off them and the rich autumn warmth has entered their hearts, then he will put them away in a cool, dark place to sleep till the sun awakens them into life next spring.

Marriage In Bowie County.

A matrimonial snarl that may have far-reaching consequences has been discovered in Bowie county, Tex. For 10 years past, owing to the too great complaisance of county clerks, illegal marriages licenses have been issued to the number of 1,000, so the story goes. Thus 1,000 couples, who have been jogging along under the matrimonial yoke for years, making the best or worst of it, have suddenly been awakened to the fact that they are really not married at all, but are free to go and try it over again any day they like.

How will they take it? Doubtless those who really enjoy the yoke will have only to go and be wedded over again. Some of the couples thus rudely jostled out of their dream of married bliss belong to the most distinguished and high flying social circle of Texarkana. These would not dare to separate, even though they wanted to, because of what was expected of them by society.

Then, however, we have no social standing to maintain can drop apart with the greatest ease if they are tired of each other. There will be some interesting scenes in cases where one is tired of it and the other is not. There will be considerable furtive study of each other's countenances among couples whose relations have been a little strained, as they say in statecraft, each to find out what the other is going to do about it. Some wandering John who has not been sober in five years may suddenly be converted into a prohibitionist, and some shrewish Mary Ann may in the twinkling of an eye become meek as a lamb because of the Bowie county decision. There are always compensations.

Each of the cities and larger towns in the Union can take care of its own poor this winter, and this should be done systematically. Relief committees can be formed, in all cases of the best and most prosperous citizens, men and women. They should take in hand the matter earnestly and give time to sifting the cases to the bottom. Charity organization should attend to the matter of providing for the vagrants, who come to us. If it can be found, that there may be as little downright pauperism and beggary as possible. Accepting charity has a demoralizing and degrading effect on an individual. It tends to lower his self respect and to confirm in him the impression that the world owes him a living. Every great calamity in which it becomes necessary for the public to open its hand generously has been productive of its crop of tramps and vagabonds. Men who for the first time in their lives tasted the sweets of getting a living without work have thereafter never done a stroke of honest labor. This demonstration must be made. Let the deserving poor alone to be fed and sheltered, and frauds must be punished to the extent of the law. Indiscriminate giving does as much harm as not giving at all. Common sense, helpful investigation is the thing.

Socialist and anarchistic political parties sense in the great cities of a country.

URGING A COMPROMISE.

The Steering Committee Trying to Push Matters.

CARLISLE HOLDS OUT FOR REPEAL.

Senators Palmer, Butler and Hill Indulge in Sparkling Discussion Which Gets the Galleries Applauding—Teller's Motion Concerning the Journal Was Lost.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—The Democratic steering committee is making herculean efforts to direct the efforts of the senate into a path which will lead to a speedy adjustment of the present deadlock. One proposition has already been submitted to Secretary Carlisle and rejected by him. Another conference is on hand this morning.

The draft of the first proposition was found to be acceptable to all of the Democrats in the senate. It in substance provides for continuing the purchase of silver in reduced quantities until 1895 and also for the issue of bonds to strengthen the gold reserve.

Those who had a hand in framing the measure are very cautious in their statements on the subject, for they realize that a misstep at this important juncture might prevent an amicable adjustment of the pending difficulty. The Democratic managers had been at work upon their plans constantly for 12 hours, and they believed they had solved the problem to the best of their ability under the existing circumstances.

Carlisle Rejects the Proposal.

Senators Gorman, Harrison, White, Cockrell, Vilas, Gray, Walsh and Blackburn, the committee appointed to wait on Secretary Carlisle and to submit to him propositions looking to a compromise, remained in "executive session" with him at the treasury for over an hour. Mr. Gorman was the first to leave. Mr. Carlisle was seen after his secretorial visitors had departed and stated that he had nothing whatever to communicate as to the nature of their call or its result. The visiting senatorial ambassadors returned to the capitol in straggling order, some of them first calling at the White House. Senators Camden, Harris and Jones of Arkansas subsequently held a long consultation with Mr. Cockrell.

So far as could be ascertained, nothing definite had been accomplished. Mr. Carlisle, it is said, was unyielding in the original stand taken by him in favor of unconditional repeal. No compromise was agreed upon.

The belief exists in the minds of the caucus committee that the administration would not prevent a vote take effect at a future day, and that was one of the contentions discussed for some time. The Republicans want the same date for January, or, at the latest, July 1, 1895, while the more conservative silver men want it to extend to Jan. 1, 1896, as fixed in Mr. Gray's proposed amendment. The extremists insist that repeal shall not take effect until after the close of this administration, the amount of silver purchases being reduced in the meantime to $2,000,000 worth each month.

The silver Republicans, speaking through one of their leaders, said they would in all probability accept the compromise to the extent of permitting it to come to a vote, even if they could not support it. The regular Republicans adhered to their former position of being ready to vote for unconditional repeal and declined to state their views upon any compromise so long as it was an intangible thing. If the Democrats came together and agreed among themselves, said one of the eastern Republican senator last night, for his political astuteness—they could pass the bill without the assistance of the Republicans.

Senators Amuse the Galleries.

The debate in the senate Monday's legislative session has just been performed. The senators who played the leading roles were Senators Hill, Butler and Palmer, while minor parts were taken by Senators Stewart, Dubois, Peffer and Hoar. The subject of the performance was whether the name of Mr. Teller should be taken off the journal of Monday as having been present and having refused to answer when called.

The dialogue was broken in upon near the close of the performance by a witty suggestion on the part of Mr. Palmer that as Mr. Teller himself had presented the question to the senate, he should be treated with that courtesy for which the senate was eminently distinguished and his request complied with. He asked unanimous consent to take off the record which it was refused he sat down with a half tragic air, saying that he abandoned the motion in despair. His remark was followed by a petulant wail from a child in the gallery, at which he exclaimed dramatically, "Listen to the echo of my despair!"

The closing speech was made by Mr. Butler.

He was interrupted by Mr. Hill, who said: "I understand the senator to say that, if a majority of the senate do not vote with a minority, the bill cannot pass."

Mr. Butler—And I repeat it.

Mr. Hill—And there I take issue with the senator.

Mr. Butler—I repeat it, and I have no apologies to make for it. Nine-tenths of the business which becomes law in this country are the results of compromise.

An Interesting Dialogue.

Mr. Hill—My position is that under our form of government the majority has a right to govern by its views and has a right to endeavor to impress them upon the minority. If the majority recognize the views of the minority, then we have the end of law. If I cannot find anything in the constitution of the United States which says that 4 senators or 8 senators can pass a bill, they (pointing to the gallery.)

Mr. Butler—Nor I, Mr. President. I have made no such statement. I have not stated that a minority can pass a bill.

Mr. Palmer—Can I, as senator from the state of Illinois, be allowed to vote for repeal of the Sherman law?

Mr. Butler—The senator can answer that question for himself. I do not control his vote. He has the right to vote when he has the opportunity, as I have.

Mr. Palmer—When can I have that opportunity?

Mr. Butler—When debate closes.

Mr. Palmer—In all democracies, the majority has the right, in good faith, to assume the right of the floor for debate, but only the right of the minority to debate for the purpose of delay.

Mr. Butler—Nobody claims that. When the majority wishes I am not going to stand in the way of it. I am not going to be a party to depriving the senate of its rights. I am not going to be a party to depriving the senate of its rights. I am not going to be a party to depriving the senate of its rights

TORTURED A WOMAN.

Five Masked Burglars Rob a Widow Reputed to Be Rich.

THEY ALMOST BURNED HER ALIVE.

Five Men Thought Mrs. Logan Had $25,000 In Her House—A Newspaper Stenographer Who Says He Was Hypnotized by a Mind Reader.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 20.—Mrs. Rachel Logan's little two story house, about one mile from Coraopolis, nine miles below here, was entered by five masked burglars, who took her from her bed and then by torture and threats of burning her alive succeeded in robbing her of $513.

The Pittsburg detectives learned of the case about midnight Thursday. They have now four of the men, and they expect soon to get the fifth. There have made confessions. They expected to get anywhere from $25,000 to $50,000.

Mrs. Logan is a rich widow nearly 70 years old. She is quite feeble and walks with a long staff. She owns a large farm which is in the Coraopolis oil-field, and her income from oil royalties and leases has been very large for several years. She has been long credited with hiding large sums of money about her house.

Victims of the Gang a Mesmerist.

Those who are under arrest and who have confessed are John Shields, a stenographer, in the employ of The Dispatch; Bert Shumaker, a telegraph operator, formerly in the employ of the Baltimore and Ohio, and Professor Grant Evans, a mind reader and mesmerist. Besides these Sam Laughlin, about 30 years old, whose home and where they never knew to do any work, is also under arrest, but he denies any complicity in the affair. The first three say that he planned the whole thing. The fifth man is another stenographer.

Shields is married and about 23, and for years has been a transfer clerk on The Dispatch, handling a good deal of money. He has always been faithful.

When seen at the Central station, he said he had known Evans, who is about 30 years old, for five years, and that Evans possessed a peculiar power over him. He could make him lend him money and get him theater tickets and do all else he wishes to the contrary. Shields says Evans is responsible for his downfall and first proposed it to him. He knew it was wrong, but could not resist. "Strangely enough," said Shields, "I was the only thoroughly sober man at the time of the crime, which I knew I would suffer for, and yet I could not resist."

The story of the crime, as gathered from the detective; is that they learned of Mrs. Logan that Laughlin, who said they would have an easy job. They arrived at her house and pried open her door about 1 o'clock on Wednesday morning. It was a lonely place.

Taking her out of bed, they tied her to a chair, hands and feet, and drew a knife across her throat, scratching it. One of their number struck her severely on her forehead with the butt of a revolver, demanding that she should reveal the place where her money was secreted.

She held out bravely. Then they searched high and low, turning things upside down, emptying preserves from fruit jars, tearing her bed to pieces. They first put up blankets at the windows, but they worked in vain.

Poured Oil Over Her.

Enraged, they then took nearly a gallon of oil which they found and poured it over Mrs. Logan's woolen night dress and about the floor, holding lighted matches dangerously near, and even firing the thick stuff and then extinguishing it.

They burned her face with the matches. Finally she became terrorized and showed them where she had hidden $513 in a cup in the cellar.

Departing, the men left her tied to her chair with the cotton ropes they had brought. Whether intentionally or otherwise, one of the matches they dropped set fire to the floor. Mrs. Logan got herself loose in a frantic struggle and extinguished it. Of the money secured there were two $100 bills, a $50 bill and some $30 bills. Most of it has been recovered.

Superintendent of Mars detailed Detectives McTighe, Shore and Robinson to work up the case. They saw Evans and asked him how much money he had. He replied that he had $25.

They arrested and searched him, and found a $100 bill pinned inside his trousers. Telling him that his confederates had confessed, he broke down and owned up. Shields was handled in a similar way, and he also confessed, as did Shumaker. Evans, when seen, said it was a plain case of burglary and nothing else. They went out there to get $60,000 and didn't get it.

They treated the old lady very carefully —in fact, very courteously. Shumaker would say was that he was one of the party. They will have a hearing today, when Mrs. Logan, the officers assert, will be able to identify several of her assailants.

Three Killed by Gas.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Four persons were asphyxiated by gas from a sewer while asleep in a small cottage in Central park. Three of them are dead. Two of the dead men were Daniel Lyons and James Hoyen, park policemen. The third was Thomas Fuery, a blacksmith out of work. George Hagon, another park policeman, will probably recover.

Murder and Suicide by a French Count.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—A tragic Parisian tragedy was enacted at 21 West Sixteenth street. Maurice de Cormiseen, the son of a French count and a Paris modiste, man of letters and a lover of rural sports in America, calmly blew the top of his head off after first shooting a woman who had discarded him.

A Reported British Defeat.

JOHANNESBURG, Oct. 20.—Kaffir rumors have reached here to the effect that the Matabeles have defeated the British South Africa company's column under the command of Captain Raaf.

General Burke of the Irish Brigade Dead.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—General Deasin F. Burke died here at a sanitarium. In the civil war he commanded the Irish brigade, which went to the front from this city.

New York Civil Service Reformers Meet.

ALBANY, Oct. 20.—The New York State Civil Service Reform league met in Albany. Matthew Hale was elected president and Marcus T. Hun vice president.

The Czar Goes Home.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 20.—The czar is expected to arrive at the Gatschina palace from Copenhagen today.

Herbert Spencer Not Dangerously Ill.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—The report that Herbert Spencer was dangerously ill at Brighton was untrue.

MURDERED BY MOSLEMS

The Horrible Fate of an American Merchant in Persia.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Much uneasiness is felt by the missionary societies in this city on account of reports of continued persecution of Christians which are being received from their representatives in foreign lands.

Rev. Dr. E. W. Gilman, secretary of the American Bible society, received a letter from the Rev. W. L. Whipple, agent of that society in Persia, containing a graphic account of the murder of an American Christian in Oroomiah a short time before. Mr. Whipple writes:

"There has been a grave state of affairs in Oroomiah since I wrote you last—an uprising of the Moslems against the Christians. There was a mob of Moslems led by the theological students of the Mullahs against an American merchant, a member of the Protestant church. They circulated a false report about him and then inflamed the rabble until finally he was dragged from his shop and hurried off to the large mosque near by. He was severely beaten on the way. When they reached the mosque, some wanted to kill him at once; others tried to save him.

"He was given the opportunity of becoming a Mussulman, but this he said he could not do. He asked five minutes in which to pray and prepare for death. While he was praying, some say, one Moslem stabbed him in the back with a hanjar, the long Persian poniard. Then others stabbed him until he died. It is said that there were more than 40 stab wounds on his body. They then put a rope around his neck and dragged his body to the outer wall of the city and threw it into the ditch of stagnant water, a very foul place. They killed a dog and threw it by his side."

Mexicans Trapping a Rebel General.

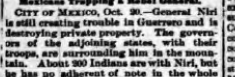
CITY OF MEXICO, Oct. 20.—General Niri is still crushing the revolt in Guerrero and is destroying private property. The governors of the adjoining states, with their troops, are surrounding the rebel chief's home lands. Only 200 Indians are with Niri, but he has no adherent of note in the whole country. It will be difficult to catch him.

Two Killed In the Carnegie Steel Works.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 20.—An accident resulting in the death of two men occurred in the Carnegie steel works at Homestead. Laborers digging a trench were covered under several feet of clay by a cavein. Andrew Dorsak and John Mahanu were dead when taken out. Five other men were seriously or fatally injured.

Keeley Abandons His Libel Suit.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—The Lancet, against which medical paper Dr. Leslie Keeley brought a libel suit because of comments on his methods of gold treatment for drunkenness, announces that the action has been abandoned, Dr. Keeley paying all costs.



FORTHCOMING SHAPES IN FURS.

Sealskin Leads, but All the Best Known Natural Furs Will Be Worn.

The signs of the coming season, so far as furs are concerned, have already cast some shadows on the world of fashion, and from St. Petersburg and Paris, centers of the fur industry, we learn that sealskins will be more worn than ever, both as jackets and mantles, and lovers of fur will become fond and charming of furs will be glad to learn that it is not likely to be so ruinous in price as was expected a little while ago. The price in making up garments will be about 10 per cent more than that of last year.

NEW SEALSKIN HAT AND COAT.

All the best known natural furs, such as mink, mink tail, sable and sable tail, and that essentially soft and pretty trimming, wolverine, will be popular. Beaver and golden otter are likely to be seen in some what extensive fashion as narrow bands for trimming skirts and edging short capes and mantles. Of skunk, blue fox and Persian lamb or Astrakhan, it may safely be said that they are never desirable, and the season of 1893-4 will stand in need of their various utility, as we are to wear toques of either velvet or the very thick silk bordered with fur. In Paris there is already a strong demand among the costumers and mantle makers for the broad tailed Mongolian lamb and for the very black sealskin to cut into narrow lengths as trimmings. Another novelty in the way of these are strips of fine fur of various kinds appliqued with plush in pretty designs, the effect being a handsome trimming most unique in style. One of the smartest of furs for winter is to be sable, "baby" lamb. This seems to have water marks on a black surface, giving the effect of a rich moire fur.

The coat which is illustrated here is among the newest models. It is particularly becoming and most comfortable with its high rolled over collar and full shoulder caps. The skirt is wide, coming gradually into plaits at the back. Another popular style is an Alaska seal coat made with stole revers of mink, opening over a close fitting basque of the seal. A tight fitting coat, also of sealskin, has a full basque, with roomy sleeves finished with mannish cuffs, and a wide storm collar. Many of the new capes are made with two capes on the shoulders full all round and with a turn-down collar. A wise proviso in these new models against cold is to have a very tight little undervest of the fur in front, which prevents the cape blowing aside.

Ermine is to enjoy popularity this season, and some charming pelerines are being made of it. These are slightly pointed at the back and have full shoulders and a high collar.

CAPTAIN HADLEIGH'S MURDER

A Philadelphian Killed In Hayti by a Native Soldier.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 20.—The steamship Dessa, which has just arrived at this port from Port au Prince, brought the first news of the murder on Oct. 15 of Captain J. M. Hadleigh, a Philadelphian, who was shot and killed by a Haytian soldier. The murder was committed in the hotel that had revived as Captain Hadleigh's home during his residence in the Black Republic, and the murder of the latter seems to have been an unusually cold blooded and unprovoked affair.

While standing in the lobby of the hotel Captain Hadleigh was approached by the soldier, who was known as Yankee Charley, and asked for 50 cents. The demand was refused and Yankee Charley stepped back a few feet, deliberately aimed his gun at Captain Hadleigh and fired.

The bullet went straight through the Philadelphian's heart, and he fell dead to the floor. The murderer was promptly seized and locked up. The case was immediately reported to President Hippolyte ordered an immediate trial. Charley was found guilty and ordered to be shot, but the sentence had not been put into effect when the Dessa sailed for United States.

The story of the affair was forwarded to Secretary of State Gresham by the United States minister at Hayti, and as the murder was a willful one and that the Haytian government is responsible for such indemnity as may be demanded by the widow and children of Captain Hadleigh. A demand has already been filed with President Hippolyte.

Stolen Record Books Concealed a Theft.

CAMDEN, N. J., Oct. 20.—Eli B. Morgan, the county expert who was appointed by Judge Garrison to examine the books of ex-County Clerk Edward Burrough in the suit of the board of chosen freeholders of Camden county, has informed the special committee of the board that he has discovered that all the records of the county treasurer's office from 1844 to 1889 had been stolen. He also found that a deficit of $43,000 had been carried on for years, but was unable to say for what length of time. The books that remained were those used by Jonathan Duffield, county collector, who died last May.

Counterfeit Causes an Arrest.

BUFFALO, Oct. 20.—Anthony Comstock has caused the arrest of Byron B. Duggett, manager of the Daggett Table company of 215 Hudson street, on the charge of sending improper matter through the mails in the shape of circulars advertising a posture chair.

Secrecy About a Gold Shipment.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—A very large amount of gold coin ($5,000,000) was received at the subtreasury this morning from San Francisco. Unusual care was taken to keep secret the fact of the shipment.

Legal Advertisements.

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY.
To Elizabeth Mary Whelan and Patrick Whelan, her husband, Virgil Comfort and Alice Comfort, his wife, Thomas Shahleigh, Conrad W. Mahlstedt, her husband, and John Alias and Mrs. Jean Alias, his wife.

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereof, in a cause wherein John H. Marsh is complainant, and you and others are defendants, you are required to appear and plead, answer or demur, to the bill of said complainant, on or before the first Monday in October next, or the said bill will be taken as confessed against you.

The said bill is filed to foreclose a mortgage given by Elizabeth Mary Whelan and Patrick Whelan, her husband, to John H. Marsh as lands in the Townships of Westfield and Fanwood in the County of Union and State of New Jersey, dated November 19th A. D. 1888, and you Elizabeth Mary Whelan, Virgil Comfort, Conrad Mahlstedt and John Alias are made defendants, because you each own or claim to own some portion of said lands, and you Patrick Whelan and George W. Mahlstedt are made defendants because you each claim or may claim to have an interest in some portion of said lands, as tenant by the curtesy initiate; and you Alice Comfort and Mrs. John Alias are made defendants because you each claim or may claim to have an inchoate right of dower in some portion of said lands.

Dated August 1, 1893.

NELSON BENTON,
Solicitor of Complainant,
Cor. Park avenue and Front street,
Plainfield, N. J.

8115f

NOTICE OF ASSIGNMENT.
Notice is hereby given that Augustus Vandeveer, of the borough of North Plainfield, in the county of Somerset, and state of New Jersey, carrying on the business of the manufacture of carpets at the Creston Carpet Mills, No. 68 Sterling avenue, in the City of Plainfield, Union County, New Jersey, under the name and style of "Vandeveer & Co.," hath this day made an assignment to the undersigned of his estate, for the equal benefit of creditors, and that the said Vandeveer & Co. have given bond for the due answer and accounting to the subscriber, at the law office of Chas. A. Reid, No. 116 East Front street, Plainfield, New Jersey.

Dated August 14, 1893.

SAMUEL ST. J. MCCUTCHEN,
Assignee.

9 9 6*

STATE OF GEORGE R. POUND, DECEASED.
Pursuant to the order of George T. Parvin, surrogate of the county of Union, this day made, on the application of the undersigned, executor of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscriber under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscriber.

ROBINSON POUND, Executor.
Dated July 12, 1893. 7 29

EXECUTOR'S SETTLEMENT.
Notice is hereby given, that the account of Jonathan Duffield, surviving executor of Hugh Vail, deceased, will be audited and stated by the surrogate of the county of Somerset, at his office in Somerville, on Thursday, the 26th day of October next, at 10 o'clock a. m.

Dated August 1, 1893.

JOHN S. VAIL.
8 2 9

Neuman Brothers,

THE POPULAR GROCERS,
have a full line of selected

Groceries, Fruit and Vegetables.

Choicest varieties of Coffees and Teas, guaranteed unexcelled. A fine display of choicest Apples daily. A new stock of Canned Vegetables and Fruits.

NEUMAN BROS,

WATCHUNG AVENUE
and FIFTH STREET.

Van Eps,

THE NEW JEWELER
18 Park Avenue. Also a large variety of Musical Goods.

H. DE BOTT,
Graduate of United States Embalming
UNDERTAKER : AND : EMBALMER.
Office at residence, 178 Somerset Street,
Plainfield, N. J.

CORPORATION NOTICE.
Notice is hereby given that the Common Council of the City of Plainfield, at their regular meeting on Monday, the 2nd day of October, A. D. 1893, at the Council Chamber, No. 305 Park avenue, in the City of Plainfield, Union County, New Jersey, at 8 o'clock p. m. of said day, will consider the following ordinance, entitled, "An Ordinance to widen Madison avenue between Second and Third streets," which ordinance is in the words and figures following, to wit:

An ordinance to widen Madison avenue between Second and Third streets, in the City of the Common Council of New Jersey, City of Plainfield, N. J., adopted 1893, made by F. A. Dunham, City Clerk.

Plainfield, N. J., October 2, 1893. 10 17 5t

1893 TAXES!

Notice is hereby given to the taxpayers of the

City of Plainfield,

that the taxes assessed in said city for the year 1893 are due and payable, and that if the said taxes be not paid by the

20th Day of December

next, the names of the defaulters, with their respective taxes, will be returned to the City Judge for prosecution. The

COMMISSIONERS OF APPEAL

in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council Chamber, on the

Fourth Tuesday in November Next,

(the 28th,) and sit from two o'clock p. m., until five o'clock p. m., or longer, if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

JOHN JOHNSON,
Collector of Taxes.

Dated, Plainfield, N. J., October 2, 1893.
10 2 6d

Stoves For Winter,

Hardware of all Kinds,

Everything From Tacks to Furnaces.

A. M. GRIFFEN,

13 EAST FRONT STREET. Telephone 6.

Do You?

Intend to invest in a

WHEEL?

If so, call on

Dickinson,

The Optician.

Agent for the Excelsior, the last wheel in the market. 4 weights, 32, 28, 26 and 41 lbs. 9 Wheels to hire at reasonable rates.

A. W. Rand,

140 WEST FRONT STREET.
Now and second hand

SCHOOL - BOOKS.

School supplies of all kinds.

Those wishing to exchange second hand books must bring them in immediately.

Great Bargains

in all grades of

WALL PAPERS,

for the next 60 days.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

29 EAST FRONT STREET.

THE Vanderbilts and A. T. Stewart Use the same make of Imported Table Oil, Cheese and French Sardines that I now have in stock.

THEY ARE DELICIOUS.

And then I personally select the

FRESH FISH!

I have on sale to-day and to-morrow. Call and see my stock.

JULES BOVEY,

60 Somerset Street.

TAKE NOTICE.

Charles Arnold,

the butcher,

Is Still in the Race

for cut prices.

Fresh Pork and Sausage 12c lb.
My own Dressed Jersey Chickens, 18c. lb.
Legs Mutton, 10c. lb.
Lamb, 12c. lb.
My Smoked Meats and all other Meats will be the same old cut prices.

Arnold's : Market,

208 LIBERTY STREET.
GOODS DELIVERED
FREE OF CHARGE.
Strictly Cash.

Are You Insured?

If you are 21 years old $64.10 paid annually for fifteen years would entitle you to $1,000.
If 30 years old, $67.
If 35 years old, $67.10.
If 24 years old, $67.20.

This sum of $1,000 is payable to the insured, if living, at the expiration of fifteen years, or at his death if prior.

FOR A LIFE POLICY, of $1,000 the annual payments to continue during life, the payments for a person of 30 would be 21 and 24 are between $18.00 and $20.

For catalogues and further particulars address Henry D. Morrison, 11 Somerset street, agent, The New York Mutual Life Insurance Company.

F. M. HULETT,

MUSIC DEALER,
74 West Front Street,

handles the following makes:

Gildermaster & Krouger,
Kranich & Bach,
Star,
Matfield,
Jacob Bros. Pianos,
and the world-renowned
Neuman Bros., and Mason & Hamlin Organs.

Builders Cards.

Daniel Hulick,

Carpenter
and
General Jobber.
SHOP
35 Jackson Avenue.

Storm doors and weather strips a specialty.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO
Window Screens made to order.

John P. Emmons,

MASON AND BUILDER.
Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place.
Jobbing promptly attended to.
P. O. Box 98.

PIERSON & GAYLE,
Carpenters and Builders.

W. J. Pierson, No. 15 Vine street. H. B. Gayle, Jr., Watchung avenue.
All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM G. SMITH,
PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER.
All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.
Residence—Grandview avenue.
P. O. Box 325.

R. V. SAUNS,
Carpenter & Builder.

Residence—Clinton avenue, near depot, Dunellen.
P. O. Box 1288
Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.

JACOB M. HIGGINS,
PRACTICAL MASON and CONTRACTOR
P. O. Box 351. Residence Dr. street, near Howard.

JOHN ARNOTT,
Practical Carpenter and Builder. Residence and shop, Grant avenue, between Second and Third streets. Jobbing promptly attended to. P. O. Box 1044.

ALFRED R. NELSON,
Civil Engineer and Surveyor, No. 2 West Front street, Plainfield, N. J. Maps of all parts of Plainfield, Union County, N. J., for sale. All work guaranteed.

Cents-Word Column.

FOR SALE.

50 LOADS fine loam manure for sale address "C. R.," News office. 10 9 1f

A GOOD horse for sale. 329 West Third street. 10 10

FOR SALE—$6,000—Two dwellings and one building lot. All for $6,000. Easy terms. Title perfect. Terms easy. Dwellings both rented. Address "S. D. Jr.," care of EVENING NEWS.

FOR SALE—New house, Park place, near Grover avenue, (Washington Park.) Watford, broker. 9 14 tf

SITUATIONS WANTED.

A GIRL wishes a situation as a cook, washer and ironer. 104 Grove street.

A WOMAN wants to go out by the day. Apply at 194 Grove street. 10 2

FOR RENT.

PLEASANT rooms with good board, at 112 East Front street.

TO LET—Four rooms, two minutes from the depot. Address "Rooms," care EVENING NEWS. 10 2

HOUSE to let on Watchung avenue, No. 1. Also one $10. Enquire, F. W. Mead, 311 East Front street. 10 2

TO LET—A small house on Warren street, No. 18. 10 6

AN OPPORTUNITY—$12 per month will rent a pleasantly located house of 10 rooms, stable, carriage house and large garden. Call at Dawn office. 10 7 6t

TO LET—A furnished room with or without board to a married man. 332 East Fifth street. 9 1367

TO LET—Seven room house near Pond's depot. Inquire of Mrs. Pond, Somerville. Both in good order. Enquire, City Mills. 9 95 tf

LOST AND FOUND.

A SETTER pup strayed into my place yesterday. The owner may have it by calling, proving property, and paying for this notice. 24 Harrison street. 10 5

Boehm's.

$5.00

buys a fine Ladies' Coat, for edged, made of heavy beaver cloth, with latest style cape. Largest and best assortment of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Coats, Jackets, Fur Capes, etc., ever shown in this vicinity. See the line of Cloths for 1 edge and Children's Coats we are now showing.

25c. At this price we are showing a line of Cassimeres, Storm Serges, Dress Flannels, Fancy Cheviots, Novelties Stripes, etc., ranging in width from 36 to 54 inches. The new crepe figured Bedfords, all shades 50c. per yard. The PLAINFIELD DRY GOODS is strictly the best variety of trimmed and untrimmed Black Goods ever shown in this city, and at lowest possible prices, consistent with first-class work.

Townsend's Marble Works,

30 Somerset Street. 188

Railroad Time Table.

CENTRAL RAILROAD OF NEW JERSEY
(Anthracite coal used exclusively insuring cleanliness and comfort.)

Station in New York, foot of Liberty street Time—New York Standard, or City Hall.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield at 6 14, 7 42, 8 36, 9 36, 10 36, 11 36, a. m., 12 36, 1 36, 2 36, 3 36, 4 36, 5 36, 6 36, 7 36, 8 36, 9 36, 10 36, 11 36 p. m., 12 36 night. Express trains, 6 14, 7 42, 8 36, 9 36, 10 36, 11 36

GOOD HEALTH

DUE CARE FOR THE EYES.

What Both the Ox Eyed and the Small Eyed Should Do and Leave Undone.

Happy among women is she who has been blessed with satisfactory eyes. For eyes are much hopeless affairs. Surgery in this day undertakes to alter the shape of the nose, to take a reef in the too wide dispersed ears, but no science has yet been discovered that will make of two insignificant peepholes of the soul great melting orbs through which one seems able to gaze into the depths of the heart. The cruel part of it is that very often the soul of the small eyed woman would very much better reward inspection than that of her ox eyed sister.

The woman whose eyes are too small for beauty should at least take the best possible care of them, that they may not become still less attractive. She must guard them from a strong light, that they may not be weak and inflamed. She must not read by a poor lamp or in an insufficient light, lest she strain them. If she suffers from burning or soreness of the lids, she should bathe her eyes night and morning in as hot water as she can bear upon them. She should not wear dotted veils unless her eyes are exceptionally strong. Even then she runs the risk of injuring them.

Above all, no woman should let the desire to beautify herself tempt her to put into her eyes belladonna, eclogue or any other of the preparations that are said to enlarge the pupil and enhance its brilliancy. Neither should she yield to the suggestions that she may increase the apparent size of the eye by darkening the lashes. Not only are all these preparations dangerous to the health of the eye, but any kind of coloring matter unless applied by an expert is so obvious as to render the would be charmer an absurd object. The eye should never be violently rubbed, and no eye water should be employed to reduce inflammation except one that has been prescribed by an oculist.

The woman who squints should never rest satisfied until she has submitted the infirmity to the inspection of an oculist. It is an affliction that can almost always be cured, according to a writer in Harper's Bazar, from whom is quoted the foregoing.

For Toothache.

Melt white wax or spermaceti, 2 parts, and when melted add carbolic acid crystals, 1 part, and chloral hydrate crystals, 2 parts; stir well until dissolved. While still liquid, immerse thin layers of carbolized absorbent cotton wool and allow them to dry. When required for use, a small piece may be snipped off and slightly warmed, when it can be inserted into the hollow tooth, where it will solidify and will nearly always end the pain, according to a pharmaceutical journal in which the formula occurs.

Tones, Tints and Hues.

The terms "tones," "tints" and "hues" are often confounded. As The Art Amateur distinguishes them, tones are the different degrees of intensity of which a color is susceptible, according to the admixture of white or black, but these are sometimes called tints when mixed with white and shades when mixed with black. Hues are the "brightnesses" produced by the mixture of two or more colors.

Hotels.

CENTRAL HOTEL,
No. 11 E. Front St.,
PLAINFIELD.

Windham & Crowley,
PROPRIETORS.

First-class bar attached.

Fourth Ward Hotel.
JOHN GOFF, Proprietor.
Boarders accommodated, both transient and permanent.
LARGE ROOMS
and
ALL MODERN IMPROVEMENTS.
Fine Wines, Liquors
and CIGARS.
Corner Third and Liberty Streets.

Hotel Grenada,
NORTH AVENUE.
ow open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. Hotel has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the travelling public.

City Hotel,
Corner
PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.
Transient guests accommodated.

Eugene Hoerster,
206 Grove Street,
North Plainfield.
Wholesale Dealer
in
FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.
Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

59c. 59c. 59c. 59c.

SALE!
of
KID GLOVES!
4-button length, tan, modes, brown and black, all sizes, 25c to 75c.

59c. 59c. 59c. 59c.

GEO. L. VAN EMBURGH & SON,
FRONT STREET, OPPOSITE PARK AVENUE. UNDER THE BANK.

Timely Warning! Winter Approaching!
Keep your Scalp Clean and your Hair Growing.
RANDOLPH'S Quinine and Glycerine
HAIR TONIC!
The Friend in the Hour of Need.
EACH BOTTLE GUARANTEED. Sold only by
L. W. RANDOLPH, Prescription Druggist,
143 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

ART FOR AMATEURS

PYROGRAPHY OR POKER WORK.

Fascinating Pursuit In Which the Beginner Soon Acquires Skill.

Pyrography is a branch of decorative art that has been taken up by many workers. Among the pictures in the Woman's building at the fair some examples of this work are shown. Formerly, aside from the ordinary poker, such tools as were required to do dirty work were devised by the ingenuity of the worker, but The Art Interchange says that regularly made tools are now to be had in the shape—best little sets of pokers, some small for fine work, others larger for shading and bold outline, with larger ones still for backgrounds and spaces. A small gas stove or spirit lamp supplies the necessary heat.

A number of leaders in this kind of work have adopted instruments employed by surgeons. A little experience in handling the heated tools will enable the amateur to produce most creditable and satisfactory results.

The cut represents a portion of a working design found in the journal mentioned. It gives a good idea of the style of the work, and if enlarged will be suitable for a panel, for cutting on leather, or may be used as a design for pen and ink decoration on a blotter.

PANEL IN BURNT WOOD.

White in Oil Painting.

White in oil painting is rarely used absolutely pure and alone, but is modified with other colors. An art authority says: If it is cold, a little ivory black may be added; if warm, a little burnt sienna; if brilliant, a little Indian yellow or yellow ochre. Most whites in warm evening light may be best represented by brilliant yellow modified as above, silver white being kept for the purest only. In distant clouds a little viret emeraude and rose lake added to the white for the lights give an excellent result. Some artists use Naples yellow for white.

OUR YOUNG FOLKS

RUNNING FOR LIFE.

A Little Story Showing How Quickly Dogs Learn to Know Their Enemies.

The pound wagon is well known to the dwellers in San Francisco and its neighboring city, Oakland. It is a common wagon, with a large slatted cage on it. The drivers and attendants, usually three persons, are Spaniards or Mexicans. It is their business to lasso all unlicensed dogs which they find in the streets and take them to the pound house, which is close to the bay. Some of the dogs are redeemed on the payment of $5, and a few are sold, but the majority are drowned. A writer in St. Nicholas, from which this little account, with its accompanying illustration, is taken, says it is curious how dogs learn to know the wagon and to express distrust of it.

One pleasant morning, in San Francisco, not long ago, a lady had made a call on a neighbor, carrying her poodle dog, Nina, in her arms. As she passed out of the gate on her return she put Nina on the sidewalk. The pound wagon was near, but the lady did not see it till a man, lasso in hand, ran past her and threw the rope. "Run, Nina, run!" she shrieked, and Nina obeyed.

THE POODLE'S ESCAPE.

A household pet, as tenderly cared for as a baby, Nina had never known a danger like this. On ran the little dog, the man in close pursuit. She crossed a street, running under a wagon; he had to go around it, and thus the dog gained on him. They turned a corner, and the lady, who ran breathlessly after, lost sight of them. On they went, and finally Nina's owner met a friend, who, on his return, empty handed, Nina had escaped!

The lady continued her search with many inquiries. The dog had never been alone in the street before. The anxious owner passed several children on their way to school. "Have you seen a little white poodle dog in this street?" she asked of one group. "Oh, yes, and it was running as fast as it could," came the answer. The search was continued, but no Nina appeared. Then the lady questioned a little girl. "Yes, indeed," said the child. "It had a blue ribbon on its neck, and it was running so fast I thought it was mad, and I ran to the other side of the street."

After a long chase the lady was rewarded by finding Nina at the head of a flight of street steps, close to a front door, poor thing! a smile from the place from which she had started. She was evidently too much exhausted to go further. Her owner took her up and carried her home.

The little poodle was sick for several days. When a little better, Nina was let out into the yard one morning. The wise little creature looked over the fence and barked for the door to be opened. A boy had come into the yard, with a long rope in his hand. Ropes meant danger to Nina.

A Remarkable Canary.

An entertaining story is told of a pet canary in Washington to the effect that the bird recently has all strayed from home to his natural dress and has industriously pulled out every feather he could reach. The result is that he has now a smooth, shiny skin, very like kid, like polished parchment, two or three lonely tail feathers and a trifle of plumage on the head and neck. In summer he is all right, but the cold weather bothers him. At such a season he is clothed in a warm flannel jacket, which he submits to unresistingly. At night he lies down on a bed of cotton batting, submits quietly to be covered up and sleeps there contentedly till morning, if we may believe so unique a tale.

When and Where to Use Certain Words.

Remember that the words reason and because should not be used together, the word because meaning "that the reason." Do not say "The reason I ask you to do this is because you can do it so much better than I." Use the word that in place of the word because.

Remember that the word every is always singular. "Let every girl do her own work," not their own work.

It is well to remember that the word delightful is applied both to the pleasures of the mind and those of the senses and can be used for all pleasures connected with the bodily senses except taste. Delicious is limited in general to the lower senses—taste, smell or feeling.

Bopeep's Dream.

Bopeep's sons to Dreamtown,
Land of Lullabies,
Where her lambs are straying,
In a meadow playing,
Heedless of her cries.

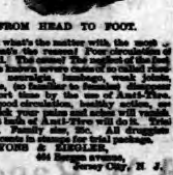
After them a giant,
With a gleaming blade,
Creeps with footsteps wary,
But a fairy fairy
Lends her magic aid.

Frightened woolly lambkins
Homeward trot once more;
There Bopeep will find them,
Stumpy tails behind them,
When her journey's o'er.

Stuffed Cabbage.

Cut out the heart of a fine large cabbage, fill the vacancy with cooked chicken or veal minced very fine, highly seasoned and rolled into balls with yolks of eggs. Tie the cabbage firmly together and boil in a covered kettle two hours.

Tired from Head to Foot



FROM HEAD TO FOOT.

That's what's the matter with the most of us. What's the remedy? Your circulation of blood is poor. Put some red corpuscles in it. We have hundreds of testimonials to that effect from newspaper readers, teachers, book agents, machinists, no families to speak of. Here is a short time by the use of Anti-Tire. Set up good circulation, healthy action, and you feel good right away. Don't take our word for it. Our first bottle of Anti-Tire will do it. Trial size, 25c. Family size, 50c. At druggists' first. If cents by mail, in plain wrapper.

LYONS & ZIEGLER,
604 Bergen avenue,
Jersey City, N. J.

A GOOD WIFE

is a great blessing, and a good husband will look after her comfort. He can almost secure her future comfort by buying a lot which is pretty nearly, the prices are so low. The lot is situated in a beautiful and healthy neighborhood,

GIVEN AWAY

WITH EVERY

convenience for reaching stores, schools and churches quickly. Now is the grand opportunity to invest in a splendid

BUILDING LOT.

For particulars, address
"OWNER,"
care of Evening News.

Horses and Carriages,
o Jobbing, for hire, at
O'BRIEN'S,
[136 WEST FOURTH STREET;
or at the Depot.

Joseph T. Vail,
REAL ESTATE
and
INSURANCE,
CHAIN OF BLOCK STONES, SLAGGED
of North Avenue.

CAREY'S
Storage Warerooms,
Corner
Front and Grove Streets,
Plainfield, N. J.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,
Successors to
The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,
Dealers in
Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials
62 to 69 PARK AVENUE.
Are now prepared with their increased facilities, having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs. A. D. Cook & Bro., to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

- - FREE - -

Handsomely Gravelled Japanese Lamp with every one dollar purchase, to customers not owing for it. No premium offer refused for the balance of our Flower Pots, and we have some very pretty ones left.

We are constantly adding new goods, and the hard times have forced prices way down. I remember when I was to myself the last cent of money I had in the world I bought four boxes and one's surprises indeed. See our $1.50 full decorated, solid gilt dinner set for $1.00; another dinner set, 100 pieces, for $5.25; another dress Lamps, and we will name the sale Common Chimneys, all sizes, for 5c. You can't buy Chimneys at that in New York, as low as we sell them. Fine Stationery, Cases to Prayer Books, &c., &c., is no better display in the city than ours. In Tinware, Woodenware and General Housefurnishings, we can suit you. We sell Brooms of every description, and have a broom that will outwear any two you have ever bought of us. We have Glassware, and we have it cheap. Notions and small articles on 5 and 10c. counters. Our display of fancy China Cups and Saucers is very large, and prices from 5c. to 50c. per set. In fact, every article used cuts well up to you,

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$6 per Year in Advance. — E. W. Harrison, Editor and Proprietor, Office, No. 21 Somerset street. Publishing of All Kinds. — 2 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. — PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," SATURDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1893. — PRICE TWO CENTS.

Republican Nominations.

UNION COUNTY.

For member of Assembly from Third Assembly District,
CHARLES N. CODING,
of Westfield.

SOMERSET COUNTY.

For Senator,
LEWIS A. THOMPSON,
of Bridgewater.

For Assembly,
FRANK W. SOMERS,
of Franklin.

For Coroner,
DR. FRANK C. JONES,
of Bernards.

Union County Republican Convention.

The Republican County Convention will be held in Library Hall, Elizabeth, N. J., on MONDAY, OCTOBER 23, 1893, at 3 o'clock, p. m., for the purpose of nominating candidates for Senator, Sheriff and Coroners.

BREVITIES.

—To-night there will be a song service in the W. C. T. U. rooms.

—The case of Samuel Allen for assault was adjourned to-day to next week.

—Last Day (Saturday) New York Recorder's great offer. Estil's book store.

—Arrangements have been made to build a Catholic chapel at Garwood in the Spring.

—The case of Miller vs. Allen was adjourned yesterday by Justice Mosher, to next Wednesday.

—H. L. Thayer, of Westfield, has invented an iron shoe for the pneumatic tire for trotting sulkies that has been pronounced an improvement upon the bare rubber.

—Leslie Dodge, seven years old, was delivering papers on Sandford avenue Tuesday afternoon, when a vicious dog sprang out from a door yard and bit him on the leg. Dr. Jenkins took several stitches in the wound after cauterizing it.

—Recently the Postal Telegraph Company's goods were levied on satisfy a judgment secured against it by Mr. D. S. Roberts. The company promised to settle, but didn't, and now the place is to be advertised for sale.

—A class for foreign speaking young men who wish to learn the English language is now conducted by Dr. H. C. Monger each week at the Y. M. C. A. rooms. Acisas for beginners taught by Mr. T. V. A. Chaigneau will be organized at the same place to night.

INDIVIDUAL BOWLING.

Good Scores Made on the C. Y. M. L. Alleys.

Last night the first games in the individual bowling tournament of the Catholic Young Men's Lyceum were rolled. This tournament was arranged in order to choose a team of the best bowlers to represent the Lyceum in the Journal Bowling League. The scores were as follows:

Gibbitts	114	vs Butcher	120
Gilgrim	125	vs D. Galbraith	129
M. Owens	148	vs J. Lynch	109
Owens	136	vs Butcher	120
Gilgrim	123	vs D. Galbraith	126
Gilgrim	141	vs Lynch	102
Galbraith	109	vs Butcher	120
Gilgrim	105	vs Owens	146
Lynch	106	vs Hughes	151

REPUBLICAN CONFERENCE.

Meeting of the Assembly Delegates Last Night.

The delegates elected at the Republican primaries Thursday night to attend the Assembly Convention in Arnts Hall Block, to-day, met in the Association rooms, on East Front street, last night, in a sort of conference. Suggestions were made and the delegates discussed the proposed candidates. At the close of the informal ballot was taken and ballots thus out of twenty, fifteen favored Sheriff Cory of Westfield.

Anti-Race Track Delegates.

The Republican primary at Westfield was well attended Thursday evening. The delegates elected to attend the Assembly convention at Arnol

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Tariff Illumination.

It is safe to assume that everybody wants to know just the right thing to believe in political economy as well as in theology. In these troublous times we naturally turn to our trusted representatives in congress to set us right on the burning question of the tariff. We are glad, therefore, to discover that three of the very cream of tariff experts, members of the ways and means committee of the house of representatives, furnish papers to The North American Review on this very subject. We turn the pages; our noses are quickly buried therein.

What do we read? The first paper is from Hon. Benton McMillin of Tennessee, Democrat. He writes in part:

We have now tried the tariff law of 1890 for three years. During that period the country has been under the highest rate of duty ever imposed here. Its authors boldly announced that it was not framed for revenue, but for protection. It was an extreme tariff upon which country was in a prosperous condition.

Under this tariff gigantic trusts have been formed in almost every industry and put up prices. While it is not contended that the formation of a trust is never seen or is impossible except under the influence of tariff laws, it is certainly true that these organizations have been and to-day are facilitated by tariff laws which destroy or limit competition in production.

Such are some of the provisions of the law of 1890 which the Democratic party is called upon to revise. Only one of the classes of laborer whose wages it has increased in the three years it has existed. A period of greater hardship and suffering was never known in history. Under it unemployed labor ready to work has lagged broad in the streets and almost starved at home. Under it furnaces have been banked, factories have been shut down, and foundries have ceased to glow. Under it there have been innumerable lockouts and reductions of wages. Under it the great increase of tariff rates has been accompanied by no corresponding increase in the wages of labor. Under it the rich farm lands of the country have continued to fall in price.

What says another of our guides and leaders of the ways and means committee in the house, Hon. John Dalzell, Republican of Pennsylvania? He soars into the empyrean in the following extract:

The party that for 30 years with marvelous success guided the destinies of the nation has been expelled from power, and responsibility rests upon a party trained not to upbuilding, but to down pulling, not to constructive, but to opposition. Conceding to it the fullest measure of patriotic purpose, the fact remains that in this generation it has not had a chance to put into practice the art of governing. Nor does it appear to have learned the first principles of the American people. While it brings to its responsible task a recent record of inexperience, it brings also an unbroken record full of disaster.

One of the characteristic features of Republican rule is the system of protection. By its means home industries have been developed to a variety, importance and wealth distinct of magnetic nonalement, and the field of remunerative labor enlarged to the wonderful material prosperity and moral and social advancement of the wage earner. The assertion is incontrovertible that never in our history were the necessaries of life cheaper, or wages and the comforts of labor in higher place than when Mr. Harrison went out of office. Without claiming this condition of things to be due entirely to the system of protection, it must be admitted that that system is entitled to a large, if not the largest, amount of credit therefor.

Our third friend, Hon. W. J. Bryan of Nebraska, elected as a Democrat, now announcing himself a Populist, contributes this as part of his share of the general distribution:

The operation of the tariff is simple. Under a 50 per cent duty an article worth $1 is imported, pays 50 cents duty into the fund, and the consumer buys it for $1.50, plus expenses and profit. This tax is either paid by the foreigner who sells it or by the consumer in this country who finally uses the article. If paid by the foreigner, then in the case above referred to the foreigner reduces his price from $1.50 to $1, so that when the duty is paid the price with the tariff will be the same that it would have been without the tariff. To show the absurdity of this position it is not necessary to inquire why the price should advance on such a variety of duties only not treat all foreign nations alike and subject them to equal duties, but it is sufficient to say that a tariff which is not paid by the consumer is of no benefit to the protected industry.

If the producer of the protected article receives the same price for his goods with or without a tariff, what difference does it make to the laborer the duty he has to pay if he cannot compete without the aid of a tariff, how can it help him even by enabling his boss to charge a higher price for his product? How can he charge a higher price unless he can compel the consumer to pay it? And how can he compel the consumer to pay it unless the tariff increases to the consumer the price of the competing article? The only reasonable or logical purpose of the tariff, therefore, is to compel the consumer to buy at home at a high price for the purpose of preventing a cheaper or lower price. It is here that the principle of protection is at fault, and it is here that, and it is here that, and it establishment disregards the spirit, if not the letter, of the constitution.

In nine years the record of the time in which a steamer can cross the Atlantic from Europe to America has been lowered over 24 hours—to put it exactly, 25 hours and 16 minutes. That is to say, the traveler who is in a hurry to reach the United States can have a whole day on land here that nine years ago he would have been obliged to spend on shipboard. The pennon for speed has been variously carried by vessels belonging to the Cunard, White Star, Inman and Guion lines in the past few years. The Paris of the new American line held it for one year—from last October to this—till on her westward trip the Cunarder Lucania cut down the leader's time 59 minutes. The Lucania's trip, made in 5 days 13 hours 23 minutes, will stand as the swiftest westward one till it is broken by the next one. The big Lucania is 620 feet long.

The Washington Capital imparts the interesting information that Civil Service Commissioner Theodore Roosevelt, like Hannibal Hamlin, never wears an overcoat in the Washington climate, arguing that a man ought to have energy enough to keep himself warm.

Banks have broken, mills have shut down, and farmers have made assignments, but few beer saloons have broken up.

A poor way to reform abuses is to stand back and sneer.

HE DISOBEYED ORDERS.

An Engineer Held Responsible For Battle Creek's Horror.

MANY VICTIMS YET UNIDENTIFIED

The Conductor and Engineer Lodged In Jail For the Awful Catastrophe. Many of Those In the Fatal Car Were From New York and Other Eastern States.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Oct. 21.—The error of one human being—a man who now crouches like a hooded animal in a prison cell—led to the greatest railroad holocaust in the history of Michigan, and 26 human beings have paid the penalty of the engineer's negligence. Two trains, loaded with passengers, met in a direct headon collision on the Grand Trunk railroad in the suburbs of this city, and while the number of dead and injured was not fearful greater is due to the fortunate fact that the collision occurred in the suburbs of a city instead of in the open country, where both trains would have been running at full speed.

As it is, the 26 charred, disfigured and unrecognizable bodies lie in the morgues, and 27 maimed and bleeding victims are groaning in agony in the Charity hospital. How many of these wounded may be added to the death list no one can tell, for the injuries in many cases are internal and quite unfathomable to the only superficial medical examination that is possible now.

All that magical science can do is being done, and the officials of the Chicago and Grand Trunk railroad are doing all that is possible to alleviate the condition of the suffering and care for the need of the victims of the dreadful disaster.

The train which met face to face while going at a rapid rate of speed were both regular trains, although each was considerably behind time. One was a Raymond and Whitcomb special train returning from the World's fair and bound for New York and Boston, and the other was the regular west bound Pacific express train. The Raymond and Whitcomb was running as an extra section of a regular train and was therefore a "2 regular" in the phraseology of the railroad men.

The engineer of the latter train had positive orders to sidetrack for the express at a siding a mile east of this city. He ignored these orders and 600 feet beyond the siding he met the east bound train full on. Both trains were wrecked, and half the train of the Pacific express was demolished and burned.

The Raymond and Whitcomb train, being composed almost entirely of heavy sleepers, escaped serious injury, and none of the excursionists lost their lives.

The engineers and firemen of both trains jumped from the cabs and their lives, but 28 passengers of the Pacific express met almost instant death. The day coaches in the front part of this train were telescoped and burned, and of the 26 human remains at the morgue conjectures can only be made as to the identity of six. Twenty remain entirely unidentified.

List of the Dead.

Those identified by letters or articles in their clothing or by other means are as follows:

C. G. Van Dusen, Sprouthrook, N. Y.; died at the hospital.

Mrs. C. C. Van Dusen, Sprouthrook, N. Y.; burned to death in the wreck before she could be extricated.

W. W. Henry, Woonsocket, R. I.; burned to a crisp.

T. A. McGarvey, Toronto; mangled and burned to a crisp.

A. W. Beardsley, Watkins, N. Y.; burned and mangled.

The coroner has numbered each of the 25 bodies now in the morgue consecutively and none of the articles that have been found on each body that might lead to identification. Relatives or friends telegraphing from a distance as to the identity of the remains should mention the number of the body in order that the proper record may be made by the coroner and mistakes avoided in forwarding the remains. The coroner's official list of the remains now at the morgue is as follows:

No. 1—Male; pass marked R. J. Magee, Paris; fractured skull; face much scalded; spectacles.

No. 2—Female burned to crisp; no clothing.

No. 3—Boy; red hair; pocketbook, chatelaine watch; blankets; with red border; shirt of pants and long stockings.

No. 4—Male; W. Henry, Woonsocket, R. I., of the firm of Sheldon & Henry; railroad ticket; business cards, etc.

No. 5—Male; with handkerchief marked "——," statement on paper from John Monroe, banker, of New York, to Charles E. Wrede; also note to German Fire Insurance Co. Wrede to Dr. Howard Evanson.

No. 6—Male; money on person, 36 cents, in gold coins; gold cigarette silver case, leather chief with "H. G." in old English letters.

No. 7—Male; charred beyond recognition.

No. 8—Woman; leather shoes with name E. R. McKenzie; package of rubbers in pocket charred beyond identification; burned to crisp.

G. R. McKenzie from Mrs. M. Parker of Stratford, Conn.

No. 9—Female; burned beyond recognition.

No. 10—Supposed to be T. A. McGarvey, Ontario.

No. 11—Mrs. Charles Van Dusen, Sprouthrook, N. Y.

No. 12—Male; burned to a crisp.

No. 13—Male; of Montreal; burned to a crisp.

No. 14—Male; charred to crisp.

No. 15—Woman; burned to a crisp.

No. 16—Man; silver hunting case watch with initials "W. H."

No. 17—Woman; no identification.

No. 18—Woman.

No. 19—Woman; burned beyond identification.

No. 20—Woman; no identification.

No. 21—J. W. Beardsley, Watkins, N. Y.

No. 22—Burned beyond identification.

No. 23—Burned beyond identification.

No. 24—Burned beyond identification.

No. 25—Man; no identification.

No. 26—Man; no identification.

The List of the Injured.

The list of the injured is as follows:

Rachel Davidson, ex-postmistress of Fairport Village, N. Y.; Miss Belle Williams, Lockport, N. Y.; Mrs. Mary Thompson, Woodstock, Ont.; Frank Thompson, Woodstock, Ont.; Fred White, Rochester, N. Y.; Mrs. Fred White, Rochester, N. Y.; Mrs. Mary Smith, Fort Plain, N. Y.; Mrs. Herbert Smith, Fort Plain, N. Y.; right leg fractured; Frank R. Smith, Fort Plain, N. Y.; left limb crushed, amputated; Nellie E. Smith, Fort Plain, N. Y.; right foot crushed; Mrs. Mary Thompson, Woodstock, Ont.; Mrs. Bernard Dalton, Ill., shoulder broken; Annie, daughter of above, aged 11 years, left arm broken; Mrs. Wm. Winslow, Chicago, Ill.; Miss Sophie Jackson; George Vance, son of above, aged 14 years; injured; Joseph S. Archbell, Rochester, N. Y.; right hand and head injured; Thomas Hayes, Auburn, N. Y.; Mrs. Bernard Dalton, Ill.; right hand and head injured; Thomas Hayes, Auburn, N. Y.; Mrs. Bernard Dalton, Ill.; right hand and head injured; Mrs. O'Reilly, Denver, Col.; right leg broken; Mrs. Bernard Dalton, Ill.; right leg broken; Mrs. Bernard Dalton, Ill.; right leg broken; Mrs. Bernard Dalton, Ill

SURELY A COMPROMISE.

Repeal Not to Take Effect For One Year.

CABINET SAID TO HAVE AGREED.

The Democratic Steering Committee Held a Long Conference With the Representatives of the Administration—Van Alen Confirmed—Closure Proposed.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Seven or eight Democratic senators visited Secretary Carlisle as the representative of the administration at the treasury department and submitted to him a proposition to take the place of the repeal measure now before the senate, which they thought practically all the Democratic senators would support.

Secretary Carlisle dissented from some of the terms of the proposition, and showed wherein they would be in practical operation be objectionable. There is excellent reason for saying, however, that before the middle of next week the repeal bill will pass, to take effect not later than the 1st of October, 1894, probably with a provision authorizing the secretary of the treasury to issue bonds not exceeding $500,000,000 and coin the seigniorage now in the treasury.

This, it is said, would not be considered a surrender by the administration, and it is stated on reliable authority that the bill passed in this shape would not be objectionable to the president.

The correspondent of the New York Herald says the following to his paper: "The silver purchase clause of the Sherman act is to be unconditionally repealed, but the repeal is not to take effect until some day in the future.

"Silver senators, frightened by the growing signs of the adoption of a closure rule if their obstruction is continued, have weakened, and the only thing remaining as an obstacle in the way of the Democrats 'getting together' is the question of date when the repeal shall take effect.

"Silver men are striving for the latest date possible, and sound money advocates are seeking to have it fixed for the earliest day possible."

Van Alen Confirmed.

The senate devoted 4¾ hours to executive business and gave the seal of its approval to the appointments of Mr. Van Alen as ambassador to Rome and Mr. Kilbreth as collector of customs at New York.

In the case of Mr. Van Alen most of the time was consumed in debate on the question of his confirmation. Lively speeches both for and against confirmation were made. A motion was made to send the Van Alen nomination back to the committee, but a motion to lay that motion on the table was carried.

This left the nomination still before the senate for action. Van Alen was confirmed, 39 to 22. The senate after the executive session removed the injunction of secrecy from the vote by which J. J. Van Alen, nominated to be ambassador to Italy, was confirmed. It was as follows:

Yeas—Aldrich, Bate, Berry, Blackburn, Brice, Butler, Caffery, Camden, Cameron, Coke, Davis, Dixon, Faulkner, Frye, Gibson, Gorman, Gray, Higgins, Jones of Arkansas, Jones of Nevada, Lindsay, McMillan, McPherson, Mills, Morgan, Murphy, Palmer, Pasco, Quay, Ransom, Roach, Smith, Stewart, Turpie, Vest, Voorhees, Wallhall, White of Louisiana, Wolcott—39.

Nays—Allen, Carey, Cullom, Dolph, Dubois, Gallinger, George, Hansbrough, Hawley, Hill, Irby, Kyle, Lodge, Manderson, Martin, Peffer, Pettigrew, Sherman, Stockbridge, Teller, Vance, Washburn—22.

The votes were: Cockrell with Allison, Call with Proctor, Gordon with Hale, Harris with Merrill, Hunton with Platt, Pugh with Ross, White of California with Shoup, Vilas with Mitchell of Oregon.

A Closure Rule Proposed.

During a brief period that the doors were thrown open and the public admitted to the galleries a few important events occurred. Chief among them was the introduction of a closure rule by Mr. Voorhees, practically the same as that fathered by Mr. Hill. It provides that when any bill or resolution which occupies the advantageous position of "unfinished business" has been debated for 30 days any senator may at any time make a motion fixing the time when the vote shall be taken; that that motion shall be put immediately, and that during its pendency or when the time fixed for the final vote arrives no debate or amendment shall be permitted. The original motion, however, must have the affirmative vote of a majority of all the senators entitled to vote. The resolution lies on the table and may come up for action to-day.

An amendment to the silver purchase bill was offered by Mr. Peffer and occupies the position of being the first amendment that must be voted on. It is a free coinage amendment, but it specifically revives and puts in force the free coinage act of 1837. Two hours were then occupied by Mr. Peffer in continuation of the discourse which he began last Friday and which he may finish next Monday. At 5 p. m. the senate took a recess.

Business in the House.

Although the house transacted more than the usual amount of business, its proceedings were almost entirely devoid of interest. The only incident out of the ordinary was the charge of Representative Simpson of Kansas that Mr. Curtis of Kansas was the agent or attorney of railroads running through the Cherokee strip, which the latter vigorously denied. This was in the course of the debate on the bill to require these railroads to establish and maintain stations at the town sites located by the interior department, which was passed. That discussion developed also by a brief passage between Representative Bell of Arkansas and Delegate Flynn of Oklahoma, respecting the attitude of the Harrison and Cleveland administrations toward the opening of the strip to settlement, which gave Mr. McRae the opportunity to express the opinion that the present administration was wrong in retaining officials and employees of the last administration.

The house also passed a deficiency bill appropriating $335,000, and the bill to remit half the duties assessed against exhibits sold at the World's fair or those now on exhibition there which may go to the California midwinter exposition and be sold there. An effort to pass the bill submitting to the court of claims the claims of the claim of William McGarrahan to the Rancho Panoche Grande was defeated by the expiration of the morning hour, in which it was called up.

Fourth Class Postmasters.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—The following fourth class postmasters were appointed:

New Jersey—T. P. Foster, Tuckahoe.

Massachusetts—Sarah E. Newell, Still River; Lawrence Morgan, Turnpike Harbor.

New York—H. H. Hoose, Annandale; T. P. Chapman, Argyle; A. Glover, Bolton; L. J. Bates, Oregon; Jacob Fidler, East Chatham; Charles Ayres, Flint; James McVeigh, New Hampton; Michael O'Brien, Wappingers Falls.

Rhode Island—E. E. Doolittle, Manville.

Vermont—C. B. Hall, Leicester.

"It's a Poor Rule That Won't Work Either Way."

"Can't git yer head out, Jimmy? Hol on, an we'll pull ye too."

BUT THEY DIDN'T. —Life.

This Suicide Was Calm About It.

PATERSON, N. J., Oct. 21.—Thomas Slingland, a carpenter, after breakfast returned to bed, taking a revolver with him. He then shot himself in the breast. When his children ran to his bedroom, they found him seated on the side of his bed trying to appear perfectly calm. He asked for a match to light a cigarette which he held in one hand. His other hand was pressed to his wound to stop the flow of blood. His injury is fatal. He has been despondent ever since his wife deserted him two years ago.

They May Fight In London.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Mr. Fleming of the National Sporting club received a cablegram asking what purse he would give for the fight between Corbett and Mitchell if it should be decided at the National club. A meeting of the directors of the National Sporting club will be held as early as possible, and there is no doubt that every effort will be made to have the fight settled in London.

Clubbed the Boarding House Keepers.

STEG SENG, Oct. 21.—Eleven Italian workmen employed on the Quaker bridge dam were discharged recently because they refused to go to a boarding house kept by two of their countrymen. They, armed with clubs, assaulted the boarding house proprietors, Angelo Palladino and Henry Espicolo. Espicolo, it is thought, will die of his injuries. Seven of the rioters are under arrest.

Brought Back McKenzie.

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 21.—Detective Parker arrived from Globe, A. T., with James McKenzie, the burglar who robbed so many dwellings in South Providence last June. An unsuccessful attempt was made in Arizona to rescue McKenzie, and in this a deputy sheriff and the stage coach driver were shot and killed.

Marshal MacMahon's Funeral.

PARIS, Oct. 21.—The Marquis of Dufferin, British ambassador, will represent Queen Victoria at Marshal MacMahon's funeral today, and Colonel Talbot will represent the Prince of Wales. Count Munster, German ambassador, will attend the services for Emperor William.

Sad Adds the Verdict.

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—George Thompson, who was last month convicted of manslaughter in causing the death of Mary J. Thompson, his wife, has been set free. Judge Dewey, who presided at the trial, has set aside that verdict as being against the weight of evidence.

Got $200 For Being Called a Liar.

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—A jury in the superior court returned a verdict of $200 for the plaintiff in the case of Herbert Moseley, an architect, against Andrew J. Fiske, a carpenter, of West Newton. Fiske called Moseley a liar, and Moseley sued him for slander.

He Had Lived Long Enough.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Dr. Gatun W. Lovell shot himself in the temple at 167 West Twenty-first street with a penny revolver. He had fired the shot while sitting on a lounge, and in a book beside him was this note, "I have lived long enough in misery."

Shot Them as a Joke.

CANONSBURG, Pa., Oct. 21.—A colored woman named Mary Agnes Shearer was shot and badly wounded and her 3-year-old child killed by Al Davis, also colored. Davis claims he did not know the gun was loaded and pointed it as a joke.

Experts to Get Embezzler Weeks.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Assistant District Attorney Lindsay says that he has positive assurance from the Costa Rica government that Embezzler Weeks will be turned over to the United States authorities without any trouble.

Will Be Idle Until Congress Acts.

SOUTHBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 21.—The Hamilton Woolen company's mills at Globe village, employing 1,000 hands, has shut down until tariff legislation is settled. Largest and best assortment of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Coats, Jackets, Fur Capes, Collarettes, Muffs and Gauntlets, to the line of Cloths for Ladies' and Children's Coats we are showing.

25 per cent. sale prices are showing a line of Cashmeres, Henrietta Cloths, Drap de Paris, Novelties, Cheviots, Serges, Drap d'Ete, etc., ranging in width from 36 to 54 inches. The new crops figured Brilliantines, all shades, 46 inches wide, at 75 cents. Full line of the most desirable Dress Trimmings. Our stock is the best variety of trimmed and untrimmed Hats ever seen in this city, and at reasonable prices, consistent with first class work.

Townsend's Marble Works,

20 Somerset Street.

BAGGED BOY BURGLARS

Had Operated For Weeks In a Connecticut Town.

HAD A HIDDEN DEN IN THE WOODS.

Merchants of the Old Town at Putnam Were Robbed Night After Night and Couldn't Solve the Mystery—A French Canadian Caught a Band of Town Boys.

PUTNAM, Conn., Oct. 21.—During the past two months the merchants of this beautiful village among the Windham county hills have been greatly disturbed by a series of inexplicable burglaries, and the officers of the law were at their wits' ends to find the thieves. The burglaries evidently were both bold and crafty, and they entered the most strongly intrenched stores with dexterity. Often half a dozen shops were rifled in a week, and sometimes two or three in a single night.

Lately most of the depredations were committed at the Upper Village, so called, and a part of a wagon load of plunder the robbers took out of one store was ferrets, bottles of beer, cigars, plug tobacco and household rugs.

A Detective Engaged.

Finally the exasperated shopkeepers engaged a sharp nosed French Canadian, Beaulis, to trap the miscreants, and Beaulis promptly laid his plans to do it. Beaulis has not described his campaign as yet, but during the past 10 days he has been constantly in the most idle and unconcerned citizen of Putnam. He strolled about the lower streets of the place a great deal, however, and became astonishingly friendly with all the boys of odd appearance in the walks of life. A day or two ago he suddenly unmasked his battery. The thieves were local gentry solely, and they had organized a wonderful rural school of outlawry and crime.

Beaulis arrested just 18 youthful Putnam outlaws in one batch, and then he sped quietly to the local merchants: "If you you drop down street and see my bag of your thieves. I've got 'em all, and they are worth looking at for a show." Then briefly, without exposing his detective methods, Beaulis narrated the history of the burglaries. The boys were from 16 to 18 years of age, and had organized their enterprise about two months ago on the plan of the Jesse James robberies. The Putnam band bound themselves with big, horrible oaths never to reveal the dread secret of their trade and never to "peach on each other under penalty of death."

Then they established a camp in a deep and unfrequented ravine among the hills in a dense forest a mile or more distant from the business streets of the village, and there they held their society of the Brotherhood, they styled the retreat in the woods the Brotherhood's headquarters.

A Rue In the Woods.

The headquarters was a warm and roomy shanty, rudely patched together with boards stolen from lumber merchants, and it was perfectly screened with a thick copse of witch hazel bushes, which the outlaws wove closely about its walls.

Inside on the ground were rough couches of stolen blankets or bedspreads, a box stove, with a crooked pipe that protruded through the shanty roof; a lot of chairs, benches, a table and stools, while the b and walls were hung with revolvers and masks, theatrical armenia and dark lanterns and hand lamps.

Beaulis nabbed the whole gang at one fell swoop, with no trouble or danger to himself. With the whole band in tow, this presumptuous French Canadian detective went down Main street, Putnam, and into Justice of the Peace Chesebro's office and took his tribe of outlaws in. Justice Chesebro wasn't quite ready for the whole band and tried only "Captain" Correy, who was the "captain Deadwood Dick" by his associates, and he promised to attend to the rest of the culprits by wholesale method just as soon as he had time.

He fined Deadwood Dick Correy $7 and costs, sent him to jail for 30 days and charged the cost of the prosecution to his, (Correy's) account.

On the same day Beaulis, with a company of curious Putnam citizens, merchants and others, visited the interesting headquarters in the woods, and the officer recovered in the shanty a cartload of goods —sledge hammers, spades, pickaxes, shovels, axes, hoes, saws and so on—all of which were fruits of robberies in all parts of the town. One member of the band escaped, but he was arrested a day or two later in Norwich.

Van Eps,

THE NEW JEWELER

12 Park Avenue. Also a large variety of Musical Goods.

BEFORE BUYING LAMPS

See the new lamp—

The "Miller,"

(Patented 1890.)

It has no equal. It is

The Lamp you Want

Every Lamp Warranted.

We make a full line of

Plain and Beautiful Lamps.

Send for circular, or call at 10 and 12 College Place, N. Y. (Park Place; 5th Ave., Broadway.)

EDWARD MILLER & CO. (Send 1890. Insist on having the "Miller" from your dealer.

Boehm's.

$5.00

buys a Boss Leather Coat, for street, made of heavy beaver cloth, with large cape, Largest and best assortment of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Coats, Jackets, Fur Capes, Collarettes, Muffs and Gauntlets, to the line of Cloths for Ladies' and Children's Coats we are showing.

25 per cent. sale prices are showing a line of Cashmeres, Henrietta Cloths, Drap de Paris, Novelties, Cheviots, Serges, Drap d'Ete, etc., ranging in width from 36 to 54 inches. The new crops figured Brilliantines, all shades, 46 inches wide, at 75 cents. Full line of the most desirable Dress Trimmings. Our stock is the best variety of trimmed and untrimmed Hats ever seen in this city, and at reasonable prices, consistent with first class work.

Townsend's Marble Works,

20 Somerset Street.

"A Word To the Wives Is Sufficient."

For Rendering Pastry Short or Friable

COTTOLENE

Is Better than Lard

BECAUSE

It has none of its disagreeable and indigestible features.

Endorsed by leading food and cooking experts.

ASK YOUR GROCER FOR IT.

Made only by

N. K. FAIRBANK & CO.,

CHICAGO, and 197 N. Delaware Ave., Phila. Produce Exchange, N. Y.

Send three cents in stamps to N. K. Fairbank & Co., Chicago, for handsome Cottolene Cook Book, containing six hundred recipes, prepared by noted cooks and suitable for cooking.

H. DE MOTT, Graduate of United States Embalming College.

UNDERTAKER : AND : EMBALMER.

Office at residence, 178 Somerset Street. Plainfield, N. J

VIGOR OF MEN

Easily, Quickly, Permanently Restored.

Weakness, Nervousness, Debility, and all the train of evils from early errors or later excesses, the result of overwork, sickness, worry, etc. Full strength, development and tone given to every organ and portion of the body. Simple, natural methods. Immediate improvement seen. 2,000 references. Book, explanation and proofs mailed (sealed) free.

ERIE MEDICAL CO., Buffalo, N.Y.

1893 TAXES!

Notice is hereby given to the taxpayers of the

City of Plainfield,

that the taxes assessed in said city for the year 1893 are now due and payable, and that if the said taxes be not paid by the

20th Day of December

next, the names of the defaulters, with their respective taxes, will be returned to the City Judge for the prosecution. The

COMMISSIONERS OF APPEAL

in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council Chamber, on the

Fourth Tuesday in November Next,

(the 28th,) and sit from two o'clock p. m., until five o'clock p. m., or longer, if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

JOHN JOHNSON, Collector of Taxes.

Dated, Plainfield, N. J., October 2, 1893. 10 7 1m

Do You?

Intend to invest in a

WHEEL?

If so, call on

Dickinson,

The Optician.

Agent for the Keating, the best wheel in the market, for sale, on easy terms and at the Wheels to hire at reasonable rates.

A. W. Rand,

140 WEST FRONT STREET.

New and second hand

SCHOOL - BOOKS.

School supplies of all kinds.

Those wishing to exchange second hand books must bring them in immediately.

Neuman Brothers,

THE POPULAR GROCERS,

have a full line of selected

Groceries, Fruit and Vegetables.

Choicest varieties of Cabbage and Teas, quality guaranteed. A fine display of choice Apples daily. A new stock of Canned Vegetables and Fruits.

NEUMAN BROS.,

WATCHUNG AVENUE and FIFTH STREET.

TAKE NOTICE.

Charles Arnold,

the butcher,

Is Still in the Race

for cut prices.

Fresh Pork and Sausage 12c lb.

My own Dressed Jersey Chickens, 18c. lb.

Legs Mutton, 10c. lb.

Lamb, 12c. lb.

My Smoked Meats and all other Meats will be the same old cut prices.

Arnold's : Market,

208 LIBERTY STREET.

GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE.

Strictly Cash.

Are You Insured?

If you are 21 years old $91.90 paid annually for fifteen years would entitle you to $1,000.

If 22 years old, $97.

If 23 years old, $97.10.

If 24 years old, $97.30.

This sum of $1,000 is payable to the insured, if living, at the expiration of fifteen years, or at his death if prior.

FOR A LIFE POLICY, of $1,000 the annual payments to continue during life, the payments for young men between 21 and 24 are between $15.60 and $20.

For catalogues and further particulars address Henry D. Merrick, 11 Somerset street, agent, THE NEW YORK MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

F. M. HULETT,

MUSIC DEALER,

74 West Front Street,

handles the following makes:

Gildermaster & Krueger,

Kranich & Bach,

Star,

Mulfield,

Jacob Bros. Pianos,

and the world-renowned

Neuman Bros., and Mason & Hamlin Organs.

Builders Cards.

Daniel Hulick,

Carpenter

and

General Jobber.

SHOP

35 Jackson Avenue.

Storm doors and weather strips a specialty.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

Window Screens made to order.

John P. Emmons,

MASON AND BUILDER,

Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place.

Jobbing promptly attended to.

P. O. Box 283.

DUNSON & GAYLE,

Carpenters and Builders.

W. J. Dunson, No. 25 Vine street. H. B. Gayle, No. 19 Vine street.

All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM G. SMITH,

PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER.

All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.

Residence—Grandview avenue.

P. O. Box 283.

R. V. SAUNDERS,

Carpenter & Builder.

Residence—Clinton avenue, near depot.

P. O. Box 1288

Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.

JACOB M. HIGGINS,

PRACTICAL MASON and CONTRACTOR

P. O. Box 261. Residence Du street, near Howard.

JOHN ARNOTT,

Practical Carpenter and Builder. Residence and shop on Second street, Plainfield, N. J. Orders left at Second street, Plainfield, N. J. Orders left at Second street, Plainfield, N. J. Orders left at Science Progress.

AT THE PASTEUR INSTITUTE.

Inoculation For Hydrophobia, With "Exalted" and "Attenuated" Microbes.

Thirteen years ago very few people admitted the part played by bacteria in the world, and those who did admit their existence were very much at sea what to do about them. Dr. Roux, assistant of Pasteur at the institute in Paris, confesses the aggravating fact that the microbe of hydrophobia has not yet been found, nevertheless he says, "The inoculation process does work," and "We have conquered hydrophobia."

The operation of inoculating for hydrophobia is founded on the theory that if an "attenuated" microbe—that is, a microbe so treated that its power of doing harm has been reduced to a low degree—is introduced into a body he will produce an indisposition which is not itself serious, but which is sufficient to render the body proof against attacks of the original microbe.

PREPARING THE VIRUS.

Now, M. Pasteur has discovered that it is possible to so treat a microbe that his power of evil is of any degree—that is, to "exalt" as well as to "attenuate" him. Having these microbes of varying strengths, he invented a method of graduated vaccination—that is, by beginning with a virus of low degree and increasing each day the strength of the virus, an operator arrives at a point where he can vaccinate a body with a virus stronger than there is any danger of its ever being exposed to in nature. He thus secures lasting immunity.

Thus, in vaccinating against rabies, the patient is treated first with a weak virus; this is followed by one more powerful, and so on, until at the end a highly "exalted" one is injected safely. It is this treatment which is practiced daily at the Pasteur institute, in the inoculation room where a recent visitor, the author of the foregoing explanation of the theory of the treatment, witnessed the following scene:

Gathered in a kind of pen formed by a little fence were three members of the institution—a secretary, whose business it is to keep track of the number of persons to be treated, with each particular virus; an assistant, who has prepared the virus for the day's use; 12 small wineglasses of cloudy liquid protected by small paper funnels, and by a table the inoculator. The roll was called, and a half dozen men entered the room. They were to be inoculated with a virus of the lowest strength, most of them for the first time. They showed a bewildered and comic embarrassment as the attendant directed them to bare the hypogastrium. The embarrassment changed to a momentary look of distress as they felt their arms pinned behind their backs and the sharp needle inject a syringeful of virus into the delicate flesh. The first class of men and boys passed out, and the women and little children entered. They were succeeded by a second class, and so on until all had been treated.

According to the published reports of the institute, 2,671 persons were vaccinated in 1886 against hydrophobia; 25 of them died —.94 of 1 per cent. In 1887 1,770 persons were treated; 13 died—.73 of 1 per cent. In 1888 1,622 were treated; 9 died—.55 of 1 per cent. In 1889 1,830 were treated; 7 died—.38 of 1 per cent. In 1890 1,540 were treated; 5 died—.32 of 1 per cent. In 1891 1,559 were treated; 3 died—.19 of 1 per cent. Each year the percentage of deaths has been lower. In the six years there is an average of just about one-half of 1 per cent of loss.

The Art of Making Damascus Steel.

An Iowa man is reported by a contemporary as claiming to have discovered the lost art of making Damascus steel at one-half the cost of modern steel. The new product, he asserts, tempers two grade higher than ordinary steel, and within two points of the diamond. It contains no carbon, requires no rolling, the finished product may be moulded instead of hammered, and its tempering possesses the quality of springiness. When he shows to the world a sword blade that bends double, and then springs to its original straightness, that will cut a feather pillow or a bar of steel or iron, and yet whose analysis shows nothing but wrought iron, though it is four-fifths as hard as a diamond, he believes the world will appreciate the fact that he has discovered Damascus steel.

Collecting Electricity From the Air.

An apparatus for collecting electricity from the air is described by a French journal as a revolving wheel having eight spokes, but no rim. Each spoke is a conductor, insulated from the hub and having a metallic crossarm at its farther end. Two brushes are arranged near the hub, one above and one below the center. These brushes are always in contact with the spokes, pointing vertically upward and vertically downward, respectively, during the revolution, and therefore lead off from them the electric charges collected from the atmosphere at the top and at the bottom of the wheel.

A Substitute For Soap.

The Mexican Indians have a substitute for soap that in some respects is quite as useful as the article itself, says The Industrial World. It is the esplonillo, or thorn plant, which grows everywhere in Mexico and is so called because touching it gives the impression of touching a bough covered with thorns. A branch of a root of it crushed together in the hands and used as a scrubbing brush makes a lather equal to the best soap and will cleanse clothing, domestic utensils or the floor quite as well.

The Rabbit Changes His Habits.

An English naturalist reports that the rabbit in Australia has been forced by his environment to alter his European habits. The foreigners of some have already become adapted for climbing trees, in search for the food which they cannot find on the ground, and others have begun to litter on the bare earth. The antipodean rabbit also enters the water and swims very well, both during his migrations and when he is pursued.

59c. SALE! 59c.
59c. of 59c.
59c. KID GLOVES! 59c.
59c. 4-button length, tan, modes, brown and black, all sizes, 5½ to 7½ 59c.

GEO. L. VAN EMBURGH & SON,
FRONT STREET, OPPOSITE PARK AVENUE. UNDER THE BANK.

Timely Warning! Winter Approaching!
Keep your Scalp Clean and your Hair Growing.
RANDOLPH'S Quinine and Glycerine
HAIR TONIC!
The Friend in the Hour of Need.
EACH BOTTLE GUARANTEED. Sold only by
L. W. RANDOLPH, Prescription Druggist,
142 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

THE HOUSEHOLD

UNUSUAL, BUT EASY DISHES.

French Cakes That Are by No Means So Difficult as They Sound.

To some housekeepers the following suggestions will not be new, but to many the dishes will have that merit, with the additional recommendation of being exceedingly tempting to eye and palate alike:

A dainty dish is a St. Honore. The foundation of this is the same paste as that which is used for choux cakes, chocolate eclairs, lobsters cauliflee, etc., and is made as follows: Place a tumblerful of water, the weight of an egg in sugar and butter, a pinch of salt and a drop of flavoring essence in a lined saucepan.

Let these boil, then stir in very gradually enough flour to make a stiff paste. Let this also boil up once, then draw it away from the fire and let it cool, after which stir in gradually two or three beaten eggs until the paste is smooth enough to drop from a spoon. Butter a piece of thick white paper, with half the quantity of paste make a round cake and spread it evenly with the blade of a knife, the thickness of half a finger's breadth only. Bake this in a moderately quick oven for 20 minutes.

On a separate sheet of buttered paper drop the remainder of the paste by teaspoonfuls to form little balls. When these are cooked, make a little clear caramel, cost the balls all over with this, then attach them with it to the outer edge of the round cake and place some small strips of candied fruits here and there between them. Fill the center of the cake with fruit meringue, whipped cream or a thick custard, and drop one or two candied cherries about the surface. This dish also is good cold.

An easily made sweet is a Marquis. For this use a sponge cake a day or two old and of a pyramidal form. Slice it across in even slices half an inch thick, hoist a little down until quite smooth, spread each slice with it, pile up to its original shape, then coat over the outside with melted chocolate—the tablet chocolate melted with a little water is the best. Let it dry thoroughly before serving.

Chocolate eclairs are not difficult to make. The paste as made for the St. Honore is dropped by spoonfuls on to buttered paper in an elongated form. When these have baked they are split down the side, filled in with good whipped cream, closed up again, and the upper portion coated with melted chocolate.

Choux cakes are formed by dropping the same paste by tablespoonfuls on to the baking sheet, and placing a morsel of soft bread in the center of each round, in order to preserve a hollow. When they are baked, the bread is removed, and its place filled with a rich custard.

An Easily Cooked Egg.

Put the egg into a kettle of water which has been brought to a boil and then set back from the hottest part of the stove for a few minutes. After the egg is dropped in this water, which will be a few degrees below the boiling point, for 10 minutes by the clock.

A Test For the Butter.

It is said that oleomargarine can be detected by boiling a tablespoonful of it. Boiling butter will foam without much noise, while that which is counterfeit splutters and hisses like lard, but does not foam as decidedly as genuine butter.

Fashion and Sentiment in Silver.

When all is said and done in the way of novel designs for silverware, one may always come back to floral patterns as sure to please good taste in general. Their artistic merit is beautifully shown in some of the newest coffee spoons. These silver forms daintily express the sentiment of the various flowers. In one set, illustrated by The Jewelers' Circular, are found the symbol of industry—"clover, sweet clover, all the world over;" the flower of remembrance, the forgetmenot, and the pansy—"that's for thought." With these are the daisy, that betokens "innocence;" the lily, the flower of purity, and the rose, the blossom of beauty. An attractive set these make, and charmingly adapted for the wedding presents now in season, as well as the friendship and birthday gifts one so often puzzles over.

CLOVER, FORGETMENOT AND PANSY SPOONS.

A Triple Paper Lamp Shade.

To make the shade, composed of three distinct colors, one above another, the crimped papers should be obtained in three well assorted tints. They are best arranged as the wire, placed over the lamp, fills the paper over, draw it together at the top, leaving a good heading, and then tie it loosely with string round the rim, by which means you regulate the fullness carefully till it is equal all round, and then tighten the string. In the same way place the two other papers separately over. The lowest paper is then bent under about two inches above the edge, the next is formed into a couple of waves, and the upper one drawn up in waves, the last to make about five vandykes all round. The paper remains as you press it, and the result is a most pretty, graceful shade.

Glass Curtains.

Glass curtains figure among French novelties for house furnishing. They are in colored glass, and have the effect when closed of stained glass. They consist of a series of little squares of colored glass, each set in a small zinc frame, the squares being attached to each other at the four corners by little S shaped hooks. It is stated that they can be as easily taken down and moved as any other curtains, and in the case of changing from one size of window to another can be easily enlarged or decreased in size by the addition or subtraction of a certain number of squares. They are also easily cleaned, and one of their particular attractions is said to be cheapness.

Tired from Head to Foot

FROM HEAD TO FOOT.

That's what's the matter with the most of us. What's the remedy? Purify the blood. The cause? The neglect of the first. We have known severe cases of so called rheumatism, so called neuralgia, so called headache, so called to blood disease, cured by a short course of Dr. Pierce's Golden Med'cal Discovery. Get a good circulation, keep it active, and how quick your pains and aches will vanish. Constipation? Dr. Pierce's Pellets will do it. Trial size, 10c. Family size, 25c. All druggists. Send 10 cents in stamps for trial package. ETTORE S. SIMERL, Sole Proprietor, Factory Co., N. J.

A GOOD WIFE

is a great blessing, and a good wife will look after her comfort, but no one should neglect her future comfort by buying a lot which is pretty cheap, the prices are so low. The lot is situated in a beautiful and healthy neighborhood, convenience for speaking stove, school and churches quickly. Now is the great opportunity to invest in a splendid

GIVEN AWAY

WITH EVERY

BUILDING LOT.

For particulars, address "OWNER," care of EVENING NEWS.

Horses and Carriages,

o hire, for hire, at

O'BRIEN'S,

[116 WEST FRONT STREET,

or at the Depot.

Joseph T. Vail,

REAL ESTATE

and

INSURANCE.

DEALER IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING

42 North Avenue.

CAREY'S

Storage Warerooms,

Corner Front and Grove Streets, Plainfield, N. J.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

Successors to

The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,

Dealers in

Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials

42 to 60 PARK AVENUE.

Are now prepared with their increased facilities, having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs. A. D. Cook & Bro., to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

A SAMPLE

OF SOME OF OUR SPECIALS.

	Regular price.	Now
New Fiber down Flannels	" "	" 25c.
Novelty, all wool Dress Goods	" "	" 38c.
Colored Linen Towels, extra size	" "	" 25c.
Turkish Bath Towels, 21 inches wide	" "	" 25c.
Checkerboard Damask Cloths	" "	" 75c.
Checkerboard Damask Napkins	" "	" 25c.
Dressing Sacques	" "	" 50c.
Gents' natural, all wool Shirts and Drawers	" "	" 75c.
White Angora Trimming	" "	" 50c.
White Angora Trimming	" "	" 75c.
Ladies' all Hose, embroidered Handkerchiefs	" "	" 25c.
Furniture Covering	" "	" 50c.
Real Hemstitch Cambric	" "	" 10c.

Our new Fall Muslin Underwear is all made with "lock stitch," extra full and long. We can give better values in these goods than ever before.

Our entire establishment has never before been stocked with such large and desirable lines of goods as now, and the prices never so low. You will have no trouble in getting suited, at the very lowest prices, at

EDSALL'S.

THEY MUST GO!

About 100 pairs of Ladies $3, $4 and $5 Button Boots that we have put on our bargain table and marked down to $1.00 a pair. All small sizes, 2, 2½, 3 and 3½, widths a a a a a. If you have a small foot this is a great chance for you.

Doane & Edsall's.

FASHIONS

POPULAR STYLES FOR WRAPS.

Flambeyant, Befrilled and Many Caped Are the Coats and Mantles.

The new coats are just as flambeyant in style as those worn last winter. Flaring collars, flopping shoulder frills and big, baggy sleeves—these are their chief characteristics.

Braiding—every variety of braiding—will be the fashion. There are jackets embroidered all over with fine braid and jackets with horizontal rows of military braid running their entire depth. Then, in addition to the braid, many coats and wraps have fur trimmings. Most of the models are made with a considerable amount of fullness at the back, and few are absolutely tight fitting.

JACKET OF MYRTLE GREEN CLOTH.

Very handsome coats and wraps are of satin, lined—cashe or watered silk interlined with velvet capes. A wonderful coat in black moire recently seen had enormous sleeves and two full velvet capes on the shoulders edged with sable, and a border of velvet headed by a band of the same fur. A handsome mantle of the same material had a frill round the shoulder edged with fur. This model also was trimmed with velvet. Another handsome mantle was of black satin, with a pelerine of ermine.

One must be very tall and thin to wear one of the new mantles, they are so heavily furbelowed and frilled about the shoulders. Nearly everything in the way of outdoor wraps has capes.

An elegant jacket is of myrtle green cloth, edged with sable. The triple cape is very full across the shoulders and ornamented with black silk braid. The sleeves are treated in a similar manner, and so is the basque, down which the fur is carried. The corsage is finished off at the throat with tinsel at the back.

The Well Made Black Gown.

There is nothing to beat a well made black gown, both from an economic and an esthetic standpoint. A stylish dress noted a few days ago was of black cloth and made in the simplest fashion possible. There was a row of watered ribbon round the hem and skirt and another round the middle, and the perfectly plain, close fitting bodice, which buttoned at the back, was also finished with a band of the same ribbon. The sleeves were of watered silk and fairly full. The wearer was a girl with a charming figure and a piquant face. She appeared rather pleased with herself, as indeed she had every reason to be.

A pretty evening dress of black bengaline worth describing was trimmed with a band of tomato velvet, brought from the sides of the bodice and tied in a bow in the middle of the bust, and a sash belt of the same. The sleeves consisted of a double puff of silk, finished with accordion plaited frills of chiffon, and folds of this same stuff were arranged around the top of the low bodice. An accordion plaited chiffon bodice is the thing to wear now with a last year's skirt that needs bringing up to date.

Sealskin and Other Coats.

In sealskins recently seen a splendid coat in the modified Russian blouse style had a waistcoat, belt, collar and flaring cuffs of astrachan. Sable and mink collarettes will be worn again, but not with the heads and the feet of the animals in the barbaresque fashion of last winter. A tight fitting sealskin coat was made full in the skirt, in the same style as the coats, and had a deep round collar and big sleeves. It was beautifully lined with pansy brocade. Cloaks are the same length as they were last winter—that is to say, they fall about as low as the knees.

In men's coats a very handsome one was of dark blue box cloth, lined with dark mink and without trimming of any sort outside.

A Novelty In Furs.

A new and striking wrap consists of three capes—one of sealskin and two of ermine. With it is to be carried a muff in ermine to match.

Throats and collarettes of ermine will be fashionable, but one must have a first rate complexion to look well in them, and it is equally likely that no delicate a fur will be greatly used for outdoor wear.

FASHIONABLE FURS.

Capes are double or triple, fairly full and reach to the waist. Some of the muffs are absurdly large—quite the "granny" size.

The Fall and Winter Styles in Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing are now in Stock. Overcoats of all Weights. Trousers Made to Order from $4 to $8. Suits from $15 to $30. Hats and General Furnishings. WERNER'S MAMMOTH CLOTHING HOUSE, 206 West Front Street.

R. W. Rice & Co.,

THE PARK GROCERS.

Corner Duer and Emily Streets.

NORTH PLAINFIELD.

This Date In History—Oct. 21.

1805—Julius Caesar Scaliger, scholar and critic, died in France.

1807—Nathaniel Walker, poet, died near Windsor.

1792—Marshal Augereau, made duke of Castiglione by Napoleon, died at Paris.

1802—George Colman, the younger, dramatist and humorist, died in London.

1771—Tobias Smollett, English novelist, died.

1772—Samuel Taylor Coleridge, poet, was born in Devonshire.

1777—Samuel Foote, famous humorist, died at Dover.

1805—Horatio Lord Nelson was killed in the naval battle of Trafalgar.

1817—John Philpot Curran, the Irish wit, lawyer and orator, died in London.

1866—Defeat of the Fenians at Ball's Bluff and death of Senator and Colonel Edward Baker.

1879—Movie d'Ashbya, historian of the reformation, died at Somerset House, Me.

1892—Beside Hanks, cousin and early companion of Abraham Lincoln, died. Dedication ceremonies of Chicago and general holiday thoughout the United States over the World's fair.

Is there not a possibility that the club business is being a little overdone in this country? If we don't stop organizing so many new clubs, various places will at length be in the condition of the country neighborhood where there were 10 different church organizations and only 9 families in the place.

The report that it cost Hon. Robert T. Lincoln, ex-minister to England, $20,000 more than he received to go courting to St. James is given for publication only and not with a guarantee of good faith.

As a traction agent in cities the horse must vacate. The electric railway has so displaced him in the past year or two that even livery stables are obliged to go out of business.

The United States can and will patrol effectively the 60 mile zone outside the Pribylov islands. What are the weak brethren talking about?

Two members of the senior class in the Boston Institute of Technology are building an engine which will be exhibited at the World's fair.

1893		OCTOBER.				1893
Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fr.	Sa.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
15	16	17	18	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26	27	28
29	30	31

MOON'S PHASES.

☾ Third Quarter	2	10:19 p.m.	☽ First Quarter	17	4:32 p.m.
● New Moon	9	2:27 p.m.	○ Full Moon	25	1:56 a.m.
☾ Third Quarter	31	3:49 p.m.

Tickets For, or from Europe, On All Lines, And all Steamers. Drafts Sold also.

H. D. MORRISON, Agent, Somerset Street.

Metropolitan Livery and Boarding Stables!

Coaches, Close Carriages, Park Phaetons, Runabouts, Buggies, Fancy Phaetons and Saddle horses.

Special care given boarding horses. Storage for furniture and carriages.

149 AND 157 NORTH AVENUE,

Opposite depot. Telephone Call, 44.

H. E. RIDER, Proprietor. FRANK DAY, Manager.

THE TIME TO EAT!

MEAT!

is at meal time, of course, and the place to get good meat, all varieties, lowest prices, fine dressing, etc., is at

E. J. CONNOLLY,

No 301 Broadway.

SMOKED MEATS AND VEGETABLES always on hand.

Eugene Hoerster,

206 Grove Street,

North Plainfield.

Wholesale Dealer

in

FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.

Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

CENTRAL HOTEL,

No. 11 E. Front St.,

PLAINFIELD.

Windham & Crowley,

PROPRIETORS.

First-class bar attached.

Fourth Ward Hotel.

JOHN GOFF, Proprietor,

Boarders accommodated, both transient and permanent.

LARGE ROOMS and ALL MODERN IMPROVEMENTS.

Fine Wines, Liquors and CIGARS.

Corner Third and Liberty Streets.

Hotel Grenada,

NORTH AVENUE,

now open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout and contains all improvements for first-class accommodations for families and the travelling public.

City Hotel,

Corner

PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.

Transient guests accommodated.

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$5 per Year in Advance. E. W. Morrison, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 21 Somerset street. Printing of All Kinds. 10 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST." MONDAY, OCTOBER 23, 1893. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Republican Nominations.

UNION COUNTY.

For member of Assembly from Third Assembly District,
CHARLES N. CODING,
of Westfield.

SOMERSET COUNTY.

For Senator,
LEWIS A. THOMPSON,
of Bridgewater.

For Assembly,
FRANK W. SOMERS,
of Franklin.

For Coroner,
DR. FRANK C. JONES,
of Bernards.

Union County Republican Convention.

The Republican County Convention will be held in Library Hall, Elizabeth, N. J., on MONDAY, OCTOBER 23, 1893,

at 3 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of nominating candidates for Senator, Sheriff and Coroners.

BREVITIES.

—Young men interested in the study of shorthand are requested to call at the Y. M. C. A. rooms this evening without fail.

—Beginners and advanced classes in book-keeping and mechanical drawing will meet at the Y. M. C. A. rooms this evening.

—A number of Plainfield firemen went to New York yesterday to visit the scene of the big fire last week between Forty-First and Forty Second streets.

—A man named Agar was put off a passenger train at Evans Saturday night, by a conductor. Agar had a ticket to Evans, but said he was going to Dunellen.

—The executive committee of the Boys' Club desiring to offer the benefits of their manual training rooms to as wide a circle as possible, are now forming private classes in in the afternoon for girls and boys. The rooms are well fitted up and the tools are of the finest. Those interested are invited to see the classes at work. Attention is called to the advertisement in another column.

—The amount of ignorance among young people in schools respecting the dangers of neglect in the exercise of ordinary bodily functions, is sufficient to account for their shattered health when they ought to be buoyant with the vigorous life of youth. It ought to us that every town ought to have a medical man visit the schools regulary and lecture in every grade so to make his subject interesting and clear to the understanding of the child upon whose future good health so much of its happiness depends. We offer the suggestion.

HELD UP BY TRAMPS.

Mr. Apgar's Pistol Scared Three of Them Away.

Last week several persons were held up by tramps between Evans and and Dunellen. One of them was a man named Apgar. Three tramps stopped him as he was on his way home late at night. Apgar proved too quick for them and pulled out his revolver and levelled it at one of the party. The tramps then took a skip.

The Bicycle Club's "Stag."

The "stag" entertainment at the Plainfield Bicycle Club House, Saturday night, was a great success. A large proportion of the members turned out. There was singing by a quartette, recitations by Mr. Burdette, songs and recitations by Mr. Pearsall of Westfield and a boxing match.

THE PROGRAMME.

Well, this is the place where the programme should be given, but it failed to come to hand. There will be a general air of abandon about the whole affair, however, which will make you forget your every day cares.

To conclude with an entertaining sparring match between Fred Gilbert (brother of Miss Mayor Gilbert does not belong).

Likely to be Sold Out Yet.

The trouble between the Postal Telegraph Company and Mr. D. S. Roberts is still unsettled. Manager MacRary of Newark has partly attended to it by sending Justice Hunter a check for $21.75, stating that that was all the company owed Mr. Roberts. The Judgment, however, calls for $23, and the Justice will have the company's goods sold unless the balance is forthcoming.

At Work at Garwood.

Captain William H. Hand of this city has the contract for widening and straightening the creek at Garwood, and Wm. H. Moore of this city has just completed the masonry for a new 62 feet bridge over the stream on the main thoroughfare. Mr. Hand's contract calls for an excavation of nearly a quarter of a mile.

Used Their New Organ.

The new church organ at the Church of Our Saviour, Netherwood, was used for the first time Sunday service since it has been put in. Miss Barkley was the organist.

REPUBLICANS MEET

TO NOMINATE A CANDIDATE FOR ASSEMBLY.

Mr. Codding, of Westfield, the Choice, Strongly Opposed to Race Tracks.

The Convention Next Year to be Held at Rahway.

The Republicans of the Third Assembly District of Union county met in Asbury Hall, Roselle, as stated in THE NEWS Saturday. The delegates began to arrive at an early hour. There was a great deal of talk about the race track issue, and, from what could be learned, it seemed that every delegate had come with but one purpose, that of putting in a man who was an out and out opponent of the race track evil.

The meeting was called to order at 2.20 p. m. by Mr. Charles N. Codding, chairman of the last convention. Mr. Frank E. Marsh of Plainfield was chosen as chairman of the convention. He said:

"We are on the eve of a great battle, one of the greatest battles that has ever been fought. We are ruled by a set of gamblers and thieves who have succeeded in putting to shame the fair name of the State of New Jersey. Take a look at Hudson county. The blush of shame should come to every man's face at the mere mention of the name. They ask for help and we are going to help them. (Applause). Who is it that gives the working man a chance for an honest living, that feeds the hungry, that gives the children a good school education? Now Jersey will be and shall be redeemed; (applause). Repeal is our watchword. Repeal all the bad laws, and restore the good. Shoulder to shoulder we shall surely win victory for the honor of our State. (Applause). I trust this shall be a real Republican convention, (applause), which the majority will rule. (Applause.)

Mr. th. O. Garvan of Rahway was then chosen secretary. The reading of the call came next, and all were found to be present. The chairman then appointed the following committee on resolutions: Col. Mason W. Tyler of Linden, Mr. Hughes of Linden, Mr. Goodall of Rahway.

Then the names of Mr. H. B. Rollinson of the Third Ward Rahway, Mr. Chas. N. Codding of Westfield, and Mr. Wm. Chamberlin of Third Ward Rahway were presented for the nomination for Assembly.

The vote was then taken, the chairman of each delegation announcing the votes of that delegation. Mr. Rollinson withdrew in favor of Mr. Codding and, when about half the votes were taken, Mr. Wm. Chamberlin also withdrew in favor of Mr. Codding of Westfield, who was thereupon unanimously nominated. Mr. Codding was formally introduced, and thanked the convention for the nomination, saying, "It is true we need a reform, but only such a reform as is afforded by the Republican party. The names upon the ticket give the assurance that a clear anti race track ticket will be elected."

It was voted that Rahway be the place for the convention next year.

Mr. Chamblin said:

"Though we did not get one of our men in, as we should have liked, still we will go in with a will and do all in our power to help elect the man we have nominated." (Applause.)

Mr. Rollinson said: "What influence I have will be exerted to elect the nominee."

Mr. Corwin of Plainfield also spoke a few words showing in what danger we were.

The committee on resolutions, reported resolutions in which they said: "We will pledge our best efforts to redeem the State, and blot from every book all laws that make it but little more than a gambling resort."

Mr. Geo. Rider of Rahway then spoke, calling upon voters to fight all organized evil, saying:

"The only safety lies in the Republican party putting in men who will oppose all evil. Three rousing cheers were given and the Convention then adjourned at 3.30 p. m.

40 HOURS INSTEAD OF 60.

Another Reduction of Time at the Pond Tool Works.

Commencing to-day the working hours of the Pond Machine Tool Company will be as follows: 7.45 a. m. until 4.30 p. m., including every day excepting Saturday, when the Works will be closed down all day. This makes 40 hours in a week, instead of 60 hours.

Why it Rains To-day.

For the past year or more every circus that has come to Plainfield has brought on a rain storm. No wonder then that we should get another one to-day for Barnum's circus passed through here early this morning, enroute to its Winter quarters at Bridgeport, Conn.

A Spokeless Hub.

At about half past five o'clock last evening as a gentleman and three ladies were driving along West Front street in the vicinity of Madison avenue, one of the hind wheels of the wagon collapsed. Every spoke in the wheel fell and was broken out of the hub. No one was injured.

The Weather.

The weather to-morrow promises to be warmer and fair, followed by falling temperature.

THE FIFTH WHEEL WOULDN'T WORK.

So the Horse Dashed the Wagon Against a Tree.

Yesterday afternoon as a gentleman, and two ladies and an infant were riding through Park avenue in a two seat phaeton, a branch of a tree lying in the road, in some manner caught in the fifth wheel of the wagon. This frightened the horse, which made a dash to one side of the street. Here he ran into a tree, and then into the fence. The occupants of the vehicle were thrown out. They all escaped injury except the man, who was seriously bruised about the face and head. They were taken to the office of Dr. Endicott rendered him medical aid.

When the vehicle collided with the tree, the horse ran off with the two front wheels.

The man gave his name as Meginn.

Later Mr. Albert Hedden took the party to Fenwood, where they live.

"BUDD ONWARD'S" RECORD.

He Made the Fastest Time Ever Made on the Driving Park Track.

Yesterday the fastest time ever made on the Gentlemen's Driving Park was made by Mr. J. C. Vail's "Budd Onward." Mr. Vail drove the horse himself against his other pacer "Dorcas," which was driven by C. C. Brower. Two heats were trotted, the former winning both. Time 2.35 and 2.36.

This was the only match race, but there were several trials to show what some of the other horses could do. Among them was a team of colts belonging to Nathan Robins of Metuchen. Mr. Hayes' "Andy," Mr. Quinn's "Vanity," which showed very fast time. Mr. Fairbairn's two-year-old made several excellent spurts; as did also "Vandal" two year old colt.

Mr. Quinn's stallion showed fine speed.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Alvin E. Hoagland of West Front street returned Saturday from a visit to the World's Fair.

Mr. J. J. Crouse of Washington street has gone to New Brunswick to look after his coffee and tea trade.

Mrs. John Kline and two children of Warren street have returned home from an eight-days' visit in New York.

Mrs. James Madison of White House returned home Saturday, after a pleasant visit with her sister, Mrs. David Weaver of Manning avenue.

Yesterday occurred the death of Mrs. Eleanor L. Prance, wife of Mr. Samuel Prance, of Central avenue. Deceased was a daughter of the late Moses H. Munn of Newark. She was 51 years old. Funeral services will be held from her late residence, 405 West Second street, corner Central avenue, Wednesday afternoon at 2.30 p. m.

David L. Abbott at Crescent avenue died yesterday on the steamer Orinoco from Bermuda, an hour after she reached her pier in New York city. Mr. Abbott had an attack of grip two years ago, from which he never fully recovered. He was married seven months ago to Mrs. Ida Cornell, a widow who was left by his death has become a widow twice in two years. Mr. Abbott's death is attributed to consumption of the bowels. He started for Bermuda, Thursday, Oct. 12th, in company with an older brother. His wife was to follow later, but on account of the boat that the physicians advised that he return immediately, and he started on the next steamer, driving when the vessel reached port. Mr. Abbott owned the paint market, No. 80 Beach Street, Boston, which he purchased last Spring from Mr. W. W. Corbell, but, on account of his continued ill health, he has been unable to give the business much of his attention. He and Mrs. Abbott resided with the latter's father, parents of Mrs. Donnarel's first husband, Mr. David L. Demarest, President of the Irving Savings Bank, New York, and senior member of the firm of Demarest & Jorkelson, twine manufacturers, Barclay street, New York.

Possibly Mrs. Garfield Will Speak.

The First Church of Christ on Grove street expect to begin extraordinary meetings on Monday next. All the pastors of the Churches of Christ in New York city are expected to take part, including Pastor Mrs. Laura Lathrop, Third Church of Christ, Forty-fifth street and Fifth avenue; S. F. White, Sixth Church of Christ, 128 East Franklyn avenue; the pastors of the First and Second Christian churches of Brooklyn; W. F. Brown, pastor of the First Church of the Disciples, Newark; and possibly Mrs. Garfield, memorial church, Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Newman Fined $5.

This morning Mrs. Newman was tried before Judge Coddington, charged with calling her neighbor, Mrs. Cain, vile names. Mrs. Newman was represented by ex-Judge Coddington. She was adjudged guilty and fined $5.

Thatcher Will Recover.

A letter from Chicago to-day says that young John Thatcher, to whose case we referred Saturday, will recover, as his injuries, upon examination prove to be not as serious as at first supposed.

THE IDEAL EMPLOYE.

LAST SERMON OF AN INTERESTING SERIES.

A Large Audience at Park Avenue Baptist Church Last Night, to Hear the Pastor, the Rev. J. W. Richardson.

Rev. Mr. Richardson finished his series of sermons at the Park Avenue Baptist church last evening, a large audience being present.

The text was John 6:21 "As ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them likewise." Said the speaker, "Christianity will so effectually end the controversies between employer and employes, and bring the uneven edges of their differences to match, as the rule contained in my text. People are beginning to inquire more than ever before in the history of the world, 'How shall I treat my brother?' and in the relationship of labor, the employer is called upon to act, as he would like to have his help act if he were master. The Ideal Employe will be industrious. To be shrewd enough to get as much out of the employer as possible, with the least possible return, seems to be the aim of many. But that very spirit injures a person's chance in life. He cannot conceal that spirit. There may be a few exceptions: but generally, the employe who completes his task in a careless and unfaithful manner, because his true measure has been taken. An employe who attends to his duties at all times in the ideal workman. No matter if the employe is mean, the employer does by him as he would like to be done by. Such workmen rise in the world. A judge once engaged a carpenter for one dollar, to nail some boards on his back fence. Many a workman would have said, "its cheap pay, and it will be cheap work." Not he. That carpenter went to work planing his board so as to make a good job, just the same as though he was to have received five dollars for his work. A friend came around, saw what he was doing, and said "What! you're so cheap as that? I must look to see what her or not those boards are planed? "The carpenter paused long enough to reply, "I shall know it: I believe in being faithful." He finished the job, and received only a dollar. He was faithful even if his employer was not looking. But how did he derive any benefit for his faithfulness? Years passed in the ordinary course of events, this carpenter with others applied for the contract to build a large public building. The same judge was to decide who should have the contract. He gave the carpenter the contract, because he knew, that the man who would not do a mean job even if his employer was not looking, would be faithful to a higher trust. The contract made the carpenter a rich man. O employe, your employer has a claim upon you; and when you least expect it, he may look to see how you are meeting that claim. He is possibly in a person to be hero in the most menial service Private life has it heroisms. He who lives a faithful life in office, or behind a counter or in the shop is as great a man as was Grant. It sometimes requires great grandeur to be honest. Principles to be manly and faithful to an unworthy employer, then to charge a blazing battery. The ideal employe will be honest. Supposing the concern does not seem to appreciate your labor—never mind, be honest. You are there to your own soul self-approved, and that is worth more than gold. You have to eat, drink and sleep with your conscience: if that conscious you, living is not worth a farthing. "Fellow" (other) "is not honest." Never mind, be honest, and honesty; what we need so do is to so act, that we may have the respect of our own conscience. An employer who does not put truth into his work, does not tell the truth, however fair his words. Be honest. Prove it by truth, by not grudging than old fashioned honesty! The only sure way to reach permanent reconstruction, is the patient climbing of each rung in the ladder of honesty. Is it unfashionable? Then be unfashionable. Is it desirable? Then be desirable. Is it considered to be good by, it will not be long before his associates will discover the leading principles of his life—and confidence and honor come. I have no doubt but what some of my hearers are employed by more or less employers. Prove to your employer that you are honest. Prove to your employer that you are honest. Prove to your employer that you are honest

EDITORIAL NOTES

Getting Rid of Soft Coal Smoke.

Apparently the workers for the abatement of the soft coal smoke nuisance have found a new way of approach toward the object of their attack. They have taken a leaf out of the history of the discovery of natural gas. When gas was introduced into Pittsburg, that city, which had been the smokiest in the union, suddenly became cleaner than either Cincinnati or Chicago. The next step was the reflection: If gas which gushes out of the earth can work such a change as this, why cannot gas be manufactured that will do equally well? And on that phase of the problem the reformers are now working.

Smoke consuming patents have been tried till money, patience and hope were alike exhausted. They have been mostly abandoned. Even where one seemed to promise anything it was impossible to find anybody not steeped in stupidity to regulate it. In Chicago many private individuals burn hard coal, though it is at once more expensive and more difficult to manage. But it has now been certainly found that the real way to consume smoke is not to make it at all, but to use gas instead of coal for all purposes. Gas is becoming cheaper constantly. It is to the interests of gas companies to furnish it as cheaply as it can be made, in order to have it used for both heating and illuminating purposes. It will pay them to do this. Either a cheap fuel gas might perhaps be made, or burners invented which would cause ordinary illuminating gas to be consumed slowly with great heat, little flame and no soot at all. Make gas for fuel cheap enough, and everybody will be only too glad to use it.

An Experiment in Philanthropy.

Not far from New York city is a 125 acre farm, which a benevolent lady has deeded to the Children's Aid society. To this farm will be sent the large boys falling into the society's hands, and the attempt will be made to teach them farming and religion. They are slum boys from 14 to 18 years old, picked out of the very worst environments into which a child of humanity could be buried.

The New York Children's Aid society has been in existence 40 years and has found homes in that time for 75,000 boys and girls on farms, some east, others west. But it was always the small boys who could thus be disposed of. Farmers hesitated, as well they might, to adopt a boy of 14 to 18 years old whose life had been passed under the worst possible auspices. Vague shadows of murder, burglary or arson naturally flitted before the imagination at the thought of taking such a youth into an unprotected rural home. So the society will run a farm of its own and try to teach the big boys morality, manners, religion and farming all at the same time. The farm will accommodate 200. It is a large contract, especially as it is only contemplated to keep the boys on the farm premises a few months each. When they know something of farming, it is hoped they will be able to find employment in the agricultural regions. Every boy thus saved will be so much gain to the country.

Of all the scenes of interest that have transpired at Chicago since the beginning of the fair, none is more picturesque than that in which the vanishing remnant of the Pottawatomie Indians figured. Pathetic, too, it was in its way. The presence of Chief John Young, whose father decided the ground on which Chicago stands to the United States government on the very day John was born, 60 years ago, was a humiliating reminder that the government has never yet paid the Pottawatomies for the land. Another bit of information for most of the country was the disclosure by Chief John Young of the meaning of the name Chicago—"the place where the skunk dwells." This will doubtless please the New York newspapers.[1] Where the World's fair directors, the Chicago board of trade and the Chicago aldermen now make things hump themselves or old John Young's father held his war councils, and he it was who gave to the spot its highly scented name! Peace to the ashes of the old Pottawatomie chief! If his spirit is floating around there anywhere now, its uppermost reflection will doubtless be that the government has not yet paid the last red cent for the land on which the skunk dwells Only Wandering.

Two hundred thousand dollars have already been appropriated for the investigation of pension cases for the current fiscal year, and the recommendation has been made that $300,000 more be added to this sum. The government must take care not to let the investigation of pension cases cost as much as paying the pensions does.

With Joseph Chamberlain in this country advocating a great federation of commerce and amity among all English speaking nations, with Professor Goldwin Smith also here preaching the political amalgamation of the English race, it looks much as if the Islamists were coming to Mohammed.

Investigations are to be made by the sanitary board of health into the cause of a doubt that ever seems to be going to be perfectly purified by the process of filtration through that system.

BEGINNING OF THE END

None Can Tell, Though, the Fate of the Compromise.

MORE LONG SPEECHES TO COME

The Chances in Favor of the Voluntary Proposition, but It May Fail, and Then the Fight Will Be Renewed More Fiercely by Many Men.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The silver question will probably again this week occupy the attention of the senate to the exclusion of every other subject, unless it be some minor matter, like the confirmation of presidential appointments. Even these may be postponed, but to neglect the daily call of the silver advocates who are similarly situated. They will be given an opportunity to present the matter prepared, even though the adjournment of the session shall be definitely settled.

There will also, in all probability, be many speeches in explanation of votes upon the compromise, but these will be comparatively brief.

There is a possibility that the compromise may fail, though all the probabilities are in favor of its success. If it should fail, the throttle will be thrown wide open again, and no one can foretell what the week might bring forth. Such a state of affairs would almost certainly force the senate into a fierce fight over the rules. It is probable that Senator Voorhees will make a summing up speech during the week if the compromise amendment is introduced.

There has been nothing additional done in the way of getting more supporters to the proposed compromise, but it is the intention of the leaders of the movement to push the matter at once and secure sufficient signers to secure favorable action. It is their hope to obtain the consent to take grant to have the names of some of the absentees attached to the bill.

The House In Suspense.

The course of events in the house during the coming week will hinge upon the result of the efforts to put through the compromise at the other end of the capitol. If the compromise should reach the house before the consideration of the bankruptcy bill, which is made a continuing order beginning today, is disposed of, that order will be vacated to the end that prompt action may be had on the financial measure. It is not expected, however, that the compromise bill will reach the house under the most favorable circumstances until the latter end of the week.

Unless it becomes apparent that there might be unreasonable delay in committee, the bill will be referred under the rules to the coinage, weights and measures committee. If there is a disposition to hold it there, a motion will be made to concur in the senate amendments when the bill is taken from speaker's table.

The attitude of the Republicans toward the bill will be governed by the course of the Republican senators. The silver Democrats, too, except perhaps a few extremists, will follow the lead of their political brethren of the senate. In fact, no sort of doubt seems to exist about the house. It will pass, even with opposition, any compromise that goes through the senate.

The bankruptcy bill, unless the financial measure dislodges it, will probably occupy the house for a week. Opposition to this measure in its present form has developed. Messrs Culberson and Bailey, Democrats, and William A. Stone, Republican, of the committee which reported the bill, are among its opponents. Mr. Culberson says that it must be amended in many particulars, while others say that it can never pass unless radical changes are made.

One of these changes is the involuntary clause, by which a man may be put through the bankrupt court even when it is not to his advantage or a majority of his creditors to have such action taken. Mr. Stone points out many defects in the bill which, he says, in the course of time will be corrected.

The Administration Will Not Accept It.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—A man high in the counsels of the administration says: "The President adheres to the position that the purchasing clause of the present law cannot be unconditionally repealed; it is not true that Secretary Carlisle is or has been in favor of the compromise which was reported to the senate from the finance committee on Saturday. He and other members of the cabinet are opposed to that measure."

Postmasters Appointed.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The following fourth class postmasters were appointed: Connecticut—Mrs. Hannah Stokes, Ingleside.

New York—Jacob Mabich, Gallupville; W. D. Brown, Lyons Falls; Frederick Frank, Mount Vernon; Raymond Smith, Sandusky; Frank Snyder, Hoosick Falls; McAdam, Stock Worcester; Ansel Wheeler, Elmira.

Pennsylvania—D. O'Connor, Napleton; Benjamin Bowers, Bowersville.

No Public Building Bills.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—It is almost settled that there will be no public building bills reported at this congress.

The Pope In the War Cloud's Shadow.

ROME, Oct. 23.—Commander Barnard and Minister Porter had an audience with the pope today. A session succeeding the ovation at the presentation of the papal funds and the address of the treasurer in the Vatican, by reason of war, to a place of safety.

Big Parasitic Meeting.

DUBLIN, Oct. 23.—A big Parnellite demonstration was held here. Resolutions were enthusiastically adopted denouncing the Irish members who voted against the payment of evicted tenants and the repeal of the coercion acts.

Killed by a Railroad Detective.

CHARLESTON, Oct. 23.—Railroad Detective Hunter of the Richmond and Danville railway shot and killed John Bonaparte, Greenville. Before was drunk and fired first at the detective.

Confessed to the Wrottan Murders.

CHARLESTON, Oct. 23.—Mr. James Stuart, who is full of drinking before the grand jury, confessed to killing Wrottan's brother-in-law, shooting on each leader himself. All are [illegible]

Operations in Panama Arrest.

[illegible]

Death List Increases.

The Victims of the Battle Creek Wreck Now Number Twenty-Seven.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Oct. 23.—Albert H. Bradley of Toronto, another of the injured in the Grand Trunk wreck, died here this morning, making 18 in all. Mrs. J. C. Cameron, the only one of the 11 deaths—swells the number of deaths to 28.

Friends have identified one of the burned bodies as that of the widow of Dr. Adkins of Edwardsburg, Mich. She had left New York on the 13th inst. to visit her daughter in Edwardsburg, and when her baggage got through safely. Her friends did not know she had taken the train that was wrecked, and they gave the matter little thought for some time, and after an almost fruitless search her remains were picked out and sent home.

Of the 27 bodies lying in the morgue here only 12 have been identified, and the following is a list of them:

Miss A. W. Worthman, New York city; Mrs. Eveline A. Aldrich, Edwardsburg, Mich.; Mrs. Benjamin O. Worthman, 13 years, New York city; J. W. Beardsley, Watkins, N. Y.; William W. Henry, East Greenwich, N. Y.; Edwin J. Magoon, Walwick, N. Y.; Mrs. Jennie Bradley, Illinois; Mrs. Thomas B. Stringer, Port Dover, Ont.; Frank H. Smith, Fort Plain, N. Y.; Charles C. Van Buren, Sgendi Bay, N. Y.; Mrs. Charles C. Van Dusen, Sprout Brook, N. Y.; Thomas A. McGarvey, London, Ont.

The remains of these cannot have all been shipped home, accompanied by friends who came here to identify them. There are now 14 unidentified bodies. The following have been added to among those deemed to death, but cannot be identified: Mrs. A. E. Warner, Brooklyn, N. Y., and Miss Ella Fisher, Jersey City, N. J.

The coroner has been made that all bodies unidentified—and that will be at least one-half of them—be buried in one lot in Oak Hill cemetery and a monument erected there.

Twenty-two badly injured patients are still at the Nichols Memorial home. All are doing well with the exception of Mrs. Henry Vance, who will probably die from her injuries. General Claim Agent Fiske of Toronto is here and has already settled with a number of the injured. Governor Rich and State Railroad Commissioner Billings are here to help conduct the investigation which was begun by the coroner's jury today.

TWO LYNCHINGS.

One Was a Colored Murderer and the Other a Colored Poisoner.

CHATTANOOGA, Oct. 23.—Friday evening near Sweetwater, 25 miles north of here, an orphan girl, Miss Rose Boring, was found dead in a secluded spot, with her throat cut from ear to ear. Examination showed she had been outraged before being murdered.

A dispatch just received says: A negro named Gamble was arrested Sunday morning, charged with the murder of Miss Boring, and made a complete confession.

In the afternoon a mob of infuriated citizens forcibly took Gamble from the officers and strung him up to a tree a few yards from the scene of his diabolical crime.

Ned Jenkins, a negro, was lynched in Clayton county, Ga. He had confessed that he poisoned William Burk's family of seven a few days ago.

A Ferryboat's Boiler Exploded.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 23.—The old ferryboat Bellevue, which has for the last six months seen service as a tow boat between this city and Moscow, O., exploded one of her boilers while lying at her wharf. Five men and one woman on board were blown into the water or stunned by the explosion. Robert Simmons, a fireman, was dangerously scalded, but it is not thought fatally.

Sold Her Stove and Bought Whisky.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 23.—Mrs. Maggie Meredith, who for the past year has supported a drunken husband and three children, grew discouraged last Friday, sold her stove, bought a quart of whisky and after kissing her children goodby left the house. Her dead body has just been found. Physicians say she died of alcoholism.

Ran Into an Open Switch.

TOTTENVILLE, N. Y., Oct. 23.—A train on the Amboy division of the Staten Island Rapid Transit railroad ran into an open switch here. The train consisted of three cars and was standing in the depot. Conductor Frank Davis was caught between the cars and fatally injured. Nobody killed. None of the passengers was injured.

Prince of Wales Calls on Eulalie.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—Prince Antoine d'Orleans and the Infanta Eulalie have been staying at the Savoy hotel since Oct. 19, the Spanish princess will remain about five days longer in London. She does not attract much attention. The Prince of Wales called upon her on Saturday afternoon.

To Improve the Fog Signals.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Oct. 23.—The United States government boat Chester is in this harbor with Professor Hazen and a number of other prominent scientists aboard. The object of the visit is to make an important test with a view to the improvement of fog signals.

Will Offer the Viking Ship.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Captain Anderson of Christiania ship, which crossed the Atlantic from Norway for the World's fair, is in town on business with the state department today and offer the ship to the United States government on condition that it be kept in Washington.

Sunday Bulletin Will Follow the Yacht Race.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The Sunday World has publicly announced that it will enter from the start. The string of the Sunday bulletin stables will be disposed of after the race is over, which begins on the Bay Queen track next Saturday.

Quarles's Suicide Premeditated.

MAY BENBOWE, Mass., Oct. 23.—Ex-Treasurer Horatio Durfee of the Mechanics' mills, Fall River, who shot himself on Saturday, left a letter showing that he had [illegible]

Divorced While Tee Was Waiting.

TACOMA, Oct. 23.—Mrs. George Burbank was granted a divorce here by a Tacoma court while three minutes after filing her petition. This is believed to break the record.

Lucy Stone's Bequest.

BOSTON, Oct. 23.—The funeral of Lucy Stone will be devoted more than half a century to the cause of woman's rights, took place on the Church of the Disciples.

Fatal Double Fight Down Town in Brooklyn.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 23.—There were [illegible]

Operations in Panama Arrest.

[illegible]

Drowned After a Steamboat Collision.

[illegible]

Killed by Indians.

WINNEMUCCA, Nev., Oct. 23.—A Bannock Indian shot and instantly killed an Indian and a squaw and wounding a second squaw. A fight between the Indians followed in which [illegible]

Will Offer His Field to Best Seeders.

[illegible]

Will Sprinkle Ash Oil.

[illegible]

Will Not Be Hanged.

[illegible]

Will Not Be Hanged.

[illegible]

SAW LIFE'S SEAMY SIDE

Seven Christian Women In Chicago Went Slumming.

THEY MADE AN OFFICIAL TOUR.

Representatives of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, United Gunsmiths and Other Steady Pious United Power Protectors.

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Seven members of the Woman's Christian Temperance union made the round of the police stations and other places of vice on the Sunday morning. They were under police protection, and their object was to secure evidence and information of a character that might help to save saving sisters. Their investigations were confined to that portion of "Darkest Chicago" known as the "Levee" district. The women, however, were completely protected by what they saw.

It was the first slumming experience of the majority of them, and the revelations spilled on all sides by distorted streets filled them with appalling force. As they proceeded they sought to do missionary work, and some ladies had brought charity of the wealthy heiress.

The party was made up of members of the Indiana Women's Christian Temperance union, including Miss Mary Hay of Indianapolis, Mrs. E. L. Calkins of South Bend, vice president of the union; Mrs. Sarah Hobbs, Miss Hannah Tonkin, Miss Ilus of Elkhart, Mrs. Addie Fields and Miss Leonora Ayers of Indianapolis and Mrs. L. Mendenhall and Mrs. Gertrude Hobbs of Richmond. They were escorted by Detective Trehorn and Niggemeyer of the Central station and Charles L. Stevens of the Levee and H. S. Fulton of Richmond, Ind.

To Observe Moral Conditions.

The desire of the temperance women to investigate Chicago's slums grew out of the convention recently held.

During the session, which was attended by women of note from every land, the moral condition of the great city was formed one of the chief subjects of discussion. Tales of crime and vice were told by the leaders which horrified those less accustomed to the sights of the world's capital, especially after night. Some of the scenes described were of a character that could hardly be believed.

The seven Indiana women, all of them intensely interested in public charities and in the rescue of the fallen, had never visited the slums of a great city, with the single exception of Miss Hay, whose slumming experience embraces New York and London. They discussed as expedition which would bring them in contact with "the other half of the world," and decided that a trip through the district inhabited by those people would give them a more correct idea of what they had heard and read.

If what they had heard proved true, an seeing the reality they would be able more forcibly to impress their sisters with the necessity for more vigorous work among classes whose needs had scarcely been attempted by the sisters of the Salvation Army.

Accordingly they invited Charles L. Stevens of the Levee office, Chicago, and H. S. Fulton, lieutenant of one of the wards, to act as escorts. On Saturday night a call was made upon Lieutenant Haas of the Central station, and Detectives Trehorn and Niggemeyer were ordered to meet the party at the Harrison Street station at 1 o'clock in the morning.

At the appointed hour the detectives led the way down Harrison Clark street and then south through the Levee.

The first stop was at 441 Clark street. Admittance here was denied.

"Gentlemen, as law enforcement men here tonight," was the objection, "that the parlors are full. Call again early tomorrow night, and I'll be glad to see you."

No. 441 was then visited.

Followed by a Crowd.

When they emerged, they found their presence had become known, for a crowd of curious persons had assembled to greet them and dogged their steps as they went from place to place throughout the Levee—down even to the basement resorts near the "Bridge" under the Twelfth street viaduct.

In each place visited the women secured stories from the inmates with which to enlighten future conferences regarding the ways in which women fall.

In one place a man who was under the influence of liquor, catching one of the party by the arm, said, "Come, girls, have a dance with me."

Detective Trehorn interposed, "These ladies are not women, and you should treat them as such."

"I don't care if they are. I pass the manner. "They can dance just the same." Trouble was averted only by the flash of the officer's star.

Miss Hay said afterward: "I have been in every part of New York and I must say that Chicago goes ahead both in the vice of the district [illegible] and in the building, however, and the visit has extended my knowledge of the world's capital."

It was an experience which the ladies who were with me will never forget, and from which two of them will not recover for many weeks. The tour was closed by the scenes that their condition borders on nervous prostration.

"I'll never look one of the ladies today and on [illegible] charge of others hereafter start at 10 o'clock. I have an idea that but the most fiendishly worried over last night's experience.

"It is an entirely personal matter understood by the ladies for their own information. Many of them are active public workers, and I would be sorry to have it known for their own benefit alone. The union had nothing to do with the investigation.

"I will say further that the ladies [illegible] to grounds [illegible] of [illegible] dead and born of ill fame?"

"I think not. Of course the ladies concerned may be found at other hostile one [illegible] but I don't believe they will. The ladies cannot cover too wide a field of [illegible] It is now taken up with the temperance work."

The South African Fighting.

CAPE TOWN, Oct. 23.—Two British colonial [illegible] the Matabele [illegible] Shangani river and the Bembesi river. [illegible] Shangani hills, avoiding the rivers and the fords. [illegible] Matabele expects to reach Buluwayo today.

Drunken Indians and a Scrap.

WINNEMUCCA, Nev., Oct. 23.—A drunken Indian shot and instantly killed an Indian and a squaw and wounded a second squaw. A fight between the Indians followed in which [illegible]

Ellis Stanton Slaughter

"I Had a Running Sore on my ankle five years, the doctors pronounced it an eczema. I continued to increase in size, until I commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures

Hood's Pills cure Sick Headache, 25c.

New : Proprietor !

HENRY E. WINDHAM,

Arlington : Hotel !

Somerset street and Greenbrook road.

Regular and transient boarders.

First-class bar and stable attached.

ROCHESTER BEERS.

The success already attained by this brand of Lager Beer is beyond expectation. No other Beer ever handled in this city has had such remarkable sales.

Try It !

Bottled Liquors,

Imported Beers and Ales are having a very large sale at this season. My stock is first-class, and it will pay you to investigate.

FRANK LINKE'S

Wholesale Liquor Establishment,

45 WEST FRONT STREET.

Telephone Call, 197.

The only place to buy

Sea Food !

is at

TERRY'S

North Avenue Sea Food Market,

where you will find the biggest Stock in Plainfield. Also, all other kinds in season, at the lowest prices.

JOSEPH SOHL,

PRACTICAL

Electrician

49 NORTH AVENUE.

Plainfield, N. J.

Estimates furnished on Electric Light Wiring, Burglar Alarm and Bell Work and repairing of same. Order in.

Electric and Gas Fixtures.

MORE SLAUGHTER !

to close out our entire line of

Neglige SHIRTS !

We offer them at the ridiculously low price of

85 CENTS.

These goods are worth $1.25 and $1.50. If you don't need two now, buy and keep until next season. Sizes, 32c. from $1.25—50c. on each size.

Hallock & Davis,

New number, 109 West Front street, opposite Somerset street.

World's Fair Excursion Tickets !

Going and returning via all the different lines, with or without hotel accommodations at

FRANK'S

Lowest Rate Railroad and Steamship Agency,

241 AND 247 BROADWAY, Corner Leonard Street, NEW YORK.

Lowest rates to all parts of the World. Tickets purchased and exchanged. Checks for baggage reserved. Baggage transferred.

MEMBER AMERICAN TICKET BROKERS' ASSOCIATION.

Educational.

HARNED ACADEMY.

BOARDING AND DAY SCHOOL.

New School Buildings.
Competent Instructors.
Students Prepared for College, For Business, and In Special Subjects.

For circulars, address "Harned Academy, Plainfield, N. J.

Plainfield Manual Training School,

209 EAST FRONT STREET.

The course of study includes fifteen lessons each week, in the various branches taught, for which a charge of one dollar per week. Lessons in any of the branches can be taken singly, at correspondingly low prices. Tuition will be received on Mondays, Tuesdays and Fridays. JOHN DeLEIBLE, Principal.

Madame Iza Lezem's Dancing School.

Every Friday evening, from 7 to 9:30 o'clock. Hasbrouck House, Front street. Also classes in Physical Culture, Delsarte, etc., every Tuesday and Friday, from 3 to 5 p. m. For particulars, address 139 West Front.

Plainfield Seminary,

re-opened

SEPTEMBER 14, 1893.

(26th year.)

MISS E. E. KENYON, Principal.

LAWRENCE LESSONS.

Instruction and entertainment in French Literature. Class of private lessons at residences in Plainfield. Also public lectures illustrated by Stereopticon views from original Parisian sketches. Terms, $2 per course, and tend lectures free, with to Prof. Brous, care of Miss Dickinson and Newton, 17 La Grande avenue.

MISS FAWCETT'S

School and Kindergarten, 21 Washington avenue. Special Department for girls. Special Department for boys, and Kindergarten. Girls prepared for college.

MISS JEANNETTE MATTHEWS,

Of Cornell University, gives lessons at her home parents or at pupils' residences. Pupils may have regular practice hour at music parlors. Latest methods in music. Best references. No. 30 East Front street.

GERMAN SCHOOL.

Corner Grove street and Mercer avenue, opens on Saturday, October 14, 1893, at 10 o'clock a. m. Rev. A. Klonks. 10 5 tu

Another one in the race, and

A. G. VOGELER

takes the lead.

LOOK AT THESE PRICES.

Porterhouse Steak	15c.
Sirloin	15c.
Round	12c.
Chuck	8c.
Roast Beef	10c.
Spare Ribs	14c.
Veal	8c.
Leg Mutton	12c.
Shoulder	10c.
Spring Lamb	15c.
Jersey Hams	15c.
Fresh Country Pork	14c.
Fresh Sausage	14c.
Pickled Tripe	8c.
Pickled Pigs' Feet	10c.

Headquarters for Bologna. Bologna made fresh twice a day. Call and get your money's worth.

Union Meat Market,

131 WEST FRONT STREET.

9 14 1m A. G. Vogeler, Manager.

Do Your Corns Hurt?

They can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of

ELECTRIC

Corn Cure.

A remedy that never fails. A guarantee in each 10th cent box. Cost if a complete cure is not effected. No money is to be paid for it. Price, 25c. per box. Sold postpaid to any address on receipt of price. Remit in postal note or silver, as any risk. A sample free on application.

ALLEN & CO.,

6 30 tf Box 1500, Richmond, Va.

U. B. CRANE,

has the largest stock of

Fine Fall HATS,

in Plainfield.

12 WEST FRONT STREET.

$55!

Six Days at the World's Fair.

A WEEK OF HOLIDAYS.

Railroad tickets, hotel accommodations, admission tickets, and eleven attractive features included, and eleven days and ten nights. To school, church, family, musical and other CLUBS, to parties of congenial friends, to societies and lodges, to Grand Army bodies and lodges, we offer special advantages.

Cheapest and luxury at a minimum of cost. We have exclusive arrangements with the great railways terminal in Chicago.

Send for circulars, or submit an itinerary, and we will give you prices.

WORLD'S COLUMBIAN TOURIST COMPANY,

239 Broadway, New York.

GEORGE C. McEWEN,

Agent for New Jersey,

494 Broad street, Newark.

THE BEE HIVE!

Infants' long Cashmere Cloaks, $1.50, $2.00, $2.50.

Children's Elder down Coats, $1.49, $2.00, $2.50.

Also a full line of Flannel Shirts, Infants' Shawls and Sack.

Fall : Underwear.

Children's merino Vests and Pants, 14-inch, 15c., 16-inch, 18c., 20-inch, 19c., 22-inch, 25c., 24-inch, 29c.

Ladies' natural wool Vests and Pants, 16-inch, 20c., 18-inch, 25c., 20-inch, 29c., 22-inch, 35c., 24-inch, 40c.

Ladies' Merino Vests, 25c., 35c. and 50c.

Ladies' Wool Vests, 50c. and $1.00.

Ladies' Union Suits, 75c. and $1.00.

Men's White Merino Shirts and Drawers, 39c., 50c. and 75c.

Men's Natural Wool Shirts and Drawers, 75c., $1.00 and $1.00.

Men's Scarlet Shirts and Drawers, 75c., $1.00 and $1.24.

Louis Callman,

222 West Front Street.

The New Address

of Seguine's Livery Stable,

is 18 West Second

Street,

in the Elkwood building.

Telephone Call, 26.

Fine horses, carriages, vehicles of all kinds. Horses boarded. Careful drivers.

Cleaner Coal!

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't,

9 BROADWAY, COR. FOURTH STREET, invites the public to inspect the operation of his newly erected coal screens, which he confidently believes enables him to deliver cleaner coal than is possible by any other method of screening.

UPPER LEHIGH AND ROSENTROCK CHAS in best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.

ROUGH AND SCREENED LEHIGH.

He would also announce recently increased facilities for forwarding and handling of lime, and is prepared to execute orders for same in the most prompt manner and at lowest rates.

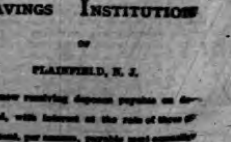
Miscellaneous Cards.

H. F. SPENCER,

Grocer and Confectioner, 76 and 78 Second street, Park cider vinegar, 2 years old, warranted, W. G. C. C. rock, yellow clingstone peaches, wholesale and retail. Fresh vegetables, cabbage, lettuce, tomato, pepper, cauliflower, sweet potato, and egg plants a specialty.

PLAINFIELD

GOODLESS EXCAVATING COMPANY



JONES & CO.

Work quickly and thoroughly done. Prices reasonable. Our specialty is [illegible] Orders promptly attended to. Yard opposite Terminal depot, Plainfield. Telephone connection with Lovell Garden and Field Fence Co. 9 7 tf

THE DIME SAVINGS INSTITUTION

OF

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually.

JOHN W. MURRAY, President.
WILLIAM DUNN, Vice-President.
NATHAN HARPER.
ELIAS H. POPE, Treasurer.

FOR A NAVAL DUEL

Mello Orders the Republican to Find and Whip the Tiradentes.

MONTEVIDEO, Oct. 22.—It is probable that one of the chief naval engagements of the Brazilian revolution will be fought off the coast of Uruguay. Admiral Mello ordered the cruiser Republica to sail from Santos for this section, and she arrived Sunday. The cruiser and all on board were quarantined and will be kept there for two days.

It is believed here that her object is to attack the Tiradentes as soon as the latter leaves the dock.

When the news of the professions of allegiance to Peixoto of the officers and crew of the Tiradentes reached Mello, he ordered the Republica to Montevideo to prevent the Tiradentes reaching Rio.

The machinery which had been removed from the Tiradentes so as to render her useless in case the insurgents captured her while in dock here has been replaced, and she is now ready to sail.

Admiral Gonsalves has been placed in command, and she is manned by 100 government soldiers sent here from Rio. They arrived recently on the steamers Desterro and Santos and were quarantined. Both vessels are released.

On the arrival of the cruiser Republica they steamed closer into the harbor for safety. Both are now anchored near the city. It is hoped by Gonsalves and his officers that the government of Uruguay will protect them and prevent any violation of international law through an attack by the rebel cruisers.

It is believed here that the Republica, which is well manned and equipped, can easily defeat the Tiradentes.

Letters have been received from Toulon in which it is stated that the officers and crew of the Brazilian cruiser Riachuelo, stationed there, refuse to obey orders from Peixoto. They reaffirm their allegiance to the cause of Admiral Mello and his adherents.

SHE SAW THE MURDER.

A Young Woman Looks Upon a Tragedy From Her Bedroom Window.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 22.—Samuel Dorsey, a widely known colored citizen, was murdered and robbed by two unknown men on one of the principal thoroughfares of the town while on his way home.

A young lady named Nettie Holmes was a witness of the murder from her bedroom window, but was unable to recognize the assassins, who dashed down the street after completing their work.

Two colored men have been arrested on suspicion, but it is generally believed they are the wrong parties. The town is wild with excitement, and armed posses in search of the murderers are scouring the country in every direction.

A report from Johnston station, on the the Chartiers railroad, says Detective Bolton and a posse have two men penned up in a coal shaft.

Murder In Front of a Church.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 23.—At Guyandotte, two miles east of Huntington, W. Va., Milford Wellman and Owen Pleasants, two colored barbers, settled an old feud. They met on one of the main streets of the place, and a fight ensued, in which the former used a knife on Pleasants, cutting a fearful gash in his side. The latter, enraged by hate and pain, pursued his antagonist, and in front of the Methodist Episcopal church, where services were being held, shot Wellman dead. Pleasants is also dangerously wounded and will probably die.

Killed Wife, Mother-in-law and Himself.

SIOUX FALLS, Oct. 23.—Harry Lacey, a lawyer and real estate agent, shot and killed his wife, his mother-in-law, Mrs. Lyda Bunker, and then walked out of the house and sent a bullet through his own brain. A year ago Mrs. Lacey applied for a divorce, but the proceedings were dropped, and Lacey and his wife were living together. Lacey's two children witnessed the murder and suicide.

Eloped With a Huckster.

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Oct. 23.—Lizzie Graham, the only daughter of Lee Graham, a wealthy farmer living near Edinburg, eloped with George Cowan, a huckster of Sharon. Mr. Graham aroused the neighborhood, and all night Lawrence county roads were scoured for the missing pair. No trace of them has yet been found.

Blew a Big Hole In His Head.

OIL MILLS, N. H., Oct. 23.—Willie Hamill, a 15-year-old boy, had started out gunning when he was overtaken by some friends who were riding in a hay wagon. In clambering over the wagon the gun was discharged, the charge in both barrels tearing a hole through his head nearly six inches in diameter.

Home Rulers In Massachusetts.

DORCHESTER, Mass., Oct. 23.—The home rule movement was discussed at length at a meeting of St. Peter's branch of the Irish National federation held in Music hall. O'Donovan Rossa, the Irish patriot, added to the excitement last night by lecturing on "The English in Ireland."

Another Cyclone From the West Indies.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The West India cyclone was central last evening near Hatteras and today will probably move thence northward along the Atlantic coast, extended by severe gales and heavy rain along the middle Atlantic and south New England coasts.

Drove the Landlady to Attempt Suicide.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Mrs. Mary Snowden, a widow, 60 years old, attempted to end it all by cutting her throat at 20 East Twenty-fifth street. She had been keeping a boarding house on Eighty-fourth street, but her boarders did not pay promptly.

Lowered the Hundred Mile Record.

BUFFALO, Oct. 23.—J. W. Linneman of the Press Cycling club broke A. B. Gorbler's 100 mile record of 4 hours from Erie to Buffalo, and also lowered his own American record of 5 hours, 48 minutes and 45 seconds by 9 minutes and 20 seconds.

Four Victims of a Gas Explosion.

MADISON, Ind., Oct. 23.—Mrs. Bailey and her youngest child, who were burned in the gas explosion here, died and were buried in the same grave. The oldest child cannot recover, and the other child, the fourth victim, will also probably die.

Movements of Ocean Steamers.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The following ocean steamships are due at this port today: The Berlin, from Southampton, and the Elbe, from Bremen.

Forest Fire In Massachusetts.

FOXBORO, Mass., Oct. 23.—A terrific forest fire is raging in the vicinity of the Robbins estate at Walpole.

Sunday Attendance at the World's Fair.

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Paid admissions to the World's fair Sunday, 180,578.

FRANCE BURIES A HERO.

Funeral of Marshal MacMahon, the Duke of Magenta.

LAID AT REST IN THE INVALIDES.

Followed by the Only Surviving Marshal of the Empire and Surrounded by Pomp and Splendor, the Remains of the Great Soldier Were Placed In a Historic Tomb.

PARIS, Oct. 22.—Amid all the pomp of peace and war the remains of Marshal MacMahon, ex-president of France and duke of Magenta, were conveyed from the Church of La Madeleine, across the river Seine, to the Hotel des Invalides, there to rest until the great reveille is sounded by the heavenly trumpeter.

When the body of the late hero of the marshals of France reached the city from Mont Cresson, it was taken to the Church of La Madeleine. The modest horse-hearing the ex-president's remains was followed from the railroad station by two old servants of the dead soldier, who carried the Marshal's baton, decorations and other insignia of office. The insignia of the marshal of France was displayed in black velvet cushions, and the little cortege was respectfully saluted by the crowds of merry-makers flocking the streets in consequence of the festivities prepared in honor of the Russian sailors.

The Place de la Concorde, the Rue Royale, the Quai d'Orsay, Boulevard Latour-Maubourg and all other streets and boulevards near the Madeleine and the Hotel des Invalides, the leading place in life and death of the veterans of France, were crowded with people anxious to see the funeral.

The Church of La Madeleine was draped with mourning bands, presenting a peculiarly sad appearance amid so much fete decoration in the immediate neighborhood. It is true that along the route followed by the funeral procession there were many emblems of mourning displayed, especially in the draping of tricolor flags, which were displayed from windows on the streets leading from La Madeleine to the Hotel des Invalides.

Sincere Tributes From Royalty.

The coffin, covered with its black pall, dotted with silver stars and having upon it the marshal's chapeau and sword, as well as the two black velvet cushions studded with the various decorations the dead soldier had received during life, including the Russian Order of St. Andrews, the Golden Fleece of Spain, the Legion of Honor, etc., was borne from the front of the main altar, where it had rested all night, and was placed upon a catafalque. A floral wreath sent by Emperor William of Germany was composed of violets and lilacs, with a large palm leaf in the center on which was the letter "W" and the imperial crown. The floral tribute of the Russians was surmounted by a laurel crown, to which was attached a broad, white silk ribbon, upon which was embroidered "Russian Mediterranean Squadron."

King Humbert of Italy, the city of Milan and a number of Italian officers sent beautiful wreaths of flowers to be placed upon the casket containing the remains of the famous general, but the largest of all was the offering of the French army. It was composed of roses, heliotropes, marguerites and carnations.

Shortly before half past 10 the entire route leading from the Church of La Madeleine to the Hotel des Invalides had been lined with troops, which kept the roadway clear for the passage of the hearse. After the addresses a most impressive march of the troops at the Hotel des Invalides occurred.

After this last ceremony and last tribute of respect upon the part of the military authorities the coffin containing the body of Marshal MacMahon was slowly borne to the vault reserved for marshals of France, which is situated beneath the chapel.

Marshal MacMahon's son and about 50 of the most prominent officers and others present took part in this last ceremony, during which the choir chanted "De Profundis" in a most impressive manner.

When all the funeral ceremonies were completed, Marshal Canrobert was presented with the remnants of two flags by Crimean veterans, whose regiments had carried these flags in the Crimean war with Marshal Canrobert in every place where they had served during that famous campaign.

The German ambassador and the other prominent representatives of Emperor William present were unable to find carriages at the conclusion of the ceremonies at the Hotel des Invalides and were obliged to return to the German embassy on foot. On their way to the embassy the people made a respectful passage for them and in no way attempted to insult the much hated German uniform.

There were few accidents in the funeral obsequies of Marshal MacMahon. Some people fell from trees, and others were trampled upon or run over. In all of the churches there were references to the dead soldier, and the "Te Deum" for the Russian fleet was followed by the "De Profundis" for the marshal. Many of the theaters remained closed.

The Fighting at Melilla.

MADRID, Oct. 23.—There was no further fighting Sunday near the Spanish lines at Melilla. The Moors have shown remarkable bravery. After the first shots on Saturday were fired at them from the gunboat and fortress they fell back to the cover of the beach and returned the fire of the warship, their shots falling only 100 yards from the Venadito.

The Moors have removed their families and household goods out of gun range and are now occupying their former positions. They continue to construct earthworks and have in their possession two fieldpieces —one old and one new—and both manned by renegade Christians. The Spanish minister of war has ordered that the Moorish force available amounts to about 50,000 fighting men. On the other hand, General Margallo calculates that the Moorish force does not number more than 30,000 men. The Spanish government is preparing five transports, which will convey reinforcements to Melilla.

Want a $12,000 Purse.

LONDON, Eng., Oct. 23.—Jem Mace, New York manager of the National Sporting club, to offer a purse of $12,000 for the fight between Mitchell and Corbett. The directors of the club will confer at a meeting tomorrow.

The Kaiser Goes to Dresden.

BERLIN, Oct. 23.—Kaiser Wilhelm and suit departed for Dresden to attend the military jubilee of King Albert of Saxony.

World's Fair Attendance Falling Off.

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—The attendance at the fair during the past week was less by several thousands than that of the preceding week.

TRAINS MET HEAD ON.

A Wreck In Which Several Persons Were Badly Hurt, Caused by a Prank.

LIMA, O., Oct. 23.—A bad wreck occurred on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago road in a dense fog at Monroeville, west of this city. The combination of a mixed and vestibule train was run into by an east bound train. Engineer Cowan was frightfully scalded and was taken from his engine by a force of men who had come to help. Fireman Dolly was caught and badly hurt. One of his legs was broken, and it is thought he is injured internally. Brakeman Fred Hunt was found by a rescuer, the track unconscious and suffering from wounds which may result fatally.

The first car from the engine was not damaged, but the two following were smashed and some of the passengers hurt, two of them seriously. They are Mrs. Anna Crawford of North Jackson and Mrs. Nettie Wilson of Allegheny. The former has a lost cut on her head and is otherwise injured, while the latter is cut and bruised.

On the west bound train the engineer and fireman escaped, but the tender of the engine, which was driven completely through the baggage car, caught Express Rider Stevens and confined him under the debris and it is thought fatally hurt him. The injured trainmen were sent to the hospital at Fort Wayne.

Female White Capper Caught In a Trap.

STRONGSBURG, Neb., Oct. 23.—A large and well developed ammunition bomb went in the town of Osceola. The Woman's Christian Temperance union organized itself into a white cap society for the express purpose of chastising several evident young women whose reputation for chastity is not above reproach. By the use of decoys the white caps succeeded in capturing their victims, and one of the victims was flogged into insensibility, while two others escaped with their clothing torn from their persons and generally bruised. Eleven of the perpetrators were arrested.

Killed by a Switch Engine.

BUFFALO, Oct. 23.—An accident occurred at the Oneida street grade crossing of the Lake Shore railroad, by which Superintendent A. J. Porter of the Buffalo Street railway lost his life, and his wife and child were injured. The Porter family were driving across the tracks when they were struck by a switch engine coming at full speed.

Train Robbers Frightened Her to Death.

SANTA FE, Oct. 23.—Mrs. T. P. Martin of Lone, wife of Dr. Martin and a native of Pittsburgh, Pa., died here from nervous prostration brought on at the time of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe holdup at Cimarron, Kan., three months ago. She was a passenger on the train and never recovered from the fright.

One Way to Escape a Mad Bull.

HAMBURG, N. Y., Oct. 23.—Benjamin Watters, 19 years old, while about to slaughter a 2 year-old bull, was gored by the animal. The infuriated creature had made one plunge on his victim and backed off for the second, when Watters probably saved his life by jumping completely over the bull's head.

Railroad Men Consider Their Grievances.

EASTON, Pa., Oct. 23.—A special union meeting of the Brotherhood men connected with the railroads centering in this city was held here to consider various grievances which will be laid before the officers of the Lehigh Valley railroad at Bethlehem today by the general board of adjustment.

Sullivan Would Not Referee the Fight.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 23.—Ex-Champion J. L. Sullivan, who is playing at one of the theaters in this city, in an interview says that he has not been asked to referee in the coming Corbett-Mitchell contest, and declared if he was offered the chance he would not accept it.

Found Hanging Dead In a Cemetery.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 23.—Martin Lenkan, a butcher of 709 Bushwick avenue, who has been missing from his home since Sept. 6, was found hanging dead to a tree in an obscure part of Cypress Hills cemetery.

Fell Dead on the Doorstep.

NORWOOD, Ont., Oct. 23.—W. J. Hicks forcibly ejected John Hill from his house for insulting his wife. He struck Hill in the face and knocked him down. Hill fell against a stone doorstep and died.

Shot One of the Burglars.

PORT DALHOUSIE, Ont., Oct. 23.—Burglars entered the canal toll's office. Assistant Toll Keeper Bryden shot one of them dead. His pals secured the body after firing two shots.

Legal Advertisements.

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY.

To Elizabeth Mary Whelan and Patrick Whelan, her husband, Virgil Conrad and Alice Conrad, his wife, Edward Whelan and Gertrude Whelan, his wife, husband, and John Allen and Ann Jane Allen, his wife.

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the 3rd day of the said month, in a cause wherein John P. Marsh is complainant, and you and others are defendants, you are required, to appear and plead, answer or demur, to the bill of said complainant, on or before the 4th Monday of October next, or the said bill will be taken as confessed against you.

The said bill is filed to foreclose a mortgage given by Elizabeth Mary Whelan and Patrick Whelan, her husband, to Virgil Conrad, dated the 1st day of March A. D. 1888, and you, Elizabeth Mary Whelan, Virgil Conrad, Alice Conrad, his wife, Edward Whelan and Gertrude Whelan, his wife, husband, and John Allen and Ann Jane Allen, his wife, husband, are made parties because you each claim or may claim to have an interest in the premises in question in parties of said bonds.

Dated August 1, 1893.

NELSON BAXTER,
Solicitor of Complainant,
Cor. Park avenue and Front street,
Plainfield, N. J.

8 15 6t

BEFORE BUYING LAMPS

See the new lamp—

The "Miller,"

Patented 1893.

It has no equal. It is

The Lamp you Want

Every Lamp Warranted.
We make a full line of

Fish and Sanitol Lamps.

Send for circular, or call at

EDWARD MILLER & CO.,

No. 23 and 25 College Place, N. Y.
(Near Broadway, Chambers and Warren sts., 2 blocks from Post Office.)

EDWARD MILLER & CO. have now

Sold on having the "Miller" Burn your Lamps.

Van Eps,

THE NEW JEWELER.

12 Park Avenue. Also a large variety of Musical Goods.

Bellemonte Fight a Deadly Pistol Duel.

Glenwhyne, Ky., Oct. 23.—A shooting occurred here at the Bellemonte hotel between Lloyd Cole, in which the former was killed and the latter dangerously wounded. Jones had reported to the police that Cole and others were engaged in a game of craps.

The Sleeping Powder Was Deadly.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 23.—James B. McMeekin, a prominent lawyer of this city, was found dead in his office by the police at 9 o'clock this morning. Besides him was an empty bottle of Dover's powder. The name of his death is not as yet known.

A Fatal Fight In a Resort.

MEMPHIS, Oct. 23.—While Charles Brown, Thomas Jefferson Pike and another young man were out in a skiff an altercation took place between Pike and Brown. Brown was thrown into the river, and he was drowned.

TWICE TRIMMED TICKINGS.

In a recent battle in Brazil 1,000 persons were killed.

In Owego, N. Y., 400 women voters have registered.

Postmaster Brown of Brunswick, Ga., was stricken with yellow fever.

Bob Brewer, the notorious Georgia outlaw, was captured and is now locked up.

William Tatum, an old resident of Corning, N. Y., was killed by falling from a tree.

Charles H. Fisher, secretary of the state board of health of Rhode Island, died at Buffalo.

The football game between Princeton and Cornell at New York was won by Princeton by a score of 45 to 0.

A thousand men are thrown out of work by a fire which destroyed the American Ax company's works at East Douglass, Mass.

Wesley C. Rippey, the old man who shot John W. Mackay on Feb. 24 last, has been sentenced to pay a fine of $200 or go to jail.

A general strike will be ordered on the entire Santa Fe system if the employees are not paid September wages by next Saturday.

The First brigade, N. G., N. Y., comprising all the New York city regiments, engaged in a sham battle in Van Cortlandt park, New York.

Ten thousand dollars was the average price French senators and deputies got for their votes for the Panama canal lottery.

It has been said several times, but it will bear repeating, "Whenever you write a letter asking for information which concerns only your own personal interests inclose a stamp for reply; always inclose a stamp."

H. DE MOTT,
Graduate of United States Embalming College.
UNDERTAKER : AND : EMBALMER.
Office at residence, 178 Somerset Street.
Plainfield, N. J

1893 TAXES!

Notice is hereby given to the taxpayers of the

City of Plainfield,

that the taxes assessed in said city for the year 1893 are now due and payable, and that if the said taxes be not paid by the

20th Day of December

next, the names of the defaulters, with their respective taxes, will be returned to the City Judge for the prosecution. The

COMMISSIONERS OF APPEAL,

in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council Chamber, on the

Fourth Tuesday in November Next,

(the 28th,) and sit from two o'clock p. m. until five o'clock p. m., or longer, if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

JOHN JOHNSON,
Collector of Taxes.
Dated, Plainfield, N. J., October 2, 1893.
10 2 5d

Do You?

Intend to Invest in a

WHEEL?

If so, call on

Dickinson,

The Optician.

Agent for the Rambler. If the best wheel is the cheapest, a Rambler, $75, Model 41 for Wheels to hire at reasonable rates.

A. W. Rand,

149 WEST FRONT STREET.

New and second hand

SCHOOL - BOOKS,

School supplies of all kinds.

Those wishing to exchange second hand books must bring them in immediately.

Neuman Brothers,

THE POPULAR GROCERS,

have a full line of selected

Groceries, Fruit and Vegetables.

Choicest varieties of Coffees and Teas specialty. A fine display of choice Apples daily. A new stock of Canned Vegetables and Fruits.

NEUMAN BROS.,

WATCHUNG AVENUE and FIFTH STREET.

TAKE NOTICE.

Charles Arnold,

the butcher,

Is Still in the Race

for cut prices.

Fresh Pork and Sausage 12c lb.
My own Dressed Jersey Chickens, 16c. lb.
Legs Mutton, 10c lb.
Lamb, 12c. lb.
My finished Meats and all other Meats will be the same old cut prices.

Arnold's : Market,

208 LIBERTY STREET.

GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE.

Strictly Cash.

Are You Insured?

If you are 21 years old $86.10 paid annually for fifteen years would entitle you to $1,000.
If 22 years old, $87.
If 23 years old, $87.15.
If 24 years old, $87.35.

This sum of $1,000 is payable to the insured, if living, at the expiration of fifteen years, or at his death if prior.

FOR A LIFE POLICY, $1,000 the annual payments to continue during life, the payments for young men between 21 and 24 are between $18.60 and $23.

For catalogues and further particulars address Henry D. Mortimer, 11 Somerset street, agent, THE NEW YORK MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

F. M. HULETT,

MUSIC DEALER,

74 West Front Street,

handles the following makes:

Gildemeister & Kroeger,
Kranich & Bach,
Starr,
Mulfield,
Jacob Bros. Pianos,
and the world-renowned
Neuman Bros., and Mason & Hamlin Organs

Builders Cards.

Daniel Hulick,

Carpenter

and

General Jobber.

SHOP

35 Jackson Avenue.

Storm doors and weather strips a specialty.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

Window Screens made to order.

John P. Emmons,

MASON AND BUILDER,

Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place.

Jobbing promptly attended to.

P. O. Box 262.

PIERSON & GAYLE,

Carpenters

and Builders.

W. J. Pierson, No. 10 Vine street. H. B. Gayle, No. 19 Vine street.

All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM G. SMITH,

PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER.

All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.

Residence—Grandview avenue.

P. O. Box 322.

R. V. SAUER,

Carpenter & Builder.

Residence—Clinton avenue, near depot, Scotch Plains.

P. O. Box 1026

All work promptly attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.

JACOB M. HIGGINS,

PRACTICAL MASON and CONTRACTOR

P. O. Box 261. Residence Dr. Gleed, East Front street.

JOHN ANDREWS,

Practical Plumber and Builder. Dealer in Gas Fixtures, Pumps, Lead Pipe, Sheet Lead, Tin Plate, Sheet Iron, Copper, Zinc, Etc. Agent for the Celebrated Richmond Gas Machine. Jobbing promptly attended to. Shop, No. 111 East Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

ALFRED E. NELSON,

Civil Engineer and Surveyor, No. 5 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Surveys and maps of property, roads, sewerage, water supply, etc., made and executed. Office hours from 9 to 12 a. m. and 2 to 4 p. m. Telephone connection.

C. E. GRANDIN, M. D.,

Office and residence, 112 West Front street. Office hours, 8 to 9 a. m., 1 to 2 and 7 to 8 p. m. Telephone connection.

- - FREE - -

Handsomely illustrated Souvenir Lamp Chimney with every one dollar purchase. In the square nothing for 75 cents. Other novelties for the holidays at our Flower Pots, and we have many very pretty ones left.

We are constantly selling but we do, and the hard times have forced prices very cheap. Call and see us when in need of anything in the line of Crockery, Glassware, etc., which they were made for, and cost are forgotten. Buy our $3.50 full dec'orated, or $2.50 center decorated dinner sets, and we will guarantee the sale. Decorated Chamber sets, all sizes, $3.50. You can buy Crockery by the piece, by the box, by the crate, and at wholesale. Do not forget the Bankers' Goods, Jars, Etc., for keeping butter cool in the summer. Our display of fancy China Cups and Saucers, Plates, Etc., for the holidays is complete. Have you seen our Souvenir Plates presented to our customers during the Columbian Exposition, given away to our New York buyers in one day—just try it, and you will be delighted. Bring the children to see our Toy Department. They are crowded to the very corners for the holidays, are you? Etc. Etc. Etc. Call and see us. Remember the place, 210 West Front street, Plainfield's Handsomest Crockery Emporium. This emporium is almost notorious, and its work wonderful.

J. C. Allen, 28 West Front St., Plainfield, N. J.

Now is Your Chance.

GRAND CLOTHING OPENING, at our retail store, 218 West Front street. Are you ready? We are prepared to offer the public a clean, fresh stock of Fall and Winter Clothing, for Men, Boys and Children. Remember, we sell at retail at the wholesale price.

C. SCHEPFLIN & CO.,

218 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

A GREAT SLAUGHTER!

of

Ladies' Wrappers, for one week, at 75 cents.

at

THE LEADER! M. GOLDMANN, Prop'r

210 WEST FRONT STREET. (Old No. 214

Two doors from Music Hall.

Great Bargains

in all grades of

WALL PAPERS,

for the next 60 days.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

29 EAST FRONT STREET.

Railroad Time Table.

CENTRAL RAILROAD OF NEW JERSEY

(Anthracite coal used exclusively insuring cleanliness and comfort.)

Station in NEW YORK, foot of Liberty street. Time as in effect May 28, 1893.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield at 12 01, 2 38, 5 08, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m. 12 01 night.

Leave Plainfield at 12 01, 2 38, 5 08, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m. 12 01 night.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield at 6 45, 7 45, 8 45, 9 45, 10 45, 11 45 a. m., 12 45, 1 45, 2 45, 3 45, 4 45, 5 45, 6 45, 7 45, 8 45, 9 45, 10 45, 11 45 p. m.

Leave Somerville at 6 10, 7 10, 8 10, 9 10, 10 10, 11 10 a. m., 12 10, 1 10, 2 10, 3 10, 4 10, 5 10, 6 10, 7 10, 8 10, 9 10, 10 10, 11 10 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND RARITAN.

Leave Plainfield at 6 45, 7 45, 8 45, 9 45, 10 45, 11 45 a. m., 12 45, 1 45, 2 45, 3 45, 4 45, 5 45, 6 45, 7 45, 8 45, 9 45, 10 45, 11 45 p. m.

Leave Raritan at 6 10, 7 10, 8 10, 9 10, 10 10, 11 10 a. m., 12 10, 1 10, 2 10, 3 10, 4 10, 5 10, 6 10, 7 10, 8 10, 9 10, 10 10, 11 10 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND BOUND BROOK.

Leave Plainfield at 7 45, 8 45, 9 45, 10 45, 11 45 a. m., 12 45, 1 45, 2 45, 3 45, 4 45, 5 45, 6 45, 7 45, 8 45, 9 45, 10 45, 11 45 p. m.

Leave Bound Brook at 6 10, 7 10, 8 10, 9 10, 10 10, 11 10 a. m., 12 10, 1 10, 2 10, 3 10, 4 10, 5 10, 6 10, 7 10, 8 10, 9 10, 10 10, 11 10 p. m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

7 45 a. m., for Somerville, Bound Brook, Allentown, Easton, Phillipsburg, Belvidere, Delaware Water Gap, Stroudsburg, Scranton, Binghamton, Buffalo and the West.

8 45 a. m., for Somerville, Bound Brook, Flemington Junction, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia, Washington and the South.

10 45 a. m., for Somerville, Bound Brook, Allentown, Easton, Phillipsburg, Belvidere, Delaware Water Gap, Stroudsburg, Scranton, Binghamton, Buffalo and the West.

12 45 p. m., for Somerville, Bound Brook, Flemington Junction, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia, Washington and the South.

1 45 p. m., for Somerville, Bound Brook, Allentown, Easton, Phillipsburg, Belvidere, Delaware Water Gap, Stroudsburg, Scranton, Binghamton, Buffalo and the West.

4 45 p. m., for Somerville, Bound Brook, Flemington Junction, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia, Washington and the South.

5 45 p. m., for Somerville, Bound Brook, Allentown, Easton, Phillipsburg, Belvidere, Delaware Water Gap, Stroudsburg, Scranton, Binghamton, Buffalo and the West.

8 45 p. m., for Somerville, Bound Brook, Flemington Junction, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia, Washington and the South.

9 45 p. m., for Somerville, Bound Brook, Allentown, Easton, Phillipsburg, Belvidere, Delaware Water Gap, Stroudsburg, Scranton, Binghamton, Buffalo and the West.

10 45 p. m., for Somerville, Bound Brook, Flemington Junction, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia, Washington and the South.

11 45 p. m., for Somerville, Bound Brook, Allentown, Easton, Phillipsburg, Belvidere, Delaware Water Gap, Stroudsburg, Scranton, Binghamton, Buffalo and the West.

12 01 night, for Somerville, Bound Brook, Flemington Junction, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia, Washington and the South.

Real Estate & Insurance

Edw. C. Mulford,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE

45 North Avenue.

M. M. Dunham,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

No. 7 East Front street.

Wm. A. Woodruff,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN on Approved Security.

Corner Front street and Park avenue.

Spicer & Hubbard,

Manufacturers of

Sash, Doors, Blinds, Mouldings, Scroll Work, Etc.

Corner Madison avenue and Third street.

SCROLL SAWING, TURNING.

Also plain and ornamental glass furnished to order.

Professional Cards.

WILLIAM B. CODDINGTON,

Counsellor at Law, Solicitor in Chancery, Notary Public and Master in Chancery. Office, No. 5 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Prompt attention given to all business.

JACKSON & ARCHIBALD,

Counsellors at Law, Front street, corner Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

F. A. DUNHAM,

Counsellor at Law and Surveyor, 20 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Will attend to the conveyancing of roads and all matters relating to the same.

WILLIAM A. CODDINGTON,

Counsellor at Law, Solicitor in Chancery, Notary Public and Master in Chancery. Office, No. 5 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Prompt attention given to all business.

CHARLES E. HOYT,

Counsellor at Law, Solicitor in Chancery, Notary Public, Master in Chancery, Etc. Office, No. 25 Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

CHARLES A. MARSH,

Counsellor at Law, Solicitor in Chancery, Notary Public, Master in Chancery, Etc. Office, No. 25 Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

WOMAN AND HOME.

CHILDHOOD MAY BE BRIGHTENED AND THE LITTLE ONES HELPED.

Sunday Dinners and Luncheons — Why Women Dissipate — Girl In Her Bon. Suggestions For the Housekeeper—Personal Mention of Active Women.

It is often said, "How little it takes to please a child!" and, when we think of it, healthy, happy joints also, not that exotic growth, fostered into discontent by luxurious living, but the boys and girls we daily meet, for them life is so full of promises.

By granting fulfillment to some of their innocent little fancies we can add much to their happiness and content, for often an unnerving dress, an outgrown garment or cotton, inviting ridicule, has spoiled the equables for many a young heart.

One of Amy Marsh's troubles in "Little Women" was being obliged to wear her cousin's outgrown frocks, and her bedding artistic taste echoed against purple, which should have been blue.

I do not think I should have liked being a Puritan child, though doubtless they found much happiness, even with the stern repression, the lengthy tasks and sobriety of their lives, for they developed into people of sterling worth.

I think we elders often fail to realize the weight of the little crosses we lay upon the young with the best intentions. I recall a little girl who will always remain disagreeably a winter in her childish life, and it was all on account of a pair of shoes. Her little feet, with much swift running, peeped so often from their coverings that her father took her to the village shoemaker and had her measured for a pair of shoes. Oh, how sure they were which they were to be! The course, stiff leather, the great square toes and buckskin lacings. And she had to wear them next to Sunday school!

There the child failed to find the heavenly message. She could but think of her dreadful feet and try to cover them with her short skirts. Every titter or whisper among her classmates sent the hot blood rushing through her veins. The time was one long misery.

How they wore! No stones cut them, no rough ground hurt them, and the sensible father failed to realize the hurt to the sensitive nature which would be remembered when she was an old woman.

When we give presents to our needy young girl friends, while we remember the substantial things for warmth and comfort, can we not add the pretty ribbon, the delicate pair of gloves? How delighted the young girl will be, who has longed for something pretty, something new of her own, not secondhand or made over. In our selection of gifts to such, let us try to change those sad results we would have liked in the days when the shop windows possessed a fascination like unto the mines of Golconda.

As we grow old we care less for the trifles of personal adornment. The affairs of life press too heavily upon us to cause any pain from being obliged to forego some pretty fancy, but by the young these things are enjoyed and longed for.

There is to me something pitiful in the young girl trying with her faded trimmings to remodel her old hat or much worn dress, which must do anyway, and I long and wish that I could give her all the bright things that belong to youth.

"You would make them vain and frivolous," perhaps you will say, but no, the innocent desire for beauty gratified will have an influence for good. It is no more harm than nature in our mother earth when she revels in the beauty of the springtime.—Marie Allen Kimball in Housekeeper.

Sunday Dinners and Luncheons.

"We don't have Sunday dinners at our house," said a housekeeper the other day. "We have a hearty luncheon and a supper. Our breakfast is the same as on all days, only the easiest day we have and I have. I keep only one, and every other week I am choice for the dining room, but we always save the supper just the same. We need to do, as is the practice of many families, to follow a late, hearty breakfast with an early, hearty dinner at 1 o'clock. We were never ready for it, but by 4 our appetites would be sharp enough for more than the light Sunday tea. Cake should complete the trio of meals.

"To have a 6 o'clock dinner on Sunday in our modest establishment meant hard work for me every other week, and the difficulty has been solved by this double compromise.

"The Sunday luncheon is a hearty affair, with a dessert made the day before, and the supper is made up of several good cold dishes and always one hot one, with a cup of coffee. Corn fritters or fried or scalloped oysters, creamed fish, broiled chops, steak and mushrooms—any of such easily prepared cooked dishes make the meal sufficient and appetizing. We really only eliminate big joints and spares, soup and elaborately prepared vegetables from the list. And if one is pressed in chafing dish cookery the menu is capable of infinite variety and even less trouble. For a small household I am positive this is the most satisfactory settling of the Sunday meal problem."—Her Point of View in New York Times.

Why Women Dissemble.

Observant eyes may read in the folds of a gown much of its wearer's history. Sympathetic thought will recognize the spirit of decent pride prompting women to make the best of the little they possess. Men know nothing of such shortcomings, so when out of work the poor fellows feel it, look it and act it, and perhaps this is the bigger policy in the long run.

If women could muster up courage to go out on the streets with frayed edges, worn seams, wilted collars and a general air of seediness, they might receive more pity than usually falls to their share, but the habit of dissembling in strong view of the sun and the hours that should be given to rest are devoted to mending and occasionally making to aid in the keeping up of appearances. They are more or less successful according to the amount of skill they bring to bear on the task.

In public revelries of the scale of wages paid to women employed in the different industries would bring to light many startling facts and furnish to reformers much food for thought. If the laborer be at all worthy of his or her hire, then hire should be sufficient for comfortable, genteel living and provision for future exigencies.—Demorest's Magazine.

Girl in Mischief.

All this talk about girls looking like frights when in the seclusion of their own rooms is a base libel, says an exchange. Some persons even have the audacity to assert that cast papers' haven't a chance. A pretty girl never looks prettier, prettier, than she does when she is in her "dishabille," with his collegiate bath-tie, powder puff, hair braider and curling irons.

Discriminations Against Women.

In Holland the government has made certain regulations concerning working women, not all of which are welcome. By a law passed in 1889 it was made illegal for a woman to be employed except between the hours of 5 a. m. and 7 p. m. One would think that the right minded woman would want to work beyond that limit, but it has been proved that the men, whose hours of labor are not limited, put in several of the prescribed hours at hard work, thus shutting out many of the women.

An article on women's unions in Holland is like the famous chapter on "Snakes in Iceland." There is none. Women are admitted to mixed unions, however, but only on unequal terms. This does not prevent women's strikes, and when they do rise in their wrath they are generally successful.—Amsterdam Correspondent.

Sleeping Room Curtains.

When three sets of curtains are used for sleeping rooms, they are put up in this order: Next the window are hung thin curtains of muslin or lace, shirred over a rod and hanging straight or draped back at each side. These curtains reach only to or a half a yard below the window sash. Next comes the window shade, and then the inside curtains of silk or cretonne. These curtains reach the floor and are draped back on each side. They are shirred over a rod at the top or hung by rings from brass poles.

They hang better when the rods are used. If of cretonne, the curtains are tied back with a cotton cord that matches the colors in the hanging. The cords are finished at the end with small balls.—New York Post.

To Refresh the Complexion.

One of the very best ways of refreshing the complexion is to exercise it freely to the rain. A long walk, with the soft rain playing in one's face, is a thorough beautifier which umbrellas have robbed us of long enough. Equipped in waterproof cloak and cap of storm serge, leaving the face quite bare, one should walk hours at least in the teeth of the driving rain. Not only the rain, but the vapor laden air, soaks the tissues, washing the skin more thoroughly than a Turkish bath, filling out the shrunken cells, removing all wrinkles, and obliterating fine wrinkles. Sleep and walking are two great aids to beauty which surprised the chemist of Diana of Poitiers, who never allowed weather to keep her indoors.—Philadelphia Times.

She Studies For a Dinner.

"I do study up for a dinner," admitted an ingenuous young woman who goes to a good many such entertainments in the course of the season, "and I don't know that I am ashamed to tell of it. When my invitation comes, as it always does of course a week or even two weeks beforehand, I usually know what persons will compose the company, and I make a note of the names, and peruse the guests in the latest book I have for the purpose. At the interval of time passes, in my reading of the newspapers or books and magazines and in my talks with people I meet, I pick up a bit of interesting comment, incident or a good story, putting them down in outline for my dinner conversation.

"Then, just before I start for the feast I look the list over, fixing the range of topics in my mind. Where's the harm? I spring no mines, if not yours, time over the study of the gown I shall wear and the way I shall do my hair, in order to contribute the best of my appearance at my hostess' table. Why shouldn't I? So up my mind a little as well?"—New York Times.

59c. SALE! 59c.
59c. of 59c.
59c. KID GLOVES! 59c.
59c. 4-button length, tan, modes, brown and black, all sizes, 5½ to 7¼. 59c.
GEO. L. VAN EMBURGH & SON.
FRONT STREET, OPPOSITE PARK AVENUE. UNDER THE BANK.

Timely Warning! Winter Approaching!
Keep your Scalp Clean and your Hair Growing.
RANDOLPH'S Quinine and Glycerine
HAIR TONIC!
The Friend in the Hour of Need.
EACH BOTTLE GUARANTEED. Sold only by
L. W. RANDOLPH, Prescription Druggist,
148 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

Hotels.

CENTRAL HOTEL,
No. 11 E. Front St.,
PLAINFIELD.
Windham & Crowley,
PROPRIETORS.
First-class bar attached.

Fourth Ward Hotel.
JOHN GOFF, Proprietor.
Boarders accommodated, both transient and permanent.
LARGE ROOMS and ALL MODERN IMPROVEMENTS.
Fine Wines, Liquors and CIGARS.
Corner Third and Liberty Streets.

Hotel Grenada,
NORTH AVENUE,
now open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the travelling public.

City Hotel,
Corner
PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.
Transient guests accommodated.

Eugene Hoerster,
206 Grove Street,
North Plainfield.
Wholesale Dealer
in
FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.
Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

How Children Catch Birds.

A method of catching birds by the children of the far north is by means of a net stretched across an old iron hoop taken from some wrecked whaler. All through the summer months great numbers of ptarmigan are to be found along the shore. The little boys set the hoop net in the water about three feet from the beach, working it into the sand until it will stand upright, then with a small line attached to the top of the hoop they go up the beach and scoop out a place in the sand to hide in and await the coming of the birds, which are constantly feeding to and fro near the beach, and as they feed in the ripple or walk along the shore the spot of sand will pass between the hoop and the beach. When a number of birds are directly in front of the trap a smart pull on the line brings the machine down over the birds, often catching from one to a dozen at one fell swoop of the trap.

In a few hours they will catch a hundred or more birds.—Forest and Stream.

Making a Scrapbook.

The handiest scrapbooks are made by cutting pieces of white or brown paper into big squares, all of the same size, and tying all together with a ribbon at the top. Such a scrapbook is more convenient to use than a piece in the book, and it is easy to look over the leaves, because the book can be turned backward and forward with ease. A certain New York boy has made four such books, and when the day is stormy or he is entertaining young visitors he brings out his scrapbooks and finds the pleasantest day of the week in its company.—New York Ledger.

Polly Fry's Kitten.

My dear old Mistress pussy
You're so—so old and fat,
As I love you all the better
'Cause you've called a "Maltese cat."

When brother Dickey brought you,
He said: "Now, Polly Fry,
You can't mail and tease this kitty,
As I will tell you why."

"She's called a Maltese pussy,
So as little girls like you
Will know that muslin an teazin her
Is what they mustn't do."

A Funny Penny.

Little Nellie climbed into Uncle Ned's lap and began to search his pocket for a penny. Finding a silver quarter, she called out, "Oh, mamma, Uncle Ned has got a penny with a bee on it!"

Tired from Head to Foot.

FROM HEAD TO FOOT.

That's what's the matter with the most of us. What's the remedy? Pure electricity in the blood. The most powerful tonic of the day. We have known scores of so called electric appliances, but none to equal Dr. Scheffler's, so familiar to Europeans. Scheffler is a short name by the use of Anti-Tire, and up about electricity. Send for pamphlet and you will learn how and where all vouch. Our foot pads and soles will vouch. Our foot pads of Anti-Tire will do it. Trial size, 25c. Postpaid. All druggists should keep it or can be had of us. Liberal terms to agents.
LYONS & SCHEFFLER,
284 Bergen Avenue,
Jersey City, N. J.

A GOOD WIFE has great blessing, and a good husband will soon after her comfort. He can almost assure both. Further comfort by buying a lot which is really nearly, the prices are so low. The lot is situated in a beautiful and healthy neighborhood,
GIVEN AWAY
WITH EVERY
surrounding by splendid stores, schools and churches quickly. Now is the grand opportunity to invest in a splendid
BUILDING LOT.
For particulars, address
"OWNER,"
care of Evening News.

Horses and Carriages,
of all kinds, for hire, at
O'BRIEN'S,
115 WEST FOURTH STREET,
or at the Depot.

Joseph T. Vail,
REAL ESTATE
and
INSURANCE.
TRAINS IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING
of North Avenue.

CAREY'S
Storage Warerooms,
Corner
Front and Grove Streets,
Plainfield, N. J.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,
Successors to
The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,
Dealers in
Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials
41 to 49 PARK AVENUE.
Are now prepared with their increased facilities, having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs. A. D. Cook & Bro., to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

A SAMPLE
OF SOME OF OUR SPECIALS.

	Regular price.	Now
New Fiber down Flannels	50c.	39c.
Novelty, all wool Dress Goods	50c.	39c.
Columbia Linen Towels, extra size	15c.	10c.
Hemstitched Linen Towels	25c.	19c.
Checquerboard Damask Cloths	98c.	75c.
Checquerboard Damask Napkins	$1.25	98c.
Gents' underwear, all wool Shirts and Drawers	$1.00	79c.
White Angora Trimming	50c.	39c.
White Lace Trimming	50c.	39c.
Ladies' all linen, embroidered Handkerchiefs	25c.	19c.
Furniture Covering	$1.25	98c.
Best Magenta Carpets	$1.25	98c.

Our new Fall Muslin Underwear is all made with "lock stitch," extra full and long. We can give you more for the money than ever before.

Our entire establishment has never before been stocked with such large and desirable lines of goods as now, and the prices never so low. You will have no trouble in getting suited, at the very lowest prices, at

EDSALL'S.

THEY MUST GO!

About 100 pairs of Ladies $5, $4 and $3 Button Boots that we have put on our bargain table and marked down to $2.00 a pair. All small sizes, 2, 2½, 3 and 3½, widths A A A A. If you have a small foot this is a great chance for you.

Doane & Edsall's.

The Popular Girl.

The really popular girl always knows a lot. She knows enough not to gossip about people who have done her favors, and she are in a way of doing her favors. She knows enough to dress appropriately at all times and never to be overdressed. She knows enough not to wear diamonds, discuss religion or politics, boast about her ancient lineage or tell long winded tales. She knows enough to keep silence, and she knows how to talk well. She knows how to dance, swim, row, sail a boat, play the piano and banjo, sing negro melodies and college songs. She knows how to "go" to "give away" all the funny confidences the boys give her when in blue or feeling particularly good, and she knows how to cook when they are stranded on an island, becalmed and without oars or a stick with which to pole home. She knows just how to catch a fish and then to cook it, and she knows enough not to growl and whine and complain until they are safely home.—New York Advertiser.

Womanly Beauty.

Grenville, a French author of the sixteenth century, wrote a large and very scientific book on female beauty and endowed his ideal of perfection with the following attributes: "Youth, medium stature, medium fullness of form, chestnut brown hair, symmetry of limb, a delicate skin, a creamy white velvety, a complexion, a smooth, serene brow, uniformly arched temples, narrow eyebrows which do not meet; eloquent, dark brown eyes, a winsome smile, cherry red lips, a small mouth, small milk white teeth, a sweet breath, a soft, agreeable voice; a chin which does not protrude and is graced by a dimple; small, rosy ears, a slender throat of ivory whiteness; small, soft, white hands, nicely tapering fingers, graceful gestures, an easy, dignified walk; shining finger nails, smooth and well curved; an even, pleasant temperament; good taste in dress, unspoiled education, small, pretty feet and attentive demeanor toward others."

The Education of Girls.

Not until the dawn of the nineteenth century were any suitable provisions made for the education of girls, except in the monasteries among the Quakers, where more liberal ideas prevailed. In these schools, chartered by William Penn as early as 1711, girls had equal advantages. To appreciate this step we must consider the general hostility to any education for women beyond the merest accomplishments and the general ignorances that prevailed as to their nature and capabilities. Men thought that if Woman acquired a love of science, philosophy, literature, she would neglect their houses and children, their husbands' buttons and stockings and the general welfare of the family.—Chicago Journal.

Use For an Old Mirror.

Have an old mirror or a piece of looking glass framed in a flat, wide pine frame. Let this be mounted on stout feet, as for screen, with a narrow, shelf like frame, with one outside of each foot at the bottom. Have aquel the frame ivory white, paint the back dull bronze green and fill with ferns. Paint sprays of ferns here and there across the frame, and you will have a lasting and charming fireplace screen that can be refilled with ferns summer after summer. In winter it can be filled with evergreens, or two or three small sweet palms in the box, always filling it with fresh earth.—New York World

The Fall and Winter Styles in Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing are now in Stock. Overcoats of all Weights. Trousers Made to Order from $4 to $8. Suits from $15 to $30. Hats and General Furnishings. WERNER'S MAMMOTH CLOTHING HOUSE, 206 West Front Street.

R. W. Rice & Co.,
THE PARK GROCERS.
Corner Duer and Emily Streets,
NORTH PLAINFIELD.

A Change In Men's Coats.

The frock coat began last year to grow longer, and it still continues. Persons this year will be longer than ever, and, like the slow old fashioned hour watches, will almost sweep the ground. This offers a splendid chance for the extremists.

To correspond with the length of cadets, overcoats of course will be very long. Of these there is a great variety. Close fitting outer garments are coming in again, but the box will still be worn. For evening dress the Inverness will be the only coat worn this year by the quite correct. This will be made of small, pretty fast smooth goods in black. In colors blue has gone out more or less, and grays will predominate.

THE NEW LONG OVERCOAT.

The three buttoned cutaway still continues to be the most graceful and satisfactory garment worn. The tails will be quite long, and, to conclude our remarks on men's styles, the New York Herald tells that the wide silk braid has been discarded, and Hamilton stitching is as popular as 'ever in the spring.

Gentle on Friendship.

Friendship can only be had in practice and be maintained by practice. Affection—nay, love itself—is no help at all to friendship. True, active, profound ve friendship was stein in keeping equal pace in life—in my friend approving my aims while I approve his, and in thus moving forward together steadfastly, however much our way of thought and life may vary.

Bismarck's home at Friedrichsruhe has been turned into a museum of memories of the days of blood and iron.

The Confederate veterans are going to help the New Yorkers build their long belated monument to General Grant. It is safe to say the war is ended.

"Fifteen great railways" will discharge passengers on the very grounds of the World's fair at Chicago. With this prospect railroad stocks ought to advance in value.

Tickets
For, or from Europe,
On
All Lines,
And all Steamers.
Drafts
Sold also.
H. D. MORRISON,
Agent,
Somerset Street.

Metropolitan Livery and Boarding Stables!
Coaches, Close Carriages, Park Phaetons, Surreys, Buggies, Fine Roadsters and Saddle horses.
Special care given boarding horses. Storage for furniture and carriages.
149 AND 151 NORTH AVENUE,
Opposite depot. Telephone Call, 44.
H. R. RIDER, Proprietor. FRANK DAY, Manager

This Date In History—Oct. 23.

1631—Anselm Maximus Severinus Boetius, Latin philosopher, was beheaded by order of King Theodoric.

1812—Conspiracy of the suppressed Irish; about 10,000 English were slain in a few weeks.

1825—Sam Houston, Texas' first governor and gentleman, born stained the region.

1736—Anne Oldfield, famous actress, died in London.

1771—Marshal Auguste Junot, French soldier, was born at Bussy-les-Forges.

1773—Francis Jeffrey, famous Scotch critic, was born in Edinburgh; died 1850.

1781—News of the surrender of Cornwallis reached Philadelphia at 9 p. m.

1874—Commodore Austin Pendergast of the receiving ship Potomac died. Commodore William Inman died.

Little Oscar's Small Trout.

There is a great brook which flows past Oscar's house in the spring and autumn, but in summer it runs dry. One warm June day Oscar found a fish in a little pool everywhere else the channel of the brook was empty, and soon the tiny pool would be dry, too, and then the poor fish must die.

Oscar took pity on him. He carried him home in his dinner pail and threw him into the well. There the little fish lived and flourished, and it was Oscar's delight to watch him as he swam around in circles.

Oscar kept him several years, but soon he was going from home on a long journey and he was afraid that the trout would be neglected in his absence. So he concluded to put him into the lake into which the brook flowed.

After Oscar had thrown him in he stood on the shore of the lake and watched to see what the little fellow would do when he found himself at liberty. The water was clear and still, and the tiny trout could be distinctly seen through the glassy waves.

Now, what do you think this little silly fish did? The great lake was before him, and he could go where he pleased, but instead of darting from place to place like the other fishes he only swam around in tiny circles just as large as the well in which he used to live.—Youth's Companion.

Colonel Ingersoll says that, on the whole, cannibalism was the best way man ever had of living off his fellow man.

France is believed really to have the most powerful army in the world. But has it any general great enough to lead it?

1893			OCTOBER.			1893
Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fr.	Sa.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
15	16	17	18	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26	27	28
29	30	31

MOON'S PHASES.

Third Quarter	2	10:19 p.m.	First Quarter	17	8:32 p.m.
New Moon	9	8:37 p.m.	Full Moon	25	1:16 a.m.
			Third Quarter	31	2:36 p.m.

THE TIME TO EAT!
MEAT! is at most times, of course, and the place to get good meat, all varieties, lowest prices and promptness, etc., is at
E. J. CONNOLLY,
No. 231 Broadway
SMOKED MEATS AND VEGETABLES always on hand.

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$5 per Year in Advance. | E. W. Stevens, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 21 Somerset street, opposite Depot. | 10 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. | PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," | TUESDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1893. | PRICE TWO CENTS.

Republican Nominations.

UNION COUNTY.

For Senator,
FOSTER M. VOORHEES,
of Elizabeth.

For Sheriff,
GEORGE KYTE,
of Fanwood.

For Coroner,
DR. CHARLES B. HOLMES,
of Rahway.

For member of Assembly from Third Assembly District,
CHARLES N. CODDING,
of Westfield.

SOMERSET COUNTY.

For Senator,
LEWIS A. THOMPSON,
of Bridgewater.

For Assembly,
FRANK W. SOMERS,
of Franklin.

For Coroner,
DR. FRED C. JONES,
of Bernards.

BREVITIES.

—Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R. will hold a regular meeting to-night.

—The case of the Standard Oil Company vs. Flynn was adjourned to-day by Justice Mosher for two weeks.

—Anchor Lodge, F. & A. M. will hold a regular semi-monthly communication at eight o'clock to-night in their rooms.

—Farmers generally report that their corn crop the present year will be at least 25 per cent. below the usual yield.

—Last night Policeman Frederickson arrested James Coffin of Evona for drunkenness. He was fined five dollars.

Mr. Elwin R. Leland, formerly of East Front street, has recently purchased and moved into the house No. 65 Sandford avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. August Trust are now at "The Omaha," Chicago. They will spend a short time "doing" the Fair and then journey on.

—Prof. Guttman furnished the music last night at the ball of the "non-commissioned officers of F. Co., Third Regiment," at Rahway.

Dr. and Mrs. Vincent W. Baker returned from an extensive Western trip Monday and are now at their home on Norwood avenue.

Mr. R. L. Thorne, of "Edgewood," returned last evening from a trip to the World's Fair, one of the five million people who have been there.

—Unless your envelopes state the number of days you wish your letters held, the postmaster by a new ruling, will hold them thirty days instead of ten.

—The lecture by the Rev. J. W. Richardson in the Park avenue Baptist church, to-night, on "Lights and Shadows of Ministerial Life," will, no doubt, be very interesting.

—The Boston Traveler is responsible for the following information on "How to get rid of flies": Scarce. "Pick a bunch of sweet clover and hang it up to dry in your living-room. It will drive away more flies than any one square yard of sticky paper."

—Staff Captain Watkins, who is in charge Army circles is called "Our Pattie's will speak and sing at the meeting to be held in the First Baptist Church next Monday evening. She is now in charge of the Bowery Corps N. Y. City and conducts meetings every Sunday night at the Cooper Institute.

—Captain Turpin, who is in charge of the New York Training Garrison for slum workers, will become of the speakers at the meeting to be held under the auspices of the Plainfield Branch of the Auxiliary of the Salvation Army in the First Baptist church next Monday evening. She was formerly in charge of the slum work in Boston and Philadelphia. She will appear in her slum dress.

A Fifty Mile Relay Race.

The Newark Wheelmen have arranged for a fifty-mile relay race to take place Saturday.

The teams will be captained by E. L. Stanvell and George W. Goffin, who will station their men at intervals of five miles, ready to rush through the messages with which each side will be provided. The route will be from the North End Clubhouse, Newark, to Belleville, Avondale, Second River, Soho, Bloomfield, Maplewood, Milburn, Springfield, Scotch Plains, Plainfield, Rahway, Elizabeth, to Market and Broad streets, Newark.

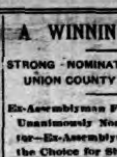
Democratic Nominations for Assembly.

Yesterday, in the First Assembly district of Union county, the Democratic Convention renominated Assemblyman Timothy M. Kelly of Elizabeth. In the Second district James A. Brennan, Democrat, was nominated, and J. H. Winans, Democrat, of Linden, in the Third district.

A WINNING TICKET.

STRONG NOMINATIONS MADE BY UNION COUNTY REPUBLICANS.

Ex-Assemblyman Foster M. Voorhees Unanimously Nominated for Senator—Ex-Assemblyman George Kyte the Choice for Sheriff.



BY their nominations at Elizabeth yesterday Union county Republicans placed a strong and winning ticket in the field. The convention was called to order by C. Addison Swift, chairman of the County Executive Committee. Mayor Alexander Gilbert of Plainfield was temporary chairman. Thomas A. Brinnapp of Roselle, Charles E. Reed of Rahway, and John Ulrich of Plainfield were temporary secretaries. On reassembling after recess the temporary organization was made permanent.

Mayor Gilbert made an eloquent speech. The Democratic candidates in Union county, he said, were not pledged to stand against the race-track gamblers, while the Republicans were on the side of morality and good government.

The resolutions passed called for reform in the State government and the repeal of the race-track laws.

The following vice-presidents were chosen: L. B. Miller, J. H. Alexander, Frank N. Brown, of Elizabeth; W. L. Sheldon, Rahway; E. B. Horton, Cranford; George De Mezz, Plainfield.

Foster M. Voorhees and George W. Kyte were named for Senator. The chairman of the Fanwood delegation said he was authorized by Mr. Kyte to withdraw his name. Mr. Voorhees, nomination was made unanimous.

For Sheriff George W. Kyte, Robert Y. Houston, Frederick Glasby, N. H. Astfalk and S. S. Moore were nominated.

The first ballot gave Kyte 73, Glasby 23, Houston 48, Astfalk, 14, Moore 1. The Fourth ward of Plainfield and Ninth ward of Elizabeth went over to Kyte, giving him a majority.

When nominations for Coroner were called for, Dr. Holmes, of Rahway, was unanimously chosen.

Candidate Voorhees was brought before the convention. He said that against his wishes he had decided to respond to his party's call, and was in the fight to win.

The Democratic machine in New Jersey, he said, was controlled by bosses, and another organized interest, namely, the race-track element, was affiliating with them. The race-track issue was the only vital question at stake in this contest. Mr. Voorhees said a few words in praise of the candidate for Sheriff, and finished by calling on all true Republicans and lovers of right to support the ticket. He received another ovation when he took his seat.

Candidate Kyte made a short speech. He was heartily applauded.

The Plainfielders appointed on committees were: H. R. Newhall, Committee on Resolutions; and J. W. Murray, Committee on Organization.

WHY THE BOROUGH WAS DARK.

The Boiler Inspector to Blame This Time.

Yesterday morning a boiler inspector was to inspect the boiler of the North Plainfield Electric Light Station, but owing to being detained he did not get there until the afternoon. The boiler had to be taken apart and thoroughly inspected. Owing to the inspector's delay in getting here the boiler could not be put together in time to start up at the usual hour. The borough was, therefore, left in darkness the early part of the evening. At nine o'clock everything was in running order and the streets were lighted up.

New Classes Added to the Y. M. C. A. Course.

Plane geometry and trigonometry have been added to the course of the Y. M. C. A. course of instruction. These courses are intended to cover all of the work ordinarily applied in descriptive geometry and shop practice, care being taken in their arrangement so as to give the student the best possible value for the time he devotes to them. These subjects are necessary for the higher development of a man's mechanical faculties and are usually found very interesting to those who have a taste for the mechanical lines. A two dollar membership in the association entitles to the privileges of instruction in the above and other studies. Classes in geometry meet to-night.

$25 Reward Offered.

Chief Grant this morning sent out postal cards to the chiefs of police in other cities, offering $25 reward for the capture of the thief or thieves who entered the houses of Mrs. Hull and Mr. McClure last week.

Died With Diphtheria.

About five o'clock this morning, Theodore Van Ness, Jr., the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Van Ness died at his parents' house, on West Front street with diphtheria.

WHEN AND WHERE THEY PLAY.

Schedule of the Central New Jersey League.

The Central New Jersey Bowling League, composed of the Park Club, of North Plainfield; Watchung Club, of Fanwood; Westfield Club, of Westfield; Elizabeth A. C., of Elizabeth; Roselle Club, of Roselle; New Jersey Athletic Club, of Bayonne Point, Newark Bay Club, Newark; and Bayonne Club, of Bayonne, has adopted the following schedule:

Nov. 1—Watchungs vs. Parks, at Watchungs alleys.
Nov. 2—Roselles vs. Westfield, at Roselles alleys.
Nov. 3—New Jersey vs. Elizabeth, at New Jersey alleys.
Nov. 4—Bayonne vs. Newark Bay, at Bayonne alleys.
Nov. 5—Westfield vs. Watchungs, at Westfield alleys.
Nov. 6—Park vs. Roselles, at Park alleys.
Nov. 10—Newark Bay vs. New Jersey, at Newark Bay alleys.
Nov. 10—Elizabeth vs. Bayonne, at Elizabeth alleys.
Nov. 14—Roselles vs. Newark Bay, at Roselles alleys.
Nov. 14—Bayonne vs. Parks, at Bayonne alleys.
Nov. 17—Watchungs vs. Elizabeth, at Watchungs alleys.
Nov. 17—New Jersey vs. Westfield, at New Jersey alleys.
Nov. 21—Elizabeth vs. Roselle, at Elizabeth alleys.
Nov. 22—Newark Bay vs. Watchungs, at Newark Bay alleys.
Nov. 24—Park vs. New Jersey, at Park alleys.
Nov. 24—Westfield vs. Bayonne, at Westfield alleys.
Nov. 28—Watchungs vs. Roselles, at Watchungs alleys.
Nov. 28—Bayonne vs. New Jersey, at Bayonne
Nov. 28—Newark Bay vs. Elizabeth, at Newark Bay alleys.
Dec. 1—Westfield vs. Parks, at Westfield alleys.
Dec. 5—Roselle vs. Bayonne, at Roselle alleys.
Dec. 6—New Jersey vs. Watchungs, at New Jersey alleys.
Dec. 6—Parks vs. Newark Bay, at Parks alleys.
Dec. 8—Elizabeth vs. Westfield, at Elizabeth alleys.
Dec. 12—New Jersey vs. Roselle, at New Jersey alleys.
Dec. 13—Elizabeth vs. Parks, at Elizabeth alleys.
Dec. 15—Westfield vs. Newark Bay, at Westfield alleys.
Dec. 15—Watchungs, vs. Bayonne, at Watchungs alleys.
Dec. 18—Parks vs. Watchungs, at Park alleys.
Dec. 19—Westfield vs. Roselle, at Westfield alleys.
Dec. 20—Elizabeth vs. Bob Jersey, at Elizabeth alleys.
Dec. 21—Newark Bay vs. Bayonne, at Newark Bay alleys.
Jan. 9—Watchungs vs. Westfield, at Watchungs alleys.
Jan. 11—Roselle vs. Parks, at Roselle alleys.
Jan. 12—New Jersey vs. Newark Bay, at New Jersey alleys.
Jan. 13—Bayonne vs. Elizabeth, at Bayonne alleys.
Jan. 16—Newark Bay vs. Roselle, at Newark Bay alleys.
Jan. 18—Parks vs. Bayonne, at Parks alleys.
Jan. 18—Elizabeth vs. Watchungs, at Elizabeth alleys.
Jan. 19—Westfield vs. New Jersey, at Westfield alleys.
Jan. 20—Roselle vs. Elizabeth, at Roselle alleys.
Jan. 22—Watchungs vs. Newark Bay, at Watchungs alleys.
Jan. 25—New Jersey vs. Parks, at New Jersey alleys.
Jan. 26—Bayonne vs. Westfield, at Bayonne alleys.
Feb. 1—Roselle vs. Watchungs, at Roselle alleys.
Feb. 2—New Jersey vs. Bayonne, at New Jersey alleys.
Feb. 8—Elizabeth vs. Newark Bay, at Elizabeth alleys.
Feb. 8—Parks vs. Westfield, at Parks alleys.
Feb. 8—Bayonne vs. Roselle, at Bayonne alleys.
Feb. 9—Watchungs vs. New Jersey, at Watchungs alleys.
Feb. 12—Newark Bay vs. Parks, at Newark Bay alleys.
Feb. 15—Westfield vs. Elizabeth, at Westfield alleys.
Feb. 20—Roselle vs. Newark Bay, at Roselle alleys.
Feb. 22—Parks vs. Elizabeth, at Parks alleys.
Feb. 22—Bayonne vs. Watchungs, at Bayonne alleys.

Final Bowling Green Games.

The final bowling-green games of the season were played on the Dunellen Bowling Green on Saturday. The opening was for a beautiful solid silver medal, offered by the club. Twelve members were entered and each one had to play seven games, or seven points each.

The lucky winner was Robert Reeve, whose score was 10 out of 11 games. Fred J. Richter won 9; H. B. Wills won 8 and Peter W. Ford, W. S. Wills, Alfred Evans and Dr. W. R. Linstedt each won 7. The other players, invited as non-resident, lost and not more than seven were beaten. Messrs. Christie, Schepflin, Charles Russell, R. B. Haffner, Ed. Christian and Prof. Ryan.

Assembly District Republican Conventions.

The First and Second Assembly District Republican Conventions will be held on Wednesday afternoon, both in Library Hall building, Elizabeth. The Second district will meet first at two o'clock, and the First at three o'clock.

Charged with Stealing a Stove.

A search warrant was issued by Justice Mosher this morning on complaint of Sigmund Frucht, to search for a stove. Frucht said that Thomas Price had stolen it from his store Friday night. Price denied that he had stolen a stove from Frucht and employed Ex-Judge Dietch to defend him in the matter.

Frucht couldn't prove that the stove had been stolen by Price, nor could it be found on Price's premises.

A MAN OF THE PEOPLE.

A DEMOCRATIC PAPER'S VIEW OF EX-SENATOR THOMPSON.

Genial in Manner and Simple in Habit, the ex-Senator has Lots of Friends all Over the County.

REVIEWING the political outlook in Somerset county the Sunday World spoke as follows of the Republican candidate for Senator:

Lewis A. Thompson is spoken of as an able Republican in Somerset. For a number of years he had been the county leader in the party and honorable people thoroughly. He has been elected Sheriff and twice Senator where no other man could have succeeded. Having been born and brought up in the county and made a small fortune here by his own efforts, he is looked upon as a man of the people.

Lew Thompson, as he is familiarly known throughout the county, was born in Bound Brook, which is the stronghold of the Democracy. He comes from a fine old family, and, after receiving a good education, taught school for a number of years in the district school. Later he opened a general store in Bushing Brook, and there it was that he gained the confidence of the people. He made a little money in his store and afterward went over to Somerville and opened a saloon and fancy goods store. He built up a fine business and now has a large store in Trenton, N. J., together with the one in Somerville. Two years ago Mr. Thompson tore down the little frame building he had used for a store so long and erected an expensive brown stone structure, the largest in the town.

Genial in manner and simple in habit, the ex-Senator has lots of friends all over the county. By the leaders of the party outside the county Mr. Thompson is looked upon as a shrewd politician and leader. He has a comfortable home in Somerville and recently erected a Summer home at Lake Hopatcong. His election in November is confidently expected by Republicans.

CONGREGATIONAL JUNIOR ENDEAVOR.

A New and Promising Society Formed.

A Junior Christian Endeavor Society was organized in the Congregational church by the pastor last week. The following officers were elected:

President—Hubert Rockfellow.
Vice President—Clara Van Fleet.
Secretary—May Parmele.
Treasurer—Harold Romer.
Prayer Meeting Committee—Emma La Boyteaux.
Look Out Committee—Lulu Fuller.
Music Committee—Clarence Brokaw.
Sunday school Committee — Edwin Wiseman.
Birthday Committee—Hubert Rockfellow.
Scrap-book Committee—Amy Emmons.
Social Committee—Rosie Martin.

Great interest was manifested by the young people and a flourishing society is assured. The next meeting will be Wednesday, at 4:45 p. m. The pastor, Rev. C. L. Goodell, is superintendent and Miss Nellie Winckler, assistant superintendent.

Indians in Town.

The Kickapoo Indians are at Reform Hall, where they give free shows nightly. They arrived yesterday from Scotch Plains and Westfield.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Rogers of Warrenville is at Chicago.

Mr. Walter Dobbins of Elmwood place has returned from the World's Fair.

Mr. Charles Van Middlesworth of Elmwood place is visiting friends at Madison.

Mrs. D. A. Sanborn returned yesterday from the World's Fair to her home, Myrtle avenue.

Miss Ida Manstarre of Mercer avenue, who has been visiting at Monson, Mass., has returned.

Messrs. A. Smith and Wm. Kirk start to-day for Cincinnati to see the Fair. Mr. Wm. Trust may also be one of the party.

Mr. J. D. Titsworth of Dunellen, who is in his 84th year, was appointed chairman at the Republican primary, at New Market, last week.

On account of the sudden illness of their son Clifford, Mr. and Mrs. Martin of Cedar street returned home yesterday from the World's Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Weber of Washington avenue returned home yesterday from the White City, where they have been spending the past in the World's Fair.

Among the Plainfielders visited at the World's Fair last week were Mr. A. W. Haviland and Miss Haviland, of Rockview avenue, North Plainfield, and Dean Redman of La Grande avenue.

Mrs. Alex. Mallison of Watchung avenue has returned from a two weeks' visit with Miss Lawrence, of Howard, R. I. Miss Lawrence is matron of the Schoonmaker school at that place.

Mr. J. W. Reinhart, President of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad, who lives at Netherwood, left last Sunday for Topeka, Kan., to attend the annual meeting of that company, which will be held on Thursday.

Mr. A. V. D. Honeyman was to have conducted another party to the World's Fair Monday, but, in view of the many railroad accidents lately and of the likelihood of more, and, also, the disorderly conduct possible in the crush of people getting away at the close of the Fair, he says he has given up the idea of going and has so notified those who were to have formed the party.

BROCK VENEERED LUMBER COMPANY.

Organized in this City Last Saturday with a Capital of $250,000.

The Brock Veneered Lumber Company was incorporated in Plainfield last Saturday, and is the latest of the kind in the State of New Jersey, with a capital of $250,000 or 25,000 shares of stock of $10 each. Stock is full paid and unassessable. The Company's affairs will be managed by a board of nine directors, one of whom is Mr. William E. Brock, of Plainfield, who is also a director of a similar company in the State of New York and Brooklyn capitalists, who mentioned between them 24,500 shares of the stock. Mr. Brock controlling the balance of 10,000 shares of stock or $100,000.

The Syndicate paid $40 for each share of the company, a large sum of money to establish plants for the manufacture and introduction of veneered lumber and for the organization of subsidiary companies in the United States and foreign countries.

The officers of the company are as follows:

President—William E. Brock, of Plainfield.

Vice-President—Henry C. Smith, of Brooklyn.

Secretary—W. C. Twombly, of Brooklyn.

Treasurer—William H. Robinson, of Brooklyn.

General Manager—William H. Miller, of Brooklyn.

Manager of the Sales Department—Otis B. Pendleton, of Brooklyn.

WESTMINSTER LEAGUE.

Will the Y. P. S. C. E. be Abandoned by Presbyterians?

The General Assembly of the Presbyterian church at its last session, held in Washington during May of this year, passed a resolution providing for the establishment of young people's societies in the various churches of that faith. It was purposed that these societies should form a league to be known as the Westminster League, the special object of the league being the furtherance of the doctrines of Presbyterianism and the promotion of unity and harmony in church work. This resolution, coming at the time when the Christian Endeavor Society had met with so ready an acceptance and co-operation from the Presbyterian churches aroused considerable comment.

At the Synod of New Jersey, held at Bridgeton last week, a resolution was also passed providing for the appointment of a committee to supervise the establishment of branches of the Westminster League in New Jersey. This committee consists of the chairman of all committees engaged in Sunday-school work in this State.

Dunsmouth as the Christian Endeavor Society has attained such a wonderful growth in the Presbyterian church of New Jersey, this action of the Synod has aroused great interest in that body. The Christian Endeavor Society has in this State nearly 800 branches, and of this number over 400 are established in Presbyterian churches.

FIVE HOURS A DAY.

Employees of Scott's Press Works Suffer Another Reduction.

Commencing yesterday morning nearly all of the employes at the Scott Press Works began working five hours a day. Those who are effected by this order are the men working on the cylinder, job and lithograph presses and the letter heads. The gang working on the Webb press will work ten hours a day until they finish the paper they are working on. Then they will also work five hours a day.

In a week or so a shut down of two weeks will take place in order that the boilers may be overhauled.

State Council Jr. O. U. A. M.

The twenty-fifth annual session of the State Council of the Junior Order United American Mechanics, which meets in Trenton on Thursday, promises to be the largest and most important in the order's history. It will be the silver anniversary of the State Council, and the session will be especially interesting on that account. Important matters of legislation will come before the body; and the delegates of 60 divers will attract considerable attention.

The food richest in phosphates and bone-forming material is

H-O Hornby's Oatmeal

To the growing child it means formative growth — force — energy.

A SAMPLE

OF SOME OF OUR SPECIALS.

	Regular price.	Now
New Fisher dress Flannels	35c.	20c.
Novelty, all wool Dress Goods	50c.	35c.
Colombia Linen Towels, extra size	25c.	20c.
Turquoise Lapis Lazuli Jewelry	50c.	25c.
Ladies' Cashmere Hose (Silk Clocked)	50c.	35c.
Chesapeake Sateen Skirts	98c.	69c.
Ladies' Oak Rocking Chairs and Drawers,	$6.00	$4.98
White Enamel Trimmed	$7.50	$5.98
White Ameres Trimmed	$8.50	$6.98
Parlor Suits, Upholstered	$25.00	$19.98
Feather Covering	$1.25	$0.98
Best Mosquito Canopy	$1.50	$1.00

Quarter Sawed Oak Bedroom Suits, "Centerstock," extra full and long Wardrobe, Bevel Plate Mirror, goods never sold before. Our entire department has never before been stocked with such large and desirable lines of goods as now, and the prices never so low. You will have no trouble in getting suited, at the very lowest prices, at

EDSALL'S.

THEY MUST GO!

A few 100 pairs of Ladies 25, 42 and 50 Button Boots that we have put on sale at Gregg's table and marked down to $2.00 a pair. All small sizes, 2, 2½, 3 and 3½, within a few. If you have a small foot this is a great chance for you.

Doane & Edsall's.

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE.

A Very Cold Wave Coming.

New York, Oct. 24.—Weather Observer Smith says a cold wave is rapidly approaching this city. It will arrive late to-day or early to-morrow.

The mercury, he says, will go close to the freezing mark.

The cold wave is now Central over Nebraska and Kansas. It comes from the Northwest.

The Ferris Wheel to Stay in Chicago.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—It is said now that the Ferris wheel will stay in Chicago.

DEATHS.

FRAZEE—In this city, Sunday, Oct. 22, 1893, Honor M., wife of Samuel H. Frazee and daughter of the late Moses H. Munn of Newark, N. J., aged 51 years.

Funeral services from her late residence, 405 West Second street, corner of Central avenue, Wednesday, Oct. 25, at 2.30 p. m. 22-25*

MANUAL TRAINING.

Under the auspices of the Boys' Club Association, Mr. Olaf Sundelson, instructor in Sloyd, clay modeling, wood turning, pattern making and carpentering.

Private lessons, not in the club rooms, corner North and East avenues. Terms, $5 cts. per lesson, payable one-half in advance.

Class: Saturday, 2 to 4 p. m. Boys: Under 15 years of age, 4 to 5 p. m. Over 15 years, Friday, 7.30 to 9.30 p. m. Full information may be obtained at the rooms during class-hours. 20-tf

Madame Iza Lezem's School for Dancing.

Also classes in Physical Culture, Delsarte, Deportment.

Children, Tuesday, 4.30 to 5 p. m.
Ladies, Friday, 2 to 5 p. m.
Ladies, Beginners' Class, Tuesday, 7.30 p. m.
Classes, Friday, from 8 to 12.30 in Helmrich Hall.

PRIVATE INSTRUCTIONS.

Kitchen, carriage, cabinet, etc., arranged.

ALL THE LATEST DANCES.

Send for circular. Address, 339 West Front Street. 20-tf

Notice to Members.

There will be a regular semi-monthly communication of

ANCHOR LODGE

at 8 o'clock, tonight, in their rooms at Masonic Hall.

LECTURE

in the

PARK AVENUE BAPTIST CHURCH,

on

TUESDAY EVENING, OCT. 24, at 8 o'clock

on

"Lights and Shadows of Ministerial Life,"

By Rev. REV. J. W. RICHARDSON.

Admission, 50 Cents.

Tickets on sale at May's Pharmacy and at the door. 21-25*

Boehm's. $5.00

Buys a Gun Ladies' Coat, fur edged, made of heavy beaver cloth, with latest style cape. Largest and best Children's Cloak House in Plainfield. Children's Jackets, Reefers, Fur Capes, etc., ever shown in this vicinity. See the line of Cloths for Ladies and Children's Cloaks to measure.

25c. At this price we are offering a line of Corsets, Queen Bodice, Drab Coutil, Fancy Coutil, Satteen Bodice, Black Satteen, ranging in width from 20 to 24 inches. Fit, style and workmanship guaranteed. Call and see them.

MILLINERY. For thirty days we will offer the best variety of trimmed and untrimmed hats ever shown in this city; also the largest popular prices, consistent with first class work.

Townsend's Marble Works,

20 Somerset Street.

Sunshine Heaters and Othello Ranges Sell Themselves.

They are good goods.

Heater-Work, Hot Water and Steam-Heating, Hardware and Plumbing.

A. M. GRIFFEN,

18 East Front Street, Telephone 6.

CORPORATION NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the Common Council have fixed the day of Municipal Election, A. D. 1893, at eight o'clock p. m., and the Common Council Room, No. 508 Park avenue, in said City of Plainfield, as the time and place for J. Frederick Smith, Esq., to attend and preside at said Election. Dated, the commissioners appointed by the Common Council to act as Commissioners of Election, with a Collection in which all persons entitled thereto, the said Election and will act in Washington's from the northeasterly side line of Madison avenue to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, approved June 23, 1893, and which was duly passed to be published and laid out

EDITORIAL NOTES.

American Singing.

It is just possible that there may not be today as good singing among the great middle class of the American people as there was when congregational music was the vogue and the old fashioned singing school yet flourished in all its glory. The introduction of high priced church choirs had a tendency to make common people ashamed of their own uncultured, nasal voices, and thus discouraged they gave it up altogether in the attempt to make vocal music.

The right way would have been for them to take a mighty vow that they would get rid of the unpleasant tones by study and practice, but this course was adopted by very few. Outside of professionals we have few [illegible] singers in the United States than [illegible] in any other civilized country. The majority of people have been taught long heretofore to pay attention specially to voice culture. The time has come, however, to change this. Our people, young and middle aged, ought now to go in for cultivating sweet tones in both the speaking and singing voice. When that is done, a great national defect will be remedied.

It is now a good time to begin the work, at the commencement of the long evenings. The old fashioned neighborhood singing classes might be resurrected, always with a teacher who did not sing through the nose. The universal piano strumming might well be dropped in many cases and plain, easy instruction in singing substituted. The attempt of Frank Damrosch to train the tenement house population of New York in vocal music is a lesson both artistically and philanthropically. Mr. Damrosch is a young musical enthusiast. He believes that if the very poor and hard working could be trained to know and love music as well as to make it for themselves it would alleviate their hard lot and lift them to a brighter life. With this idea he announced a year ago that he would give a Sunday afternoon music lesson weekly in one of the tenement house districts.

The experiment has succeeded beyond his hopes. A dime a lesson is charged, and the income derived is sufficient to pay all expenses and leave something over. Damrosch was soon obliged to organize three great singing classes, the largest numbering 1,000 pupils. In the interval from October to May the great choruses trained to read music fairly well at sight.

French Spelling.

One is glad to learn that the French Academy contemplates making some important changes in the spelling of the French language. These will be in the direction of simplifying French orthography. For foreigners it is more difficult to write French words than even to pronounce them, because the spelling and pronunciation are to anybody but a Frenchman so wide apart, and because of the silent letters. We are given to understand that many of these silent letters will be dropped, which is good news to those who would like to learn French. A knowledge of it is a necessity to one who travels.

In America, when we want to adopt a new word or change its spelling, we simply do so, and that is the end of it. In this way the language has been permanently enriched by the addition of many a good, expressive word. But they do things differently in France. There no word, no phrase, no matter how admirable, can be adopted without the sanction of the French Academy. A committee of that august body must wrestle with it, examine it, sit up nights with it and think over it before it can become a part of their precious French speech. In this way they believe they preserve the purity of their language, and perhaps they do. At it proceeds they miss a good deal of fun.

Yellow fever must not be allowed to spread; neither must cholera. Medical science in this age should be able never again to allow contagious diseases of any civilized nation to be reborn on the knowledge and skill of our scientific doctors when they cannot meet and cope with any plague that may visit a enlightened country. Meantime Surgeon Murray, U. S. A., believes he has a mode of treatment that will save the life of any one attacked with yellow fever. Some of the features of his method that he advises are [illegible] children to [illegible] they might have yellow fever and get over it, and thereafter be [illegible]

Hurrah for the Herreshoff, who planned the Vigilant, with her true Yankee contrivance! He is among the most remarkable men living today. A man who, with sightless eyes, can yet read in inanimate wood the possibilities of unrivaled speed that can be put into sailing yacht, and who can furthermore plan that fleet of billows shall be wrought into actual form, is a worthy citizen of the great republic on which the sun never sets, and his country may honor him as he deserves.

"The man who does not read a newspaper does not use soap," says a rich shopmaker who advertises in the papers. In the simple economics of [illegible]

The millionaire [illegible] $25,000,000."

THEY WILL FIGHT IT OUT

Silver Senators Reorganize For a Prolonged Struggle.

COMPROMISE WAS ABANDONED.

The Next Move In the Senate Will Probably Be a Motor Contest Over an Attempt to Introduce Closure—The Silver Men Claim to Have Been Recruited.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Many and startling are have been the changes which have taken place in the situation with reference to the repeal bill since that measure was introduced in the senate, though no [illegible] have occurred in the [illegible] [illegible] Shortly before the end which ended with Senator Peffer's motion for a recess.

The day started in with the announcement that the compromise was off. Many were the whispered [illegible] and [illegible] in the morning the [illegible] [illegible] set its seal of disapproval upon the Democratic compromise, but very little inquiry was necessary to satisfy them of the correctness of this statement. Then came the talk on the part of some senators of adjournment of the bill in order to let the situation, and that was soon met with the assertion that cloture would be the proper thing on the programme.

Speedily were these announcements followed with the rumor that the silver men were willing to surrender unconditionally and allow the repeal bill to go through without [illegible] Such was the [illegible]

Lastly came the definite announcement, made almost simultaneously, that there would be no effort now or [illegible] the silver senators had been [illegible] forces and were prepared to continue the fight indefinitely.

"I Know the Wind Was Veering."

The most interesting development of the day was on the silver side. Whether given out in earnest or for a purpose, some of the silver senators announced when they heard that the repeal bill would not be pressed that they would make no more factional opposition, but would give way as to the [illegible] [illegible] were soon concluded and let the repeal bill pass. Senator Dubois was instrumental in bringing about the startling change which became apparent in the [illegible] He turned over to the Democratic side of the chamber and began to investigate. He met with much encouragement. The situation was changed in 10 minutes. Senator Pugh's services were soon enlisted, and he went to work with a will.

The result was, he said, the finding of several silver Democrats, who had heretofore refused to filibuster at all, who were willing to do all in their power and to [illegible] [illegible] might [illegible] most effective to prevent the reaching of a vote upon repeal.

He said there were 10 or 12 Democrats who would stand out to the end to prevent this result, and who would resort to filibustering pure and simple to accomplish it if necessary. Among the Populists Peffer, Allen and Kyle—had gathered about Senator Peffer's desk. An hour before from Mr. Peffer had attributed the statement that the Populists were willing to throw up their hands.

When they came out of this conference, into which Dubois was invited before its close, they were all prepared to continue the war to the bitter end. When seen at 4 o'clock Senator Faulkner said:

"Half an hour ago I told you a vote would be taken in a week. Now it looks farther off than ever."

Will Fight to a Finish.

Senator Harkner was encountered hurrying to catch a train at 5 o'clock. He was on the eve of starting to the World's fair. "It looks to me," he said, "as if we were hoped to see the bill through, but I feel that I must see the fair, and it now looks as if I might visit it and get back in time for the finish."

Closure is a question which senators discuss in a whisper since the last vote was taken. There can be little doubt that Senator Voorhees had in mind early in the day, when he said, he would ask for an adjournment instead of a recess, the bringing up of the closure resolution today. When he afterwards allowed Mr. Faulkner to move a recess instead of an adjournment, he cut off all possibility of making that question up today.

What he may design later in the week not [illegible] He may [illegible] the [illegible] of Senator Hill, who is the next senator of the closure resolution, and he may be of the opinion that the session is not [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] bate upon which [illegible] more [illegible] than on any other topic. There are many [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

FOY'S CAREER ENDED.

His Execution by Electricity Swift and Painless.

DANNEMORA, N. Y., Oct. 24.—Martin Foy was successfully killed by electricity at Clinton prison. When he was brought into the death room by Warden Thayer and Deputy McKenna he walked with steady step, carrying a crucifix. With no visible sign of emotion he took his seat in the death chair, while the deputy warden pinioned his arms and Electrician Davis put the electrodes in position. The current was turned on with a voltage of 1,640.

For 16 seconds the current was poured into the murderer's body at nearly full force and then allowed to reduce for 46 seconds. At the expiration of a minute Drs. Bontecou and Leslie and Prison Physicians Ransom and Maddon examined the body and pronounced life extinct. Death had been painless. The condemned man made no outcry. There was no twitching except the involuntary movement caused by turning on the current. Dr. Ransom says that Foy's death was one of the easiest ever experienced from the electric current. An autopsy followed.

Foy's father and brother staid at the home of Keeper Haggerty during the electrocution. They took the body to Saratoga for interment.

The crime for which Martin Foy paid the death penalty was committed on a public street in Saratoga on May 19, 1892. On that day Foy shot and killed Henrietta Wilson, who had lived with him as his mistress for over a year. He was jealous of her.

Foy was arrested and confined in Ballston jail. Thence he escaped, but was recaptured, though he succeeded in reaching the Pacific coast. Foy was convicted of murder at the first trial. He was 29 years old, born in England, a hostler by occupation, of fairly good education, but intemperate habits. He probably would have succeeded in eluding his pursuers after his escape had not his passion for horses led him to attend the Oakland race track, where he was recognized.

REBELS LACK GUNPOWDER.

Mello Declares One of His Captains President of Brazil.

RIO JANEIRO, Oct. 24.—Frederico Guilherme de Lorena has been proclaimed provisional president of Brazil by Admiral Mello, in command of the insurgent fleet.

Lorena is the captain of one of the rebel warships, and the provisional government of which he is now declared president was established some days ago at Desterro, which is the capital city of the state of Santa Catharina and is situated on the island of that name, which lies just off the Atlantic coast of Brazil, about 460 miles south of Rio.

When this island fell into the hands of Mello and his followers, they at once established their land headquarters there and set up the provisional government which has now been dignified by the addition of a president.

The bombardment of the capital has been suspended. There are two reasons current in Rio Janeiro for this action, or rather inaction, on the part of Admiral Mello. One is that he is awaiting the arrival of the ship Ciudad do Porto, which set out from this port recently, loaded with allies and provisions, but especially ammunition for Mello.

She has not reached Rio harbor yet, and consequently it is surmised that the rebel gunners have about run out of gunpowder and projectiles and do not think it wise to exhaust what they have left, lest before the arrival of the Ciudad with fresh supplies some of Peixoto's ships, though of inferior caliber, might engage the rebel squadron, and after obliging them to exhaust their ammunition in repulsing the attack overpower the insurgent crews by mere force of numbers.

THE RUSSIANS AGAIN.

Paris Turns From Mourning to Festivities and Martial Display.

PARIS, Oct. 24.—After a reception at the Military school, where the French officers stood in a circle and welcomed the Russians, the latter drove to the Champ de Mars, where they witnessed an elaborate military tournament in the huge machinery gallery of the old exposition. After a brilliant display of feats of arms there was a defile of a large body of splendidly mounted cavalry. The latter defiled past President Carnot, arousing the enthusiasm of the audience to a tremendous pitch. Over 30,000 were present.

It is noticeable that the military enthusiasm of the French is growing day by day, and that the French officers are much cheered wherever they go, being greeted with fervid shouts of "Vive l'Armee."

After leaving the military tournament the Russian officers went to the nautical fete held on the river Seine.

Found Hanging From a Window.

BOSTON, Oct. 24.—Miss Helen Marsh, a maiden lady, 42 years of age, ate supper at her boarding place, 107 Monmouth avenue, East Boston, last night and then remarked to a boarder that she should be in heaven in the morning. Two hours later she was found hanging over the second story banister, suspended by a bedcord. She was despondent through loss of work.

The Murderer Dropped a Tintype.

MOUNT STERLING, Ky., Oct. 24.—The body of Miss Sarah Trimble, aged 24 years, was found in a wagon in the woods near Levee. She had been shot twice. A tintype of a young man-stranger was found on the ground, and officers are in search of the originals.

Yellow Fever's Ravages In Brunswick.

BRUNSWICK, Ga., Oct. 24.—Three deaths were officially reported. Thirty-six new cases are also reported. There are under treatment 32 whites and 211 colored. To date a total of 44 have died.

The First Blizzard of the Season.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 24.—A storm in which snow and hail and rain and sleet are combined is reported as extending over eastern South Dakota and a short distance into North Dakota.

He Inspected a Canadian Gardener.

BUFFALO, Oct. 24.—Attorney General A. Simons has been made the defendant in a civil action for $1,000 by the United States government for importing a gardener from Toronto.

Two Brothers on Trial For Murder.

CONCORD, N. H., Oct. 24.—The trial of Robert and Albert Jones, charged with the murder of Captain Augustus B. Farmer of Bow, began here.

Alleged Fratricide on Trial.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., Oct. 24.—The trial of Simon Mahoney, who was indicted for shooting his brother at Suspension Bridge, was begun here.

World's Fair Attendance.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—The total paid admissions Monday were 250,114.

A MINISTER'S WRATH.

Denounced a Brother Pastor From the Pulpit.

HE ACCUSES HIM OF PROSELYTING.

Members of His Flock Told Him That They Had Been Urged to Leave the Methodist Church and Join Another by a Minister—A Scene In Church.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Oct. 24.—A sensation was created in this city by the remarks of the Rev. W. McKendric Darwood, D. D., at St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church, charging another minister with having resorted to proselyting tactics to win members from the Methodist church. Dr. Darwood had just finished the delivery of one of his most able discourses and the choir had rendered the usual anthem when he arose as though to announce the closing hymn. His remarks proved instead a most scorching rebuke to a brother minister and a warning against further interference with the lambs of his flock.

"I have a delicate matter to mention this morning," slowly began the pastor, "but deem it necessary that I speak of it now." By this time every person in the vast audience was listening with the most intense interest. "You have heard me say on several occasions," he continued, "that I have never met a more loyal company of ministers than we have in this city, and I repeat it."

No Matter Proselyting.

Everybody was now certain that the coming thunderbolt was to be hurled at some one of the city pastors. Dr. Darwood increased the emphasis and his naturally strong voice and proceeded:

"But I have heard during the past week that a man calling himself a minister has been prowling around in the homes of members of this church trying to induce them to leave this church and join his."

At this partial lull in the proceedings everybody had an idea who the alleged guilty minister was, though the name had not been given. The pastor said further: "I do not speak because I am afraid of losing my members, for I would not give a snap of my finger for a Methodist who would leave the Methodist church to join some old hull but I take such proceedings to the man who would steal a man's purse or withhold wouth take anything else he may desire, but when he steals my reputation he steals my all." A strong emphasis was placed upon the last sentence.

"This is all I have to say this morning," he continued, "but if the thing is not stopped I will write the minister or go and see him personally. God forbid that I should ever indulge in proselyting. May my right arm drop from its socket before I do such a thing."

A Scene After Church.

Immediately after the audience was dismissed numerous members crowded to the front and warmly grasped the pastor by the hand, while here and there in the church little companies of people collected in discussing the matter. The affair caused much discussion upon the streets yesterday, and Dr. Darwood is sustained in the course taken by the majority. It is believed the affair will effectually put a stop in this community to proselyting outside the church.

It is understood that Pastor Darwood learned of the attempt to secure some of his people through those who had been approached on the subject. Dr. Darwood is serving his first year as pastor of St. Paul, having previously been pastor of Central church, Yonkers, N. Y.

ANGEL DANCERS SENTENCED.

Two of Them Must Serve a Year at Hard Labor In Prison.

HACKENSACK, N. J., Oct. 24.—Judge Van Valen sentenced the angel dancers, who were recently convicted of keeping a disorderly house in Herman Storms' dwelling at Pascack. Huntsman, the leader of the band of fanatics, was sentenced to a year at hard labor in the state prison. Jane Howell received the same sentence.

Silas De Pure and all the other prisoners, except John the Baptist and Mary Storms, were set at liberty on promise of good behavior in future. John the Baptist wouldn't make any such promise, and Mary Storms refused to accept her liberty when Huntsman and Mrs. Howell were deprived of theirs, so they were remanded to prison for future treatment.

Civil Service Frauds Charged.

BUFFALO, Oct. 24.—Sensational information was lodged before a special meeting of the civil service commission of Buffalo last night by examination of the applicants for places on the police force some of the candidates had been furnished with information respecting the questions to be asked. Three city officials are suspected of having stolen a set of papers and passed them to their friends among the candidates.

Eight Still Unidentified.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Oct. 24.—Two more bodies were recognized as those of Marcus Hein of Kansas City and J. M. Shilling of Chicago, but eight bodies are left in the morgue. A large number of people are still in the city looking for friends who are supposed to be lost.

Dhuleep Singh Died Alone.

PARIS, Oct. 24.—Maharajah Dhuleep Singh died at his hotel of apoplexy. Thus ended a remarkable career as an Indian prince, as an English country gentleman and as an intriguer with Russia against England. He died alone, the maharajah died alone and deserted by all.

Railroad Foreman Found Murdered.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 24.—The body of John Johnson, a foreman on the railroad, was found with his skull crushed in and a knife wound in his body. According to the story of an Italian boy, he was murdered by John Wilburn, the foreman of a stone quarry.

The Old Guard Coming Back.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—The Old Guard of New York left for the east. Before leaving the guard was tendered a reception, a "parting cup" and a pretty assortment of about 40 New York commercial travelers.

Locomotive Boiler Explosion.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 24.—The engine attached to a passenger train on the Peyton and Ironton Railroad exploded near Rayaville, O., killing a fireman named Shields and severely injuring the engineer.

Italians Welcome the British.

SPEZIA, Oct. 24.—The city was brilliantly illuminated in honor of the British sailors, and the streets were thronged with enthusiastic crowds.

Two German Rivers Cholera Infested.

BERLIN, Oct. 24.—The rivers Oder and Elbe are again declared to be cholera infected

A BIG RAILROAD DEAL

The Vanderbilts Secure Control of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad is consigned into the hands of the Vanderbilts. J. W. Davis & Co., the stockbrokers of 5 Broad street, transferred 40,000 shares of the stock to the name of W. K. Vanderbilt. It is understood that 100,000 shares have been bought for the same interests.

This is the explanation of the big rise in the coal stocks which has been puzzling Wall street for so many days. Lackawanna and the coal stocks fairly hummed in the stock market. Lackawanna sold up to 160, N. Jersey Central, 10 points, to 120½, and Delaware and Hudson, 4 points, to 138½.

All these advances were scored during the first half of the day's market. The meaning of the new deal is that the coal roads will now be operated harmoniously, as Vanderbilt and Jersey Central interests now controlling all three of the roads mentioned above, and a sympathetic receivership for the Reading assuring the cooperation of that property. The deal is considered one of the greatest ever made in Wall street.

It is understood that the Vanderbilt purchases include the holdings of the New York Life Insurance company and those of Mr. William Rockefeller.

It is learned that no large interests besides the New York Life Insurance company and William Rockefeller parted with their holdings. The Moses Taylor stock is said to be in the hands of friends of the Pratt holdings are thought to be intact. Other large holders are said to be Frank Work and the Higgins estate.

The new deal means more than a solution of the coal situation, as the control of the Lackawanna gives the Vanderbilts a third line to Buffalo. The Lackawanna has netted as the eastern connection of the Grand Trunk, and the latter may have to find new connections or make different arrangements with the Lackawanna.

NEW YORK BANDITS.

An Armed Gang Terrorizing the Vicinity of Hornellsville.

HORNELLSVILLE, N. Y., Oct. 24.—Unsuccessful efforts are being made to capture the Martin gang. They are a band of highway robbers who operate on the roads leading from this city. They carry revolvers in belts. When they hold up a man, they shoot over his head to frighten him. On several occasions they have shot holes through their caps.

H. Biddy Martin, the leader of the gang, went to the house of Mr. Drake, near Webb's crossing, and threatened him with fire punishment because he was one of 10 special constables appointed to capture the gang. Martin wore a belt filled with pistols. He defied Drake to arrest him.

Several deputy sheriffs, accompanied by a posse of 100 men fully armed, started to capture the gang after Martin left Drake. They surrounded a shanty in a wood that the gang made their headquarters. By some means the outlaws managed to escape before the posse reached the shanty.

Out of Work, So She Killed Herself.

ATTOL, Miss., Oct. 24.—Miss Nellie Hicks, a young girl 17 years old, committed suicide by shooting herself with a revolver. She had been out of work for some time.

Another World's Fair Hotel a Failure.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—The Hotel Everett, on Fifty-sixth street, has been added to the list of unfortunate World's fair hotels, a receiver having been appointed.

TWICE TRIMMED TICKINGS.

A franchise bill was presented in the Austrian reichsrath.

The Dalton gang attended a church fair at Cushing, O.T., and patronized the tables liberally.

Directum and Mascot have been matched for $5,000 a side to race at Fleetwood track, Columbus, O.

Six counties in Kansas have been depopulated by crop failures and the opening of the Cherokee strip.

Merchants of St. Paul have agreed not to employ any person found frequenting gambling or poolrooms.

A woman who left California with a good behavior in future. John the Baptist wouldn't make any such promise, and Mary Storms refused to accept her liberty when Huntsman and Mrs. Howell were deprived of theirs, so they were remanded to prison for future treatment.

Civil Service Frauds Charged.

BUFFALO, Oct. 24.—Sensational information was lodged before a special meeting of the civil service commission of Buffalo last night by examination of the applicants for places on the police force some of the candidates had been furnished with information respecting the questions to be asked. Three city officials are suspected of having stolen a set of papers and passed them to their friends among the candidates.

Eight Still Unidentified.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Oct. 24.—Two more bodies were recognized as those of Marcus Hein of Kansas City and J. M. Shilling of Chicago, but eight bodies are left in the morgue. A large number of people are still in the city looking for friends who are supposed to be lost.

Dhuleep Singh Died Alone.

PARIS, Oct. 24.—Maharajah Dhuleep Singh died at his hotel of apoplexy. Thus ended a remarkable career as an Indian prince, as an English country gentleman and as an intriguer with Russia against England. He died alone, the maharajah died alone and deserted by all.

Railroad Foreman Found Murdered.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 24.—The body of John Johnson, a foreman on the railroad, was found with his skull crushed in and a knife wound in his body. According to the story of an Italian boy, he was murdered by John Wilburn, the foreman of a stone quarry.

The Old Guard Coming Back.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—The Old Guard of New York left for the east. Before leaving the guard was tendered a reception, a "parting cup" and a pretty assortment of about 40 New York commercial travelers.

Locomotive Boiler Explosion.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 24.—The engine attached to a passenger train on the Peyton and Ironton Railroad exploded near Rayaville, O., killing a fireman named Shields and severely injuring the engineer.

Italians Welcome the British.

SPEZIA, Oct. 24.—The city was brilliantly illuminated in honor of the British sailors, and the streets were thronged with enthusiastic crowds.

Two German Rivers Cholera Infested.

BERLIN, Oct. 24.—The rivers Oder and Elbe are again declared to be cholera infected

GOOD Food - - - Digestion - - - Complexion - - are all intimately connected—practically inseparable. Though the fact is often ignored, it is nevertheless true that a good digestion is an impossibility without good digestion, which in turn depends on good food.

There is no more common cause of indigestion than hard, fat the bright housekeeper can

COTTOLENE

The New Vegetable Shortening

and cook with it. For hot, light and wholesome biscuits, cakes, pies, etc., for your family, will be far more likely to be "Like a rose in the house."

COTTOLENE is clean, delicate, healthful and popular. Try it for yourself.

Send three cents in stamps to N. K. Fairbank & Co., Chicago, for their handsome Cook Book, containing 200 household recipes, and directions for using Cottolene in cooking.

Pkgs. sold by all Grocers.

N. K. Fairbank & Co., CHICAGO, and 128 N. Delaware Ave., Phila.

Prudence Exchange, N. Y.

H. DE MOTT, Graduate of United States Embalming College, UNDERTAKER : AND : EMBALMER. Office at residence, 128 Somerset Street. Plainfield, N. J.

VIGOR OF MEN

Easily, Quickly, Permanently Restored.

Weakness, Nervousness, Debility, and all the train of evils from early errors or excesses, the results of overwork, sickness, worry, etc. Full strength, development and tone given in all cases. Simple, natural methods. Immediate improvement seen. Failure impossible. 2,000 references. Book, explanation and proofs mailed (sealed) free.

ERIE MEDICAL CO., Buffalo, N.Y.

Van Eps,

THE NEW JEWELER.

12 Park Avenue. Also a large variety of Musical Goods.

U. B. CRANE,

has the largest stock of

Fine Fall HATS,

in Plainfield.

12 WEST FRONT STREET.

1893 TAXES!

Notice is hereby given to the taxpayers of the

City of Plainfield,

that the taxes assessed in said city for the year 1893 are now due and payable, and that if the said taxes be not paid by the

20th Day of December

next, the names of the defaulters, with their respective taxes, will be returned to the City Judge for the prosecution. The

COMMISSIONERS OF APPEAL

in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council Chamber, on the

Fourth Tuesday in November Next,

the 28th, and sit from two o'clock P. M. until five o'clock P. M. or longer, if found necessary, for the purpose of hearing such complaints as may be submitted to them for consideration.

JOHN JOHNSON,
Collector of Taxes.

Dated, Plainfield, N. J., October 3, 1893.
10 7 td

Do You?

intend to invest in a

WHEEL?

If so, call on

Dickinson,

The Optician.

Agent for the Rambler, the best wheel in the market, for 1893. Also Sterling and 41 Ibs. Wheels to hire at reasonable rates.

Neuman Brothers,

THE POPULAR GROCERS,

have a full line of selected

Groceries, Fruit and Vegetables.

Choicest varieties of Coffees and Teas, guaranteed. A fine display of choicest Apples daily. A new stock of Canned Vegetables and Fruits.

NEUMAN BROS.,

WATCHUNG AVENUE and FIFTH STREET.

Legal Advertisements.

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY.
Between Mary Wilburn, Executrix, and Patrick Wilburn, her husband, Virgil Conover and Alice Conover, his wife, Abram Wilburn, Jacob W. Wilburn, Jr., her husband, and John Allen and Mrs. John Allen, his wife.

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the 7th day of October, 1893, in a cause wherein John R. Marsh is complainant, and the above named and others are defendants, I will expose to sale at public vendue, on the premises hereinafter described, on Monday, the 6th day of November, 1893, at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, all that certain tract or parcel of land and premises mortgaged by Abram Wilburn and Patrick Wilburn, his wife, to John R. Marsh, by indenture dated November 19th A. D. 1888, and now held by said Mary Wilburn, Virgil Conover, Alice Conover, Jacob W. Wilburn, Jr., John Allen and Mrs. John Allen, or some of them, or some person or persons claiming title, estate, interest or claim to or in said premises, or any part thereof, from or under them or any of them, or from or under the said Abram Wilburn and Patrick Wilburn, his wife, or either of them, or any person or persons claiming title, estate, interest or claim to have an interest in some portion of said lands, as tenant or otherwise, or any person or persons claiming title, estate, interest or claim to or in said premises, and the said defendants to redeem the said mortgaged premises, and all persons claiming title, estate, interest or claim to or in said lands, as tenant or otherwise, or any portion of said lands.

Dated August 1, 1893.

NELSON BOWNE,
Solicitor of Complainant.
Cor. Park avenue and Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

9 21 5t

TAKE NOTICE.

Charles Arnold,

the butcher,

Is Still in the Race

for cut prices.

Fresh Pork and Sausage 12c. lb.
My own Dressed Jersey Chickens, 18c. lb.
Legs Mutton, 10c. lb.
Lamb, 12c. lb.
My Smoked Meats and all other Meats will be the same old cut prices.

Arnold's : Market,

209 LIBERTY STREET.

GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE.

Strictly Cash.

Are You Insured?

If you are 21 years old $61.40 paid annually for fifteen years would entitle you to $1,000.
If 30 years old, $67.
If 25 years old, $67.10.
If 24 years old, $67.30.

This sum of $1,000 is payable to the insured, if living, at the expiration of fifteen years, or at his death if prior.

FOR A LIFE POLICY, of $1,000 the annual payments to continue for life, the payments for young men between 21 and 24 are between $18.60 and $30.

For catalogues and further particulars address Henry D. Morrison, 31 Somerset street, agent The New York Mutual Life Insurance Company.

F. M. HULETT,

MUSIC DEALER,

74 West Front Street,

handles the following makes:

Gildemeister & Kroeger, Kranich & Bach, Star, Mulfield, Jacob Bros. Pianos, and the world-renowned Neuman Bros. and Mason & Hamlin Organs.

Builders Cards.

Daniel Hulick,

Carpenter

and

General Jobber.

SHOP

35 Jackson Avenue.

Storm doors and weather strips a specialty.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

Window Screens made to order.

John P. Emmons,

MASON AND BUILDER.

Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place.

Jobbing promptly attended to.

P. O. Box 625.

PIERSON & GAYLE,

Carpenters and Builders.

W. J. Pierson, No. 2 Vine street. H. S. Gayle, No. 10 Vine street.

All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM G. SMITH,

PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER.

All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.

Residence—Grandview avenue.

P. O. Box 324.

R. V. SAUER,

Carpenter & Builder.

Residence—Clinton avenue, near depot, Bronx.

P. O. Box 289

Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.

JACOB M. HIGGINS,

PRACTICAL MASON and CONTRACTOR

P. O. Box 921. Residence Dunellen. 9 25 1y

JOHN ARNOTT,

Practical Carpenter and Builder. Best results obtained by personal attention. Jobbing promptly attended to. Residence and P. O. Box 1021.

ALFRED E. NELSON,

Civil Engineer and Surveyor, 107 Park Place, Plainfield, N. J. Maps of Union, Middlesex and Somerset counties, Plainfield and vicinity. Surveys and Estimates for Sewerage, Water Supply and Drainage. Office hours from 9 to 12 A. M. and 2 to 4 P. M. Also on the Court House, Court House Square. All work guaranteed. 10 17

- - FREE - -

Handsomely decorated Jap tea cup with every one dollar purchase, in our tea room asking for it. No remarkable offer around for the balance of our flower pots, and we have some very pretty ones left.

We are constantly adding new goods, and the hard times have forced prices way down. Remember we aim to undersell by fair competition. Lamps are almost one-half what they were last year, and many are bargains indeed. See our 10.50 full decorated, or $3.25 center draft Lamps, and we will name the same Common Chimneys, all sizes for 5c. You can't buy Common Chimneys in New York, for less we can sell it. In China, Stain-ware, Cutlery, Paper, &c., the line now display in the city to score. In Tinware, Woodenware and general Housefurnishings, we can suit you. We sell Brushes of all kinds, Washes, Dust Pans, Mops, Brooms and Pastrycooks. We have Granite ware, a full line and useful articles on 5 and 10c. counters. Our display of fancy China tea and Fancy tete will serve up you, prices from five cents to one dollar. If you have never used Royal Baking Powder, you have missed a treat. Try it. We have it in stock, and you will be delighted with the result. You are not afraid to ride but costs for a good thing, are you? We have the "Royal." Call and see the Rotary Shuttle in the Sewing Machine line. This machine is almost noiseless, and its work wonderful. We sell the "standard."

J. C. Allen, 28 West Front St., Plainfield, N. J.

Now is Your Chance.

GRAND CLOTHING OPENING, at our retail store, 218 West Front street. Are you ready? We are prepared to offer the public a clean, fresh stock of Fall and Winter Clothing, for Men, Boys and Children. Remember, we sell at retail at the wholesale price.

C. SCHEPFLIN & CO.,

218 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

A GREAT SLAUGHTER!

of

Ladies' Wrappers, for one week, at 75 cents.

at

THE LEADER! M. GOLDMANN, Prop'r

210 WEST FRONT STREET, (Old No. 32.)

Two doors from Music Hall.

Great Bargains

in all grades of

WALL PAPERS,

for the next 60 days.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

29 EAST FRONT STREET.

Railroad Time Table.

CENTRAL RAILROAD OF NEW JERSEY

(Anthracite coal used exclusively insuring cleanliness and comfort.)

Station in New York, foot of Liberty street. Time-table in effect July 30, 1893.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield for New York, 5.20, 6.40, 7.40, 8.40, 9.40, 10.40, 11.40 a. m., 12.40, 1.40, 2.40, 3.40, 4.40, 5.40, 6.40, 7.40, 8.40, 9.40, 10.40, 11.40 p. m., 12.40 night.

Leave New York for Plainfield, 1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 a. m., 12.00, 1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 p. m., 12.00 night.

PLAINFIELD AND DUNELLEN.

Leave Plainfield for Dunellen, 6.40, 7.40, 8.40, 9.40, 10.40, 11.40 a. m., 12.40, 1.40, 2.40, 3.40, 4.40, 5.40, 6.40, 7.40, 8.40, 9.40, 10.40, 11.40 p. m., 12.40 night.

Leave Dunellen for Plainfield, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 a. m., 12.00, 1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 p. m., 12.00 night.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield for Somerville, 7.40 a. m., 12.40, 4.40, 5.40 p. m.

Leave Somerville for Plainfield, 6.45 a. m., 12.00 m., 4.45, 5.45 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND BOUND BROOK.

Leave Plainfield at 6.40, 8.10, 9.40 a. m., 12.40, 2.40, 4.40, 5.40, 6.40, 8.40, 9.40, 10.40, 11.40 p. m., 12.40 night.

Leave Bound Brook for Plainfield, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 a. m., 12.00, 1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 p. m., 12.00 night.

PLAINFIELD AND BOUND BROOK.

Leave Plainfield at 6.40, 8.10, 9.40 a. m., 12.40, 2.40, 4.40, 5.40, 6.40, 8.40, 9.40, 10.40, 11.40 p. m., 12.40 night.

Leave Bound Brook for Plainfield, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 a. m., 12.00, 1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00 p. m., 12.00 night.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

Leave Plainfield at 6.40, 8.10, 9.40 a. m., 12.40, 2.40, 4.40, 5.40, 6.40, 8.40, 9.40, 10.40, 11.40 p. m., 12.40 night, for Bound Brook, Allentown, Bethlehem, Easton, Phillipsburg, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Binghamton, Elmira, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Chicago, Cincinnati, Pittsburg, Harrisburg, Williamsport, Watkins, Geneva, Rochester, Canandaigua, Dunkirk, Corning, Hornellsville, Salamanca, Bradford, Oil City, Titusville, Erie, Ashtabula, Cleveland, Toledo, Detroit, Canton, Akron, Columbus, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha, Denver, Portland, Oregon, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Salt Lake City, Montreal, Quebec, Toronto, Manitoba, Winnipeg, Duluth, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Helena, Butte City, Spokane Falls, Tacoma, Seattle, Victoria, Vancouver.

Leave Plainfield at 6.40, 8.10, 9.40 a. m., 12.40, 2.40, 4.40, 5.40, 6.40, 8.40, 9.40, 10.40, 11.40 p. m., 12.40 night, for Dunellen, Metuchen, Perth Amboy, Rahway, Elizabeth, Newark, Jersey City, Hoboken, Harrison, Kearny, Arlington, Lyndhurst, Rutherford Park, Passaic, Paterson, Hackensack, Englewood, Tenafly, Nyack, Spring Valley, Suffern, Monroe, Middletown, Port Jervis, Goshen, Warwick, Greenwood Lake, Newburgh, Poughkeepsie, Rhinebeck, Hudson, Albany, Troy, Saratoga, Lake George, Burlington, Rutland, Montpelier, White River Junction, Bellows Falls, Brattleboro, Greenfield, Springfield, Worcester, Boston.

Leave Plainfield at 6.40, 8.10, 9.40 a. m., 12.40, 2.40, 4.40, 5.40, 6.40, 8.40, 9.40, 10.40, 11.40 p. m., 12.40 night, for Dunellen, Metuchen, Perth Amboy, Rahway, Elizabeth, Newark, Jersey City, Hoboken, Harrison, Kearny, Arlington, Lyndhurst, Rutherford Park, Passaic, Paterson, Hackensack, Englewood, Tenafly, Nyack, Spring Valley, Suffern, Monroe, Middletown, Port Jervis, Goshen, Warwick, Greenwood Lake, Newburgh, Poughkeepsie, Rhinebeck, Hudson, Albany, Troy, Saratoga, Lake George, Burlington, Rutland, Montpelier, White River Junction, Bellows Falls, Brattleboro, Greenfield, Springfield, Worcester, Boston.

ROYAL MAIL LINE.

Leave Plainfield at 6.40, 8.10, 9.40 a. m., 12.40, 2.40, 4.40, 5.40, 6.40, 8.40, 9.40, 10.40, 11.40 p. m., 12.40 night, for Dunellen, Metuchen, Perth Amboy, Rahway, Elizabeth, Newark, Jersey City, Hoboken, Harrison, Kearny, Arlington, Lyndhurst, Rutherford Park, Passaic, Paterson, Hackensack, Englewood, Tenafly, Nyack, Spring Valley, Suffern, Monroe, Middletown, Port Jervis, Goshen, Warwick, Greenwood Lake, Newburgh, Poughkeepsie, Rhinebeck, Hudson, Albany, Troy, Saratoga, Lake George, Burlington, Rutland, Montpelier, White River Junction, Bellows Falls, Brattleboro, Greenfield, Springfield, Worcester, Boston.

Real Estate & Insurance

Edw. C. Mulford,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE

45 North Avenue.

M. M. Dunham,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

No. 7 East Front street.

Wm. A. Woodruff,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN on Approved Security.

Corner Front street and Park avenue.

Spicer & Hubbard,

Manufacturers of

Mouldings, Sash, Blinds, Doors, etc.

Corner Madison avenue and Third street.

SCROLL SAWING, TURNING.

Also plain and ornamental glass furnished to order. 12 7

Professional Cards.

WILLIAM E. CODINGTON,

Counsellor at Law, Notary Public, Conveyancer and Master in Chancery. Office, Front street, Plainfield, N. J. Prompt attention to all business.

JACKSON & ARCHIBALD,

Counsellors at Law, Rooms 1 and 2, Post Office building, corner Park avenue and Front street, Plainfield, N. J. Practice in Supreme Court, Orphans' Court, Chancery, Circuit and Common Pleas Courts. Masters in Chancery.

F. A. DUNHAM,

Civil Engineer and Surveyor, 107 Park Place, Plainfield, N. J. Maps of Union, Middlesex and Somerset counties, Plainfield and vicinity. Surveys and Estimates for Sewerage, Water Supply and Drainage. Office hours from 9 to 12 A. M. and 2 to 4 P. M. Also on the Court House, Court House Square. All work guaranteed.

WILLIAM A. CODDINGTON,

Counsellor-at-Law, Notary Public and Conveyancer. Office, Front street, Plainfield, N. J. Money to loan. Collections promptly made. Office Hrs. 10 to 12 and 2 to 4.

CLARK & REED,

Counsellors at Law, Supreme Court Commissioners, Notaries Public, Conveyancers, Etc. Office over First National Bank building, Plainfield, N. J.

CRANE & HAMED,

Counsellors at Law, Supreme Court Commissioners, Notaries Public, Conveyancers and Masters in Chancery. Office, Corner Front and Somerset streets, Plainfield, N. J.

PURITAN SMALL BOYS.

How the Elders Preserved Decorum on Sabbath—Yankee Tricks.

In a book in which Jonathan Trumbull recorded the minor events in his life as just as of the peace is this entry: "His Majesties Tithing man entered complaint against Jona. and Sa. Smith, 1681, on the Lord's Day, during Divine Service, they did smile." They were found guilty, and each was fined five shillings and costs.

But it was the small boy, says the Youth's Companion, whose behavior in the meeting-house provoked the Puritan elders to groan in chorus: "Foolishness is bound in the heart of a child."

The boy behaved badly because he was seated with other boys, instead of with his father and mother in a family pew. They were herded together on the pulpit and gallery stairs, and tithingmen and constables were appointed to watch over them, "and as they espyed these naughty comelie, and use such raps and blowes as meet."

In one parish it was ordered in town meeting "that there be some sticks set up in various places in the meeting-house, and the persons by them and to use them."

In Miss Earle's book, "The Sabbath in Puritan New England," a story is told of Deacon Dakin hearing a noise while he was praying in a church in Quincy. The minister opened his eyes to discover the cause, and saw a red-haired boy clutching the railing on the front edge of the gallery, while a venerable deacon shook the boy. At last the balustrade gave way, and boy and deacon fell with a crash. Not content with that the boy cut up the meeting-house, and evidently certain accompanied by wails, were soon heard from the region of the horse-sheds.

A Yankee trait early observed itself, for in 1720 the town of Medford passed an order to prosecute "all who cut the nails in the meeting-house." Some Puritan boys would whittle, and in spite of the tithingmen's watchfulness the nails were hacked and cut.

Very True.

If Christopher Columbus had never, had never Set sail from little Palos in 1492,
It isn't possible at all-I'd ever, I'd ever
Been scribbling rhymes and stories, my little ones for you.
And then sometimes I have wished that he hadn't, he hadn't America discovered, for as sure as birds
If he hadn't been so lucky 'twould have saved me, 'twould have saved me Much pen and ink and paper, and stuck work and worrying.
—Margaret Sytngo.

PROFESSOR PAULUS.

Reserve at Death That Which He Won'd Not Believe in Life.

Professor Paulus was an outspoken man in his day. Like many Germans he did not accept the Christian religion, and did not believe in a future state. At his death bed he was asked by a group of friends, that they might see how an atheist and philosopher could die.

"You will take notes," he said, "as I dictate my symptoms. To a philosopher the last moments of life are of great significance, and may be of scientific value."

He dictated a few dry symptoms with mind and voice, and as he grew weaker said faintly, "Now I will describe the process of dissolution. This is the end of

Hotels.

CENTRAL HOTEL,
No. 11 E. Front St.,
PLAINFIELD.

Windham & Crowley,
PROPRIETORS.

First-class bar attached.

Fourth Ward Hotel.
JOHN GOFF, Proprietor.
Boarders accommodated, both transient and permanent.
LARGE ROOMS
and
ALL MODERN IMPROVEMENTS.

Fine Wines, Liquors and CIGARS.
Corner Third and Liberty Streets.

Hotel Grenada,
NORTH AVENUE,
now open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the travelling public.

City Hotel,
Corner
PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.
Transient guests accommodated.

Eugene Hoerster,
206 Grove Street,
North Plainfield.

Wholesale Dealer
in
FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.
Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

59c. SALE! 59c.
59c. of 59c.
KID GLOVES!
4 button length, tan, smoke, brown and black, all sizes, 5½ to 7½. 59c.
59c. 59c.
GEO. L. VAN EMBURGH & SON.
FRONT STREET, OPPOSITE PARK AVENUE. UNDER THE BANK.

Timely Warning! Winter Approaching!
Keep your Scalp clean and your Hair Growing.
RANDOLPH'S Quinine and Glycerine
HAIR TONIC!
The Friend in the Hour of Need.
EACH BOTTLE GUARANTEED. Sold only by
L. W. RANDOLPH, Prescription Druggist,
143 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

What is called the soul.

His friends walked for the regulation of what might be termed theological grist of their teacher's doctrinal mind. He listened in silence, and disbelieved in spirit.

After a few more words the professor fell back upon the bed and closed his eyes. The doctor felt his pulse and waited. Then suddenly starting up, his eyes brilliant with an expression of extreme wonder and surprise, he cried in a loud voice: "Then is this all? There is no another life!" and passed into unconsciousness.—Youth's Companion.

A Receipt.

Take a lot of good nature and plenty of fun,
And stir them up often together,
Then once in a while add a sweet, sunny smile—
'Twill make the brightness in dreariest weather.
—Reader's Companion.

Landseer's Famous Dogs.

Mrs. Ritchie, the English writer, says that in her young days she used to go to Sir Edwin Landseer's beautiful villa in St. John's Wood, and she tells the following story about one of the artist's dogs: Among his many stories I remember his once telling us an anecdote of one of his dogs he was in the habit of taking out at the end of his work. The dog used to wait patiently all day long while Sir Edwin was perhaps busy in the house and lie down at his feet and look up in his face towards 5 o'clock, and on one occasion, finding his master engrossed, trotted into the hall and seeing [illegible] the painter's hat, stuck to it on the floor before him.—Chicago Post.

Some Rather Personal Cures a Go. Dog.

A Bangor woman's pet dog died recently, and the widow was sorely grieving, when her son suggested having it stuffed. A sculptor was made the label with silk. On a shrouded table in a darkened room the dead hound was laid, and the canvas, with outward seem, was laid in state. When the time came for all the sympathetic relatives to call the sculptor, [illegible] that it was to be put at Towser. The conduct was made to the garden, and then under the direction of words of tender solicitude, with [illegible] dog nearly [illegible] and the dog was laid away.

"Papa," said little Bobbie, of Boston, "did you drive the English from our shores in 1776?"

"And is that the reason we low American cuss speak correct English? Was the language driven out too?"—Harper's Bazar.

At the Seaside.

Teddy (aged ten)—Ella, won't you be my little wife?

Ella (aged eight)—Yes, Teddy, I will.

Teddy—Then take off my hook. I'm going to paddle; and you stay there and mind 'em.

A Woman President.

"Mamma," asked Bibi, "suppose no baby's wob in our fight for Independence in 1776, would Queen Victoria be President of the United States?"—Harper's Bazar.

Thoughtful.

Mamma—Why do you call that beautiful doll an "ugly old thing?"

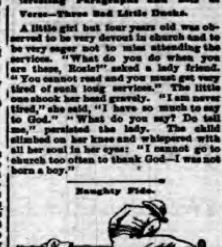
Little Dot—Sh-h-h! She's so pretty I'z 'fraid she'll get vain.—Good News.

FOR AND ABOUT CHILDREN.

READING TO ENTERTAIN AND AMUSE THE LITTLE ONES.

Some Bright Sayings of Small People—Doings of Little Johnnie—Some Interesting Paragraphs and Bits of Verse—Three Sad Little Ducks.

A little girl but four years old was observed to be very devout in church and to be very eager not to miss attending the services. "What do you do when you are there, Rosie?" asked a lady friend. "You cannot read and you must get very tired of such long services." The little one shook her head gravely. "I am never tired," she said, "I have so much to say to God." "What do you say? Do tell me," persisted the lady. The child climbed on her knee and whispered with all her soul in her eyes: "I cannot go to church too often to thank God—I was not born a boy."



Naughty Little Pide
Raged so terrible still,
Tried to keep poor Jackie
From calling on Miss Jill.

DOINGS OF LITTLE JOHNNIE.

Some Bright Remarks by this Interesting Youngster.

The other day Johnnie was playing in the yard with some of his little schoolmates when his mother called him. When Johnnie made no answer one of his young friends behind him if he hadn't heard his mother call. "Of course I did," replied the little philosopher.

"Then, why didn't you reply?"

"Because," answered Johnnie, "if I'd answered the first time me would have been sure I was up to some mischief, and then she'd have come out and spelled me in."

NO TIME TO ENJOY IT.

Stolen fruits, it would seem, are not always the sweetest. Little Johnnie happened to find the pantry door open, and, as no one was looking, he helped himself to the first thing he could lay his hands on. When his father came home and heard about it he said:

"My boy, did you like the pie you stole?"

"No, dad," replied Johnnie, "I heard ma coming, and so I had to gobble it up in a hurry."

CAUGHT TO BE BACKWARD.

He had been out in the yard playing ball, and when he came into the house very suddenly and sat down with his [illegible] his school book in his hand, his father thought it was full time to question him. This is how it all came out.

"What did you do with your book?"

"It went over the fence."

"Did you go and get it?"

"No."

"Why not?"

"Because it went through the window."

AN UNFORTUNATE ADMISSION.

Johnnie had come home late and was being questioned as to how he had been spending his time.

"So that little boy next door climbed the ladder and grew scared when he got at the top," queried his father, "and you went to help him down?"

"Yes, father," answered Johnnie.

"What made you so long about it?"

"Because," responded the untutored Johnnie, "it had taken nearly half an hour for me to coax him to go up."—N. Y. Evening Sun.

Three Sad Little Ducks.

Old mother hen hatched three little ducks,
And she loved them with all her heart,
Though she thought them ugly with their webby feet
And funny for chicks,
And resolved she would pull them apart.

But Fluffy cried "Cheep!" and Fluffy cried "Peep!"
And Puffy-bill cried "Chick! chuck!"
Till that kind mother hen let the little ones be
As Nature had made the first duck.

One day mother Hen took a stroll to the
With Fuzzie-bill, Fluffy and Puff,
When in the three hopped and went swimming about,
Contented and happy enough.

"Quack! quack!" cried the mother.
"You'll drown, my dear children!"
But her answer was three merry clucks,
As they smoothly said, "Mother hen, scratch your land;
We're not chickens, but three little ducks."

—Omaha World-Herald.

A LIGHT STEP.

Something Every Child Should Learn—Once Acquired, it will Remain.

Anybody can have it who will be at the pains to set the feet down right. In that lies all the difference between a thumping, lumping gait and the light tread that makes people call you "velvet-footed." The whole body and every limb in a single sentence: Put the ball of the foot down first, throwing the weight upon it, and letting the heel come to the floor the mechanical part of a second after. Treading flat-footed—over all the soles at once—the weight comes with a jar that is about equally destructive to quiet, to grace, and to shoe-leather. By stepping first on the ball, just back of the toes, its cushiony muscles act as a spring, and make walking a double pleasure.

Johnnie's Triopets.

Little Johnny Carmichael received a tricycle
The Fourth of July from his aunts,
To nurse's disgust, for he raised a great dust,
And kept her at sending his pants.
He upset the cradle and run over Mabel,
Who lay with her doll on the mat;
He scratched the new table and raised such a babel
It frightened Miss Maity, the cat.—N. Y. World.

Tired from Head to Foot.

FROM HEAD TO FOOT.

That's what's the matter with the most of us. What's the remedy? Your circulation is clogged. The blood is impoverished for lack of fuel. We have known severe cases of so-called rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, weak joints and muscles, pin feeling in fingers and toes, in a short time by the use of Anti-Tire. Get up your circulation. Supply action to the blood with fuel. Then and only then will you feel like a new man and enjoy life. Try Anti-Tire. Price, 50c. All druggists. Send 2c stamp for trial package.
LYONS & SIEGLER,
404 Bergen Avenue,
Jersey City, N. J.

A GOOD WIFE
is a great blessing, and a good husband will look after her comfort. He can almost secure her future comfort by buying a lot which is pretty nearly, the prices are so low. The lot is situated in a beautiful and healthy neighborhood.

GIVEN AWAY

WITH EVERY
convenience for reaching stores, schools and churches quickly. Now is the grand opportunity to invest in a splendid

BUILDING LOT.
For particulars, address
"OWNER,"
care of Evening News.

Horses and Carriages,
of all kinds, for hire, at
O'BRIEN'S,
116 WEST FOURTH STREET,
or at the depot.

Joseph T. Vail,
REAL ESTATE
and
INSURANCE.
DEALER IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING
40 North Avenue.

We Can't Make Weather, But, We Can Make Prices That Will Make "Biz."
DRESS GOODS STOCK IS HEAVY AND MUST BE SOLD.

	Price.	Value.
44 inch, all wool Mixtures	25c.,	50c.
36 inch, " Serges	42c.,	75c.
44 inch, " "	50c.,	75c.
36 inch, " Ladies' Cloth	50c.,	75c.
36 inch, " Suiting	15c.,	25c.
HOSIERY.
Child's, full rey ribbed, all black	10c.,	15c.
" " "	12c.,	25c.
" " "	15c.,	25c.
" " Ingrain Hose	25c.,	50c.
Men's " " half Hose	12½c.,	19c.
Ladies' " " "	15c.,	25c.
" " "	25c.,	50c.

LADIES' AND MISSES' JACKETS.—Wish we had space to tell you all about styles and prices but 'tis more interesting to come and see them. We know we can suit you.

HOUSE-FURNISHING DEPARTMENT.—Special sale of Granite Iron-ware, for this week. Some prices that you pay for tinware.

UNDERWEAR.—For Ladies, Gentlemen and Children. We have all kinds, white, natural wool and scarlet.—Children's white and natural wool vests and pants 25c. up. Ladies white vests and pants 25c. up.—An extra good garment for Ladies is the Norfolk and New Brunswick ribbed vest, scarcely five per cent wool both white and natural.—Our price, 75c., value, $1.

	Value.	Price.
Men's colored shirts and Drawers	50c.,	39c.
" white " "	50c.,	39c.
" white " "	75c.,	50c.
" natural wool " "	98c.,	$1.00.
" white " "	$1.25.,	$1.00.
" " " "	$2.,	$1.50.

FINE MILLINERY.—It happens every day. Ladies will go to New York to buy their Hats, and when they get them they are brought here and we re-trim them to suit. Why not come here first? We know we can save you time, money and worry.

OVERCOATS AND CAPES.—LOOK! For $3c. we fit you with an overcoat just as good as you ever bought for 50c., and our $5.00 grades are not to be beat these days. It's a perfect delight to show you. SPECIAL FOR THE DAY'S. Just to introduce this line, Overgaiter we will sell you one with any shoe that you purchase from $1.25 up. A pair of these elegant Overgaiters at 25c.

WHITE, of Plainfield.

CUTE SAYINGS BY LITTLE TOTS.

Little Dot—I don't like this milk Mamma—Why not?
Little Dot—It tastes as if me milkmaid been eating onions.

KEEN-MINDED.

Mrs. Hooper (playfully)—I don't see why a big dog like that should be afraid of a little girl like you.

Little Girl—We've been together so long, I guess he thinks I'm his pa's wife.

A REAL TRAIN.

Uncle George—I hear you have been traveling.

Little Bob—Yeth, thir; I went in a real wallwood train of cars.

"A real train of cars, was it?"

"Yeth, thir. It went wifout a stwing."

TOO TALL.

Little Boy (in the country for the summer)—I don't like this place.

Mother—Why, it's just lovely. See all those woods in front of the door.

Little Boy—Yes, but there's no bears or panthers or anything in 'em, not even snakes.

A HUMDRUM LIFE.

Little Bobby—Papa, did you ever see a cyclone carrying houses around up in the air, and cows and horses and wagons upside down?

Papa—No, my son.

Little Bobby—Did you ever see a new surgeon?

Papa—No, my son.

Little Bobby—I should think it ud be tiresome to live so long and never see anything.

HORNED HORSES.

They are so Wild That So One Has Yet Trained Them to Harness.

Did you ever hear of a horned horse? It is called the gnu, and is a native of South Africa. The gnu is a puzzle. We have called it a horse, but it is really more like cow. In other words, it seems to be a kind between the horse and the cow and the deer. It has the head and horns of a cow, the tail, mane and withers of the horse and the legs of a deer. Altogether the gnu is one of the most singular creatures on earth.

The gnu inhabits the hilly districts of South Africa, roaming all over the country in vast herds. As far as travelers have yet penetrated it is found, and it is fortunate that it is so, for the flesh of the gnu forms excellent food. The gnu is, however, extremely wild, and being very quick in their movements, are difficult to shoot. Upon the first alarm the whole herd scamper away in single file, following a leader. When seen from a distance they look like a troop of horses.

The head is very great, but when not disturbed they do not exert it, but kick out their heels and begin butting at anything that comes in their way, exhibiting the greatest fury. Unless impressed they seldom show fight, but when brought to bay they will defend themselves desperately. Dropping on their knees, they present their horns in such a manner as to receive the charge of their enemy with great fury, and unless he remains cool and collected he probably will not escape.

Bogus Election.

Tommy—I'm ought to see how much better my step-mother puts on my bread.

Johnny—I guess it's some of this bogus butter and she is trying it on you before she eats any of it herself.

The Fall and Winter Styles in Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing are now in Stock. Overcoats of all Weights. Trousers Made to Order from $4 to $8. Suits from $15 to $30. Hats and General Furnishings. WERNER'S MAMMOTH CLOTHING HOUSE, 206 West Front Street.

CAREY'S
Storage Warerooms,
Corner
Front and Grove Streets,
Plainfield, N. J.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,
Successors to
The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.
Dealers in
Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials
42 to 60 PARK AVENUE.
Are now prepared with their increased facilities, having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs. A. D. Cook & Bro., to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

R. W. Rice & Co.,
THE PARK GROCERS.
Corner Duer and Emily Streets.
NORTH PLAINFIELD.

Poor Was Too Curious.

"What is inside, mother?"

"Wind, my son, wind!"

First Come, First Served.

Baby Helen was sitting on the floor in her nursery the other morning, and the happy was she with her toys that never ventured out of the room to have a chat with cook. When she came up she found baby sitting in a ray of sunlight and eagerly beating the door with one fat hand.

"Why, what is the matter, Helen, dear?" asked her mother.

"De sun is in de baby's eyes," said baby.

"But why don't you move out of the sun?" asked her mother.

"No," said baby, decidedly, still beating at the golden bar on the carpet. "De baby was here first; de sun must go away."

And the baby stayed until the golden bar gradually slipped across the carpet, leaving her triumphant in the field.

Lighting the Stars.

Mabel Greene is a Brooklyn five-year-old. She is full of curiosity. One other evening she stood at a window of her home with her pretty face flattened against the pane pensively contemplating a slowly gathering storm. Darker grew the low hanging clouds, but Mabel whipped no signs of fear. Inside her father was quietly entranced to and appeared to be absorbed in the scene. Even when a violent clap of thunder seemed to rend the heavens and forked lightning flashed the child was unmoved. At last, thing of the sight, Mabel turned to her mother, saying:

"Mamma," she said, "I fink Dod is dettin' weady to light his stars."

"Why, darling?"

"Dause he's scratchin' matches on the sky."—N. Y. Sun.

Cat's Eyes.

A cat cannot see in utter darkness, but it can see in very dim light, and in order that the sensitiveness of its eye may not be injured by daylight there is a membrane or [illegible] which draws a shade over nearly the whole eye in the strong light, but withdraws it to the sides in the dark.

By shutting a cat suddenly from a dull room into a bright place, we may actually see the opaque curtain slide from each side over the central spot of the eye. A similar effect, but not so strikingly shown, may be observed in the human eye, the dark central portion of that organ contracting all round, and not sliding, or in cats.

Sarah Bernhardt is bitterly opposed to the corset, and no wonder. She cannot wear one without suspenders.—Texas Siftings.

This Date In History—Oct. 24.

67—Hugh Capet, founder of the line of kings established with Louis XVIII, died.
1537—Jane Seymour, wife of Henry VIII and mother of Edward VI, died.
1555—Tycho Brahe, famous astronomer, died at Prague.
1658—The Peace of Westphalia ended the dreadful Thirty Years' War.
1706—Sir James Mackintosh, historian and miscellaneous writer, born in Inverness, Scotland.
1795—Florida ceded to the United States by Spain.
1817—Professor James Pitar Cullbach, scientific and statistical writer, died in Dublin.
1825—Daniel Webster died at Marshfield, Mass., aged 70.
1871—Riot at Los Angeles and 18 Chinese killed.
1886—Another woman mutilated by Jack the Ripper in Whitechapel, London.
1892—By a freshet in the Yellow river in China 20,000 persons were drowned. Negro riot at Titusville, Fla. Railway collision at Philadelphia; 7 killed and 31 seriously injured.

Who are the most long winded individuals alive today? The old fellows who are discussing home rule in the British parliament. The great Columbian orator in his palmiest days could not hold a candle to them.

One day lately 8,435 immigrants landed in this country at the one port of New York. This is then far the largest number of immigrants that ever entered New York in one day.

The spectacle of the government of this Union and the state of South Carolina disputing over the ownership of 13 barrels of whisky is a dignified and edifying one.

Charles Wilson took rat poison and killed himself on account of a disappointment in love. That was an awfully nasty way of dying, Charles, especially for love.

There are 1,800 deaths from cholera per day in Mecca. But this need not Mecca cholera scare here.

The new vessel of the navy, the Indiana, will have armor plate 17 inches thick over her middle.

1893			OCTOBER.			1893
Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fr.	Sa.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
15	16	17	18	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26	27	28
29	30	31

MOON'S PHASES.

Third Quarter	2	10:10 p.m.	First Quarter	17	2:37 a.m.
New	9	2:37 p.m.	Full	25	1:42 a.m.
Third Quarter	31	5:42 a.m.

Tickets For, or from Europe, On All Lines, And all Steamers. Drafts Sold also.
H. D. MORRISON, Agent, Somerset Street.

Metropolitan Livery and Boarding Stables!
Coaches, Close Carriages, Park Phaetons, Surreys, Buggies, Pony Phaetons and Saddle horses.
Especial care given boarding horses. Stallings for furniture and carriages.
140 AND 157 NORTH AVENUE,
Opposite depot. Telephone Call, 44.
S. E. RIDER, Proprietor. FRANK DAY, Manager.

THE TIME TO EAT!
MEAT! is at usual time, of course, and the place to get good meat, all varieties, home-grown veg'tables, etc., is at
E. J. CONNOLLY,
No. 321 Broadway
SMOKED MEATS AND VEGETABLES always on hand.

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$6 per Year in Advance. — Published by J. W. Harrison, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 9 Somerset street, Plainfield, N. J. — 3c Copies per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. — PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," — WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1893. — PRICE TWO CENTS.

Republican Nominations.

UNION COUNTY.

For Senator,
FOSTER M. VOORHEES,
of Elizabeth.

For Sheriff,
GEORGE KYTE,
of Pinewood.

For Coroner,
DR. CHARLES B. HOLMES,
of Rahway.

For member of Assembly from Third Assembly District,
CHARLES E. CODDING,
of Westfield.

SOMERSET COUNTY.

For Senator,
LEWIS A. THOMPSON,
of Bridgewater.

For Assembly,
FRANK W. SOMERS,
of Franklin.

For Coroner,
DR. FRED C. JONES,
of Bernards.

BREVITIES.

—The Kickapoo Indians entertained a large audience at Reform Hall last night.

—The members of the Independent Fife and Drum Corps were measured last night for their new caps overcoats.

—The "Uncle Sam" Social Club will hold a sociable at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Drake on Orchard place on "Hallowe'en."

—To-morrow night the Young People's Society of the First Presbyterian church, at Dunellen, will celebrate its fifth anniversary. Members of this society in this city will go by stages to attend the meeting.

PERSONAL.

Mr. William White, of North Plainfield, is seriously ill.

Frank Hand of Park avenue and Allie Pope are visiting the World's Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Roome of Sycamore avenue, North Plainfield, have returned from the World's Fair.

Mr. F. H. Ten Eyck and Miss H. L. Osborn will be married at six o'clock to-night at the Trinity Methodist church.

There will be a Union Signal afternoon at the W. C. T. U. rooms Thursday afternoon, at 3.30, conducted by Mrs. E. L. Hyde.

Letter Carrier Robert Loughlin and Joseph Shepard left this morning on their bicycles for Newark where they will visit some old friends.

Mr. Henry Lotkins and wife have gone to visit friends at Ithica, N.Y. They will be gone two or three weeks, during which time they will visit the World's Fair.

Patents have been granted to Mr. Walter Scott on a feeding and cutting mechanism for printing presses, and to Mrs. G. H. Sheppard of North Plainfield on a bridle bit.

Rev. Hobart Clark will lecture at All Soul's church Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in place of Hon. Charles Emory, whose lecture was postponed. Subject, "Howell's People." A talk on the friends whom Mr. Howells, the Novelist, has introduced to us.

Mrs. Major Perry is one of the speakers who has not heretofore been mentioned in connection with the Baptist Ladies' meeting which will be held in the First Baptist church on Monday evening next. She, with her husband, opened up the work of the camp in Rochmark.

The Horse Did Not Like Rice.

Last night at the wedding of Miss Needham to Mr. Thomas, old shoes and rice came near causing a serious accident. As the bridal couple left the house to enter the coach, they were showered with rice and old shoes. Some of it struck the horse, which became frightened and started off on a run, just as Mr. and Mrs. Thomas were seated. The horse broke the traces and dashed down Jackson and Park place, pulling the wagon by the bit, the driver hanging on to the reins for dear life. The horse was stopped near Vine street.

A Special Praise Service.

At the Methodist Episcopal church Sunday evening there will be a special praise service in which the following quartette will take part: Miss Lizzie Block, of Elizabeth, soprano; Mrs. Eliza H. Bird, alto; Mr. Robert Gordon, bass; and Mr. Louis S. Bond, tenor.

Salvation Army.

Lieutenant Watson who has been assisting the corps in this city, left this morning for her new appointment at the Women's Training Garrison, New York.

Lillie Horsley, who is to succeed Lieut. Watson, will be at the meeting to-night.

A reception meeting will be held to-night.

SUNSHINE AND SHADOW

OF MINISTERIAL LIFE, AS TOLD BY MR. RICHARDSON.

An Interesting Lecture in the Park Avenue Baptist Church Last Night, Under the Auspices of the Y. P. S. C. E.

SUNSHINE and shadow of Ministerial life" was the subject last night of an interesting lecture by the Rev. J. W. Richardson in the Park Avenue Baptist church. He said in part: "With sin and wretchedness in the world, the minister is to catch the sunlight of eternal truth and paint a halo on the gloom. God never intended the pulpit for the discussion of politics, or the reading of essays, or the investigation of theories. The pulpit was instituted that Jehovah might speak to men in their own dialect. None are more over the ministry because it is supposed to be a gen*tlemanly profession; some because of a literary turn of mind; some because the* publicity of the pulpit will enable them to pose as reformers. And there are many men who enter the ministry because of a love for souls. Such men are called into the ministry; these are the kind of men who to speak for God, and not go one's pardon for having done so." "Mr. Richardson then told the following story. "There was a father who had four sons. One day he was talking over their future prospects with his wife. Susan, there's John: smart boy of a great energy; will make a merchant of him. There's Tom; bright as a new dollar and keen as a razor; he'll do for a lawyer. There's Peter; boy of splendid judgment; he'll do for a doctor. There's Solomon: real soap-boy; go angelic; he hasn't time enough to be a merchant; he's too nunsky punsky for a lawyer; he is'nt good for anything else, guess we had better make a minister of him. When I hear some ministers preach, I always think of the remarks some father who had "real angelic sons." O, of all the men, the minister must have skill and shrewdness. Other men build for time; he builds for eternity. He is to mould thought and help immortal lives. He who has no sanctified genius has no right to stand in the pulpit." The speaker then touched the marriage question, and told the following story: "In my younger days, before I grew old and wrinkled, they used to have a feature called blissful feature connected with marriage ceremonies. The clergyman used to kiss the bride. The custom has been abolished—perhaps, because Mrs. Clergyman objects. One hot August night, during the reign of the "administration," a big colored lady and gentleman rang the door-bell of the Rev. Dr. Swell Muck's aristocratic mansion, for their own pastor was out of town. The doctor happened to be at home. The eastern prompous clergyman propounded the usual questions. After pronouncing them man and wife, he concluded as follows: "Ahem; on occasions like this it is customary for the officiating clergyman to kiss the bride. Circumstances sometimes alter cases, therefore, we will omit is this time." The gentlemanly colored man replied, "Certainly sir." He took his hat; the bride took her parasol; they remarked that it was a hot evening and stepped out into the darkness. The clergyman looked solemn like; he shook hands, and kept putting his finger in his vest pocket as if he felt anxious about something. The colored gentleman and lady turned, and then stepped out on the stoop. The doctor coughed, and then said, "My friends, you have forgotten something; it is customary to pay for the officiating clergyman." And with a superb flourish the colored gentleman replied, "Circumstances do alter cases, but we will omit it this time; say, boss, its no use to charge a preacher anything, he's strictly nearly falsted. Mr. Richardson in relooking the funeral oration of eulogizing the dead, paid a beautiful tribute to pastor whose life did not bear out the sentiments he would utter so eloquently. A powerful address was delivered in a most masterly manner by Rev. Dr. Bell, of Elizabeth. Words of comfort and consolation were spoken by Rev. Mr. Hall. The fervid addresses some of which people wanted to die right away. And if actions speak louder than words, then our lips can in the yard who had listened to his solemn words will long remember the thoughts that were with them during the giving time. But my friend does not preach funeral sermons now. I am told that his cure came about in this way. He had been called upon by a family friend and requested to officiate at a funeral in a few days. It was the most solemnity of his lifetime. Of course all the prominent people in the world be there. Of course all the papers would print his remarks. The afternoon came. The big house was crowded. He arose to speak with the mourners until after the service for fear his mind might be diverted. He began with a brilliant sentence, but it was not the right one to turn came. He began with a brilliant word picture, but it was not the concept to use. He marshalled all the words together just over the casket. Then he began to contemplate the wonderful structure, O, manhood, thou art God's cathedral of flesh and bones, in which an angel dwells on earth. The deathless part of man—O, he was a gilded man!" Just then the undertaker tootled through the crowded entry, and nearly spoiled the clergyman by the coat tapel, hoarsely whispering, "Say, parson, let's get started." The domine had only mistaken Miss Florence MacMaster, the daughter who had been away at school, for Mr. Florence MacMaster, the rich nabob father who was still lived on the hill." After keeping his audience alternately laughing and crying for an hour and ten minutes, Mr. Richardson dismissed it with a "good night" —and "God bless you."

The Weather.

The weather to-morrow promises to be colder and clear, with frosts.

—The "Brick Yard Club," of North Plainfield will hold a social dance on November 8th.

MR. MOORE NOT GUILTY

ACQUITTED OF THE CRIME OF SELLING ADULTERATED MILK.

His Case Excited Much Interest Among Milkmen Throughout the Country.—He Bought the Milk of Another Man.

ATHER an interesting case was tried before Justice Blair and a jury yesterday afternoon. It was the suit of the State against Milkman Moore, for alleged selling of adulterated milk. Judge Coddington was counsel for Mr. Moore and the State was represented by Leon Abbott, Jr. The jury was composed of the following gentlemen:

C. D. Moore, Foreman,
H. Smith,	H. Cox,
J. J. Kean,	E. Baton,
W. Toms,	F. Pangborn,
T. Price,	C. Johnston,
J. Hammond,	R. Pangborn,
W. D. Munday.

It seems that on September 9th last Milk Inspector Tracy stopped Mr. Moore and tested the milk he found in his wagon to see if it were up to the standard. The law says that milk must contain 13 per cent. solids to be pure. The milk sold by Mr. Moore was found to contain but 10¾ per cent. solids.

A chemist was put on the stand and testified that milk only contained 10¾ per cent. solids.

Mr. Moore, the defendant, swore that he bought the milk of Fred Sage of Union Village, who, in turn, bought it of Farmer Spencer. Mr. Sage left the milk at quarts of night's milk, in a 40 quart can—at the corner of Greenbrook road and Somerset street for him. The milk was left at the corner at about five o'clock, and there it remained until seven o'clock when Mr. Moore went after it. However that he did not adulterate it.

Mr. Moore also stated that he did not have a dipper in his can as was the custom of milkmen because he had laid it aside to be scoured and had forgotten it. In dealing out the milk to his customers he said he poured it from the 40 quart can into a 13 quart can. Thus the richest of the milk, or solids, was sold off first as he had no dipper with which to dip it in, and hence it is all of the same degree. When met by the inspector Mr. Moore said he had sold all but about 12 quarts, which was in a 40 quart can. This was what the test was made from.

Mr. Sage and Mr. Spencer were also corroborated Mr. Moore's statement in regard to where the milk was bought, and both stated that there had been no adulteration as far as they knew.

The defense was that the richest of the milk had been sold off, and that what remained was not up to the standard although there had been no adulteration.

Mr. Abbott, for the State stated that he was not trying to prove that Mr. Moore had adulterated the milk but that the addition of new milk stopped adulterated milk, and that was what the law stated was a violation.

After being out about five minutes the jury returned with a verdict of not guilty.

This case has excited much interest among milkmen, as many of them buy milk of farmers not knowing whether it is pure or adulterated.

BOWLING.

Individual Tournament on the C. Y. M. E. Alleys.

The following scores were made last night in the Catholic Young Men's Lyceum individual tournament:

J. Gallagher	122	D. Gallagher	141
J. Tracy	118	J. Gallagher	131
J. Hibbitts	122	J. Rooney	132
J. Gallagher	131	J. Tracy	121
H. Owens	149	D. Gallagher	131
J. Mack	132	J. Hibbitts	132
J. Rooney	139	H. Owens	139
D. Gallagher	142	P. Kiely	130
J. Mack	132	J. Hibbitts	132
J. Tracy	132	J. Mack	132
P. Kiely	130	J. Tracy	130
Curran	132	D. Gallagher	131

Entertainment at Monroe Avenue Chapel.

The Seventh League of the Monroe Avenue Chapel gave an entertainment and sociable in the chapel last night. A programme of music, etc., was rendered, consisting of piano and violin solos by Miss Whittaker and Mr. W. C. Townsend; trio, Miss Lottie Bookman, Miss Lottie Ulrich and Miss Tillie Hagen; duet, Miss Lottie Ulrich and Charles Hagen; recitations by Mr. A. L. Ten Eyck.

Matthews Loses Another Case.

Last Winter James Matthews took care of a house on Central avenue for Mr. Duffy, who moved to New York. Mr. Duffy let Mr. Matthews have the house with the understanding that he should live in there for the rent. This Spring the latter sued Mr. Duffy for $50 for services.

The case was tried before Justice Mosher this morning.

A decision was rendered of "no cause for action."

The Bell Has Arrived.

The bell for the German Evangelical Lutheran church, on the corner of Grove street and Mercer avenue, has arrived and has been placed in position. The outside work on the church is about completed.

NUPTIALS.

Thomas—Needham.

HE home of Councilman Henry R. Needham of Jackson avenue was the scene last night of a pretty home wedding, when his daughter Edith became the wife of Mr. John E. Thomas of New York. It was a very quiet affair, only the immediate members of both families being present. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. J. Newton, pastor of the First Baptist church.

There were no bridesmaids or best man.

The ushers were Mr. John Mclnnabla and Mr. Richards. The flower girls were Miss Van Rose, the little niece of the bride, and Miss Clyde Slater, in pink silk, carried large bouquets of pink roses.

The bride was beautifully attired in faun colored broadcloth and velvet. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley.

The wedding presents were numerous and handsome.

Miss Hinchart played the wedding march.

Colwell—Hall.

A fashionable Lutheran wedding took place in Rahway last evening, when Miss Florence Hall, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Hall, of Milton avenue, was united in marriage to Mr. Louis Colwell of New York city. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Lord of the First Presbyterian church at the home of the bride at 8 p.m. The bride is a cousin of Mrs. John M. Hoborh, Jr., of this city and has been a frequent visitor here for many years. The wedding presents were many and handsome. The wedded couple started for Chicago last evening and intend being absent for several months.

THE CHORAL SOCIETY'S FIRST REHEARSAL.

A Number of New Members Admitted.—Gaul's "Holy City" to be Given at the First Concert.

It will doubtless be as gratifying to the friends and supporters of the Choral Society as it was to the members to learn of the large attendance, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, also the enthusiasm displayed by those present, at the first rehearsal for the coming season on Monday evening last, at the Y. M. C. A. rooms.

Applications for membership comprising more than a score in number showing that the Society is growing in favor, is a good reputation and attracts those who appreciate the high standard of excellence which the Society has always maintained.

There is one thing certain, the members are loyal to their accomplished conductor and the greeting between them after the long separation was cordial in the extreme.

After the examination of the candidates was concluded, which consumed a full hour, Mr. Charles W. McCutchen, the new Pianist, was introduced and made a favorable impression by the interest they manifested in beginning the season and the addition of two members just added to the number of members to be in readiness to do it possible before work than last season which was a most successful one from every point of view. Mr. Geary has the hearty and cordial support of the subscription list, which, while not being quite complete, is in a most satisfactory condition. By the addition of a few additional names to it continually, and by constantly expecting to do so, it is confidently expected by the Society that there would be three concerts as usual, to which there was a large attendance last season. The first concert will be given early in the season, probably before the holidays, at which time Gaul's "Holy City" will be rendered. Rehearsals will be held every Monday evening hereafter promptly, to be presided over by Professor Mr. Phillips, who spoke briefly and then proceeded to the business of the evening.

Played Football with His Cabbages.

Four boys were arrested in the Somerset yesterday on complaint of Mr. Allen Miller, a market gardener, charged with playing football with his cabbages.

The boys were playing football on the Crescent Oval, but kicked the ball over into Mr. Allen's cabbage patch. Then they began to use the cabbage heads for a football and kicked one around a lot. Mr. Allen's choicest cabbages.

The boys were given a hearing before Justice Crossley, who adjudged them guilty and fined them $1 each. One by one they paid their fines, the money in the meantime was passed around to the necessary cash, so he will have to spend twenty-four hours in the lockup.

To all "Social Dancers."

Do not forget that your constitution, whether lager or small, to the King's Daughters' table at the Hospital Fair will be needed. Please send it to either of the committee, by Thursday afternoon of this week.

Mrs. F. G. Foster, Chairman,
31 Mercer avenue.
Mrs. A. W. Haviland,
31 Rockview avenue.

A False Rumor Afloat.

The report was current this morning that Mr. George White of this city, who is now in Chicago, was dead. Mr. White's young lady, but who is now employed in honeymoon, was dead. A telegram was received by Mr. White's relatives here to-day stating that he is very much alive and is at present in Chicago.

THE JURY SENT BACK.

BECAUSE THEY DID NOT INDICT THE LINDEN COMMITTEE.

Van Syckel, who is Determined the Charges of Bribery shall be Thoroughly Sifted.

HEN the Union County Grand Jury filed into the court room at Elizabeth, under the charge relating to its labors, it met with a great surprise. Foreman Morris, in discharging the jury, referred to two presentments. One was against the Central Railroad for keeping a dangerous grade crossing at Dark lane in Leonard, and the other was against the Township Committee of Linden. The latter presentment, as the alleged charges of bribery made against them. The document was as follows:

The Grand Jurors of the State of New Jersey, in and for the body of the County of Union, now, 1893, most respectfully present that they have been engaged in the investigation of the charges preferred against the Township Committee of the Township of Linden, in the County aforesaid, in the matter of the granting of the license to the Linden Park Association to conduct a race track within the limits of the Township of Linden, and have examined a number of witnesses in the premises.

We believe that every committee is entitled to the most favorable consideration in the discharge of the duties imposed upon them by the law, and we regret that we have found it necessary to present the Township Committee of the Township of Linden for the reason that we have found that the evidence produced before us does not justify us in finding that any of the members of the Township Committee have been guilty of any of the charges preferred against them, but we do find that other persons, not members of the said committee, have been guilty of the crime of bribery, and we therefore present the following persons, to wit: Edward Hall, Jr., Edward Hall, Sr., Frank Hall, Jr., Frank Hall, Sr., Charles Hall, Jr., Charles Hall, Sr., William Hall, Jr., William Hall, Sr., Thomas Hall, Jr., Thomas Hall, Sr., Joseph Hall, Jr., Joseph Hall, Sr., Henry Hall, Jr., Henry Hall, Sr., Robert Hall, Jr., Robert Hall, Sr., Samuel Hall, Jr., Samuel Hall, Sr., Alfred Hall, Jr., Alfred Hall, Sr.,

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Tremendous Phenomena.

Dec. 8, 1891, a Heidelberg astronomer made a photograph of the constellation Aurigæ. Two nights later Professor Pickering of Harvard observatory also made some photographs of the same constellation. When these were developed, they showed a star of the sixth magnitude in a spot which had been blank in the Heidelberg photograph. Jan. 24, 1892, six weeks and three days later, Dr. Anderson, an amateur astronomer of Edinburgh, observed a star of the fifth magnitude in the place that had been vacant in the constellation Aurigæ Dec. 8. It was then so large as to be visible to the naked eye.

Thus a spot vacant Dec. 8 was shown to contain a star of the sixth magnitude Dec. 10, while by Jan. 24 the same had increased to size and brilliancy till it was of the fifth magnitude. In two days, from Dec. 8, when it was not visible at all, to Dec. 10, when it appeared of the sixth magnitude, this uncanny star must have gained in brightness sixteenfold. Yet as strange a part of the story still remains to be told. Its light began to decrease almost immediately after Jan. 24. It was approached by the light of April it had become invisible altogether even through the great Lick telescope.

Aug. 17 it was once more visible. But now it was not a star at all any more. It was a nebula, a hazy spot of brightness, and so it remains to this day, and that is what became of Nova Aurigæ, as it was called. In The Forum, Professor Edward S. Holden sums up several of the theories advanced for the swift changes in appearance of this wonderful star. He supposes that some of the tremendous collisions or explosions with which the writings of Camille Flammarion have made us more or less acquainted have here actually taken place. But from the estimated distance of the star the catastrophe must have occurred from 20 to 50 years ago, and the light which reveals it to us has only reached us.

Astronomers suppose that a dark star, invisible to us, occupied the space which the Heidelberg astronomer finds blank in his photograph. Sometimes there are stars that move in straight lines. If one of these should come in contact with a system of planets similar to ours, there would be a catastrophe that could destroy a world, with its attendant planets and the star into the bargain. There are dead, cold solar systems revolving through space. The impact would be attended with phenomena before which imagination fails back appalled.

Hardships of the Poor.

The old woman who brought the charge of cruelty against the superintendent of a county poorhouse because he made her take a bath once a week has found fitting yokefellows in the inhabitants of Hamburg, who raised a riot and resisted the police because the sanitary inspectors insisted on cleaning them, in the outrageous and oppressive tyranny wanted to crush them beneath the iron heel of its despotism by making them wash themselves, throw away garbage or burn it and disinfect their premises. They wouldn't stand this infraction of free citizens' rights in the nineteenth century, so they gathered in force and attacked the sanitary inspectors and the police. They even nearly killed a police man and a sanitary officer in the heroic defense of their right to be as dirty as they pleased. They would rather die of cholera than take a bath.

Nothing like defending one's rights, and the right to live in a state of filth is one of the oldest. It began with primitive man and has been asserted with vigor all the days of his descendants ever since. To these cholera, smallpox and typhus are not consequences of man's unsanitary habits, but visitations from God, and it is wicked to prevent them by cleanliness. This good, strong, old fashioned doctrine is held today by more people that one would think for, some of them being in our midst.

What white man's oration ever exceeded in eloquence one simple utterance of the aged, trembling old Pottawatomie chief Pokagon at Chicago fair at the World's fair. When I crossed the great lake and entered the gates of the White City, I stood aghast, trying to drink in its vastness. My heart throbbed within me as in boyhood, when for the first time, hand in hand, a frightened deer leaped out before me.

It seems to be an approved principle of European statecraft that when a country is so deeply in debt that she is bankrupt and on the brink of ruin, as Italy practically is at present, the proper thing for her to do is to enter on a war of some kind and plunge herself still deeper into debt, so that she may divert the attention of her citizens from the ruin that is upon them.

A fact not profitable to the United States was that mentioned by Mons. Pasteau C. Siebels on the big day on the Exposition, that this nation had in no way shown any honor or recognition in connection with the fair to the aborigines who once owned the country.

The name of the steamship City of New York was changed to simply New York when she was naturalized and became an American ship.

REPEAL NEAR AT HAND.

The Senators Give Up the Fight and Will Allow a Vote.

EARLY ADJOURNMENT EXPECTED.

The Republicans Move to Get a Vote by Thursday or Friday of This Week—The Silver Majority Said to Be Ready to Fuse on the Two Issues.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The fight for repeal is almost over. Unconditional repeal will probably pass the senate this week. Possibly the vote will be taken today or tomorrow.

There was an easy going and good natured air about the senate chamber when the session opened. It was understood that today would witness the end of the long struggle, and the galleries were crowded and expected to be generally disappointed when the senate adjourned without a vote. Senators were with business without regard to the presence of a quorum and with due concern for the bodily welfare of members by closing its labors early.

During the afternoon senators exchanged pleasantries with one another, for which many of them have had little time of late, and some of them less inclination, owing to the acute personal alike as to political and physical organism. After Senator Faulkner moved a recess two hours in advance of the usual hour some of the members remained in the chamber chatting among themselves, while others who climbed to stroll in as if they had just returned from a long journey and had not yet had an opportunity to talk it all over, or as if they had become accustomed to the long hours and had become so attached to the senate chamber that they felt loath to leave it earlier than usual.

Planning an Adjournment.

When at last they got out and found the sun still shining, an unusual experience with them of late, most of them drew a long breath of relief. They realized appreciatively for the first time in the old world really near and began to make plans for the future. They asked themselves whether they were going to adjourn until time for assembling the next session. Apparently they had not thought to discuss this vital question among themselves while in the senate chamber and when there might have been an interchange of views which would have been of value.

Left to himself and with only his own personal convenience and comfort to consider, each senator would probably decide in favor of adjournment immediately after the passing of the repeal bill. Most of the silver Republicans and the Populists and many of the Democrats said that they expected congress to adjourn early next week until the first Monday in December.

Senator Faulkner, who has acted as Senator Voorhees' principal aid in the long battle which has almost closed, said when asked on the subject that he believed adjournment would soon follow.

"There is nothing," he said, "to be gained by remaining here now. There is no legislation pending. The ways and means committee of the house will not conclude its labors upon the tariff bill and have it in shape to report to the house before the 20th of November, if then. I think congress might as well adjourn and let that committee attend its work. Most of the senators came here expecting to remain only two or three weeks, leaving their affairs at home in a bad condition. Naturally they wish to return and have a few weeks to put things in order before taking up the work of the regular session. It would be hard work to hold a quorum. Consequently I think we shall adjourn soon."

The other leaders of the Democratic party, upon whom the decision will largely rest, were quite as outspoken in favor of adjournment. Senator Harris said there was a great deal for congress to do, and he did not see why it should not proceed with the work without interruption. Senators Voorhees and Gorman refused to discuss the question at all, saying it had not been canvassed.

Continued to Give It Up.

The conference of silver Democrats had to decide whether filibustering should be resorted to was not large nor long continued, but upon its decision hung the important question of the possible defeat of the bill and certainly that of the delay of its passage. They simply canvassed the situation and concluded that it was not a wise policy to attempt to take good the threats they had made to prevent by every silver Republican of making further opposition to the bill by the use of obstructive tactics. Senator Peffer made the following motion, which was agreed to, and the conference was considered adjourned at this time and it adjourned to meet at the call of Senator Jones of Nevada:

There is a disposition among the repeal Democrats in the house to counter with the amendments of the Wilson bill if it comes to that point, in which case it is believed the Voorhees bill. The recognized leaders of repeal say there is nothing in the Voorhees bill that they differ from, and will accept the declaration at the end, and if they are satisfactory to the senate they will help to adopt it.

No Business in Either House.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The actual performance of both houses was uninteresting. Mr. Stewart began another chapter of his speech soon after the house met and continued to speak until 5:45, when for the day to Senator Jones, who is also speaking in installments. At 6 o'clock Mr. Jones gave way to a motion to adjourn, which prevailed.

The house, acting under its special order, resumed the consideration of the bill to amend the bankrupt law.

Fourth Class Postmasters.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The following fourth class postmasters were appointed: Connecticut—Mrs. Mary A. Sherman, Jr., Bethel; C. H. Clark, Bozrah.

New York—William Chase, Flushing; E. M. Post, Hempstead; Mrs. Mary A. Bowne, Port Washington; H. M. Strickland, Sanitaria Springs; W. F. Schade, Scotia; M. D. Pierce, Troy.

Senator Morgan Has a Cold.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Senator Morgan remained in his house by a severe cold, which he contracted on the last day that he made a speech in the senate.

Rev. Samuel W. Haldeman Dead.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Rev. Samuel W. Haldeman, the chaplain of the house of representatives, is lying dangerously ill at the residence in this city.

Gold Reserve Nearly Restored.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The gold reserve has increased over $600,000 since Monday.

Death of a New Jersey Judge.

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Oct. 25.—Judge Joseph Thompson died at his residence in Lebanon, N. J.

Wife Murder Attempted.

CAMDEN, Oct. 25.—Mrs. Mary Ann Hall was found in bed with her throat cut from ear to ear. Her husband, Joseph Hall, is under arrest charged with the crime.

Newport Is Voting Today.

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 25.—Local municipal affairs are being settled today by the people who have been here.

MODERN ENOCH ARDEN.

Gaskin Was Away at Sea and Stayed Away Years.

MET HIS OWN BOY IN CALIFORNIA.

He Left a Wife and Child Some Cash Behind Him—Returned Home—Grieved to Find His Wife Married Again—Now He Has Departed Forever.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Forty-one years ago George G. Gaskin left his young wife and little daughter and went off for a day's fishing. Nothing was heard from him until a few days ago, when he returned to find himself a grandfather and his wife married again and the mother of 10 children by her second husband.

It was through an accidental meeting with an unknown man that the wandering husband and father, Mr. George Gaskin found Newtown. That daughter Mrs. Gaskin left on that Astoria fishing trip has little grave beside a son, who was named George Gaskin after his father, and Mrs. Ynney Gaskin is a widow, unhappily, and after being separated from her wife lives with the latter's mother, Mrs. Finney, at the home of a widower.

Found by His Son.

His carriage took him to San Francisco, in a widow in that city not long ago he met his son, Frank Gaskin, a grown man. They took kindly to each other, and soon discovered that they bore the same names. Explanations followed, and the two men recognized in themselves father and son.

This meeting recalled to the elder Gaskin recollections of his old home in the east, and he decided to make a visit to it. He came to New York and then went to Brooklyn. From there he succeeded in tracing his wife from the time she left on a day or so ago when Mrs. Arthur Finney of 139 Jackson avenue, in that place, answered a knock at her door, she was confronted by a tall, wiry man of about 70 years old. The little girl Gaskin left in the cradle when he went away was Mrs. Finney's mother. And as Mrs. Finney has a child Mr. Gaskin is a great-grandfather.

Without waiting to introduce himself the stranger began asking Mrs. Finney pointed questions about her family until he finally inquired:

"Who are you?"

"My name is George G. Gaskin," quietly answered the little girl.

"Oh, yes," returned Mrs. Finney, "I had an uncle of that name."

"But I am not your uncle, child!" and the stranger's voice trembled. "I am your grandfather."

"My grandfather's dead! My grandfather's dead!" Mrs. Finney almost shrieked.

Taking a seat, the stranger was not long in convincing her that he was in truth her long lost grandfather, but the recognition brought with it more pain for Mrs. Finney thought of her grandmother.

The Wife Learns the News.

Mr. Bridge is now living in Locust Valley, where he has a running sawing factory. To keep the news of Gaskin's return from Mrs. Bridge was Mrs. Finney's only thought. Every move Gaskin made for several days was to be followed by Mrs. Finney and her husband. Several times Gaskin started for the station to go to Locust Valley.

Mr. Finney went with him each time and finally induced Gaskin to postpone his visit to his former wife.

Yesterday Gaskin his stay would only be temporary, when Tuesday she learned that he owned considerable property in California. This knowledge gave a new phase to the situation, and Mr. Finney went to Locust Valley to notify her grandmother of Gaskin's return.

Gaskin gave no information to his granddaughter concerning his long absence or why he went away. He asserted, however, that his wife knew he was alive for some time before he disappeared.

It was late Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. Finney reached the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Bridge, in Locust Valley. Mrs. Bridge was not at home. Mrs. Finney broke the news of Gaskin's return to Mrs. Bridge's daughter, Mrs. Ynney Gaskin.

Mrs. Bridge entered again and spoke to Gaskin once more. She also told Gaskin's new home in California, which he has a large family.

Gaskin has obtained a place in Locust Valley and proposes making his home with Mrs. Finney.

Many Death Offenses Arraigned.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—More arrests of Madison Square bank officials were made. The list of those charged with being concerned in the alleged forgeries of Cashier Rossiter's name to bank vouchers now stands at nine.

Money and Bonds Not to Be Produced.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 25.—The petitions for pardon of Hugh F. Dempsey and Robert Boeing, convicted of poisoning Pinkerton detective Bell at Homestead, were refused by the board of pardons.

Killed While on a Coon Hunt.

BATAVIA, N. Y., Oct. 25.—John Skinner of North Pembroke was killed at Hungerford Park. While out in search of coon he fell on his head, crushing his skull.

Killed by a Runaway Team.

PERRY, Oct. 25.—Mrs. Mary Moore, a farmhand, while driving her team, was killed by a horse in the team becoming frightened.

Cocaine Should Have a License Tax.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 25.—Attorney General Hensel has declared that in his opinion all persons selling cocaine should have a druggist's license.

Six Pocketbooks Bottled Lynn.

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—James Robinson Newhall died here. He was a lineal descendant of Thomas Newhall, who was the first white child born in Lynn.

Sullivan County Has Smallpox.

RIVERHEAD, N. Y., Oct. 25.—The first suitably socialist ticket ever made up in Suffolk county has been filed with the county clerk.

A Republican Victory in Wyoming.

CHEYENNE, Oct. 25.—A Republican victory is claimed in the result of the city election. No one knows how it got there.

Bismarck's Arm Still Stiff.

BERLIN, Oct. 25.—Prince Bismarck's right arm, which had broken by the sting of an ox, is almost well.

Mr. Henry E. Reiter

I Know That Hood's Cures

And cordially recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to all sufferers with blood disease, dyspepsia, kidney trouble, or run down. It will surely help you if there is any help for you. I have used it myself and to my utmost joy for headache, backache, and general tiredness. Hood's Sarsaparilla has done me more good than anything else I have ever taken. I am now well and strong." HENRY E. REITER, Foreman Printing Department, Journal Co., Manchester, N. H.

Hood's Pills are the best made, and perfect in proportion and appearance. 25c. per box.

New : Proprietor !

HENRY F. WINDHAM,

Arlington : Hotel !

Somerset street and Greenbush (cor. road.

Regular and transient boarders.

First-class bar and stables attached.

ROCHESTER BEERS.

The success already attained by this brand of Lager Beer is beyond expectation but other Beer ever handled in this city has had such remarkable sales. Try it!

Bottled Liquors,

Imported Beers and Ales are having a very large sale at this season. My stock is first-class, and it will pay you to investigate.

FRANK LINKE'S

Wholesale Liquor Establishment,

42 WEST FRONT STREET.

Telephone Call, 157.

The only place to buy

Sea Food!

is at

TERRY'S

North Avenue Sea Food Market,

where you will find the biggest Stock in Plainfield. Also, all other kinds in season, at the lowest prices.

JOSEPH SOHL,

PRACTICAL

Electrician

49 NORTH AVENUE.

Estimates furnished on Electric Light Wiring, Fixtures and Bells. Work done and repairing of same. Dealer in

Electric and Gas Fixtures.

MORE SLAUGHTER

to close out our entire stock of Negligee SHIRTS!

85 CENTS.

These goods are worth $1.25 and $1.50. If you don't need 'em now, buy and keep until next season. Save 50c. from $1.25—50c. on each one.

Hallock & Davis,

Low opticians, 339 West Somerset, opposite Somerset street.

World's Fair Excursion Tickets!

Going and returning via all the different lines, with or without hotel accommodations at

FRANK'S

Lowest Rate Railroad and Steamship Agency,

345 AND 347 BROADWAY, Corner Leonard Street, NEW YORK.

Lowest rates to all parts of the World. Tickets purchased and exchanged. Sleeping berths reserved. Baggage transferred.

MEMBER AMERICAN TICKET BROKERS' ASSOCIATION.

10 5 3m

Educational.

HARNED ACADEMY,

BOARDING AND DAY SCHOOL.

New School Buildings,

Competent Instructors,

Students Prepared for College, Scientific School or Business.

Special Attention to Backward Pupils.

For circulars, address "Harned Academy," Plainfield, N. J.

Plainfield Manual Training School,

300 EAST FRONT STREET.

The course of study includes fifteen lessons each week in the various branches taught. Also when the class is of two dollars per week. Lessons in any of the branches can be had. Pupils may enter at any time. Classes in Cooking will be vacations on Monday's, Tuesdays and Fridays. JOHN DALZELL, Principal.

Plainfield Seminary,

re-opened

SEPTEMBER 14, 1893,

(20th year.)

Miss M. E. KENYON, Principal.

FRENCH LESSONS.

Mlle. Lemoine, graduate pupil of Professor Legouis, Lycee of Rouen, receives at residence, 10 Arlington avenue, Plainfield. Testimonials from Principal Professor High School, Rouen, and others. For terms, and time for lessons, address Mlle. Lemoine, Box 1, Mount Northfield, Vt., or Le Comte's store, Plainfield.

Miss FAWCETT

Will open Kindergarten, 18 Washington avenue. Special Department for girls. Special Department for boys, and Kindergarten. Term opens for one week.

Miss JEANNETTE MATTISON,

Teacher of Piano. Gives lessons at her home parents or at pupils' residences. Pupils may have regular practice hour at music parlors. Liberal terms to classes. Best references. No. 25 east 2 front street.

GERMAN SCHOOL.

Corner Grove street and Mercer avenue, opens on Saturday, October 14, inst., at 10 o'clock a. m. Rev. S. Kindel. 10 5 1m

Another one in the race, and

A. G. VOGELER

takes the lead.

LOOK AT THESE PRICES.

Porterhouse Steak	18c.
Sirloin	12c.
Round	12c.
Chuck	8c.
Roast Beef	10c.
Lamb Chops	14c.
Veal	10c.
Leg Lamb	12c.
Leg Spring Lamb	15c.
Shoulder Spring Lamb	10c.
Jersey Hams	15c.
Fresh Jersey pork	14c.
Fresh sausage	14c.
Pickled Tripe	5c.
Pickled Pigs' Feet	5c.

Headquarters for Bologna. Bologna made fresh twice a day. Call and get your money's worth.

Union Meat Market,

131 WEST FRONT STREET.

9 14 1m A. G. Vogeler, Manager.

Do Your Corns Hurt?

They can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of

ELECTRIC

Corn Cure.

A remedy that never fails. A complete cure guaranteed. Only 15 cents a bottle. Sold by all druggists. If your druggist does not keep it in your town, the money to be refunded at once. Price, 15cts. per box. Send postage for free sample. Sold by druggists. Agents wanted, male and female, to introduce Electric Corn Cure, corset steels, rubber boots, rubbers, mittens, underwear, hosiery, shoes, flower, garden seeds, potato, and egg dishes. Write for terms.

ALLEN & CO.,

Lock Box 16, Richmond, Va.

A. W. Rand,

107 WEST FRONT STREET.

Fire and mutual fund

SCHOOL BOOKS.

School supplies of all kinds.

Those wishing to exchange second hand books must bring them in immediately.

$55!

Six Days at the World's Fair.

A WEEK OF HOLIDAYS.

Railroad tickets, with accommodations, school lessons, and other attractive features provided, including two excursions, one to Washington, D. C., and one to Niagara Falls, at a portion of regular railroad fares, to enable and base economies, police bodies and colleges, we offer special advantages.

Consult and inquiry at a branch of cost. We have exclusive arrangements with the great railways terminal in Chicago.

Send for circulars, with outline of itinerary, and we will give you prices.

WORLD'S COLUMBIAN TOURIST COMPANY,

220 Broadway, New York.

GEORGE C. MCEWEN,

Agent for New Jersey,

404 broad street, Newark.

THE BEE HIVE!

Infants' long Cashmere Cloaks, $1.50, $2.00, $2.25.

Children's Elder down Cloaks, $1.48, $2.00, $2.25.

Also a full line of Flannel Skirts, Infants' Shawls and Socks.

Fall : Underwear.

Children's merino Vests and Pants, 16-inch, 18c.; 18-inch, 19c., 20-inch, 20c., 22-inch, 22c., 24-inch, 25c.

Children's natural wool Vests and Pants, 16-inch, 20c., 18-inch, 25c., 20-inch, 30c., 22-inch, 35c., 24-inch, 40c.

SPECIAL!

Ladies' Ribbed Vests, long sleeves, 21c.

Ladies' Natural Wool Vests, 39c. and 50c.

Ladies' Silk Mayleo shirts and Drawers, 35c., 50c. and 75c.

Men's Natural Wool Shirts and Drawers 75c. and $1.00.

Men's Scarlet shirts and Drawers, 75c., $1.00 and $1.24.

Louis Callman,

322 West Front Street.

The New Address

of Seguine's Livery Stable

is 18 West Second

Street,

in the Elkwood building.

Telephone Call, 26

Fine horses, carriages, vehicles of all kinds. Horses boarded. Careful drivers.

Cleaner Coal!

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't.

A BROADWAY, COR. FOURTH STREET,

Invites the public to inspect the coal now at his newly added steam vibrating thoroughly screen for cut coal, which he confidently asserts is the best screen for cut coal that can be possible by any other method of screening.

Green Lehigh and Hunnewood Coal in best qualities and various sizes carried for stock.

Orders and prompt attention to Yard Office.

He would also announce recently leased 6 acres for breaking and harvesting, and is prepared to execute orders for the same in the best manner at short notice.

Bitterlemon Carbs.

H. K. SPENCER,

Grocer and Baker, 70 and 72 Somerset street, Plainfield, N. J. Agent for Vibrator, Lion and Arbuckle's coffee, Schepp's cocoanut, Bitterlemon carbs, Lemon Snaps, Ginger Snaps, Sugar Wafers, Vanilla Wafers, Lemon Wafers, Oatmeal Wafers, Cocoanut Wafers, Cream Wafers, Lemon Cream Wafers, Vanilla Cream Wafers, Oatmeal Cream Wafers, Cocoanut Cream Wafers, Graham Wafers, Milk Wafers, Sugar Cookies, Ginger Cookies, Oatmeal Cookies, Cocoanut Cookies, Lemon Cookies, Vanilla Cookies, Milk Cookies, Graham Cookies, Fig Cookies, Fig Bars, Lemon Bars, Oatmeal Bars, Cocoanut Bars, Graham Bars, Milk Bars, Sugar Bars, Ginger Bars, Cocoanut Cream Bars, Lemon Cream Bars, Vanilla Cream Bars, Oatmeal Cream Bars, Graham Cream Bars, Milk Cream Bars, Sugar Cream Bars, Ginger Cream

THE BIG COAL COMBINE.

The Scheme of the Vanderbilts Believed to Be Formed.

Its Purpose Stated.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 25.—It is generally believed in this city that the securing by the Vanderbilts of the control of the stock of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western is the first step in the formation of the greatest coal combine ever inaugurated in this country, and one that, before it is finished, will be found to include all the coal carrying companies that have terminals in Jersey City.

The Lehigh Valley company is said to be a party to the deal, notwithstanding the denial of the officers of the company. It is known that on Monday, Vice President Garrett of the Lehigh Valley was in New York in consultation with the Jersey Central people, and while he stated that no negotiations were now in progress it is alleged that they have partially settled some sort of an agreement.

Such a combine would aim a blow at President McLeod of the New York and New England Railroad company by cutting off all possibility of his entrance to the anthracite coal fields of Pennsylvania. It is known that President McLeod is very friendly to the Lehigh Valley, and that negotiations for sending coal over his road were pending some arrangements with the Philadelphia and Reading and New England railroads.

While the Reading people deny all knowledge of any deal being made between them and the new coal barons, it is generally believed the receivers are perfectly willing to enter into any agreement which will benefit the Reading company.

THE CLOSING OF THE FAIR.

The Exposition, Will End Officially in a Blaze of Fireworks.

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—The committee on ceremonies has completed the programme for Oct. 30 incident to the official closing of the fair. The committee has fully considered the advisability of providing entertainment for the visitors during the day as well in connection with the illuminations prepared and suggests that the national salute be fired at sunrise, at noon and at sunset, at which time the Liberty bell will be rung.

At 1:30 a. m. a representation of the landing of Columbus will take place on the lake front. Between 12 noon and 1 p. m. daylight fireworks will be set off at various points within the grounds. Following this a monster band concert will be given between 2 and 4:30 p. m. on Administration plaza.

During the evening there will be a brilliant illumination of the grounds and buildings, concluding with a grand display of fireworks on the lake front and in the court of honor.

Eluded the Police For Over a Year.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Stephen Hall, alias Henry Harris, for whom the police have been looking since Sept. 7, 1892, for complicity in the robbery of $25,000 worth of tobacco from the New Netherlands Steamship company with the steamer Saginaw prepared and suggests that the national salute be fired at sunrise, at noon and at sunset, at which time the Liberty bell will be rung.

At 1:30 a. m. a representation of the landing of Columbus will take place on the lake front. Between 12 noon and 1 p. m. daylight fireworks will be set off at various points within the grounds. Following this a monster band concert will be given between 2 and 4:30 p. m. on Administration plaza.

During the evening there will be a brilliant illumination of the grounds and buildings, concluding with a grand display of fireworks on the lake front and in the court of honor.

Eluded the Police For Over a Year.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Stephen Hall, alias Henry Harris, for whom the police have been looking since Sept. 7, 1892, for complicity in the robbery of $25,000 worth of tobacco from the New Netherlands Steamship company, was recently convicted at a Salvation Army meeting, has confessed publicly to having kept a poker room and drawn a fraudulent pension of $17 a month from the government.

Fell Five Stories.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—John Ford, while working on a swinging platform on the light shaft of a new building at 2760 Seventh avenue, fell from the fifth story to the ground floor. His injuries are considered fatal.

Criminden to Be Buried in Kentucky.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The remains of General Thomas L. Crittenden, a veteran of the Mexican war, who died at his home in Annadale, S. I., were today taken to Frankfort, Ky., for interment.

The Tuckerman Will Case Compromised.

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—The sensational Tuckerman will case has been settled, the son and daughter having agreed upon a compromise, and each will receive an equal share of the property.

A $60,000 Fire in Boston.

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—The six story brick building at the corner of Causeway and Portland streets was gutted by fire, and together with contents damaged to the extent of $60,000.

Women Christians In Session.

BUFFALO, Oct. 25.—The International board of Women's and Young Women's Christian associations is holding its twelfth biennial session here.

A Nail Factory Starts Up.

BELVIDERE, N. J., Oct. 25.—The Oxford Iron and Nail company at Oxford furnace has again started up, giving work to hundreds of hands.

Tryon Killed Himself.

BUFFALO, Oct. 25.—William A. Tryon of Ransomville, Niagara county, shot and killed himself at that place.

WAR CLOUD HANGS LOW

Deep Significance In the Franco-Russian Alliance.

THE LAST OF THE FETES AT PARIS.

With a Final Burst of Enthusiasm the Russians Leave the Gay Capital of France. Lord Vivian's Funeral an Impressive One—Spain's War Preparations.

PARIS, Oct. 25.—M. Paul de Cassagnac, in an article in The Autorite, says it is impossible to dissimulate the fact that "live Russia" means down with something else. He declares that the demonstration of the French people for the Russian visitors is simply an outburst of long pent up feelings of hatred which are scarcely disguised under the veil of a friendly reception of foreign visitors. The Russian alliance, he insists, implies future revenges.

The czar's visit to the French ships at Copenhagen was the final capitulation of the Russian emperor to the pressure of popular opinion. Russia was sliding down an incline, and the government, instead of holding the reins, as it imagines it does, is already carried away in a fit of wild intoxication toward the fatal precipice.

A Magnificent Spectacle.

The scene at the opera last night was a spectacle of rare magnificence. The varied toilets of the ladies and the splendid display of jewels converted the auditorium into a blaze of light and color. The men also contributed to the display of color, and the customary somber evening dress was in a large part replaced by uniforms.

A noteworthy incident in an evening full of noteworthy incidents was that Gounod's box, out of respect for the illustrious dead, was left vacant, and another incident which attracted attention was the fact that Duc d'Aumale and the Duchess de Chartres both stood up when "The Marseillaise" was played.

President Carnot and Mme. Carnot bade adieu to Admiral Avelan in the president's box in view of the whole house. They both shook hands with the admiral, and their action elicited a round of applause.

Admiral Avelan was accorded a private interview with President Carnot in the afternoon.

Lord Vivian's Funeral Today.

ROME, Oct. 25.—The preparations for the funeral of Lord Vivian, the late embassador of Great Britain, are being made on an immense scale. Traffic is partially suspended, and today the streets through which the funeral corteg will pass will be entirely given up to mourning. The route is already lined with troops.

The funeral car, which will be escorted by a squadron from the cavalry corps of the Italian army, will be preceded by the Carbineer Cadet legion and will be followed by a battery of artillery, the Tenth regiment of infantry and a squadron of cavalry.

All the space in front of and about the English church, where the services for the late ambassador will be held, will be kept clear, and only persons bearing tickets will be admitted to the church.

King Humbert's court marshal, the members of the Italian cabinet and other Italian dignitaries; Admiral Seymour of the British squadron and the various members of the foreign diplomatic corps will occupy seats in the body of the church. The Prince of Naples and the members of his family will sit in front of the altar.

Rescued by an Englishman.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—The steamer Volta, which has arrived at Liverpool from the west coast of Africa, brings the report that owing to trouble in the French protectorate of Assinie the French commander and 30 Senegalese ascended the river in order to suppress the disturbance. The natives made an attack upon the French commander and his force and captured them. They took their arms away and made preparations for killing them. An English trader, Captain Walsh, who was descending the river, succeeded in rescuing the Frenchman and the members of his force.

The German Press Ignores the Threat.

BERLIN, Oct. 25.—The Germans are generally careful not to emphasize the unfriendly meaning which might be placed upon the Russian vows of eternal devotion to their greek friends. The Kreuz Zeitung alone of the German papers fails to control its fierce hatred of Russia.

His Invention a Fatal One.

MELBOURNE, Oct. 25.—A chemist named Tarlet was blown through the wooden wall of his laboratory while experimenting with a powerful explosive which he had just perfected after years of labor. His body was scattered in fragment in all directions.

National Club Refuses the Pelé.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—The directors of the National Sporting club decided unanimously that no offer should be made by the club to Jake Mitchell and Corbett to decide their contest in the National club building.

War Preparations In Spain.

MADRID, Oct. 25.—The Spanish government has decided to prosecute any Spanish paper which publishes anything from Melilla except official news when active operations begin. These are expected in November.

A German Editor Sentenced For Libel.

BERLIN, Oct. 25.—Herr Mayer, editor of a newspaper called The Pfalzgau Echo, has been sentenced to four months' imprisonment for libeling the Duke of Baden.

Another German Editor In Jail.

BERLIN, Oct. 25.—Herr Saxon, editor of The Arbeiter Zeitung, was arrested and conveyed to the military prison. The charge is not known.

Russia's Western Frontier Division.

BERLIN, Oct. 25.—The Russian government has ordered the rest European division in the Caucasus to proceed to the western frontier.

The Brenigate Off Melilla.

MADRID, Oct. 25.—The United States warship Brenigate arrived off Melilla and exchanged salutes with the batteries.

A New Trial for Abberath.

BERLIN, Oct. 25.—The court of appeals has granted a new trial to Doctor Abberath, the assassin of Archbishop Kaul.

Prussian Town Wiped Out by Fire.

BERLIN, Oct. 25.—The town of Aitkrantz, Prussian Silesia, has been practically wiped out by fire.

Queensland's Premier Resigns.

BRISBANE, Queensland, Oct. 25.—Premier McIlwraith has resigned on account of ill health.

General Gourko Very Ill.

WARSAW, Oct. 25.—General Gourko, although very ill, is not dead, as reported.

A SUICIDE CLUB.

It Is Claimed That Ex-Treasurer Burdett Was a Member.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Oct. 25.—It is claimed here now that Horatio F. Burdett, the ex-treasurer of the Mechanics' mills, who committed suicide at New Bedford on Saturday, was a member of a suicide club.

To add color to the statement it is stated that in the last few months four young men, including Horatio N. Durfee, Thomas H. Hill of Providence, Albert Brierstedt, the artist, and one other man, either an artist or a publisher, started together on a trip to California.

Since then three of the four—all except Artist Brierstadt—have committed suicide, and Mr. Brierstadt married the widow of one of these three men.

Just Escaped a Plunge Into the Rapids.

BUFFALO, Oct. 25.—A party of Pullmans narrowly escaped from being plunged into Niagara river. The observation car was 20 minutes ahead of the train, a man started out to make the run in 20 minutes less than the usual time. The first rate of speed was continued down grade for Tonawanda when the car jumped directly opposite the whirlpool rapids. One left the track, jumping toward the river, only 8 or 10 feet distant. As it struck a trolley pole in such a way as to turn itself squarely at right angles with the track, with the rear end of the car within three feet of the brink. All the passengers were more or less hurt, but no one was seriously injured.

New York Women Will Cast a Big Vote.

BUFFALO, Oct. 25.—In several sections of western New York women will play an important part in the coming election for school commissioner. Over 800 women have registered in two election districts of Holland. In Salamanca the Political Equality club and the County Women's Christian Temperance union are conducting the canvass of Miss Martha Van Rensselaer of Randolph for school commissioner. It looks as if these combined factors were strong enough to run the district. In Genesee county 684 women are on the poll lists in nine towns. Four other towns, unreported, doubtless could swell this total to an even thousand.

The Seabird Guards Will Be Arrested.

CHARLESTON, Mass., Oct. 25.—On Thursday evening, if the Seabird guards parade as they have announced, the prospects are that for the first time in the history of Massachusetts a militia company will be placed under arrest. The company proposes to parade in full ranks and carrying rifles while acting as an escort to O'Donovan Rossa, who is to give an address. The recent legislature passed a law forbidding other than the regularly organized corps of the militia to parade with firearms.

Courted Her For Fifteen Years.

TONAWANDA, N. Y., Oct. 25.—A sensational suit for breach of promise has been brought against R. H. de Fields by Miss Lizzie M. Carrel. Miss Carrel alleges that for 15 years De Fields made love to her, repeatedly promising to marry her. A few weeks ago he married another, and prior to his wedding he sought to recover his letters from the plaintiff. Upon her refusal to surrender them she alleges he tried to choke her into submission.

Left Over a Million For Charity.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 25.—The will of the late Jane Holmes, one of the wealthiest ladies in the city, after disposing of about $300,000 in bequests to relatives and friends, provides for an equal division of the rest of her estate—amounting to more than $1,000,000—among various local charitable institutions.

Paymaster Sullivan to Be Dismissed.

VALLEJO, Cal., Oct. 25.—Paymaster John Clyde Sullivan, U. S. N., who was recently court martialed, charged with falsifying his accounts, has been ordered to appear to his house under arrest, where he will be served with orders of the president dismissing him from the naval service.

Excitement Over a Mixed Marriage.

HUNTSVILLE, N. J., Oct. 25.—People in this place are excited over a wedding between a negress and a white man. The bride was Lucinda Higgins from Freehold and the bridegroom Frank Ralph of Hightstown.

Sunshine Heaters and Othello Ranges Sell Themselves.

They are good goods.

Heater-Work, Hot Water and Steam-Heating. Hardware and Plumbing.

A. M. GRIFFEN,

18 RARITAN PLACE STREET. Telephone.

CORPORATION NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the Common Council have fixed the thirty-first day of October, A. D. 1893, at eight o'clock p. m., at the Council Chamber, in the City Hall, on Park place, in the City of Plainfield, as the time and place for J. Frederick Mollhagen, Jr., to appear before the Common Council of the City of Plainfield, and show cause why the petition presented by the undersigned to the Common Council on the 16th inst., "An Ordinance to widen Madison avenue from the west line of West Front street to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey," passed June 5, 1893, to order, should not be proceed to be widened and laid out in Madison avenue from the west line of West Front street to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, as laid out and mapped by F. A. Dunham, C. E., dated June 5, 1893, made by F. A. Dunham, C. E., should not be made.

The lands and real estate intended to be taken for the purpose of widening the same within said Madison avenue, from the west line of West Front street to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, as laid out and mapped by F. A. Dunham, C. E., dated June 5, 1893, which petition is hereby made part of this notice reference thereto.

By order of the Common Council.

JOHN JOHNSON, City Clerk.

Plainfield, N. J., October 17, 1893. 10 17 3w

Townsend's Marble Works,

20 Somerset Street.

The Naked Eye

Can't detect the microbes of disease, and yet they exist by the million. They permeate the system, pollute the blood and poison the vital organs. Disease is the inevitable result.

RADAM'S MICROBE KILLER

destroys every species of microbe and cures every form of disease. It's the latest and greatest discovery of science. We have no space to tell you all we can you are suffering with it will pay you to investigate. A 32-page book of valuable information sent free.

The Yan Radam Microbe Killer Co., 7 Lehigh Pl., New York City.

L. W. RANDOLPH, Agent, 140 WEST FRONT ST., PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Legal Advertisements.

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY.

To Elizabeth Mary Whelan and Patrick Whelan, her husband, Virgil Comfort and Alice Comfort, his wife, Charles Arnold and George W. Rainsford, her husband, and John Allen and Mrs. John Allen, his wife.

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, and to me the dec'd of the date hereof, in a cause wherein John H. Marsh is complainant and you and others are defendants, you are required to appear and plead, answer or demur, to the bill of said complainant, on or before the 27th day of November next, or the said bill will be taken as confessed against you.

The said bill is filed to foreclose a mortgage given by Elizabeth Mary Whelan and Patrick Whelan, her husband, to John H. Marsh, dated November 10th A. D. 1888, and you Elizabeth Mary Whelan, Virgil Comfort, Alice Comfort, Rainsford and John Allen are made defendants because you each own or claim to own some portion of said lands, and Mrs. Patrick Whelan and George W. Rainsford are made defendants because you each claim to have or may have an interest in some portion of said lands, as tenant by the curtesy, initiate; and you, Mrs. John Allen and Mrs. John Allen are made defendants because you each claim to have or may have an inchoate right of dower in some portion of said lands.

Dated August 1, 1893.

VERNON RUNYON,
Solicitor of Complainant,
Cor. Park avenue and Front street,
Plainfield, N. J.

8 18 5t

H. V. VOORHEES,
Graduated United States Assistant Coroner,
UNDERTAKER : AND : EMBALMER.
Office at residence, 175 Somerset Street.
Plainfield, N. J.

Van Eps,

THE NEW JEWELER.

12 Park Avenue. Also a large variety of Musical Goods.

U. B. CRANE,

has the largest stock of

Fine Fall HATS,

in Plainfield,

12 WEST FRONT STREET.

1893 TAXES!

Notice is hereby given to the taxpayers of the

City of Plainfield,

that the taxes assessed in said city for the year 1893 are now due and payable, and that if the said taxes be not paid by the

20th Day of December

next, the names of the defaulters, with their respective taxes, will be returned to the City Judge for the prosecution. The

COMMISSIONERS OF APPEAL

in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council Chamber, on the

Fourth Tuesday in November Next,

(the 28th) and sit from two o'clock p. m. until five o'clock p. m. or longer, if found necessary, for the purpose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

JOHN JOHNSON,
City Collector of Taxes.

Dated, Plainfield, N. J., October 2, 1893.
10 2 td

Do You?

Intend to invest in a

WHEEL?

If so, call on

Dickinson,

The Optician.

Agent for the Edmister, the best wheel in the market. 4 weights, 30, 32, 36 and 41 lbs. Wheels to hire at reasonable rates.

Boehm's.

$5.00

buys a Ladies' Coat; for choice, made from Kersey Beaver, Cheviot and Fancy Cloths; Large and best assortment of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Coats; Jackets, Fur Capes, &c. Children's Cloaks a specialty. Our Dress Goods Department is complete with the best of Cloths for Ladies' and Children's Dresses and Suits.

25c. All 25c. prints are now showing at the Cut Price Store, Grove Street, Dress Goods, Flannels, Underwear, Hosiery, Gloves, Handkerchiefs, Corsets and Notions. P. O. Box 1004.

ALFRED E. BENSON,
Civil Engineer and Surveyor, No. 1 Cook's building, Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Will rely on the best variety of instrument and improved field work ever seen in this city, and at reasonable prices, consistent with first-class work.

TAKE NOTICE.

Charles Arnold,

the butcher,

Is Still in the Race

for cut prices.

Fresh Pork and Sausage 10c. lb.
My own Dressed Jersey Chickens, 16c. lb.
Legs Mutton, 10c. lb.
Lamb, 15c. lb.
My Smoked Meats and all other Meats will be the same old cut prices.

Arnold's : Market,

208 LIBERTY STREET.

GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE.

Strictly Cash.

Are You Insured?

If you are 21 years old $86.60 paid annually for fifteen years would entitle you to $1,000.

If 25 years old, $67.10.

If 35 years old, $47.20.

This sum of $1,000 is payable to the insured, if living, at the expiration of fifteen years, or at his death if prior.

FOR A LIFE POLICY, of $1,000 the annual payments to continue during life, the payments for young men between 21 and 24 are between $18.60 and $20.

For catalogues and further particulars address Henry Bentley, 11 Somerset street, agent, THE NEW YORK MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

F. M. HULETT,

MUSIC DEALER,

74 West Front Street,

handles the following makes:

Gildermaster & Krueger,
Kranich & Bach,
Star,
Mulfield,
Jacob Bros. Pianos,
and the world-renowned
Newman Bros. and Mason & Hamlin Organs.

Builders Cards.

Daniel Hulick,

Carpenter

and

General Jobber.

SHOP

35 Jackson Avenue.

Storm doors and weather strips a specialty.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

Window Screens made to order.

John P. Emmons,

MASON AND BUILDER,

Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place.

Jobbing promptly attended to.

P. O. Box 983.

PIERSON & GAYLE,

Carpenters and Builders.

W. J. Pierson, No. 29 Vine street. H. B. Gayle, No. 19 Vine street.

All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM G. SMITH,

PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER.

All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.

Residence—Grandview avenue.

P. O. Box 324.

R. V. SAUER,

Carpenter & Builder.

Residence—Clinton avenue, near depot, Fanwood.

P. O. Box 1266

Jobbing promptly attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.

JACOB M. HIGGINS,

PRACTICAL MASON and CONTRACTOR

P. O. Box 324. Residence Dr. street, near Seward.

JOHN ARBUCKLE,

Practical Carpenter and Builder. Estimates cheerfully given. Jobbing promptly attended to. Residence, Somerset street, between Second and Third streets. P. O. Box 1004.

FREE - - - FREE

Plainfield dry goods and Japanese Lamp Shade with every one dollar cash purchase, to continue a saving for it. No reasonable offer refused for the balance of our Fancy Goods, and we have some very pretty ones left.

We are constantly receiving new goods, and the hard times have forced prices way down. Remember we aim to succeed by your competition. Lamps are about one-half what they were last year, and ours are bargains indeed. Buy our 25.00 full dark paint, or $25 machine cash for $20 and we will throw in a Lamp. I cannot tell you all about it here. You can't buy a rocking chair in New York, as low as we can sell it. In Toys, Stationery, Games, Soaps, &c., the is no better display in the city than ours. In Tinware, Glassware and Crockery we can suit you. We sell Rochester Lamp Chimneys, all sizes, all kinds. Whisks, Hair Brushes and Feather dusters. We have Gloucester and a host of useful articles on 5 and 10c. counters. Our display of fancy China, Vases and Pedestals will astonish you. Bring your Dress Goods to us to make up. We have a good Dress Maker. Don't forget to call for a sample of our Royal Yeast Powder—as good as any New York brand in the days—just try it, and you will be delighted with the result. You are not afraid to risk ten cents for a good article, are you? Ice boys can "Skate" on Royal Yeast. Only 10c. per pound. Standard Sewing Machine. This machine is almost noiseless, and its work wonderful. We sell the "Standard."

J. C. Allen, 28 West Front St., Plainfield, N. J.

Now is Your Chance.

GRAND CLOTHING OPENING, at our retail store, 218 West Front street. Are you ready? We are prepared to offer the public a clean, fresh stock of Fall and Winter Clothing, for Men, Boys and Children. Remember, we sell at retail at the wholesale prices.

C. SCHEPFLIN & CO,

218 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

A GREAT SLAUGHTER!

of

Ladies' Wrappers, for one week, at 75 cents.

at

THE LEADER! M. GOLDMANN, Prop.

218 WEST FRONT STREET. (Old No. 214.)

Two doors from Music Hall.

Great Bargains

in all grades of

WALL PAPERS,

for the next 60 days.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

29 EAST FRONT STREET.

Railroad Time Table.

CENTRAL RAILROAD OF NEW JERSEY

(Anthracite coal used exclusively insuring cleanliness and comfort.)

Station in New York, foot of Liberty street. Stations in Plainfield: Park, Dunellen and Somerset.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield at 5 34, 7 07, 7 28, 7 55, 8 30, 9 03, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 01 night.

Leave New York at 12 00 (noon), 1 15, 2 15, 3 15, 4 15, 5 15, 6 15, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15, 11 15 p. m., 12 01, 1 15 night.

PLAINFIELD AND EDISON.

Leave Plainfield at 5 34, 7 07, 7 28, 7 55, 8 30, 9 03, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 01 night.

Leave Edison at 5 12, 6 46, 7 06, 7 33, 8 08, 8 41, 9 08, 10 08, 11 08 a. m., 12 08, 1 08, 2 08, 3 08, 4 08, 5 08, 6 08, 7 08, 8 08, 9 08, 10 08, 11 08 p. m., 12 39 night.

PLAINFIELD AND BOUND BROOK.

Leave Plainfield at 5 34, 7 07, 7 28, 7 55, 8 30, 9 03, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 01 night.

Leave Bound Brook at 5 12, 6 46, 7 06, 7 33, 8 08, 8 41, 9 08, 10 08, 11 08 a. m., 12 08, 1 08, 2 08, 3 08, 4 08, 5 08, 6 08, 7 08, 8 08, 9 08, 10 08, 11 08 p. m., 12 39 night.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield at 5 34, 7 07, 7 28, 7 55, 8 30, 9 03, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 01 night.

Leave Somerville at 5 12, 6 46, 7 06, 7 33, 8 08, 8 41, 9 08, 10 08, 11 08 a. m., 12 08, 1 08, 2 08, 3 08, 4 08, 5 08, 6 08, 7 08, 8 08, 9 08, 10 08, 11 08 p. m., 12 39 night.

PLAINFIELD AND RARITAN.

Leave Plainfield at 5 34, 7 07, 7 28, 7 55, 8 30, 9 03, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 01 night.

Leave Raritan at 5 12, 6 46, 7 06, 7 33, 8 08, 8 41, 9 08, 10 08, 11 08 a. m., 12 08, 1 08, 2 08, 3 08, 4 08, 5 08, 6 08, 7 08, 8 08, 9 08, 10 08, 11 08 p. m., 12 39 night.

PLAINFIELD AND BOUND BROOK.

Leave Plainfield at 5 34, 7 07, 7 28, 7 55, 8 30, 9 03, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 01 night.

Leave Bound Brook at 5 12, 6 46, 7 06, 7 33, 8 08, 8 41, 9 08, 10 08, 11 08 a. m., 12 08, 1 08, 2 08, 3 08, 4 08, 5 08, 6 08, 7 08, 8 08, 9 08, 10 08, 11 08 p. m., 12 39 night.

PLAINFIELD AND BOUND BROOK.

Leave Plainfield at 5 34, 7 07, 7 28, 7 55, 8 30, 9 03, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 01 night.

Leave Bound Brook at 5 12, 6 46, 7 06, 7 33, 8 08, 8 41, 9 08, 10 08, 11 08 a. m., 12 08, 1 08, 2 08, 3 08, 4 08, 5 08, 6 08, 7 08, 8 08, 9 08, 10 08, 11 08 p. m., 12 39 night.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

For Somerville and Raritan, 5 34, 7 07, 7 28, 7 55, 8 30, 9 03, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 01 night.

For Bound Brook, 5 34, 7 07, 7 28, 7 55, 8 30, 9 03, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 01 night.

For Dunellen, 5 34, 7 07, 7 28, 7 55, 8 30, 9 03, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 01 night.

For Somerset, 5 34, 7 07, 7 28, 7 55, 8 30, 9 03, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 01 night.

For Park, 5 34, 7 07, 7 28, 7 55, 8 30, 9 03, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 01 night.

For Dunellen, 5 34, 7 07, 7 28, 7 55, 8 30, 9 03, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 01 night.

For Somerset, 5 34, 7 07, 7 28, 7 55, 8 30, 9 03, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 01 night.

For Park, 5 34, 7 07, 7 28, 7 55, 8 30, 9 03, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 01 night.

For Dunellen, 5 34, 7 07, 7 28, 7 55, 8 30, 9 03, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 01 night.

For Somerset, 5 34, 7 07, 7 28, 7 55, 8 30, 9 03, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 01 night.

For Park, 5 34, 7 07, 7 28, 7 55, 8 30, 9 03, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 01 night.

ROYAL BLUE LINE.

Leave Plainfield at 5 34, 7 07, 7 28, 7 55, 8 30, 9 03, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 01 night.

Leave Bound Brook at 5 12, 6 46, 7 06, 7 33, 8 08, 8 41, 9 08, 10 08, 11 08 a. m., 12 08, 1 08, 2 08, 3 08, 4 08, 5 08, 6 08, 7 08, 8 08, 9 08, 10 08, 11 08 p. m., 12 39 night.

Real Estate & Insurance

Edw. C. Mulford,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE

45 North Avenue.

M. M. Dunham,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

No. 7 East Front street.

Wm. A. Woodruff,

REAL ESTATE

AND

INSURANCE.

MONEY TO LOAN on Approved Security.

Corner Front street and Park avenue.

Spicer & Hubbard,

Manufacturers of

Mouldings, Sash, Blinds, Doors, etc.

Corner Madison Avenue and Third street.

SCROLL SAWING, TURNING,

Also plain and ornamental glass furnished to order.

Professional Cards.

WILLIAM H. CODDINGTON,
Law Office, Corner Park avenue and Second street, over Second National Bank. Notary Public.

JACKSON & ANDERSON,
Counsellors at Law, Front street, over Second National Bank. Entrance in Chemical.

F. A. DUNHAM,
C. E. Civil Engineer and Surveyor, 107 Front street. Will give prompt attention to the improvement of roads and streets.

WILLIAM A. CODDINGTON,
Counsellor at Law, Notary Public and Commissioner of Deeds and Notary Public, Money to loan. Collections promptly made. Office No. 20 West Front street.

CLARK & REID,
Counsellors at Law, Corner Front street and Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Money to loan on first mortgage.

CHARLES A. MARSH,
Counsellor at Law, Corner Front street and Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Money to loan.

J. H. OLDAKER, H. P. BARTINE,
Attorneys at Law, Notaries Public and Conveyancers, Office, corner Front and Park avenue.

LITTLE FOLKS' COLUMN.

HERE THEY WILL FIND RECREATION AFTER SCHOOL STUDIES.

The Latter Juvenile Poetry and Prose.
All Carefully Selected With a View to Strengthen Youthful Minds—Condensed Information.

If I were a school teacher like Miss Snapp,
And she were a scholar like me,
O, gracious what lemons I'd give her to taste,
What sums in the Rule of Three!
And how, if she didn't forever behave
In just the most saintly ways,
Her ears should be slapped and her buns be red up,
Her recess withheld for days!

If I were as clever as Laura Sharp,
And she were as stupid as I,
What thorough delight it would give me to set
As monitor, meddler and spy!
And how I should tattle of all that she did,
In Laura's contemptible style,
And smile when she blundered in spelling or French
That horrid, unmerciful smile!

If I were a beauty like Rose Bell
And she was a fright like myself,
What saucy remarks I should constantly make
To vex her, the proud little elf!
What fun I should poke at her freckles her nose,
Her elbows, her knuckles, her hair,
And all with that delicate jibber of hers
That stingingly lady-like air!

But then I am merely supposing, of course,
Impossible things. Who can tell
What truly would happen if truly I were Miss Snapp, Laura Sharp, Rose Bell?
Perhaps I should pity (revenge is so mean)!
And help them and love them, all three
And do unto others as I myself would
That others should do unto me?

Their Reasons.

A prominent singer who began his career in giving concerts about the country had some extraordinary experiences in songs when such entertainments were of rare occurrence. One night, when he was persistently applauded, he returned to sing a second song, but was surprised by a stentorian voice from the audience.

"Oh, we don't want nothin' new! Sing the feet piece right over again!"

At another time, the audience was so wildly appreciative that it refused to consider the concert at an end, and clamored loudly for "Just one more." It was given, and then another demanded. Patience failed the singer at this point, and he begged his manager to go before the curtain, and state that he really was unable to sing any more. And thus was the statement worded:

"Ladies and gentlemen: Mr. Martin can't sing no more to-night. He can't, honest. His wind's give out!"

A similar story comes from another singer who could not refrain from telling it although her seven-year-old niece, a fastidious little lady, pronounced it "not a very pretty story to write."

The lady had been taken ill after eating some decoction of ancient lobster at the hotel, and sent for her manager word that she could not sing. He accordingly appeared before the disappointed audience, and announced:

"Ladies and gentlemen: Miss Merriam ain't here to-night. She couldn't come. She ate in fit circumstances to sing. Her stomach's troubling her!"—Youth's Companion.

The New Baby.

A little baby once was born
A wondrous baby—ha!
For he was born in every clime,
In every land and sea,
At the same moment; in he marched
And said he'd come to stay
Till he was dead; and naught they did
Could send him on his way.
He had the same name every where
(But didn't look the same),
And every thirty days he changed
The first part of his name.
Then, all at once, he disappeared—
Just like the setting sun—
And no one knows where he has gone.
His name was "Ninety-One."
—N. Y. World

They are Not Currants.

A great many people suppose that the imported article called currants used in fruit cakes, mince pies, plum puddings, buns, and the like, are a fruit resembling our own red or black currants when dried. In reality, these dried fruits which we call currants, are raisins, being only a dried grape, although of an exceedingly small variety, each grape no bigger than a common pea, and each bunch but two or three inches long. These little grapes when they are picked and dried in the sun, and are so full of sugary matter they become crystallized into such a consistency, that it requires considerable strength to open the mass and prepare the fruit for packing, they being then a second time compressed, this time by means of treading with the feet, which process perhaps accounts for a great deal of the dirt and gravel usually to be found packed with them. These little grapes grow all through the islands of the Grecian Archipelago, and being exported originally from Corinth, they were called at first Corinths, which word was gradually corrupted into currants.

To Make Boys Tidy.

Shoe brushes and wisp brooms should be placed where every member of the family can use them readily without instituting a tiresome search. A boy who sees his schoolmate's shoes neatly blacked, while his own are gray and dusty, will feel humiliated by the contrast. Even a child will appreciate the added respectability a brushed jacket and well-cleaned shoes give him.

Funny Rings the Door Bell.

Chester F. Hall of Danville, Ill., boasts of an educated cat. One cold night recently the door bell rang, and when Mr. Hall answered the bell what should walk in but the family cat. Since then whenever the cat wants to come in the house it rings the bell, and continues the ringing until admitted.

Rough on Cats.

It is asserted on good authority that a Delaware firm has undertaken to supply 100 tons of cats' tails for the ornamentation of the latest thing in women's fur garments. This means about one million tailless pussies.

Plenty of It, Too.

"Did you have a good Christmas dinner, Jimmie?"

"You bet I did! I had to take four kinds of medicine after it."—Puck.

THE MODEL BEE.

How doth the little busy bee,
Improve each shining hour,
She gathers honey all the day,
From every opening flower.

How skillfully she builds her cell,
How neat she spreads the wax,
And labors hard to store it well
With the sweet food she makes.

In books, or work, or healthful play,
Let my first years be past;
That I may give for every day,
Some good account at last.

Whistling for Seals.

The well-known love of seals for musical sounds too often leads to their own destruction. When the Esquimo hunter sees none of his prey about, he begins whistling, and sooner or later is sure to attract an appreciative seal within reach of his harpoon. Lying at full length at the edge of the ice, he continues whistling low, plaintive, calling notes, and presently a few of the animals will draw near to the spot, lifting themselves as high as they can out of the water and slowly shaking their heads to and fro, as if keeping time to the music. By and by one seal more daring than its fellows will come very close to the hunter, who then jumps to his feet and slays the creature, while its mates make off as quickly as possible. The whistling is generally successful when performed by another Eskimo at a short distance behind the hunter lying motionless on the ice.

The Only Greenback.

Were I so tall to reach the pole
Or grasp the ocean with my span,
I must be measured by my soul;
The mind's the standard of the man.

Watch Your Dog This.

There is a dog named Dizzy, who is very neat in his habits, and has great respect for clean carpets and neat carpets. If the ground is wet and he gets his feet muddy he invariably goes to a mat provided for him and thoroughly wipes off his feet before entering the house.

"A little bird told me that you had been naughty to-day," said Tommie's father. "It must have been the parrot next door," answered Tommie, "for I don't know how he found out."—Harper's Young People.

59c. SALE! 59c.
59c. of 59c.
59c. KID GLOVES! 59c.
59c. 4 button length, tan, modes, brown and black, all sizes, 59c. 59c.
GEO. L. VAN EMBURGH & SON.
FRONT STREET, OPPOSITE PARK AVENUE. UNDER THE BANK.

Timely Warning! Winter Approaching!
Keep your Scalp Clean and your Hair Growing.
RANDOLPH'S Quinine and Glycerine
HAIR TONIC!
The Friend in the Hour of Need.
EACH BOTTLE GUARANTEED. Sold only by
L. W. RANDOLPH, Prescription Druggist,
143 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

Hotels.

CENTRAL HOTEL,
No. 11 E. Front St.,
PLAINFIELD.
Windham & Crowley,
PROPRIETORS.
First-class bar attached.

Fourth Ward Hotel.
JOHN GOFF, Proprietor.
Boarders accommodated, both transient and permanent.
LARGE ROOMS and ALL MODERN IMPROVEMENTS.
Fine Wines, Liquors and CIGARS.
Corner Third and Liberty Streets.

Hotel Grenada,
NORTH AVENUE,
now open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the travelling public.

City Hotel,
Corner PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.
Transient guests accommodated.

Eugene Hoerster,
206 Grove Street,
North Plainfield,
Wholesale Dealer
in
PINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.
Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

CAREY'S
Storage Warerooms,
Corner Front and Grove Streets, Plainfield, N. J.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,
Successors to
The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.
Dealers in
Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials
53 to 59 PARK AVENUE,
are now prepared with their increased facilities, having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs. A. D. Cook & Bro., to fill all orders promptly, and solicit your patronage.

PLAYTIME FOR CHILDREN.

ITEMS THAT WILL INSTRUCT AND ENTERTAIN THEM.

The Sayings of Bright Children—How Many Clever Things Our Little Ones Say that are Never Printed, Though Worth It.

A number of children were talking about what they would like to be when they were men and women. One little girl said, with decision, "I'll be a teacher." said little Mary, who lived on a farm. "I don't want to be a teacher. I'd rather be a summer boarder than anything else."—Youth's Companion.

For Bright Children.

"Did you break this window, Charlie?" asked the schoolmaster.

"I washed holes in it," said Charlie.

"Helped? How helped?"

"It was a snow-ball broke it—but I threw the snow-ball."

HE KNEW.

"Johnny, do you know your alphabet?"

"Yessum."

"What comes after T?"

"Evening prayers, ma'am."

KEPT QUIET.

"I hope you were not impudent in return," said mamma, after Willie had told her of some mean things a playmate had said.

"No. I just kept still," said Willie. "I couldn't think of anything to say that would make him mad."

WELL NAMED.

The telephone it seems to me,
Is named exceeding well;
For what folks say to it, you see,
The 'Phone doth straightway Tell.

WHICH WAS RIGHT?

"What's all this noise about?" inquired the paper-cutter.

"The ink says that it does all the writing, while I claim that I do," answered the pen.

A GOOD REASON.

"Why is it you eat so much bread and butter when you're visiting and none at home, Jimmie?"

"Cause home I know there's something else coming. Visiting, I don't."

HIS VIEW OF IT.

"Indians must have a good time when they are boys," said Tommy.

"Why?" asked his father.

"'Cause their nurses can't tell whether their hands are dirty or not."—Harper's Young People.

A Child's Plea Heard by an Emperor.

Bernard Schmitz, a well-to-do Kansas farmer, went to Germany last fall to visit relatives, after an absence of nearly twenty years. Upon his arrival there he was arrested and imprisoned for desertion from the German army. He was sentenced for six months, but has been released and is now on his way back to America.

His release was brought about by his eleven-year-old daughter, who wrote to the emperor from her far-a-way home in Kansas, and in a childish way asked for the pardon of her father on his birthday, the 26th of last month. The emperor received the letter on the 27th of January, and promptly issued an order which gave Schmitz his freedom the following day.—Syracuse Journal.

Tired from Head to Foot

FROM HEAD TO FOOT.
That's what's the matter with the most us. What's the remedy? Poor circulation o the blood. Poor circulation is caused by poor blood. We have known severe cases of so called rheumatism, neuralgia, backache, sore joints, headache, no ambition, general disgust, in a short time by the use of Anti-Tire. Get up good circulation, healthy action, secure quick your pains and aches will vanish. One foot bath of Anti-Tire will do it. Trial size, 10c. Family size, 25c. All druggists. Send 10 cents in stamps for trial package.
LYONS & ZIEGLER,
464 Bergen avenue,
Jersey City, N. J.

Neuman Brothers,
THE POPULAR GROCERS,
have a full line of selected
Groceries, Fruit and Vegetables.
Choicest varieties of Coffees and Teas, quality unexcelled. A fine display of choicest Apples daily. A new stock of Canned Vegetables and Fruits.
NEUMAN BROS,
WATCHUNG AVENUE and FIFTH STREET.

Horses and Carriages,
of all kinds, for hire, at
O'BRIEN'S,
136 WEST FOURTH STREET,
or at the depot.

Joseph T. Vail,
REAL ESTATE
and
INSURANCE.
OFFICE IN BLUE STONE BLOCK
Corner Front and North Avenue.

We Can't Make Weather,
But, We Can Make Prices
That Will Make "Biz."
DESIRABLE GOODS IN HEAVY AND MUST BE SOLD.

	PRICE.	VALUE.
45 inch, all wool Mixture	50c.	75c
36 inch, " " Serges	45c.	75c
45 inch, " "	50c.	85c.
45 inch, " "	50c.	75c.
36 inch, " " Suiting	35c.	50c.

HOSIERY.

Child's, full ribbed, fast black	10c.	15c.
" " "	12c.	20c.
" " "	15c.	25c.
Men's " " Hose	12c.	18c.
Men's " " Half Hose	12c.	18c.
Ladies' " " fast black	15c.	25c.
" " "	25c.	39c.

LADIES' AND MISSES' JACKETS.—We have not space to tell you all about styles and prices but 'tis more interesting to come and see them. We know we can suit you.

HOUSE-FURNISHING DEPARTMENT.—Special sale of Granite Iron-ware, for this week. Some prices that you pay for tinware

UNDER WEAR.—For Ladies, Gentlemen and Children. We have all kinds, white, natural wool and scarlet.—Children's white and natural wool vests and pants 15c. up.—Ladies white vests and pants 25c. up.—An extra good garment for Ladies; 'tis our Scarlet and Natural Wool ribbed vest, seventy five per c ent wool both white and natural.—Our price, 75c., value, $1.

	VALUE.	PRICE.
Men's colored Shirts and Drawers	50c.	39c.
" white " "	50c.	39c.
" natural wool " "	75c.	49c.
" " " "	98c.	$1.00.

FINE MILLINERY.—It happens every day. Ladies will go to New York to buy their Hats, when if they only knew, we are direct importers and brought here and we retail them to suit. Why not come here next? We know we can save you time, money and trouble. Try us.

OVERSHOES AND SLOPPERS.—For 89c. we fit you with an overshoe just as good as you ever bought for 98c., and our 75c. and $1.00 grades are far finer than those sold by the regular shoe dealers. SPECIAL PUR THIS DAY.—Just to introduce them 50c. Overshoes for 39c. Also a few more shoes that you pay $2.50 for at $1.25 up. A pair of these elegant Overgaiters at 25c.

WHITE, of Plainfield.

SAYINGS OF BRIGHT CHILDREN.

Elmer jammed his finger directly after he had taken a drink of water. The finger ached, so, of course, Elmer cried.

"What's the matter with Elmer?" asked mamma inquiringly.

Baby May, who did not know that her little brother had jammed his finger, answered, "Oh, he's been drinking water, and his mouf got too full, so it run over out of his eyes!"

SPECIAL RUSHING.

Jimmie (catching sight of a piece of cake)—Mamma, I'm awful hungry.

Mamma—Very well, deary. Dinner will be ready shortly.

Jimmie—I'm not hungry for dinner. I'm hungry for cake.

AN ORIENT LESSON.

"Isn't it queer," said the mucilage to the stamp, "how a great deal more of a stick than I am, and yet I am stickier than you are."

"I can beat you in another way, though," said the stamp.

"How?" asked the mucilage.

"This way," said the stick, as he gave him a beating.

A LIKENESS.

The letter H he knows always—
Though he's but three years young—
"Because it looks so like," he says,
"A ladder with one rung."

OF THE NEWSPAPER.

Fox—Say, Hare, why don't you have a beautiful bushy tail like mine?

Hare—Don't want it. Haven't any more use for a hare-brush than a rooster has for his comb.—Harper's Young People.

To a Girl Singing.
Sing in thy attic song,
Sing while thy heart is young,
Attics are near the blue sky,
Youth's songs are not all sung.

Sing for thy past so tranquil,
Sing for thy present cozy,
Sing for an untried future
Its troubles are far away.

Sing for a waiting sweetheart
Somewhere on land or sea,
And, child, from thy hearts rich bounty,
Sing solace and cheer for me.

She Didn't Want an Encore.

Eunice is a bright little girl with a taste for the stage, and some time ago she was one of a lot of children in kimonos dancer. When the kimonos was given it happened that all of the children's dances, except the number in which Eunice took part, were encored, and her mother felt some anxiety that Eunice would feel the slight. She was ready with good reason when Eunice should appear, but there was no need of it.

"Oh, mamma," she exclaimed as she rushed to her mother, all excitement, "Ours was the best of all. All the others had to do theirs over again and we didn't."—Detroit Free Press.

Women Manage This Hospital.

Cincinnati has an institution, founded by women for women, which ranks with the double distinction of being the only Presbyterian Hospital, Women's Medical College, and free dispensary combined, and the only one in the United States founded, managed and controlled by women. Special provision is made for preparing young women for work in medical missions.

FREAKS OF FASHION.

Little Misses can't Pour at the Feet of the Great Buffy bows of polka-dotted silk are also tied of the new scarfs, which now come eleven inches wide and a yard and a half long, with becoming effect.

* *

Black silk tissue blouses trimmed with silver cord and black Russian lace, and belted with old silver girdles, are among the striking things worn by artistic women.

* *

The Princess of Wales wears complete costumes of green color when in Dresden, which the Empress of Russia has introduced this color as the national mourning. It is regarded as a wise innovation, and they hope to see it introduced in London some day.

* *

Jet trimming still holds its own in popular favor. It is seen on white gowns and black gowns, street gowns of cloth and fancy evening costumes. It forms a corselet belt and hangs in a heavy fringe from the waist. Borders of jet are worn extensively, and net or net or grenadine have the design appliqued in jet.

Shopping Bags.

In making a shopping bag, be sure to make it large enough. The best material for this bag is black gross grained silk, or fine black broadcloth. These are very elegant when embroidered with black rope silk. Velvet, plush or satin should not be used for shopping bags, as the hard wear they must of necessity have, soon spoils the beauty of these goods. Nor should these bags be hand-painted; a half defaced, scarred looking bunch of painted flowers is a very untidy ornamentation indeed. The best lining for the shopping bag is fine black sateen, as it wears much better than light silk.

A fashion month in vogue at present is the ornamenting of shopping bags by several rows of small rings, fastened closely with button-hole stitches and joined together. These are very pretty, and they wear well. The rings can be bought for a few cents a dozen.

The Fall and Winter Styles in Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing are now in Stock. Overcoats of all Weights. Trousers Made to Order from $4 to $8. Suits from $15 to $30. Hats and General Furnishings. WERNER'S MAMMOTH CLOTHING HOUSE, 206 West Front Street.

R. W. Rice & Co.,
THE PARK GROCERS.
Corner Duer and Emily Streets.
NORTH PLAINFIELD.

This Date In History—Oct. 25.

323 B. C.—Demosthenes, the great Athenian orator, killed himself with poison in the island of Calauria.

303—St. Crispin and his brother Crispinian, shoemakers and Christian missionaries, were martyred.

1154—King Stephen of England, the usurper, died at Canterbury.

1400—Geoffrey Chaucer, the poet, died in London.

1415—Battle of Agincourt; Henry V of England won a famous victory.

1667—Bernhardus Trethovii, inventor of the barometer, died in Florence.

1738—Charles Mordaunt, erratic earl of Peterborough, died.

1760—George II of England died suddenly at Kensington Palace, the right ventricle of his heart bursting, aged 76.

1796—William Hogarth, painter and caricaturist, died at Chiswick.

1802—General Henry Knox, Washington's secretary of war, died at Thomaston, Maine.

1812—Ship United States, 24 guns, Commander Decatur, captured the British Frigate Macedonian.

1820—Caroline L. Scott Harrison, wife of the president, died at Washington.

Mr. Oscar Wilde has been sinning considerably during his life, but it is said that he has now made up his mind to come to America and sin scientifically and note the consequences in order that he may be the benefactor of mankind. This is all very well if Mr. Wilde wants a little more real advertising, but why should he come to America to sin scientifically? Possibly there may be as much science attached to sinning in Europe, but there may not be so many dollars.

If there is any way of finding out whether there is a benefit in addition to accepting it as a matter of authority and belief, the scientific spirit of the twentieth century will discover that way.

So President Cleveland was not the author of the phrase "unnecessary denunciation" after all. It was invented by a White House factotum.

Even this year of hard times the United States is manufacturing 2,500,000 tons more of iron than Great Britain does. That is something, anyhow.

1893 OCTOBER. 1893

Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fr.	Sa.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
15	16	17	18	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26	27	28
29	30	31

MOON'S PHASES.

Third Quarter	2	10:19 p.m.	First Quarter	17	8:42 a.m.
New Moon	9	3:37 p.m.	Full Moon	25	1:42 a.m.
			Third Quarter	31	5:49 p.m.

Tickets For, or from Europe, On All Lines, And all Steamers. Drafts Sold also.
H. D. MORRISON, Agent, Somerset Street.

Metropolitan Livery and Boarding Stables!
Coaches, Close Carriages, Park Phaetons, Surreys, Buggies, Pony Phaetons and Saddle Horses.
Special care given boarding horses. Storage for furniture and carriages.
149 AND 157 NORTH AVENUE,
Opposite depot. Telephone Call, 44.
H. B. RIDER, Proprietor. FRANK DAY, Manager.

THE TIME TO EAT!
MEAT! is at most time, of course, and the place to get good meat, all varieties, lowest prices and prompt attention, etc., is at
E. J. CONNOLLY,
No. 321 Broadway.
SMOKED MEATS AND VEGETABLES always on hand.

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

65 per Year in Advance. | Published by W. Morrison, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 21 Somerset street. Printing of All Kinds. | 10 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. | PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," | THURSDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1893. | PRICE TWO CENTS.

Republican Nominations.

UNION COUNTY.

For Senator,
FOSTER M. VOORHEES,
of Elizabeth.

For Sheriff,
GEORGE KYTE,
of Fanwood.

For Coroner,
DR. CHARLES B. HOLMES,
of Rahway.

For member of Assembly from Third Assembly District,
CHARLES N. CODDING,
of Westfield.

SOMERSET COUNTY.

For Senator,
LEWIS A. THOMPSON,
of Bridgewater.

For Assembly,
FRANK W. SOMERS,
of Franklin.

For Coroner,
DR. FRED C. JONES,
of Bernards.

BREVITIES.

—The case of Bronson vs. Miller has been adjourned by Justice Nash to November 3d.

—The King's Daughters of Hope Chapel are arranging for an entertainment to be given soon.

—Steps are being taken to organize a Woman's Home Missionary Society in Grace M. E. church on Park place.

—St. Mary's T. A. B. Society will give a ball in their hall on Tuesday evening, October 31st. Music by Prof. O'Reilly.

—Republicans requiring naturalization papers may get them by applying to Justice of the Peace Vincent W. Nash or Councilman Herman Weber.

—Local sportsmen are cleaning up their guns and laying in a stock of ammunition for the approaching gunning season. The quail season opens Nov. 1st.

—The Epworth League of Grace M. E. church will hold their monthly social in the chapel next Friday evening. Stereopticon views will be part of the programme.

—An attempt was wade to rob Mr. Simmonds' house on Watchung avenue, Tuesday night. The thief was taken so the thief was scared away by the son, who came home about 1:30 o'clock.

—Engine 385, attached to Conductor Freeman's train, burst a flue at Somerville Monday morning, causing a delay of half an hour. The engineer and fireman escaped by jumping.

—The Fourth Ward Socialist Labor Club will hold a mass meeting at the corner of Second street and Grant avenue at eight o'clock to night. Harry Glyn of New York will address the meeting.

—The Retail Merchants' Association of New Brunswick will form a mutual insurance company and hope to secure lower rates by doing so. The majority of the members in the association are grocers.

—An adjourned meeting of the Board of Trade will be held in their parlors this evening at eight p. m. O'Hamilton as provided for by the by-laws of the Board will be appointed at this meeting.

—On Tuesday night dogs made a raid on Farmer Dunston's flock of sheep, killing two and wounding six others, and on Friday a valuable six months' old colt died. Dunston lives near Bonnyfields.

—The Cooclumee's Benedict Association will hold a ball in T. A. B. Hall, on November 20th. The committee of arrangements comprises Charles Long, Thomas Dwyer, Peter McDonough, James Wierenga and Patrick Eiley.

Paoli Case Again Adjourned.

Lass Summer Lorenzo Paoli was tried on the charge of selling fruits etc., on Sunday. The jury disagreed and the case was to have been tried over again to-day. Trial was adjourned for one month.

Firemen Invited to Attend Church.

The members of Gazelle Engine Co. No. 1, Plainfield Engine Co. No. 3, Zephyr Hook & Ladder Co. No. 1, Alert Hose Co. No. 1, Warren Engine Co. No. 1, and the Exempts Firemen's Association have been invited to attend divine service at the First Presbyterian church, when the pastor, the Rev. Mr. Herring will preach a special sermon to them Sunday evening Oct. 29th.

Two Plainfield Cases on To-Day.

Two Plainfield cases are occupying the the Union County Court's attention today. They are Grace Tingley vs. Mr. Theodore Runyon, an ejectment suit, and the other Mr. Walter Scott vs. Mr. Stephen R. Krom, on contract. Mr. Craig A. Marsh is counsel for both Mr. Scott and Grace Tingley, while Mr. Runyon is represented by Mr. Nelson Bowyer, and Mr. Krom by Mr. Charles A. Reed.

FIGHT WITH A RACCOON.

IT TOOK TWO HUNTERS, TWO DOGS AND TWO GUNS TO KILL IT.

First It Bit the Foot of One of the Hunters and Then it Tackled the Other Young Man.—The Dogs Finally Take a Hand and Kill It.

While hunting in the mountains, yesterday, George Hanson of Harrison street was severely bitten by a raccoon. Hanson spied the coon in an old tree, where it made its home in a hollow part of the tree. He fired at it and it dropped back in the hole. Supposing the animal was dead. Hanson climbed the tree to get it. As he poked a stick in the hole the coon came out of a hole further near a limb, down where his feet were resting. It fastened its teeth into his foot. The two top teeth cut through the shoe into the flesh. As the coon let go and started back in the hole young Billing, who was with Hanson, fired, shooting the animal in the neck. This did not kill it. The animal then sprang down at Billing. He struck it with the butt end of his gun. His gun was broke, by the blow but the coon still lived.

Hanson fired at it again, blowing part of its face off.

Two dogs then took a hand in the fight and tackled the plucky creature. It fought them fiercely for a time and then gave up the ghost. It weighed 15 pounds.

Hanson, this morning, was unable to bear any weight on his injured foot, and had to hobble around with the aid of a cane.

THE YOUNG MEN'S CLUB.

Entertained at the Home of Mr. James McGee.

The Young Men's Club, composed of members of the Monroe avenue chapel, were entertained at the home of Mr. James McGee, of North Plainfield, last evening. The club is officered as follows:

President—D. P. Hicks.
Vice President—Charles Randolph.
Secretary—Charles Hayes.
Treasurer—Chauncey Burt.

Those present last night were Messrs. Brouuard, Blanchard Randolph, Henry Watson, Charles Blackford, Dave King, Frank Batson, Fred Phillips, Clarence Brouuard, William Ackerman, William Kriney, Walter Manning, Adam Newman, Milton Millington, John Praed, James B. Martin, James B. Joy, Harry Apgar, P. Hicks, Chauncey Burt, Charles Randolph and Charles Hayes.

The evening's entertainment consisted of music, recitations, and a general social time. Messrs. Winters, King and Randolph rendered the music and Mr. James B. Martin, Lenten was served.

Mr. James McGee addressed the members of the club, setting forth their objects, etc.

PARKS SNOWED UNDER.

Beaten by Over 100 Pins at Elizabeth Last Night.

The Park Club bowlers where snowed under at Elizabeth last night, but they were fortunate in the fact that it was not one of the league games:

E. A. C.		PARK CLUB.
Kline	193	Lyman	125
W. Lane	190	Sandford	153
H. Lane	147	Hegaman	121
Meyer	194	Lemon	134
Ohanesen	190	C. Brown	147
Barber	203	Weber	149
Gabel	169	Cadwell	145
Heilner	185	W. Brown	137
Pepin	173	Hall	141
P. Davis	142	Matthews	152
Total	1514	Total	1365

That Joel Coddington Litigation.

As told in THE NEWS, Joel Coddington of Warren township died on Sept. 12th. He left a will, disposing of about $25,000 worth of property, Mr. McClure and Mr. Marvin took steps to contest the will, but after going to Somerville Orphans' Court, Charles A. Reed succeeded in having William R. Coddington appointed administrator pendente lite.

The parties interested have been cited to appear before the Orphans' Court on Nov. 10th, to answer unto the caveats.

An Address on Missions.

The Rev. F. P. Sutherland, a returned missionary from Sagaing, upper Burmah, will address a meeting under the auspices of the Temple Builders Society of the First Baptist church, next Sunday evening, Oct. 29, at 7.30 p. m. at the above church, corner Front and Grove streets. Rev. Mr. Sutherland has been in Burmah during the past seven years, and is well acquainted with all the ways of the Burmese people and a very interesting, as well as instructive, talk, will be given.

Judge Coddington Suspended Sentence.

A man under the influence of liquor made an assault on a colored man on Park avenue last evening. Policeman Kiely arrested the drunken man but the colored man escaped. He was arrested this morning. Both pleaded so hard to be let off that Judge Coddington suspended sentence.

Voorhees and Kyte Endorsed by the Citizens League.

The Citizens' Anti-Race Track League of Union County held a meeting at Elizabeth on Tuesday night and indorsed the Republican nominees: For Sheriff, George Kyte; for Senator, Foster M. Voorhees.

NUPTIALS.

Ten Eyck—Osborn.

THE MARRIAGE of Mr. Frederick H. Ten Eyck of Westervelt avenue to Miss Hattie D. D. Osborn took place at Trinity Reformed church at six o'clock last evening.

The Rev. Corse Ilus Scheerer performed the ceremony.

Mr. R. C. Leader of Brooklyn was best man. There were no bridesmaids. The bride was given away by her brother, Dr. H. P. Osborn of New York.

The ushers were Messrs. Alfred W. Ten Eyck, a brother of the groom, Robert Boove and Robert Blumburg of New York.

The bride was attired in a neat fitting travelling dress of golden brown cloth. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

Prof. Carpenter played the wedding march.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the groom's father, on West avenue.

Among the guests present were: Mr. Mrs. D. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. M. McGuire, Mr. R. C. Leader, Dr. H. P. Osborn, Mr. Robert Blumburg, of Brooklyn; Mr. R. M. Boove, of New York; Mrs. and Miss Van Ilus, Mrs. Ten Eyck, Johnnie Ten Eyck, Mr. O. W. Dunham, Miss Annie Miller, Mr. George Houseman, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Schenck, Mrs. Honeyman and Bert Honeyman.

The wedding gifts included many useful as well as beautiful articles.

Mr. and Mrs. Ten Eyck will make their home at Garwood, where the groom has bought a house, which is ready for occupancy.

Mack—Clark.

A wedding took place at noon yesterday at the home of Mr. Alvah A. Clark at Somerville. The bride was Miss Madeline Clark, his youngest daughter, and the groom was Alexander T. Mack, a millionaire woollen goods manufacturer of Harlan. A civil ceremony was performed by Associate Judge W. J. Magie of the New Jersey Supreme Court.

Among the gifts to Mr. and Mrs. Mack were a new house, completely furnished, valued at $50,000, and $97,000 in stocks and bonds.

The bride is a sister of Mrs. Charles A. Reed of the borough.

Miller-Day.

Miss Kate Day of East Fourth street and Mr. William Miller, of Somerville, will be married at four o'clock this afternoon, at St. Mary's Catholic church.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Robert Barnes will speak at the Third Street Mission to-night.

Mr. James McCormick has recovered from an attack of bronchitis and is now able to be out.

Mr. William Krause has returned from the World's Fair. He brought with him a set of Columbian postal cards for Letter Carrier Demarest.

"Some Homes and Haunts of English Poets," will be the subject of a lecture by Prof. William Hyde Appleton, at Barnard Academy to-morrow night.

Peter H. Wilson of South Bound Brook has received the appointment of District Deputy of Court Pride of Plainfield, the vacancy being caused by the death of S. J. Powers.

Dr. and Mrs. Henry H. Lowrie have issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Myra Rose to Frank Rufus Sanford, M. D., to take place this evening, Nov. 8th, at 7.30 o'clock in Grace Episcopal church. A reception will follow at 514 Park avenue.

Mr. David Bodine of Grandview avenue left last night for Trenton to attend the State Council of the Jr. O. U. A. M., which is in session to-day. Mr. Bodine is one of the most active members in Franklin Council, No. 61, of this city. He was one of the charter members and the high standard this Council has reached is due in a measure to his efforts in its interest. He is Warden of the State body.

Miss Ella Thorn, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Thorn, died of cardiac disease of the heart, at Mt. Pleasant, Ohio. Her body was received in this city last evening. Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at two o'clock, at the house of her aunt, Mrs. Marcley at 131 New street and interment, which will be private, will be made in the Friends' burying ground on Watchung avenue.

Individual Tournament.

Last night in the individual bowling tournament on the C. Y. M. L. alleys the following scores were made:

D. Galbraith	193	J. Lynch	178
M. Owen's	157	J. Traynor	126
J. Traynor	162	J. Lynch	193
M. Mack	196	D. Galbraith	161
J. Lynch	183	M. Lynch	194
M. Mack	194	D. Galbraith	161

Captain John Lynch stands highest, with an average of 173 3-5 in 10 games.

A Plainfield Lady Injured at Hopewell.

Mrs. Charles H. Furiss of Jackson avenue last night received word that his wife, who is visiting friends at Hopewell, slipped and seriously injured her spine while hurrying from the house to catch a train.

THE LAST OF THE WHYOS

A BURGLAR KILLED AT POTTERSVILLE TUESDAY NIGHT.

The Leader of the Gang was Recently Sent to State Prison for Several Years—A Posse Settled This Whyo.

The general story of Doctor Ramsey of Potterville, near Somerville, was entered by burglars on Monday night and a large amount of goods were taken. Most of the stolen articles were found hidden some distance away from the store.

A posse was organized and thoroughly armed. The men were stationed at different points near where the stolen goods were secreted. It was believed that the robbers would return for their booty.

Word had been received yesterday morning that the burglars came with a horse and wagon after the booty about midnight. They were ordered to surrender by the guard nearest the place where they stopped. They jumped from the wagon and ran.

The posse fired at them. One was shot in the head and leg and captured. The other was shot in the head and is dead. They are supposed to belong to the famous Whyo gang of Harlem that has been terrorizing this county for several years.

The leader of the gang was recently sent to State Prison for three years for assault and battery. There is great excitement over the affair.

SONS OF TEMPERANCE.

The State Session at New Brunswick Yesterday.

The October session of the Grand Division of New Jersey Sons of Temperance, at New Brunswick, yesterday. There was a fair attendance of delegates.

The session was presided over by Grand Worthy Patriarch, Fred Poole, of No. 241, of Newark. The other Grand officers present were: Grand Worthy Associate, W. H. Hardy, of No. 170, of this city; Grand Scribe, Rev. A. G. Van Aken, of No. 208, Camden; Grand Treasurer, Jacob H. Hoagland, M. D., of No. 61, of this city; Grand Chaplain, A. T. Sutphen, of No. 317, of Somerville; Grand Conductor, Nellie L. Smith, of No. 4, Trenton.

A number of representatives were admitted and received the Grand Division degree during the day. There are at present 41 Divisions in the State, one having been instituted since the July session.

The reports indicate a slight gain in membership. Some of the divisions have been active, among them Friendship No. 205, of Camden, net gain of 31; Excelsior No. 4, of Trenton, next gain of 14; East Orange No. 184, net gain of 7. Present membership in the State, 1,675. The Grand Worthy Patriarch read his report during the morning.

Van Angles Goes to Prison.

Augustus Van Angles, the North Plainfield colored individual who was convicted of assaulting Marshal Pangborn has been taken to Trenton to serve out his three-year sentence. John McGuire, who was sentenced to two years for breaking and entering was taken yesterday. Randolph is the next man to be transported.

A Senator of Whom the State May be Proud.

The nomination of Foster M. Voorhees for senator by the Republicans of Union is a subject of congratulation through out the State. Mr. Voorhees is as brilliant as he is quickwitted, and will make a senator of whom the County Union but the whole State may be proud.—Trenton State Gazette.

James A. Garfield.

"If the power to do hard work is not talent, it is the best substitute for it." If you are not talented, don't fret, you can obtain power by eating

H-O Hornby's Oatmeal

It is easily assimilated and does not clog the digestive organs. Ask your Grocer for it.

THE H-O COMPANY, NEW YORK.

AT THE HOME OF THEIR PASTOR.

Warrenville Young People Enjoy a Sociable Evening.

The home of their pastor, the Rev. Frederick Dater, the members of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor, recently organized at the Warrenville church, gave the first of their Autumn and Winter series of "home sociables" last night.

It proved a great success. About 25 young men and women assembled, determined to have a good time, and this they certainly had, playing games, singing solos, etc. If ever there was a merry party of young people at Coonlown host on pleasure, you could have seen one last night, playing "Whose nose is that?" and other similar games. About 10 o'clock a lunch was served by the pastor's wife. Refreshed by this the party turned their games, remaining together until the clock on the mantel struck midnight. The voluntary donations will help the society greatly. They expect to have other such sociable. Concert or supper each month, and hope thereby to draw together the young people of the township. Young folks, remember also our Y. P. S. C. E. prayer meetings every Sunday night at seven o'clock.

F. O. P.

- A SAMPLE -

OF SOME OF OUR SPECIALS.

	Regular price, 50c.	Now 39c.
Fancy Silk and Wool Dress Goods	50c.	39c.
Extra quality all wool Cashmere	50c.	39c.
Fancy Novelty Dress Goods	50c.	39c.
Flannel in figure silk, 31 inches wide	50c.	39c.
Changeable Taffeta Silk	75c.	59c.
Changeable Surah Silk	98c.	75c.
Changeable Satin Duchesse	98c.	75c.
Gents' Natural, all wool Shirts and Drawers,	$1.00,	75c.
White Angora Trimming	50c.	39c.
Black Angora Trimming	50c.	39c.
Ladies' all linen, embroidered Handkerchief,	25c.	15c.
Ladies' Hose,	25c.	19c.
Black Kid Gloves,	$1.25,	75c.

Our new Full Muslin Underwear is all made with "lock stitch," extra full and long. We can give better value in these goods than ever before.

We have also added many lines to our stock with such large and desirable lines of goods as now, and the prices never so low. You will have no trouble in getting suited, at the very lowest prices, at

EDSALL'S.

THEY MUST GO!

Closing out Jersey Lasts 11, 12 and 13 Button Boots that we have put on our bargain table and marked down to $2.00 a pair. All small sizes, 2, 2½, 3 and 3½, widths A A A A. If you have a small foot this is a great chance for you.

Doane & Edsall's.

AUCTION SALE AT CAREYS,

2 P. M. Sharp,

Friday, Oct. 27, 1893,

A quantity of Dry Goods, Silks, Velvets, Dress-Goods and Trimmings. Also shoes and underwear and numerous other articles.

SALE ABSOLUTE AND WITHOUT RESERVE.

T. J. CAREY, - Auctioneer.

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE.

Manager of Palmer's Theatre Commits Suicide.

New York, Oct. 26—Frederick A. Lovecraft, manager of Palmer's Theatre and secretary of the Coney Island Jockey Club, committed suicide at 10.45 o'clock this morning, by shooting himself twice in the head with a 38 calibre revolver. He had also, it was said, taken poison before the shooting. The deed was committed at his home, near the theatre.

An ambulance was summoned from the New York Hospital. He was alive, but unconscious when it arrived but was dead when the hospital was reached.

A Lion Loose in New York.

New York, Oct. 26—"Sultan" a biz. lion, who has a record of two human victims during his career at twenty years, escaped while being transferred to a portable cage in a barn on East Eighteenth street this morning, and is still at large in the building.

There were four other lions and a number of wolves and a kangaroo in cages in the building and a horse in a stall.

A keeper, two women and two children were the only persons inside the barn. They managed to escape. The horse, a valuable trotter, has been killed and mangled by the lion.

Middlesex County Republicans.

New Brunswick, Oct. 26—The Middlesex county Republicans to-day nominated Bernard Boddy of South Amboy for sheriff.

A Raid on Tramps.

A raid was made Tuesday evening upon a tramps headquarters in the woods along the railroad near Garwood, but the latest moonlight interfered with the success of the raid, as the tramps took flight and escaped. They had constructed a tent of boughs, which, whenever old Sol showed signs of rain, protected them from the rain. A cast-iron pot had been used by them for cooking, and a big piece of meat with a quantity of bread left behind showed that the tramps were fairly well provided for. Their fire was extinguished the and shelter pulled down.

Madame Iza Lezem's School for Dancing.

Also classes in Physical Culture, Delsarte, Deportment, etc.

Children, Tuesdays, 4.30 to 5 p. m.
Ladies and gents, 8 to 9 p. m.
Ladies and gents, evening classes, Fridays, from 8 to 12.30 in Hulett's Hall.

PRIVATE INSTRUCTIONS.

Receptions, carnivals, tableaux, etc., arranged.

ALL THE LATEST DANCES.

Send for circular. Address, 329 West Front Street.

MANUAL TRAINING.

Under the auspices of the Rose Cross Association, Mr. Olaf Sandstadt, instructor in Sloyd, Cardboard and metalwork and in Tree-band drawing and carpentering.

Private lessons, held in the club rooms, corner North and Park avenues. Terms, 25 cts. per lesson, payable every four weeks, in advance.

HOURS FOR CLASSES.

Girls: Saturday, 2 to 4 p. m. Boys: Under 12 years of age, Saturday, 10 a. m. to 12 noon. Over 12 years, Fridays, 3.30 to 4.30 p. m. Full information may be obtained at the rooms during class-hours.

25-6t

Central Ward Column.

FOR SALE.

50 LOADS fine, leafy manure for sale. Address "C. M.," NEWS office. 30 10 tf

FOR SALE—$6,000—Two dwellings and one building lot. All in North Plainfield. Title perfect. Terms easy. Dwellings both rented. Address "S. D. Jr.," care of EVENING NEWS. tf

FOR SALE—New house, Park place, near Warner avenue. (Washington Park.) Mulford & Sons. 24-tf

PLAYFORD STOVE and a 100 gallon oil tank for sale cheap. Charles Ott. 24-3m

TO LET—Flat or five rooms, 435 West Fifth street. 24-3

SITUATIONS WANTED.

WORK WANTED at anything by a young man. Address, "Michael," corner EVENING NEWS.

WANTED—Rooms and board for three young women. Must be near public school, and with select private family. Address, stating all particulars, "E. W. P.," care of EVENING NEWS. 24-3t

A NEWSPAPER young man, no housekeepers desire employment as correspondent or reporter in the South or West. Is a business man. Address, with full particulars, "M. D. R.," care of EVENING NEWS. 24-3t

A YOUNG GIRL wishes situation at general housework. Address, "M.," care EVENING NEWS. 20-4

A NY PERSONS needing an honest man to care for their furnaces or do general work may inquire of L. W. Randolph, 140 West Front street. 17 tf

A THOROUGHLY competent girl wanted for general housework at 104 Grove street, North Plainfield. 24-3

SITUATION WANTED by a Swedish girl as general housework. Call at Mrs. Bennett's, 128 North avenue, for two days. 24-3t

WANTED—A competent colored girl for general housework. 531 West Front street.

WANTED—Situation by competent girl as general housework. Can do plain cook, washer and ironer. Address, "H.," care of EVENING NEWS. 24-6t

FOR RENT.

A PRIVATE family will rent a nicely furnished room, bath adjoining; closet, etc. Address, "Room," care EVENING NEWS. 24-6t

BOARDERS.—Large pleasant rooms. Good table, with home comforts. 62 Sanford avenue. 24-6t

TO LET—One large bedroom, and the rear of the house, to colored person. 129 North avenue, two flights up. 24-3

TO LET—Seven room house near Front's. Also twelve room house on Front street. Both in good order. Enquire, City Hall. 24-tf

LOST AND FOUND.

STRAYED AWAY—A gray and white kitten. A liberal reward given if returned to 30 Grove street, North Plainfield. 24-3t

FOUND.—An umbrella. Owner may have same by proving property and paying for this advertisement. 24-3t

A Madison Lady Injured at Hopewell.

Mrs. Charles H. Furiss of Jackson avenue last night received word that his wife, who is visiting friends at Hopewell, slipped and seriously injured her spine while hurrying from the house to catch a train.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

Any young man who wishes to study shorthand, apply at the Y. M. C. A. rooms to-night. Any who may wish to join the Y. M. C. A. singing class should apply on or before Friday evening.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Provide Work and Make Them Do It.

Millionaires of course have the right to spend their money as they please and build a $1,500,000 pleasure yacht that they use possibly three weeks out of the year. It is merely a matter of taste. But if some people had a million dollars to spend this is what they would do with it. They would use it to improve the highways of America and force the tramps that disgrace this country to do the work. Legislatures would be complacent and back the man with a million dollars to the extent of a law that would give him necessary authority to make the tramps work.

These idle scamps are a menace to the country. That they exist at all in America, where so much work needs to be done, shows a wicked neglect on the part of our public officials. The number of them increases annually. They swarm upon the seats in the fairest, sweetest public parks, crowding out decent people, terrifying the children and nurse-maids, who have a right there, and leaving their trail of filth and vermin wherever they go. A medical examination has shown that half of them are afflicted with dangerous infectious diseases. They are impudent, lazy and utterly incorrigible. They travel about the country in summer begging and stealing.

Forty years ago in the north and western parts of the republic it was safe for a woman to go anywhere along a country road after nightfall. She might spend the evening at a neighbor's and walk home under the stars with perfect safety. Now it is all changed, owing to the tramp. He insults and terrifies the farm woman till she is even afraid to be alone in her home in daytime. She ought to keep a loaded pistol and practice firing shooting till she can hit a mark unerringly at 10 paces. Then she should keep it loaded, ready to practice on the next fellow who is impudent. It would have a wholesome and purifying effect. Sentimental pity is a sin when bestowed on the American tramp.

American society is not doing its duty so long as it allows this class to even continue, much less increase. They should be forced to work and that regularly, and work should be found for this purpose. They should be paid, too—paid in proportion to the labor they do. When they are able to earn full laborer's wages, it should be paid to them.

A Great Poem.

We have discovered one of the greatest poems written in this century. John Milton never penned anything like it. We should read his verses with much more interest if he had. But he could not do so. This poem is quite beyond him. It not only glows with gorgeous and electric imagination, but it conveys a moral as deep down as the primitive rock of the earth's crust, which few poems do. The poem was first set in type first raw the light in the columns of the Atlanta Constitution. We congratulate the Atlanta Constitution.

The moral of the poem is especially aimed at newspaper writers, but it hits the whole universe as well. Here is the poem. Do not fail to find the moral:

When you've got a thing to say,
Say it. Don't take half a day.
When your tale's got little in it,
Crowd the whole thing in a minute.
Life is short—and getting vaper—
Don't you fill the whole blamed paper
With a tale which a speech
Could be told in half the breath.
Boil her down until she simmers;
Polish her until she glimmers.
When you've got a thing to say,
Say it. Don't take half a day.

The czar would not let the French nation view the imperial family standing for decorations during the visit of his fleet to France. He said no flag should be employed except the blue and white St. Andrew's banner. That was a surly proceeding on the part of the czar to send his fleet on a visit on a friendly mission under such circumstances that the hospitality cost the friendly nation a round sum of money and then order that the imperial flag should not be used in public decorations anywhere. We would not like it if the czar should presume to dictate to us how we should adorn our streets when his fleet visited us. To a plain republican it looks as if this was none of his business. This foolishness about keeping up the pretense that the visit of the Russian fleet to France has no political significance, when every body knows that is just what it has, and that the interpretation is not an agreeable one for Germany or Italy, will be not altogether pleasing to England—a piece of affectation that is wearisome.

The statement made emphatically by authority and afterward denied still more emphatically by authority that the president had said he would listen to no compromise on the repeal bill has a suspicious flavor about it that reminds one of an "authoritative" remark attributed to a senator a few weeks ago to the effect that a vote on repeal in the senate was absolutely certain to come by Wednesday of the next week. The man who made the statement was questioned about his authority and said he got it from a senator who had said he got it from a senator who had said he got it from a senator who had

WENT RUSSIAN MAD.

Ten Thousand Women Asked For Locks of Admiral Avelan's Hair.

LYONS, Oct. 26.—The Russian officers left here for Marseilles at a late hour last night. There was a large crowd at the station to see them off, and the leavetakings were remarkably fervid.

In some instances the Russomanis has reached a wonderful height. While the Russian officers were on their way to Versailles a women who stood on the bridge over the Seine, from which she saw the train containing the Russians passing, with the Russian and French flags suspended from it, shouted, "See the Russians and die!" and then jumped into the river.

She was drowned, but her body was afterward recovered, and it was found on examining her garments that her chemise consisted of a Russian flag, and her petticoat of French and Russian flags sewed together.

Since the arrival of the Russian squadron in French waters Admiral Avelan has received 19,000 letters, of which 10,000 were from women. Most of these communications requested that he should send them a lock of his hair.

These curiosity of presents will be taken back to Russia by the visiting squadron. These offerings are of every description, including diamonds, jewelry, carved specimens of furniture, porcelain, works of marbles and bronzes. The cost of all these gifts is estimated at £100,000.

SUFFERING IN THE STRIP.

Starvation and a Hard Winter Now Confront the Boomers.

ARKANSAS CITY, Kan., Oct. 26.—The first touch of winter now being experienced in the Cherokee strip reveals but faintly the condition that will obtain with the advent of nature. Hundreds of people and dozens of families in the strip are entirely destitute. Up to this time many of them have been satisfied without shelter save the stars, and they have no money to get away or to procure decent shelter for the winter. In the opening rush thousands of persons expended almost their last dollar in the vain hope of recouping their fortunes in a turn of the wheel. The luck has been against many. Hundreds will be in destitute soon.

Without money, homeless and landless, they must do something or starve, and the serious problem of mere existence is worrying many of them to-day. Returning boomers are beating their way back to their former homes as best they can. Kansas City is overrun with them. They are on starvation's verge. Many of them are sick and without means to procure medical attendance.

It is estimated by those familiar with the facts that fully 15,000 persons failed to secure anything in the rush. By far the larger portion of these luckless ones had means to go away and have gone.

HELD CAPTIVE.

Two Men Who Discover a Murderer Made Prisoners For a Day.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 26.—The discovery of the body of a Mrs. Romelee in her house, 2,306 Philadelphia street, has called the entire detective force into action. Her husband shot her some time Tuesday night and has escaped under peculiar circumstances. Nothing was known of the murder until Lieutenant Wolf was told of it by William Kurtz of 2516 North Sixteenth street, and S. B. Hann of Philadelphia and York streets.

They said that Romelee had killed his wife some time during the night.

They had gone to the house and discovered the murder and were about to give the alarm when Romelee prevented them from leaving the house. He threatened to shoot them if they attempted to leave. He held them there all day, when they finally escaped. Romelee got away, and the police are scouring the city for him. The body was found on a bed on the second floor of the house with a bullet hole in the head.

Bogus Silver Dollars Which Pass Readily.

WHEELING, Oct. 26.—It has been discovered that West Virginia towns have been flooded with thousands of counterfeit silver dollars. The bogus money has the true ring, but is a little overweight and perceptibly larger in diameter than the genuine. The people appear perfectly willing to take them.

State Out of the Harbor.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 26.—The insurgent steamers Jupiter and Esperanza attempted to steal past the forts out of the Rio harbor. The Jupiter failed, being discovered by her lights, and powerful searchlights on the Morro de Gloria, but the Esperanza slipped through.

A Defaulting Treasurer Captured.

LITTLE ROCK, Oct. 26.—Dick Tate, the defaulting ex-treasurer of Kentucky, was seen on board a train in charge of two officers en route for Kentucky. Tate was captured 50 miles from Yuma, A. T.—The officers said their capture was worth $5,000 to them.

May Lynch Somebody.

WINFIELD, Kan., Oct. 26.—H. H. Sivard, an old settler, testing as peace officer, was killed while attempting to arrest Morgan Wright, a young tough, and Kid Morton, a joint keeper. Excitement runs high, and a lynching is openly talked of.

A Supervisor Dies In the Street.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 26.—Henry S. Stickney, the Democratic ship worker of the Eighth ward, was seized with a hemorrhage while on Fourth avenue and died before a physician could be summoned.

Shot His Friends and Killed Himself.

BOSTON, Oct. 26.—Louis Worodsky quarreled with two friends in a house they had bought and shot both of them, one fatally. Then he shot himself and fell out of a window, dying in a few minutes.

Coffins Found in the Bushes.

WEYMOUTH, Mass., Oct. 26.—The discovery of a number of caskets and coffins in the bushes skirting a lonely wood road which runs between Scituate and this place has caused a sensation.

A Sexton Blows His Brains Out.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., Oct. 26.—Tryon, sexton of the Baptist church at Kenansville, committed suicide. He placed a loaded pistol to his left temple and fired.

Tissue Paper Market Overstocked.

LUMBERVILLE, N. J., Oct. 26.—Owing to the overstocked condition of the paper market the William Mann company's tissue paper mill has shut down.

An Explosion In a Water Tunnel.

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—An explosion of fire-damp occurred in the Hyde park water tunnel, and a number of the workmen were injured.

Niagara Falls Becomes a Shipping Point.

NIAGARA FALLS, Oct. 26.—The first cargoes of freight by boat have arrived in this city.

WRECKED THE LIMITED.

A Chicago Express Train Struck a Freight Near Trenton.

SEVERAL TRAMPS WERE KILLED.

A Broken Axle on a Freight Car Cause a Smashup on the Pennsylvania Road, Which Might Have Been Another Horror—Engine and Sleepers Detached.

TRENTON, Oct. 26.—The second section of the Chicago limited on the Pennsylvania railroad was wrecked near Lawrence station by running into a derailed freight train. Three unknown tramps who were stealing a ride on the freight train were killed, and another named Edward McGonigle of Pittsburg was badly injured. Daniel Mahoney, the engineer, and Henry Matthews, the fireman of the limited, were badly injured. They stuck to their engine, which was thrown on its side into a ditch, and when picked up they were unconscious.

Ellis Green, a passenger, and J. C. Carter, William Willis, J. C. Gray, porters on three of the coaches which were derailed, were also slightly injured. The wreckage was piled across the four tracks in such a manner as to stop all traffic for several hours, and passengers for New York were transferred by way of Bordentown and Monmouth Junction.

The accident was caused by the axle of one of the freight cars breaking and throwing it across the main track. The limited received a signal to stop, but could not do so in time to avoid the crash.

A later report says that five tramps are believed to have been killed in the wreck. One of the survivors says that there were ten beat to the train, but the cars are so badly piled up that it will take another day to get at the correct number killed. Three of the passenger coaches are in the ditch, and how the passengers escaped is a mystery.

The Limited Could Not Stop.

The limited was so close when the accident occurred that it was impossible to stop her, and in a flash the engine was buried in a mass of tangled freight cars, scattering them in a pile over the four tracks. The shock threw the engine from the track to the ditch, carrying four Pullman cars with it. The engine was turned on one side, but the cars are standing in the mud. The observation car remained on the track.

The west bound trains from New York began piling in on one another very soon afterward, until there was a string of coaches a mile long. The owl train brought up the rear.

All were on track 4, which was piled highest with the wreckage, though farthest away from the collision. Freight cars lined the two intervening tracks for a like distance. The west bound trains were delayed until turned over on the Bordentown and Monmouth Junction line.

No blame is attached to any one because of the accident. Engineer Mahoney says that the freight train, which was close to a turn in the road, was running 20 miles an hour when an axle broke. The rear cars were piled on the limited tracks just as the trains were about to pass.

The collision twisted the freight cars across the track, breaking the limited at a right angle in the ditch.

A man who was at the scene of the wreck half an hour after it occurred said it seemed marvelous to him that many of the passengers were not killed. Doctors were sent to the wreck from New Brunswick and from Trenton. The freight locomotive (No. 1,877) did not leave its track. It was damaged in a collision two miles east of Lawrence a year ago.

Long Island Railroad Officials Censured.

LONG ISLAND CITY, N. Y., Oct. 26.—The Queens county grand jury concluded its investigation into the cause of the Long Island railroad disaster at Berlin village, in which 16 persons lost their lives and more than two score of passengers were injured. The jury failed to indict any one for criminal culpability in the matter, but the Long Island railroad officials were arraigned in the most scathing and bitter manner.

Mr. Adams Backs His Dog For $10,000.

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—The American Field publishes today a challenge from Mr. J. L. Adams of Louisville, in which he backs his winning field trial pointer, Lad of Rush, for $10,000 against Lillian Russell (English setter) and Novalist (English setter).

Rabbi Schindler to Leave His Flock.

BOSTON, Oct. 26.—Rabbi Solomon Schindler is to sever his connection with the Temple Adiaithe Israel next May after 20 years' service. The reason given by the rabbi for this step is the exclusiveness of the Jewish people in this city.

Anarchists on Trial For Murder.

PATERSON, Oct. 26.—August Malson and Noel Breyme, two alleged anarchists, were placed on trial in the county court for the murder of Sophia Reis at Calamity, this county, on the evening before, it is alleged, the anarchists shot and killed her.

He Used a Subtle Poison.

HOBOKEN, N. J., Oct. 26.—Hermann Traute, the druggist who was found dead in his apartments, 604 Hudson street, killed himself, it has been discovered, by taking a very subtle poison.

Stone Makes Another Confession.

WASHINGTON, Ind., Oct. 26.—James Stone has made a second confession, completely exonerating the persons whom he implicated in the first confession in the Wratten murder.

Ambassador Runyon Protested.

BERLIN, Oct. 26.—The Hon. Theodore Runyon, United States ambassador to Germany, presented his credentials as ambassador to the emperor at Wild Park today.

The Nexus Chaplain Dying.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Rev. Dr. Samuel W. Haddaway, chaplain of the house of representatives, is lying at the point of death at his home in this city.

Suicide By Means of a Bicycle.

PARIS, Oct. 26.—Carlo of Cady has arranged on an iron rod between himself, on bicycle, and the bicyclist Meyer at the Levallois trading club.

French Vessel Lowered His Flag.

ROME, Oct. 26.—A stir has been created at Spezia at the action of the French consul in lowering his flag upon the arrival of the British squadron.

Cattle Perished In Prairie Fires.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 26.—Prairie fires near Winnipeg have destroyed considerable property and a good deal of stock.

Vesuvius Spouting Lava Again.

ROME, Oct. 26.—Mount Vesuvius is again in a state of eruption.

EVERY HOUSEKEEPER SHOULD USE Cottolene

The new vegetable shortening.
It meets the most exacting requirements, and is beside entirely free from the objectionable characteristics of lard, long known and long suffered. Now deliverance has come. With Cottolene, good cooking, good food and good health are all assured.
But you must be sure you get COTTOLENE

And refuse All counterfeits

Beware of imitations made to sell on the merits and popularity of COTTOLENE.
Refuse them all, and your grocer will then understand that you know exactly what you want.
This will bring you satisfaction and save you disappointment.

Sold in 3 and 5 pound pails.

Made only by
N. K. FAIRBANK & CO.,
CHICAGO, and
136 N. Delaware Ave., Phila.
Produce Exchange, N. Y.

BEFORE BUYING LAMPS

See the new lamp—
The "Miller,"
(Patented 1893.
It has no equal. It is
The Lamp you Want
Every Lamp Warranted.
We make a full line of
Plain and Beautiful Lamps.
Send for circulars, or call at
10 and 12 College Place, N. Y.
(Near L. Road Stations—4th Ave. Pas. Floor; 8th Ave., Broadway.)
EDWARD MILLER & CO. (Est'd 1849.
Insist on having the "Miller" from your dealer.

SHE HELD THE FORT.

Mrs. Galter Made It Lively For the Officer Who Wanted to Evict Her.

PASSAIC, N. J., Oct. 26.—Constable Kevitt of this city had a lively time in trying to evict Mrs. Hedy Galter of 36 Bank street. When Kevitt went to the house, the woman's husband fled, leaving her to fight it out. When the constable began to remove the stove, he found a blazing fire in it. When he attempted to carry out the bed, Mrs. Galter emptied the contents of a flower pot over him. Richard Ryan, the owner, who was present, also took a hand in the eviction, when Mrs. Galter hit him on the head with a flatiron, knocking him senseless.

Mrs. Galter then undressed herself and got into the bed with her children and claimed that she was too ill to be moved. Kevitt called in a policeman, but he would not interfere. She still holds possession of her apartments.

Lehigh Valley Stock Boomed.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 26.—Excitement was transferred from Reading to Lehigh Valley, and this stock on heavy buying and quick sales advanced from 35½ to 39. The officials of the company deny that there is any cause for strength outside of the stock being worth considerable more than it is quoted. It is, however, learned that while an indirect deal is being formed, there is some sort of an arrangement by which the Lehigh Valley and the Reading companies will be benefited.

Blood Says the Democrats Were Afraid.

BOSTON, Oct. 26.—Congressman Thomas B. Reed of Maine arrived here and in an interview said: "I never had any doubt as to the ultimate passage of repeal, and the delay is due to the half heartedness of a majority of the Democrats who favor it, and who now have not the courage to apply closure to meet the emergency."

Wanted to Die With His Wife.

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 26.—Driven frantic by grief when he discovered the dead body of his wife, Mrs. Josephine, in bed alongside of him, Michael Zarro, an Italian photographer, fired two bullets into his body and is now at St. Michael's hospital. He will probably die.

Engineer De Lisle's Daughter Married.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The wedding of Dr. Walter Sands Mills of Stamford, Conn., and Miss Sylvia Lane de Long, daughter of the late Lieutenant George W. de Long, the arctic explorer, took place at the Church of All Angels on West End avenue.

Left a Baby at the Doctor's.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 26.—An elderly woman went to Dr. S. H. Blodgett's, 39 Main street, Cambridge, left a 3-weeks-old infant on the floor and walked out again. Dr. Blodgett and his wife scent the World's fair.

Railroad Men Considering Extermans.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Oct. 26.—The grievance committees of railroad men, now in session here, has summoned the grand officers of the several orders on the roads east of the Alleghanies to meet here today.

Confederate Monument Unveiling.

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 26.—Today Clarksville is crowded with guests from all part of near by, while the unveiling of the Confederate monument at Greenwood cemetery.

The Cage Dropped Forty Feet.

MONMOUTH, Ills., Oct. 26.—At Martin's coal mine here Jerry Grimes, a miner was probably fatally hurt. The men were in a cage when the rope broke, letting them fall 40 feet.

Yale Defeats Williams Easily.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 26.—Yale easily defeated Williams at football, scoring 62 points to nothing.

Talpeca In a State of Siege.

BUENOS AYRES, Oct. 26.—The volcano Talpeca in Chili is still in a violent state of eruption.

Legal Advertisements.

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY.
To Edward Mott Robbins and Patrick Whalen, Mary Ann Smith, Elizabeth Ann Mathews, Sarah Ann Mathews, Edward and Mary Ann Mathews, Jr., Edward and George W. Mathews, Jr., and Mary Ann Mathews, his wife.
By virtue of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereof, in a cause wherein Mary Ann Mathews and you and others are defendants, you are required to appear and plead, answer or demur to the bill of complaint filed in said cause on or before the second day of October next, or the said bill will be taken pro confesso against you.
The said bill is filed to foreclose a mortgage given by Edward Mathews, Jr., and Mary Ann Mathews, his wife, to John A. Stults, dated March 4, 1882, and recorded in Book of Mortgages of the County of Union and State of New Jersey, in Book A. L. 79, page 1, &c., on both Mary Whalen, Virgil Dunham, Samuel Maitland and John Allen also made defendants, because they claim to own or have some portion of said lands, and you Patrick Whalen and Georgie W. Maitland are made defendants because you each claim or may claim to have an interest in some portion of said lands, as tenant by the entirety jointly; and you Alice Constant, Mary Ann Allen and Mary Ann Dunham because you each claim or may claim to have an absolute right of dower in some portion of said lands.
Dated August 1, 1893.
NELSON BENTON,
Solicitor of Complainant.
Cor. Park place and Somerset street,
Plainfield, N. J.
8 18 5t

CORPORATION NOTICE.
Notice is hereby given that the Common Council will hold the third regular meeting on A. D., 1893, at eight o'clock p. m., and the Council will continue in session from day to day thereafter, as the time and place for the purpose of hearing the petition of Frederick Hallenbeck, William Hallenbeck and Edwin C. Dunham, the commissioners appointed by the Common Council of the City of Plainfield, N. J., on the 4th day of September, A. D., 1893, entitled, "An Ordinance to widen Madison avenue from the southwesterly side line of West Front street to the northeasterly side line of the line of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey," approved June 5, 1893, to which time the said petition has been adjourned, and will be heard at the time and place aforesaid.
Said petition proposed to widen said Madison avenue from the said line of West Front street to the northeasterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, and the maximum width of said avenue by said petition proposed to be made at any point to which reference is hereby made for more detailed description.
By order of the Common Council.
F. W. RUNYON, City Clerk.
Plainfield, N. J., October 16, 1893. 16 17 2w

H. DE MOTT,
Graduate of United States Embalming College
UNDERTAKER : AND : EMBALMER,
Office at residence, 175 Somerset Street.
Plainfield, N. J

VIGOR OF MEN

Easily, Quickly, Permanently Restored.

Weakness, Nervousness, Debility, and all the train of evils from early errors or later excesses, the results of overwork, sickness, worry, etc. Full strength, development and tone given to every organ and portion of the body. Simple, natural methods. Immediate improvement seen. Failure impossible. 2,000 references. Book, explanation and proofs mailed (sealed) free.
ERIE MEDICAL CO., Buffalo, N.Y.

Townsend's Marble Works,

30 Somerset Street.

1893 TAXES!

Notice is hereby given to the taxpayers of the City of Plainfield,
that the taxes assessed in said city for the year 1893 are now due and payable, and that if the said taxes be not paid by the
20th Day of December
next, the names of the defaulters, with their respective taxes, will be returned to the City Judge for the prosecution. The
COMMISSIONERS OF APPEAL
in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council Chamber, on the
Fourth Tuesday in November Next,
(the 28th,) and sit from two o'clock p. m. until five o'clock p. m., or longer, if necessary, for the purpose of cases submitted to them for consideration.
JOHN JOHNSON,
Collector of Taxes.
Dated, Plainfield, N. J., October 2, 1893.
10 2 5t

Sunshine Heaters and Othello Ranges Sell Themselves.

They are good goods.

Heater-Work, Hot Water and Steam-Heating. Hardware and Plumbing.

A. M. GRIFFEN,

12 East Front Street. Telephone.

Van Eps,

THE NEW JEWELER.
12 Park Avenue. Also a large variety of Musical Goods.

U. B. CRANE,

has the largest stock of
Fine Fall HATS,
in Plainfield.
12 WEST FRONT STREET.

TAKE NOTICE.

Charles Arnold,
the butcher,
Is Still in the Race
for cut prices.

Fresh Pork and Sausage 15c. lb.
My own Dressed Jersey Chickens, 18c. lb.
Legs Mutton, 10c. lb.
Lamb, 10c. lb.
My Smoked Meats and all other Meats will be the same old cut prices.

Arnold's : Market,
208 LIBERTY STREET.
GOODS DELIVERED
FREE OF CHARGE.
Strictly Cash.

Are You Insured?

If you are 21 years old $66.80 paid annually for fifteen years would entitle you to $1,000.
If 30 years old, $67.
If 35 years old, $67.10.
If 24 years old, $67.30.

This sum of $1,000 is payable to the insured, if living, at the expiration of fifteen years, or at his death if prior.

FOR A LIFE POLICY, of $1,000 the annual payments to continue during life, the payments for young men between 21 and 24 are between $18.60 and $20.

For catalogues and further particulars address Henry D. Morrison, 11 Somerset street, agent, THE NEW YORK MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

F. M. HULETT,

MUSIC DEALER,
74 West Front Street,
handles the following makes:

Gildermaster & Kroeger,
Kranich & Bach,
Star,
Mulfield,
Jacob Bros. Pianos,
and the world-renowned
Neuman Bros. and Mason & Hamlin Organs.

Builders Cards.

Daniel Hulick,
Carpenter
and
General Jobber.
SHOP
35 Jackson Avenue.
Storm doors and weather strips a specialty.
JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO
Window Screens made to order.

John P. Emmons,
MASON AND BUILDER,
Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place.
Jobbing promptly attended to.
P. O. Box 283.

PIERSON & GAYLE,
Carpenters and Builders.
Shop, No. 16 Vine street. R. D. Gayle, 16 Vine street.
All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM G. SMITH,
PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER,
All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.
Residence—Grandview avenue.
P. O. Box 323.

R. V. SAUNS,
Carpenter & Builder.
Residence—Clinton avenue, near depot, Dunellen.
P. O. Box 1220
Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.

JACOB M. HIGGINS,
PRACTICAL MASON and CONTRACTOR
P. O. Box 251. Residence Du Bois street, near Howard.

JOHN ARBUCKLE,
Practical Plumber and Builder. Best Plumbing Fixtures and Supplies. Hot Water and Steam Heating. Hardware and Plumbing. Telephone No. 4. P. O. Box 1041.

ALFRED E. NELSON,
Civil Engineer and Surveyor, No. 2 Bond Street, Plainfield, N. J. Office at his residence. Also on the United States Coast Survey. All work guaranteed.

- - - FREE - - -

Handsomely decorated Japanese Lamp Vases with every one dollar purchase, to customers calling for it. A reasonable offer returned for the balance of our 1 dollar Vases, and we have some very pretty ones left.

We are constantly receiving new goods, and the hard times have forced prices very down. Remember we also sell Groceries cheaper than our competitors. Lamps are about one-half what they were last year, and ours are handsomer than ever before. See our $1.50 full size Lamp, only $1.25. Our 75c. Lamp chimneys, 50c. Our 50c. Chimneys, 35c. Lamp wicks, all sizes 5c. You can't buy Crockery even in New York, as low as we can sell it. In Toys, Stationery, Notions, Dress Goods, there is no better place to buy in the city than ours. In Tin ware, Graniteware, Enamel Ware, Rubberware, we can undersell them all. We have a full line of all kinds, Whisks, Hair Brooms and Feather Dusters. We have Glassware and a thousand and one articles on hand for customers. Our display of fancy China (tops and Pantry) is well worth your inspection. Remember the name, 208 Liberty street. No one knows the New Royal Tooth Powder—it has grown next to one New York house in ten days—just try it, and you will be convinced. Remember, You are not afraid to ask for the money back if you find it a good thing, are you? We have the "Royal" Cash Saver and the latest Improved Sewing Machine. This machine is almost noiseless, and the work wonderful. We sell the "Standard."

J. C. Allen, 28 West Front St., Plainfield, N. J.

Now is Your Chance.

GRAND CLOTHING OPENING, at our retail store, 216 West Front street. Are you ready? We are prepared to offer the public a clean, fresh stock of Fall and Winter Clothing, for Men, Boys and Children. Remember, we sell at retail at the wholesale price.

C. SCHEPFLIN & CO,
216 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

Boehm's.

$5.00
buys a fine Ladies' Coat, fur edged, made of heavy beaver cloth, with latest style cape. Largest and best assortment of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Cloaks. Jackets, Fur Capes, etc., ever shown in this vicinity. See the Line of Cloths for Ladies' and Children's Coats we are showing.
25c. At this price we are showing a line of Gentlemen's Fine Linen Bosom Bargy, Dress Flannels, Fancies, Checkerboards, Bourette Stripes, etc., ranging in width from 36 to 54 inches. The Largest Line of Ladies' Fine Cloth Gaiter 50c, real value, 75c. MILLINERY. Positively the best variety of trimmed and untrimmed Hats ever seen in this city, and at the lowest possible prices, consistent with first-class work.

Great Bargains

in all grades of
WALL PAPERS,
for the next 60 days.
Marsh, Ayers & Co.,
29 EAST FRONT STREET.

Railroad Time Table.

CENTRAL RAILROAD OF NEW JERSEY
(Anthracite coal used exclusively insuring Uniform Heat.)
Station in New York, foot of Liberty street.
Time table in effect June 25, 1893.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.
Leave Plainfield for New York, 5.30, 6.40, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30 a. m., 12.00, 12.30, 1.00, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30 p. m., 12.00 night.
Leave New York for Plainfield, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30 a. m., 12.00, 12.30, 1.00, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30 p. m., 12.00 night.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.
Leave Plainfield for Newark, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30 a. m., 12.00, 12.30, 1.00, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30 p. m., 12.00 night.
Leave Newark for Plainfield, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30 a. m., 12.00, 12.30, 1.00, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30 p. m., 12.00 night.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.
Leave Plainfield at 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 a. m., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND RARITAN.
Leave Plainfield at 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 a. m., 12.30, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.
Leave Plainfield at 8.30 a. m., 4.30 p. m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.
Leave Plainfield for Bound Brook, Allentown, Bethlehem, Easton, Phillipsburg, Somerville, Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Delaware Water Gap, Scranton, Binghamton, Elmira, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Chicago, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Columbus, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha, Denver, Portland, Tacoma, Seattle, Yosemite, Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Hazleton, etc. Through coaches to Chicago

WOMAN AND HOME.

THE TWO WAYS OF RECEIVING THE UNEXPECTED GUEST.

When Tired and Aching—When Baby Cries. Prominent Women as Housekeepers. Give the Boys a Chance—Cheap Toys Are Best—A Queenly Dissenter.

I have often wondered why so many otherwise sensible women allow themselves to be thrown in a flutter by the arrival of unexpected company. It seems to me that our home is our kingdom, and what soffices us all the time is good enough for the transient stranger within our gates.

Of course we want to treat our guests in the best manner our circumstances will allow, but my best does not consist in greeting them covered with confusion and unable to utter anything but apologies if my dear should chance to be unswept, a little dust on the furniture, or my bairns not just what I would wish. No housekeeper who does her own work has everything from the parlor to garret in company order at all times of the day, and the visitors know this as well as the hostess. Then why not make them feel welcome to the best we can offer under the circumstances and let it suffice.

I have no patience with the woman who shuts company up in the parlor while she retires to the kitchen, and with clouded brow, weary limbs and ruffled temper proceeds to concoct various dainties, which she serves to the hungry guest several hours after the usual time. The flavor of the visit is destroyed, however fine the viands may be.

On one occasion I arrived at the home of an acquaintance, whose circumstances I knew well, in the forenoon. It was early enough to prepare a simple dinner for the usual time. Instead of that a roast was put in the oven, pies and biscuit were baked, vegetables cooked, and about the middle of the afternoon I was invited to the table. I went with aching head and faint with hunger, as I had had an early breakfast. How much more that visit would have been enjoyed if I had been served with the biscuit and a cup of tea at the usual dinner hour! Yet that was all done through a mistaken notion of using me well.

On another occasion myself and two daughters called on friends at the home of an old acquaintance, whom I had not seen for 20 years, and whose wife and family were entire strangers. We received a cordial invitation to stay to dinner, which we accepted in the spirit in which it was given.

The mother never left the room, but calmly continued her sewing, while the daughter, a girl of 17, prepared the dinner, to which she invited us in due time. Everything was in order, but no attempt at display and no apologies, and it gave me a feeling of rest and welcome such as the most accomplished reception would not have done. I considered it a lesson that many housekeepers might profit by.

Much of the pleasure of their friends' society is denied to many, particularly in hot weather, by this mistaken idea that much fancy cooking is necessary in order to appear hospitable. Said a lady visitor to me on a scorching day: "Don't cook any dinner today. I would rather have a cold saleratus biscuit in the shade than cook a day like this," and we had a cold dinner. —Practical Prue in Housekeeper.

When Tired and Aching.

It has been a hard day, and the tired lines in your face show it. The muscles of the face have lost their firmness, and the lines about cheeks and mouth and eyes droop wearily. You look 10 years older than you know you have a right to be. Worse than all, a sharp pain shoots from the left temple over the forehead and down the sides of the face. You know that means a nervous headache and a night of agony unless some thing is done quickly.

Try this: Slip off your bodice and bare your neck. Twist your hair into a loose knot on the top of your head. Then take a sponge and a basin of hot water—just as hot as you can bear it. Pass the hot, wet sponge slowly and steadily over the face and forehead for eight or ten minutes, keeping the sponge as hot as it can be borne. By that time your face will look and feel as if it were parboiled. But do not worry.

Then bathe the back of the neck as you have done the face, carrying the sponge each time well up the back of the head.

Keep this up for some length of time. Then, without looking at yourself in the glass, because that would be sure to displease you—dry your face and neck softly and go and lie down flat on your back. Close your eyes and think just of one thing —how heavy you are or the ease and comfort easily it supports you. That is really an important part of the cure.

Lie there for half an hour, if you don't fall asleep, as you probably will. Then get up and take the deferred look in the glass. That tired look has gone, the muscles have all relaxed, and the wrinkles have disappeared. You look like your younger sister. Best of all, the darting pain in the head and the pessimism of the soul have left you.—Philadelphia Times.

When Baby Cries.

If it be true, as we are assured by the best recognized authorities, that there is nothing in the world without its uses, and that everything must be used if it is expected to develop properly, then the crying of babies strengthens their lungs and makes them grow and thereby fills an important place in infant economy. Experienced physicians say that it does a child no harm to cry a little. Some children cry as naturally as they run and roll and kick around after they have grown older.

A case in point was that of a child about 3 months old, who had a habit of crying in a sort of low, moaning, pathetic fashion that to a stranger seemed most pitiful. Its mother was in a constant state of anxiety about it, was absolutely certain that it was sick and suffering and used to send for the doctor sometimes twice in the day. The visit of a relative who had an extended experience in the care of children resulted in the trial of a little plan that worked admirably. When the moaning began, every one left the room, remaining, of course, within hearing distance. After a few moments the baby began to scream and rage. Its voice most lustily. It was allowed to cry undisturbed for five minutes, when gradually it quieted down and soon dropped off to sleep. Within a week, by a persistent letting alone, the habit was broken up entirely.

A healthy child is constitutionally good natured and needs little more than good food, comfortable clothes and well regulated letting alone, which, however, must be supplemented by a suitable place in which it can roll about and stretch its growing limbs.—New York Ledger.

Prominent Women as Housekeepers.

A popular delusion regarding literary women has always been that they were inevitably poor housekeepers. Yet the late John Greenleaf Whittier insisted upon it that in the Society of Friends the women best known as good public speakers were also noted as remarkably good wives and housekeepers. And he explained his position by the fact that the same qualities of leadership and energy were requisite for both occupations in their best development.

Two young men were once seated in a public hall waiting for the lecturer, Mrs. Mary A. Livermore, to appear upon the platform.

"She is a magnificent speaker," remarked one to the other, "but she can't keep house worth a cent."

Suddenly a hand was laid firmly upon the speaker's shoulder from the rear, and turning around he encountered the gaze of a portly, fine looking man, who said to him:

"Young man, do you know Mrs. Livermore personally?"

"No, sir, I do not."

"Have you had authentic assurance of the fact you stated to your companion?"

"No, sir—at least—that is, they say the lecturing women never have any knack at housekeeping, and I have heard that Mrs. Livermore is no exception to the rule."

"Well, young man, 30 years ago I married that woman, and I can assure you from experience that if possible she is a better housekeeper and a better homemaker than lecturer."—Exchange.

The Room and the House.

The divine law of harmony that permeates all nature is the one fundamental principle upon which it is safe to build, and wherever it is disregarded confusion is sure to result. No one thing should ever be purchased for itself alone. Its relation to the room as a whole, its part in the projected scheme, its suitability to the use required, its adaptability as a finishing point to be studied and considered; and then when such requirements are found and intrinsic beauty is added as an extra charm rather than as an aggressive first thought, success will be attained, and a well nigh perfect selection will be made.—Exchange.

In a Sleeping Car.

Let the fastidious woman that protests that she must take a sponge, flesh brush, a bath rug and glass toilet bottles of perfumery, cosmetics and toilet waters on a railroad journey learn something about the fitness of things. If she has a stateroom and a maid to carry her luggage, it is a different matter, but aside from loading herself with these traps the woman who takes a berth will have absolutely no chance to use them. A sleeping car is hardly the place for a sponge bath, even though the chances for a tidy ablution were better than they are.—New York Journal.

A Drink For the Children.

A correspondent says that German mothers, to whom the drinking of beer is a very expert in making drinks for them and gives the recipe for one of the favorite drinks: Take the leaves of Aart-Flees. Boiled for an hour in two quarts of water. Then 2 quarts of cold water, a pound of sugar, an ounce of lime juice and 2 ounces of cloves, sweet honey are added. When all is cold, the white of an egg is whipped in, and a lemon is squeezed over the honeyade jar.

Fringed Napery.

Very pretty napery is sold which has a fringe for a finish. However much this commends itself to the young housewife, she is recommended by other heads not to be deluded into purchasing it. A plain hem is preferable for the reason that no fringe ever stands constant washing and ironing, and a ragged, tangled edge to table linen is far from desirable.

Give the Boys a Chance.

I think we need to study our children, and however dissimilar they may be to each other it is essential that equality of treatment be had. Give the boys a chance. Let them feel that they have a warm place in your mother heart. Wish to know about their pastimes and companions, when out of your sight and of their little affairs with their companions. Without being censorious, you might often nip in the bud indications of temper and disposition and give them timely counsel. Let them enjoy the refinements of the home that are too often only reserved for girls. In attending to their wants be prompt, thus setting them an example.

Occasionally allow a room entirely at their service for an evening to entertain their companions. A boy likes to show his pictures, his music, etc., to his friends, and they in turn enjoy a little home life not treated nicely by the family. Why should the girls only be allowed these privileges? Thus we gain our sons' confidence and love, enabling us to keep them from the same hatred that we have for all kinds of vicious practices. This bond of sympathy between our natures being strongly established, there is ill in no need of precautions against the cigar habit and saloons and their attendant evils. A son who loves his mother with her manifold virtues will seek by all to make a good husband.—A Mother in Detroit Free Press.

A Queenly Dissenter.

That there are certain drawbacks to comfort in queenly state is proved anew by Queen Margaret of Italy. The Romans are rather exacting in the matter of free royal showing, and it has been unlucky to drive them in the Corso every fine afternoon. The king takes his daily drive by another route in order to scatter the sunshine of royal interest as widely as may be. Sometimes the two meet, and then it is that Queen Margaret has a duty to perform which few and independent American wives wouldn't like.

As her husband passes, she rises in her carriage and salutes him with profound respect, and he responds with equal ceremony. That is a combination of court etiquette and wifely submission which neither of them like very much, so they keep their routes as different as possible in order to save the queen the inconvenience.

It is said that one of Queen Margaret's sources of revenue is the sale of her old gowns and other belongings. She has exquisite taste, and of course cannot "wear one" her clothes to the disgrace of her regal garments to a trusty agent, who, in turn, sells them. Her charities get the money, and rumor has it that Americans get the clothes.—Rome Letter.

Fish on Tea.

It is the suggestion of a writer on hygiene in the larder that it is not a good plan to put fish in direct contact with tea. An examination into several cases of illness resulting from eating fish that contained some poisonous quality has led to the conclusion that it was obtained in this way, the water, "having its particles before freezing, generating a formation of animal alkaloids known as fish poison." As any known source of possible danger is one more ally in the homely fight for the health of her family, it will be well to pass this bit of information on to one's fish dealer, as well as to see that the cook in one's kitchen stows a towel or piece of cheesecloth about the fish before she puts it away.

59c. SALE! 59c.
59c. of 59c
59c KID GLOVES! 59c
59c 4-button length, tan, modes, brown and black, all sizes, 59c
59c 5½ to 7¾ 59c

GEO. L. VAN EMBURGH & SON.
PROMPT STREET, OPPOSITE PARK AVENUE. UNDER THE BANK.

Timely Warning! Winter Approaching!
Keep your Scalp Clean and your Hair Growing.
RANDOLPH'S Quinine and Glycerine
HAIR TONIC!
The Friend in the Hour of Need.
EACH BOTTLE GUARANTEED. Sold only by
L. W. RANDOLPH, Prescription Druggist,
143 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

A GREAT SLAUGHTER!
of
Ladies' Wrappers, for one week, at 75 cents.
at
THE LEADER! M. GOLDMANN, Prop.
210 WEST FRONT STREET. (Old No. 32.)
Two doors from Music Hall.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,
Successors to
The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,
Dealers in
Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials
41 to 49 PARK AVENUE.
Are now prepared with their increased facilities, having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs. A. D. Cook & Bro., to fill all orders promptly and solicit your patronage.

We Can't Make Weather,
But, We Can Make Prices
That Will Make "Biz."
DRESS GOODS STOCK IS HEAVY AND MUST BE SOLD.

	PRICE.	VALUE.
45 inch, all wool Mixtures	39c.,	60c.
38 inch, " " Serges	25c.,	50c.
46 inch, " "	39c.,	75c.
54 inch, " "	50c.,	75c.
Ladies' Cloth	39c.,	75c.
50 inch, " "	50c.,	75c.
HOSIERY.
Child's, full regular, fast black	10c.,	15c.
" " "	15c.,	20c.
" " " wool Hose	25c.,	35c.
Misses', " " "	15c.,	20c.
Ladies' " " "	15c.,	20c.
" " fast black	25c.,	35c.
" " " wool Hose	39c.,	50c.

LADIES' AND MISSES' JACKETS.—We will open to sell you all about styles and prices but its more interesting to come and see them. We know we can suit you.

HOUSE-FURNISHING DEPARTMENT.—Special sale of Granite Iron-ware, for this week. Some prices that you pay for tinware.

UNDERWEAR.—For Ladies, Gentlemen and Children. We have all kinds, white, natural wool and merino. Children's white and natural wool, sizes 16, 18, 20. Ladies white vests and pants 25c. up.—An extra good garment for Ladies is the Norfolk and New Brunswick ribbed vest, seventy-five per cent. wool both white and natural.—Our price, 75c., value, $1.

	VALUE.	PRICE.
Men's colored Shirts and Drawers	50c.,	39c.
" white " "	50c.,	39c.
" natural wool " "	75c.,	50c.
" " " "	90c.,	$1.00.
" " " "	$1.50,	$1.25.

FINE MILLINERY.—It happens every day. Ladies will go to New York to buy their Hats, bring them home and find that they can get them here. Why not come here first? We have a fine line of Trimmed Hats, Bonnets and Ribbons. Try us.

OVERGAITERS FOR LOOKS! For 30c. we fit you with an Overgaiter just as good as you can find for 75c. and for 75c. and $1.00 gaiters are far finer than those sold by the regular shoe dealers. SPECIAL FOR TEN DAYS. Just to introduce this line. Overgaiters will not pass over any shoe that you purchase from $1.25 up. A pair of these elegant Overgaiters at 39c.

WHITE, of Plainfield.

A Stairway Cozy Corner.

Is there a bare space at the head of the first and the bottom of the second flight of stairs which strikes you as unsightly? You may make it a thing of beauty. Across the top of the window which there usually is cut a turning fix a piece of Japanese fretwork. From 3 slender brass rod at the bottom of this let the finest, flimsiest white net curtains fall in straight, unbraped lines, and finish of them fix drapery curtains of dull red denim.

Build a window seat and cushion it in dark red. Have a low platform, about 10 inches high and 4 feet square, made, and on it put as many palms and potted plants as it will hold. This can be rolled in front of the window for the simplest part of the day and then pushed off into a corner, where it will look green and beautiful. A little table, with a big, shaded lamp and a book or a work basket will complete the charm of the stairway cozy corner.

Sprightly Old Women.

The men in Martha's Vineyard lose their lives through the perils of the sea; the women live on. The villages are largely made up of old women. Within a block are two old spright ly young things of 87 and 87. Both do their own work, including washing and ironing, and take their part in attending to the social duties of life. The third, who is over 90 and begins to feel her years, keeps a girl. She has never renounced the vanities of life. Each spring she has her black silk dress made over in the fashion to go pay her taxes in. She only goes out three times a year—once to pay her taxes, once to pay her subscription to the Vineyard newspaper and the third time to lay in her coal and wood. These errands are occasions of importance in her humble and worthy of her best appearance.—New York Evening Sun.

A Cue For Ribbons.

The sofa and chair cushions made of the effective bands of orange ribbon to take up cigars in boxes have been supplemented with equally pretty covers for small tables artfully made, a handsome fringe of the ribbon in shading tones finishing them very beautifully, each strand ending in a tiny silver bell.

In the West Indies the fireflies are very large and are frequently caught and confined in netting for personal ornament. A lady will sometimes appear in a ballroom with red, green, yellow and blue lights on her neck and shoulders, as the tiny illuminations being caused by captured insects.

Two women doctors in Buffalo, Dr. Lillian Randall and Dr. Mary Greene, have founded a hospital for the medical and surgical treatment of women, that they may take a more prominent part by operations than women physicians are allowed to take in hospitals.

The best way to clean the thin iron spiders which have become burned and black is to boil a little vinegar and water in them when they may be easily scrubbed clean with any good kitchen scouring soap.

The women who knows a trick or two in color effects always introduces a bit of scarlet ribbon in her coiffure when she wishes to accentuate the appearance of a tinge of red in her cheeks.

A London advertisement states that "an English marchioness, who mixes in the highest society, advises in all questions of toilet, taste and social magic" for a sound fee.

Cheap Toys Are Best.

Who of us that remembers how the bestloved old every day doll held that first place in our hearts while the best doll, proudly kept for company and company only, was our vanity, but will recognize the deep intuition of M. de Gourmont's assertion that the elegantly dressed doll, in all the perfection and exuberance of the shop, is sure and forever only a fine lady or a peasant, a bride or a baby, while the every day doll is "all that and all the rest," "according to the divine inspiration given to the little child, which suppresses for her pleasure time and space, retaining only the idea, all powerful in the act of metamorphosis!"

To conjecture how much of nursery naughtiness is due to the misapplied talent of parents in the matter of costly and valueless toys would carry us too far. But surely M. de Gourmont is right in asserting that it is not without reason that children revel against that "prison of the fairy" to which, with their dolls and talk of steam engines that puff, parents try to condemn them in their plays as in their duties. Is it the act of metamorphosis?" Should children have a right to conclude that it is because the door to the ideal is still left wide open for them in their plays that they are not so little strangers to the notion of the fact which is more strictly around them in matters of duty and discipline than is common with our own children.—Harper's Bazar.

How to Clean Blankets.

Various methods of cleansing blankets appear in the newspapers with periodical regularity, but the following simple plan has the merit of being probably the least taxing to the physical strength and the most economical of any and at the same time equal to any in efficacy. Pour into the tub half a pint of common household ammonia, laying the blanket lightly over it, and immediately pour in enough water to cover entirely over the blanket. This sends the fumes of the ammonia through the fibers of the wool and loosens the dirt in a way which would require little short of marvelous. The blankets should then be pressed and stirred about with a stick till the water has a hazy appearance. Rinse in clear water when a second tub of clear water of about the same temperature as the first should be used in the same way, after which the blankets should be very lightly wrung by the wringer and hung out to dry.—New York Advertiser.

Authors Who Began Late In Life.

Mrs. Amelia Barr, author of "Jan Vedder's Wife" and other "womanly" stories, was 25 years old when she began to write. Although beyond the age of training one's mind for work, she possessed that strength of will which most writers go through at an earlier age, writing advertisements, descriptions, paragraphs, anything she could get to do—and spending leisurely in the study of literary studying literature and getting material for descriptive and historical stories.

Mary Mapes Dodge was married while her mother of two sons whom she wrote "Hans Brinker and the Silver Skates" and laid the foundation for the fine literary standing and honor she has since enjoyed as writer and editor of St. Nicholas. The old thing about the story of Dutch life, which has been the story of Dutch life, which has been told by Mrs. Dodge had never seen Holland when she wrote it. She had spent much time reading the history of the Dutch republic and thoroughly absorbed the atmosphere of the country of which she wrote. "H. H." was four past 30 before she wrote her novels, and remarks that women have Anthony Trollope's mother was 50 before she knew she would write a line.—New York Sun.

Tired from Head to Foot.

FROM HEAD TO FOOT.

That's what's the matter with the most of us. What's the reason? Poor circulation of the blood. The cause? The neglect of the first symptoms of constipation. Take Ayer's Pills and prevent serious results. Ayer's Pills are sugar-coated, unequaled, laxative, tonic, alterative, and purgative. Ask your druggist for Ayer's Pills. They are the best. Cost you only a trifle. Do their work well. Are always reliable. Are the favorite family medicine. Get up good circulation, healthy action, perfect digestion, and you will feel like a new man. One dose takes off that tired feeling. Only 25c. a box. Put up in vials, 50c. and $1. All druggists and all parts of the world. Ayer's Pills.

LYONS & SINGLER,
216 Sanford avenue,
Newark City, N. J.

Neuman Brothers,
THE POPULAR GROCERS,
have a full line of selected
Groceries, Fruit and Vegetables.
Choicest varieties of Coffees and Teas, quality unexcelled. A fine display of choicest Apples daily. A new stock of Canned Vegetables and Fruits.
NEUMAN BROS.,
WATCHUNG AVENUE and FIFTH STREET.

Horses and Carriages,
of all kinds, for hire, at
O'BRIEN'S,
115 WEST FOURTH STREET,
or at the depot.

Joseph T. Vail,
REAL ESTATE
and
INSURANCE.
TRADE IN BLUE STORE FLAG! 4 & 6 North Avenue.

The Fall and Winter Styles in Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing are now in Stock. Overcoats of all Weights. Trousers Made to Order from $4 to $8. Suits from $15 to $30. Hats and General Furnishings. WERNER'S MAMMOTH CLOTHING HOUSE, 206 West Front Street.

R. W. Rice & Co.,
THE PARK GROCERS.
Corner Duer and Emily Streets,
NORTH PLAINFIELD.

This Date In History—Oct. 26.

1777—Date of Walter de Merton's will, which founded the first foundation of the famous Merton college at Oxford.
1805—Alexandre, Mademoiselle historian, died in Syria.
1806—Samuel Puffendorf, eminent German writer on International law, died at Berlin.
1750—Sir Godfrey Kneller, who painted the portraits of all the monarchs and noted ladies of the court from Charles II to George I, died; born 1646.
1787—Charles Francois Dupleix, astronomer, born; died in Paris April 16, 1809.
1752—Dr. Philip Doddridge, eminent divine and nonconformist, died at Lisbon.
1826—Samuel Rogers, the famous French revolutionist, was born at Arcis-sur-Aube; guillotined at Paris April 5, 1794.
1826—Adelaide Phillipps, celebrated singer, born at Stratford-upon-Avon; died 1882.
1871—Thomas Ewing, ex-United States senator, died at Lancaster, October 26, 1796.
1888—Zerne King, noted bridge builder, died at Cleveland.

The record of the greatest attendance at the Paris exposition will be broken more than once at our fair. The largest number of admissions at Paris in 1889 was 397,130, and that up to date was the greatest crowd ever visiting an exposition in one day.

Franklin seems to have been an optimist of all modern inventors. It is now proved that he wrote and labored a century ago for smoke consumption. He actually advocated the down draft system, which has only been applied in the past fifteen years.

Rev. D. L. Moody is wanted to do evangelization work in London, but he will probably stay in Chicago, where there is also enough to keep him busy.

General Butler used to say he wanted it inscribed upon his tombstone at Lowell, Mass., that he never commanded the Army of the Potomac.

When a Democrat joins the Populist party, they call him a Demopop. When a Republican turns Populist, they call him a Popican.

1893			OCTOBER.			1893
Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fr.	Sa.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
15	16	17	18	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26	27	28
29	30	31

MOON'S PHASES.

First Quarter	2	10:12 a. m.	Full	17	1:32 a. m.
New	9	9:54 p. m.	Last Quarter	25	1:56 p. m.
Third Quarter	31	9:42 p. m.

Tickets
For, or from Europe,
On
All Lines,
And all Steamers.
Drafts
Sold also.
H. D. MORRISON,
Agent,
Somerset Street.

Metropolitan Livery
and
Boarding Stables!
Coaches, Close Carriages, Park Phaetons, Surreys, Buggies, Pony Phaetons and Saddle Horses.
Special care given boarding horses. Stalls for furniture and carriages.
140 AND 142 NORTH AVENUE.
Opposite depot. Telephone Call, 44.
H. R. RIDER, Proprietor. FRANK DAY, Manager.

THE TIME TO EAT!
MEAT! is at most times, of course, and the place to get good meat, all varieties, corned, prime ribs, greens, etc., is at
R. J. CONNOLLY,
No. 221 Broadway.
SMOKED MEATS AND VEGETABLES always on hand.

Hotels.
CENTRAL HOTEL,
No. 11 E. Front St.,
PLAINFIELD.
Windham & Crowley,
PROPRIETORS.
First-class bar attached.

Fourth Ward Hotel.
JOHN GOFF, Proprietor.
Boarders accommodated, both transient and permanent.
LARGE ROOMS
and
ALL MODERN IMPROVEMENTS.
Fine Wines, Liquors
and CIGARS.
Corner Third and Liberty Streets.

Hotel Grenada,
NORTH AVENUE,
now open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been entirely renovated and refurnished throughout and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the travelling public.

City Hotel,
Corner
PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.
Transient guests accommodated.

Eugene Hoerster,
206 Grove Street,
North Plainfield.
Wholesale Dealer
in
FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.
Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$5 per Year in Advance. — 1c Copies per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. — PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," FRIDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1893. — PRICE TWO CENTS.

Republican Nominations.

UNION COUNTY.

For Senator,
FOSTER M. VOORHEES,
of Elizabeth.

For Sheriff,
GEORGE KEYES,
of Fanwood.

For Coroner,
DR. CHARLES B. HOLMES,
of Rahway.

For Member of Assembly from Third Assembly District,
CHARLES N. CONNELL,
of Westfield.

SOMERSET COUNTY.

For Senator,
LEWIS A. THOMPSON,
of Bridgewater.

For Assembly,
FRANK W. SOMERS,
of Franklin.

For Coroner,
DR. FRED C. JONES,
of Bernards.

BREVITIES.

—The case of Miller vs. Allen, on contract, was postponed to-day by Justice Mosher to Tuesday.

—The Ladies' Aid Society of the Monroe avenue chapel are arranging for a sociable for the children.

—The Sunday school Board of the M. E. church will meet in the chapel this evening at eight o'clock.

—The Journal Bowling League will hold an important meeting on Saturday night at Elizabeth. A full attendance is desired.

—Next Tuesday will be the last chance to register. It is the duty of every voter to see that his name is properly registered.

—Last night was ladies' night at the Catholic Young Men's Lyceum. A number of the fair sex took advantage of the opportunity to try their skill at bowling.

—To-night the General Committee appointed by the Knights of Pythias in reference to the building of a Pythian home, will meet in Perseverance Lodge room in this city.

—C. W. Crouch has been secured by the Y. M. C. A. to sing a tenor solo at their meeting next Sunday at 4.15 p.m. The male choir is now an interesting feature of these meetings.

—"The Ancient Religion of Persia: its relation to Christianity and Judaism." This will be the theme to-morrow (Saturday) morning at the usual hour being preached in the Seventh Day Baptist church by the eloquent and learned pastor, Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis.

—Staff Captain Watkins of the Salvation Army, who will be one of the speakers at the First Regular Army Sunday Monday evening, is in charge of the Bowery Corps, which holds it meetings in "Pete" Brisbane's old place on the Bowery. Capt. Watkins' address of the speakers will appear in stub dress.

STILL NO INDICTMENT.

The Union County Grand Jury Discharged Without Action.

To-day the Union County Grand Jury again failed to find any indictments against the Lyon Republican. It will be remembered that Mr. Van Syckel on Tuesday last sent the Jurors back because they found only a presentment against the above committee. As the Jury filed into the court room Chief Judge Judge Van Syckel asked the Foreman Martine if they had found an indictment. On receiving an answer in the negative the Judge said: "I discharge you at your own request."

Y. P. S. C. E. Fifth Anniversary.

The Y. P. S. C. E. of the Dunellen Presbyterian church celebrated its fifth anniversary last night. A large load of Plainfielders were present. The exercises consisted of a song service, led by the Rev. Mr. Martine, Scripture reading and prayer, five minute reports from denominational secretary, report of Montreal delegate, address by the Rev. Mr. Cadwell of Westfield, closing hymn and benediction.

Miss Boice, the new president, was introduced by Benjamin Carpenter, the retiring officer, and made a few appropriate remarks.

Miss Maggie Swackhamer was the organist.

Mr. Boss will Address Them.

A meeting of the Somerset Teachers Association will be held in the Somerville school building on Saturday, December 9. An address will be given by Principal Charles E. Boss, of North Plainfield, on "Gleanings from Lots." There will be a Question Box to which all teachers are requested to contribute and all those who have visited the World's Fair are requested to report what they think would be of interest to the teachers.

BOARD OF TRADE.

AFFAIRS FOR THE WELFARE OF THE CITY DISCUSSED.

The Committees Appointed.—The Sewerage Question Discussed and Left with the Committee on Sanitation to Call a Public Meeting.

The Board of Trade held a very enthusiastic and well attended meeting last night. The matter of extending the sewer system to the southern part of the city was thoroughly discussed and finally referred to the Committee on Transportation, Railroad, Telephones and Telegraph.

Another very important matter brought up was the matter of sewerage. It was referred to the Committee on Sanitation, who were authorized to call a public meeting and such other steps as may to be necessary and spoke.

It was decided to have a reading room in the Board of Trade building, where all the local and other papers are to be kept on file.

The matter of holding an annual banquet was left to a committee.

The following committees were appointed:

Municipal Improvements—E. K. Pope, Chairman, Charles J. Fisk and Robert A. Meeker.

Transportation, Railroads, Telephones and Telegraphs—John Ulrich, Chairman, Rev. Alexander Gilbert and A. D. Thompson.

Streets, Roads and Bridges—J. F. Hubbard, Chairman, and P. A. Dunham and J. P. Ramsom.

Sanitation—D. C. Adams, Chairman, L. B. Woodruff and J. T. Vail.

Education and Library—E. E. Ackerman, Chairman, F. W. Hoover and J. M. Howarth.

New Manufactures—J. F. MacDonald, Chairman, George Kyle and J. P. Leitz.

Legislation—J. P. Coward, Chairman, John Ulrich and J. F. Hubbard.

Commerce and Rural Industries—C. M. Ulrich, Chairman, J. A. Smith and W. A. Woodruff.

Advertising and Publication—W. B. Codington, Chairman, J. B. Coward and George Griffen.

Statistics and Publication—F. H. Martin, Chairman, W. F. Arnold and E. J. Shaw.

A PLEASANT CARD PARTY.

At the Home of Mrs. J. A. Raymond Last Night.

A very pleasant card party was held last evening at the residence of Mr. J. A. Raymond, on Kensington avenue.

Among those present were a number from New York and Brooklyn, friends of Miss Lottie Raymond. There were also present Mr. Irving Stelle of South Plainfield, Mr. Henry A. Bogeslin of Netherwood, Mr. Alfred Coles, Mr. Fred W. Evans of Brooklyn; Miss Louise E. Bogeslin of Netherwood, Miss Ida Coles and Miss Beatie Bilger of Brooklyn.

Miss Hough, Cable and Mr. Evans furnished some entertaining music. Mr. Coles showing his talent as a violinist and Mr. Bogeslin rendered several excellent selections on the piano.

Mrs. Raymond's ability as a hostess was unbounded as usual. The evening concluded with an elaborate supper furnished by Marcel of New York.

SOFT-SOAPED THE LIVERYMEN.

Two "Sun" Soap Agents Leave Trade Here and Disappear.

Yesterday two young men, said to be around Plainfield giving out samples of "Sun" soap, about four o'clock they sampled their horse at Hadden's livery stable, on East Fourth street.

At about nine o'clock Chief of Police Graham received a telegram from the Sheriff, Taylor and Rankin, Perth Amboy, New Brunswick, asking for information regarding a horse and buggy load of their place by two soap agents.

Chief Press Mount the horse of the livery man, and by the aid of a colt phoned to the owners of the rig that he had found it. The owners then came to Plainfield and returned home with their property.

The young men have not been heard from since.

The Coming State Baptist Convention.

The sixty-fourth New Jersey State Baptist Convention will be held in New Brunswick on Tuesday, October 31, and November 1. On the afternoon of the 31st the will be celebrated the sixty-fourth anniversary of the New Jersey State Baptist Educational Society. It is estimated that over 200 delegates, representing 204 congregations, will attend the convention.

Advertised Letters.

Remaining in the Plainfield post office for the week ending Oct. 28:

Anderson, Agnes (2)	Hardin, E W
Anderson, A D E	Haines, Mrs Mary
Armstrong, W T	Knights, Mrs Emma
Ashbrook, F B	Lowe, Harry
Brown, Mrs C M	Mason, W A
Bonnell, Eleanor	Mowbray, Maggie
Brown, Geo H	Nesbit, W H
Bailey, Mrs J M	Phillips, Mary
Barker, Willie	Runyon, David
Colman, Wm	Robinson, Miss M
Cline, Mrs Herbert	Smith, J
Edwards, Rev E	Smith, C T
Fearrell, Miss Mary	Salvery, J S
Franks, S M	Thomas, Edw'd
Grindler, Mrs F S	Van Pelt, Isaac
Grave, Morris	Washington, Sis A'
Hiller, John	Wheeler, L C

Persons calling for the above please say "advertised."

R. R. POST, P. M.

NUPTIALS.

Smith—Wyckoff.

The marriage of Mr. Clarence Smith of Red Bank to Miss Louise Wyckoff of this city took place last evening at the home of the bride's parents. The Rev. Cornelius Brinkerhoff, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Davis, officiated in the presence of a large number of invited guests.

The ushers were Messrs. Frank Wyckoff and Rogers Garber.

The house was beautifully decorated with flowers and autumn leaves.

Miller—Dee.

Mr. William Miller of Somerville and Miss Kate Dee were married at four o'clock yesterday afternoon at St. Mary's Catholic church, on Liberty street. The ceremony was performed by Father Hughes.

Miss Julia Dee was bridesmaid, and Mr Frank McManus of Jersey City best man.

The bride and bridesmaid each wore a dress of brown cloth, trimmed with velvet. Each carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

A reception was held last evening at the house. At 8.20 the bridal couple left for Washington, D. C., on their honeymoon trip. They will reside at Somerville.

G. A. R. MEN GO TO RAHWAY.

Department Commander Hartshorn Present.

Nine Redpers of Winfield Scott Post No. 19, G. A. R., went to Rahway by special last night and spent a most enjoyable evening as guests of Barry Post of that place. The Department Commander and his staff were present. As soon as they arrived they sat down to a collation. Covers were laid for 250. Next speeches were made by Department Commander H. L. Hartshorn and several other comrades. Patriotic songs were also part of the evening's entertainment.

Those who went from Commander M. G. Dobbins, Capt. William Hand, Sumner Terry, W. B. Moore, Joseph M. Bogert, Henry C. Drake, W. R. Mattox, Charles Westphal and C. C. Kirkham of New Haven, Conn.

His Pattee all Roosters.

Oh some time Policeman Coren has been trying to secure a certain breed of fowl. The other day Mr. Samuel Bon of Front street was going to the country and Mr. Coren asked him if he would send about twenty-five fowls to him. Mr. Bon said he would. Mr. Coren said he wouldn't care if there were two roosters among them. Yesterday the police officer received twenty-five fowls, but he is looking for Mr. Bon now. Among the fowls received were eighteen roosters and seven hens.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Poole is at the World's Fair.

Mrs. L. W. Reed of West Front street is at the World's Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. David Richards, of Fisher, of the West, are visiting in Plainfield.

A daughter of Mr. Charles M. Ulrich entertained a number of her friends last night.

Mrs. William Beckman of Newark is visiting the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Foster, of Somerset street.

Miss Carrie Rasse of Newark is spending a week with her aunt, Mrs. E. A. Leland, of Grandview avenue.

Mr. Leland of Grandview avenue and Mr. E. E. Adams of Orange street, have just returned from the World's Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bruckner of Raritan have returned home after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Sherwood of Arlington avenue.

A party of young ladies, consisting of the Misses of Central avenue, Miss Maud Dalton of Second street, Miss Carrie Eliot, of East Fifth street, and Miss Bennett are at Washington, D. C., on their way home from the World's Fair.

The Rev. C. R. Mitchell, D. D., formerly of Plainfield, now of Kansas City, Mo., is one of the official visitors to the World's Fair Exposition. Other parishioners of Dr. Mitchell's, now at the Fair, are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hall, of Grandview avenue, and Mrs. Bennett, of Washington, D. C.

Resolutions of Condolence.

At a regular encampment of Winfield Scott Post, held October 25th, the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, It has pleased our Heavenly Father to call from our midst our Comrade Wm. H. Sutphen, be it

Resolved, That in the death of Comrade Sutphen, Winfield Scott Post, No. 19, has lost a worthy member, one who was ever ready to respond to the call of duty, a true patriot and a sincere friend; be it

Resolved, That we tender to the family of our deceased comrade our heartfelt sympathy in their sad bereavement, and commend them to Him who doeth all things well.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of our deceased comrade, and that they be published in the Plainfield papers, and that they be spread upon the minutes of our regular meeting.

Resolved, That as a mark of respect to our deceased comrade our charter be draped in mourning for the space of thirty days.

J. L. MOTT,
J. T. SMITH,
I. L. MOTT,
Committee.

The Weather.

The weather bureau's official prediction for to-day and to-morrow, generally probably fair; colder; probably preceded by rain; fresh to brisk northwest winds.

A Happy Mother.

I am most happy to testify to the benefit I received from Electric Bitters. My mother was entirely cured of a severe case of kidney trouble by their use, and gives them the credit of saving her life. Sold at 50c. per bottle by Dr. Geo. Cox.

THE GAMBLING EVIL.

AN APPEAL TO THE PEOPLE ON THIS QUESTION.

The Gambler in Politics and the Race Track Gambler—Two Pests Has Come for the Seeming To-gether Against This Evil.

I HAVE received the following letter from a people based by the following are: Steven Everard Leupold, Noah Davis, J. Rosencrantz, H. V. Poor, Justice, J. H. Keeler, John V. Foster, John L. Sandder, and La Rue A. Hayward, which we publish in part:

"Dear Sir: I think the time has come when the friends of law, order and public morality throughout the United States should unite in a movement to put down gambling in politics and in the sports of the people. Now is the time to organize and have the matter fully ventilated before the people at the coming election. It has been steadily increasing in this country in recent years, and that it has reached a point where it is a menace to good citizenship to those who have not learned to regard the subject. It has corrupted politics in many States, and in some cities it has become the controlling factor in municipal affairs. It has destroyed the peace of home and driven it to open interest behind the backdoors to indulge in their vices. It has filled our prisons, and the public authorities of many cities to adopt a policy of inaction with regard to it, because of the political influence with and manipulations by the gamblers. It has been responsible for more crimes of violence and bloodshed than any other cause. It has corrupted the moral condition of our entire people, and is undermining the foundations of our free institutions. The gambling passion has become rife in the land, and is leading to ruin and misery thousands of young men in every community. It has become a recognized factor in the business affairs of many of our large cities. It has become a recognized factor in the business affairs of many of our large cities. It has become a recognized factor in the business affairs of many of our large cities

EDITORIAL NOTES

Blue Blood.

The late Marshal MacMahon was one of the grand figures on the stage of French republicanism in the last quarter of a century. He had a mind at once polished and executive, a temper at once firm and sweet. Called from the office of commander in chief of the army to fill the chair of president of France in the most perilous days of the republic's existence, in May, 1873, he refrained from a temptation before which even Napoleon fell, the temptation to make himself dictator. No purer patriot, scarcely an abler man, conservative though he was, has the third French republic numbered among its citizens. He lived to the good old age of 85, long enough to see the republic firmly established and respected among all nations.

All through his career MacMahon showed evidence of both the high sense of honor and the staying qualities that are the infallible evidences of blue blood. The genuinely high born individual is the one whom no disaster can down, no indignities bribe from his purpose. He stands like a rock. Marshal MacMahon's ancestry includes, during the two centuries through which it can be traced back, Baron Sully, Marquis de Viange, Comte de Charney, and the noble lady, Charlotte le Belin d'Eguilly. But the finest blood of all comes from the couple who were the founders of the family in Ireland, John MacMahon, a serpent in the noble house of the Stuarts, and Mary Clarke, waiting maid to Lord Tyrconnel. Marshal MacMahon was quite un-French in one respect. He was almost painfully modest. He could not have inherited this bashfulness from his French ancestors. It must have come from his Irish blood.

Yacht Building.

"A yacht," says an expert, "is a seagoing vessel designed and used for recreation as distinguished from commerce." Nevertheless the exact copy of the seagoing yacht can be copied and used for recreation as well upon our large lakes and rivers, and therein lies the general interest in the subject that has been excited by the great international race. Every time such a race comes off it is supposed in advance to be a settler for the question whether the cutter or centerboard model is the better. For 42 years the Briton has been declaring that the cutter pattern could outsail the centerboard pattern, and every time he has tried to prove it he has been defeated. Anybody but a Briton would have given up long ago, but it is almost certain that next year the annual race between the Yankee centerboarder and the John Bull deep keel will be run once more.

What is the difference in the two models? The cutter, or British yacht, has a deep, sharp, narrow hull that extends far down into the water. The centerboarder, on the contrary, has a shallow hull that rides more on top of the water. But in a slit or case in the center of it an oval shaped board, which may be let down into the water to steady the boat when sailing against the wind and drawn up so as not to retard her when she is skimming over the water with the wind. Thus the American model can be a cutter or shallow keel at need. The facts in regard to yacht building and racing seem to be as follows: The Americans can build the fastest yachts, but the Britons can furnish the best sailors to man them.

The old countries of Europe that do not know what they have been missing all these thousands of years are about to be enlightened as to the use of cranberries. When we think that the benighted Europeans never have known what it is to eat roast turkey with cranberry sauce, we feel a thrill of the glory and privilege of republicanism among them. Now, however, this is to be changed. Professor A. J. Rider of Trenton, secretary of the American Cranberry Growers' association, has gone to England to introduce the beautiful red fruit there and to find a foreign outlet for the products of our cranberry bogs.

One curious effect of the hard times has been to diminish the revenues of the postoffice department so much that a deficit of $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 is looked for. The usual amount that Uncle Sam is out through his mail service is something like $4,000,000. Hundreds of houses have failed or gone out of business, and that stopped thousands of letters. It is not likely that private individuals have left off their letter writing sufficiently to cause a drop of millions in the postoffice revenues.

The McCreary amendment to the Chinese exclusion act changes the original bill so as to allow people with negro blood in them to be competent witnesses to a Chinaman's certificate and extends the time allowed for registration six months. If the senate finishes the silver question in six months so that it can pass its end of the amendment, then the Chinese may get the benefit of it after all.

A Vermont farmer writes thus pessimistically to an agricultural paper: "The question is asked, 'Why does the New England farmer stick to his rocky farm?' I want to know what else can earth he can do?"

Of the virtues, one of the greatest is sincerity.

SPEECHES WILL BE CUT.

Shortening Up the Debate on the Repeal Bill.

EXPECT TO BEGIN VOTING TODAY.

That Is the Programme That the Repeal Managers Have Arranged—Silver Preparing to Begin the Carnage of the Neighborhood—An Appeal From Negroes.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The programme of the managers of the repeal bill in the senate is to get to voting some time during today on the amendments to the bill, following up the arrangements for Saturday at 2 o'clock and the bill on Monday. This schedule is of course subject to change if it is seen necessary. It was arranged that Senator Stewart would conclude his speech last night. That he did not do, and if he should wish to conclude today it is possible that it will become necessary to change the plans so as to defer the vote upon the amendments until Saturday.

Senator Jones will require only a short time to conclude, and Senator Allen will not speak at great length. Senator Walcott will make a 15 minute speech, and Senator Gorman may also make a brief statement. There may possibly be a few other short speeches before the close of the debate. Senator Faulkner, after again calling for the yeas, thought it would be possible, if Mr. Stewart did not end his remarks for the present session, at this time, to begin the voting by 1 or 2 o'clock today.

A Democratic Appeal.

The opinion prevails in the senate that the house will pass the bill when it is sent over with very little delay, and that it will be signed by the president within a few days after the adjournment of the senate next week. Whether there shall then be a session or an adjournment will depend upon the committee survey and means. If the Democratic members of that committee are of the opinion that the tariff bill will be in such a condition for consideration before the beginning of the regular session, a recess is more probable than an adjournment. Otherwise an adjournment is the plan now in view.

There was a well defined report in circulation about the capitol that there had been an effort made to have the Democratic managers in the senate postpone voting upon the bill until after the Virginia election.

The theory for this was that the passage of the bill at this time would have the effect of injuring the chances of the Democratic party in that state. It appears that the Virginia Populists have made their fight in this campaign almost entirely upon the silver issue and have made such headway as to render the Democratic managers somewhat anxious.

The suggestion appears to have received some consideration, but when it was represented upon the other hand that the immediate passage of the bill would have a good effect in Massachusetts and New York it was thought best to let the bill take its course. Under the circumstances, with the bill in its present shape, it would be almost impossible to check progress, and especially would it be difficult for the repeal managers to accomplish that result if so disposed.

A Coinage Amendment.

Senator Power has spent considerable time in gathering facts concerning the silver bullion in the treasury with a view to getting support for an amendment to the repeal bill providing for the coinage of this bullion, which will be offered by himself or some other silver senator. He finds that there is sufficient of the bullion stored to make $184,000,000 if coined, and he thinks there should be but little objection to its being coined, especially in view of the fact that the seigniorage of this silver—about $74,000,000—will furnish the money necessary to supply the threatened deficit in the treasury.

He has been canvassing the proposition somewhat among senators and finds that it meets with favor generally among silver men. There is a feeling, however, among the silver Democrats that the bill should not be amended in any way at their instance, so that the administration may have all the praise and all the blame for it when it shall have become a law.

Mr. Tracey of New York has made a list of the members in the city and compared with their votes on the Wilson bill by Gorman. He says that in a vote to send the repeal bill to a committee there would be 31 majority against, while the majority in favor of consigning it to the dust heap would be 39. Mr. Tracey thinks that even after the previous question is ordered on concurring amongst the yeas will be found those who will be allowed. Repeal members who have been out of town are already returning, and many are expected now that a vote is liable to come.

The Senate in session at 10:30 a. m. 2:30 p. m., when a recess was taken. Senator Stewart not having finished his speech. At 8 o'clock the senate adjourned over to today.

Negroes Ask Protection From Mobs.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—A committee of colored citizens of Washington, D. C., has been appointed to call upon President Cleveland and ask him to recommend to congress legislation looking to the protection of negroes in the southern states. The committee has been appointed as a result of the recent lynching of negroes in Georgia. The movement is confined to the colored people of the district of Columbia, and the states are powerless to control them, the national government having jurisdiction, and asks of the general government, in case of its failure, to protect the negro in the enjoyment of every right, to appropriate money for the colonization of the colored negro race in some place to be hereafter selected.

The Russian Affair.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Senhor de Mendonca, the Brazilian minister, speaking about the conduct of Rear Admiral Benham in saluting Admiral Mello, the leader of the insurgent fleet, said: "The Brazilian government has not yet received a word from any action in regard to this matter. The action of the United States government in removing Admiral Benham has been considered entirely unofficially."

Quieting Down in the Silver Debate.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Although a motion to resume the calling of silver states from the bullion purchase act was lost by a majority of two, there is no doubt that the "silver" of the Democratic party will have given directions to the most efficient at Philadelphia and San Francisco to be in readiness to vote for Mr. Cleveland, and those may get the benefit of it after all.

A Week and Drafted.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—It is understood that Secretary Gresham has decided that it is not in the power of President Cleveland and Secretary Carlisle for their approval.

The Choice of Directors.

HAMBURG, Oct. 27.—The United States Shipping Company has arrived here.

GOUNOD'S FUNERAL.

Impressive Ceremonies Attending the Interment.

PARIS, Oct. 27.—The church that visited the funeral services of Charles Gounod was crowded to the doors. The altar was a mass of flowers. Among the distinguished men present were Count de Paris and Count de Chambord. Seats in the middle aisle of the church were reserved for the members of the French academy. Among the members present were Ambroise Thomas, Jules Simon, Camille Doucet, Victorien Sardou, Henri Meilhac, Ludovic Halevy, Jules Claretie, Francois Coppee, Jules Lemaitre, Emile Augier, Edmond About, Pierre Loti, Alexandre Dumas, Jules Breton, Gerome, Bonnat, Benjamin Constant, Guillaume, Dubois, Paladilhe, Massenet, Delibes, Saint-Saens, Theuriet, Jean Aicard, Jean Richepin, Coquelin, Mounet-Sully, Silvain, Worms, Got, Delaunay, Paul Deroulede, Paul Bourget, Rene Bazin, Pierre de Coubertin, Henri Lavedan, Henri Houssaye, Gaston Boissier, Gaston Paris, Rousse, Lavisse, Lenepveu, Reyer, Ernest Hebert, Duruy, Lenormant, Rambaud, Wallon, Perrot, Bouguereau, Cabanel, Meissonier, Puvis de Chavannes, Jean Paul Laurens

EATEN BY WILD DOGS.

Little Johnnie Stone's Fearful Fate on an Island Off the Maine Coast.

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 27.—John Stone, the 18-year-old boy who left for Little Green Island, where his father owned land, on Saturday last, is still missing. There is now but little doubt that the boy was devoured by the wild dogs with which the place is infested. It is not generally known, but more than one island along the Maine coast is inhabited by those dangerous beasts.

Little Green island is populated with half starved, savage dogs. They are a cross between the St. Bernard and mastiff and are monsters, large and gaunt, and at this time of the year they are half starved.

The weather has been such that it has been impossible to land on the beach, but on Wednesday last Captain Stone put out with a tug. He could not land, but sounded the whistle. The response was a blood chilling howl, apparently from a score of wolves, and in an instant the pack of dogs appeared and lined the beach in front of the tug. They were ready for a fight, and even made several attempts to get through the surf to the boat, and he was forced to return without any fish.

VENTUROSE EXPLORERS.

A Party Prepare to Visit the Arctic Ocean In a Skiff.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 27. — Captain Aaron Kingston of California and a party of 10 have left Pittsburg in three small vessels, the objective point being Herrell island, in the north Arctic ocean, about 200 miles north of where the Jeanette was lost. The boats are not much larger than an ordinary skiff, but Captain Kingston is confident of the success of the expedition. The hulls are lined with a number of air tanks of peculiar construction, which the captain, who has had 25 years' experience in the seas, claims will prevent the boats from capsizing or sinking.

From Pittsburg the expedition will go down to New Orleans; then through the gulf of Mexico to the coast of Central America; then along the eastern coast of South America to Cape Horn, passing through the Behring straits and into the Arctic seas.

In the party is Captain Kingston's wife, his brother-in-law, C. R. Spangel, and his wife. At New Orleans the two smaller boats will be abandoned, and the whole party will take the largest boat. They expect to be gone a year.

Claimed to Have Been Hummell's Servant.

HARTFORD, Oct. 27.—John Tyler, the six foot negro, who is now held on a charge of attempting to murder Miss Julia Niles and Miss Annie Knuls at Pequonnock, claims that he was formerly a servant in the employ of Abe Hummell, the New York lawyer. Miss Niles, who is 83 years old, is in a serious condition, and Miss Knuls, who is 58, is also badly injured. It is believed, however, both will recover.

Doc Taylor Intends to Rise Again.

MORTON, Va., Oct. 27.—Governor McKinney has refused to give Doc Taylor, the preacher murderer, a reprieve or to commute his sentence. He will therefore be hanged at Wise Courthouse today, preaching his own funeral on the scaffold. As Doc's body will be left above ground three days, when, he says, he will arise from the dead and again preach among the mountain people.

Labouchere Defends the Matabeles.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—Mr. Labouchere, in a long letter to Truth, defends the Matabele campaign against the British Chartered company, says that the company is avowedly bankrupt, and the solution of the matter should be that the Matabeles, instead of being shot, ought to receive an annual payment for their land.

Mr. Murphy, Highwayman, Escaped.

MONTREAL, Oct. 27.—Within the last month such a half no less than seven persons while plying examination before the police magistrate have escaped from prison. The last one is a notorious highwayman named Murphy, who is wanted for robbery in several places.

Blessed Andrew Carnegie's Name.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 27.—A mass meeting of iron and steel workers was held in this city to protest against the antiunion agreement promulgated by the managers of the Wayne iron works. Andrew Carnegie's name was vigorously hissed.

An Anti-Maynard Mass Meeting.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—An anti-Maynard mass meeting, called by the New York Bar association, was held in Cooper Union, at which the principal speaker was Frederic H. Coudert. Resolutions denouncing Judge Maynard were passed.

Knights of the Golden Eagle Parade.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 27.—Three thousand Knights of the Golden Eagle, from all parts of the Keystone state held a parade here in honor of the eighteenth anniversary of the introduction of the order into Pennsylvania.

Work on Two Big Buildings Stopped.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Over 300 laborers employed in the work of constructing the big office buildings of the Mutual Reserve Fund Life association and of the Postal Telegraph company are out on strike.

Proposed Dunraven's Name.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—At a club annual meeting of the New York Yacht club was held at their clubhouse. The Earl of Dunraven was proposed for honorary membership.

A Physician Disappears.

SOUTH BRADDOCK, Pa., Oct. 27.—There is much excitement here over the mysterious disappearance of Dr. C. E. Ames, a well known physician.

Replacing Whiskey Barrel Injures Firemen.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—At a fire in the cellar of the West End cafe, at 230 West One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, a barrel of whiskey exploded, and five firemen were injured.

Wants to Try the Hypnotic Test.

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—Wife Murderer George Painter wants Governor Pattison to put him to the hypnotic test to prove his alleged innocence.

A Sewer Pipe Trust Proposed.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 27.—A movement is on foot to consolidate all the sewer pipe manufacturing concerns of the upper Ohio valley.

The British at Spezia.

SPEZIA, Oct. 27.—The Duke of Genoa entertained the officers of the British squadron at a banquet aboard the Lepanto.

A Boy's Body Floating In the Slip.

HOBOKEN, N. J., Oct. 27.—The body of Spencer R. Boyle, 9 years old, was found floating in the First street slip.

Governor Russell Names Thanksgiving Day.

BOSTON, Oct. 27.—Governor Russell appointed Nov. 30 as Thanksgiving day.

BRAZIL BUYS A BOAT.

That Government Now Owns the Fast Steamer El Cid.

HUNTINGTON SAYS HE SOLD HER.

She Is the Fastest American Built Steamer Afloat and Will Be a Big Addition to the Fleet of Much Troubled President Peixoto—Purchase Made In New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—The big American coastwise steamer El Cid has been sold by C. P. Huntington. There is every reason to believe that she has been purchased for use as a warship by the government of Brazil. It is reported that the purchase was effected through the medium of Flint & Co. of New York city.

The firm of Flint & Co. has intimate relations with the governments of Chili and other South American states. Mr. Charles R. Flint is consul general for the government of Costa Rica. The firm is a very large importer of the products of Brazil, and the one most likely in America to receive orders for war material from any of the Latin American states.

The report recently circulated that Flint & Co. were engaged in the purchase of munitions of war for the Brazilian rebels is positively denied. Such purchases would be in direct violation of the neutrality laws of the United States. At the same time the purchase of an American merchant ship for the constitutional government of Brazil is thoroughly legitimate.

Rear Admiral Mauritz Here.

During the last four days Rear Admiral J. Mauritz, one of the most distinguished naval officers of Brazil, has been staying at the Hotel Brunswick in this city. Rear Admiral Mauritz is president of the Brazilian commission to the Columbian exposition.

It is said that Rear Admiral Mauritz personally conducted the selection and purchase of El Cid.

C. P. Huntington was seen at the Fifth Avenue hotel. He was asked if he had sold El Cid to the Brazilian government, and he said, "I have not." Then in a few moments he added, "I have not sold her to the Brazilian government, but I did sell one of the vessels to a number of merchants, and they have taken the Cid."

When asked what the purchase money was, he replied: "Well, they said about $500,000. She cost $525,000 when she was new, and she is as good as new now."

El Cid arrived last night in this port from New Orleans. The big ship is the latest addition to the magnificent fleet of ships operated by the Southern Pacific Transportation company. El Cid is the fastest American built merchant steamer afloat. She is also the largest vessel of her class in the world. She has to her credit the fastest maintained sea speed of any American built steamer afloat. For long cruising at a continuous high speed she has yet to be beaten by the production of any American shipyard.

Will Strengthen the Fleet.

This fact is all the more noteworthy when it is known that she was designed without special regard for speed. The builders—the Newport News Shipbuilding company—were called upon to furnish a vessel having great freight carrying capacity and one which should be capable of steaming between New Orleans and New York with due regard to economy of coal consumption. Two ships were ordered, to be sisters—El Rio and El Cid—and the engine designs were intrusted to Horace See, the superintendent of construction at the yards of the Cramps of the engines of the new warships Yorktown, Yorktown, Baltimore and Philadelphia.

The purchase of El Cid will probably do much to strengthen the hands of the Brazilian government. El Cid will give to the Brazilian authorities a vessel superior in steaming powers to any ship in the Brazilian insurgent fleet. Properly armed, she will be capable of engaging with any of the protected Brazilian ships. The fact that El Cid was especially built for service in southern waters makes her all the more desirable as a type of vessel for operating on the Brazil coast. She can readily be made to transport 3,000 men, and her roomy decks assure excellent ventilation.

A Big Tammany Meeting.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—The Democrats held a big ratification meeting in Tammany hall. The principal speakers were Governor Flower, Speaker Sulzer, Lieutenant Governor William Sheehan and Colonel John R. Fellows.

Corbett Will Fight at New Orleans.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Oct. 27.—Jim Corbett has wired his acceptance to the Olympic club of New Orleans, which has offered $20,000 for the Mitchell-Corbett contest, on condition that the club put up $10,000 as a guarantee.

Must Wind Up Their Bank.

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 27.—The suspended Mechanics' bank officials were ousted by the supreme court and were ordered to wind up the affairs of the concern. The petition for a receiver was denied.

Bound to the Geary Law.

RENO, Ills., Oct. 27.—At the session of the American Missionary association resolutions were adopted denouncing the Geary law as inhuman, brutal and inconsiderate of the rights of man.

Found Her Bound to a Crisp.

STAMFORD, Ky., Oct. 27.—The family of Tom Kenley went hickorynut hunting, leaving their 4-year-old daughter at home. When they returned, they found her burned to a crisp.

Colorado Coal Miners on Strike.

DENVER, Oct. 27.—There are between 1,000 and 2,000 coal miners on a strike in the Walsenburg district, and nearly all the mines are closed down.

A Dog Bite Caused His Death.

CAMDEN, N. J., Oct. 27.—Dennis Hylton, a wealthy physician, died at his home in this city from a dog bite which he received several weeks ago.

Mrs. Grant Will Winter in the Riviera.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Oct. 27.—It is announced that Gen. U. S. Grant, the widow of General Grant, will spend the winter in Santa Barbara.

Rumor Denied.

BERLIN, Oct. 27.—The friends of Pfeiffer & Harnden, of Dresden, have published denials of Anarchist marks. Pfeiffer has absconded.

Three of Yale's Halfbacks Injured.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 27.—Three of Yale's most prominent candidates for left halfback were severely injured during practice yesterday.

Governor Pattison Denies a Report.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 27.—Governor Pattison denies the report that he was to become president of the Lehigh Valley system.

See the Microbes?

They are in the air, in the water, in your blood and in your food. They are the real cause of disease.

RADAM'S Microbe Killer

resets every germ of disease, purifies the blood, revitalizes the system, and restores good health at once. Price in 1 gallon jugs, $5.00; in 40 oz. bottles, $1.00.

32-page pamphlet explaining about it has been sent, and will be sent to you.

The Wm. Radam Microbe Killer Co., 7 Laight St., New York City.

L. W. Reesby, jr., Agent, 143 West Front St., PLAINFIELD, N. J.

H. DE MOTT, Graduate of United States Embalming College
UNDERTAKER AND EMBALMER.
Office at residence, 175 Somerset Street, Plainfield, N. J.

Townsend's Marble Works,
20 Somerset Street.

U. B. CRANE,
Has the largest stock of
Fine Fall HATS,
in Plainfield.
142 WEST FRONT STREET.

CONVICTS NOT ROASTED.

Lincoln, Neb., Stirred Up by a Fire In the St. Paul Penitentiary.

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 27.—Word was sent to the city last night that the penitentiary was on fire. The building is four miles south of this city, but the fire department was soon on the way and escorted by thousands of people, who crowded the street car lines and blocked the way with private vehicles. Rumors of the wildest nature were telegraphed in from the scene until it was generally credited that the penitentiary was being destroyed and the unfortunate inmates roasted alive.

At one time it was given out that 50 had perished. It was two hours before the straight story could be learned. Fire broke out in the knitting department of the Lincoln Stove and Furnace company, but all the convicts were counted and placed in their cells. The industry was entirely consumed. It was covered by the state and details a loss to the public of $80,000. The contractors will lose upward of $200,000 on product and machinery.

Fourth Class Postmasters.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The following fourth class postmasters were appointed: Massachusetts—Williamsburg, M. H. Beales. New York—Avoca, Leonard Matthewson; Barrytown, Mrs. Mary Orchard; Bluff Point, C. E. Moore; Ludivine, L. W. Robeson; Freedom, James Griffith; Green Haven, W. H. Burdick; Hamilton, B. V. Jessup; Rock Hill, J. Gates Scott; Loretta, McCausick Slocum, W. D. Avery; State Hill, W. H. Green, and Wilseyville, Mrs. L. P. White.

No Inquest on the Truxton Wreck.

TRENTON, Oct. 27.—Coroner Coutier made an official investigation of the wreck at Lawrenceville and decided that no inquest was necessary. Among those injured were: Mrs. K. Barclow and Hotel Gerlach, New York; Mrs. M. Hobert, Hotel Gerlach; A. E. Houghton of the firm of Houghton, Mifflin & Co., New York; Ellis Green, Amsterdam hotel, New York; Jesse E. Trist of San Francisco.

Charles Coghlan's Reported Marriage.

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—A dispatch from Indianapolis says that Charles Coghlan, the actor, was married in that city early last Tuesday night to Miss Kusbana Beveridge, a member of the company and a sculptress. The reported bride is the granddaughter of ex-Governor Beveridge of Illinois, who denies the marriage, declaring that Mr. Coghlan already had a wife living.

A Rich Bequest For a Synagogue.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 27.—By the recent death of Horace A. Moses the Jewish congregation Mickve Israel becomes the legatee of a bequest of $100,000 under the will of Hyman Gratz, a brother of Rebecca Gratz, who, it is said, was the original of Sir Walter Scott's heroine in "Ivanhoe."

The New Western Baseball League.

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—The committee on the organization of the Western Baseball league announced that Milwaukee, Minneapolis, Kansas City, Indianapolis and Toledo are accepted, and that the league will be composed of eight clubs, four each on the western and eastern circuits.

A Lion Loose In a Stable.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—A manskilling circus lion, which was confined in a cage in a stable at 199 East Eighteenth street, broke out of his cage and is still loose in the stable. He has killed a horse and injured a keeper. All attempts to force the animal back into the cage have failed.

A Reception to Cardinal Gibbons.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—A reception was tendered by the people of Washington last night, regardless of creed, to James Cardinal Gibbons on the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of his elevation to the episcopate.

Salesmen Will All Be Older Agencies Now.

SALEM, Mass., Oct. 27.—The superior court decision that cider can be sold provided it is kept at rest on the premises has caused the cider men to rejoice. Nearly every ex-saloon will branch out as a cider agency.

Suffered for Fifteen Years.

For sixteen years I suffered from a Cancer under my left eye. Tried Beeman's Microbe Killer, and am now happy to say that the Cancer has entirely healed up, and I am a well man. J. H. Woon, Fort Jervis, N. Y.

Legal Advertisements.

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY.
To Sarah Smith, Thomas and Patrick Smith, Jr., Mary Gallagher, Alice Gallagher, Catherine Gallagher and George W. Gallagher, infants, and John Alger and Mrs. John Allen, his wife.

By Virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the 23rd day of September, in a cause wherein John H. Marsh is complainant and you and others are defendants, you are required to appear and answer the bill of complaint filed in said cause, on or before the 2nd day of October next, or the said bill will be taken as confessed against you.

The said bill is filed to foreclose a mortgage given by Thomas Smith, Widow and Patrick Smith, her husband to John H. Marsh on lands in the Townships of Westfield and Fanwood in the County of Union and State of New Jersey, dated November 10th A. D. 1888, and now lying and being in the said Township of Fanwood, Solomon Maltsteid and John Allen are made defendants, because they own a certain lot or parcel of said lands, and you Patrick Whelan and George W. Maltsteid are made defendants because you claim some interest or title to have an interest in some portion of said lands, as tenant by the curtesy initiate; and you Alice Conrad and Mrs. John Allen are made defendants because you claim or may claim to have an actionable right or dower in some portion of said lands.

Dated August 1, 1893.

NELSON SUTTON,
Solicitor of Complainant,
Cor. Park avenue and Front street,
Plainfield, N. J.

8 11 $7

A. W. Rand,

140 WEST FRONT STREET.
New and second hand

SCHOOL - BOOKS.

School supplies of all kinds.

The only house in this city to exchange second hand books most kind of them in immediately.

JOSEPH SOHL,

PRACTICAL
Electrician
40 NORTH AVENUE.
Plainfield, N. J.

Estimates furnished on Electric Light Wiring, Burglar alarm and Bell Work, and repairing of same. Dealer in

Electric and Gas Fixtures.

1893 TAXES!

Notice is hereby given to the taxpayers of the

City of Plainfield,

that the taxes assessed in said city for the year 1893 are now due and payable, and that if the said taxes be not paid by the

20th Day of December

next, the names of the defaulters, with their respective taxes, will be returned to the City Judge for his proceedings.

COMMISSIONERS OF APPEAL

In cases of omission, will meet in the Council Chamber, on the

Fourth Tuesday in November Next,

(the 28th) and sit from two o'clock p. m. until five o'clock p. m., or longer, if found necessary, to dispose of all cases submitted to them for consideration.

JOHN JOHNSON,
Collector of Taxes.
Dated, Plainfield, N. J., October 6, 1893.
10 5 tu

Sunshine Heaters and Othello Ranges Sell Themselves.

They are good goods.

Heater-Work, Hot Water and Steam-Heating. Hardware and Plumbing.

A. M. GRIFFEN,

13 EAST FRONT STREET. Telephone 6.

Van Eps,

THE NEW JEWELER.
13 Park Avenue. Also a large variety of Musical Goods.

TAKE NOTICE.

Charles Arnold,

the butcher,

Is Still in the Race

for cut prices.

Fresh Pork and Sausage 12c. lb.
My own Dressed Jersey Chickens, 16c. lb.
Legs Mutton, 10c. lb.
Lamb, 15c. lb.
My Smoked Meats and all other Meats will be the same old cut prices.

Arnold's Market,

208 LIBERTY STREET.
GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE.
Strictly Cash.

Are You Insured?

If you are 21 years old $66.40 paid annually for fifteen years would entitle you to $1,000,
If 22 years old, $67.
If 23 years old, $67.15.
If 24 years old, $67.30.

This sum of $1,000 is payable to the insured, if living, at the expiration of fifteen years, or at his death if prior.

FOR A LIFE POLICY, of $1,000 the annual payments to continue during life, the payments for young men between 21 and 24 are between $18.60 and $20.

For catalogues and further particulars address Henry D. Morrison, 11 Somerset street, agent, THE NEW YORK MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

F. M. HULETT,

MUSIC DEALER,

74 West Front Street,

handles the following makes:

Gildermaster & Kroeger,
Kranich & Bach,
Starr,
Mulfield,
Jacob Bros. Pianos,
and the world-renowned
Bauman Bros. and Mason & Hamlin Organs.

Builders Cards.

Daniel Hulick,

Carpenter
and
General Jobber.
SHOP
35 Jackson Avenue.

Storm doors and weather strips a specialty.
JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO
Window Screens made to order.

John P. Emmons,

MASON AND BUILDER.
Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place.
Jobbing promptly attended to.
P. O. Box 982.

PIERSON & GAYLE,

Carpenters and Builders.

W. J. Pierson, No. 15 Vine street. H. B. Gayle, No. 19 Vine street.
All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM G. SMITH,
PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER.
All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.
Residence—Grandview avenue,
P. O. Box 253.

R. V. SAUNDERS,
Carpenter & Builder.
Residence—Clinton avenue, near depot, Bound Brook.
P. O. Box 1288
Jobbing attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.

JACOB M. HIGGINS,
PRACTICAL MASON and CONTRACTOR.
P. O. Box 351. Residence Dr. street, near Howard.

JOHN ARNOTT,
Practical Carpenter and Builder. Residence and shop, Somerset street, between Madison and Jackson avenues. P. O. Box 1044.

ALFRED B. NELSON,
A Civil Engineer and Surveyor, Maps of Wards furnished. Right years with Plainfield. Also on the United States Coast Survey. All work guaranteed.

- - FREE - -

Handsomely decorated Japanese Fans given away with every one dollar purchase, to commence saleing for 30 days. No reasonable offer refused for the balance of our Flower Pots, and we have some very pretty ones left.

We are constantly selling new go de, and the hard times have forced prices way down. Our motto is "Quick sales and small profits." Lamps to close them out at what they were but two year, and many are bargains indeed. See our $1.25 full size rolled, or $2.25 center draft Lamps, and we will astonish the sale. Common Chimneys, all sizes 5c. You can't get them for less than 10c. elsewhere. Lamp Burners, 5c. to 75c. Tinware, Stationery, Games, Soaps, &c., &c., this is no humbug in the display from the city store. In Tinware, Wooden Ware, Stationery, Household Goods, Notions, Soaps, &c., we can suit you. We sell hundreds of Ink Wells, Wash Basins, Hair Brushes and Pocket Combs. If you have Glassware, Crockery, Lamps and useful articles on 5 and 10c. counters. Our display of fancy China Cups and Saucers will surprise you, prices from 25c cents to one dollar. You have never seen anything like it. Remember we are the largest importers of low priced goods in New York house in the city, and you will be delighted with the assortment. You are not afraid to ride, but afraid to walk? Then you are very much like Mrs. Jaynes of Jersey." Call and see the Rotary Shuttle Sewing Machine. The Standard Sewing Machine. This machine is almost noiseless, and the work is wonderful. We sell the "standard."

J. C. Allen, 28 West Front St., Plainfield, N. J.

Now is Your Chance.

GRAND CLOTHING OPENING, at our retail store, 218 West Front street. Are you ready? We are prepared to offer the public a clean, fresh stock of Fall and Winter Clothing, for Men, Boys and Children. Remember, we sell at retail at the wholesale prices.

C. SCHEPFLIN & CO,

218 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

Boehm's.

$5.00

buys a fine Ladies' Coat, for about made of heavy beaver cloth, with latest style cape. Ladies' and Misses' assortment, of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Coats, Jackets, Fur Capes, etc., etc., shown in this city. Also the line of Cloths for Ladies' and Children's Coats we are now showing.

25c. at this price we are showing a line of Cashmeres, Storm Serge, Dress Flannels, Fancies, Combination Boucle Stripes, etc., ranging in width from 36 to 54 inches. The low crops figured Bedfords, (all shades) 36c., real value, 75c. MILLINERY. Position only the best variety of trimmed and untrimmed Hats ever seen in this city, and at lowest possible prices, consistent with first-class work.

The Vanderbilts and Astors!

Use the same make of imported Table Oil, Cheese and French Sardines that I have in stock.

THEY ARE DELICIOUS.

And then I personally select the

FRESH FISH!

I have on sale to-day and to-morrow. Call and see my stock.

JULES BOVEY,
60 Somerset Street.

Do You?

Intend to invest in a

WHEEL?

If so, call on

Dickinson,

The Optician.

Agent for the Excelsior, the best wheel in the market, 4 weights, 28, 30, 36 and 41 lbs. Wheels to hire at reasonable rates.

Great Bargains

in all grades of

WALL PAPERS,

for the next 60 days.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,
29 EAST FRONT STREET.

Real Estate & Insurance

Edw. C. Mulford,

REAL ESTATE
AND
INSURANCE.
MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE
45 North Avenue.

M. M. Dunham,

REAL ESTATE
AND
INSURANCE.
No. 7 East Front street.

Wm. A. Woodruff,

REAL ESTATE
AND
INSURANCE.
MONEY TO LOAN on Approved Security.
Corner Front street and Park avenue.

Spicer & Hubbard,

Manufacturers of
Mouldings, Sash, Blinds, Doors, etc.
Corner Madison avenue and Third street.
SCROLL SAWING, TURNING.
Also plain and ornamental glass furnished to order. 12 1y

Railroad Time Table.

CENTRAL RAILROAD OF NEW JERSEY
(Anthracite coal used exclusively insuring cleanliness and comfort.)

Station in New York, foot of Liberty street. Time table in effect June 25, 1893.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield at 2 14, 2 57, 5 08, 6 05, 6 40, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 a. m., 12 00, 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Sundays—6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 a. m., 12 00, 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Express trains for New York, 2 14, 5 08, 6 40, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Express trains for Elizabeth, 2 14, 5 08, 6 40, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Express trains for Rahway, 2 14, 5 08, 6 40, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Express trains for Perth Amboy, 2 14, 5 08, 6 40, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Express trains for Bound Brook, 2 14, 5 08, 6 40, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Express trains for Somerville, 2 14, 5 08, 6 40, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Express trains for Flemington, 2 14, 5 08, 6 40, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Express trains for Trenton, 2 14, 5 08, 6 40, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Express trains for Philadelphia, 2 14, 5 08, 6 40, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Express trains for Atlantic City, 2 14, 5 08, 6 40, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Express trains for Cape May, 2 14, 5 08, 6 40, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Express trains for Ocean City, 2 14, 5 08, 6 40, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Express trains for Wildwood, 2 14, 5 08, 6 40, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Express trains for Long Branch, 2 14, 5 08, 6 40, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Express trains for Asbury Park, 2 14, 5 08, 6 40, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Express trains for Ocean Grove, 2 14, 5 08, 6 40, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Express trains for Bay Head, 2 14, 5 08, 6 40, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Express trains for Point Pleasant, 2 14, 5 08, 6 40, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Express trains for Lakewood, 2 14, 5 08, 6 40, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Express trains for Toms River, 2 14, 5 08, 6 40, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Express trains for Seaside Park, 2 14, 5 08, 6 40, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Express trains for Tuckerton, 2 14, 5 08, 6 40, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Express trains for Beach Haven, 2 14, 5 08, 6 40, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Express trains for Manasquan, 2 14, 5 08, 6 40, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Express trains for Spring Lake, 2 14, 5 08, 6 40, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Express trains for Belmar, 2 14, 5 08, 6 40, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Express trains for Sea Girt, 2 14, 5 08, 6 40, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Express trains for Manasquan, 2 14, 5 08, 6 40, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Express trains for Point Pleasant, 2 14, 5 08, 6 40, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Express trains for Lakewood, 2 14, 5 08, 6 40, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Express trains for Toms River, 2 14, 5 08, 6 40, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Express trains for Seaside Park, 2 14, 5 08, 6 40, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Express trains for Tuckerton, 2 14, 5 08, 6 40, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Express trains for Beach Haven, 2 14, 5 08, 6 40, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Express trains for Manasquan, 2 14, 5 08, 6 40, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Express trains for Spring Lake, 2 14, 5 08, 6 40, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Express trains for Belmar, 2 14, 5 08, 6 40, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Express trains for Sea Girt, 2 14, 5 08

WOMEN AND BRAINS.

SIR JAMES CRICHTON BROWNE'S LATE UTTERANCES REFUTED.

A Scientist's Argument Which Is an Example of the Folly Into Which a Learned Man May Be Drawn—Some Telling Illustrations on the Main Point.

Sir James Crichton Browne has lately brought forward anew the somewhat threadbare argument that the brain of the average man is several ounces heavier than that of the average woman, and that hence women must have smaller mental capacity. A few parallel facts may be worth considering in this connection.

The brain of an average elephant is about three times as heavy as the brain of an average man, yet we do not find that the elephant is three times as smart as the man. The brain of an ant is indefinitely smaller than the brain of a sheep, yet the ant is much more intelligent than the sheep. In other words, the smaller creature may have a smaller brain without necessarily having inferior wits. The woman, being a smaller animal than the man, naturally has a smaller brain, but it does not follow that she is therefore more stupid. This view is confirmed by the fact that if a boy's brain is below a certain weight the boy is invariably an idiot, while a girl's brain may fall several ounces below that weight and still the girl be rational.

Some scientists say that women's brains are heavier in proportion to the weight of their bodies than the brains of men. Other scientists say the contrary. But the relative weight of the body is not a sure guide any more than its absolute weight. There are certain small birds, built light for flying, whose brains are heavier in proportion to the weight of their bodies than the brains of human beings. But we do not find that these birds are more intelligent than human beings.

The only fair test of the comparative ability of two beings is to see what they can accomplish when placed under the same circumstances. All over the country in our public schools boys and girls from the same families study side by side, and the girls average quite as well as the boys. In the colleges the young women take rather more than their share of the prizes. This is probably due not to superiority of the feminine brain, but to the fact that many stupid boys are sent to college by their parents because it is fashionable, while if a girl goes to college it is generally because she really wishes to study. But, however we may account for it, the fact remains that the alleged mental inferiority of women does not show itself in any of the educational institutions where the two sexes study together.

After graduation, however, not nearly so many women as men seek a brilliant success in business or in the arts. The reason, I take it, is not because women have insufficient intelligence, but because most of them prefer to put their intelligence to a different use—namely, to apply it to running a home and family. This is a business fully as important and useful as any other. And to run a house and family successfully under present conditions takes as much intelligence—or as bright a brain—as much statesmanship—as to run a railroad or a city government. If any man doubts this, let him send his wife off for a holiday and try for a week to do his own housework and take care of half a dozen children.

Sir James Crichton Browne again finds an anæmic connection between feminine intelligence and lack of personal beauty. He fears that "what woman gains intellectually by the higher education now in vogue she will lose in beauty and grace," and as a proof of this he cites the Garo tribe in India, where the women are said to have the entire control of public affairs and to be "the very ugliest women on the face of the earth." If education tends to ugliness, it would be more to the point to show that those Indian women are the most highly educated women on the face of the earth.

Brains seem to be distributed among women among men without any regard to good looks. Some bright women are strikingly handsome, and some are strikingly homely. Maria Mitchell, for instance, was a plain girl, though she developed into a fine looking elderly lady. Mrs. Somerville, on the other hand, was conspicuous for her beauty. That education and freedom do not tend, on the whole, to make women ugly may be shown by one illustration on a large scale. American women are better educated and more "emancipated" than the women of any other country. Yet all Americans and many foreigners say that no other country can boast of so many beautiful women. And any one who has attended a class day at Wellesley will hardly be persuaded, as he looks at the "spectacled garden of girls," that education is detrimental to good looks.

Sir James Crichton Browne's whole argument is an example of the folly into which a learned man may be drawn, when in following a speculative theory he closes his eyes to the facts of everyday observation.

The newspapers have lately been making merry over the case of another scientific man. This gentleman had written learned articles to prove the mental feebleness of women from the smallness of their brains. He died, and his own brain proved on examination to weigh less than that of the average woman. [illegible] many women will await with [illegible] result of Sir James Crichton Brow[illegible] results of a postmortem.—Also [illegible] sell in Boston Globe.

Awkward Skirts.

Women who have left behind the slenderness of youth and taken on the portly proportions pertaining to the matronly or possibly middle-aged "life's little day" should be especially careful that their skirts are made so long as long in the front as [illegible]. Nothing is more awkward or [illegible] more disagreeable to an [illegible] of flesh about the hips or [illegible] gown which "hitches up" [illegible].

Marriage.

The first blessing which God gave to man was society; and that society was a marriage, and that marriage was hallowed by his presence. Celibacy is never commanded, but marriage is. The gift of Eve was that of a wife and friend. Marriage was in the world before sin and that here the greatest antidote against sin.—Jeremy Taylor.

Perfume In the Street.

Perfuming a street or travelling toilet is as bad form as wearing diamonds in daylight. There is a delicate and most refreshing scent to the bouquet, which is all that a refined woman will indulge in under the circumstances.—Exchange.

Serving Chocolate.

The Frenchest way of serving chocolate is in four cornered green cups. But the prettiest way of serving it is in the pale brown cups that match the color, and are not extremely narrow and tall but fairly as the rest.

59c. SALE! 59c.
59c. of 59c.
KID GLOVES!
59c. 4-button length, tan, modes, brown and black, all sizes, 59c.
59c. 5½ to 7½. 59c.
GEO. L. VAN EMBURGH & SON.
FRONT STREET, OPPOSITE PARK AVENUE. UNDER THE BANK.

Timely Warning! Winter Approaching!
Keep your Scalp Clean and your Hair Growing.
RANDOLPH'S Quinine and Glycerine
HAIR TONIC!
The Friend in the Hour of Need.
EACH BOTTLE GUARANTEED. Sold only by
L. W. RANDOLPH, Prescription Druggist,
163 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

THE CURIOSITY SHOP

SPECIMEN STONES.

Interesting Facts About Fine Gems That Are Known to Few Besides Experts.

Before the existence of "specimen stones" becomes, through the dregs of them to America, a thing of the past for us it may be well to say a few words about things which very few persons have ever seen and henceforward have little chance of seeing. [illegible] remarks a London journal as prelude to the following rarely known facts: The words "specimen stone" explain that it is a gem of the utmost perfection, but few know how rare and precious it is and how little it differs to the eye of any but an expert from an ordinary example of its kind.

Specimen stones are masculine luxuries. They are never set, because even the most delicate mounting mars the hide defects which would make them comparatively valueless. The desire to possess them constitutes the last infirmity of noblemen, for not only are they the most concentrated possible form of property, but the appreciation of them is a most exclusive form of culture. It may seem strange, but it is true that there are probably not 50 persons in England who can tell a diamond worth £100 a carat from one worth five and twenty, and of these 50 not a dozen are jewelers.

The trade in specimen stones is wholly in the hands of four or five great firms, and minor dealers, who have no custom for this class of gems, know almost as little about them as the laity. They have no opportunity for the necessary training. It takes years of practice, with wide scope of opportunity as the market affords, to train the eye to recognize exactly the orthodox color of a ruby, emerald or sapphire, and to distinguish between the brilliant of the purest from an ordinary "fine stone" demands a delicacy of vision which most persons could never acquire.

Stones may be divided into four distinct classes. Four stones, obviously bad in color and full of "clouds," "haws" and "feathers," still have a commercial value when [illegible] they cheaply as comparatively exceedingly low prices. The value of two rubies of the same size, for example, might be severally £1 and £1,000 per carat. [illegible] carry stones of one which a lady may wear without discredit, their flaws and the poverty of their color not being such as to betray them in the wearing except to a practiced eye. Of such stones costing 20 per cent of those worn by even rich women. [illegible] is never commonly possessed, but only to be seen on the persons of those who are fastidious as well as rich, for though a commonly good judge may notice at the first glance at them that is too great a temptation with most women to put conspicuous quantity before inconspicuous quality for the latter to prevail.

Patchouli In Its Natural Home.

To follow some of the things of commerce up to their home is sometimes to get a new idea of them. Patchouli, for instance, is not merely an odor, repellent to some people, but the single, delicate and innocent breath of a shrub whose leaf you may pinch in an Italian garden. Patchouli, green and alive, with its dozen, pale, [illegible] makes one poles tolerant of patchouli, believing itself in "white rose" [illegible] a scent.

Hotels.

CENTRAL HOTEL,
No. 11 E. Front St.,
PLAINFIELD.
Windham & Crowley,
PROPRIETORS.
First-class bar attached.

Fourth Ward Hotel.
JOHN GOFF, Proprietor.
Boarders accommodated, both transient and permanent.
LARGE ROOMS
and
ALL MODERN IMPROVEMENTS.
Fine Wines, Liquors
and CIGARS.
Corner Third and Liberty Streets.

Hotel Grenada,
NORTH AVENUE,
ow open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout and combines all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the travelling public.

City Hotel,
Corner
PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.
Transient guests accommodated.

Eugene Hoerster,
206 Grove Street,
North Plainfield.
Wholesale Dealer
in
FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.
Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

CAREY'S
Storage
Warerooms,
Corner
Front and Cherry Streets,
Plainfield, N. J.

A GREAT SLAUGHTER!
of
Ladies' Wrappers, for one week, at 75 cents.
at
THE LEADER! M. GOLDMANN, Prop.
HERE BIG WEST FRONT STREET. (Old No. 33.)
Two doors from Music Hall.

We Can't Make Weather,
But We Can Make Prices
That Will Make "Biz."
[illegible] GOODS MUST BE SOLD.
HEAVY AND MUST BE SOLD.

	PRICE.	VALUE.
[illegible]	20c.	40c.
[illegible]	25c.	50c.
[illegible]	37½c.	75c.
[illegible]	50c.	1.00
[illegible]	75c.	1.50
[illegible]	87½c.	1.75

HOSIERY.

[illegible]	10c.	15c.
[illegible]	12c.	20c.
[illegible]	15c.	25c.
[illegible]	18c.	30c.
[illegible]	15c.	25c.
[illegible]	20c.	35c.

LADIES' AND MISSES' JACKETS—In this we have space to tell you all about styles and prices but this we are interesting [illegible] and we thank you.

HOUSE FURNISHING DEPARTMENT.—Special sale of Granite Iron ware, for this week. Just price [illegible] you pay for the same.

ORDERS by mail for Ladies, Gentlemen and Children. We have all kinds, white, natural wool and scarlet—[illegible] and natural wool vests and pants the up-to-date [illegible] and [illegible] 25c. [illegible] Ladies' fine wool garment for Ladies [illegible] the Norfolk and [illegible] Ladies' [illegible] at 50c. [illegible] Ladies' fine wool vest and pants, white and natural. Our price, [illegible] Only 91.

	VALUE.	PRICE.
Wash colored Shirts and Drawers	50c.	35c.
" "	75c.	50c.
" natural wool	1.00	75c.
" "	1.50	1.00

FINE MILLINERY.—It happens every day. Ladies will go to New York to buy their hats, and [illegible] and [illegible] and then they are brought here and we [illegible] them [illegible] for 50c. and [illegible] Why not do this? We have no [illegible] time, money and trouble. Try us.

OVERGAITERS.—LOOK! For 50c. we fit you with an Overgaiter just as good as you have been paying for 75c., and [illegible] 75c. and [illegible] for 50c. and [illegible] 50c. and [illegible] 50c. MEN'S AND BOYS' FOR THE DAY. Just to introduce this line. Overgaiter we will put on for 50c. we saw those that you purchase from 91.25 up. A pair of these [illegible] Overgaiters at 25c.

WHITE, of Plainfield.

THE BOY WHO SAID "OH!"

There once was a wonderful wonder;
When it happened I really don't know;
A young man would go about shouting
Only one word, and that word was "Oh!"

His head dipped away from his shoulders,
While his eyebrows like leaves seemed to grow,
His head kept on falling and sliding,
Nor stopped when it reached his right [illegible].

His body was changed to a letter—
You'll see it, if you look below—

When next he went into the city,
The people cried, "Here's Mister Oh!!!"

QUEER CREATURES.

The Termites of Africa.

Ants are common enough for everybody to have seen them, but the small ants we see would look quite pigmies by the side of the ants that are to be seen in Africa. These so-called ants (they are not really ants)are known as Termites. They are famous for the large nests they make. Some of these are [illegible] and have been twenty feet high. They are shaped like a sugar loaf. If we were to break one of these sugar loaves we should find it contained quite large rooms. Besides these rooms there are long galleries running round the building.

Not only are these termites famous for their nests, but, unfortunately, they are dreaded as being most destructive also. They will enter a house and eat away the inside of all the furniture. One will sit down on a chair which looks quite capable of supporting anybody; as soon, however as one's weight rests upon it, it breaks up into the merest fragments. Others of these insects build large nests, not on the ground, like their brethren, but up in the air, in which they, too, may be seen looking like great footballs.

Tired from Head to Foot
ANTI-TIRE
FROM HEAD TO FOOT.
That's what's the matter with So many people. They are tired from head to foot. Tired of the whole thing. The cause: The neglect of the liver. We have known severe cases of so called rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, lumbago, and [illegible] to disappear entirely in a short time by the use of Anti-Tire. Get my pamphlet, it tells all about it, and how to cure yourself. Anti-Tire will do it. Price 50c. and $1. Purely vegetable. Sold by druggists. Send 15 cents in stamps for trial package.
LYONS & KINGSLEY,
564 Bergen avenue,
Jersey City, N. J.

Neuman Brothers,
THE POPULAR GROCERS.
Have a full line of selected
Groceries, Fruit and Vegetables.
The finest varieties of Coffees and Teas constantly unsurpassed. A fine display of choicest Apples daily. A new stock of Canned Vegetables and Fruits.
NEUMAN BROS.,
WATCHUNG AVENUE
and FIFTH STREET.

Horses and Carriages,
of all kinds, for hire, at
O'BRIEN'S,
116 WEST FOURTH STREET,
or at the depot.

Joseph T. Vail,
REAL ESTATE
and
INSURANCE.
OFFICE IN BLUE STONE BUILDING
Seventh Avenue.

Tasting and the Tip of the Tongue.

It is stated that, strictly speaking, with the tip of the tongue one cannot really taste at all. If you put a small drop of honey on this part of the tongue, you will find (no doubt to your great surprise) that it produces no effect of any sort; you only taste it when it begins to slowly diffuse itself and reaches the true tasting region in the middle distance. But if you put a little sugar or mustard on the same part you will find that it bites you immediately.

The Fall and Winter Styles in Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing are now in Stock. Overcoats of all Weights. Trousers Made to Order from $4 to $8. Suits from $15 to $30. Hats and General Furnishings. WERNER'S MAMMOTH CLOTHING HOUSE, 206 West Front Street.

R. W. Rice & Co.,
THE PARK GROCERS.
Corner Duer and Emily Streets.
NORTH PLAINFIELD.

Joy.

I love to sit upon the fence
And whittle it all day;
Because it is my neighbor's fence,
And he has gone away.

—Exchange.

A Dog Peculiarity.

A New York dog fancier tells a peculiar thing about dogs. "I have watched this for many years, and I have never known it to fail but two or three times," he said. "If a dog has any white upon his body at all, you will find that the tip of his tail is also white. I believe this is true in nine cases out of 1,000. I don't know just why it is unless it be that there is an absence of coloring matter in the integument that should be under the white hair. You know when the hide of a baby animal is badly injured the hair grows out white when the wound heals. But watch that dog's peculiarity."

To Tell a Wise Man from a Fool.

Those who wound the feelings of their neighbors by many unkind speeches attempt to justify themselves by declaring that they always say what they think. This is their excuse for an insult. One should answer my friend, he does not think, but it does not follow that he should always say what he happens to think. A wise man thinks all that he says; a fool says all that he thinks.

Thought.

Thought He was Too Nice.

The little boy picked himself out of the mud, wiped the tears from his eyes and blurted out, his wrath still unappeased, "I'll bet that fellow's father is a preacher!" Then he wiped the mud from his velvet trousers, his silk stockings, and his lace collar, and straightened out his long, golden curls as well as their bedraggled condition would permit. "Yes," he said, bitterly, "I'm what comes of being someone's little pet!"—Chicago Tribune.

The textile or Japanese effect in furnishing is passing away. Fewer and more costly pieces of furniture are used.

THE TIME TO EAT!
MEAT! is at meal time, of course, and the place to get good meat, all varieties, kosher portions, etc., is at
E. J. CONNOLLY,
No. 231 Broadway.
SMOKED MEATS AND VEGETABLES always on hand.

This Date In History—Oct. 27.

1553—Michael Servetus, a Spanish physician, was burned at the stake in Geneva for denying the Trinity.

1659—William Penn landed at Newcastle.

1738—James Cook, English navigator, was born at Marton, Yorkshire; killed in the Sandwich Islands Feb. 14, 1779.

1787—Dr. Andrew Combe, the eminent physiologist, was born at Edinburgh.

1805—Sir Bartholomew Dandridge, British statesman, was born in a ship sailing to America.

1809—Edgar Allan Poe was born in Boston.

1812—Whitelaw Reid, writer, minister to France and candidate for vice president, born near Xenia, O.

1813—Confederates took Abbeville destroyed in Roanoke river by Lieutenant Cushing's torpedo.

1886—Charles Thomas Longley, archbishop of Canterbury, died.

1891—In Milwaukee fire destroyed 22 blocks of buildings, involving a loss of $5,000,000.

This great truth has penetrated the understanding of the New York Commercial Advertiser, "It is beginning to dawn upon some people that the proper of clothing rudimentary truths in very obscure language does not constitute a great man."

A lady wants to know if a newspaper editor whether a prohibition woman should marry a man who drinks. No women should marry a man who drinks.

The British constitution, about which so much has been written, consists of the whole body of British laws and the unwritten law of precedent in addition.

More than one United States senator finds himself today flocking by himself politically, with his constituents behind him abusing him.

The antitobacco laws so far enacted in Ohio work as Chicago as to have the study of German dropped in the primary schools.

This republic is now in a fair way to find out who its boss is.

1893	OCTOBER.					1893
Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fr.	Sa.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
15	16	17	18	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26	27	28
29	30	31

MOON'S PHASES.

☾ Last Quarter	2	10 h. 14 m.	☽ First Quarter	17	4 h. 36 m.
● New Moon	9	9 h. 57 m.	○ Full Moon	25	1 h. 42 m.
☾ First Quarter	31	3 h. 42 m.

Tickets
For, or from Europe,
On
All Lines,
And all Steamers.
Drafts
Sold also.
H. D. MORRISON,
Agent,
Somerset Street.

Metropolitan Livery
and
Boarding Stables!
Coaches, Close Carriages, First Premium Buggies, Buggies, Fine Phaetons and Saddle horses.
Special care given boarding horses. Storage for furniture and carriages.
149 AND 157 NORTH AVENUE.
Opposite depot. Telephone Call, 44.
H. R. RIDER, Proprietor. FRANK DAY, Manager.

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$5 per Year in Advance. M. W. Harrison, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 21 Somerset street. Printing of All Kinds. 10 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," SATURDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1893. PRICE TWO CENTS.

THE HOLY CROSS TILT.

THE COMMITTEE REPORTS AT LAST RESPECTING THE RECTOR.

Incidentally Disclaims Responsibility for the Cowardly Attack on His Family, and Has a Word to Say to the Ministerial Association.

ATTERS at the North Plainfield Episcopal church don't seem to be going the way of all flesh.

At a meeting of members of the parish of the Holy Cross held Oct. 25th, the committee appointed at a previous meeting to wait on the Rev. T. Logan Murphy and request his resignation, presented this report, as follows:

Your Committee appointed to wait on the Rev. T. Logan Murphy, and, on behalf of a number of the Parishioners of the Church of the Holy Cross, ask for his resignation, beg leave to report, that as directed they called on the Rector and in as few words as possible made known your wishes. We did not consider it necessary to enter into a discussion of your reasons for taking this action, the duty was an unpleasant one and we hoped that a simple expression of your wishes would be sufficient. To our communication we have received the following:

"HOLY CROSS RECTORY, PLAINFIELD, N. J., Oct. 25th, 1893.

Mr. Chas. Matthews:

Brethren and committee named by the the Vestry of the Church of the Holy Cross. I shall act in accordance with the wish of my vestry.

Signed, T. LOGAN MURPHY."

PLAINFIELD, N. J., Oct. 26th, 1893.

Charles Matthews, Esq. Chairman, Plainfield, N. J.:

SIR:—At a meeting of the Vestry of the Parish of the Holy Cross held on Monday, Oct. 16th, 1893, the following resolution was moved and carried unanimously: "That the secretary of the Vestry be instructed to write the committee which called on Mr. Murphy, and request the resignation that Mr. Murphy has laid before us, the Vestry, the substance of their call, and that after careful thought and due consideration of his past services, present usefulness and circumstances changing the prospects for the future good of the Parish that he should not resign, and have requested him to act in accordance with our wishes, and in doing this the Vestry believe they are acting in accordance with the sentiments of the majority of the parishioners."

Signed, JOSEPH R. PLATT, Secty.

For a number of years the rector has been thought by many that a change of rector would be desirable. At the time we called on Mr. Murphy we had reason to believe that a large majority of the parishioners were of this opinion, and we still hold to this belief. We also knew that a majority of the members of the present vestry had expressed themselves in a like manner, one of them even offering to be one of a committee to wait on the Rector and so relieve him. What has since influenced them to change their views we do not know, but the fact remains and will hardly be denied.

Having performed the work entrusted to us we feel that our work is done and submit our report for your consideration. We feel, however, before asking to be relieved, that we should, in justice to ourselves, say to you and other members of the church of the Holy Cross, that we disclaim responsibility for the article that have appeared in the public press, attacking the Rector and his family, and cannot but express our disapproval and indignation at the character of the same. The simple facts are as we have stated and any reports in the newspapers that go to connect them were made up of idle gossip, misrepresentation, or pure invention. As they appeared in the newspapers they were thought by some to have been inspired by your Committee, and members of the church and even the "Ministers' Association" felt called upon to come to the defence of our Rector.

We think that the members of the Church of the Holy Cross, without regard to their views on the question of a change of Rector, feel abundantly able to manage their own affairs without outside assistance. We do not ask to interfere in any question that may arise in other denominations and it will hardly be thought unreasonable by members of the vestry that the gentlemen who letters represent, if we ask for reciprocity the same privilege.

Signed:

CHAS. MATTHEWS,
GEO. F. DIXON,
HENRY E. PHILLIPS,
MARTIN VOORHEES,
FRANK B. BROWN.

The Daily Press of this city is the only paper here in which the cowardly attack on Mr. Murphy's family was made, which the Committee styles as "idle gossip, misrepresentation and pure invention." There might be some excuse for New York papers, their being strangers, for reporting what they had already published.

The Press in its own defense intimates that it was published when it was furnished it. This is a poor excuse for such matter as was published.

We think the Committee's reference to the Ministerial Association is a trifle too severe. We believe the whole community will heartily indorse the Association in its noble and just resentment of the attack on the minister's family, and his personal character, in connection therewith.

Sociable at Grace M. E. Church.

The monthly sociable of the Epworth League of the Grace M. E. Church of Park place was held last night. There was a large number of young people present and very enjoyable evening was spent.

The Weather.

The weather to morrow promises to be clear and cooler, followed by frosts.

ANOTHER COW KILLED

MR. GEORGE STOVER LOSES A VALUABLE ANIMAL.

It was Killed in a Similar Manner to That of Mr. Cole's—Cut up Into Quarters and Carried Away.

Last week a valuable cow belonging to Postmaster George Stover of Mamaroneck (Oak Tree) was killed and cut up similar to the one killed belonging to Mr. Coles not long ago. The cow had been left in the pasture over night.

About twelve o'clock Mr. Stover saw a light in the field, which looked like a lantern. He dressed, and, taking his lantern, started to investigate.

Mr. Stover was greatly surprised to find that his cow had been killed, skinned and cut into quarters ready to carry away. He returned to the house to get his wagon to take the meat to the house.

Returning to the spot with his wagon, Mr. Stover was still more surprised to find that the meat was gone.

During all this time the person or persons who had killed the cow had returned and carried it way.

NAUGHTY WESTFIELD.

A Skirt Dancer Does Some High Kicking at a Club Smoker and There has been Some Kicking Since.

There were very few young men at the Baptist church sociable in Westfield, N. J., last night. Most of them—and a large number of the older men, too—were witnessing a skirt dance at the Westfield Athletic Club, two doors further down the street, where a "smoker" was going on.

There was a mystery about the smoker. The invitations read:

You are cordially invited to attend a smoker, to be held at the A. C. Hall, Friday evening, Oct. 27. Features not "naughty," but nice, neat, new, and novel will be introduced. Fun to commence at, say, 8.15.

W. A. G. ENTERTAINMENT COMMITTEE.

The naughty part was arranged by Mr. A. A. Drake, with Pefferian whiskers, who climbed upon the stage with a sly look in his eye, and said that he wanted to introduce to those present an old friend of his from a certain concert hall in New York. Then a gaunt old apparition appeared. The staid deacons gasped and closed their eyes—but opened them again at once. Then the dancer sang and "danced." The crowd yelled for more. The dancer had disappeared behind the wings for good, he or Mr. Pefferian whiskers got up from his front row seat and said that the door that leads back of the scenes. There was such a howl that he had to resume his seat.

The "Smoker" was voted "quite successful" but there is said to be some hooks kicking over it and this will prevent a repetition of such affairs.

BREVITIES.

—To night there will be long service in the W. C. T. U. rooms.

—The Climax Gun Club will hold its monthly "shoot" next Monday at the club grounds, on South avenue.

—"It is no use talking" says Mr. White, "The principal things are Queen and Stove." And he tells of prices in his advertisement that will interest you.

—Interesting accounts of the slum and shelter work of the Salvation Army will be given at the meeting to be held under the auspices of the Plainfield Branch of the Auxiliary League of the Salvation Army in the First Baptist church, Monday evening.

Mr Anderson One of the Auditors.

At the meeting of Somerset Council, No. 16, Jr. O. U. A. M., State Council Representative James D. Anderson, gave a report of the doings of the State Council, 33d year of the New Jersey Funeral Benefit Association.

The report showed that the Funeral Benefit Association for the year was 4,700.69 death claims were paid, at $2.50 each. The officers for the ensuing year of the order were elected as follows: President, H. Mantle; Secretary and Treasurer, W. H. Gay; Directors, A. J. Hall, W. Gill, H. Ivers and G. Van Glee. Auditor, S. O. C. Mills, James D. Anderson and E. Hook.

In Justice Nash's Court.

Justice Nash has issued summons in the following contract cases: Ortlieb vs. Stelle, Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Co., vs. Smith, Plainfield Gas and Electric Co. vs. Stelle, and Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Light Co. vs. Everett. All are returnable Nov. 8th.

Executors Summoned to Court.

Messrs. Charles H. and Nicholas Van Winkle have been summoned to appear in court at Somerville, as executors of estate of late Susan M. Cambell. One of the legatees is desirous of securing her share of the estate.

Burning Leaves and Diptheria.

It is said that the smoke from burning leaves is a prolific cause of diphtheria. If this be true it behooves our citizens to discontinue the Fall practice of burning them in the streets. Leaves make a very good garden mulch. They might be raked up and carried into the gardens for that purpose, or they might be prevented from blowing about. Clearly, damp days, when the atmosphere is heavy, are generally selected for the burning of leaves. At such times a most suffocating smoke hovers over the town, which must, if not productive of diphtheria and other forms of sickness, bring a most unpleasant condition. Let us avoid everything which may contribute to its existence. Ex.

FAVOR A PYTHIAN HOME

MEETING OF THE GENERAL COMMITTEE KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.

Resolutions Adopted Favoring the Erection of Such a Home, and Requesting the Grand Lodge to Take some Action in the Matter.

A MEETING was held last night in the hall of Crescent Temple of Honor Lodge, No. 76, K. of P., of the general committee appointed by the lodges of Knights of Pythias of Plainfield, to devise the interests of a proposed Pythian Home.

In spite of the stormy weather a large delegation was present, representing all the lodges in the district.

The general committee appointed a committee, consisting Messrs. Lindenberg, Pope and Godfrey to draft a memorial to be presented to the Grand Lodge at its next session.

The question of location for the Home was thoroughly discussed, and it was decided to leave the question with the committee when appointed by the Grand lodge.

The following resolutions were adopted:

The General Committee appointed by the Lodges of Knights of Pythias of District No. 14, of New Jersey, to advance the interests of a Pythian Soldiers' and Sailors' Home of New Jersey, in convention assembled in the Castle Hall of Pequonnock Lodge, No. 76, K. of P., on the evening of October 27, 1893, do resolve:

First. That it is the sentiment and vote of this committee that the Grand Lodge Knights of Pythias of New Jersey do establish a suitable and suitable Pythian Home in New Jersey.

Second. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Third. In order that the Grand Lodge may properly and effectively have such attention directed to the desired Home, this committee recommends the appointment of three be appointed to prepare a suitable memorial, which memorial shall properly set forth, the feasibility and necessity of the establishment of a Pythian Home, and shall also petition the Grand Lodge of New Jersey at the next annual session to be held in Trenton, to adopt a suitable resolution to the effect that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey do establish a Pythian Home and suitable Pythian Home in New Jersey.

Fourth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Fifth. In order that the Grand Lodge may properly and effectively have such attention directed to the desired Home, this committee recommends the appointment of three be appointed to prepare a suitable memorial, which memorial shall properly set forth, the feasibility and necessity of the establishment of a Pythian Home, and shall also petition the Grand Lodge of New Jersey at the next annual session to be held in Trenton, to adopt a suitable resolution to the effect that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey do establish a Pythian Home and suitable Pythian Home in New Jersey.

Sixth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Seventh. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Eighth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Ninth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Tenth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Eleventh. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Twelfth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Thirteenth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Fourteenth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Fifteenth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Sixteenth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Seventeenth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Eighteenth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Nineteenth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Twentieth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Twenty-first. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Twenty-second. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Twenty-third. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Twenty-fourth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Twenty-fifth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Twenty-sixth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Twenty-seventh. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Twenty-eighth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Twenty-ninth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Thirtieth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Thirty-first. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Thirty-second. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Thirty-third. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Thirty-fourth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Thirty-fifth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Thirty-sixth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Thirty-seventh. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Thirty-eighth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Thirty-ninth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Fortieth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Forty-first. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Forty-second. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Forty-third. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Forty-fourth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Forty-fifth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Forty-sixth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Forty-seventh. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Forty-eighth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Forty-ninth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Fiftieth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Fifty-first. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Fifty-second. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Fifty-third. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Fifty-fourth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Fifty-fifth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Fifty-sixth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Fifty-seventh. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Fifty-eighth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Fifty-ninth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Sixtieth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Sixty-first. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Sixty-second. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Sixty-third. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Sixty-fourth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Sixty-fifth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Sixty-sixth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Sixty-seventh. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Sixty-eighth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Sixty-ninth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Seventieth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Seventy-first. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Seventy-second. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Seventy-third. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Seventy-fourth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Seventy-fifth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Seventy-sixth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Seventy-seventh. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Seventy-eighth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Seventy-ninth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Eightieth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Eighty-first. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Eighty-second. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Eighty-third. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Eighty-fourth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Eighty-fifth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Eighty-sixth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Eighty-seventh. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Eighty-eighth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Eighty-ninth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Ninetieth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Ninety-first. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Ninety-second. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Ninety-third. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Ninety-fourth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Ninety-fifth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Ninety-sixth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Ninety-seventh. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Ninety-eighth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

Ninety-ninth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundredth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and first. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and second. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and third. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and fourth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and fifth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and sixth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and seventh. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and eighth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and ninth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and tenth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and eleventh. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and twelfth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and thirteenth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and fourteenth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and fifteenth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and sixteenth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and seventeenth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and eighteenth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and nineteenth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and twentieth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and twenty-first. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and twenty-second. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and twenty-third. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and twenty-fourth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and twenty-fifth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and twenty-sixth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and twenty-seventh. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and twenty-eighth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and twenty-ninth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and thirtieth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and thirty-first. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and thirty-second. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and thirty-third. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and thirty-fourth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and thirty-fifth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and thirty-sixth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and thirty-seventh. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and thirty-eighth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and thirty-ninth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and fortieth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and forty-first. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and forty-second. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and forty-third. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and forty-fourth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and forty-fifth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and forty-sixth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and forty-seventh. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and forty-eighth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and forty-ninth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and fiftieth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and fifty-first. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and fifty-second. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and fifty-third. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and fifty-fourth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and fifty-fifth. That it is the sense of this committee that the Grand Lodge of New Jersey should as a Grand Body take cognizance of this matter, and formulate and advance plans with a view towards the erection of such home.

One hundred and fifty-sixth

EDITORIAL NOTES

There is something melancholy in the fact that from now on, in spite of the enthusiasm of the G. A. R.'s in rallying their forces, there will be a steady and rapid falling off in their ranks. The annual drums of mutes on the pension rolls. The decline is already apparent. In the two months from July 1 to Sept. 1 there was decrease in the pension list of 1,604 names. Comparatively few of these were of those who had been suspended from the list pending investigation, so it must be concluded that death has been busy with the old soldiers the past summer.

Basil Lockwood, the heroic colored man who rescued a number of clerks from death at the time of the Ford's theater disaster in Washington, has received at least a small recognition of his service. He has been appointed a messenger in the United States war department at Washington.

"If this thing keeps on, I'll go and get married," exclaimed a Philadelphia working girl who was out of employment. "I'd rather do that than starve." What are we coming to when girls only accept matrimony instead of starvation?

SUNDAY SERVICES.

THE USUAL SATURDAY ANNOUNCEMENTS.

What Will be Done at the Churches, Chapels and Missions in Plainfield and North Plainfield.—The Themes for Morning and Evening.

Notice of religious services are published under this head free of charge, but it is necessary that they be furnished before noon of Saturday to insure insertion the same day.]

Mr. Stewart will conduct the service at Mt. Pleasant school house tomorrow evening.

All Souls' church, Park avenue. The pastor, Rev. Robert Clark will preach. Service at 10.45 a. m. Sunday school at 11.45 a. m.

German Lutheran, St. Peters congregation will hold services in the Warren school at 10 a. m. Sunday school at 9.30 a. m. Rev. Ed. Kloeck, pastor.

Grace M. C. T. U. rooms will be open as usual for the 9.45 o'clock praise and consecration service and the gospel temperance meeting at four p. m.

Bethel A. M. E. mission, Third street Prayer meeting at 9 and 10 a. m. by the pastor. Sunday school at 2.30 p. m. All are invited. Rev. J. H. Hill, pastor.

Hope chapel. Communion of the Lord's Supper, 10.30 a. m.; Sunday-school at three p. m.; song service and preaching at 7.45 p. m. J. Beverly Nevill, pastor.

First Church of Christ. Preaching at 10.45 a. m., and 7.45 p. m. Subject: "Our Position Principle." Communion of Supper at 11.45 a. m. Sunday-school at three p. m.

Thurlow avenue M. E. chapel. Morning service at 11 a. m. by the pastor, Robert R. Munson. At eight o'clock, praise service and addresses by Mr. James Mairs.

East Third street mission. Gospel services at 7.45 p. m., Y. P. S. C. E. meeting on Sunday and Monday at 7.45 p. m. Evening services in charge of Mr. C. Dorsen.

In the Trinity Reformed church to-morrow the Rev. W. H. Vroom, of Paterson, N. J., will preach at 10.30 a. m. and 7.30 p. m. Sabbath-school will meet at 2.30 p. m.

Warren chapel. Rev. Joseph O. Mc Keirby pastor. Morning service at 11 o'clock. Sunday-school at 2.30 p. m. Song service at 7.45. Devotional meeting at eight p. m.

Crescent avenue church. Rev. Wm. H. Richards, D. D. pastor. Services to-morrow at 10.30 a. m. and 7.30 p. m. Sunday-school at 2.30 p. m. All seats free at the evening service.

Services in St. Mary's church, First mass at 7 a. m. Second mass at 8.30. Third mass at 9.45. High mass at 10.45. Sunday-school at 2.30 p. m., and evening service at 7.30 p. m.

The T. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon meeting will be led by Mr. Scott Edgar and singing by the male quartette and will prove a feature from 4.15 to 5.15. Any young man is cordially invited to be present.

First Baptist church. Preaching at 10.30 a. m. by Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes. Sunday school at the usual hour at 2.30 p. m. Preaching at 7.30 p. m. by Rev. F. P. Sutherland of Scotch Plains.

The Church of the Holy Cross, the Rev. T. Logan Murphy, rector. Celebration of the Holy Communion at 8.30 a. m. Morning prayer and sermon at 11 a. m. Afternoon service at 4.30 p. m. Sunday-school at three p. m.

Services at the church of the Heavenly Rest, Clinton avenue, at seven o'clock p. m. The Rev. William L. Robeyn of New York will officiate and administer the Holy Communion. Sunday school at 9.30 a. m. Seats free.

Grace Methodist Episcopal church, North Plainfield. Preaching at 10.30 a. m. and 7.45 p. m. by the pastor, Rev. Herbert F. Randolph. Sunday-school at 2.30 p. m. Epworth devotional service at 6.30. Seats free. All welcome.

The Methodist Episcopal church, Rev. C. R. Barnes, D. D., pastor. 10.30 a. m. sermon to the graduating class. 2.30 p. m., Sunday school; 3.45 p. m., Epworth League prayer meeting; 7.30 p. m., praise service, at which Miss Hooker and others will sing.

Services in the First Presbyterian church, corner of Central avenue and Madison avenue at 10.30. Evening service at 7.45. At the evening service the pastor will preach by request of the Brethren. Sunday school at 9.30 a. m. Young People's meeting at seven p. m.

To-morrow service will be held in the German Reformed church on Crab Orchard. North Plainfield at 10.30 a. m. only. Rev. Dr. Wambold, of Mt. Bethel church, the pastor will preach. Theme of the sermon: "The Blessing of the House of God." Sunday school at 9.15 a. m.

Church of Our Saviour, Rev. S. P. Simpson. Holy Communion, 7.30 a. m. Sunday school at 2.30 p. m. Evening prayer, four o'clock p. m. Rev. Dr. Harding will preach. Evening prayer and sermon will leave R. R. station for the church and return at 10.30 a. m.

Asbury Park avenue Baptist church. The pastor, Rev. Dr. W. H. Bowden will preach morning and evening. Public 10.30 a. m. The Lord's supper will be observed. Sunday school at 2.30 p. m. The Union Meeting for Young People will be held at 6.30 p. m. Subject: "Temperance." The Bible Study class suspended to Sunday week; saturday and Sunday as usual 4.30 p. m.

THE VOTING ON REPEAL

Many Amendments Are Voted Down.

THE VOORHEES BILL SUBSTITUTED.

The Debate Is to Go on Just the Same Though.—Teller Pronounces a Financial Question Over the Dead Bodies of the Silver Men.—Peffer's Amendment Rejected.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—After 80 odd days of wearisome debate the senate reached a vote on the first proposition to repeal the Sherman law at 1.37 o'clock this morning, and the vote was 48 to 37. A similar amendment had been laid on the table during the memorable week of personal endurance early in October, but that stroke of aggressive strategy was accomplished when the antirepeal men were endeavoring to head off a vote, and the vote was wholly worthless as a trial of strength between the two forces and of no practical parliamentary advantage to the opponents of repeal.

The vote taken yesterday was the first definite and formal muster of the repeal and antirepeal following, and though free coinage could scarcely be expected to gather all the strength of the opposition to the Voorhees bill, the vote showed a decided gain in favor of free coinage against the unconditional repeal, which none of the subsequent hostile amendments voted on is likely seriously to impair. On the roll call 24 senators opposed Mr. Voorhee's free coinage substitute, while 39 opposed it—a closer majority on the repeal side of it. Nine pairs were announced, bringing the totals up to 37 for free coinage and 48 against it.

After Mr. Jones had laid the door for some two hours he asked that the night session today, as he probably could occupy the floor for a short time in explanation of the amendment, and it was promptly so ordered. Mr. Peffer spoke for a moment, and then a vote on his amendment was begun. Mr. Peffer said he had discovered in the public prints that he had surrendered and had recommended to his political associates to surrender. "Mr. President," he said, "we have not surrendered, nor do we intend to. We do not intend to interpose factious opposition, but at every stage we shall interpose determined resistance and determined opposition."

Peffer's Amendment Rejected.

The question was then put on the amendment, and it was rejected—yeas, 28; nays, 39. The detailed vote on the Peffer amendment was as follows:

Yeas—Allen, Bate, Berry, Blackburn, Butler, Call, Cokе, Daniel, Dubois, George, Harris, Irby, Jones of Arkansas, Jones of Nevada, Kyle, Martin, Pasco, Peffer, Power, Pugh, Roach, Shoup, Stewart, Teller, Vance, Vest, Walthall and Wolcott—total, 28.

Nays—Aldrich, Caffery, Camden, Carey, Collom, Davis, Dixon, Dolph, Faulkner, Frye, Gallinger, Gorman, Hansbrough, Hale, Higgins, Hill, Hoar, Lindsay, Lodge, McMillan, McPherson, Manderson, Mitchell of Oregon, Mitchell of Wisconsin, Murphy, Palmer, Perkins, Proctor, Quay, Ransom, Sherman, Smith, Stockbridge, Turpie, Vilas, Voorhees, Washburn and White of Louisiana—total, 39.

The following pairs were announced, the first name being in the affirmative:

Cockrell and Allison, Cameron and Brice, White (Cal.) and Squire, Colquitt and Wilson, Pettigrew and Gordon, Hansbrough and Mills, Morgan and Hawley, Hunton and Platt, Mitchell (Or.) and Squire.

The amendment which was voted down revived, with some slight exceptions, the amendment of Mr. Jones and provided for the free coinage of silver.

Mr. Voorhees then moved that the substitute reported by the finance committee for the house bill be stricken out and the unanimous consent that after its adoption it might be treated as an open amendment, so the original bill would be. To the latter request there was no objection. On his motion the yeas and nays were taken, and by a vote of yeas 38, nays 9, the substitute reported by the finance committee was agreed to.

Those who voted against the substitute were Senators Allen, Bate, Call, Cokе, Irby, Kyle, Peffer, Pugh and Vance.

Mr. Perkins' Amendment.

Mr. Perkins of California then offered the amendment of which he had given notice on Oct. 14. "It provides for the coinage of American silver at the existing ratio, with a seigniorage charge of 20 per cent. No gold piece of the denomination than $10 are to be coined, and no legal tender, national currency or treasury notes of a less denomination than $10 are to be issued. The holder of any standard silver dollars may deposit the same with the treasurer or assistant treasurer of the United States in any sum not less than $100, and receive certificates of deposit therefor. All coin which notes shall have the same legal tender quality as the coin for which they are exchanged."

There is to be appointed a commission of five to report next session, the members whereof shall not be otherwise connected with the government, and it shall be the duty of the said commission to inquire as to how to best keep congress and the executive board advised on all necessary matters relating to the currency.

Mr. Perkins explained his amendment and said, now that the wickedness of Shylock had come to an end it could be discussed in an unprejudiced manner.

Mr. Stewart called attention to the change of votes on the part of Messrs. Voorhees, Gordon, Ransom, Hill, Mills, Turpie and Squire on the silver question, who had spoken and voted for free coinage and now on Mr. Peffer's amendment voted against it.

Mr. Allen of Nebraska expressed the hope at what might be called a backdown to some extent upon the part of the advocates of silver.

Mr. Teller, while not favoring Mr. Perkins' proposition to coin only silver of American product, as that served of discrimination, thought it was better than the Peffer amendment, as it was better that the people should act. Mr. Teller went on to speak with great feeling upon the question of the coinage of silver by Republican platforms. He said the present controversy ought to have been settled by a concession to the advocates of silver.

"Nobody who hears me can say," he said, "would disagree with me in the statement that if the men sitting in front of me (Republicans) on this side of the senate were ready to surrender to something as near the mean as they believed it could be obtained, the democrats behind me would have been a conservative body and democratic legislation would have been impossible. I am not complaining of the democrats. They have been conservative, but they have been conservative because they have been compelled to be so by the action of the republicans on this side of the chamber

MISS GARLAND SUICIDES

The Daughter of the Ex-Attorney General Shot Herself.

A BULLET THROUGH HER HEART.

She Was a Sufferer From Religious Melancholia and Had Acted Strangely Before. Killed Herself on the Eve of Her Theater Party.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Miss Daisy Garland, aged 23 years, daughter of ex-Attorney General Garland, committed suicide at her home here. She shot herself through the heart with her father's revolver.

There was nothing in the young woman's condition in the morning to indicate any mental disturbance. She conversed with the family in regard to a theater party which she was to give last night. Afterward she went to her room, and at luncheon time one of the family went to call her.

The young woman was found lying on the floor dead. The body was still warm, indicating that the shot had been fired only a short time previous. No one in the house heard the report.

Miss Garland is the young woman who recently left home mysteriously. She was found in Baltimore three days later. Miss Garland's friends say that she has been subject to mental aberration. Lately she had suffered from religious melancholia.

Disappeared Once Before.

Miss Garland lived with her father and brothers in the handsome residence of Mr. Garland, which he had recently purchased on Rhode Island avenue, N. W. Aug. 10 last she mysteriously disappeared from home, and after the lapse of three days, during which time no news had been received of her, the police were requested to join in the search. This description was then sent out from police headquarters:

"Look out for Miss Daisy Garland, aged 23, tall, stout, dark eyes and hair. Wore a dark dress and several diamonds. Carried a small satchel when last seen. She is a daughter of ex-Attorney General Garland. Notify 015 Rhode Island avenue."

Soon afterward tidings were received that the young lady was in Baltimore, and Representative John H. Fellows, an old time Arkansas friend of her father, went over to that city, accompanied by her brother, and brought her back. The explanation then given was that she had left word with a young lady friend that she intended to visit Baltimore, and by some means this message failed of delivery. Her brother made public a statement at the time that he went over to Baltimore with Colonel Fellows to the address given (which was that of a Catholic family in Madison avenue) and there found his sister, who would have returned in a day or two anyway. He added:

Suffered From Dementia.

"She thought it was strange that we should come for her, and when she reached home and found a number of people waiting for her in the house and learning the publicity that had been given her absence and the alarm it had created she was prostrated, and we thought that we should have to call in a physician. If the reason she sent us had been delivered, there would have been no trouble. The report that my sister had gone into a convent arose probably from the fact that she had talked lately of joining the Catholic church, which she will probably do shortly. I have a brother who is a member of that church, and there is no objection to her joining it if she wishes."

Miss Garland, it is asserted, had repeatedly referred to the theater party and said she supposed her friends would want some explanation. Yesterday morning she went down to breakfast, apparently in her accustomed health and spirits. She devoted part of the morning to arranging details for a theater party, but when called for lunch as above, was found dead in her bedroom, shot through the heart by her father's pistol, fired by her own hand. Mr. Garland had gone to his law office immediately after breakfast and first heard of his daughter's tragic death by telephone.

The coroner viewed the body, but did not consider an inquest necessary. Miss Garland was attractive in person and manners, and was well known and popular in society. For some time she had been suffering from nervous prostration and acute dementia. Her tragic death by her own hand was a great shock to her friends, and indeed to all Washington.

Lima on the Verge of Riot.

LIMA, Oct. 28.—The action of congress in annulling the municipal elections has provoked general resistance throughout the republic. The excitement which it has created here is most serious. Commerce is paralyzed, and the streets are patrolled by soldiers. Trouble is expected.

Eighteen Months For Manslaughter.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28.—Harry Hopkins, a 17-year-old newsboy, was sentenced to 18 months' imprisonment for manslaughter. He pleaded guilty to having shot a young white girl on the Fourth of July. It was shown that the shooting was accidental.

Dropped Dead In the Surrogate's Office.

LONG ISLAND CITY, N. Y., Oct. 28.—Chairman Cornelius, deputy treasurer of Queens county, dropped dead in the surrogate's office while rendering his account as executor of a will.

Children Celebrate William Penn Day.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28.—All of the public schools during the usual services to commemorate the two hundred and eleventh anniversary of the landing of William Penn.

A Mate Held For Cruelty.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28.—Joseph Corea, mate on the schooner Mount Hope of New Bedford, was held to answer on a charge of gross cruelty toward a sailor.

The Pilot Disappears.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28.—Pilot Johnson, who was in charge of the steamer City of New York when she went ashore, has disappeared and cannot be found.

Another Woolen Mill Strike Expected.

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 28.—The indications are that another woolen mill strike will be inaugurated Monday at the Lymansville woolen mills, near Olneyville.

A Steamer and Consort Missing.

PORT HURON, Mich., Oct. 28.—The steamer City of Concord and her consort, the Dunford, are missing. They left here 17 days ago.

Colima's Eruptions Increasing.

VALPARAISO, Oct. 28.—The eruption of Mount Calboco is increasing. All the crops in that locality have been destroyed.

World's Fair Attendance.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—The total paid admissions Friday were 230,382.

REED PREDICTS RUIN.

The Ex-Speaker Says the Present Tariff Law Must Go Down.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 28.—Ex-Speaker Thomas B. Reed spoke to the largest audience that had gathered in the city hall since Governor McKinley spoke in the city last year. The hall was crowded, and standing room was at a premium considerably before the hour set for the rally to begin. A large number of women were present, as were delegations from Northampton, Westfield and Holyoke.

Ex-Governor Robinson presided and made a short speech. Mr. Reed was given a tremendous ovation. He laid especial stress upon the hard times and predicted that the worst was yet to come. In reference to the fact that Democrats said the Republican manufacturers were closing their mills for political reasons, he asked why the Democratic manufacturers had shut down their establishments.

Mr. Reed also spoke in Holyoke before an audience that filled the hall in its utmost capacity. Mayor Farr presided and introduced Mr. Reed, who was unable to speak for several minutes, so great was the applause. A score of times he said: "I think it would be a good thing for the Republican party if some of you were to take some more lessons from that excellent teacher, experience, with which you have had so much to do in late times. I do not like to see suffering, and I hope that what you have learned in the past six months will be of sufficient worth to you to lead you in the path of rectitude and knowledge the remaining days of your lives."

TWICE TRIMMED TICKINGS.

Severin, the eminent Danish mathematician, is dead.

The threatened strike of plasterers in New York was averted.

Jack Dillon and Happy Jack, two Coeur d'Alene outlaws, were captured.

A woman and a man were arrested in Richmond, Ind., while robbing a grave.

There are now 146 cases of smallpox in Muncie, Ind., and 68 houses are infected.

It is feared that the France, Captain Hansen's arctic exploration vessel, has been lost.

Ex-Judge William McKennan of the United States circuit court died at Pittsburg.

The New Yorker captured in England on a charge of forgery was Ewald Outtemann.

Captain Sheldrake, who was trying to cross the ocean in a 15 foot dory, is believed to have been lost.

The Fyfield church, near Abington, England, which was built in the thirteenth century, was destroyed by fire.

The Winchester Repeating Arms company denied that the concern was making guns for either the Brazilian government or the insurgents.

Crushed to Death In a Trench.

AUBURNDALE, Mass., Oct. 28.—A sewer gang was at work digging a deep trench here when a careless workmen removed a prop and tons of earth and rock plunged downward. Two men were undercoath, and half an hour afterward Torino Damiem was dug out dead and bleeding, but not alive. Five hours later they found another body crushed out of all resemblance to a man. No one knows his name.

Peixoto Buys Another Ship.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—It is said that the El Rio, sister ship to El Cid, has been sold to the same people who bought the last named vessel. El Rio is in every apparent particular similar to El Cid, and can be altered into an exceedingly fast and efficient warship. The purchase of El Rio makes it practically certain that Peixoto is the purchaser of El Cid and of the arms contracted for recently.

Glass Workers Make Concessions.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 28.—At a meeting of the National Window Glass Workers' association here it was decided to notify the manufacturers that if the scale was signed by Nov. 20 the workmen would permit the manufacturers to hold from one-half to two-thirds of their wages until next May to help them over the present depression in the business.

Three Men Robbed Three Women.

BUFFALO, Oct. 28.—Miss Maggie Gross, Miss Minnie Winters and Mrs. Cole were held up by three men on the road that leads through Delaware college woods to the whirlpool at Niagara Falls, and a bag containing about $20 was taken from Miss Gross. Patrick Sullivan, who claims New York as his home, has been arrested.

Groom 66, Bride 18.

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 28.—Mr. Charles Coghlan, in regard to his reported marriage to Miss Kathleen Beveridge of his company, said that he had married Miss Beveridge Tuesday night after the performance. The ceremony was kept secret on Mr. Coghlan's instruction. Miss Beveridge is not yet 19. Mr. Coghlan is 52.

Robbing Vermont Postoffices.

ST. ALBANS, Vt., Oct. 28.—The gang of burglars which has been engaged in the systematic robbery of postoffices is still operating in this vicinity and so far baffled detection. The postoffices at Milton, Franklin and West Berkshire were the last to be entered.

Will State Their Grievances.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Oct. 28.—The grievance committee of the employes of the Lehigh Valley Railroad company will issue an address to the public setting forth a full statement of the case of the men against the company.

A New French Battleship Launched.

TOULON, Oct. 28.—The launching of the battleship Jauregerry at Segne, three miles from Toulon, was witnessed by an immense throng of people. President Carnot and Admiral Avelan were present.

Patti Sails For America.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 28.—Adelina Patti gave a farewell concert in Bell Inn last night before beginning her American tour. Patti will sail with Nicolini, her husband, on the steamship Lucania today.

Wheel Establishes a Record.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 28.—W. W. Windle of this city made a new world's bicycle record at Hampden park Friday, covering eight of a mile from flying start, making the distance in 13 1-5 seconds.

A Legal Hanging In Georgia.

MADISON, Ga., Oct. 28.—Isaac Williams, a negro, was hanged here for the murder of a woman who killed him and married another man.

Custer Will Be Married Next Month.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Mayor Harrison announces that he will marry Miss Annie Howard of New Orleans on Nov. 7 at her residence.

All That's Yellow is not Cottolene

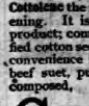
There's hardly a housekeeper in the country but has heard of Cottolene the new vegetable shortening. It is a strictly natural product; composed only of clarified cotton seed oil, thickened for convenience in use, with refined beef suet, pure and sweet. So composed,

COTTOLENE

Was bound to win, and to drive out lard from the kitchens of the world. When housekeepers wish to get rid of the unpleasant features and results of lard, they should get Cottolene, taking care that they are not given cheap imitations with vegetable names, spuriously compounded to sell in the place of Cottolene.

It's easy to avoid disappointment and ensure satisfaction. Insist on having Cottolene.

Sold in 3 and 5 pound pails.



Made only by
N.K. FAIRBANK & CO.,
CHICAGO.
124 E. Delaware Ave., Phila.
Produce Exchange, N.Y.

U. B. CRANE,

has the largest stock of

Fine Fall HATS,

in Plainfield.

112 WEST FRONT STREET.

AFIRE IN MIDOCEAN.

For Nearly Two Days the Steamer's Crew Battled With Flames.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—The steamship Gellert of the Hamburg-American line, which arrived here from Hamburg with a full quota of cabin and steerage passengers, had a thrilling experience with a fire in midocean which resisted all the efforts of her officers and crew for nearly two days, and which, before it was finally extinguished, drove all the cabin passengers from their staterooms and made the after part of the ship uninhabitable.

The fire broke out in the after section of the hold, immediately under the steerage. It must have smoldered in the cargo for hours and perhaps days before it made itself evident to the frightened crew and passengers.

The officers acted with great coolness and no breaches of discipline were reported among the crew. The passengers remained calm upon the assurance of Captain Richard Courtis that he could put out by any possibility spread beyond the watertight iron bulkhead which divided the ship about a third of the way forward from the stern.

The Gellert was in the middle of the Atlantic, some 1,100 miles from port, when the fire was first reported. The flames spread during the first few hours in spite of all the efforts made by the captain and crew to quench them. The captain caused the boats to be provisioned and put them in readiness to take off the passengers and crew in case the flames should render such action necessary.

The fire was discovered, had broken out in the after hold among some bales of sod feathers, and had its origin, it is supposed, in spontaneous combustion.

A SWINDLER EXPOSED.

He Posed as a United States Consul In a Montana Town.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 28.—A Mexican swindler, who is said to have been operating all over the United States, has just been exposed. Some time ago Charles H. Sippy of Allegheny received a letter from Charles Hamilton Shafer, who claimed to be United States consul at Pecos, Vera Cruz, Mexico. The letter stated that a man named Charles Monlton had died there, leaving valuable jewelry and papers for Sippy, which would be forwarded to the latter upon receipt of $10 for funeral expenses.

Sippy placed the letter in the hands of Arnold Schneider of this city, vice consul of Belgium, who forwarded it, with a letter of inquiry, to Edward A. Stroebel of the state department at Washington. In reply Mr. Stroebel says there was no consul at Pecos and the letter was probably an attempt to obtain money by fraud. The same inquiry has reached the department from several sources, and steps are being taken to expose and if possible punish the swindler. Sippy's letter supposed to be one of thousands sent persons in different parts of the United States.

A Yeathful Blacksmither.

DERBY DEPOT, N. H., Oct. 28.—Professor E. R. Angell of Pickering academy received an assigned note stating that it belonged to Edward A. Sawtelle and was essential to the recipient's character which not be made public. Professor Angell decided to investigate, and the result was an appointment in a lonely place. The writer proved to be a boy named Rast G. Smith, who pulled a revolver and demanded the money. He was captured.

Italians Used Their Knives.

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—Policeman Jack arrested Frank Sacco, an Italian, for being drunk. A number of Italians friends of the prisoner drew knives and attempted to rescue him. Assisted by Officers Sullivan, James Wright and John Hersey, who aided the patrolman, were stabbed. A platoon of police clubbed its way through the mob and arrested three of the Italians.

Niagara to Turn Many Spindles.

NIAGARA FALLS, Oct. 28.—The Cataract Construction company of New York has a gigantic contract for the construction of the immense electrical power house here, and work will commence immediately. The system of transmitting electricity by cables underneath the ground for any great distance, as to Rochester, Buffalo and Toronto, will be by conduit.

Legal Advertisements.

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY.
Between Frederick Frazee, complainant, and Charles Arkenburgh and Jane Arkenburgh, his wife, defendants, and John Allen and Mrs. John Allen, his wife.

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereof, in a cause wherein John R. Martin is complainant and you are defendants, I, as master, appointed by said court, do hereby give notice to you, the said defendants, that you are required to pay to the said complainant, or to me, on or before the 15th day of December next, the amount due to the said complainant for principal and interest, and costs of suit in the said cause, or in default thereof I will be taking my counsel learned in the law.

The said lot is bounded and described as follows, viz.: Beginning at a stone monument set by Jacob Martin, Jr., for the northeast corner of the lot hereby described, and running thence (1) by the Township of Westfield and Fanwood in the County of Union, south 10½ degrees west 16.50 chains to a stone monument set by Jacob Martin, Jr., for the southeast corner of the lot hereby described, and by the lands of Mrs. M. Maxwell Halstead, and John Allen, now or late of Plainfield, and Mrs. John Allen, now or late of Plainfield, north 89½ degrees west 4.00 chains to a stone monument set by Jacob Martin, Jr., for the southwest corner of the lot hereby described, and by the lands of Mrs. M. Maxwell Halstead, and John Allen, now or late of Plainfield, north 10½ degrees east 16.50 chains to a stone monument set by Jacob Martin, Jr., for the northwest corner of the lot hereby described, and by the lands of Mrs. M. Maxwell Halstead, and John Allen, now or late of Plainfield, south 89½ degrees east 4.00 chains to the place of beginning, containing 6 acres of land more or less.

Dated August 1, 1893.

NELSON BENTON,
Solicitor of Complainant.
Cor. Park avenue and Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

$13 50

CORPORATION NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the Common Council have fixed the thirty-first day of October, A. D., 1893, at eight o'clock p. m., and the Common Council Chamber, on the second floor of the City Hall of Plainfield, as the time and place for J. Frederick Hoffman, Wm. M. Martin and Edward C. Mulford, the commissioners appointed by the Supreme Court of New Jersey, in proceedings entitled, "An Ordinance to widen Madison avenue from Front street to the northerly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey," to hear all persons interested in the said proceedings who may object to the widening and laying out in Madison avenue from Front street to the northerly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, as shown by said map and said ordinance, and to assess the damages to any and all persons entitled to damages by reason thereof. More detailed description.

By order of the Common Council.

F. W. RUNYON, City Clerk.
Plainfield, N. J., October 21, 1893. 10 27 6w

NOTICE OF ASSIGNMENT.

Notice is hereby given that Augustus Vanderveer, of the borough of North Plainfield, in the County of Somerset, and State of New Jersey, carrying on the business of the manufacture of carpets at the Cornish Carpet Mills, No. 309 South avenue, in the City of Plainfield, Union County, New Jersey, under the name and style of "Vanderveer & Co.," hath this day made an assignment to the subscriber, of his estate, for the benefit of creditors, and that the said creditors must exhibit their respective claims against said assignor, duly proven, at the office of Chas. A. Reed, No. 113 East Front street, Plainfield, New Jersey, on or before Dated, September 5, 1893.

SAMUEL PT. J. MCCUTCHEN,
Assignee.

9 9 6w

STATE OF GEORGE R. POUND, DECEASED.

By virtue of the order of George T. Parrot, Surrogate of the County of Union, this day made, on the application of the undersigned, executor of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscriber under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscriber.

ROBINSON POUND, Executor.
Dated July 18, 1893. 7 29 9

EXECUTOR'S SETTLEMENT.

Notice is hereby given, that the account of the subscriber, surviving executor of Hugh W. Tall, deceased, will be audited and stated by the Surrogate, and reported for settlement to the Supreme Court of Union county, on Wednesday, the fourth day of October next.

Dated August 1, 1893.

9 30 JOHN S. VAIL.

JOSEPH SOHL,

PRACTICAL

Electrician

49 NORTH AVENUE.

Plainfield, N. J.

Estimates furnished on Electric Light Wiring, Burglar Alarm and Bell Work and repairing of same. Dealer in

Electric and Gas Fixtures.

1893 TAXES!

Notice is hereby given to the taxpayers of the

City of Plainfield,

that the taxes assessed in said city for the year 1893 will be due and payable, and that if the said taxes be not paid by the next, the names of the delinquents, with their respective taxes, will be returned to the Law Judge for the prosecution. The

20th Day of December

COMMISSIONERS OF APPEAL,

in cases of taxation, will meet in the Council Chamber, on the

Fourth Tuesday in November Next,

(the 28th,) and six from two o'clock p. m. until five o'clock p. m. of said day, for the purpose of hearing all cases submitted to them for consideration.

JOHN JOHNSON,
Collector of Taxes.
Dated, Plainfield, N. J., October 2, 1893.
10 2 5w

A. W. Rand,

140 WEST FRONT STREET.

New and second hand

SCHOOL - BOOKS.

School supplies of all kinds.

Those wishing to exchange second hand books must bring them in immediately.

Van Eps,

THE NEW JEWELER.

12 Park Avenue. Also a large variety of Musical Goods. 8 17

TAKE NOTICE.

Charles Arnold,

the butcher,

Is Still in the Race

for cut prices.

Fresh Pork and Sausage 12c. lb.
My own Dressed Jersey Chickens, 15c. lb.
Legs Mutton, 10c. lb.
Lamb, 12c. lb.

My finished Meats and all other Meats will be the same old cut prices.

Arnold's : Market,

208 LIBERTY STREET.

GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE.

Strictly Cash.

Are You Insured?

If you are 21 years old $96.00 paid annually for fifteen years would entitle you to $1,000.

If 25 years old, $27.

If 35 years old, $62.50.

If 24 years old, $97.20.

This sum of $1,000 is payable to the insured, if living, at the expiration of fifteen years, or at his death if prior.

FOR A LIFE POLICY, of $1,000 the annual payments to continue during life, the payments for young men between 21 and 24 are between $18.60 and $23.

For catalogues and further particulars address or call on D. Bloomfield, 11b Somerset street, agent, The New York Mutual Life Insurance Company.

F. M. HULETT,

MUSIC DEALER,

74 West Front Street,

handles the following makes:

Gildemeister & Kroeger,
Kranich & Bach,
Star,
Mulfield,
Jacob Bros. Pianos,
and the world renowned
Newman Bros. and Mason & Hamlin Organs.

Builders Cards.

Daniel Hulick,

Carpenter

and

General Jobber.

SHOP

35 Jackson Avenue.

Storm doors and window sashes a specialty.

JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

Window Screens made to order.

John P. Emmons,

MASON AND BUILDER,

Corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place.

Jobbing promptly attended to.

P. O. Box 322.

DUNSON & GAYLE,

Carpenters and Builders.

W. J. Dunson, No. 16 Vine street. H. B. Gayle, No. 19 Vine street.

All work promptly attended to.

WILLIAM G. SMITH,

PRACTICAL MASON AND BUILDER.

All orders for Jobbing promptly attended to.

Residence—Grandview avenue.

P. O. Box 228.

R. V. SAYRE,

Carpenter & Builder.

Residence—Clinton avenue, near Sayre Street.

P. O. Box 288

Jobbing promptly attended to. Estimates given cheerfully on all kinds of work.

JACOB M. HIGGINS,

PRACTICAL MASON and CONTRACTOR

P. O. Box 251. Residence Dec street, near Howard.

9 9 7

JOHN ARNOTT,

Practical Plumber and Painter. Hot Water and Steam Heating. Hardware and Plumbing. Agent for Richardson & Boynton Co.'s Furnaces. Repairing promptly attended to. 113 East Front street.

ALFRED E. HOLMES,

Civil Engineer and Surveyor. Office, Room 4, Second floor, Crescent Building, Plainfield, N. J. Also on the Central Railroad Grant Survey. All work guaranteed. 8 17

Now is Your Chance.

GRAND CLOTHING OPENING, at our retail store, 219 West Front street. Are you ready? We are prepared to offer the public a clean, fresh stock of Fall and Winter Clothing, for Men, Boys and Children. Remember, we sell at retail at the wholesale prices.

C. SCHEPFLIN & CO,

218 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

Do You?

intend to invest in a

WHEEL?

If so, call on

Dickinson,

The Optician.

Agent for the Excelsior, the best wheel in the market, 4 sprocket, 28, 30, 32 and 34 the Wheels to hire at reasonable rates.

Boehm's.

$5.00

buys a fine Ladies' Coat, fur edged, made of heavy beaver cloth, with latest style cape, sleeves and collar, assortment of Misses' and Children's Coats, Jackets, Fur Capes, etc., now shown in this vicinity, low prices. Ladies' and Children's Knitted Coats we are now showing.

25c. At this price we are showing a line of Ladies' Fancy Embroidered Flannels, Dress Flannels, Cheviots, Cashmeres, Bouche Stripes, etc., weights and widths, 27 to 54 inches, the very cheap figured Bedford, full shades, 36c. real value, 25c. MILLINERY. Positively the best variety of trimmed and untrimmed Hats ever seen in this city, and at lowest possible prices, consistent with first-class work.

The only place to buy

Sea Food!

is at

TERRY'S

North Avenue Sea Food Market,

where you will find the biggest Shad in Plainfield. Also, all other kinds in season, at the lowest prices.

Railroad Time Table.

CENTRAL RAILROAD OF NEW JERSEY

(Anthracite coal used exclusively insuring cleanliness.)

Station in New York, foot of Liberty street. Time table in effect June 25, 1893.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield (5 14) 6 45, 8 00, 9 28, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30 night. Leave New York, foot of Liberty street, (4 00) 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30 night. (5 00) 9 00 a. m. Leave New York, foot of Liberty street, for Monmouth Beach and Long Branch, (8 30) 9 00 a. m., 4 00 p. m. Leave Plainfield for Monmouth Beach and Long Branch, 8 00 a. m., 12 30 p. m.

PLAINFIELD AND DUNELLEN.

Leave Plainfield (5 14) 6 45, 8 00, 9 28, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30 night. Leave Dunellen (5 00) 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30 night.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield (5 14) 6 45, 8 00, 9 28, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30 night. Leave Somerville (5 45) 7 15, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30 night.

PLAINFIELD AND BOUND BROOK.

Leave Plainfield (5 14) 6 45, 8 00, 9 28, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30 night. Leave Bound Brook (5 45) 7 15, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 a. m., 12 30, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 30, 5 30, 6 30, 7 30, 8 30, 9 30, 10 30, 11 30 p. m., 12 30 night.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

At Plainfield, for Westfield, Fanwood, Scotch Plains, Netherwood, Dunellen, Metuchen, Menlo Park, Edison, Bonhamtown, New Brunswick, Jamesburg, Monmouth Beach, Long Branch, Spring Lake, Point Pleasant, Bay Head, Lakewood, Toms River, Beach Haven, Tuckerton, Atlantic City, Cape May, Sea Isle City, Ocean City, Somerville, Bound Brook, Phillipsburg, Easton, Pittston, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Binghamton, Elmira, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Chicago, Pittsburg, Columbus, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Quebec (over ice) to Montreal.

At Bound Brook, for Somerville, Raritan, Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton, Philadelphia, Allentown, Bethlehem, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, Pottsville, Williamsport, Lewisburg, Shamokin, Sunbury, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Binghamton, Elmira, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Chicago, Pittsburg, Columbus, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Quebec (over ice) to Montreal.

At Dunellen, for Bonhamtown, New Brunswick, Jamesburg, Monmouth Beach, Long Branch, Spring Lake, Point Pleasant, Bay Head, Lakewood, Toms River, Beach Haven, Tuckerton, Atlantic City, Cape May, Sea Isle City, Ocean City, Somerville, Bound Brook, Phillipsburg, Easton, Pittston, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Binghamton, Elmira, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Chicago, Pittsburg, Columbus, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Quebec (over ice) to Montreal.

At Metuchen, for Menlo Park, Edison, Bonhamtown, New Brunswick, Jamesburg, Monmouth Beach, Long Branch, Spring Lake, Point Pleasant, Bay Head, Lakewood, Toms River, Beach Haven, Tuckerton, Atlantic City, Cape May, Sea Isle City, Ocean City, Somerville, Bound Brook, Phillipsburg, Easton, Pittston, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Binghamton, Elmira, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Chicago, Pittsburg, Columbus, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Quebec (over ice) to Montreal.

At Menlo Park, for Edison, Bonhamtown, New Brunswick, Jamesburg, Monmouth Beach, Long Branch, Spring Lake, Point Pleasant, Bay Head, Lakewood, Toms River, Beach Haven, Tuckerton, Atlantic City, Cape May, Sea Isle City, Ocean City, Somerville, Bound Brook, Phillipsburg, Easton, Pittston, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Binghamton, Elmira, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Chicago, Pittsburg, Columbus, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Quebec (over ice) to Montreal.

At Edison, for Bonhamtown, New Brunswick, Jamesburg, Monmouth Beach, Long Branch, Spring Lake, Point Pleasant, Bay Head, Lakewood, Toms River, Beach Haven, Tuckerton, Atlantic City, Cape May, Sea Isle City, Ocean City, Somerville, Bound Brook, Phillipsburg, Easton, Pittston, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Binghamton, Elmira, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Chicago, Pittsburg, Columbus, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Quebec (over ice) to Montreal.

At Bonhamtown, for New Brunswick, Jamesburg, Monmouth Beach, Long Branch, Spring Lake, Point Pleasant, Bay Head, Lakewood, Toms River, Beach Haven, Tuckerton, Atlantic City, Cape May, Sea Isle City, Ocean City, Somerville, Bound Brook, Phillipsburg, Easton, Pittston, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Binghamton, Elmira, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Chicago, Pittsburg, Columbus, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Quebec (over ice) to Montreal.

At New Brunswick, for Jamesburg, Monmouth Beach, Long Branch, Spring Lake, Point Pleasant, Bay Head, Lakewood, Toms River, Beach Haven, Tuckerton, Atlantic City, Cape May, Sea Isle City, Ocean City, Somerville, Bound Brook, Phillipsburg, Easton, Pittston, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Binghamton, Elmira, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Chicago, Pittsburg, Columbus, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Quebec (over ice) to Montreal.

At Jamesburg, for Monmouth Beach, Long Branch, Spring Lake, Point Pleasant, Bay Head, Lakewood, Toms River, Beach Haven, Tuckerton, Atlantic City, Cape May, Sea Isle City, Ocean City, Somerville, Bound Brook, Phillipsburg, Easton, Pittston, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Binghamton, Elmira, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Chicago, Pittsburg, Columbus, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Quebec (over ice) to Montreal.

At Monmouth Beach, for Long Branch, Spring Lake, Point Pleasant, Bay Head, Lakewood, Toms River, Beach Haven, Tuckerton, Atlantic City, Cape May, Sea Isle City, Ocean City, Somerville, Bound Brook, Phillipsburg, Easton, Pittston, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Binghamton, Elmira, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Chicago, Pittsburg, Columbus, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Quebec (over ice) to Montreal.

At Long Branch, for Spring Lake, Point Pleasant, Bay Head, Lakewood, Toms River, Beach Haven, Tuckerton, Atlantic City, Cape May, Sea Isle City, Ocean City, Somerville, Bound Brook, Phillipsburg, Easton, Pittston, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Binghamton, Elmira, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Chicago, Pittsburg, Columbus, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Quebec (over ice) to Montreal.

At Spring Lake, for Point Pleasant, Bay Head, Lakewood, Toms River, Beach Haven, Tuckerton, Atlantic City, Cape May, Sea Isle City, Ocean City, Somerville, Bound Brook, Phillipsburg, Easton, Pittston, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Binghamton, Elmira, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Chicago, Pittsburg, Columbus, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Quebec (over ice) to Montreal.

At Point Pleasant, for Bay Head, Lakewood, Toms River, Beach Haven, Tuckerton, Atlantic City, Cape May, Sea Isle City, Ocean City, Somerville, Bound Brook, Phillipsburg, Easton, Pittston, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Binghamton, Elmira, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Chicago, Pittsburg, Columbus, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Quebec (over ice) to Montreal.

At Bay Head, for Lakewood, Toms River, Beach Haven, Tuckerton, Atlantic City, Cape May, Sea Isle City, Ocean City, Somerville, Bound Brook, Phillipsburg, Easton, Pittston, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Binghamton, Elmira, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Chicago, Pittsburg, Columbus, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Quebec (over ice) to Montreal.

At Lakewood, for Toms River, Beach Haven, Tuckerton, Atlantic City, Cape May, Sea Isle City, Ocean City, Somerville, Bound Brook, Phillipsburg, Easton, Pittston, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Binghamton, Elmira, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Chicago, Pittsburg, Columbus, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Quebec (over ice) to Montreal.

At Toms River, for Beach Haven, Tuckerton, Atlantic City, Cape May, Sea Isle City, Ocean City, Somerville, Bound Brook, Phillipsburg, Easton, Pittston, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Binghamton, Elmira, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Chicago, Pittsburg, Columbus, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Quebec (over ice) to Montreal.

At Beach Haven, for Tuckerton, Atlantic City, Cape May, Sea Isle City, Ocean City, Somerville, Bound Brook, Phillipsburg, Easton, Pittston, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Binghamton, Elmira, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Chicago, Pittsburg, Columbus, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Quebec (over ice) to Montreal.

At Tuckerton, for Atlantic City, Cape May, Sea Isle City, Ocean City, Somerville, Bound Brook, Phillipsburg, Easton, Pittston, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Binghamton, Elmira, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Chicago, Pittsburg, Columbus, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Quebec (over ice) to Montreal.

At Atlantic City, for Cape May, Sea Isle City, Ocean City, Somerville, Bound Brook, Phillipsburg, Easton, Pittston, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Binghamton, Elmira, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Chicago, Pittsburg, Columbus, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Quebec (over ice) to Montreal.

At Cape May, for Sea Isle City, Ocean City, Somerville, Bound Brook, Phillipsburg, Easton, Pittston, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Binghamton, Elmira, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Chicago, Pittsburg, Columbus, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Quebec (over ice) to Montreal.

At Sea Isle City, for Ocean City, Somerville, Bound Brook, Phillipsburg, Easton, Pittston, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Binghamton, Elmira, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Chicago, Pittsburg, Columbus, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Quebec (over ice) to Montreal.

At Ocean City, for Somerville, Bound Brook, Phillipsburg, Easton, Pittston, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Binghamton, Elmira, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Chicago, Pittsburg, Columbus, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Quebec (over ice) to Montreal.

At Somerville, for Bound Brook, Phillipsburg, Easton, Pittston, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Binghamton, Elmira, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Chicago, Pittsburg, Columbus, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Quebec (over ice) to Montreal.

At Bound Brook, for Science Progress.

RAILROAD SIGNALING.

A System That Agreeably Lessens the Perils of Our Railway Journeys.

The chief object of signaling on railroads is to inform engineers positively, at given points, whether they must stop or proceed, and the universal method of conveying this information is by a visible signal. Of all the different forms for signals that have been tried, the disk and the semaphore are the only ones in use now. Fig. 1 shows an electrically operated disk signal as

FIG. 1.

DISK SIGNAL AT "DANGER."

"danger," and the dotted lines show the "safety" position. The semaphore signal (Fig. 2) is more positive in its indication, because it is more easily discernable than a disk. The safety position of the semaphore is shown by the dotted lines in Fig. 2. The blade or arm carries a frame, f, in which a red glass is fixed, so that at night, when the b'ade is raised to indicate danger, the lamp, l, fastened on the bracket, b, will show a red light. When lowered for safety, the lamp is uncovered and of course shows white.

The introduction and recent rapid extension of block signal systems of various kinds have led to the almost universal employment of semaphores even where an absolute block system is not maintained. In these systems the road is divided up into spaces or blocks, and no train is allowed to enter any block unless the last preceding train shall have pas ed beyond its limits. The limits of each space or block are marked by signals, usually semaphores, operated directly by a signalman, or else controlled by him through the intervention of compressed air and electricity.

Some railroads, unable to incur the expense of installing and maintaining a first class block signal system, have provided signals at every regular station, where the station agents, being in telegraphic communication with one another, can, if necessary, carry out a very fair "absolute" block system. Each station, then, marks the end of one section and the beginning of another. In times of very heavy traffic, however, these blocks between stations are too long, and it is quite usual to allow trains to follow one another after an interval of time, determined in each case to suit the circumstances. The practice thereby becomes "permissive," as opposed to "absolute" blocking.

Railroads with very heavy traffic and traversing thickly settled regions have lately found it expedient to equip their lines with this "absolute" system in which, by a combination of mechanical and electrical devices, each lever that moves a signal is locked in position by the man in the tower at the farther end of the block section, and can be unlocked only with the latter's consent and co-operation. For example, a sig-

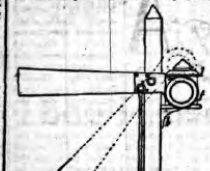

FIG. 2.

THE SEMAPHORE.

nalman cannot lower his signal to "safety," in order to admit a train to the block ahead, without asking the operator at the next tower to unlock his (the first signalman's) lever. The man at the next tower will not do this unless he knows the block or section is clear. Such, in substance, is the block system, as illustrated and described at length in Science. Its advantages over the early "time interval" system, in which everything depends upon the faithfulness and activity of the rear brakeman of a train, are obvious.

Nature's Mimicry.

Curious resemblances in nature, starting with the cocoanut, in many respects like the human skull and almost a facsimile of the monkey's, are traced by a French scientific journal. The meat of the English walnut, it avers, is almost a copy of the human brain; plums and black cherries are like the human eye, almonds like the human nose, and an opened oyster and shell a perfect likeness of the human ear. The shape of a man's body may be traced in the mammoth squash, the open hand in grown ipe scrub willows and celery, the human heart in German turnips and eggplant, and dozens of the mechanical inventions of the present day to patterns furnished by nature. Thus the hog suggested the plow, the butterfly the door hinge, the frog stool the umbrella, the duck the ship and the fungous growth on trees the brake.

A New Idea in Bank Notes.

A new principle has been suggested in the manufacture of bank notes. The Industrial World says that if a sheet of paper be plunged into a mixture of various colored liquids each color will penetrate into every fiber with a different degree of speed, and the paper will present a streaked appearance, each band having a distinct color. It would be impossible to imitate these effects without an exact knowledge of how the mixture of colors was made. If a drop of the mixture of colors be allowed to fall on a sheet of paper, a number of rings, each having a determined size and shade, will be developed, and thus imitation will be rendered more difficult.

- - FREE - -

Handsome Calendars, Lemon Squeezers, Match Safes, Paper Weights, Scissors, Shaving Cards, &c., &c., sent free to any address. Large cash discount on all purchases. We make no impossible offer of sending you something for nothing, but have given very pretty ones away.

We are constantly making new goods, and the best times have forced prices way down. Come in and look around. Space will not permit us to enumerate all the bargains we have in store. Large cash discount on all purchases. Our line of Fine Cut Glass, Decorated China, Lamps, Bric-a-brac, Fancy Goods, Toys, Dolls, Albums, Games, &c., is the largest display in the city. We sell Boots and Shoes of every description, Clothing, Hats and Caps, Dry Goods, Notions, Carpets, Oil Cloths, Rugs, Furniture and Feather Dusters. We have Glassware, and a thousand useful articles on a 5 and 10c. counters. Our display of Fancy China Cups and Saucers will surprise you, prices from 10c. to $2.50 each. Our line of Lamps is complete. Our Crockery room is one of the finest in the city. Just try it, and you will be delighted with the result. You are not afraid to ride the cars, and you will be delighted with the result. You are not afraid to trade with us. Our Stationery, Games, Soaps, &c., is the largest display in the city. We sell Boots of every description, Clothing, Hats and Caps, Dry Goods, Notions, Carpets, Oil Cloths, Rugs, Furniture and Feather Dusters. We have Glassware, and a thousand useful articles on a 5 and 10c. counters. Our display of Fancy China Cups and Saucers will surprise you, prices from 10c. to $2.50 each. Our line of Lamps is complete. Our Crockery room is one of the finest in the city. Just try it, and you will be delighted with the result. You are not afraid to ride the cars, and you will be delighted with the result. You are not afraid to trade with us. Our Stationery, Games, Soaps, &c., is the largest display in the city. We sell the celebrated Standard Sewing Machine. The machine is almost noiseless, and its work wonderful. We sell the "Standard."

J. C. Allen, 28 West Front St., Plainfield, N. J.

Timely Warning! Winter Approaching!

Keep your Scalp Clean and your Hair Growing.

RANDOLPH'S Quinine and Glycerine

HAIR TONIC!

The Friend in the Hour of Need.

EACH BOTTLE GUARANTEED. Sold only by

L. W. RANDOLPH, Prescription Druggist,

143 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

ART FOR AMATEURS

PAINTING A SCREEN.

A Picturesque Study. Very Effective In Water Colors.

A popular study is of swans in a mirror. Like sheet of water, surrounded by beautiful lilies and reeds. It will be found interesting in design as well as coloring, and painted on a large canvas in oils forms an especially pretty screen panel. It is also adapted for water colors.

To paint the study in oil colors, use white, cobalt and a little vermilion in the upper part of the sky, with white and madder lake in the lower portion, blending them carefully from the clear, warm pink tones at the horizon to the delicate blue in the upper parts.

The water will reflect the colors of the sky only in a little lower or deeper tone, and consequently the same colors that are suggested for the sky will do also for the water. The cattails can be made with burnt umber and yellow ochre. Care must be used in shading them for upon that depends very largely their roundness.

SCREEN DESIGN OF SWANS, LILIES, ETC.

The green of the reeds can be made with cork black, white, cobalt, and in some parts a touch of ochre may be added. To the lily pads medium German green will do with burnt umber and lake in the shadows under the edges, and white or yellow ochre and lake in the light parts. For the lilies use lake and white, shaded to suit the deeper with lemon yellow, turning to deep crimson in the stamens or centers. In some of the petals use a little cobalt and lake. The grasses can be made by using white, shaded with cobalt, and cork black with a little umber and ochre. In painting the reflections do not make them positive in tone, as when The Priscilla, from which the foregoing is reproduced

GOOD HEALTH

AN UNUSUAL REMEDY.

A Rose-Colored Action Attributed to Chewing Gum in Continued Fevers.

The salivary glands play quite an important part in continued fevers, yet they are not considered in the treatment of the case.

One of the first and most important restrictions in the patient's dietary is to drink all solid food at the physician's first request.

If just then the salivary glands begin to lapse into a torpid condition, which very often results in an inflammation and finally suppuration and that disagreeable degree to the tongue, known as uncomfortable to the patient. For the relief of this trouble I have found nothing of so much importance as some nice form of aromatic chewing gum, which relieves the thirst and dry mouth, improves the appetite and digestion and restrains nausea, if any.

I just chew the saliva glands begin to lapse into a torpid condition, which very often results in an inflammation and finally suppuration and that disagreeable degree to the tongue, known as uncomfortable to the patient. For the relief of this trouble I have found nothing of so much importance as some nice form of aromatic chewing gum, which relieves the thirst and dry mouth, improves the appetite and digestion and restrains nausea, if any.

I just chew the salivary glands begin to lapse into a torpid condition, which very often results in an inflammation and finally suppuration and that disagreeable degree to the tongue, known as uncomfortable to the patient. For the relief of this trouble I have found nothing of so much importance as some nice form of aromatic chewing gum, which relieves the thirst and dry mouth, improves the appetite and digestion and restrains nausea, if any.

I just chew the salivary glands begin to lapse into a torpid condition, which very often results in an inflammation and finally suppuration and that disagreeable degree to the tongue, known as uncomfortable to the patient. For the relief of this trouble I have found nothing of so much importance as some nice form of aromatic chewing gum, which relieves the thirst and dry mouth, improves the appetite and digestion and restrains nausea, if any.

I just chew the salivary glands begin to lapse into a torpid condition, which very often results in an inflammation and finally suppuration and that disagreeable degree to the tongue, known as uncomfortable to the patient. For the relief of this trouble I have found nothing of so much importance as some nice form of aromatic chewing gum, which relieves the thirst and dry mouth, improves the appetite and digestion and restrains nausea, if any.

I just chew the salivary glands begin to lapse into a torpid condition, which very often results in an inflammation and finally suppuration and that disagreeable degree to the tongue, known as uncomfortable to the patient. For the relief of this trouble I have found nothing of so much importance as some nice form of aromatic chewing gum, which relieves the thirst and dry mouth, improves the appetite and digestion and restrains nausea, if any.

Most assuredly, in my estimation, quite important in any continued fever, writes a physician in The Medical Record.

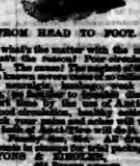
Electricity In Nervous Diseases.

In a recent address before a medical society Dr. F. Peterson expressed himself as having not much faith in electricity for organic nervous diseases, but he thought it was often of benefit in many functional nervous diseases, such as neuralgias and head troubles. Of the two poles of electricity those he thought there was a great difference of influence between the two poles. He found that the negative pole increased the irritability and the positive diminished it. As a rule, the two poles should be far apart. He did not think the direction of the current had much to do with the case. For instance, it had often been said that in applying electricity to the spinal cord it was important whether the current ascended or descended, but Dr. Peterson considers the direction of the current a matter of indifference—that is, it makes no difference which pole is above and which below.

Farinaceous Food For Dyspeptics.

The conclusion that wheat bread is unfit for dyspeptics, sometimes jumped at because ill effects are noticed to follow its use, is erroneous. On the contrary it has been pointed out by Bouchard and others that farinaceous food is peculiarly adapted to some dyspeptic patients. It is the microbes in the starch, which is capable of producing irritating acids, that causes the trouble. To avoid this Bouchard recommends that only the crust or toasted crumbs of the bread be used by dyspeptics, particularly those whose stomachs are dilated. The reason of this is explained by the fact that baking temporarily, though not permanently, arrests the fermentation of dough. When it is again heated by the warmth of the stomach, the fermentation is renewed. In cases where the bread is toasted brown through, the fermentation is stopped permanently.—Food.

Tired from Head to Foot.



FROM HEAD TO FOOT.

That's what's the matter with the most of us. What's the cause? Poor circulation of the blood. The remedy? Dr. Miles' Nervine. We have known severe cases of nervous prostration, nervous headache, nervous dizziness, nervous neuralgia, to disappear in from 20 minutes to a half hour by the use of Anti-Tire. It is a great tonic to the nerves, and builds up your whole system. Your pulse and color will respond. One dose will prove what we say. Sold by druggists at 25 cents per bottle. Dr. Miles' Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind. If yours is a case for special advice, address as above, stating symptoms, and you will receive prompt attention.

LYONS PHARMACY,
104 Bergen Avenue,
Jersey City, N. J.

Neuman Brothers,

THE POPULAR GROCERS,

Have full line of choice

Groceries, Fruit and Vegetables.

Choicest varieties of Coffees and Teas, ground to order. A fine display of choicest Fruits daily. A new stock of Canned Vegetables and Fruits.

NEUMAN BROS.,

WATCHUNG AVENUE and FIFTH STREET.

Horses and Carriages,

of all kinds, for hire, at

O'BRIEN'S,

112 WEST FOURTH STREET,

or at the depot.

Joseph T. Vail,

REAL ESTATE

and

INSURANCE.

DEALER IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING

© North Avenue.

- - A SAMPLE - -

OF SOME OF OUR SPECIALS.

	Regular price.	Now.
Fast Fiber dress Flannels	50c.	35c.
Novelty, all wool Dress Goods	50c.	35c.
Fancy Mixed Cheviots	50c.	35c.
Plaid Back Henriettas	50c.	35c.
Changeable Surah Silks	98c.	75c.
Changeable Taffeta Silks	98c.	75c.
Fancy Mixed Cashmeres	50c.	35c.
Cloaks, material, all wool, and Drapery	$1.00.	75c.
White Angora Trimming	65c.	39c.
Black Angora Trimming	65c.	39c.
Ladies' All Silk Embroidered Handkerchiefs	25c.	15c.
Furniture Covering	$1.25.	75c.
Fine Bengaline Corsets	$1.00.	75c.

Our new Fall Mantle Department is ready with "jack stitch," extra full and long. We can give better value in these goods than ever before.

We have just received a line of Blankets, which we have marked with such large and desirable lines of goods as now, and the prices are so low. You will have no trouble in getting suited, at the very lowest prices, at

EDSALL'S.

THEY MUST GO!

About 500 pairs of Ladies $3, $4 and $5 Button Boots that we have put on our bargain table and marked down to $2.00 a pair. All small sizes, 2, 2½, 3 and 3½, within a wave. If you have a small foot this is a great chance for you.

Doane & Edsall's.

FASHIONS

NEW MILLINERY.

Garnitures Include a Profusion of Birds and Wings and Bright Steel Velvets.

The big black velvet hats curved on one side and trimmed with a cluster of black plumes are delightfully picturesque, and a woman who is tall enough and graceful enough to "carry off" a very large hat can wear this style becomingly.

Bright steel velvets are much used for trimmings now, and hats and bonnets of velvet are very fashionable. Beautiful shades of velvet noted in some of the newest millinery are geranium and turquoise. A stylish winter bonnet is of steel blue velvet, trimmed with silver lace, silver pins and a blue aigret. A most attractive hat is in a pinkish shade of heliotrope velvet. It has a wide brim, with beautiful curves and lines and a trimming of black feathers.

BLACK VELVET HAT WITH JET AND WINGS.

Quite novel are bonnets of plaited felt and ribbon, trimmed with long wings and small, bright velvet rosettes. Satin bows edged with cut lace, steel buckles and brooches and handsome plumes figure among the new garnishings.

Birds and wings are as prominent as ever, the Valkyrie being the latest arrangement of the latter. A tan felt hat, which a woman might feel a suspicion of wickedness in wearing, is trimmed at the sides with four blackbirds. Another and uncommonly stylish hat of black velvet has a wide rim of jet sequins and is trimmed with black wings, aigrets and rose colored velvet. The felt walking hat will be one of the conventional styles of the winter.

Madness at the Fall of the Moon.

The late Dr. Chaussit is credited with saying a short time before his death that, although confinements for more than 30 years exhibited the fact that the full of the moon is a dangerous time for mad people, better informed men are coming back to the old idea, noticed as the result of increased learning on the subject of earth tides, similar to the oscillation of sea tides.

A Stylish House Gown.

In the newest fashion is this stylish costume of shot red and green bengaline, with full sleeves drooping over the elbow, front which extends a deep cuff opened at the front, turned back and lined with green satin. The short, full basque, in this case rounded and not meeting in front, represents the distinctively novel feature of coming gowns.

IN THE LATEST FASHION.

Very distinguished are the wide revers coming in front where the bodice fastens on one side with the large buttons (these are of smoked pearl) now hastening into popularity. A bias band of green satin edges the bottom of the shaped bounce finishing the skirt, and two bands head the sleeve.

Crinoline Is Out.

Whatever Worth, Felix and the rest of the costumers may have in store for women's wear during the winter, it is positively certain that they will not make any further attempt to introduce the crinoline. Women, both at home and abroad, have simultaneously refused to take it on at any price, and even stiffened skirts are no longer tolerated by good dressers. It is believed that an equal indifference of spirit on the subject of long skirts for the street has insured round skirts of a suitable length for all gowns not to be worn in the house.

Sword and Scabbard In Jewelry.

The sword will remain the most popular device for brooches and lace, stick and scarf pins. There is nothing too costly wherewith to enrich them in the way of enamels and jewels.

The scabbard is quite essential to sword pins, the hilt being a little too heavy for the blade and liable to come out unless securely put in the scabbard and chain of color to obviate this danger.

Brooches consisting of a sword and scabbard crossed, with frequently a military hat added to the trappings, are new.

The wreath has not inappropriately followed in the path of the sword. Frequently the two are combined. These are the prettiest devices in wreaths, says Elsie Bee in Jewelers' Circular.

The Fall and Winter Styles in Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing are now in Stock. Overcoats of all Weights. Trousers Made to Order from $4 to $8. Suits from $15 to $30. Hats and General Furnishings. WERNER'S MAMMOTH CLOTHING HOUSE, 206 West Front Street.

R. W. Rice & Co.,

THE PARK GROCERS.

Corner Duer and Emily Streets,

NORTH PLAINFIELD.

Hotels.

CENTRAL HOTEL,

No. 11 E. Front St.,

PLAINFIELD.

Windham & Crowley,

PROPRIETORS.

First-class bar attached.

Fourth Ward Hotel.

JOHN GOFF, Proprietor.

Boarders accommodated, both transient and permanent.

LARGE ROOMS and ALL MODERN IMPROVEMENTS.

Fine Wines, Liquors and CIGARS.

Corner Third and Liberty Streets.

Hotel Grenada,

NORTH AVENUE,

are open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the travelling public.

City Hotel,

Corner

PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.

Transient guests accommodated.

Eugene Hoerster,

206 Grove Street,

North Plainfield.

Wholesale Dealer

in

FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.

Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

CAREY'S

Storage Warerooms,

Corner Front and Grove Streets, Plainfield, N. J.

A GREAT SLAUGHTER!

of

Ladies' Wrappers, for one week, at 75 cents.

at

THE LEADER, M. GOLDMARK, Prop.

222 210 WEST FRONT STREET. (Old No. 211)

Two doors from Music Hall.

This Date In History—Oct. 28.

323—Maximinus, Roman emperor, was drowned in the Danube.

997—Alfred the Great, king of England, died at Winchester.

1467—Desiderius Erasmus, scholar and forerunner of the reformation, was born at Rotterdam died 1536.

1492—Columbus discovered Cuba and landed early in the morning.

1704—John Locke, the philosopher, died at Oates in Essex; born 1632.

1726—Prince George of Denmark, husband of Queen Anne of England, died.

1738—Lord Hailes, historical writer, died at Edinburgh.

1782—Marshal Grouchy, the commander blamed by Bonaparte for his loss of Waterloo, was born at Paris.

1793—Battle of White Plains, N. Y.; American defeated.

1793—John Smeaton, famous engineer, died near Leeds.

1832—Charlotte Smith, novelist, died at Millbrook, in Surrey.

1847—Anna Elizabeth Dickinson, orator, author and actress, was born in Philadelphia.

1871—Arrest of William M. Tweed, digbt of his confederates and captains of the "ring."

1886—The Bartholdi statue of Liberty in New York harbor was unveiled.

1889—Revolution in the canton of Ticino, Switzerland.

1890—Fire in the wholesale district of Milwaukee; loss, $2,000,000; 10 deaths.

United States senators are old enough to know better. Morrill of Vermont is 83. He is the eldest, and the average age of this frisky and pesky old body is 58½ years.

A man was knocked through a plate glass window in New York the other day. A bicycle was the power behind the thrown, as it were.

They call it "pepper sauce" now when they try to ship whisky into South Carolina on the blind side of the eagle eye of Governor Tillman.

Pasach, the notorious German Jew baiter of Berlin, has gone crazy and has been pronounced a dangerous lunatic. No wonder.

Don't chew a toothpick in public. It looks bad. Don't pick your teeth before people. It looks still worse.

1893			OCTOBER.			1893
Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fr.	Sa.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
15	16	17	18	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26	27	28
29	30	31

MOON'S PHASES.

Third Quarter	2	12:19 p.m.	First Quarter	17	4:37 p.m.
New Moon	9	3:27 p.m.	Full Moon	25	1:42 p.m.
Third Quarter	31	6:48 p.m.

Tickets For, or from Europe, On All Lines, And all Steamers. Drafts Sold also.

H. D. MORRISON, Agent, Somerset Street.

Metropolitan Livery and Boarding Stables!

Coaches, Close Carriages, Park Phaetons, Surreys, Buggies, Pony Phaetons and Saddle Horses.

Special care given boarding horses. Storage for furniture and carriages.

146 AND 187 NORTH AVENUE,

Opposite depot. Telephone Call, 44.

H. E. RIDER, Proprietor. FRANK DAY, Manager.

THE TIME TO EAT!

MEAT!

is at most times, of course, and the place to get good meat, all varieties, kosher, prime young geese, etc., is at

E. J. CONNOLLY,

No 231 Broadway.

SMOKED MEATS AND VEGETABLES always on hand.

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

$5 per Year in Advance. | W. Merrifield, Editor and Proprietor. Office No. 19 Somerset Street. Printing of All Kinds. | 1c Copy at Counters.

ESTABLISHED 1884. | PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST." | MONDAY, OCTOBER 30 1893. | PRICE TWO CENTS.

Republican Nominations.

UNION COUNTY.

For Senator,
FOSTER M. VOORHEES,
of Elizabeth.

For Sheriff,
GEORGE KNIE,
of Fanwood.

For Coroner,
DR. CHARLES S. HOLMES,
of Rahway.

For member of Assembly from Third Assembly District,
CHARLES N. CODDING,
of Westfield.

SOMERSET COUNTY.

For Senator,
LEWIS A. THOMPSON,
of Bridgewater.

For Assembly,
FRANK W. SOMERS,
of Franklin.

For Coroner,
DR. FRED C. JONES,
of Bernards.

BREVITIES.

—Register to morrow. It is your last chance.

—Justice Nash to day issued summons in the contract case of Devoe, et al vs. Smith, returnable Nov. 6th.

—To-morrow voters of the city and borough will have their last chance to register before the Fall election.

—Several members of the Park Club have arranged for a Hallowe'en dance in the barn of the Room estate, near the Park Club house on Washington avenue.

—Those desiring to attend the Epworth League conveyance at Junction, N. J., may procure orders for reduced railroad fare from Arthur E. Crome, Secretary of Chapter Number 1.

—Bookkeeping and mechanical drawing classes will meet at the Y. M. C. A. rooms this evening. All who wish to begin or to take advanced work in either of these studies should be present.

—To night the members of the Independent Fife and Drum Corps expect to go to Newark to attend a reception given by Washington Post Drum Corps, at Harbarger Hall, Hamburg place.

—A horse, attached to a light farm wagon, was caught running down East Fifth street about two o'clock this afternoon, by John Riely. The bridle was broken. No damage was done.

—The Madison avenue commissioners, appointed by the Common Council to assess the damages and benefits for the widening of that street, will meet to-morrow night in the Council Chamber.

—Owing to the members of the Rechelor Club belonging to the Fife and Drum Corps which goes to Newark to-night, the bowling match between that club and the Dunellen club has been postponed.

—The case of Fossate vs. Nightingale was adjourned to-day for one week. The jury had been summoned, but owing to the illness of an officer by the consent for the defendant, a postponement was asked for.

—James Emmons was arrested again last night, for being drunk and disorderly, by Police-man Frederickson. In court this morning, the prisoner was sentenced to pay a fine of $15, or spend 40 days in the county jail. He will probably take the latter.

A CABBAGE THIEF SHOT.

He Left the Cabbage to go Home to Pick Out Shot.

A young man while helping himself to some cabbages from a patch conveniently near the road side at Evans, last Friday night, received a load of bird shot for his pains. He left the cabbage and invest home to pick the shot out of his flesh.

Judgment in Favor of Bernasco.

Recently Mr. Bernasco, and others, brought suit against Mr. Clark for $200. The case was adjourned two or three times. Mr. Craig A. Marsh represented the plaintiff and Mr. Bailey, the defendant. A settlement was arrived at this morning, when Justice Nash rendered judgment in favor of the plaintiff for $130.98 and costs.

Not Councilman Frank Marsh.

Frank Marsh was arrested Saturday for riding on coal trains, by Policeman McCue. Marsh was tried this morning before Judge Coddington. He also stole a man's dinner pail. He pleaded guilty to both charges, and begged so hard for mercy, that the Judge suspended sentence, on his promise not to do it again.

Why the Fire Gong Sounded.

This morning linemen, employed by the Telephone Company, were putting a cable from a pole to the central office on North avenue. The "bridle" slipped and struck the fire alarm wire, causing the gong to blow.

The Weather.

The weather to-morrow promises to be warmer and fair.

MASS MEETING.

TO BE HELD IN MUSIC HALL NEXT THURSDAY.

The Citizens' League Want Voters, Irrespective of Party, to Join in Defeating Race-Track Politicians.—Addresses Will be Made by Prominent Men.

The Executive Committee of the Plainfield Branch of the Citizens' League has called a mass meeting to be held in Music Hall, on the evening of Thursday, Nov. 2d. Prominent speakers will be present and address the meeting. An invitation is extended to all voters, irrespective of party, who are interested in knocking out race track gambling, to attend. The Executive Committee consists of Col. Mason W. Tyler, ex Councilman Rowland Cox, ex Councilman Isaac L. Miller and Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh.

TRIED TO HOLD UP A COAL TRAIN.

James Duffy Knocked Off the Cab by the Engineer.

WHILE intoxicated, James Duffy attempted to hold up a coal train on the Central Railroad at Cranford Saturday night. He jumped upon the engine and ordered a revolver at the engineer, who promptly knocked him off the cab. Duffy jumped on the moving cars and rode to Cranford, where the train hands overpowered him and took him to Elizabeth. He was turned over to the police Justice Hetfield sentenced him to thirty days in jail.

PERSONAL.

Miss Fredericks of Alabama is a guest of Mrs. Obits of Somerset street.

Mr. George Evans of Mercer avenue has gone to Canada for a few weeks.

Mrs. Edlar Keely of Maple avenue left to-day for a four weeks visit with friends in Newark.

Mrs. Isaac Winans of Washingtonville is the mother of twins, a boy and girl, born last week.

Miss Milly Ferguson of New York was the guest of Miss Minnie French of Craig place, North Plainfield, over Sunday.

Mr. James Keegan and his bride returned yesterday from their honeymoon, which has been spent partly in Washington, D. C.

Miss Blanche D. Shann, formerly of this city, but now of Newark, is spending a week with the Misses Holmes of Grandview avenue.

Miss Kate Daly and Miss Tennison of New Brunswick, and Miss Dunn of Elizabeth were guests yesterday of Miss Bedford on Grandview avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. George Clickner of Mamaquan are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Martin of Jackson avenue. Mr. Clickner has just recovered from a severe illness and comes to Plainfield to recruit on its invigorating air.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson E. Hunyes of Grafton celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage Friday night. About one hundred guests were present, among them being Mr. Isaac Yates and family and Mr. Harry Jenkins of Plainfield.

Mr. George Randolph, who, twenty-five years ago was a well known young man of this city, and is still remembered by some of the old residents, has made considerable money at the World's Fair. He with several others, owned the Esquimaux village and had a very successful season. Mr. Randolph, it is said will be taken to San Francisco for the California exposition. Mr. Randolph was to Plainfield three years ago, and was greatly surprised at its growth. He expects to come to visit his old home next spring.

Joined the Eastern Slope Interchange.

The Plainfield Camera Club at its last meeting joined the Eastern Slope Interchange of the A. I. of A. It is to be very sorry for the club to have to take a number of studies to choose from to make up a set from, and each member is asked to do something to make the set better than last year.

The Officers to be Present To-Night.

The following Salvation Army officers will be present at the meeting to be held in the First Baptist church this evening: Ensign Edith Marshall, Mrs. Major Perry, Lieutenant Jennie Newcomb, Captain Turpin, Captain Marshall and Staff Captain Watkins, who is called in Army circles "Our Pash." All are invited.

Lecture at All Souls' Church.

Mrs. J. E. Waller of Yonkers, N. Y., will give the first lecture in the afternoon course at All Souls' church, Park avenue, to-morrow afternoon, at four o'clock. Subject: "John Wesley: His Liberality, Piety and Love for Humanity."

A Dunellen Robber Caught.

Thomas Miller, alias James Brown, is in jail at Somerville, charged with robbing a candy store in Dunellen. He gives his address as 10 Tillary street, Brooklyn.

FIREMEN AT CHURCH.

THE REV. MR. HERRING PREACHES A SERMON TO THEM.

In which he Says he has a Message for the Fire Men Out of the Fire.—Every Missionary is Also a Fireman.

FIREMEN left their business and fire apparatus to spend an evening at church last night, when the Rev. Charles E. Herring preached a sermon to the members of the First Presbyterian church. Members were present from Granite Engine Co. No. 1, Plainfield Hook and Ladder Co. No. 1, Excelsior Hook & Ladder Co. No. 1, Alert Hose Co. No. 1, Warren Engine Co. No. 1, and the Exempt Firemen's Association. The church was filled, extra seating being placed to accommodate the firemen. Rev. Herring took for his text the passage of the First Presbyterian church to-night. We quote verbatim Rev. Herring's words. If Preachers was worthy of the wreath of heaven for kindling the fire that burns out the soul of the lost, how much more worthy should all the firemen be, who make it their professional business to put it out. All honor to the firemen. I might class myself as a fireman. The mission of the preacher is to "pull men out of the fire." Every missionary is a fireman. He is a fireman to life for the glory of the Lord Jesus.

"You are the symbol of what you should be in reality. Men are to be saved from the fire that burns out the best in them, for man is Godlike in action; how like an angel in apprehension; how like a god.

"There is a necessity for spiritual firemen, for the world is on fire and nothing is absolutely fireproof; wood burns, iron warps, stones crumble, and man is gunpowder waiting only for the spark. Satan fried hottest in the dragon's blood, but a lime heat fell on his back and he was vulnerable there; Achilles was vulnerable in the heel guard, the weak place.

Mr. Herring then spoke of the work of Edward Atkinson, who was the advocate of "slow burning" edifices, the idea being to avoid all concealed places in construction, filling all interstices with plaster, mortar, concrete or clay.

"The architect may have a beautiful plan, a superior style of floor or finish and the inside cellular structure cut up so as to assure rapid combustion and no access to water. Atkinson's method would have not even room for a mouse nest. We should cut off every chance of combustion.

"We learn further, while no structure can be absolutely fireproof, yet buildings made of burnt brick or terra cotta may be practically so.

"That which has passed through the fire into clay; but now of Newark, is spending a week with the Misses Holmes of Grandview avenue.

Miss Kate Daly and Miss Tennison of New Brunswick, and Miss Dunn of Elizabeth were guests yesterday of Miss Bedford on Grandview avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. George Clickner of Mamaquan are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Martin of Jackson avenue. Mr. Clickner has just recovered from a severe illness and comes to Plainfield to recruit on its invigorating air.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson E. Hunyes of Grafton celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage Friday night. About one hundred guests were present, among them being Mr. Isaac Yates and family and Mr. Harry Jenkins of Plainfield.

Mr. George Randolph, who, twenty-five years ago was a well known young man of this city, and is still remembered by some of the old residents, has made considerable money at the World's Fair. He with several others, owned the Esquimaux village and had a very successful season. Mr. Randolph, it is said will be taken to San Francisco for the California exposition. Mr. Randolph was to Plainfield three years ago, and was greatly surprised at its growth. He expects to come to visit his old home next spring.

Joined the Eastern Slope Interchange.

The Plainfield Camera Club at its last meeting joined the Eastern Slope Interchange of the A. I. of A. It is to be very sorry for the club to have to take a number of studies to choose from to make up a set from, and each member is asked to do something to make the set better than last year.

The Officers to be Present To-Night.

The following Salvation Army officers will be present at the meeting to be held in the First Baptist church this evening: Ensign Edith Marshall, Mrs. Major Perry, Lieutenant Jennie Newcomb, Captain Turpin, Captain Marshall and Staff Captain Watkins, who is called in Army circles "Our Pash." All are invited.

Lecture at All Souls' Church.

Mrs. J. E. Waller of Yonkers, N. Y., will give the first lecture in the afternoon course at All Souls' church, Park avenue, to-morrow afternoon, at four o'clock. Subject: "John Wesley: His Liberality, Piety and Love for Humanity."

A Dunellen Robber Caught.

Thomas Miller, alias James Brown, is in jail at Somerville, charged with robbing a candy store in Dunellen. He gives his address as 10 Tillary street, Brooklyn.

UNION COUNTY VOTERS.

WHY THE CITIZENS' LEAGUE IN-DORSES VOORHEES AND HYDE.

They Have Distinctly Pledged Themselves to Support the Platform upon which They were Nominated, While the Opposing Candidates Have Given no Pledge on the Race Track Issue.

To the Voters of Union County:

The Union County Citizens' League, organized for the purpose of securing the repeal of the laws that protect and encourage race track gambling, and to prevent the passage of new laws favorable, has effected organization for the purpose of recommending the election of Foster M. Voorhees for Senator, George Kyte, for Sheriff, and John R. Hancox, Jacob Cronk and Charles N. Codding, Jr., Legislative Candidates from this county. The reasons which have led the League to this conclusion are:

First—The one question that transcends the foregoing candidates demands the repeal of the laws now on the statute books, and the defeat of candidates who are pledged against such repeal. The conventions that nominated the opposing candidates were not only silent on this paramount issue of the campaign, but by their non-committal attitude failed to allow their platforms on the subject to be brought before them.

Second—The candidates herein recommended have distinctly pledged themselves to support the platforms upon which they were nominated, while the opposing candidates have given no pledge on the race track issue.

Third—It is the deliberate judgment of the League that candidates nominated by a convention which is either silent on the question, or open or grossly dominated by race-track influences, cannot be trusted, if elected, to vote or work for repeal of the race-track laws, and therefore they should be defeated. No one can faithfully serve the people and the people's enemies.

We believe that all intelligent and patriotic citizens regard race track gambling and its methods by which it has been placed under the protection of law, with intense aversion, and are eager to place their votes at the coming election where they will be most effective in freeing New Jersey from the grasp of the gamblers' ring. In some counties of our State reliable candidates of the respective parties have agreed on an 3 firmly upon platforms which commit them to work and vote for the repeal of the race-track laws. In such counties the voters may safely follow their party predilections; but in view of the facts above stated in regard to the attitude of the Democratic conventions in Union county, and the negative position of their candidates upon this momentous issue, we deem organized and confidently appeal to all self-respecting citizens of whatever party to join in our efforts to elect the above named candidates. If success crown our efforts the victory will will not be that of any political party over another, but the triumph of those citizens of both parties who place principle above party, and who refuse to be the creatures of the gamblers' ring. What is race-track politics? Is it not a question of whether the candidates who aspire for will defeat or support the gambling hells which for years have robbed the people of their money, debauched the youth of the land, and brought disgrace upon the fair name of New Jersey

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Future Rendezvous.

"I sometimes think that if the United States so wishes it she might become the mightiest naval power the world has ever seen," writes Admiral P. H. Colomb of the royal navy in The North American Review. That is what we think of ourselves, Admiral Colomb. The admiral believes further that our "situation and general policy" ought to lead us at present toward the control of the naval forces of the South American states, seeing that it is apparently impossible for those states to control their own navies. Well, we would not think of it, except in one particular case. That would occur if the European powers should themselves ever attempt to put in a hand and secure control of any of those turbulent, half civilized states.

For instance, just now of Rio Janeiro. England, France and German naval ships are taking a much warmer interest in its fight between the Brazilian congress and navy than the situation appears to justify. If they should undertake "for the protection of foreign citizens" in Rio to capture any part of that fat but discordant republic for themselves, then there would be use for the United States navy very quick.

Meantime we shall be glad to take advantage of the wise hints the admiral gives us on building future naval ships. He calls the huge vessels of the type of the ill fated Victoria "glorious monstrosities," evolved from the nautical designing brain on land in times of peace. There will be a return to the old broadside battleship of moderate dimensions without the tremendously heavy guns. Lighter guns can do quicker and deadlier execution than these slow moving ones of steam and electricity can now revolve a whole ship as quickly as a gun can be revolved. There is a demand for the two classes of naval vessels still, the line of battle ship and the cruiser. He sees little call for the cruiser and battleship combined, for such vessel will be a failure in both respects. Every vessel must be built to fight those of its own class, cruiser against cruiser, battleship against battleship. Moderate speed is better than terrific speed at forced pressure. The practice of sheathing the steel bottoms of naval ships with copper will probably come in. The admiral also seems to expect that the era of liquid fuel will shortly do away with the great coal room now required. He thinks American needs at present cruisers with great coal endurance and considerable offensive power. Finally the fight between the Monitor and Merrimac was in his judgment the decisive battle of our civil war.

Curiosities of the Law.

A writeticked tramp in a city park was caught stealing from another tramp who, like himself, was in the habit of snoozing upon the benches. The sum stolen was 6 cents. The thief tramp did not want it to buy food with. Tramps do not buy food. They beg it. They would not waste their money on anything to eat. They save such small change as they come into possession of to buy whisky with. That was what the thief intended to do with the 6 cents.

But a park policeman caught him and took him before the court. He was tried, found guilty and sentenced to 2½ years' imprisonment, five months for every cent he stole. The fact that he was going to buy and swallow the kind of whisky that sells at 6 cents a drink may have influenced the judge's mind. Anywhat in passing this severe sentence. At any rate the sentence now in force in the outer atmosphere may seem to be 2½ years.

This legal decision is only equaled by that of the judge who some time ago imposed a fine of $5 upon a man who had beaten his wife half to death with a pitchfork, because, as he said, she had stolen three ducks $35.

We are living in a greshage. When a body of water is so frozen that it cannot be navigated in winter, the next thing now to do is to tunnel under it and thus reach by rail the port that cannot be attained by water. A tunnel of this kind is now in process of construction under the straits of Northumberland, between the Dominion of Canada and Prince Edward's island. It is a railway tunnel, built so that connection by train may be had all the year around with the island. Three other great tunnels are being built, one between England and France under the straits of Dover, another under the channel between Great Britain and Ireland, and the third under the Hudson river at New York.

Perhaps generous hearted Senator Stanford died none too soon to secure the future of Stanford university and the other benevolent and educational enterprises in which he and his wife were engaged. Senator Stanford was great in accumulating money, but not so successful in managing it after it was accumulated. Mrs. Stanford is said to be a much better financier than her husband was, and under their superintendence the vast estate of $20,000,000 may realize in a few years all that was expected of it.

The terrible fire in Rutherford, N. J., recalls the awful scenes we witnessed in that region last autumn and winter during the storm.

CHICAGO IN MOURNING.

Universal Gloom Over the Head Death of Mayor Harrison.

THE FUNERAL TO BE WEDNESDAY.

Prendergast, the Assassin, Says In His Cell, "I Did My Duty"—He Had a Scheme For Elevating the Street Cars and Wanted to Be Comptroller.

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—Seldom has anything awakened such deep sorrow among the citizens of Chicago as the murder of Mr. Harrison. The whole city is in mourning and had many of them—all had a warm spot for the genial personality of the man—the funeral would be conducted by the thousands fairly worshiped him. The people of his death silenced all things that were not of serious import, and the grief over his awful death is almost universal in Chicago. The most signal evidence of sorrow was the absence of all festivities at the fair today. There will be a great crowd of course, for it is the last day of a wonderful six months, but of anything like a boisterous observance of a fete there will be none.

Director General Davis has issued orders that the ceremonies which were announced for the fair today in connection with the closing of the World's Columbian exposition should be wholly dispensed with, except that all invited guests and the public generally are requested to remain in festival hall, as originally intended.

Funeral Will Be Wednesday.

The funeral services for Mayor Harrison will be held at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning at the city council chamber in the city hall, which will be held today. It has, however, been decided that the cortege will take place Wednesday. The body will be placed in a vault at Graceland cemetery, and the funeral, which will be private, will be conducted by Rev. Harrison. The body will lie in state for at least a day in the city hall. The council will probably ask that the body be taken to the city hall this afternoon, where it will remain until the funeral, which will probably take place from there. It has been decided that the pallbearers will be eight police captains, who will be selected by Chief of Police Brennan. The honorary pallbearers have been chosen by the mayor's family.

CARTER HARRISON.

Prendergast, the murderer of Mayor Harrison, is now locked in a cell in the county jail. He was carried around the city all day by the police, and the bars did not close behind him until 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Throughout the day he maintained the same stolid demeanor which has characterized him all through, except on the occasion of his surrender to Sergeant McDonald at Desplaines street station. He still sticks to the story that he killed the mayor for no other reason than that he was not made corporation counsel and insists that he had an entire right to act as he did. He is undoubtedly sincere in both his story and his opinion regarding his crime.

"I Did My Duty," Says Prendergast.

When taken to the jail, Prendergast seemed absolutely indifferent to his surroundings and situation. A very complete search was made of his clothing at the jail, but nothing was found excepting $1 in money. While the formality of delivering the prisoner to the jail authorities was in progress Prendergast unconcernedly began lacing up his shoes, which had been removed for the purpose of searching him. He was then conducted to cell 11, the one formerly occupied by Carter Harrison, the Chinaman who is under the sentence for the murder of his wife, and Adolph Chittenden, the banker. Jacob Loeb, special trial for larceny. The Chinaman drove Prendergast, and Prendergast was locked up.

Cell 11, as it is known in jail, being the one which contained Lingg, the anarchist, can be consulted inside. Dr. Scott, who also ex-occupant of the same cell when he caused his own death by taking morphine.

While the cell was being searched Prendergast sat down on a chair in the office. He appeared to be thinking deeply. Suddenly he asked for the keeper. The latter responded and asked for the reason. "I want to see Mr. Harrison," was the reply. "Mr. Harrison is dead," said the keeper. "Dead!" exclaimed Prendergast, and he sprang to his feet. "Dead! Why, I only shot him in the arm. I aimed to shoot him in the arm. I did not want to kill him. I only wanted to get even with him for not making me corporation counsel. I did my duty. I am glad he is dead. I am glad I killed him. I would do it again if I had the chance. I am glad I killed him. I would do it again if I had the chance. I am glad I killed him. I would do it again if I had the chance

FOUGHT LIKE FIENDS.

The Moors Make a Savage Attack on the Spaniards.

DESPERATE BATTLES AT MELILLA.

The Spanish Commander Killed and His Body Captured, but Recovered After a Desperate Struggle — Re-enforcements Wanted Badly by the Spanish.

MADRID, Oct. 30.—Dispatches received here last evening say that fighting between the Moors and the Spanish forces at Melilla was continued Sunday, and it is rumored that there has been serious loss of life on both sides. The situation of the Spaniards is said to be growing desperate, and additional efforts are being put forward to hasten the dispatch of re-enforcements to the front.

General Martinez Campos, commander in chief of the Spanish forces, has been summoned to this city, and it is said that the government has sent for him in order that he may take command immediately of the Spanish army operating against the Moors. General Martinez Campos has expressed the opinion that 30,000 troops will be required to re-enforce the Spanish garrison at Melilla, and he has advised the government to promptly issue an order for the mobilization of all the reserve troops in Spain.

In this city the excitement continues to increase, and the war fever seems to have taken deep hold upon the people.

A crowd of people excited by the rumors in circulation made an attack upon the civil governor in Puerto del Sol, causing the governor to take refuge in the bureau of the minister of the interior, where the roomen at the door were severely beaten by the angry crowd.

A Desperate Charge.

Another dispatch from Melilla says that the garrison made a sortie, 2,000 strong. The firing on both sides continued until dusk, and the fighting was of a desperate character. The Spanish forts shelled and totally destroyed the Moorish village of Frejana and its mosque. Re-enforcements of 4,000 men will reach Melilla before tonight.

The battle fought Saturday and Friday night in and about the trenches before Melilla and which resulted in the death of General Margallo, who commanded the Spanish troops in the first battle about Sidi Guariach, has caused a profound sensation here. The engagement was commenced by General Ortega, who, as the head of the re-enforcements sent to Melilla, drove the Moors from the trenches they had occupied in front of the Spanish fortification.

The Moors fought desperately and with the greatest courage. Many of the Spaniards were killed, and among them was the unfortunate General Margallo, who only 48 hours previously exposed his troops to a second defeat by sending a mere handful of men to the onslaught of tens of thousands of Moors.

The Spaniards were amazed at the courage shown by the Moors in face of a terrible fire.

The Moors charged recklessly forward until they managed to approach within 20 yards of the forts, driving the Spaniards in the trenches before them and cutting the telephone and telegraph wires, which had been erected in order to keep up communication with the outlying forts and intrenches, while the Moors dashed forward with most praiseworthy courage, seemingly utterly regardless of the fire directed upon them by the Spaniards.

The Moors have now invaded the whole Spanish territory, making an attack upon forts.

General Margallo shortly after daybreak had extra ammunition served out to his force, and in light marching order they left the fortifications, with General Margallo at their head. Hardly had the troops left Fort Cabrerizas when the Moors opened a hot fire upon them, during which the Spanish commander was shot in the head and died almost instantly. For a moment it seemed as if the Spaniards would become panic stricken by the death of their leader.

However, the encouragement of their officers seemed to make them mad to avenge the death of General Margallo, and the Extremadura regiment, named after the old general in Spain, in the ranks which the soldiers of that corps are recruited, and the disciplinary battalion were called upon to fix bayonets and charge furiously upon the swarms of Moors occupying the trenches in front of the forts.

Recovered General Margallo's Body.

The Moors, who had been recklessly advancing in spite of the fire directed upon them from guns and rifles, were unable to withstand the attack of cold steel in the hands of the Spanish soldiers. The Moors had no sooner got a taste of the bayonet than they began to retreat, and the Spaniards succeeded in dislodging them from the trenches and drove them scampering before them.

The Spaniards directed their point of attack against the body of Moors who had captured the guns from the trenches, and who had been using them quite freely against the forts and against the assailants. Nothing seemed to stand before the onset of the Extremadura regiment and battalion of soldiers undergoing punishment for breaches of military law. They pressed forward, bayoneting all of the Moors who made any stand and capturing all over the two field pieces and send them to the rear.

During the moment of confusion which followed the death of General Margallo the Moors succeeded in carrying off the body of the Spanish commander-in-chief, and this more than anything else served to rally their men and make the charge which drove the Moors from the trenches. During the retreat toward of the Spanish troops a detachment of them pursued the Moors who were carrying away the general's body, and after a desperate hand to hand conflict with the tribesmen of the desert the Spaniards succeeded in recovering the body and in driving the murder and eventually escorted it into Melilla.

Empress Frederick in London.

LONDON, Oct. 30.—Prince Frantz Sobbon, stepbrother of the king of Siam, will arrive in this city today, with the intention of placing two of the king's sons in an English public school.

Nancy Hanks Does Not Start Today.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Oct. 30.—Nancy Hanks will not start today as expected, but will next Thursday or Friday at the new record meeting.

The Hatching to Be Summoned.

BERLIN, Oct. 30.—An official decree coming the reichstag to meet on Nov. 16 is expected to-day.

Driving Out the Chinese.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30.—More Chinese rioting is reported in the Cahuenga valley.

ASBURY PARK'S PESTS.

Two Young Women Who Will Chaperone Them in the Park Next Winter.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Oct. 30.—Every year the park commissioners of Asbury Park are troubled with a host of visitors in the shape of deer, which come in large numbers during the fall and winter months. These animals are half wild and make their homes chiefly under the farms and vacant cottages of the summer guests in North Asbury Park. There are many wild dogs which will be a menace to life and limb before the middle of the winter. The dogs hunt in a pack for their food and if molested snap and snarl like rabid beasts. Nearly every family which spends the winter here is also plagued by half starved and homeless cats.

These vagrant cats and dogs have been abandoned by departing cottagers after having been petted and fed all through the summer months.

Sunday two well dressed young women from New York, who were ladies of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, came here. One carried a large basket containing meat, bread and cheese. The other carried a double basket. In one side of this basket was a half gallon jar of chloroform and a sponge. The other compartment contained a large alright box. They presented the following letter in proof of their identity:

137 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

Two of the King's Daughters of the Henry Bergh society will come on Nov. 7 to Asbury Park and Ocean Grove to humanely destroy all homeless and suffering cats. Please notify all through the chief of police, William H. Smith.

KING'S DAUGHTERS.

The two young women came here to aid the town of the police.

LETTERS FROM RUTH.

The President's Daughter Already Takes a Hand In Politics.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 30.—Frank Protzman, the 9-year-old son of the postmaster at Morris Cross Roads, W. Va., has received two letters from Ruth Cleveland. Thomas Protzman, the boy's father, is a stanch Republican and has the postoffice in his house. His wife is an ardent Democrat and has taught her son to be a Democrat.

The lad wants to be the postmaster and wrote to Washington, telling his age and his loyalty to the Democratic party. Bertie, he wrote to Ruth, asking her to use her influence with her papa to secure him the office.

This letter was answered in three days, and the answer assured the boy that Miss Ruth had spoken to her father and that he had promised to look with particular care after the interests of his daughter's friend.

Miss Cleveland's letters are both marked "Dictated" on the upper left corner and are evidently signed by herself, her hand probably being held by that of another—probably Mrs. Cleveland.

DR. PARKHURST THREATENED

He Receives a Letter Telling Him How He Is to Be Killed.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst's life has been threatened, and although he has not yet accepted the advice of friends, who insist that he should have a bodyguard, he has taken measures to protect him-elf.

Dr. Parkhurst, who was seen at his home, admitted that he had received a letter which not only said that he would be killed if he persisted in his social crusade, but even told of the means that would be adopted in murdering him.

Dr. Parkhurst was pressed for a copy of the letter, but he declined to give it. In answer to questions he said that although his life had been threatened before because of his crusade, none of the previous threats had impressed him so much as this one. His friends, he said, were apprehensive and had advised him to provide himself with a bodyguard. He had not yet done this, but he had taken means to protect him-elf in case he is attacked. Dr. Parkhurst would not say anything further about the contents of the letter. He was very much in earnest in what he said, and there was no doubt that he was imbued with the belief that, like Mayor Harrison of Chicago, he might be assassinated without the slightest opportunity to protect himself.

George Gould's Narrow Escape.

SEDALIA, Mo., Oct. 30.—George J. Gould of New York, president of the Missouri Pacific, had a narrow escape from death while hunting in this state. As he was walking through a clump of hazel bushes with a gun in his left hand, a twig caught in the trigger guard, throwing the barrels upward and causing the gun to be discharged. The bullet came within two inches of Mr. Gould's head.

Louisville Gossip.

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 30.—Charles Coghlan says that the young actress who bears his name is not only said that he would be his real, but his adopted daughter. Her real name is Gertrude Evelyn Norfolk, and her parents, who are married, are still living.

Fraser's Widow Fulfilled.

TOPEKA, Oct. 30.—A prominent person who has been especially intimate with the Russian officers, in referring to the czar's brother's tour around the world, said that the best informed officials regarded it as a fulfillment of the wishes of Fraser.

Josiah Quincy's Successor.

GRAND RAPIDS, Oct. 30.—Private dispatches received here from Washington state that Hon. Edwin F. Uhl of this city is to be appointed assistant secretary of state to succeed Josiah Quincy and that he will accept.

A Methodist Minister Under Arrest.

FLORENCE, Ala., Oct. 30.—Sheriff Patterson has arrested Rev. J. N. Matthews, a Methodist minister. He was taken back to Arkansas on a warrant charging him with grand larceny and forgery.

To Put a Tax Levy Across Niagara's Gorge.

NIAGARA FALLS, Oct. 30.—A company is being organized here to build a cable railway bridge across the Niagara gorge.

Crushed by an Elevator.

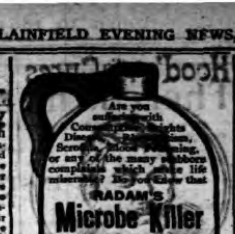
NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Luke Gaffney was crushed to death by the elevator in which he worked at the St. Denis hotel.

Will Resume Work.

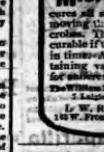
TONAWANDA, N. Y., Oct. 30.—The Tonawanda iron and Steel company will resume Nov. 15.

Fire Victims Will Recover.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 30.—The eight men injured during Friday's fire will recover.



BEFORE BUYING LAMPS



Boehm's.
$5.00

buys a Fine Ladies' Coat, fur edged, made of heavy beaver cloth, with sleeves 27 in. long. Largest assortment of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Coats, Jackets, Fur Capes, etc., ever shown in this vicinity, too the loss of Catcher for Ladies' and Children's Coats we are now showing.

25c. at this price we are showing a line of Corsets, Storm Serge, Dress Flannels, Fancies, Changeables, Bouclé Stripes, etc., ranging in width from 36 to 54 inches. The new crepe figured Bedfords, all shades 50c. real value, 75c. MILLINERY. For Fall only the best variety of trimmed and untrimmed Hats ever seen in this city, and at lowest possible prices, consistent with first-class work.

The Vandertilts and Astors!

Use the same make of imported Table Oil, Cheese and French Sardines that I now have in stock.

THEY ARE DELICIOUS.

And then I personally select the

FRESH FISH!

I have on sale to-day and to-morrow. Call and see my stock.

JULES BOVEY,
60 Somerset Street.

Great Bargains
in all grades of
WALL PAPERS,
for the next 60 days.
Marsh, Ayers & Co.,
29 EAST FRONT STREET.

Postmasters Appointed.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—The following fourth class postmasters were appointed: Jamaica, L. I., Oct. 28, Adam Stelle, vice Henry Hunter, resigned. John Hughes, Hanover's Mills, P. O. Hagaman; Knapp's Creek, Mrs. M. L. Knapp, P. O. Knapp's Creek; Orinkany Falls, D. K. McElhenny; Palatine Bridge, Augustus Fuller; Paine Hollow, Thomas Wood, P. O. Spraker's. David Fuller, P. O. Fuller.

Searching For a Storekeeper's Wealth.

AMHERST, N. H., Oct. 30.—Charles Gates, the proprietor of the most unique general store in New England, died here, aged 84. He was ill a week before he was stricken down by the hand of death in the wealth which he is supposed to have hidden.

The New York Subs Tenderized.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The departure of the cruiser New York to the scene of revolution in Brazil has been postponed until tomorrow. Engineer Melville's force worked to get the cruiser in readiness, it was found impossible in the short time.

Whalebone to Cheapen.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Oct. 30.—For the first time in a year whale bone dropped to its normal price of 10 cents per pound to-day. The decline in price is caused by the unprecedented catch.

Time Made by Fastest Freight Steamer.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The Leyland liner, which arrived from Liverpool, made the passage in 7 days, 2 hours and 1 minute, breaking all previous records of freight steamers.

Two Feet of Snow.

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 30.—Advices Haparanda, at the gulf of Bothnia, (Northern Sweden) Northern Sweden ran into 4 inches of snow and sank it, drowning 10 persons.

St. John's Catholic Church Dedicated.

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Oct. 30.—The new St. John's Roman Catholic church at Lambertville was dedicated. Apostolic Delegate Satolli was present.

Sam Jones at a Dedication.

MEMPHIS, Oct. 30.—Six thousand people attended the dedication of the new Auditorium here. Rev. Samuel Jones preached the dedication sermon.

Big Carriage Factory Burned.

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio, Oct. 30.—Charles Wanke & Co.'s big carriage factory, 460 to 470 Main street, was burned with contents.

World's Fair Admissions.

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—Paid admissions to the fair Sunday were 146,022.

British Squadron Leaves Spain.

SPEZIA, Oct. 30.—The British squadron left this port for Gibraltar.

Legal Advertisements.

CORPORATION NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the Common Council of the City of Plainfield, at a meeting held on the 23d day of October, 1893, passed the following resolution, viz: Resolved, That the Common Council of the City of Plainfield do hereby declare the necessity of the following improvements, viz: Of grading, curbing and flagging the sidewalks on the north side of West Front street, from the westerly line of Plainfield avenue to the westerly line of the City of Plainfield; also on the south side of West Front street, from the westerly line of Plainfield avenue to the westerly line of the City of Plainfield; also on the west side of Plainfield avenue, from the southerly line of West Front street to the northerly line of the City of Plainfield; also on the east side of Plainfield avenue, from the southerly line of West Front street to the northerly line of the City of Plainfield; also

THE HOUSEHOLD

ENAMELING THE BATHTUB.

A Simple Means of Making an Old Zinc Tub Dainty and Easy to Keep in Order.

The bathtub from which age and constant use have worn away the brightness is the despair of the model housewife, who wishes to have everything about her home show traces of care on the part of herself and her domestics. How distressing she is when, after several ineffectual attempts to burnish up the metal lining, the dull, worn look remains, and the unwelcome truth bursts upon her that its "polishing days" are over, and there must in the future be rows about the tub an air of dinginess and neglect!

To avoid this sort of trouble as ingenious folks in on the wing, which will at time advances gain in favor. Who does not admire the graceful lines in which fancy's pampered progress take their daily dip? To those but lightly endowed with worldly goods, the possession of one of these luxurious finishes looks to be an utter impossibility. But there is a means by which the mother and her broad may insure a tub, while if is not quite up to the mark in points of quality, is certainly as daintily attractive in appearance as that of porcelain.

This is the enameled bathtub. When the zinc or tin lining grows shabby, give it a coating of white paint. After this has dried apply several thicknesses of white enamel, waiting for each application to dry before adding the next. In this way a thick enamel coating is laid upon the metal, giving it the appearance, when completed, of porcelain. The enameled lined tub is not only very much daintier in appearance, but can be kept in order more easily than zinc or tin, a damp cloth wiped across the surface being all that is needed to retain the purity of coloring.

As companion for a tub furnished up in the foregoing manner, Golden Days suggests to treat in the same way the woodwork of the bathroom. Some faint hued enamel, pale blue, old pink, delicate gray, cream or lemon laid upon the woodwork, completes the decorative notion, while esthetic conceptions in pumpkin yellow, sage green or rimset brown contrast admirably with the snowy lining of the tub

Battenberg Lace.

The uses to which this lace is put are many, and it is indicated by The Ladies' Home Journal as specially suitable where heavy, rich and handsome effects are desired. Besides being employed for the table, it is much used and liked for curtains, both for windows and for vestibule doors. It is also popular for the bedroom. Lovely bedspreads are made in linen, the lace insertion being frequently laid over a colored lining in the library or dining room table covers are used on polished tables, made in French shades of ecru with terry cloth or other fabric as the center. They are exceedingly handsome, and with certain patterns bold and effective results can be readily obtained.

Pansies a la Creme.

Wash and peel three good parsnips, cut them into olive shapes, using only the outside. Put them in a stewpan with salted cold water flavored with lemon juice. Bring them to the boil; then strain them off. Put them in a pan with a piece of fresh butter, pepper, cream or milk and a little flour to thicken it. Lay a buttered paper over it all, cover the pan and cook gently for 20 to 25 minutes, then sprinkle with finely minced parsley and the juice of half a lemon and serve very hot.

To Remove Grease From Matting.

If you have been so unfortunate as to drop grease upon the matting, do not try to remove it with soap and water, as you will only make the spot worse, says Jennens Miller. Sometimes brown paper and a hot iron will be effective, but the best eradicator is French chalk and benzine. Cover the spot thick with the chalk and moisten by sprinkling—not pouring—the benzine upon it. When the benzine has evaporated, brush off the chalk, and, lo! the spot has vanished also.

Graceful Window Drapery.

Very graceful effects can be obtained by draping windows with frilled scrim net curtains and the window sashes with velvet or such curtains to match. Art printed muslins are also used and make pretty curtains at a very moderate cost.

A Dainty Little Cap.

A pretty cap for a very small boy is worked in the now favored crochet with coarse white wool and a bone crochet needle. Begin at the center with a chain of five stitches and close into a loop with a slip stitch. For the 1st row make 3 chain to begin, then 11 double crochet around the loop and a slip stitch on the 3d of the 3 chain at the beginning; for a double crochet, having a loop on the needle, pull the wool over, insert the needle and pull a loop through, pull the wool through 2 of the 3 loops on the needle, pull the wool through the 2 loops then on it. 2d row—A single crochet around every stitch in the last row; for a single insert and pull the wool through, work off the 2 loops on the needle. 3d row—A single around the next stitch, 2 singles around the succeeding stitch for a widening, 7 times. 4th row—One single around every stitch, but 2 singles around the second stitch of each widening in the last row. 5th-25th rows—Like the fourth row. 26th row—A single around every stitch, but for a narrowing work off together as one stitch the 2 singles which come on the edges of the widening in the last row. 27th row—A single around every stitch, but for a narrowing work off together the stitch that comes on the narrowing in the last row and the next. 28th-46th row—Like the last, 47th-52d rows. A single to every stitch. Herewith work from the wrong side, for the turned up edge, 9 rows without widening or narrowing. The chained lines which divide the cap into sections are worked with white silk; begin at the center, and work a row of slip stitches along the second stitch of each widening and narrowing, increasing at the corners. Edge both sides of the brim the same way, and trim the center and one side of the cap with a small white silk passementerie ornament with tassels.

CROCHETED CAP FOR A LITTLE BOY.

OUR YOUNG FOLKS

THE PUMA OR AMERICAN LION.

Happy In Captivity With Its Playful and Frolicsome Young.

The puma or cougar, sometimes called the American lion, is one of the largest of the American feline or cat family, rivaled only by the jaguar. Its fur is thick and close, reddish brown above and of a paler color on the breast and lower parts of the body. Young pumas, however, have dark brown spots all over the back, which disappear when the animal is full grown.

PUMAS IN CAPTIVITY.

The puma climbs trees with great ease and generally secures its prey by darting down upon it from some overhanging limb, such as an antelope, which may be passing below. It is not only very active in its habits, but it is a powerfully built animal. Fortunately it is rather cowardly, seldom venturing to attack a man face to face, though quite willing to dog his footsteps day after day in the hope of finding him off guard or asleep, when it would at once attack and destroy him. Many tales are told of lonely travelers in great forests being thus followed by a puma for days at a time.

Notwithstanding all this the puma can, it is said, be easily tamed if taken young and kept well supplied with food. It then proves to be gentle, purring like a cat and equally fond of being caressed. This capability of being tamed makes it a desirable inhabitant of zoological gardens, where it seems happy and at ease, while the little ones are as playful and frolicsome as so many kittens.

Steady and Stick Be the Trick.

A task is good in it's place, lad,
But not at the start, I say,
For life's a very long race, lad,
And never was won that way.
He's the day that toils, the year, boy,
And the heart that never says die!
A sport may do with the sand in view,
But remember the race is not I.
Steady's the word that wins, lad,
Get and steady goes;
It's sticking to it will carry you through it—
Roll up your sleeves again.

Oh, heap in a very good cow, lad,
The fight for the time's not true,
But Holdfast sticks like a burr, lad—
Brave Holdfast never lets go.
And Chesty sets store by Tom, boy,
But stumbles and slows, they say,
So Steady I count the safer mount
To carry you all the way.

The task has still stake, lad,
At straining muscle and thew,
But the surest tooth of the file, lad,

I cannot tell over it through,
A many may start at the end, boy,
And a host of culprits may be
But only one gets the credit—
That up your sleeves again.

The Last of the Last In Chinn.

When one sees a lad in China with his head shaved, one may be sure that, however bayliks he may look, he has not made all the things of such a lad to which he is in fact, the event is celebrated in the household with great solemnity, for entrance upon manhood is a matter important for the head of the House of Lads. Invitations are sent to the friends and relatives to a family gathering, and each is expected to bring a present, which is placed before the hero of the hour. The boy himself is dressed in fine silk robes and performs with solemnity. When every one has arrived, the barber makes a round in honor of the occasion, the process are given, and then a Chinese priest shaves the boy's head to prepare the way for the pigtail, which marks the man of the Celestial empire.

Hayward and His Work.

The fact is the fable that I lost his tail and then went around and try to persuade his fellows that they would find it much to their advantage if they got rid of their tails, too, must have been an utter absence of a fact, for if there is one thing for which Hayward does pride himself it is this very brush of his. He is gallant about it, which and very nice to hold it with style on the air, keeping it out of dirt and away as long as he can. In fact, such a fop is he in this respect that you can tell his good humor from the way he holds or marches the brush. It is a certain sign that the case has at last got too hot for him when his tail begins to trail and he looks soiled. There is nothing's for distillers so much as a black-eyed brush.

A Language Worth Learning Well.

The boys and girls who are struggling to learn modern languages may be comforted by Arthur Brisbane's prediction that English will soon become the universal language. A writer in a London magazine says that in uncivilized regions of the interior of Africa the spread of English has been marvelous during the last few years. In Russia it is considered more fashionable to speak English than French, which for many years has been the court language. Japan is adopting English wholesale. Even the signboards of the shops and the names of the towns and villages are always inscribed with English as well as Japanese characters.

A Clever Couple.

A learned pair
You must agree,
Oh, for too clever
For you and me.

They sit and yawn
From day to day,
And never a single Word they say.

Do you suppose
We should think them wise
If they had not such
Their big round eyes?

Tired from Head to Foot

FROM HEAD TO FOOT.

That's what's the matter with the most of us. What's the reason? Poor circulation of the blood. The cause? The neglect of the first symptoms of indigestion, biliousness, nervousness, sleeplessness, weak joints, backaches, no energy, no ambition, etc. Can you get rid of these by the use of Anti-Tire? Get up good appetites, healthy digestion, rich blood, strong nerves, active livers? Yes. One dose tells of what's to come. All druggists sell it. 25 cents per large package.

LYONS & ZIEGLER,
416 Bergen avenue,
Jersey City, N. J.

Neuman Brothers,

THE POPULAR GROCERS,
have a full line of selected

Groceries, Fruit and Vegetables.

Choicest varieties of Coffees and Teas, carefully assembled. A fine display of choicest Apples daily. A new stock of Country Vegetables and Fruits.

NEUMAN BROS.,
WATCHUNG AVENUE
and FIFTH STREET.

Horses and Carriages,

of all kinds, for hire, at
O'BRIEN'S,
125 WEST FOURTH STREET,
or at the depot.

Joseph T. Vail,

REAL ESTATE
and
INSURANCE.
DEALER IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING
9 North Avenue.

There is no use Talking

If we don't talk we could not say anything, and sometimes we don't say much when we do talk.

The retail quarter is up still here Again. And we are putting some prices on goods that it will be well worth considering, even if you are in a big hurry.

AN INSTANCE:

This tumblers, 6c. down

You will want some wear pretty soon, maybe to-morrow.

Men's white and colored shirts and drawers, 25c.

Men's colored and white and drawers, 45c.

Child's white and natural wool shirts and drawers, 15c.

A good dress that 45 in. all wool suiting will make, cost the manufacturer 45c. to make, and all we ask for it is 25c.

HAVE YOU EVER TRIED US ON ROMBRY?

WE OFFER.

Child's fast black ribbed hose ..... 10c.
" " " " ..... 15c.
Ladies' " " " ..... 10c.
" " Full regular ..... 12c.
" " " ..... 15c.
Men's full regular, half hose ..... 12c.

HOUSE FURNISHING DEPARTMENT.—Offers special attractive prices on Granite iron ware and in all kinds of house-furnishing goods.

Infants silk caps, 49c.

BLANKETS AND COMFORTABLES.

Hasn't been very good weather for these, and a big difference it makes in the price.

White cotton filled comfortables, $1.49.
White cotton filled comfortables, 75c.
Cream cheese cloth quilts, our own make, $1 49 each.

WHITE, of Plainfield.

A STORY WITH A MORAL.

What Boys and Girls Can Only Find Out by Reading.

(Copyrighted, 1893.)

"You go and get it, Jimmie; twon't hurt you. Go on, go 'way! I'll pay any money," "Jimmie" was the "youngster" of the party, the others being two to four years his senior. They had been playing ball, and while the "good un" the ball had gone high over the fence surrounding the cistern and landed far out of reach in the water.

JIMMIE MADE ANOTHER GRAB.

"W-e-ell, you boost me over and I'll get it 'f I can," said he thinking he probably ought to go because he threw the ball, if he was the "littlest."

He wasn't four, but he was spunky enough for fourteen. Rain storms were "great fun," the ocean was "fine." The only form in which he objected to water was in the bath-tub; he couldn't endure a scrubbing.

One of the bigger boys moved a barrel up, the biggest one stood on top of it, and Jimmie was "hoisted" over the fence with no damage except to the seat of his trousers. They were a little "tarred" in the process.

Landed safely on the ground inside the fence, the child lay flat on the grass and tried to reach for the last ball which was floating jauntily on the surface of the water.

Jimmie reached very hard, but his fat arms weren't long enough.

"Oh, yer can do it, don't be a baby," said the biggest boy.

Challenged in this way, Jimmie made another dive, then there came a splash—and Jimmie couldn't be seen. At this the other children began to cry furiously.

The biggest boy had been shaving in his room around the corner of the house, and, flying through the hall door, his face all lather, entering the children just in the direction of the old cistern he caused the trouble, climbed the barrel. His head bumped down, followed by the little boy's feet as he tried to reach for the blue ones and carried him into the water. The other two were almost frightened out of their wits at the sight of the playmate so still, they wondered if he would speak again.

Grouped around the little fellow for a number of minutes—all seemed weeks to Jimmie's mother, were all his relatives living in the house; the frightened children passed into the hall.

The little boy seemed not to move, then there came a shiver, the eyelids twitched, there was a great sigh, he raised his hands to his eyes, seemingly to rub them dry. A moment of suspense, the mattress watchers held their breaths when there came a little wail, deepened into—he said—"Mamma-ma, I won't have to take a bath this week now—will I?"—Margery Daw.

The Spider's Party.

Mrs. Spider gave a party.
And invited spiders all;
Giving them a welcome hearty,
In her web inside the wall.

All her many little spiders
Donned their Sunday pinafores,
Curled their hair, and put on ribbons,
For so great and grand a soiree.

Martha Jane, the spider-servant,
Let the guests in when they came,
First of all politely asking
Where they came from and their name.

And when answered, then she led them
To a grand reception-room,
Where the host and hostess waited
For their many guest to come.

Mr. Spider had an eyeglass,
And a silver watch besides;
Mrs. Spider wore a locket,
With her husband's picture inside.

Both looked very gay and happy,
Leaning back within their chairs,
Talking to the guests around them
As they trooped up from the stairs.

When the clock struck six precisely,
Martha Jane came bustling in.
"Please," she said, "the supper's ready,"
So the guests went rustling in.

In the dining-room the supper
On a table long was laid,
Loaded with all kinds of dainties,
Which the spider-cook had made.

Legs of drones fried brown in butter,
Midge preserved, blindstinging pies,
Little insects mixed in sugar,
And all kinds of moths and flies.

Everything that spiders fancy
Was upon the white cloth spread,
And they ne'er before had known
Such a supper, such one said.

When at last the meal was over,
And each guest had had enough,
All adjourned into the draw'g'-room
Where they played at "blindman's buff."

"Hide and seek," and "hunt the slipper,"
Till the clock was striking ten,
When their carriages came for them,
And they left directly then.

Nobody Need Starve on the Ocean.

"I can't understand how shipwrecked people starve to death at sea," said little Johnny Plainstorp. "Why can't you understand it? There is nothing to starve to death in the ocean." "Indeed, sir?" "Yes." "Well, then my teacher is a liar. He said there were currents in the ocean. Nobody need starve when he can get current." I wish I had some now."—Texas Siftings.

A Fortnight Cannon.

Tommy's first visit to New York was made on a week's excursion. "I suppose," he said, after taking a ride on the elevated railway—"I s'pose they have this railroad so's folks to keep the wheels dry, don't they?"—Harper's Young People.

For relief from acute cold in the head inhale pure carbolic acid, water of ammonia, of each one dram; alcohol, two drams; chloroform, three drops. Pour a few drops on thick knotted paper and inhale the fumes for a few minutes.

There is no use Talking

If we don't talk we could not say anything, and sometimes we don't say much when we do talk.

The retail quarter is up still here Again. And we are putting some prices on goods that it will be well worth considering, even if you are in a big hurry.

AN INSTANCE:

This tumblers, 6c. down

You will want some wear pretty soon, maybe to-morrow.

Men's white and colored shirts and drawers, 25c.

Men's colored and white and drawers, 45c.

Child's white and natural wool shirts and drawers, 15c.

A good dress that 45 in. all wool suiting will make, cost the manufacturer 45c. to make, and all we ask for it is 25c.

HAVE YOU EVER TRIED US ON ROMBRY?

WE OFFER.

Child's fast black ribbed hose ..... 10c.
" " " " ..... 15c.
Ladies' " " " ..... 10c.
" " Full regular ..... 12c.
" " " ..... 15c.
Men's full regular, half hose ..... 12c.

HOUSE FURNISHING DEPARTMENT.—Offers special attractive prices on Granite iron ware and in all kinds of house-furnishing goods.

Infants silk caps, 49c.

BLANKETS AND COMFORTABLES.

Hasn't been very good weather for these, and a big difference it makes in the price.

White cotton filled comfortables, $1.49.
White cotton filled comfortables, 75c.
Cream cheese cloth quilts, our own make, $1 49 each.

WHITE, of Plainfield.

Hotels.

CENTRAL HOTEL,

No. 11 E. Front St.,

PLAINFIELD,

Windham & Crowley,

PROPRIETORS.

First-class bar attached.

Fourth Ward Hotel.

JOHN GOFF, Proprietor.

Boarders accommodated, both transient and permanent.

LARGE ROOMS
and
ALL MODERN IMPROVEMENTS.

Fine Wines, Liquors and CIGARS.

Corner Third and Liberty Streets.

Hotel Grenada,

NORTH AVENUE,

are open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the travelling public.

City Hotel,

Corner
PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.

Transient guests accommodated.

Eugene Hoerster,

206 Grove Street,

North Plainfield.

Wholesale Dealer
in
BEER WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.

Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

A GREAT SLAUGHTER!

of

Ladies' Wrappers, for one week, at 75 cents.

at

THE LEADER! M. GOLDMANN, Prop.
210 WEST FRONT STREET. (Old No. 214)

Two doors from Music Hall.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

Successors to
The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,
Dealers in
Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials
41 to 49 PARK AVENUE.

Are now prepared with their increased facilities, having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs. A. D. Cook & Bro.) to fill all orders promptly and solicit your patronage.

The Fall and Winter Styles in Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing are now in Stock. Overcoats of all Weights. Trousers Made to Order from $4 to $8. Suits from $15 to $30. Hats and General Furnishings. WERNER'S MAMMOTH CLOTHING HOUSE, 206 West Front Street.

R. W. Rice & Co.,

THE PARK GROCERS.

Corner Duer and Emily Streets.

NORTH PLAINFIELD.

This Date In History—Oct. 30.

1735—George II of England born; died 1760.
1760—George III of England became king of the United States; died 1820.
1755—Earthquake in Syria; Sidon destroyed and 30,000 lives lost.
1801—Eleazer Cartwright, inventor of the power loom, died.
1805—Thomas Cushing born; died 1868.
1809—Leopold de Gerolstein, French republican leader, born at Calvisson; died 1892.
1811—Great fire at Portland, Me.; 1,500 houses destroyed.
1841—General Ormsby MacKnight Mitchel, astronomer and soldier, died at Beaufort, S. C., born 1810.
1848—Governor John A. Andrew of Massachusetts, known as the "war governor," died in Boston; born at Windham, N. H., 1818.
1864—Suppressed date of the death of Dr. Lang, the scotch engineer, in Siberia; the last entry in his diary was Oct. 31.
1867—The Atlantic Cable Hargreve established with the exception of Thomas of Baltimore, M. J., and both vessels sank, drowning 19 persons.
1881—General Truman Seymour, a veteran of the Mexican and civil wars, died in Florence, Ga.; born at Ogdensburg, N. Y., 1824; also Major Anderson's relief at Fort Sumter during the bombardment.

There is one industry in America that has not suffered this year, and that is the growing of beer brewing barley in California. The shipments of this product have been the heaviest ever made. Most of the grain went to Great Britain.

After an almost endless amount of discussion and argument, Rev. Dr. Briggs has been condemned by the Presbyterian assembly. "Lord, now let thy servant depart in peace."

James Dalton was a rich man who lived in Elizabeth, N. J. He gave $200,000 to a faith cure home in New York city, then went into it himself and died there at the age of 97.

Mexico now takes by far the larger part of her imported goods from the United States.

One of Blaine's sayings: "I do not know why the man should be my enemy. I never did him a favor."

The supply of failed banks holds out altogether too well.

1893		OCTOBER.				1893
Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fr.	Sa.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
15	16	17	18	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26	27	28
29	30	31

MOON'S PHASES.

Third Quarter 2 10:19 a.m.
New Moon 9 5:37 p.m.
First Quarter 17 4:42 a.m.
Full Moon 25 1:12 a.m.
Third Quarter 31 6:16 p.m.

Tickets

For, or from Europe,

On

All Lines,

And all Steamers.

Drafts

Sold also.

H. D. MORRISON,

Agent,

Somerset Street.

Metropolitan Livery and Boarding Stables!

Coaches, Close Carriages, Park Phaetons, Surreys, Buggies, Pony Phaetons and Saddle horses.

Special care given boarding horses. Storage for furniture and carriages.

149 AND 157 NORTH AVENUE,
Opposite depot. Telephone Call, 44.
H. B. RIDER, Proprietor. FRANK DAY, Manager.

THE TIME TO EAT!

MEAT!

is at meal time, of course, and the place to get good meat, at reasonable, honest prices and grocers, etc., is at

E. J. CONNOLLY,

No. 221 Broadway.

SMOKED MEATS AND VEGETABLES always on hand.

PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS.

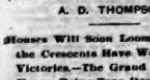
66 per Year in Advance. | T. W. Morrison, Editor and Proprietor. Office, No. 21 Somerset street. Printing of All Kinds. | 10 Cents per Week, Delivered.

ESTABLISHED 1884. | PLAINFIELD, N. J., "THE COLORADO OF THE EAST," | TUESDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1893. | PRICE TWO CENTS.

EXIT CRESCENT OVAL.

THE GROUNDS PURCHASED BY MR. A. D. THOMPSON.

Houses Will Soon Loom Up Where the Crescents Have Won so Many Victories.—The Grand Stand and Fences Being Torn Down.



RECENTLY Mr. Aaron D. Thompson purchased the Allen property, opposite Linden avenue, on Somerset street. The property has been used as a ball ground for sometime past, and the Plainfield Amusement Company secured a new lease for five years.

Mr. Thompson has now bought the Amusement Company's effects, that is, the high board fence, and grand stands. These are being torn down by workmen under the supervision of Mr. Charles Hand. The boards will be used for sidewalks when the new streets are laid out. Surveys have already been made for two new streets across the property, one opposite Linden avenue and the other opposite Mr. Frank Linke's place. The land will be cut up into building lots. Mr. Hand will have the selling of the lots.

Mr. Michael Undal has been given the contract for grading the streets. He will begin work at once.

FELL FROM THE STOOP.

Mrs. James O'Rourke Meets with an Accident.

Mrs. James O'Rourke of West Sixth street met with a slight accident this morning.

She had just recovered from a severe illness, and is, in consequence, very weak and unsteady. As she went out of doors this morning, she slipped and fell from the stoop to the ground, striking on her head. The injured woman was taken into the house and Dr. Boone summoned. With the exception of a bruise on the forehead she escaped injury. Mrs. O'Rourke is a widow, her husband having died last Winter.

BREVITIES.

—Madison avenue commissioners will meet to-night in the Council Chamber.

—The petit jurors were discharged at Elizabeth this morning until next Monday.

—A pneumatic tire for the silver dollar has been suggested in order to make it circulate faster.

—The regular monthly meeting of Gazelle Engine Co. will be held to-morrow night at 7:30 o'clock.

—There will be special marshals on duty in the borough to-night, to look after Hallow'Een tricksters.

—Russet shoes can be easily shined with a fresh banana skin or a piece of raw carrot or tomato or potato.

—The Odd Ladies gave a very enjoyable entertainment in the Sons of Temperance lodge room, last night.

—A camp of the Sons of Veterans will in all probability soon be organized here. A committee has the matter in charge.

—The Masons and Bricklayers Union will hold a meeting to-morrow night in the lodge room of Howell Division, Sons of Temperance.

—The Ladies' Aid Society of the Monroe Avenue chapel is making preparations for the children's entertainment to take place next week.

—A new sidewalk of flagging is being laid in front of the new German Lutheran Evangelical church, corner of Mercer avenue and Grove street.

—A meeting of the Young Ladies' Missionary Society of the First Baptist church was held this afternoon at the o'clock, in the lecture room of the church.

—A piece of rotten sidewalk on Bonnell street that has been much complained of is to be removed at last. Mr. George Kirch and Mr. Kitchen are having the old walk removed and new flagging placed in its stead.

—Mr. Henry Windham, proprietor of the Arlington Hotel, North Plainfield, gave an oyster supper last evening, which was well patronized by lovers of the lucious bivalve. The decorations were, as usual, in Mr. Windham's best style.

—At 66 Manning avenue, North Plainfield, a general grocery business has been established by Mr. and Mrs. Bigelow, a most enterprising couple. The cleanliness of the store and goods and the excellent quality of the stock is rapidly drawing a remunerative trade. Mrs. Bigelow is making a specialty of pure butter for which there is a constant demand.

Working Three Days a Week.

Machinists at Scott's Press Works have all been put on short time now. Some of them work on half day each day, others every other day, while others work the first three days of each week. In this way they all work three days a week.

Scarlet Fever Closes a School.

Scarlet fever has broken out at the residence of Lambert Kagan, of Mine Mount, near Basking Ridge. Two of Kagan's children are seriously ill with the disease. The school at Mine Mount closed last Wednesday, and Kagan's house has been quarantined.

A HORSE 30 YEARS OLD.

IT TRIED HARD TO DIE, BUT COULD NOT MAKE IT OUT.

Wandered Away From Its Home and Finally Laid Down Near the Park Avenue Baptist Church, Where Its Master Killed It.

Mr. Samuel Randolph of Park avenue has for some time left an old horse, said to be thirty years old, wander around his place. The animal had done good service for its master, before it had become too old for active work, and Mr. Randolph, thinking that his dumb friend would no doubt soon end its days, turned it out to pasture.

Yesterday the old horse got into the street and walked toward town. Near the Park avenue Baptist church it evidently made up its mind it was a good place to die, so it laid down and waited death. The animal could not, or, would not, get up, but laid there all night. This morning its owner was notified. It was found necessary to kill it.

NUPTIALS.

Williams—Force.

At four o'clock this afternoon Mr. William F. Williams of this city and Miss Minnie Louise Force, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Force, of Second Brook, will be married at the latter place.

Sebring—Tabor.

At Dover Plains, at noon Thursday, the Rev. R. H. Travis of this city, united in marriage Miss Jane E. Tabor, daughter of Mrs. A. E. Tabor, and William H. Sebring, of Plainfield, N. J. The ceremony took place in the parlors of the bride's home. Mr. and Mrs. Sebring left on an afternoon train for Chicago. They will reside in Plainfield.—Sunday Courier, of Poughkeepsie, Oct. 29.

Miss Tabor was formerly a teacher in the Irving school, this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Sebring will be at home in Plainfield on Nov. 17th.

WHO OWNS THE GOODS!

Another Case to Try the Right of Property.

Recently the case of Westphal vs. Nolan was tried before Justice Mosher. Judgment was rendered in favor of the plaintiff for $68. Nolan's goods, which were in storage, were attached. Mrs. Nolan claimed that the goods were hers, and therefore could not be held for her husband's debts.

This morning Justice Mosher issued a venire to call a jury to try the right of property. The jury will come up to-morrow morning at ten o'clock.

Caught One of the Disturbers.

Many complaints have been made to the police of the disorderly conduct of a gang of boys who assemble in front of Reform Hall. It is said they throw stones at the houses and otherwise make themselves obnoxious. Last night Policeman Frodsham, after a short spurt, succeeded in catching one of the number. The others escaped. The one arrested said his name was Wilson. After exacting a promise from the boy to keep away from that crowd nights and stay at home, Judge Coddington suspended sentence.

Individual Bowling Tournament.

The games in the individual bowling tournament of the Catholic Young Men's Library association were rolled every night. Last night's games resulted as follows:

M. Owens	177	F. Kiely	158
J. Hughes	164	P. Butcher	171
T. Hughes	166	J. Hillside	140
P. Kiely	163	P. Butcher	205
W. Kiely	203	J. Hillside	170
P. Kiely	203	T. Hughes	164
M. Owens	195	J. Hillside	110
W. Kiely	203	J. Butcher	155

Was off Duty Two Days.

Ever since the body of the late Warren Ackerman has been lying in the vault at Hillside cemetery special policemen have been constantly on guard near the vault to keep away thieves. Special Policeman Ackland has been on duty during the day, and another at night. For two days Ackland, it is said, was not on duty. On this account he will probably be asked to resign.

Special Auxiliary Meeting.

A special Auxiliary meeting under the auspices of the Auxiliary League of Plainfield was held in the First Baptist church, last night. The church was well filled. On the platform were the Rev. Dr. Richards of the Crescent avenue church, Mr. Andrews, Staff Capt. Marshall, Ensign E. Marshall, Capt. Turpin, and Lieutenant Jennie Newcomb. Speeches were made by several of the officers.

A Prompt Settlement.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS:—On Saturday last a check for $1,500 was duly received from the Home Insurance Co., of Newark, through M. M. Dunham, agent, being full demand for loss on furniture destroyed by fire at my late house.

GEO. W. COLE.

Put in the Stoves.

Passengers on the electric cars are wondering when the company is going to put stoves in the cars. In the early morning and late at night the cars are uncomfortably cold.

QUEEN CITY LODGE, 226.

ANNIVERSARY ENTERTAINMENT OF A GROWING ORDER.

A Pleasing Programme Rendered, in Which the Rev. Mr. Richardson Describes the Objects of the Odd Fellows, and the Band Discourses Music.

EVERS of Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F., accompanied by their wives and friends attended the anniversary entertainment of that lodge, in K. of P. hall, on West Second street, last night. A pleasing programme had been prepared, and was carefully carried out. Part first of the programme opened with an overture—"O, Fair Dove, O, Fond Dove," by the Amicitia orchestra. The Rev. J. W. Richardson, followed with an address on the Order. He dwelt largely on several points, setting forth their objects and principles.

Then came a selection by the Plainfield Saengerbund singing society, with Mr. Stein as director, followed by the rendition of "Daughters of Love," by the orchestra. Part first then concluded with a violin solo, entitled "Old Folks at Home," by Prof. F. Ludwig Conde.

Part second of the programme was as follows: March, entitled "Press Club" by the orchestra; baritone solo by Mr. Charles Dressell; recitation, by Master Alfred Forty-second solo, "Non e vero," by Prof. Guttman; and a selection entitled, "My Ideal," by the orchestra.

PERSONAL.

Mr. William O'Connor of this city has secured a position with Stoutenburg & Co., Newark.

The Rev. R. H. Travis of Fourhkeepsie has returned home after a visit at the home of Mr. John E. Townsend of Evona Terrace.

A masquerade party will be held to-night at Postmaster Cortell's home at New Market. A number of Plainfielders expect to be present.

William V. Crevelling, aged 20 years, died at the home of his parents, on West Front street, this morning. The funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon, at 2 30 o'clock.

Mr. Alfred Westerfield of Somerset place, who has been confined to the house for the past two months with muscular rheumatism, was able to be out to-day for the first. Mr. Westerfield wrenched his back, and this resulted in rheumatism of the muscles.

The marriage of the Rev. C. L. Goodrich, pastor of the Congregational church, to Miss Carter of Montclair, is announced for November 14th at 6.30 p. m. The wedding will be at the house of the bride and the ceremony performed by the groom's father. Invitations to the ceremony are limited. We understand, by relatives. A reception will follow the ceremony. To this the pastor has invited the officers of his church and their families.

ROMEO IS DEAD.

Killed by the Electric Cars To-Day.

Romeo is dead. He was a pet pug dog and had a handsome home on Somerset street opposite Mountain avenue. He had nothing to do but eat and grow fat, bark, play, and be happy. About two o'clock to-day he ran to meet one number 5 on its down trip. He met a wrong end of the car and was knocked flying, and was grossly shocked, so much that he tottered to the sidewalk and died. His blood marks the spot. He was buried by "Fred," the "hired man," on his former play-ground. The children of the neighborhood sorrowfully attended the funeral.

Arrests at Dunellen.

Charles Gill and Arsenus Otee, residents of Dunellen, were arrested on Saturday by Detective Hoagland, on complaint of Isaac Hillier, for assault and battery. They gave bail before Justice Hoff.

Paul Kretzman was arrested by the same officer for threats against his landlord. Kretzman is a stonecutter in Dunellen. He gave bail.

Burns was Boisterous.

Thomas Burns was arrested yesterday afternoon, after a hard tussle, by Police Sergeant Kiely for being drunk and disorderly. He has a wife and three children. The wife pleaded so hard for leniency for him that the kind-hearted policeman made the charge as light as possible, and Burns was released with a $5 fine.

All Saints' Day.

To-morrow will be the great feast of All Saints, one of the most important of the Catholic church's holy days. It is one of the special times when that church commemorates the holy dead who rest in Paradise and prays that they may attain life everlasting.

Diphtheria in the Borough.

There is one case of diphtheria in the borough. A little son of Mr. Edward Waring, corner of Girard and Willey ave. nues, is ill with the disease. The house has been quarantined by Inspector Whitely.

FOUND DEAD IN BED.

EDWARD SEERY DIES SUDDENLY AT SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

He Had Been Apparently in the Best of Health, Working Every Day for the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company—Heart Failure the Cause.

Edward Seery, an employe of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company, living at South Plainfield, died very suddenly last Friday night. Mr. Seery had been apparently in the best of health. He had been at work as usual about his daily duties. Returning to the house of Mr. McDonough, where he boarded, at the conclusion of his labors, about six o'clock, Mr. Seery ate supper and retired as usual. In the morning he was found dead in bed. The coroner was notified and after an examination it was found that death had been due to heart failure.

Mr. Seery's relatives all reside at Swedesboro. Word of his death was sent to them. Deceased was unmarried and about 28 years old.

Undertaker Casey of this city had charge of the remains and yesterday sent them to Swedesboro.

REGULAR MONTHLY "SHOOT".

Of the Climax Gun Club Yesterday Afternoon.

T their club ground, yesterday, the members of the Climax Gun Club held their regular monthly shoot. In the regular club event at twenty-five blue rocks with handicap allowances, the following scores were made, the scratch men shooting at 27 targets: C. Smith, 17; D. Terry, 19, T. H. Keller, 20; T. Brantingham, 20; R. Manning, allowed 4 birds, scored 17; D. Darby; allowance 7, scored 24; G. Goodman, allowance 10, scored 19; T. Mundy, allowance 10, broke 20; J. Darby, allowance 10, scored 18. The club will hold a live bird shoot on Wednesday.

A Good Neighbor's Say.

THE PLAINFIELD EVENING NEWS continues to grow in influence and power in that model city, whose progressive march New Brunswick is beginning to heed. How could the esteemed news paper fail to look newsier and brighter when every member of its editorial and local staff has been to the World's Fair and profited thereby—New Brunswick Home News.

"They say such things, and they do such things," in the modest and good town of New Brunswick.

A Conspicuously Good Record.

The Newark News says: "Foster M. Voorhees, the Republican candidate for Senator in Union county, while a member of the Assembly a few years ago made a conspicuously good record. If he be elected he will be relied upon that he will be a positive force in the attempts that will be made to correct the bad legislation of the last session."

Grand Lodges to Meet.

The Grand Encampment, I. O. O. F. will meet in Trenton on Tuesday, Nov. 14th. The Grand Lodge will meet the following day, Wednesday. The session of the two grand bodies will be held in Masonic Temple. That of the Grand Encampment will occupy one day, and the Grand Lodges two days.

Claims the Award is Excessive.

The Central Railroad Co. has appealed from the award of the Commissioners appointed to condemn property in Florida Grove for the new branch now being built to Long Branch. The Central Railroad company claims that the award is excessive.

Two New Citizens.

There are now two more citizens in Plainfield. They are Joseph Galbraith and Thomas Rogers, born yesterday to Mr. Rinehart and Mr. Rogers, respectively. The papers were duly filed with the Board of Health yesterday.

DEATHS.

CREVELING—In this city, Tuesday, Oct. 31st, 1893, William V., son of William G., and Mary E. Creveling, aged 20 years, six months, six days.

Funeral services from the residence of his father, No. 621 West Front street, Thursday, Nov. 2d at 2.30 p. m. E-31 2*

REYNOLDS—Suddenly in this city, Monday Oct. 30th, 1893, Mrs. Clara V. Reynolds, in the 46th year.

Funeral services from her late residence 409 East Fifth street Wednesday, Nov. 1st., at three p. m.

Registration Notice.

The following notices are given of the various wards of the city, as posted as follows:

First Ward, first district, Whetmore's Road House, Front street.

First Ward, second district, office of old oil cloth factory.

Second Ward, first district, 311 Park avenue.

Second Ward, second district, Hall over C. H. Sage's feed store.

Third Ward, first district, Hinde's livery stable, 326 W. Sixth street.

Fourth Ward, first district, [illegible] Fourth Ward, second district, [illegible]

Fifth Ward, first district, corner Arlington and Watchung avenues.

Fifth Ward, second district, [illegible]

Registration will be held on Saturday, October 28, and Tuesday, October 31.

To revise and correct the registry list.

F. W. RIKEMAN, City Clerk.

TO AID A BEATEN RING

GAMBLER-MASTERS FEEL THEMSELVES DEFEATED ALREADY.

Race-Track Toughs are Trying to Swell the Registry,—A Full List of Candidates.—Fence Senators and Thirty-One Assemblymen Needed to Repeal the Race Track Law.

[New York Recorder.]

The New Jersey race-track gang has interpreted the handwriting on the wall. It realizes that the state is about to emancipate itself from its clutches. There is only one thing left for the gamblers to do. They are rallying in a last effort to carry the day. Race-track agents, colonels from the order of "Kentucky," and all gamblers' hangers-on "swell the registry!" In Camden, Essex and Hudson counties the gang is preparing to carry out the cyder with alacrity. The blacklegs of the Gloucester race track have been deputized to look after South Jersey, and the Guttenberg fraternity is attending to matters in Hudson county.

To-day will be the second and last registry day in this city. After that the registry lists will be open to the inspection of the public. It remains for the friends of law and order to purge the registry list and prevent the gamblers from carrying the State.

The Democratic and Republican certificates of nomination expired Saturday. The fusing of the Democrats and Republicans has been hot, but hard work will give the Republicans the thirty-one Assemblymen and seven Senators they need. The nominations are as follows:

Senate.

Republican.	CAMDEN.	Democrat.
Maurice A. Rogers,		Frank Lee Dickinson.
	ESSEX.
George W. Ketchum,		Michael T. Barrett.
	GLOUCESTER.
Samuel Backer,		George H. Barker.
	SALEM.
John C. Ward,		Robert Gwynne, Jr.
	SOMERSET.
Lewis A. Thompson,		H. M. T. Beekman.
	UNION.
Foster M. Voorhees,		James E. Martine.
	WARREN.
Geo. Lesgesser (ind.),		C. F. Skaates.
	MONMOUTH.
James A. Bradley,		Henry S. Terhune.

Assembly.

	ATLANTIC.
Charles A. Seaks,		Fred Schoenhardt.
	BERGEN.
George S. Halsted,		Walter Dewhurst.
David D. Zabriskie,		C. V. S. Demarest.
	BURLINGTON.
August C. Stecker,		James Brunell, Jr.,
Micajah Mariner,		James S. Naylor.
	CAMDEN.
Clayton Stafford,		Charles F. Eastlack.
William Watson,		Henry M. Fetters.
Theodore S. Gibbs,		William J. Thompson.
	CAPE MAY.
Edward L. Ross,		Charles I. Parker.
	CUMBERLAND.
Fred G. Beloat,		William G. Bishop.
Thomas F. Austin,		John T. Dixon.
John N. Gimpel,		Stephen Burley.
	ESSEX.
Frederick J. Deloss,		William Harrigan.
Charles B. Duncan		John L. Armitage.
Joseph H. Volker,		Joseph H. Lyons.
Augustus S. Volker,		Joseph M. Byrne.
Thomas J. Murphy,		Joseph Bedford.
C. Van Duyne,		Dennis F. Greaney.
Thomas E. Edwards,		Daniel J. Dugan.
John G. Sims,		Benedict Ulrich.
J. R. Woolsey,		James Cafferty.
Charles Hopper,		Timothy Sullivan.
George F. Court,		Johnson Cleveland.
	GLOUCESTER.
Solomon, Sanger,		Geo. W. Burmeister.
	HUDSON.
Clarence Berry,		Michael J. Fagan,
Thos. Lawrence,		Frank M. Mahoney,
Henry H. Rose,		Frank Hall,
William H. Moore,		Ruth F. Kelly,
George W. Harding,		Cedar Keene,
Charles Wilson,		Timothy J. Carroll,
John Kelly,		Joseph Dwyer,
Thomas Roberts,		A. V. W. Cook,
Thomas Dempsey, Jr.,		Charles A. Meyer, Jr.
Alexander R. Chrystie,		James Dolan.
	HUNTERDON.
Charles N. Reading,		Jos. L. Cassterlenn.
Benj. F. Hoppes,		Wm. O. Alpaugh.
	MERCER.
William L. Wilson,		John J. Matthews,
Allan Gregory,		John H. Hamilton,
William Exton,		John T. Hoagland,
		Wm. M. Anderson,
		Jos. Hutchinson.
	MIDDLESEX.
E. S. Gardner,		Wm. T. Dickerson,
Lemon Gulick,		Jas. H. Parsons,
Andrew H. Grover,		Thomas J. Scully.
	MONMOUTH.
D. D. Denise,		Thos. B. Arrowsmith,
Charles L. Walters,		Thomas F. Fay,
William G. Lanza,		Thomas S. Smith.
	MORRIS.
Charles A. Baker,		Thomas J. O'Brien,
William C. Baker,		Wm. H. Smith.
	OCEAN.
John T. Barton,		E. M. Rapson.
	PASSAIC.
John I. Holt,		Samuel Woodhull,
Samuel Hopper,		John Woodhull,
Samuel Bradley,		J. K. Knowlton.
William J. Lewis,		J. K. Knowlton.
	SALEM.
Charles W. Powers,		Wilson Lloyd.
	SOMERSET.
Frank W. Somers,		George H. Cramer.
	SUSSEX.
William P. Conrow,		Robert T. Smith.
	UNION.
John T. Harper,		Timothy M. Reily,
Frank Hall,		Thomas J. Dunn,
Charles R. Codding,		J. Herbert Wiman.
	WARREN.
No candidate,		Jacob Shiffler,
Samuel Davis,		E. H. Sheppard.

The Weather.

The weather to-morrow promises to be warmer and fair.

Dr. Cyrus Edson, [illegible], says:

H-O Hornby's Oatmeal

Is Unquestionably The Best Breakfast Food.

USEFUL ARTICLES

Bric-a-brac Dusters,	15c. each.
Furniture Dusters,	25c. each.
Picture Dusters, (long handle),	25c. each.
Work Baskets,	12c. each.
Scrap Baskets,	25c. each.
Lunch Baskets,	25c. each.

GEO. L. VAN EMBURGH & SON.

FRONT STREET, OPPOSITE PARK AVENUE. UNDER THE BANK.

A SAMPLE

OF SOME OF OUR SPECIALS.

New Fiber Down Flannels	Regular price, 50c.	Now 39c.
Novelty, all wool Dress Goods	" 50c.	" 25c.
Columbian Linen Towels, extra size	" 50c.	" 25c.
Gentleman's Linen Silk, 27 inches wide	" 75c.	" 50c.
Changeable Surah Silks	" 98c.	" 75c.
Canton Flannels, Bleached	" 10c.	" 6½c.
Gents' natural, all wool Shirts and Drawers,	" $1.00	" 75c.
White Angora Blankets	" 75c.	" 49c.
White Angora Blankets	" 98c.	" 69c.
Ladies' Scalloped Embroidered Handkerchiefs	" 50c.	" 39c.
Furniture Covering	" $1.25.	" 75c.
Bed Mosquito Canopies	" $1.50.	" 98c.

Our new Fall Muslin Underwear is all made with "lock stitch," extra full and long We can give better value in these goods than ever before.

Our entire establishment has never before been stocked with such large and desirable lines of goods as now, and the prices never so low. You will have no trouble in getting suited, as the very lowest prices, at

EDSALL'S.

THEY MUST GO!

About 100 pairs of Ladies 86, 84 and 85 Button Boots that we have put on our bargain table and marked down to $2.00 a pair. All small sizes, 2, 2½, 3 and 3½, widths a a e e If you have a small foot this is a great chance for you.

Doane & Edsall's.

AUCTION SALE.

I have been instructed by Mr. George K. Thomas to close out all his very fine and ar tistic furniture, (previous to his leaving the city, permanently,) that is now in his house at

NO. 731 WEST SEVENTH STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.,

on

Friday, Nov. 3d, 1893,

ONE O'CLOCK SHARP.

It consists of everything pertaining to a well furnished home:—One very fine parlor suite, 3 pieces, made by Flint; also a very fine oak dining-room set; bed-room suits and bedding. One high pet, mahogany, hand-carved bed-stead, very old. A lot of extra fine carpets, Wilton velvet, and English body-brussel; book-cases, clothes, stands, cabinets, Glass-ware and China, and a hundred and one other things.

SALE ABSOLUTE AND WITHOUT RESERVE.

Terms Cash. T. J. CAREY, Auctioneer.

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE.

Barrooms Had a $4 "Jag."

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Ballet Alsop Borrowe, who figured so peculiarly at the time when scandal involved the name of Mrs. J. Coleman Drayton, went out on a $4 rocket last night, wouldn't pay his cabman, was locked up and was permitted to go free this morning by Police Justice Hogan after he had settled with cabby.

One Million Dollars to Divide.

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—After every debt of the World's Fair has been paid there will remain at least $1,000,000, and perhaps more, to be distributed among the stockholders.

—On next Monday night the City Council Council will hold its regular November meeting.

TWENTY-SEVENTH SEASON.

DODWORTH'S

CLASSES FOR DANCING AND DECORTMENT.

SEMINARY HALL,

PLAINFIELD, N. J.,

Commencing Wednesday, Nov. 1, '93,

at 4:30 P. M. and 7:30 P. M.

For particulars apply to E. E. KENYON, at the Seminary, or

Thos. J. Dodworth,

Residence, 1193 Fulton street, N. Y. City.

Muhlenberg Hospital FAIR.

A Fair will be held at the CASINO of the UNION COUNTY COUNTRY CLUB,

under the auspices of the

WOMANS' AUXILIARY BOARD OF MUHLENBERG HOSPITAL, on the 1st and 2d of Nov.

AFTERNOONS AND EVENINGS.

From 3 to 11 o'clock.

Admission, 25 Cents. Children, 10 Cents.

Cents-a-Word Column.

FOR SALE.

CHRYSANTHEMUMS, trees, shrubs, bushes, ferns, at Dodsworth's, Hillside Avenue Greenhouses. 29-3

50 LOADS fine horse manure for sale. Address "C. M.," News office. 10 29 6t

FOR SALE.—$700 down. A seven-room house on Somerset street. Irreproachable neighborhood. A splendid opportunity for a workman who desires a comfortable home. Call on owner for further particulars, corner Evening News. 31-3t

FOR SALE.—$6,000.—Two dwellings and one building lot. All in South Plainfield. These are all new. Desirable location. Terms easy. Address "S. D. Jr.," care of Evening News. 27

PLATFORM SCALE and a 750 gallon oil tank for sale cheap. Cheap. 24-tf

BOARDERS WANTED.

BOARDERS.—Large pleasant rooms. Good table, with home comforts. 62 Sanford avenue. 24-tf

SITUATIONS WANTED.

ORCHARD man, with good Plainfield references, wants work tending care of furnaces and doing general work. Address, [illegible] Evening News. 31-3t

WORK WANTED at anything by a young man. Address, "Michael," care of Evening News. 24-tf

BOARD WANTED.

WANTED.—Rooms and board for three persons. Must be near public school, and with select private family. Address, stating all particulars, "R. W. F.," care of Evening News. 30-tf

FOR RENT.

TO LET.—Seven room house near Pratt's. Also twelve room house on Pearl street. Both in good order. Enquire, City Mills. 9-6 tf

LOST AND FOUND.

LOST.—Sunday, silver fob chain; Greek cross. Return to News office for owner.

MISCELLANEOUS.

WANTED.—The addresses of men seeking employment. Their applications will be looked up and taken up in rotation, as fast as situations are secured. Address, "Employment Agent," care of Evening News. 30-tf

A GERMAN lady will give lessons in German conversation. Address, Mrs. Wm. H. Riveley, 109 North avenue, Plainfield. 31-3t

WANTED.—A modern size house, with a good, fair or near Pratt's, rent $15. Address, Box 247 Dunellen, N. J. 29-tf

THE latest styles in Fall ties at C. E. Church, 322 Park avenue.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Winter Evening Reading.

A newspaper is indispensable in a family, but it is not enough. Wherever young people are it should be supplemented by the best literature that can be selected. Buy books for children, even if you dress them very plainly and do without things yourself. They will rise up and call you blessed in after years when they enter society with refined, intelligent companionship that admits of life, caught from the inspiration of the good books you pinched yourself to gain for them. The girl whose taste has been thus correctly guided will never read with any patience the sickening, sloppy novels that fill the empty young feminine head with crazy trash, and her brother will never fit himself out with a dark lantern and a pistol and try to rob a stove.

If a single family cannot afford to buy the best books for the children several families might club together in a reading society and circulate the books among the subscribers till they were worn out. Truly, such a reading club would add new joy and help to life in a neighborhood where entertainment is limited.

Mr. Lawson G. Dietrich the paper as an admirable list of books for young people. They are in cheap form:

"Gulliver's Travels," "Æsop's Fables," Kingsley's "Water Babies," "Robinson Crusoe," "Hans Andersen's Tales," Kingsley's "Greek Heroes," Irving's "Sketch Book," Scott's "Lady of the Lake," "Adventures of Ulysses," "Plutarch's Lives," "History—Dodge," "Stories of America," "History—Eggleston's "Primary History," "Robie Deeds of Our Fathers," Johnston's "Stories of Our Country," Marcius Historical Readers, Geography—Mary Hall's Geographical Readers, "World at Home," six numbers, 15 cents each, recent; Phillips' Geographical Reader, "Aunt Martha's Corner Cupboard," Science—"Seeds and Sprouts," Abbott's "A Naturalist's Walks Around Home," John Burroughs' "Whitetail Bumblebee."

The Coal Strike In England.

It is only paralleled in recent time by the strike begun by the wool shearers in Australia several years ago. After three months it has not yet entirely ended. It lasted in its greatest dimensions three months and forced the price of wool to cost up $10 a ton in London. Three-quarters of a million men, women and children were toward its close dependent on public charity for every bite of food they got. In Lancashire alone 200,000 persons were thus dependent.

The result at the end did not justify the long privation. The striking miners did not gain all of what they strove to win. Those that were taken back in turned to work at the old wages. It is true that in South Derbyshire and Leicestershire they resumed work on the under standing with the mine owners that they were to be cut down 10 per cent in December. The real gain of this long struggle lies in the fact that it has called public attention in Great Britain to the way in which the mine owners impose upon both the miners and the public.

In nearly every case where the men went back to work it was as the result of a conference called by the mayors of the large cities in their district. It has been revealed that among mine owners exists the keenest rivalry to secure large coal supply contracts, such as are given to them by railway, steamship and gas companies. To this end they cut down the great contracts to a price almost below the cost of production. Then they make it back by putting the rates up on the private consumer on the one hand, and cutting down the wages of the miner on the other. At this time they came to the end of their rope.

The house has passed [illegible] ation in which the country is considerably interested. That is the bill providing for a bridge to be built across the Hudson river at New York city at the point in front of Sixty-fifth street. The structure is to be called the New York and New Jersey bridge, and work on it must be begun within a year. It is to be a railway bridge, as well as one for general traffic, and will fill a pressing need. The only railways to New York city at present, with the sole exception of those coming in at the New York Central station, transfer their passengers to ferry boats in the lower part of the city. The crowd and jam are so frightful because of this that the bridges over the streets were erected at some of the ferry landings. Even that does not relieve the pressure. Moreover, with the gradual moving up town of residences and hotels, the traveler is thus landed in the big city at points several miles south of where he wants to be. This entails additional expense for cars or carriage hire, and the cabmen's charges in New York are a terror. The senate will be conferring a favor if it will pause in its mad career and change that bridge.

The American Railway Master Mechanics' association has decided that the prevention of smoke from a locomotive engine depends on perfect combustion of coal, and that depends on three points, as follows: 1. The maintenance of the inside of the firebox at a temperature sufficiently high to secure prompt union of the fuel with the oxygen of the air. 2. Plenty of oxygen to unite with the carbon of the fuel. 3. The proper brining of the oxygen and the fuel together. These requirements can mostly be met by not putting on too much coal at a time and keeping the ashes well raked out.

REPEAL WON.

The Senate Passes the Voorhees Substitute Bill.

A MAJORITY OF ELEVEN.

The Silver Men Died Hard and in the Last Ditch.

After a Debate Which Lasted For Sixty-Two Days, and Which Was the Most Remarkable Parliamentary Struggle in a Generation, the Senate, by a Vote of 43 to 32, Decided in Favor of Unconditional Repeal of the Sherman Silver Law—The Closing Debate Marked by Sharp and Cutting Sarcasm—The English Press Gives the Praise to President Cleveland.

How the News Was Received in Denver.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—By a vote of 43 to 32 the senate, after one of the most remarkable and memorable parliamentary battles of a generation, has passed the bill providing for the unconditional repeal (practically) of the Sherman silver law. The end was reached at the conclusion of a continuous session of 24 hours, filled to the brim of debate, during which five volumes of The Congressional Record had been filled with speeches amounting in the aggregate to about 300,000 words—the output of talk that would stretch in cold type from the seaboard 1,000 miles into the interior. From February to high-heeling, March, Silver Dick's voice has been the music of the hoary mountains.

The closing day of the great struggle for the repeal of the purchase of silver was one of intense excitement. The galleries and lobbies, packed to the last standing inch of space, were crowded, and the walls were lined with representatives from the lower house of congress. The "gilded gallery" of statesmanship was no protection in the last moments. Gray haired men, inflamed by the fiery passions that always characterize the close of a long struggle, shook fists at each other.

Senator Morgan, with words that fairly burned, heaped his denunciation on Senator Voorhees, the leader of the administration forces, and Senator Woleott, the Colorado bolter, concluded a series philippics against Senator Carey with the Spanish proverb of Sancho Panza that it was "a waste of lather to shave an ass."

All Not a Last Word.

The silver Republicans—Teller, Stewart, Dubois, Wolcott and Jones—Peffer, the Populist, and Morgan and the old war governor of Tennessee, Harris, each made his valedictory. The Democrats were hot and angry at the desertion of some of their colleagues, and the Republicans were jubilant. Populists admonished the senate that the doom of silver was the doom of the old parties, but there was something tragically pathetic in the pleading cry of the silver senators. It meant, they said, ruin and destruction and desolation to the silver producing states.

Senator Jones, with an emphasis that will never be forgotten by those who heard it, warned those about him that the end of the fight meant the doom of his state. It is true, he said, that Nevada, looking like an ancient patriarch, would be left in his vast, wide desolation, but the Populist and Democratic states of the south, the granaries of the Mississippi valley, the states of the other [illegible] ing together in a fraternal embrace, would be left. The senator from Oregon (Mr. Dolph) reminded the Democrats that they were in honor bound to stand by their platform, and could not agree upon anything. "Go and do what you ought to do," said the senator from Utah, "and stand by it to the last man you have."

And then it was he who appealed to the Republican party to stand by their unconditional repeal platform, and not be [illegible] dating what that should be.

The bill was to pass, said Mr. Cockrell, if it had been taken out of the hands of Democrats, and Republican senators had to be consulted before anything could be done. And the Republican party would be indirectly more responsible for unconditional repeal than would the Democratic party.

Two Amendments Killed.

After two other motions had been heard Mr. Stewart had an amendment which took precedence. This was for the reduction of the size of the gold coin. The motion to kill this dollar, which is exactly 25.8 grains and other coins in its proportion. He said he offered it on his own responsibility. It was voted down.

Mr. Peffer yielded while Mr. Gray read a report on the Chinese extension bill. Mr. White asked that it be made a special order for next Monday. Objection being made, the bill went to the calendar. The vote on Mr. Peace's amendment resulted in a defeat—yeas, 29; nays, 47.

The closing speech of his speech began [illegible] ago. "After he had spoken for an hour Mr. Harris asked Mr. Jones if it would suit him to have a vote on the pending bill. Mr. Jones said it would, and Mr. Harris moved that the senate adjourn. He remarked that he did not think any more were required to fill the measure of obloquy which he could complete the decree already understood by the people.

Mr. Morrill suggested whether an agreement could be reached that the final vote on the bill be taken at 1 o'clock today.

Mr. Harris said he had no authority to answer for anybody but himself, and he [illegible] ready for days and was ready now to vote.

A Motion to Adjourn.

Mr. Faulkner was astonished that no agreement could be reached. He said that Mr. Voorhees was anxious to dispose of the bill that night.

Mr. Voorhees said he hoped the bill would be disposed of then, and as Mr. Jones indicated a desire to proceed with his argument Mr. Harris withdrew his motion. In conclusion Mr. Jones said: "This will be regarded by some of my colleagues as the doom of silver; but, sir, it is only the commencement of the fight. We who have been battling for years and who against constantly increasing value in the unit of money, propose to go to the American people and see to it that every man, woman and child in the United States understands fully the meaning of what we intend to do today.

"We may be fewer in number, though I doubt it, but we will show them that though there are lords in the lowlands, there are chiefs in the north."

Mr. Peffer said he desired to occupy 18 minutes before the vote was taken, as he would not feel that he had done his duty if he did not enter another protest against what he considered the crowning infamy of the present century.

Mr. Harris declared that the passage of the repeal bill would consummate the utter demonetization of silver as a money metal. He characterized as supremely absurd that the American senate, representing 70,000,000 people, should presume to consult the ideas or policies of foreign countries.

"I want to state to the senator from Indiana and to the balance of the world," said Mr. Harris, "that the time has not been, it is not now, nor can it ever come, when I will desert the convictions of a lifetime to confer to obtain allies from the camp of the enemy." [Laughter and applause.]

Mr. Stewart rose, and his first sentence was a declaration that a cripple of laughter to roll over the galleries.

"The surreptitious and fraudulent act of 1873 demonetizing silver is ratified and confirmed," he said, "by the platforms of both parties. The labors of their champion, the senator from Ohio (Mr. Sherman), are crowned with success. The Trojan horse has been drawn within the walls of this national capital, but the betrayal and capture of the White House and of the two houses of congress is the end of the war," Mr. Stewart continued. "Let the vote be taken, let the object stand be given. We will appeal to the [illegible] people."

At 5:20 vice president put the question on the engrossment of the amendments and third reading of the bill, which was agreed to without division. The vote was then announced as follows: Yeas, 43; nays, 32. So the bill was passed.

The Vote In Detail.

The vote in detail was as follows:

Yeas—Aldrich, Brice, Caffery, Camden, Cockrell, Coke, Colquitt, Daniel, Dolph, Faulkner, Frye, Gallinger, Gibson, Gorman, Gray, Hale, Hansbrough, Hawley, Higgins, Hill, Hoar, Ingalls, Lindsay, Mantle, McMillan, Mills, Mitchell of Oregon, Morgan, Murphy, Pasco, Pettigrew, Platt, Proctor, Quay, Ransom, Sherman, Smith, Squire, Stewart, Turpie, Vest, Voorhees, Walthall, Warren, White of Louisiana, White of California—43.

Nays—Allen, Bate, Berry, Blackburn, Butler, Call, Chandler, Cullom, Davis, Dixon, Daniel, Dubois, Gordon, Harris, Irby, Jones of Arkansas, Jones of Nevada, Kyle, Lewis, Mitchell of Wisconsin, Peffer, Perkins, Power, Pugh, Roach, Shoup, Stockbridge, Teller, Vance, Voorhees, Wolcott, Wilson—32.

Silver Men Depressed.

DENVER, Oct. 31.—The announcement that the United States senate had passed the unconditional repeal bill was a heavy blow to the people of Colorado, although they had hardly expected any favorable legislation during the present administration. The news relative to the depression is considerable, as it is only a matter of time when all the silver mines will be compelled to close down.

The New York Clarion and Lost Chance mines, two of the largest in the state, employ about fifty men. Other mines will be compelled to close down should the price drop to 75 cents per ounce, which is the indication. The silver mark will be reached before long. Other mines may

OUTBREAK OF CRANKS.

Two Dangerous Men In New York Locked Up.

ONE SHOT A MAN FIRST, THOUGH.

The Other Called on Edwin Gould and Threatened to Shoot Him if He Did Not Hand Over $5,000.—A Fusillade on Broadway—Both Said to Be Insane.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The murder of Mayor Carter Harrison in Chicago by the crazy ex-policeman, Prendergast, has been followed in this city by sudden activity on the part of cranks of whose existence the public had been ignorant. Such sudden outbreaks by supposed harmless lunatics suggest either periodical epidemics of violence or show that cranks, like toxins of grasshopper, wait only for an explosion to set them afame. A similar outbreak of violence and threatening was noticed soon after the explosion of a dynamite bomb by the lunatic Cserzo in the office of Russell Sage in this city.

Edwin Gould was visited at the Western Union telegraph building by a crank who demanded $5,000 from him. He threatened Gould if he did not give it to him. He was held in Gould's office until Superintendent Byrnes could be communicated with, and Detective Sergeant William Clark was sent posthaste down to Gould's office and arrested the man.

He is a small, undersized man, with a dark complexion, wearing a dark mustache, and was well dressed and gave his name as Mongolia Andrews, 34 years of age, and of independent occupation. He said he lived at 378 Pearl street, Brooklyn, and that he was married. A letter and address were found in his pocket, showing him to be from Rosedale, Kan.

He said he demanded this $5,000 from Gould because he lost that much during the strike in Kansas while he was a telegraph operator.

In his pocket was also found a message on a telegraph blank directed to Edwin Gould, which read as follows:

MR. EDWIN GOULD—Will Western Union go to 100? I want to get in a smash on the bucket shops. Please answer. ANDREWS.

Had Others on His List.

The addresses of a number of prominent people were found in his pocket, giving evidence that he meant to visit these people. There were the names of Cornelius Vanderbilt, Grand Central depot, residence at Fifth avenue and Fifty-seventh street; Chauncey M. Depew, Grand Central depot, residence at 49 West Fifty-fourth street; John Jacob Astor, 224 Fifth avenue; George Bliss, Oliver Ames, Lewis Fitzgerald, Sydney Shepherd, J. Hood Wright, Abram S. Hewitt, 17 Burling slip or 24 Cooper Union.

On this paper were three letters—"B, 68,000; C, $2,000; D, $6,000." Below this on the same sheet were the words "stocks, Western Union, Manhattan, Union Pacific, Electric and Kansas Pacific." The name "Mol Line Steamship company" and the name "Depew" also appeared.

Mr. Gould has been up to see the superintendent of police. The man is held at the central office.

He Shot to Kill.

Superintendent F. J. Mathias of the new Postal Telegraph building at Broadway and Morgan street, was shot at by Second street, Brooklyn, was shot and probably mortally wounded by James Bradley, a laborer, who has been living in Bowery lodging houses.

Early in the morning Bradley had accosted the superintendent and asked for work. Mathias said there was no place vacant. About noon Bradley was found loitering about the building and peremptorily ordered away.

Bradley muttered something about being back later and disappeared. It was nearly 4 o'clock when Mathias saw the stranger again. This time he was standing near the Broadway entrance. The superintendent seized Bradley by the collar for the purpose of again ejecting him from the premises. Just at that moment Bradley whipped out a revolver and fired. The bullet took effect in Mathias' abdomen. He managed to stagger to the front of the place and then fell unconscious.

At Bay in a Corner.

Bradley meanwhile had backed himself into a corner, protected on two sides by brick walls and in front by a pile of terra cotta.

Officer Rooney, who was the first to arrive, did not venture to attack the defiant shooter alone. Reserves from old Broadway Patrolmen Gillespie, Gebler and Mohale to the spot. The line police approached in a body and shouted to Bradley to drop his weapon. Instead of doing so, Bradley opened fire on the policemen and emptied the five other chambers of his weapon before he stopped. Fortunately none of the bullets took effect. The policemen then returned the fire and shot Bradley twice in the arm. Then the desperate man surrendered. Both he men were taken to Bellevue and been treated hospital. The police think that Bradley is insane and that the murder of Mayor Harrison in Chicago prompted his crazy fancy. Bradley, it is said, is a sailor and was wrecked on the United States man-of-war in Samoa harbor by the cyclone. He said he had been out of work for a long time.

He Came From Kansas.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 31.—Mongolia Andrews, who demanded $5,000 from Edwin Gould in New York last night, is known as a traveling man in this city. He was in this city about two years. He is about 35 years old. He came originally from West Virginia. Two weeks ago he obtained a leave of absence. His wife and children are still here, saying he wished to visit his old home. For some time he engaged in the real estate business here, and it is said he has a little property which is, however, incumbered. He has a wife and children, who are now living at Westport, a suburb of this city.

At one time religion was his hobby, and he was a member of the church at Westport. Of late he has been advocating the objects of Gen. A. J. Weible he was regarded as ignorant and eccentric, none of his associates seems to have considered him a dangerous crank.

Dog Bit Way Out of Jail.

DUNKIRK, N. Y., Oct. 31.—John Lyman dug out of jail here, breaking through an 18 inch brick wall with a piece of gaspipe.

An Ex-Premier of Canada Dead.

MONTREAL, Oct. 31.—Sir John Joseph Caldwell Abbott, ex-premier of Canada, died here at his town residence.

A Case of Smallpox in Boston.

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—For the first time in three years the Smallpox hospital on Canterbury street has a patient.

Princeton Kickers Practice Secretly Now.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 31.—Secret football practice was begun here and will continue all the week.

A SPECIAL ELECTION.

Chicago's City Council Must Call It Speedily.

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—Miss Annie Harrigal, who went to Nevis married Mayor Harrison, is still prostrate by the shock. Her physician reported that she was out of danger and had passed the night fairly well, although it was impossible for her to obtain the necessary rest. The members of Mr. Harrison's immediate family were more composed and went for a short drive in the afternoon. Mrs. Pendley, the mayor's daughter, left her room for the first time since the tragedy.

It is probable that the city council, at its meeting Monday, will be obliged to call a special election for mayor to be had at a time not less than 30 days from that meeting and within a reasonable time.

It is also probable that at that meeting the aldermen will elect one of their number to serve as mayor until such time as another mayor shall be elected by the people, and that the member so chosen will be vested with all the powers, rights and privileges of a regularly chosen chief executive.

All day Corporation Counsel Kraus and his assistants searched the statutes for any clause or section bearing upon the present emergency. The result was the finding of a section of the old city charter providing for just such an emergency as has now arisen. This section of the old charter provides for the election of a temporary mayor, who shall be vested with the full powers of the regular mayor by the city council, and who shall serve until a new mayor is regularly elected. It provides further that the city council shall call a special election for the selection of a new mayor within three days after the vacancy had occurred.

There was an exciting scene in the county jail Monday afternoon when the other prisoners learned that the murder of Mayor Harrison, and Murderer Prendergast was frightened nearly to death. He pulled for protection and cowered in an extreme corner of his cell until a number of guards rushed up and assured him that he would not be harmed. The other prisoners wanted to hang him.

SURPRISE FOR MELLO.

President Peixoto Fitting Out a Well Armed Fleet In New York.

NEW YORK: Oct. 31.—The Brazilian government is preparing a surprise for Admiral Mello and his rebel warships, and unless the ambitious revolutionist and his fellow conspirators soon succeed in their plot to establish a government of their own and drive the Peixoto administration from power they will find themselves within a few weeks in imminent danger of being blown to pieces, together with their ironclad squadron, by the insurgent Republicans and Trajano and the rest of their fleet.

Between Nov. 12 and Nov. 15 there will sail from this port for Janeiro a fleet of warships in some respects the superiors in point of armament of any vessels afloat. This fleet will consist of the steamer El Cid, armed with four 8 inch guns; the Spanish gunboat El Rio of the Morgan line, due in New York today from New Orleans, and which will be fitted out as a cruiser; the Destroyer, carrying her famous submarine gun, capable of destroying with one shot the largest man-of-war ever built; a Yarrow torpedo boat, purchased in England, and now one of the transatlantic steamers bound for New York; the steam yacht Folsom, fitted out as a torpedo boat, and two other torpedo boats, for the purchase of which negotiations are now pending and will probably be completed within a day or two.

Passengers Were Shaken Up.

MAMARONECK, N. Y., Oct. 31.—The South Norwalk express on the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad met with an accident near Harrison. While going at a high rate of speed the axle of the first driving wheels of the engine broke. The entire train was derailed. Beyond a severe shaking up, none of the passengers was injured.

Lost the Suit and Ended His Life.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 31.—At the Hotel St. George, Samuel C. Cook, 40 years old, a wealthy mine owner, placed a pistol over his right ear and blew out his brains. For over a year past he had had a lawsuit dragging through the courts, and yesterday the case was decided against him.

Democratic Mass Meeting at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, Oct. 31.—At the Democratic mass meeting at Music hall 5,000 people shouted when a message from Senator Hill was read, stating that the unconditional repeal bill had passed the senate. Lieutenant Governor Sheehan was the called speaker of the evening.

A Prince Among the Sledges.

MADRID, Oct. 31.—One of the members of the staff of General Margallo, the commander of the Spanish troops in Melilla, has been killed during the fighting with the Riffians, was Prince Alfonso Ferdinand de Bourbon, nephew of the ex-king of Naples.

To Close Parisian Gambling Clubs.

PARIS, Oct. 31.—Four clubs in this city are about to be closed by the authorities on account of the gambling done in their rooms. There are 16 unauthorized gambling halls in Paris, to which many salons have been turned.

The Fleet Flourishes In Sicily.

ROME, Oct. 31.—The condition of affairs in Sicily is getting dangerous, owing to the presence of the Italian fleet. The Italian fleet, called Fiscl, the object of which is to compel the licensing of taxation and obtaining better wages.

They Drink Cider and Alcohol In Lynn.

LYNN, Mass., Oct. 31.—A new drink has been invented in the backyard. It consists of hard cider and alcohol. The cider can be purchased freely throughout the city, and alcohol is purchased from druggists.

Lucy Stone's Will.

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—The will of the late Mrs. Lucy Stone gives all her property of whatever description to Henry B. Blackwell, her husband, in equal shares for him and her daughter, Alice Stone Blackwell.

Charged in Theft Harvard.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 31.—Carl Leiman, a German, was charged as he was leaving a college building house loaded with plunder, and was bound over for action of the grand jury.

Captain Allen Lost Overboard.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Oct. 31.—Captain Reuben P. Allen of the schooner Alice B. Phillips, which arrived from Norfolk, was washed overboard Sunday and drowned.

Starved to Death Trying to Save His Goods.

WOLFBORO, N. H., Oct. 31.—Sewell F. Roberts, while trying to save some furniture at a fire, was overcome by smoke and burned to death.

FAIR CLOSED IN GLOOM.

But the Columbian Exhibition Was a Big Success.

TWENTY MILLIONS PAID TO SEE IT.

Where the Gates Closed at the Last Offer to Pay, There Was a Falling Off in the Treasury of $9,000,000—Full Figures Concerning Closing Day.

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—The total attendance at the World's fair from May 1 to date is as follows:

Total for May	1,960,752
Total for June	2,312,413
Total for July	2,768,352
Total for August	3,141,200
Total for September	4,213,551
Total for October	4,783,372
Total from May 1	21,024,240
Total free admissions	5,955,240
Grand total	27,079,480

The attendance at the special days was as follows:

Opening day	716,881	Texas day	227,570
Decoration day	115,578	Penn's day	174,913
Dedication day	71,417	Illinois day	237,975
German day	105,000	Odd Fellows' day	39,000
French day	125,000	Italian day	70,000
Swedish day	129,852	Irish day	80,000
Bohemian day	151,021	Masonic day	122,411
Welsh day	15,000	Polish day	71,000
Illinois day	240,000	Polish day	200,000
Michigan day	175,000	Norwegian day	25,000
Wisconsin day	175,000	N. Dakota day	30,000
Connecticut day	40,000	Connecticut day	40,000
Maine day	100,000	Italian day	276,000
California day	200,000	Minnesota day	150,000
Iowa day	100,000	Kentucky day	200,000
Ohio day	126,700	Closing day	300,000
Greatest day in May	716,881
Greatest day in June	716,881
Greatest day in July	716,881
Greatest day in August	716,881
Greatest day in September	716,881
Greatest day in October	716,881
Greatest day in Paris, 1889	397,199
Greatest day in Chicago	716,881

The official figures of the World's fair have ended. Last evening was to have been one of gayety and dazzling brilliancy, but the death of Mayor Harrison changed all that. The meeting of Festival hall during the afternoon was brief. The audience was detained just long enough to hear an assured prayer by the Rev. Mr. Barrows, a few expository remarks regarding the change of programme by President Palmer, the reading of an appropriate speech by President Higinbotham and the resolutions of sympathy concerning Carter Harrison's untimely end.

The resolutions were read by H. N. Higinbotham, president of the World's Columbian exposition, who began in a clear, firm voice, which grew husky and trembled for a moment with emotion when a certain passage in the resolutions was reached. The fair was declared closed by Thomas W. Palmer, president of the national commission.

A Balance of $3,780,000.

When Chairman Peck of the finance committee figured up with Treasurer Seeburger, he found he possessed $3,780,000 in bank and the souvenir coin fund. Estimating the receipts at $150,000 more than the cost of administration for the day, the balance on hand at midnight Oct. 30 was nearly $2,750,000. Of this sum nearly $1,500,000 was in souvenir coins, estimated at their face value of 50 cents each.

The total receipts from concessions for the six months was about $3,500,000, from which deductions were allowed amounting to about $750,000 for improvements paid for by the concessioners. Receipts from admissions and minor sources aggregate about $19,500,000, not including salvage. Expenditures are footed at $7,000,000. Up to and including the closing day the stockholders have a prospect of between 15 and 20 per cent on their subscriptions. Whether dividend will be paid in the end depends on the cost of removing the buildings and closing up the affairs of the corporations.

The New York state building at the fair will be sold. Several months ago Governor Flower, on behalf of the state, presented the building to the board of lady managers to be used as a home museum for women's work. The gift was gratefully accepted by Mrs. Potter Palmer for the board of lady managers. A new custodian for the Queen of South park commissioners was sought to allow the building to remain where it now stands, but the lady managers were not successful in their quit.

A Parson Makes a Sensation.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 31.—The Rev. Dr. N. H. Holmes of Wesley chapel leading Methodist church of the city, created a sensation by declaring in his sermon that foreigners controlling the other industries of this country of the crowding out of the American boys who wished to learn trades. Dr. Holmes was a Democrat.

Their Grandfather Wrote a Pretzel Song.

JERSEY CITY, Oct. 31.—Two women who say they are the granddaughters of Michael Hoffman, a famous Irish operatic composer and author of the popular song, "The Last Rose of Summer," are in poor health and reduced circumstances at 71 Kearney street, this city.

Trouble Among Postal Clerks.

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—As a meeting of the board of aldermen resolutions were adopted severely censuring the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen for the fifty suspensions in which they left Quincy hall, the charges they had their recent convention.

Redpath's Magnificent Gift to Montreal.

MONTREAL, Oct. 31.—The official opening of a magnificent $500,000 library building given to the McGill university by Peter Redpath, millionaire sugar refiner and philanthropist, takes place today.

The Barbarous Arabs.

MADRID, Oct. 31.—The Arabs at Melilla murdered and mutilated the wounded Spanish troops, whose cries for mercy could be heard in the night by their comrades in the forts.

Beheaded a Female Poisoner.

BERLIN, Oct. 31.—The woman Fillmann, who was adjudged guilty of causing the death of her husband by poison, was beheaded in the Plotzensee prison.

Thieves Visited Election Booths.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 31.—A gang of thieves broke into at work in this city depositing the election booths of their stoves, chairs and furniture.

A Negro Murderer Confesses.

BELVIDERE, N. J., Oct. 31.—George Andrews of Washington, N. J., the negro who murdered, made a full confession of his guilt.

A Negress on Trial For Murder.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 31.—Ida Gibbs, a negress, is on trial for murder in the court of oyer and terminer.

Shakespeare

Whose he wrote "Taming of the Shrew," was evidently gifted with prophetic foresight when he made one of his characters declare "My cake is dough." Those who have been credulous enough to take imitations for COTTOLENE, the now universally shortening, have experienced the same disappointment for their cake has been "dough." Those who have used COTTOLENE know that its principal merit is its uniform reliability. Be wise and refuse anything that is offered as a substitute for

Endorsed

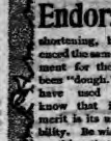
Cottolene

Sold in three and five pound pails



Made only by
N.K. FAIRBANK & CO.
CHICAGO.
And 204 E. Bidwell St., Flushing, L. I.
Prince Station, N. Y.

Legal Advertisements.

CORPORATION NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the Common Council have fixed the third day of October next, at eight o'clock p. m., as the Council Chamber, No. 128 Park avenue, in the City of Plainfield, as the time and place for hearing the MacDonald, William M. Sandford and Edward C. Sanford, the commissioners appointed by the Common Council pursuant to the ordinance entitled "An ordinance to widen Madison avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Front street to the southeasterly side line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, as the same is now located by the Common Council pursuant to the ordinance entitled "An ordinance to widen Madison avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Front street to the southeasterly side line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey," approved June 8, 1893, to assess the amount to be paid to the several owners of lots or parcels of land taken or injured by the widening of said avenue, as shown by said map and said ordinance, which hearing will be further made for more detailed description.

By order of the Common Council.

F. W. RUNYON, City Clerk.

Plainfield, N. J., October 17, 1893. 10 17 3w

Builders Cards.

Daniel Hulick,
Carpenter
and
General Jobber.
SHOP
35 Jackson Avenue.
Stores doors and weather strips a specialty.
JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO
Window Screens made to order.

A. W. Rand,
146 WEST FRONT STREET.
New and second hand

SCHOOL - BOOKS,
School supplies of all kinds.
Those wishing to exchange second hand books must bring them in immediately.

U. B. CRANE,
has the largest stock of
Fine Fall HATS,
In Plainfield.
12 WEST FRONT STREET.

H. DE MOTT,
Graduate of United States Embalming College.
UNDERTAKER : AND : EMBALMER.
Office at residence, 119 Somerset Street.
Elizabeth, N. J.

VIGOR OF MEN
Easily, Quickly, Permanently Restored.

Worthless Imitations. Avoid them. Write for pamphlet, free. Sold only by agents. Beware of anyone offering an electric belt free or at a low price. Our Belt is the only one with the Electric Suspensory attachment which cures without medicine after all others fail. Call or send for illustrated pamphlet, free. Sold only by agents. Beware of anyone offering an electric belt free or at a low price. Our Belt is the only one with the Electric Suspensory attachment which cures without medicine after all others fail. Call or send for illustrated pamphlet, free.
ERIE MEDICAL CO., Buffalo, N.Y.

Boehm's.
$5.00
buys a fine Leather Coat, for school, made of heavy beaver cloth, with fur collar, wide cape, lined and half interlined. Large assortment of Ladies' and Misses' Jackets, Capes, etc., at prices to suit the times. Carpets, rugs and drapery in the window, for the line of Clothing, Tailor and Children's to see at the

At this price we are showing a line of Cashmere, Henrietta Serge, Diagonal Flannels, Plaid Flannels, Novelty Dress Goods, ranging in width from 36 to 60 inches, 25c. per yard. Also a full line of Black Dress Goods, Silks, Velvets, Satins, Linings, Trimmings, Buttons, Braids, Corsets, Hosiery, Underwear, Gloves, Mittens, Handkerchiefs, Ribbons, Laces, Veilings, Neckwear, Collars, Cuffs, Fancy Goods, Notions, Etc., Etc. We are the only one-price dry goods house in the city, and offer the largest variety of trimmed and untrimmed millinery. Our trimmed goods are the prettiest and cheapest in the city. Call and see them. Our Cloak Department is complete. All work guaranteed.

J. LEVEN & NELSON.
Plainfield, N. J.

TAKE NOTICE.

Charles Arnold,

the butcher,

Is Still in the Race

for cut prices.

Fresh Pork and Sausage 10c. lb.
My own Dressed Jersey Chickens, 18c. lb.
Legs Mutton, 10c. lb.
Lamb, 12c. lb.
My Smoked Meats and all other Meats will be the same old cut prices.

Arnold's : Market,
204 LIBERTY STREET.
GOODS DELIVERED
FREE OF CHARGE.
Strictly Cash.

Are You Insured?

If you are 21 years old $96.60 paid annually for fifteen years would entitle you to $1,000.
If 25 years old, $97.
If 28 years old, $97.10.
If 24 years old, $97.50.

This sum of $1,000 is payable to the insured, if living, at the expiration of fifteen years, or at his death if prior.

FOR A LIFE POLICY, of $1,000 the annual payments to continue during life, the payments for a young man between 21 and 24 are between $18.00 and $20.

For catalogues and further particulars address Henry D. Mercien, 11 Somerset street, agent.
THE NEW YORK MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

F. M. HULETT,
MUSIC DEALER,
74 West Front Street,
handles the following makes:

Gildemeister & Kroeger,
Kranich & Bach,
Star,
Mulhield,
Jacob Bros. Pianos,
and the world-renowned
Bauman Bros. and Mason & Hamlin Organs.

A. M. GRIFFEN,
18 EAST FRONT STREET. Telephone 6.
Do Your Corns Hurt?
They can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of
ELECTRIC
Corn Cure.
A remedy that never fails. A guarantee is sent with each box, that if a complete cure is not made, the money is to be refunded at once. Price, 25 cents per box, sent postpaid to any address on receipt of price. Remit by postal note or silver, (at our risk.) A book of testimonials sent with each box.
ALLEN & CO.,
6 19 tf Lock Box 39, Richmond, Va.

Van Eps,
THE NEW JEWELER.
12 Park Avenue. Also a large variety of Musical Goods.

Railroad Time Table.

CENTRAL RAILROAD OF NEW JERSEY

(Anthracite coal used exclusively insuring cleanliness and comfort.)

Station in New York, foot of Liberty street. Time table in effect June 18, 1893.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield at 3 14, 4 26, 5 26, 6 26, 7 26, 8 26, 9 26, 10 26, 11 26 a m, 12 26, 1 26, 2 26, 3 26, 4 26, 5 26, 6 26, 7 26, 8 26, 9 26, 10 26, 11 26 p m, 12 01 night. Sundays, 3 14, 4 26, 5 26, 6 26, 7 26, 8 26, 9 26, 10 26, 11 26 a m, 12 26, 1 26, 2 26, 3 26, 4 26, 5 26, 6 26, 7 26, 8 26, 9 26, 10 26, 11 26 p m, 12 01 night.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield at 6 26, 7 26, 8 26, 9 26, 10 26, 11 26 a m, 12 26, 1 26, 2 26, 3 26, 4 26, 5 26, 6 26, 7 26, 8 26, 9 26, 10 26, 11 26 p m, 12 01 night. Sundays, 8 26, 9 26, 10 26, 11 26 a m, 12 26, 1 26, 2 26, 3 26, 4 26, 5 26, 6 26, 7 26, 8 26, 9 26, 10 26, 11 26 p m, 12 01 night.

PLAINFIELD AND ELIZABETH.

Leave Plainfield at 6 26, 7 26, 8 26, 9 26, 10 26, 11 26 a m, 12 26, 1 26, 2 26, 3 26, 4 26, 5 26, 6 26, 7 26, 8 26, 9 26, 10 26, 11 26 p m, 12 01 night. Sundays, 8 26, 9 26, 10 26, 11 26 a m, 12 26, 1 26, 2 26, 3 26, 4 26, 5 26, 6 26, 7 26, 8 26, 9 26, 10 26, 11 26 p m, 12 01 night.

PLAINFIELD AND BOUND BROOK.

Leave Plainfield at 6 26, 7 26, 8 26, 9 26, 10 26, 11 26 a m, 12 26, 1 26, 2 26, 3 26, 4 26, 5 26, 6 26, 7 26, 8 26, 9 26, 10 26, 11 26 p m, 12 01 night. Sundays, 8 26, 9 26, 10 26, 11 26 a m, 12 26, 1 26, 2 26, 3 26, 4 26, 5 26, 6 26, 7 26, 8 26, 9 26, 10 26, 11 26 p m, 12 01 night.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD FOR PHILADELPHIA AND BOUND BROOK.

Leave Plainfield at 6 26, 7 26, 8 26, 9 26, 10 26, 11 26 a m, 12 26, 1 26, 2 26, 3 26, 4 26, 5 26, 6 26, 7 26, 8 26, 9 26, 10 26, 11 26 p m, 12 01 night. Sundays, 8 26, 9 26, 10 26, 11 26 a m, 12 26, 1 26, 2 26, 3 26, 4 26, 5 26, 6 26, 7 26, 8 26, 9 26, 10 26, 11 26 p m, 12 01 night.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD FOR PHILADELPHIA AND BOUND BROOK.

Leave Plainfield at 6 26, 7 26, 8 26, 9 26, 10 26, 11 26 a m, 12 26, 1 26, 2 26, 3 26, 4 26, 5 26, 6 26, 7 26, 8 26, 9 26, 10 26, 11 26 p m, 12 01 night. Sundays, 8 26, 9 26, 10 26, 11 26 a m, 12 26, 1 26, 2 26, 3 26, 4 26, 5 26, 6 26, 7 26, 8 26, 9 26, 10 26, 11 26 p m, 12 01 night.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD FOR PHILADELPHIA AND BOUND BROOK.

Leave Plainfield at 6 26, 7 26, 8 26, 9 26, 10 26, 11 26 a m, 12 26, 1 26, 2 26, 3 26, 4 26, 5 26, 6 26, 7 26, 8 26, 9 26, 10 26, 11 26 p m, 12 01 night. Sundays, 8 26, 9 26, 10 26, 11 26 a m, 12 26, 1 26, 2 26, 3 26, 4 26, 5 26, 6 26, 7 26, 8 26, 9 26, 10 26, 11 26 p m, 12 01 night.

Sunshine Heaters and Othello Ranges Sell Themselves.
They are good goods.
Heater-Work, Hot Water and Steam-Heating. Hardware and Plumbing.
A. M. GRIFFEN,
18 EAST FRONT STREET. Telephone 6.

Do You Corns Hurt?
They can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of
ELECTRIC
Corn Cure.
A remedy that never fails. A guarantee is sent with each box, that if a complete cure is not made, the money is to be refunded at once. Price, 25 cents per box, sent postpaid to any address on receipt of price. Remit by postal note or silver, (at our risk.) A book of testimonials sent with each box.
ALLEN & CO.,
6 19 tf Lock Box 39, Richmond, Va.

Van Eps,
THE NEW JEWELER.
12 Park Avenue. Also a large variety of Musical Goods.

Real Estate & Insurance

Edw. C. Mulford,
REAL ESTATE
AND
INSURANCE.
MONEY TO LOAN ON 1ST. MORTGAGE
45 North Avenue.

M. M. Dunham,
REAL ESTATE
AND
INSURANCE.
No. 7 East Front street.

Wm. A. Woodruff,
REAL ESTATE
AND
INSURANCE.
MONEY TO LOAN on Approved Security.
Corner Front street and Park avenue.

Spicer & Hubbard,
Manufacturers of
Mantlings, Sash, Blinds, Doors, etc.
Corner Madison avenue and Third street.
SCROLL SAWING, TURNING,
Also plain and ornamental glass beveled to order.
19 Ty

Do You?
Intend to invest in a
WHEEL?
If so, call on
Dickinson,
The Optician.
Agent for the Rambler, the best wheel in the market. 4 weights, 24, 26, 28 and 41 lbs. Wheels to hire at reasonable rates.

Great Bargains
in all grades of
WALL PAPERS,
for the next 60 days.
Marsh, Ayers & Co.,
39 EAST FRONT STREET.

JOSEPH SOHL,
PRACTICAL
Electrician
42 NORTH AVENUE.
Plainfield, N. J.
Estimates furnished on Electric Light Wiring, Burglar Alarm and Bell Work and repairing of same. Dealer in Electric and Gas Fixtures.

Professional Cards.

WILLIAM E. CODINGTON,
Counsellor at Law, Notary Public and Special Master in Chancery. Notary Public. Prompt attention to all business.

JACKSON & ANGLEMAN,
Counsellors at Law, 109 East Front street, Plainfield, N. J. Special Masters in Chancery.

F. A. DUNHAM,
Civil Engineer and Surveyor, 128 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Prompt attention to the preparation of roads and streets.

WILLIAM A. CODINGTON,
Counsellor at Law, Master and Solicitor in Chancery, Notary Public, Money to loan, Collections promptly attended to. Office, No. 24 West Front street.

CHARLES A. REED,
Counsellor at Law, Supreme Court Commissioner, Notary Public. Office over First National Bank of Plainfield.

CHARLES A. REED,
Counsellor at Law, Supreme Court Commissioner, Notary Public. Office over First National Bank of Plainfield.

CHILDREN'S COLUMN.

Ruth Pussy Cat's Story.

I am a pussy cat, and my mistress is going to write this story for me.

She has promised to write just what I tell her, even if it's about herself.

My name is Ruth, and my mistress says I am the most mischievous cat she ever saw. I don't see why folks think cats ought to keep still all the time. I'm sure girls and boys don't. I have some cute tricks. I can open the cupboard door, and when my mistress does not see me I walk in, but when she sees me she scolds, and sometimes she slaps me, and then I run away. I have no sisters or brothers, and so I have to play alone. I chase the chickens, and they are afraid of me, silly things, and run as fast as they can, calling for their mother all the time.

One night I took a tree toad in, but my mistress jumped up in a chair and screamed and called the master to come and take it away and spoiled all my fun. Just as though a tree toad could hurt her. I think women are very silly about some things. I haven't had any mamma since I was a big tle kitten, and my mistress fed me on milk and took care of me just as good as any cat mother.

Often when my mistress is busy I get on her shoulder and try to kiss her, but she says I am a regular bother and makes me go away. She doesn't make the master go away when he kisses her. But when she has company she praises me very much and tells how cute I am, and then I feel really proud and forget that she likes the master best. I expect I am treated as well as if not better than the average cat. I have plenty to eat and am never punished unless I deserve it, but I sometimes wish I was not a cat, and think it must be pleasanter to be a bird, or a girl, or a boy; but perhaps it isn't. ——

Morality Before Smartness.

Several years ago a 12-year-old lad, bright and active, interesting in his talk and exceedingly brisk in his manner, made application to a neighbor in a town near Boston for "a job." He was accommodated and was set at work clearing up the yard. A bright half dollar was the reward for his services. His employer became regular, but it was plainly noticeable that his work was decidedly slighted when compared with his first undertaking. The working boy of the store time previous did not appear to take that interest which he had first manifested in his duties. The result was that his services were dispensed with.

The gentleman who gave him employment became so much interested in the lad that he had several talks with him, and became convinced that he was deceitful and unreliable.

The true went on. The neighbor had so prospered in his special line of endeavor that he had become the managing head of a large railroad system. One day, while he was passing through the master mechanic's department, that official handed a letter to the manager. It was excellently written, both as regarded style, diction and penmanship. It was commented upon as about the strongest letter the master mechanic had ever seen from a 15 or 16-year-old boy.

The general manager recognized the signature, however, as that of the young man who had been slack and inattentive in his work when employed by him.

The sequel was that the master mechanic had no place for the boy.—Boston Herald.

Good Manners.

Behavior is a comprehensive little word that means kindness, politeness, civility, consideration and whatever else enables one to be a credit to himself and a comfort, help and companion to his fellowman. If boys and girls are to become gentlemanly and ladylike, they must learn good manners by observing and imitating the behavior of those whom they know to have been educated and carefully trained. They can learn how to hold their knife and fork, how to drink quietly, how to eat with lips closed, how to taste without smacking the lips, how to answer and yawn without making a noise or offending people's taste, how to sit up straight, how to walk gracefully and how to wear their clothes. It is offensive to blow the nose or touch the hair at table; it is offensive to discuss painful subjects; it is offensive to eat with the knife or to grasp either the knife or fork below the handle; it is offensive to eat greedily or to try and talk with the mouth full.—New York World.

A Conundrum Too.

A conundrum too was given recently to a party of children. Each one was asked to bring four riddles—not original—with him. They were asked in the evening and a prize given to the one who guessed the most. The supper consisted of articles named on the menus in blind characters, like enigmas, as: Country in Europe (Turkey), son of Noah (Ham), gritty wildcats (sandwiches), etc.—New York Telegram.

Too Mean.

I hope that I am not too heavy for him," whispered the boy's very strong self to himself. I really am afraid he's rather tired; That must be why he goes so very slow.

—Puck's Almanac.

To the Writ.

"Mamma," said Jamie mysteriously, "did I ever have a little brother that fell into the well?"

"No," said his mamma. "Why?"

"Why, I looked into the well this morning, and there was a little fellow down there looked just like me."—Cincinnati Enquirer

A Philanthropic Princess.

The Princess Christian is said to be more devoted to good works than any other of the queen's daughters. Her pet scheme is the British Nurses' association, and next to that she is devoted to flower charities. She has a big conservatory, and every day she sends out great bunches of flowers to all the sick in her neighborhood. She also delights to discover genius and make beneath its path. She gave so far in this that she listens on the streets to strolling players, hoping to find an Ole Bull among them.—Liverpool Mercury.

Fried Ham.

It is difficult to get fried ham that is nice, sweet and tender, so I have hit upon a way—maybe it is not original—which insures all these above good qualities.

I use boiled ham. Just try it. Cut a slice from a boiled ham, lay it in a hot, well greased frying pan and let it turn a little brown or crisp. I think you'll like it. Shaved thin and fried it is delicious with lambs' kidneys.

I always sprinkle a little bit of sugar on ham or bacon.—Exchange.

A Three Cornered Tear.

A three cornered tear, that worst of all breaks to repair, may be so mended that it will need the closest inspection to show where it is. All woolens are woven after a regular fashion. Find what it is by looking carefully at the cloth. Under the tear baste a piece of cloth. Take ravelings of the goods, a fine needle and darn just as the weave of the goods runs. Cut the thread each time the needle has come to the other side. Trim smoothly and press.—New York News.

House Millinery.

If you try to do any millinery at home, be sure in covering a buckram frame to first bind the edge with a double bit of crown lining or some soft silk; cut it on the bias and hold pretty tight while sewing.

This binding takes away the thin, sharp look from the edge of the hat and gives a good, firm foundation to take hold of when stitching the velvet together; moreover, it takes away the "homemade" appearance.—Exchange.

Eyestones.

Many women have the habit of rubbing the corners of their eyes to lay on or take off grease and powder, and also to remove particles of dust that may lodge there. Unless this is done with a delicate touch the lashes will be worn or torn away, leaving the place bare. The remedy is sweet oil, vaseline, glycerin or any other fatty substance to nourish the roots of the hair and a discontinuance of the operation.

Kneading Boards.

"Look to your kneading boards," is a phrase that is new to housekeepers. The ordinary wooden molding tray is an excellent harbor of the ever alert germs and microbes and should be kept constantly clean. A solution which is, fortunately, beginning to be understood outside the operating rooms of hospitals. A mobile trend board is the best to use.

The Invalid's Room.

A room of which an invalid may have tired can be "made over" by removing the furniture, cutting off a corner and making an octagon of a square room, taking a closet door off its hinges and substituting a pair of portieres, a couch, rich or simple, "as the purse can buy." Loving hands can do this while the invalid is out for a drive.

- - FREE - -

Handsomely decorated Japanese Lamp Shade with every one dollar purchase to introduce ourselves among the people. Not reasonable offer refused nor the handsome Shade. Come and see them, and we have some very pretty ones.

We are constantly adding new goods and the hard times have forced prices way down, and we are bound to keep them down. Look at a few of our prices and see what they were last year, and ours are lower than ever before. Best 25c Corset Jeans, now 15c. 25c corset Coutil Lasage, and we will name the sale "Corset Clearing Sale," all sizes 18 inches, 19 inches, 20 inches, 21 inches, 22 inches, 23 inches, 24 inches, 25 inches, 26 inches, 27 inches, 28 inches, 29 inches, 30 inches, 31 inches, 32 inches, 33 inches, 34 inches, 35 inches, 36 inches, 37 inches, 38 inches, 39 inches, 40 inches, 41 inches, 42 inches, 43 inches, 44 inches, 45 inches, 46 inches, 47 inches, 48 inches, 49 inches, 50 inches, 51 inches, 52 inches, 53 inches, 54 inches, 55 inches, 56 inches, 57 inches, 58 inches, 59 inches, 60 inches, 61 inches, 62 inches, 63 inches, 64 inches, 65 inches, 66 inches, 67 inches, 68 inches, 69 inches, 70 inches, 71 inches, 72 inches, 73 inches, 74 inches, 75 inches, 76 inches, 77 inches, 78 inches, 79 inches, 80 inches, 81 inches, 82 inches, 83 inches, 84 inches, 85 inches, 86 inches, 87 inches, 88 inches, 89 inches, 90 inches, 91 inches, 92 inches, 93 inches, 94 inches, 95 inches, 96 inches, 97 inches, 98 inches, 99 inches, 100 inches, 101 inches, 102 inches, 103 inches, 104 inches, 105 inches, 106 inches, 107 inches, 108 inches, 109 inches, 110 inches, 111 inches, 112 inches, 113 inches, 114 inches, 115 inches, 116 inches, 117 inches, 118 inches, 119 inches, 120 inches, 121 inches, 122 inches, 123 inches, 124 inches, 125 inches, 126 inches, 127 inches, 128 inches, 129 inches, 130 inches, 131 inches, 132 inches, 133 inches, 134 inches, 135 inches, 136 inches, 137 inches, 138 inches, 139 inches, 140 inches, 141 inches, 142 inches, 143 inches, 144 inches, 145 inches, 146 inches, 147 inches, 148 inches, 149 inches, 150 inches, 151 inches, 152 inches, 153 inches, 154 inches, 155 inches, 156 inches, 157 inches, 158 inches, 159 inches, 160 inches, 161 inches, 162 inches, 163 inches, 164 inches, 165 inches, 166 inches, 167 inches, 168 inches, 169 inches, 170 inches, 171 inches, 172 inches, 173 inches, 174 inches, 175 inches, 176 inches, 177 inches, 178 inches, 179 inches, 180 inches, 181 inches, 182 inches, 183 inches, 184 inches, 185 inches, 186 inches, 187 inches, 188 inches, 189 inches, 190 inches, 191 inches, 192 inches, 193 inches, 194 inches, 195 inches, 196 inches, 197 inches, 198 inches, 199 inches, 200 inches, 201 inches, 202 inches, 203 inches, 204 inches, 205 inches, 206 inches, 207 inches, 208 inches, 209 inches, 210 inches, 211 inches, 212 inches, 213 inches, 214 inches, 215 inches, 216 inches, 217 inches, 218 inches, 219 inches, 220 inches, 221 inches, 222 inches, 223 inches, 224 inches, 225 inches, 226 inches, 227 inches, 228 inches, 229 inches, 230 inches, 231 inches, 232 inches, 233 inches, 234 inches, 235 inches, 236 inches, 237 inches, 238 inches, 239 inches, 240 inches, 241 inches, 242 inches, 243 inches, 244 inches, 245 inches, 246 inches, 247 inches, 248 inches, 249 inches, 250 inches, 251 inches, 252 inches, 253 inches, 254 inches, 255 inches, 256 inches, 257 inches, 258 inches, 259 inches, 260 inches, 261 inches, 262 inches, 263 inches, 264 inches, 265 inches, 266 inches, 267 inches, 268 inches, 269 inches, 270 inches, 271 inches, 272 inches, 273 inches, 274 inches, 275 inches, 276 inches, 277 inches, 278 inches, 279 inches, 280 inches, 281 inches, 282 inches, 283 inches, 284 inches, 285 inches, 286 inches, 287 inches, 288 inches, 289 inches, 290 inches, 291 inches, 292 inches, 293 inches, 294 inches, 295 inches, 296 inches, 297 inches, 298 inches, 299 inches, 300 inches, 301 inches, 302 inches, 303 inches, 304 inches, 305 inches, 306 inches, 307 inches, 308 inches, 309 inches, 310 inches, 311 inches, 312 inches, 313 inches, 314 inches, 315 inches, 316 inches, 317 inches, 318 inches, 319 inches, 320 inches, 321 inches, 322 inches, 323 inches, 324 inches, 325 inches, 326 inches, 327 inches, 328 inches, 329 inches, 330 inches, 331 inches, 332 inches, 333 inches, 334 inches, 335 inches, 336 inches, 337 inches, 338 inches, 339 inches, 340 inches, 341 inches, 342 inches, 343 inches, 344 inches, 345 inches, 346 inches, 347 inches, 348 inches, 349 inches, 350 inches, 351 inches, 352 inches, 353 inches, 354 inches, 355 inches, 356 inches, 357 inches, 358 inches, 359 inches, 360 inches, 361 inches, 362 inches, 363 inches, 364 inches, 365 inches, 366 inches, 367 inches, 368 inches, 369 inches, 370 inches, 371 inches, 372 inches, 373 inches, 374 inches, 375 inches, 376 inches, 377 inches, 378 inches, 379 inches, 380 inches, 381 inches, 382 inches, 383 inches, 384 inches, 385 inches, 386 inches, 387 inches, 388 inches, 389 inches, 390 inches, 391 inches, 392 inches, 393 inches, 394 inches, 395 inches, 396 inches, 397 inches, 398 inches, 399 inches, 400 inches, 401 inches, 402 inches, 403 inches, 404 inches, 405 inches, 406 inches, 407 inches, 408 inches, 409 inches, 410 inches, 411 inches, 412 inches, 413 inches, 414 inches, 415 inches, 416 inches, 417 inches, 418 inches, 419 inches, 420 inches, 421 inches, 422 inches, 423 inches, 424 inches, 425 inches, 426 inches, 427 inches, 428 inches, 429 inches, 430 inches, 431 inches, 432 inches, 433 inches, 434 inches, 435 inches, 436 inches, 437 inches, 438 inches, 439 inches, 440 inches, 441 inches, 442 inches, 443 inches, 444 inches, 445 inches, 446 inches, 447 inches, 448 inches, 449 inches, 450 inches, 451 inches, 452 inches, 453 inches, 454 inches, 455 inches, 456 inches, 457 inches, 458 inches, 459 inches, 460 inches, 461 inches, 462 inches, 463 inches, 464 inches, 465 inches, 466 inches, 467 inches, 468 inches, 469 inches, 470 inches, 471 inches, 472 inches, 473 inches, 474 inches, 475 inches, 476 inches, 477 inches, 478 inches, 479 inches, 480 inches, 481 inches, 482 inches, 483 inches, 484 inches, 485 inches, 486 inches, 487 inches, 488 inches, 489 inches, 490 inches, 491 inches, 492 inches, 493 inches, 494 inches, 495 inches, 496 inches, 497 inches, 498 inches, 499 inches, 500 inches, 501 inches, 502 inches, 503 inches, 504 inches, 505 inches, 506 inches, 507 inches, 508 inches, 509 inches, 510 inches, 511 inches, 512 inches, 513 inches, 514 inches, 515 inches, 516 inches, 517 inches, 518 inches, 519 inches, 520 inches, 521 inches, 522 inches, 523 inches, 524 inches, 525 inches, 526 inches, 527 inches, 528 inches, 529 inches, 530 inches, 531 inches, 532 inches, 533 inches, 534 inches, 535 inches, 536 inches, 537 inches, 538 inches, 539 inches, 540 inches, 541 inches, 542 inches, 543 inches, 544 inches, 545 inches, 546 inches, 547 inches, 548 inches, 549 inches, 550 inches, 551 inches, 552 inches, 553 inches, 554 inches, 555 inches, 556 inches, 557 inches, 558 inches, 559 inches, 560 inches, 561 inches, 562 inches, 563 inches, 564 inches, 565 inches, 566 inches, 567 inches, 568 inches, 569 inches, 570 inches, 571 inches, 572 inches, 573 inches, 574 inches, 575 inches, 576 inches, 577 inches, 578 inches, 579 inches, 580 inches, 581 inches, 582 inches, 583 inches, 584 inches, 585 inches, 586 inches, 587 inches, 588 inches, 589 inches, 590 inches, 591 inches, 592 inches, 593 inches, 594 inches, 595 inches, 596 inches, 597 inches, 598 inches, 599 inches, 600 inches, 601 inches, 602 inches, 603 inches, 604 inches, 605 inches, 606 inches, 607 inches, 608 inches, 609 inches, 610 inches, 611 inches, 612 inches, 613 inches, 614 inches, 615 inches, 616 inches, 617 inches, 618 inches, 619 inches, 620 inches, 621 inches, 622 inches, 623 inches, 624 inches, 625 inches, 626 inches, 627 inches, 628 inches, 629 inches, 630 inches, 631 inches, 632 inches, 633 inches, 634 inches, 635 inches, 636 inches, 637 inches, 638 inches, 639 inches, 640 inches, 641 inches, 642 inches, 643 inches, 644 inches, 645 inches, 646 inches, 647 inches, 648 inches, 649 inches, 650 inches, 651 inches, 652 inches, 653 inches, 654 inches, 655 inches, 656 inches, 657 inches, 658 inches, 659 inches, 660 inches, 661 inches, 662 inches, 663 inches, 664 inches, 665 inches, 666 inches, 667 inches, 668 inches, 669 inches, 670 inches, 671 inches, 672 inches, 673 inches, 674 inches, 675 inches, 676 inches, 677 inches, 678 inches, 679 inches, 680 inches, 681 inches, 682 inches, 683 inches, 684 inches, 685 inches, 686 inches, 687 inches, 688 inches, 689 inches, 690 inches, 691 inches, 692 inches, 693 inches, 694 inches, 695 inches, 696 inches, 697 inches, 698 inches, 699 inches, 700 inches, 701 inches, 702 inches, 703 inches, 704 inches, 705 inches, 706 inches, 707 inches, 708 inches, 709 inches, 710 inches, 711 inches, 712 inches, 713 inches, 714 inches, 715 inches, 716 inches, 717 inches, 718 inches, 719 inches, 720 inches, 721 inches, 722 inches, 723 inches, 724 inches, 725 inches, 726 inches, 727 inches, 728 inches, 729 inches, 730 inches, 731 inches, 732 inches, 733 inches, 734 inches, 735 inches, 736 inches, 737 inches, 738 inches, 739 inches, 740 inches, 741 inches, 742 inches, 743 inches, 744 inches, 745 inches, 746 inches, 747 inches, 748 inches, 749 inches, 750 inches, 751 inches, 752 inches, 753 inches, 754 inches, 755 inches, 756 inches, 757 inches, 758 inches, 759 inches, 760 inches, 761 inches, 762 inches, 763 inches, 764 inches, 765 inches, 766 inches, 767 inches, 768 inches, 769 inches, 770 inches, 771 inches, 772 inches, 773 inches, 774 inches, 775 inches, 776 inches, 777 inches, 778 inches, 779 inches, 780 inches, 781 inches, 782 inches, 783 inches, 784 inches, 785 inches, 786 inches, 787 inches, 788 inches, 789 inches, 790 inches, 791 inches, 792 inches, 793 inches, 794 inches, 795 inches, 796 inches, 797 inches, 798 inches, 799 inches, 800 inches, 801 inches, 802 inches, 803 inches, 804 inches, 805 inches, 806 inches, 807 inches, 808 inches, 809 inches, 810 inches, 811 inches, 812 inches, 813 inches, 814 inches, 815 inches, 816 inches, 817 inches, 818 inches, 819 inches, 820 inches, 821 inches, 822 inches, 823 inches, 824 inches, 825 inches, 826 inches, 827 inches, 828 inches, 829 inches, 830 inches, 831 inches, 832 inches, 833 inches, 834 inches, 835 inches, 836 inches, 837 inches, 838 inches, 839 inches, 840 inches, 841 inches, 842 inches, 843 inches, 844 inches, 845 inches, 846 inches, 847 inches, 848 inches, 849 inches, 850 inches, 851 inches, 852 inches, 853 inches, 854 inches, 855 inches, 856 inches, 857 inches, 858 inches, 859 inches, 860 inches, 861 inches, 862 inches, 863 inches, 864 inches, 865 inches, 866 inches, 867 inches, 868 inches, 869 inches, 870 inches, 871 inches, 872 inches, 873 inches, 874 inches, 875 inches, 876 inches, 877 inches, 878 inches, 879 inches, 880 inches, 881 inches, 882 inches, 883 inches, 884 inches, 885 inches, 886 inches, 887 inches, 888 inches, 889 inches, 890 inches, 891 inches, 892 inches, 893 inches, 894 inches, 895 inches, 896 inches, 897 inches, 898 inches, 899 inches, 900 inches, 901 inches, 902 inches, 903 inches, 904 inches, 905 inches, 906 inches, 907 inches, 908 inches, 909 inches, 910 inches, 911 inches, 912 inches, 913 inches, 914 inches, 915 inches, 916 inches, 917 inches, 918 inches, 919 inches, 920 inches, 921 inches, 922 inches, 923 inches, 924 inches, 925 inches, 926 inches, 927 inches, 928 inches, 929 inches, 930 inches, 931 inches, 932 inches, 933 inches, 934 inches, 935 inches, 936 inches, 937 inches, 938 inches, 939 inches, 940 inches, 941 inches, 942 inches, 943 inches, 944 inches, 945 inches, 946 inches, 947 inches, 948 inches, 949 inches, 950 inches, 951 inches, 952 inches, 953 inches, 954 inches, 955 inches, 956 inches, 957 inches, 958 inches, 959 inches, 960 inches, 961 inches, 962 inches, 963 inches, 964 inches, 965 inches, 966 inches, 967 inches, 968 inches, 969 inches, 970 inches, 971 inches, 972 inches, 973 inches, 974 inches, 975 inches, 976 inches, 977 inches, 978 inches, 979 inches, 980 inches, 981 inches, 982 inches, 983 inches, 984 inches, 985 inches, 986 inches, 987 inches, 988 inches, 989 inches, 990 inches, 991 inches, 992 inches, 993 inches, 994 inches, 995 inches, 996 inches, 997 inches, 998 inches, 999 inches, 1000 inches.

A GREAT SLAUGHTER!

at

Ladies' Wrappers, for one week, at 75 cents.

at

THE LEADER! M. GOLDMANN, Prop.

210 WEST FRONT STREET. (Or No. 31.)

Two doors from Music Hall.

J. C. Allen, 28 West Front St., Plainfield, N. J.

There is no use Talking

AN INSTANCE:

This tumbler, etc down

You will want some sooner pretty soon, maybe to-morrow.

Men's white and colored shirts and drawers, 25c.
Ladies' ribbed vests and pants, 25c.
Men's natural wool shirts and drawers, 50c.
Child's white and natural wool shirts and drawers, 15c.
A good dress that fit in all wool cutlizz will make, cost the manufacturer 45c. to make, and all we ask for it is 25c.

HAVE YOU EVER TRIED US ON HOSIERY!

WE OFFER

Child's fast black ribbed hose	10c.
Ladies' " " "	10c.
" " Hose	15c.
" " Full regular	25c.
Men's full regular, heavy hose	12½c.

HOUSE FURNISHING DEPARTMENT.—Offers special attractive prices on Granite iron ware and in all kinds of house furnishing goods.

Infants silk caps, 25c.

BLANKETS AND COMFORTABLES.

Hasn't been very good weather for them, and a big difference it makes in the price.

White cotton filled comfortables, $1.00.
White cotton filled comfortables, $1.25.
Cream chene-cloth quilts, our own make, $1.25 each.

WHITE, of Plainfield.

A SIMPLE SELL.

He can Do Little Who Can't Do This—Try It.

Here is a "sell" of almost childish simplicity, but we have seen people desperately puzzled over it, and even "give it up" in despair.

The leader takes a stick (or poker) in his left hand, thence transferre it to his right, and thence then to the floor, saying, "He can do little who can't do this." He then hands the stick to another person, who, as he supposes, goes through exactly the same performance, but it he does not know the game, is generally told, to his disgust, that he has incurred a forfeit, his imitation not having been exact.

The secret lies in the fact that the stick, when passed on, is first received in the left hand, and thence transferred to the right before going through the thumping ceremony. An unitiated person almost instinctively takes the stick in the right hand at once.

AN EARLY MORNING CALLER.

"Good morning, Mistress Mary, How d'you do, how d'you do?"
"Quite well, thank you, skinny-bones, How are you, how are you?"
"I'm come for a cup of tea, And a cosy little chat,
"Well, then, I think if I were you I'd just take off my hat!"

Then down he jumped from off the wall, And gave her three cheers, Took off his hat, and had a chat, And just two cups of tea.

Tired from Head to Foot.

FROM HEAD TO FOOT.

That's what's the matter with the most of us. What's the remedy? Pure combination of the blood. The cause of the poor condition of the blood is the use of impure food and drink. Coffee, tea, tobacco, whisky, wine, beer, ale, etc., are the principal causes. Anti-Tire, which is a short time by the use of Anti-Tire. Get up good circulation, healthy coffee, or Anti-Tire, and you will be a well man or woman. One dose will do it. Take Anti-Tire and be convinced. All druggists. Send 2 cents in stamps for free sample.

LYONS & KINSELL,
654 Bergen avenue,
Jersey City, N. J.

Neuman Brothers,

THE POPULAR GROCERS,

have a full line of selected

Groceries, Fruit and Vegetables,

Choicest varieties of Coffees and Teas, freshly ground. Also fine display and delivery of Apples daily. A new stock of Canned Vegetables and Fruits.

NEUMAN BROS.,

WATCHUNG AVENUE and FIFTH STREET.

Horses and Carriages,

of all kinds, for hire, at

O'BRIEN'S,

116 WEST FOURTH STREET,

or at the depot.

Joseph T. Vail,

REAL ESTATE

and

INSURANCE.

DEALER IN BLUE STONE FLAGGING

North Avenue.

The Fall and Winter Styles in Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing are now in Stock. Overcoats of all Weights. Trousers Made to Order from $4 to $8. Suits from $15 to $30. Hats and General Furnishings. WERNER'S MAMMOTH CLOTHING HOUSE, 206 West Front Street.

R. W. Rice & Co.,

THE PARK GROCERS.

Corner Duer and Emily Streets.

NORTH PLAINFIELD.

LIME WATER FOR GROWING CHILDREN.

An Experiment Worth Trying—Ask Your Physician About It First.

Lime water, it is said, has a tendency to make children grow, and it is a noticeable fact that in those countries where the water is very hard the men are apt to be tall. In Texas, for instance, the water is strongly impregnated with lime, and the men are veritable sons of Anak. It assimilates admirably with milk, and it is a good plan to put a little lime water in the milk pitcher always for the nursery table. It is much cheaper to make it at home than to buy it at the chemist's and it can easily be made by following these directions: Put four ounces of quicklime in a bowl, and add a little water; as soon as it is flaked add gradually enough water to make a gallon. Let it stand several hours, and then bottle it, putting in the unslaked lime. When you want to use it, pour off the clear fluid from the top, and use only that which is cloudy. A tablespoonful to a pitcher of milk is enough for every day when there is no digestive trouble.—N. Y. Tribune.

BRAVE BERTIE.

As granny was busy with needle and thread,
She heard a small voice, which most plainly said;
"I fa' down, my danny, and hurt my knee;
Oh, look! It is scratched and bleeding, you see."

But granny made light of the fall and hurt:
"Big boys do not cry for scratches and dirt,
And Bertie I'm sure, is too brave to be Frightened at only a scratch on his knee."

So Bertie took care his tears did not fall,
But ran away fast and picked up his ball;
And made up his mind, when he fell down again,
To bravely endure the knock and the pain.

Past and Present.
As it was.	As it is.
Father to the plow;	Father, tally-ho;
Mother to the cow;	Daughter piano;
Daughter to the sow;	Mother, silk and satin.
Son to the mow.	Son, Greek and Latin.

Naughty Jack.

Little Jack was left alone,
For it was washing day;
So out he went into the yard
To have a game of play.

There he saw the water barrel,
But, oh, it was so tall,
That he nodded very kindly it,
Because he was so small.

So he went into the kitchen,
And got a wooden chair,
And stood up-too upon it,
What did he see it there?

Why, nothing but dark water,
So he fell in and fell tall.
Just then he overbalanced
The chair, and in he fell.

His loud screams brough his mother,
Who fished him out all dripping
And hung Jack's clothes out to dry,
And gave a sound whipping.

Don't, if you eat candy at night, go to bed without cleaning your teeth; neglect of this causes the teeth to decay.

Hotels.

CENTRAL HOTEL,

No. 11 E. Front St.,

PLAINFIELD.

Windham & Crowley,

PROPRIETORS.

First-class bar attached.

Fourth Ward Hotel.

JOHN GOFF, Proprietor.

Boarders accommodated, both transient and permanent.

LARGE ROOMS and ALL MODERN IMPROVEMENTS.

Fine Wines, Liquors and CIGARS.

Corner Third and Liberty Streets.

Hotel Grenada,

NORTH AVENUE,

is now open for the reception of guests under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout and possesses all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the traveling public.

City Hotel,

Corner PARK AVENUE and SECOND STREET.

Transient guests accommodated.

Eugene Hoerster,

206 Grove Street,

North Plainfield.

Wholesale Dealer

in

FINE WINES, BRANDIES, WHISKEYS, ETC.

Lowest Prices. Goods Warranted.

Timely Warning! Winter Approaching!

Keep your Scalp Clean and your Hair Growing.

RANDOLPH'S Quinine and Glycerine

HAIR TONIC!

The Friend in the Hour of Need.

EACH BOTTLE GUARANTEED. Sold only by

L. W. RANDOLPH, Prescription Druggist,

146 WEST FRONT STREET, Plainfield, N. J.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

Successors to

The Est. D. J. Boice and A. D. Cook & Bro.,

Dealers in

Coal, Lumber and Masons' Materials

42 to 62 PARK AVENUE.

Are now prepared with their increased facilities, (having purchased the extensive yards of Messrs. A. D. Cook & Bro.,) to fill all orders promptly and solicit your patronage.

This Date In History—Oct. 31.

1502—Charles II of France died.
1517—Luther published his "Theses" at Wittenberg, beginning the reformation.
1795—Robespierre, the Girondist leader, guillotined.
1806—General Joseph R. Hawley born.
1840—Rev. Edward Eddy Newton, Episcopal rector, born in Philadelphia.
1861—Formation of the alliance of France, Spain and England which led to the Mexican campaign in 1862.
1864—Nevada became a state.
1872—John Brandon Buckstone, English comedian, died; born 1802.
1876—The most terrible disaster in history; synopsis of cyclone which in Bengal destroyed more than 200,000 lives.
1879—Jacob Abbott, author of the popular "Rollo Books" and "Franconia Stories" and nearly 200 other works chiefly for the young, died at Farmington, Me.; born 1804.
1881—General Joseph Hooker died at Garden City, N. Y.; born 1814.
1885—Alexander N. Woodward, surgeon and oculist, died at Munich; born 1838.

Cholera—at least a cholera scare—may not always be a bad thing. Dr. Nash, who lately came home from Germany, reports the sanitary condition of Hamburg as "absolutely perfect." The Hamburgers have learned their lesson.

The most beautiful alloy yet discovered is made of gold and aluminium. The alloy is of a rich purple color, and it will be a welcome addition to the materials at command of the jewelers.

A newspaper informs us that Chicago day at the fair was a great day; that over 700,000 were in attendance, and six people were killed. It was a great day sure enough.

Take notice. The highest authorities in the English speaking American Catholic church passed no resolutions condemning American public schools.

Where is the man who prophesied that the Chicago fair would be a failure?

Who says Chicago bit off more than she could masticate?

Good times are coming!

1893	OCTOBER.					1893
Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fr.	Sa.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
15	16	17	18	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26	27	28
29	30	31

MOON'S PHASES.

(Third Quarter	2 10:19 p. m.	First Quarter	17 [illegible]
● New	9 2:27 p. m.	Full	25 [illegible]
(First Quarter	31 [illegible]

Tickets For, or from Europe, On All Lines, And all Steamers.

Drafts Sold also.

H. D. MORRISON, Agent, Somerset Street.

Metropolitan Livery and Boarding Stables!

Coaches, Close Carriages, Park Phaetons, Surreys, Buggies, Four Phaetons and Saddle horses.

Special care given boarding horses. Storage for furniture and carriages.

140 AND 157 NORTH AVENUE.

Opposite depot. Telephone Call, 44.

H. E. SIDES, Proprietor. FRANK DAY, Manager.

THE TIME TO EAT!

MEAT!

Is at most times, of course, and the place to get good meat, all varieties, lowest prices and prime, etc., is at

E. J. CONNOLLY,

No. 224 Broadway.

SMOKED MEATS AND VEGETABLES always on hand.